Rowan Man Victim Of Hit-Run Driver Near City Limits

Dan Burton, 41, Killed Almost Instantly On Flemingsburg Highway OFFICERS CONDUCTING PROBE INTO TRAGEDY Survived By Two Sisters; Funeral Rites Conducted Yesterday

Officers here today are investigating the death of Dan Burton, 41, whose lifeless body was found at 9 o'clock Tuesday night on the Flemingsburg highway, about a mile and a half from Morehead.

Burton was lying in the middle of the road with his legs broken and his chest pierced. He also sustained internal injuries, causing his death almost instantly.

Local officials believe that he was struck by a hit and run motorist. He lived with his sister, Mrs. Kelly Proffitt, about one-half mile from the scene of the accident.

Funeral services were conducted today with burial in the Hayes cemetery. Arrangements were handled by the Lane Funeral Home.

His only survivors are 2 sisters, Mrs. Proffitt and Mrs. Floyd Hall, of Gates.

Morehead - This Week

The local Western Union office handled two messages this week that read like this: 'Come at once. Your sister is at the point of death.'

The answer: 'Write if she is in serious condition. If she is I will leave immediately.'

A. B. 'Tony' Hackney, who ran for County Clerk in the August 7 primary and was defeated has announced his candidacy for the Board of Education in the November election.

Governor Chandler To Leave On Vacation

Governor A. B. Chandler will leave Frankfort about September 1 for a vacation trip to Cuba. He learned today that stops will be made at Trinidad, Port of Spain and Havana, Cuba.

Mrs. Chandler and three of the Chandler children, Marcella, Mildred and A. B., Jr., will accompany the governor on the trip. Other members of the party will be Mrs. Chandler's sister, Mrs. Campbell Epps, of Kewport, Va., and Commissioner of Finance J. Dan Talbot.

Governor Chandler and his party will spend Labor Day at Orleans where the chief executive will take part in the governor's regatta. The party will split September 7 from New Orleans and probably return to Frankfort at the end of the month.

Heat Wave Spreads Over Middle West, Crops Are Damaged

Hotter weather predicted this week for most of Kentucky. A scorching sun and unseasonably warm winds from the west are blowing the Midwest under a stifling heat wave today.

Several states reported that the mercury bounded over the 100-degree mark. In Chicago an estimated million persons swarmed to beaches and parks as the temperature jumped 25 degrees to set a record for August 18. At 4 p. m. the reading was 96, highest since the establishment of the weather bureau in 1870.

C. A. Donnell, government forecaster at Chicago, predicted that the temperatures in his immediate territory might go higher and no relief would be forthcoming until Thursday night, when showers are expected.

The weather bureau reported a 24-hour temperature reading of 92 to 100 over the central plains. Topeka, Kan., and Charles City, Ia., each reported 100-degree readings.

Sioux City sweltered under the highest reading for the day—104. The temperature at Des Moines was 101, the highest for the year there.

Chicago police received half a dozen calls to regulate street fire plugs opened by children. Fire department officials said the plugs should be opened daily as long as the heat remained.

Business Program Shown In Building Program This Year

Many New Structures Are Now Nearing Completion In Morehead

MANY DECORATING AND REMODELING Modern and Business Places Put Up More Substantial Structures

An unusual program of private building activity has been evident during the morehead and vicinity during the summer months. Commendable in the program is the fact that most of the business houses and dwellings that have been built or are now under construction are of quality materials and workmanship and an asset to the community.

The Peoples Bank Building and a two-story brick structure adjoining, financed by George Caudill, are nearing completion on Main Street. The new $60,000 postoffice building is expected to be finished within a short time.

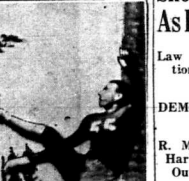

Robert Day has constructed a modern and business place at 235 Commercial. The new building is finished with a stock company headed by E. E. Maggard.

Throughout the city private dwellings have gone up, furnishing ample work for carpenters, brick-layers and plasterers.

The building on Main occupied by the Carr-Perry Motor Co., and the Consolidated Hardware Company is being completely renovated. An extra second story store-room is being added at the hardware while the hardware will be over 1/2 Motor Company.

Most stores, restaurants and other business places are taking advantage of the usual slack summer season to do considerable remodeling and decorating.

Law Now Permits Registration For The November General Election

DEMOCRAT MAJORITY MAY BE LOWERED R. M. Clay, Democrat, and Harlan Powers, Republican, Out For County Attorney

Activity in the ranks of both Democrat and Republican parties became manifested this week, although the general election is 11 weeks away.

Democrats are seeking to heal the wounds that resulted from a bitter and hotly-contested primary. The Democrat nominees have already started shaping their campaign for the November election.

Republicans are seeking to heal the wounds that resulted from a bitter and hotly-contested primary. The Republican nominees have already started shaping their campaign for the November election.

Registration started at the office of the County Clerk Tuesday and will continue until October 10.

1200 U. S. Marines Ordered To China President Dispatches Soldiers As Fighting Becomes More Pronounced

Responding to appeals from Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, the United States today ordered 1,200 Marines to sail from San Diego to Shanghai as quickly as possible to guard Americans whose lives are endangered by the Sino-Japanese war.

