PROJECTS MADE TO OFFER WORK FOR ALL IN YEAR

Urged by the drive being made at the suggestion of Hon. George H. Goodman, Administrator of the WPA program for Kentucky, to get enough projects submitted to furnish work for all unemployed in the state for the coming year, local city authorities have submitted twenty projects and are getting a number more ready for submission before the closing date of September 12. That date has been set as the deadline for the submission of all Work Progress Administration projects.

In order to meet the emergency Mr. Goodman said that rough estimates would be accepted at the Louisville and Washington offices, leaving more accurate details to be worked out at a later date.

Twelve major projects have been submitted to WPA by the county officials represented by County Judge Chas. E. Jennings. Two of them have been approved. A complete listing will be published next week, as it was received too late for this issue.

The following is the list of projects submitted by the local city council of Morehead:

- Paving College street from Court Street to Elizabeth street.
- Paving Fourth Street from Locust street to Tippet street.
- Paving Tippet Avenue from Second street to Fifth street.
- Paving Locust street from Fourth street to Fifth.
- Paving Rose street from Fairbanks avenue to Bishop avenue.
- Paving Rowan street from Bishop avenue to bridge.
- Paving alley from Rose to Railroad street.
- Paving Railroad street from Fairbanks to Hargis street.
- Paving Lyons avenue from Second street to city limits.
- Paving Blair street from Wilson avenue to Lyons avenue.
- Paving Knapp avenue from Sun street to city limits.
- Paving Daniels avenue from Main street to Sun street.
- Grading and paving Second Street

BISHOPS DRUG STORE HAS NEW DRUGIST

"Bud" Manuel of Lexington has accepted a position at the C. E. Bishop Drug company where he will replace Mr. Wm. Gillespie who has moved to Ashland. Mr. Manuel is a druggist of several years experience and has been previously employed in some of the important stores in this section of the state.

DAY OF DOOM FOR THOMAS RHEA DRAWS NEAR AS SATURDAY, SEPT. 7, APPROCHES

A certain citizen of Morehead made a trip to Portsmouth, Ohio a few days ago. He brought back a few tales that will be repeating. "When I drove up the road toward Ashland, he said, "I began to wonder if I'd get there and back without having to get a new set of tires. Every few feet I'd run into a gang of weed-cutters. Why the way they swung their cythes, I thought sure they'd stick them through my tires and puncture them.

One plate I stopped to watch them. They cut all the weeds but one and left it standing. They stopped and drew lots to see which one would get the last one. Finally, after so much horse play, the lucky one got ready and to the tune of "A weed a day and a vote for Rhea, the chosen one swooped down on the unlucky weed and chopped its head off.

In spite of the desperate efforts of the Rhea campaign committee to lay plans to ignore that Rowan County would be in the blue column it is headed straight for the Chandler handwagon on September 7, with, what looks like an even greater majority than on August 3. The

DR. J. H. PAYNE BACK FROM EUROPEAN TRIP

Dr. John Howard Payne arrived in Morehead Sunday, returning from a two months trip in Europe. Dr. Payne immediately assumed the duties of his office as president of the Morehead State Teachers College, and has been busy the past few days carrying out that work.

Elliott Sues For Election Officers

As a hearing held before Circuit Judge George W. E. Woolfords at Grayson Tuesday afternoon the Chandler campaign committee of Elliott county, which had sued for the right to select two election officers in each precinct in Elliott county who were favorable to Mr. Chandler were granted the right for which they asked. Suit was brought by Attorney Hogge and Hogge of this city at the request of Chandler's campaign chairman in Elliott county, County Judge S. L. Woodriddle and Dewey Farley, chairman of the Chandler finance committee in that county, against the county election commissioners, Cecil Pennington, sheriff of the county and Pat Isom Democratic Commissioner. According to the charges, Pennington and Isom acting as election commissioners, refused to accept the Chandler list of officers, as presented by J. M. Stapleton, Republican Commissioner. Mr. Stappeton, when he was completely ignored by the other two members of the commission, left the meeting and reported to the Chandler committee that he was refused a hearing.

Training School Opens For Year On Monday

Advance enrollments indicate a full attendance for the Breckinridge Training School which opens for the fall term Monday, September ninth. The maximum registration has already been reached in certain of the elementary grades, and in all cases only a few vacancies remain. The program followed will be similar to that of preceding years with somewhat more extensive provisions in the junior and senior high school. A more complete extra-curricular program is anticipated, thereby affording a broader type of training for the pupils in attendance. Athletics this year will be in charge of "Bobbie" Laughlin, former Mt. Sterling and St. Xavier athlete. A program involving inter-scholastic competition in three sports and extensive intramural activity is contemplated. According to present plans, six football games will be played. The schedule is not yet complete but will be released in the near future.

discharge of numerous highway employees has had a effect on the of would be dictators to force them into line for a man who is in the last throes of a lingering political death. Another item that has not set so well on the local people in the freeing of numerous prisoners from the State penitentiary. Apparently the courts are to be made a laughing stock, solely for the purpose of enlarging the vote for Tom Rhea. We are turning out of almost 600 prisoners within the last three months of which Rowan County has received its full share, there would seem to be but small reason for any circuit court to continue to try prisoners who will be sent back to them within a few days.

And again the time arrives when the predictions of the would be and so called political prognosticators are making life miserable for citizens who have only their own desires to back them up.