The order was issued through Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who said the Devil Dogs—the Sixth regiment of Headquarters company of the Second Marine Brigade—will reinforce the Marine regiment and bluejackets, now on a continuous "alarm" basis in Shanghai and environs.

The following corporations were listed: Citizens Bank, Consolidated Farmers Company, Morehead Ice and Bottling Company, Peoples Bank of Morehead.

Work Being Pushed On New Postoffice

Work is being pushed toward completion of the new postoffice building in Morehead, situated on the corner of Main Street and Wilson Avenue.

The contractors, DeBlasio and Company, of Canton, Ohio, have encountered considerable difficulty in securing the specially specified material for the building and this has been the principal reason for the short delay in the completion of the building.

A program of flag-raising is being planned for the opening of the building. The postoffice, when completed, will represent every respect, and will represent one of the best buildings of its type in Eastern Kentucky.

3 Tons of Beef and Brawn Displayed on Eagle Team

Teachers will be able to hold their own. And those predictions, although prejudiced, are not founded upon nothing. In the first place the Teachers will have a punter in Donald Fair that should be able to hold his own with the Cincinnati kicker. Morehead will have a line that was never penetrated with any consistency last year. They have ends that should be dangerous, and three passers who may cause Cincinnati lots of trouble.

Johnson and Miller realize what they are going up against. They are confident that Morehead's line can make something better than a decent showing against the heavier Cincinnati forward wall. The Morehead coaching staff is fearing the most a Cincinnati passing attack and it is on solid pass defense that much of the time between September 1 and opening game time will be spent. To give you a better idea of the prospects at Morehead this year, the following table is quoted. The weights are based on those at spring training.

Negro Lynched By Six Masked Men

Was Being Returned By Sheriff To Answer Charge Of Murder

Six masked men, shouting "to hell with the law," seized a terror-stricken negro accused of slaying a white officer from Sheriff W. J. Vaughan Tuesday at Covington, Tenn., and left his body dangling at the end of a trap-rope after ridding it with bullets.

The negro had been held at Memphis because of a previous attempt at violence. The sheriff was bringing him to Covington to face a charge of slaying City Marshal Charles Dyer, of Mason, Tenn., a month ago.

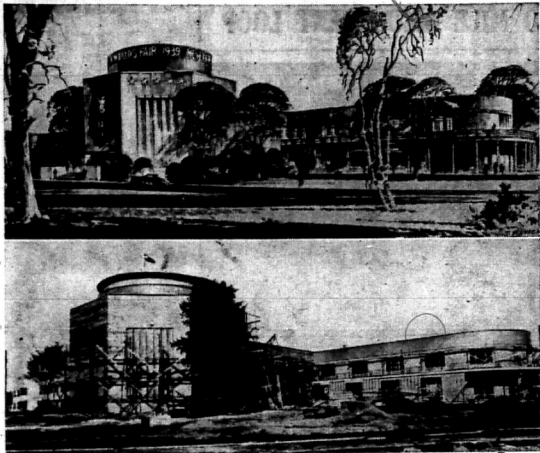

SALT LICK MEN HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Chris Copher and Corbett Copher, brothers of Salt Lick, Ky., were held over to Federal Court when it was learned that they had been arrested here this week on a charge of setting up and operating an unlicensed still, before United States Commissioner J. W. Riley. Chris pleaded guilty while Corbett denied complicity.

Both executed $500 bonds for their appearance in Catlettsburg Court.

NEW YORK FAIR 1939 IN CONSTRUCTION STAGE

NEW YORK (Special).—The $900,000 Administration Building of the New York Fair is under roof some 22 months in advance of the exposition's opening date and in August will be ready for occupancy by the hundreds of specialist workers who conduct the business of the "industry" and advance development of the $125,000,000 world event. The corner stone of this first major Fair building was laid on April 27 in the presence of many notable figures in national life.

The Administration building, shown as progressing in actuality and by an artist's sketch, is the Fair Corporation's workshop and showroom. While the 121 1/2-acre site of the exposition is today the scene of much and varied activity, with several exhibit pavilions going up this year, the majority of the 900 buildings necessary to housing the exposition are scheduled for construction in 1938. By midsummer of next year, it is estimated, fully 15,000 persons will be employed in building activities where only a year ago there was nothing but waste land.

chine is threatened with division at the height of its power, with the opposition including not only many of Washington's outstanding Democrats, but also John Nance Garner, "the most active and potent Vice-President in a good many decades."

It is no secret in the Capital that Mr. Garner did not like the Supreme Court plan, was alarmed by the President's failure to condemn sit-down strikes, and was almost equally disturbed by the White House request for $1,500,000,000 for relief.

At that time, Dr. High says, the Vice-President conferred with Mr. Roosevelt and is reported to have said: "I told the boss that if I were back there in the House, he'd never get his billion and a half. And I told him that if those fellows over there now had any guts, he'd never get it."

Dr. High adds: "It is now generally accepted that Mr. Garner, henceforth and in so far as he is judicially able, will devote his political ingenuity and influence to the recapture of the Democratic Party by those whom he regards as authentic Democrats."

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINES ANNOUNCED The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open

OLEOMARGERINE OUTPUT SHOWS BIG DECLINE

Production of oleomargarine in the United States shows a 4,000,000 pound decrease from the 1936 half-yearly figures, according to a report to the Louisville District Office of the Commerce Department.

In this production, the use of coconut oil dropped 49 million pounds this year, while cottonseed oil increased 29 million pounds. Soybean oil accounted for 15 million pounds in 1937, a 500 per cent increase, and babassu oil increased 1 million pounds. Nearly 35 million pounds of milk were consumed in marger-ine in the first six months of 1937.

DISEASES ATTACKING GREEK FIGS MUST BE TERRIBLE

In spite of a threatened attack by "Selestinia Sclerotium" near Calamata in Greece, a further threat from "Coroplatis Rusei" near Gythion, likewise in Greece, the fig crop of that country is expected to be entirely satisfactory this year.

Two thousand trees have been attacked by th last named of these two diseases, but the infection has been localized. There is also one other circumstance to be feared, the report goes on; that is very heavy rainfalls an unusually damp weather.

In Livingston county several farmers are buying purebred rams and cattle.

Roosevelt May Be Candidate in 1940 Ex-Adviser States

High Says President Being Urged To Run For Third Term

President Roosevelt may be forced to run for a third term in 1940 because no other leader will be able to save the Roosevelt program if a party "purge" fails to crush the strong group of Democratic legislators who are fighting the leftward trend of the Second New Deal, according to Dr. Stanley High, former White House adviser.

sue—precipitated a premature break which is likely to jeopardize attainment of the goals he has set for his second term.

The burial of the Supreme Court plan will not, in Dr. High's opinion, restore harmony within the Democratic party; rather the President's refusal to compromise indicates that he has chosen to part company with those Democratic senators and congressmen who, while favoring the objectives of the Administration, will not "go alone" wholeheartedly on measures which would change the government from a three horse team to a one-horse affair—executive only.

Second New Deal Brings Conflict Dr. High points out, however, that outright reprisals against the President's opponents will be delayed until the congressional elections of 1938, but "it is exceedingly doubtful whether, in one election, he can 'polish off' a sufficiently large number of his Democratic adversaries to make his program permanently safe... If in 1940, its future is still clouded by an active and unregenerated opposition, then it will be hard, if not impossible, for Mr. Roosevelt's friends to find a Roosevelt man as qualified to carry on as Mr. Roosevelt.

What has happened, Dr. High says, is that the President, instead of consolidating the gains of the first New Deal as even he had planned to do, has embarked upon an entirely different course. "But the second New Deal differs from the first, not only because it has no emergency excuse but... the measures of 1937 involve an alteration in the method of government."

The Post writer believes that the shift was forced upon the President because of the obligations created by pledges made during the past campaign. "The Era of Good Feeling," Dr. High asserts, "was not deliberately abandoned. It simply disappeared under a flood of bills."

Garner Takes A Hand The result, according to Dr. High, is the unusual situation in which an invincible political ma-

Officers Continue Poison Death Probe

Investigation Started After Many Elderly Germans Die In Cincinnati

Investigating a series of deaths among elderly German acquaintances of blonde Mrs. Anna Hahn, Police Captain Patrick Hayes announced he had uncovered evidence which indicated she "bought enough poison to kill half the town."

Mrs. Hahn, 31-year-old German immigrant, is charged with the poison death July 6, of George (Gollman, 67 and Lucet, George W. Schutte said she had been linked either directly or indirectly with 11 fatalities over an eight-year period.

Hayes acting chief of detectives, displayed a cardboard box bearing a red "poison" label but declined to say where he found it. It contained pills, he said. He left police headquarters immediately on an unannounced destination.

Hayes also reported he had talked to a druggist who told him Mrs. Hahn once sent her son, Oscar, now 12, to him with a request for poison. The druggist, Hayes said, refused to deliver it to the boy because of his age.

Names of only five of the 11 fatalities have been made public. Others are being withheld, said Schutte, "for purposes of the investigation."

City Chemist O. P. Behrer reported finding traces of the two poisons—one metallic and the other oil—in vital organs of Gollman and in Colorado Springs, Coroner J. Thomas Coughlan said preliminary investigation disclosed evidence that Obendorfer may have died from oil poisoning.

One half-emptied bottle of a violent purgative oil, which Schutte said had been the property of Mrs. Hahn, was turned over to police by Mrs. Hahn's husband, Philip. Physicians said the oil was fatal in dosage above six drops. Another bottle, which Schutte said had contained a deadly metallic poison, was found in Mrs. Hahn's home.

Of the five identified fatalities, Mrs. Hahn has admitted, Schutte said, that she knew for, and had ministered to them in their illnesses. She denied knowing Gollman.

Prosecutor Outcall said, however, that a friend of Gollman had identified her as the woman with whom Gollman was seen the night before he was found dead.

divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. We call it progress.

This may be the last time that your writer pens "Morehead, This Week." He is expecting the blessed event. We hope we survive to write another column.

We glean this from an out-of-state paper. A politician lined up a bunch of candidates whom he attempted to nominate in the primary. The people evidently thought differently for they defeated every one of his candidates. In the next edition of the local paper, after his election, the following advertisement was inserted over his signature: "You told lies about me. You slandered the good and honest men I supported. However, I still want to say I am a true and loyal Democrat and will vote the straight Republican ticket this fall."

1939 NEW YORK FAIR'S TWO MILE 'AMUSEMENT LOOP'

NEW YORK (Special).—"The 1939 New York World's Fair has planned to have the largest area and the greatest number and variety of amusements ever provided for any exposition in the world," announces Grover Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation, "but let it be understood, too, that we are already assured of producing a fair that will be remembered for its bold treatment of today's problems and for its pathfinding to the World of Tomorrow."

The accompanying photograph shows the design of the Fair's two-mile, 200-acre amusement zone as released at the time of Mr. Whalen's announcement. The sector is being laid out with a greater visitor capacity than that of any amusement park in the world.

The upper end of the lake-shore region will be dominated by a $1,000,000 State amphitheatre with a marine stage for presentation of aquatic shows, operas, pageants and extravaganzas of all sorts. On the far side of the lake, as sketched, will be every conceivable kind of show, spectacle, device, ride, and eating place.

Recommittal was urged as well, by Senators Bridges, Republican, of New Hampshire, Austin, Republican, of Vermont, and others on the ground that the committee should make a thorough study of the fitness of the nominee. Borah, Republican, Idaho, and Glass, Democrat, of Virginia, opposed it on the ground that all necessary information was at hand, though they voted "no" on confirmation.

The opponents of confirmation who had counted on making a strong showing upon the motion to recommend were quickly doomed to disappointment as the vote was 68 to 15.

A roll call on confirmation followed immediately. The sixteen who voted against were: Austin, Borah, Bridges, Davis, Hale, Johnson, of California, Lodge, Steiwer, Townsend and White. (Republicans) and Burke, Byrd, Copeland, Gerry, Glass and King (Democrats).

During the debate defenders of Black assailed the opposition to him as based on "prejudice" occasioned by his liberal legislative career.

Senator Black quietly awaited the outcome, in the nearby office of Edwin Halsey, secretary of the senate. Reporters found him there, smiling his pleasure when the vote had been taken.

"I am very much gratified at the confidence shown in me by my colleagues," he said. He was uncertain, he said, as to when he would take the oath of office as a member of the ment Station at Lexington and the Experiment Substation at Princeton. Instead of bases, the proposed program would set up goals for roads, counties and individual farms. Payment would be made in proportion as the farmer met his established goal. A single payment for the farm as a whole would be made, instead of crop payments.

Under certain conditions farmers might, if they chose, receive superphosphate and limestone in lieu of part or all cash payments. The proposed program for 1939 would be one of adjustment to national needs, it was explained at the meetings, and for soil conservation, and in no way one of scarcity.

Present plans call for a simplified program which would enable each farmer to know in advance of crop planting time just what he would need to do to qualify for payment. It is expected to have the program ready before wheat sowing.

CHANGE POWDER, READ BOOKS, IMPROVE LIFE

Studying lessons called "Face Facts," with Miss Zelma Beverly, county home demonstration agent, and Miss Iris Davenport, Kentucky College of Agriculture specialist, as their instructors, members of homemakers' clubs in Kenton county, Ky., found they had been using the wrong shade of powder. They had been trying to match their hair and eyes instead of their complexions.

But real and genuine beauty comes not merely from perfection of face and figure, says Miss Davenport, but from a personal philosophy and understanding, from one's attitude toward life and other people. So she assigned the Kenton county homemakers to read such books as "Return to Religion," "Orchards for Your Budget," "A Woman's Best Years," and "Skin Deep."

MRS ROOSEVELT SEES END TO N. Y. A. CAMPS

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today "officially" told 130 girls of Camp Jane Addams, maintained for unemployed young women on WPA rolls, that National Youth Administration camps would be discontinued. They have not authority to make such statements, the President's wife said, "but it is my conclusion that the present expenditures of these camps does not justify their maintenance."

Senators Confirm Black Appointment

Ardent New Dealer Wins A Place On Supreme Court Bench

Hugo L. Black, aggressive New Dealer, was Senate confirmation Monday as an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. By a vote of 63 to 16 his fellow senators approved his nomination, the first to be made to the court by President Roosevelt in three years of conflict with the tribunal.

In confirming the appointment, the senate brushed aside charges that Black has been a member of the Ku Klux Klan, that he is of a temperament ill-suited to the judicial office and that he is ineligible for the post for constitutional reasons.

The accusations were hurled with vigor and occasionally with bitterness by the small but resolute band of those who opposed confirmation throughout the day of forthright debate.

TESTS SHOW VALUE OF SOIL TREATMENT

The value of good soil management is brought out in a report of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station...

The average yield of the first three crops without lime and phosphate were: Corn, 30 bushels...

In order to have a rotation of each crop appearing each year, it is necessary to have three fields. On a three-acre basis...

It is worthy of note that for the last half of the 18-year period the average yields were: Corn, 64 bushels; wheat, 17 bushels...

Tests have shown that sufficient reserves of lime and phosphate have been built up in the soil to produce good crops for several years...

Woman Forsakes Comfort For Mountain Cabin For "Security" Of 3 Children

Catharine Fox Allen, of Tonopah, California, mother of three boys, nine, eleven and fourteen, has forsaken a comfortable home and friends to move, with her brood, to a mountain cabin without ordinary conveniences in order to give her children "master-proof security" with which to face the down-south world.

Rebelling against present-day streamlined psychological theories for the upbringing of children, Mrs. Allen starts a back-to-earth youth movement of her own in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

Mrs. Allen's revolt began with an invitation to talk to a mother's meeting on "The Home as the Source of Security and Happiness for the Child," and, by a coincidence, her drastic action in getting down to fundamentals was provoked by a recent Post article on the National Youth Administration.

She boiled over when she read that some well-intentioned people wanted to do for young people. She didn't want anyone to "lead" her boy. "I'm not afraid," she said, "of deprivation, nor of inferiority complex, and I'm not afraid of hard work for myself or my sons' life's a battle, but it's a swell battle, and my boys love it. I want to see my boys fight."

Mrs. Allen decided that her boys could need strength, and "some inner quality—fundamental, indestructible, workable."

We must teach them, not the answers—but how to find the answers for themselves. We must help them to develop the ability to reason, to think through, to trust their minds and their intuitions. We must give them, then, the realization of their powers; a recognition of themselves as individuals, independent, separate, self-sufficient. This can be done, she says, by letting them, from the beginning, set down to use many devious principles, unacted by smug assurances, by ready-made, truck explanations and solutions.

Mrs. Allen examined the environment in which her boys were growing up and decided, "There was too much sophistication, false assurance that had no basis in individual integrity." That is why she moved her family to the cabin in the mountains. They have no phone and no car. They carry their water; cook on a kerosene stove; and get their mail from the fire place. The boys go to a simple three-room school two miles away.

The new life Mrs. Allen believes, is accomplishing all she had expected. "Living," she says, "is no longer a series of regimented, lifeless facts. I do not find it necessary to read books in order to train one's children, and then drop subtly-phrased ideas into my boys' minds. We do our four separate lives. Discipline, yes. Chores, yes. Politeness and consideration and the little refinements of daily living. And keen perception of things about them. Awareness."

They won't live on the mountain forever. Given a year or two, Mrs. Allen believes her children will "have, irrevocably, the beginning of something they will never lose—a habit of looking through to fundamentals, of finding their selves capable of questioning and of answering questions. And then, I could see them taking upon the world and know they would be safe in their own keeping."

Reds Meet Cubs In Night Game Friday

Famous Comedian Headlines Entertainment Preceding Contest

The leading night attraction of the season will be presented to the followers of the Cincinnati Reds at Crosley Field this Friday when the Chicago Cubs, leaders in the National League pennant scramble, oppose the Redlegs under the world's most powerful baseball lighting plant.

Heading the pre-game festivities for this outstanding event will be the appearance of Al Schacht, famous comedian, known as the clown prince of baseball. Schacht originally was scheduled at Crosley Field on July 12, but the game booked that night between the Cubs and Reds was washed out and set up to this Friday. Schacht's contract was renewed for the postponed date.

Friday night's contest will be followed by an afternoon game Saturday and a series' closing doubleheader Sunday afternoon. The Sunday double bill will be the last games in which the Reds will compete on their home diamond until September 3, when they return to their final swing through the National League's eastern section.

As a maddled feature of the Friday night game, the Barnett Post of the American Legion, Legionnaires will put on an exhibition following the batting practice in which the two teams will engage. After the contest, the Post will feature the customary sensational fireworks display will be held.

Another Gigantic U. S. Swindle Uncovered By G-Men

Postmaster General James A. Farley announced last night that, through the efforts of the Post Office Department, another gigantic swindle carried on through use of the United States mails, which netted its operators approximately one million dollars and numbered among its victims individuals in every state of the Union, Canada, Mexico and Cuba, has been stamped out. It was pointed out that twenty-four members of various groups engaged in this fraud agree, and a public have been brought to trial and convicted.

This latest swindle to receive the attacks of postal inspectors involved the promotion of the mythical "Baker" or "Becker" estates in the State of Pennsylvania. The promoters of this racket represented to their victims that they had indisputable proof of the existence of these estates, which included properties in the very heart of Philadelphia, and large tracts of city and county property in the city and county of Philadelphia. The promoters of this racket represented to their victims that they had indisputable proof of the existence of these estates, which included properties in the very heart of Philadelphia, and large tracts of city and county property in the city and county of Philadelphia.

A so-called will, dated December 27, 1832, and claimed to have been executed by one Jacob Baker, was used by the promoters of this swindle to obtain money from their victims. The will purported to dispose of the property mentioned in the City of Philadelphia and the mineral lands throughout the State of Pennsylvania.

Inspectors assigned to this work found that very unusual that an authentic will to such valuable property should remain unproduced for almost one hundred years. Through court proceedings the alleged will was obtained. Inspectors caused the paper and the writing thereon to be analyzed by a chemical engineer and handwriting expert. It was discovered that the paper on which the will was written was not manufactured until about 1890, over fifty years after its date. The paper had been artificially aged. The signatures of the witnesses to the will had been forged. It was discovered, the information thus obtained by the inspectors proved beyond a doubt that the promoters were attempting to pass off a forged and spurious instrument to the thousands of persons, who believed and were led to believe they were heirs to a vast estate.

As the will in question and representations of the promoters called for property throughout Pennsylvania as part of the alleged inheritance, it became necessary for the inspectors to trace in and out of the name of "Baker" or "Becker" and various companies in which they were interested every piece of real estate in the sixty-seven counties of Pennsylvania from 1882 to the present time. Over four hundred days were consumed in this work. The search disclosed that none of the property called for in the alleged will was owned by a Jacob Baker or any other Baker at the time it was purported to have been executed. It was further ascertained that there is no vast unsettled and undistributed Baker or Becker estate anywhere in the State of Pennsylvania.

Another false claim of the promoters of this swindle was that Jacob Baker or some other Baker had executed a 99-year lease to one Martin Yalas on property owned by the most of the buildings in Philadelphia now stand.

Another method by which money was obtained from victims of the swindle was in the compilation and sale to them of so-called genealogical charts. Needless to say, these traced the ancestors of the victims back to the Baker or Becker of whom they were supposed to be an heir. Charges for these charts ranged from ten to fifty dollars or whatever the traffic would bear.

Writer Performs Neat Vocabulary Tricks With Kentucky Postoffices

To properly know Kentucky, one must have a good knowledge of the names of postoffices within the confines of the Commonwealth. Many postoffices have unusual and interesting names. This is shown in the following list.

Postoffice names in capital letters. CHARLIE AND CHRISTINE were riding along one day in their FORD, or was it a CHEVROLET, a PACKARD or a HUDSON getting a PLEASANT VIEW when they suddenly met ROSCOE and RUTH all in a RUSH. They were on their way to FAIRPLAY, and began talking about the 1937 Kentucky State Fair. They stopped at a PLACE to WALTZ when thru POINT which went over like a BIG ROCK. They agreed to DECIDE upon a trip to the State Fair during the week of September 18-19 and get as many as possible to join them in their HOLIDAY.

They wanted to see the many POMPOUS things along the MIDWAY and in every HALL. They had heard there would be nearly a million things to see, so they began to ADD every PENNY for their NEW HOPE and NEW LIBERTY. As they drove along the HIGHWAY, they saw others HIKING at a HILL TOP but all were headed for Louisville. They knew it would be a JOB to see everything, but they had HOPE, and kept on with the ODDS against no one. They had GOOD-LUCK all the way. They saw a BANNER telling of the BLAZE OF GLORY at the Fairgrounds just to the SOUTH where the Fairgrounds each became a WALKER OF INDEPENDENCE and PROSPECT. They found a SHADY GROVE for their PICNIC in PARADISE while PEOPLES swarmed about more or less NON-CHLANTA. Everything was GOODY and OK as they strolled about the grounds without a HAZARD to take a CHANCE here or there, to see the FREEDOM of EIGHTY-EIGHT maybe SEVENTY-SIX horses as they did a JUMP for JOY when someone shouted "LOOKOUT" there's MARY and she looks like she's in love with a PILOT from some PLACE.

They saw a LOVELY LITTLE BAREFOOT boy HALFWAY up an INCLINE who was NIGH READING to become one of the FANCY FARM FARMERS who get up before SUNRISE. There was a SMILE on his face as he watched everyone get READY to STAY on the STAMPING GROUND for the fireworks in the EVE. It was a NOBLE day, and as the party left for their homes, everything was in praise of the 1937 Kentucky State Fair. The SKY was clear, and the MOON was CO-OPERATIVE. There was a SMILE on the face of everyone for they were a BUNCH of HAPPY people as they thought of romance. They planned a UNION and gave thought to THREE LINKS, but the trip to the Kentucky State Fair was never forgotten.

PHOSPHATE BRINGS BIG WHEAT YIELDS

Farmers cooperating with the Kentucky College of Agriculture in demonstrating the value of superphosphate and limestone in increasing wheat yields and in improving clover and other hay crops are reporting exceptional results.

Scott McLain and R. B. Walker, Spencer county, obtained 40 and 38 bushels of wheat to the acre, respectively on land treated with superphosphate, an increase of 10 bushels over wheat on untreated land.

Twenty Garrard county farmers using superphosphate and limestone secured an average of 39 bushels of wheat to the acre, compared to 22 bushels on untreated land. Mixed hay on treated land produced 2,300 pounds to the acre, and on untreated land 138 pounds.

In Marion county, W. V. Tatum grew 28 bushels of wheat to the acre, with the aid of limestone and superphosphate, and 18 bushels on the check plot. In addition, wheat on treated land was grazed by cattle and sheep.

In Woodford county, applications of superphosphate increased wheat yields at least 10 bushels to the acre, according to William Steele, Jr. Clover was also benefited.

C. H. Owen, Rockcastle county, threshed 32 bushels of wheat to the acre on a 20-acre field that had been reclaimed by drainage, limestone and superphosphate.

In Robertson county, approximately 100 farmers had a production of 25 to 35 bushels of wheat to the acre.

Though Calloway county has had little alfalfa, Leo Burchett obtained a fine stand both this year and in 1936.

NEW CAR SALES DROP DURING MAY AND JUNE

Retail sales of new passenger automobiles showed a decline, somewhat more than seasonal, from May to June. Sales in June were almost 5 per cent below June 1936, but about 27 per cent greater than in June 1935. The effect of bonus payments last June and the strike situation this year are undoubtedly contributing factors to this decline. Daily average sales, without seasonal adjustment, decreased about 8 per cent from May to June.

The dollar volume of retail financing of new passenger automobiles showed a decline of 2 per cent for the first six months of June as compared with June 1936, but an increase of 65 per cent as compared with June 1935. As the aggregate volume of financing for the first six months of this year was about 2 per cent below the first six months of 1936, but about 58 per cent higher than for the corresponding period of 1935.

SMALL TOWN SALES SHOW BEST GAIN INEST IN JUNE

Daily average sales in small towns and rural areas for June showed a larger increase in the East than in other parts of the country as compared with June 1936.

Estimates, based on the dollar value of rural chain store and mail order sales, indicate that sales in the East were about 27 per cent above June of last year. Increases of about 10 per cent were recorded for the other three regions. Changes from May to June were below the usual seasonal amounts for sales in all regions excepting the East where an increase of 4 1/2 per cent was shown, whereas there is usually a decrease from May to June for sales in this region.

LESS GRASS; MORE HEALTH

Following a study of foods, members of homemakers' clubs in Simpson county are reporting improved health, due largely to the use of more vegetables and less fried foods and grease. In some instances frying pans have been discarded, and fat pork has been placed on the taboo list. More butter is being used for flavoring, taking the place of common greases. Homemakers' club food leaders were trained by Miss Florence Imlay, nutrition specialist of the College of Agriculture, and Miss Alice Penn, county home demonstration agent.

WILLIAM JOYCE COWEN'S 'THEY CAN WIN' HALSEY RAJES

The story thus far: Turning up in France when the girl he loves, Rose, Duffrey, thought him dead, Fred Willis finds her engaged to his closest buddy, Jimmy Davis. Rather than ruin Jimmy's future he steps out of the picture, pretending he is already married. Back in America at his old job of circus barker, Fred is shocked to discover that Jimmy is the leader of a gang of racketeers, involved in several murders. He pleads in vain with him to give it up. Then he tells Rose, who, hearing another murder is planned informs the police. Jimmy is apprehended and sentenced to three years for carrying firearms. Fred, shielding Rose from Jimmy's vengeful gang, takes her along with the circus. In prison the only thing that makes the time pass for Jimmy is Rose's letters. Persistently another convict works on his emotions, finally persuading him to attempt a jail break together. Jimmy reaches the shelter of Fred's Circus and tells Rose that he has come to take her away.

CHAPTER TWELVE "Jimmy," said Fred, advancing to face the other man, "you ain't thought this through. " "I don't get you," was the sullen answer. "Rose can't go with you—out there. Everybody in the state after you."

"So you finally got around to tellin' me?" There was a new and dangerous tone in Jimmy's voice as he stepped to pin-points of blinking fury. "I stepped out," said Fred, "because you were a great pal and a Jimmy little soldier. I stayed out. I couldn't do anything else while you were in stir." He paused to let the most pitiful sink in. "But I'm stepping back in before you take her out of here this way."

"That tells me just what I came all the way to find out!" cried Jimmy. "Suddenly there was a gun in his hand. Rose gasped. He backed up and faced both of them. "Stay where you are!" he demanded. He shook his head as he turned from one to the other, the pistol focused on Fred. "Nice idea, wasn't it? I go back and rot for ten or fifteen years, so's you can get your hands up, before we clear out, I'm going to show you what kind of a picker you are, Rose!"

"I ain't got nothin' to live in a cage." "But they're hunting you like an animal now, Look Jimmy—why I will be outside working every minute to have your time out done—" "I know all about that," snapped Jimmy, turning toward Fred with an accusing sneer. "He'll look after you real good—sure—"

"Listen Jimmy," interposed Fred, calm and direct in the face of the other's wildness, "I've loved Rose since the first time she bawled me out for comin' to see you at the hospital."

"I guess it's all the truth, Fred," he muttered. "I'm sorry, kid," answered Fred. "So's she," said Jimmy, glancing at Rose. "That's all it ever was between us. Funny, twin all this time to find out that it should have been you two all along."

In the distance came the low, menacing, terrifying sound of a police siren. Jimmy leaped to the tent flap and peered out. A faint blur was visible in the distance. In a few moments it turned into the semblance of a marching row of uniformed men. Fred pulled Jimmy away from the aperture. He stepped to the main entrance of the trailer and slammed the door shut. "Listen!" he said. "We'll put you in blackface! You can be the wild man and eat snakes down to the Mexican border."

"Halt!" cried the sergeant. "Rose and Fred stood outlined in the moonlight on the trailer, horrified. They were unable to move, too far away even to make their voices heard."

Half a dozen guns spit out their deadly charge simultaneously. Jimmy had just reached the cage containing the carnival leopard. The volley reached him and the beast at the same moment. The leopard writhed for a few seconds, but Jimmy was silent and motionless from the moment he was struck.

"Now I recall," Sergeant Meadowlark was saying, as Fred stammered and gulped, "I came slowly forward with Rose on his arm. Jimmy Davis was one of my boys over in France."

"Sergeant Meadowlark" replied Fred with quiet bitterness, "Jimmy Davis was your star pupil."

"He turned away as Meadowlark, dimly comprehending his meaning started after him. Fred's arm went about Rose's waist. Their heads were bowed. They were thinking of all the past . . . time enough later for the future."

66 Per Cent Increase Shown in U. S. Machinery Exports

The sharp increase in volume and value of tobacco exports to the United States is accounted for the improvement in the Cuban tobacco export trade in the first 6 months of 1937.

Commenting upon the size of German tobacco factories, Consul J. W. Denton, Bremen, states that 87 per cent of the factories employ up to ten workers, and out of a total of 471 factories going out of business between March 30 and September 30 there were 452 in the 10-worker class while the 11 to 100 class lost 13 and factories employing over 100 workers lost six.

Japan's foreign trade in tobacco products during the first quarter of 1937 was featured by a 66 per cent increase in exports of leaf tobacco.

Exports of passenger cars, trucks, and automotive parts from Canada in June were valued at $2,630,103 compared with $2,055,448 in May and $1,779,088 in June, 1936.

Canada leads the world in the transportation of freight by air. Exports of industrial machinery from the United States during June were valued at $21,128,466, a gain of 66 per cent over the corresponding shipments in June, 1936.

Statistics issued by the Norwegian government show that 44,782 whales were caught in all areas during the 1935-36 season—the greatest number ever caught by Norwegian whalers in any similar period.

Spanish potato properties, including mines and warehouses, have been taken over by former employees and are being operated on a "collectivized" basis.

Germany resumed her purchases of Argentine cotton during June, after a six months' lapse. The continued tendency of Peruvian livestock breeders to export their hides and skins at higher prices than obtainable in the domestic market, brought about a pronounced scarcity and consequent rise in prices there during the first half of 1937.

In the first six months of 1937, Canadian sales of new passenger cars, trucks and buses numbered 96,756 which retailed for $96,000,000. Passenger car sales were up 27 per cent over the first half of 1936. Truck sales made an even more substantial gain.

British India, despite its low per capita purchasing power and other factors unfavorable to the sale of modern tourist-type cottages, is the outstanding market for American dental creams and powders.

While Indians contribute the bulk of the demand in British India for imported dentifrices there are still large numbers of white-toothed Indians who cling to the traditional use of native leaves and twigs for cleansing the teeth.

Living costs have increased 22 per cent in Paris in the last year. Business conditions in Mexico in July continued unsettled and irregular as the result of higher prices, prevailing labor conditions, and prospective shortages in certain agricultural crops.

SOOTY

A POET THINKS

The rain is due to fall,
The wind blows softly.

The branches of the cinnamon are moving,
The begonia sits on the green mounds.

Bright are the flying leaves,
The falling flowers are many.

The wind lifted the dry dust,
And he is lifting the wet dust;
Here and there the wind moves everything.

He passes under light gauze
And touches me.

I am alone with the beating of my heart.

There are lagues of sky,
And the water is flowing very fast.

Why do the birds let their feathers fall among the clouds?

I would have them carry my letters,
But the sky is long.

The broom flows east,
And not one wave comes back with news.

The wanted magnolias are shining still,
But flowers a few are falling.
I close his box on my guitar corner.

And lay aside my jade flute.

I am alone with the beating of
my heart.

Stay with me tonight,
Old songs.

PICK LORETTA YOUNG AS TYPICAL AMERICAN

Chosen as typical of beauty and intelligence in American women, the face of Loretta Young, who will be exhibited out of stone for a Taj Mahal type of memorial in the city of Bombay, India, by the Society for the Improvement of India's Women.

News of the high distinction was received by Miss Young on the "Cafe Metropole" set at the Twentieth Century-Fox studios, where she was working with her co-stars, Tyrone Power and Astoria Menjou, on scenes for the film, which opens Friday at the Cozy Theatre.

The message came from John Y. Milton, British architect of Bombay, who is designing the structure which will attempt to capture for the future the beauty of outstanding women of the world.

Only one woman is being chosen as typical of each country. The only other Hollywood choice was Dolores del Rio, selected as possessing pulchritude symbol of Mexico. Other famous women on the list are the Queen of England and Helen of Romania.

Time Lost is Money Lost

It costs money to be sick. You see it directly if your pay envelope is short. You lose out on some important work if you live on a farm or if you are one of the few who are not docked for lost time. You can't afford to show up on the job unless you are feeling fit. The boss wants results—not excuses.

How many times do Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, "That Tired Feeling," That "Morning After" Feeling, Neuritic, Rheumatic, Sciatic, Muscular or Periodic Pains keep you at home or interfere with your doing a full day's work?

All these troubles are caused or made worse by too much acid in your body. To correct this condition take

ALKA-SELTZER

The New Pain Relieving, Alkalinizing, Effervescent Tablet.

It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid. Alka-Seltzer is pleasant to take, harmless, non-toxic.

Why don't you try it? Get a drink at your drug store soda fountain for a nickel. Buy a package for home use.