Personally we have no predictions outside of Rowan county. We

Rev. Andy Kiser In Address Here

"No decent Democrat will vote for Tom Rhea," shouted Rev. Andy Kiser, former county judge of Carter county in a speech here Tuesday afternoon before a large crowd that filled the circuit court room, in spite of the downpour of rain that kept hundreds away. Judge Kiser was speaking in behalf of the candidacy of A. B. Happy Chandler for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Judge Kiser cited numerous instances as reasons for his statement. He referred to the bank of which Tom Rhea was president when it went broke after loaning unsecured money to his relatives; He referred unblinkingly to the record of Ruby Luffon as governor, and mentioned the campaign pledges which he had made only to break as soon as he took office.

He compared the platforms of the two candidates and the men who are backing them. He stated that Tom Rhea had already sold out the people to a few bosses in each county who had promised to deliver the votes to him in exchange for jobs and promises of jobs.

Judge Kiser was speaking to an audience that was apparently with him in a large majority, as he was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause.

OTTIS WILSON KILLS H. FULTZ AT HAYES

Harve Fultz was instantly killed last Thursday afternoon by a bullet from a high powered rifle in the hands of Otis Wilson. The killer crossed near Hay's crossing about 3:00 p. m. Wilson took to the hills, according to reports but later gave himself up to the county authorities and was lodged in jail awaiting a hearing.

Morehead High To Start Year Monday

Students and teachers of the four consolidated school districts are looking forward to the opening of school on Monday, September 9. Thirty-five teachers and approximately 1000 pupils will resume work on this date for a nine months term. The faculties for the year are practically the same as last year's. The principals are: Donnie D. Caudill, Morehead; Frank C. Laughlin, Haldeman; Clarence Allen, Farmers; and John Caudill, Elliottville. According to reports from the principals an increased enrollment is expected in each of the schools and a very successful school year is predicted.

An added feature to the Morehead High School Curriculum is a

HIGHWAY EMPLOYEES MAKE AFFIDAVIT THAT SUPPORT OF CHANDLER COST JOBS

The following affidavit signed by Arthur Black, Wilson Hogge and Paul Fouch is self explanatory. The job being constructed on the Christy Creek road is a federal job under the old N. E. A. setup. One of the employees of the laborer's that applies should enter into the job. No inquiry is permitted or supposed to be permitted as to the politics of any man working on the job. It may be either a Republican or Democrat, or he may be for Tom Rhea or for Happy Chandler. That is all that is supposed to be known. In reality, according to the affidavits below, it is far from the chibb. The affiants, Arthur S. Black, Paul Fouch, and Wilson Hogge, say that they are residents of Rowan County and that through the U. S. Employment Bureau of Ashland, Kentucky, they received cards authorizing Ruth Brothers to give them employment on a P. W. A. project, which Ruth Brothers are building from a point known as Sandy Hook in Elliott County. That, as they understand this is a

CHANDLER HAS PROGRAM FOR RE-FINANCING

Speaking at Pikeville on Monday afternoon of this week, Lieutenant Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler made a direct answer to the charges that he was without a program for the state.

Plans to place former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham at the head of a commission to make a thorough audit of the State's finances and to work out plans for a complete reorganization of the State Government were announced by Lieut. Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler. He said he would ask Mr. Beckham to head the commission and would ask him to pick his associates for the work. The former Governor's record as the best administrator this State has had, Mr. Chandler said, makes it imperative that the State get his services in the field where he is pre-eminent in working out our financial problems.

Mr. Chandler said his plan was to create a commission of five men, who would have charge of the audit and reorganization work. For its head he would call Mr. Beckham and surround him with men of his own choosing. The projected audit commission would be given sufficient funds to conduct a real audit and to make comprehensive plans for the reorganization of the State agencies and commissions, Mr. Chandler said.

Mr. Chandler listed some of the results he expected to come from the commission work.

Would Simplify Structure

1-Removal of new tax threats due to economies that would flow from the commission's recommendations.

2-Simplification of the governmental structure with increased efficiency and lowered cost of operation.

3-A forward looking nonpartisan program for future development of the state, instead of the haphazard, fall together policy of today.

4-Greatly increased aid to the school system of the State, financed out of the savings effected through consolidation of agencies and commissions that now exist.

5-A great impetus to road

OLD EDITOR RETURNS TO VISIT MOREHEAD

J. P. Myers, who edited the Morehead Times in the early '90's, together with his wife and son stopped over in Morehead to visit the birth place of the son, while enroute to Clark county on a visit with relatives. Mr. Myers made his residence here in the old Clay Powers property, the house standing on the spot where the Judge Young garage now stands. Mr. Myers is at present resident of Dayton, Ohio, where he is engaged in the printing business.

That at this time there is a hot election contest on in Rowan county between candidates on the Democratic ticket being Hon. A. B. Chandler and Hon. Thomas S. Rhea. That these affidavits were given to the contractors and foreman that if they wanted to hold their jobs on this project that they must support Thomas Rhea in the primary election. That, primary election was held on August 3, and these affiants exercised their right to vote, giving their support to A. B. Chandler and shortly after the primary of August 3, they were discharged from the job and told by Everett Ruth, a member of the firm of Ruth Brothers that they were being fired because they supported Chandler.

Study the Issues - - Then Vote

With Saturday of this week the most heated primary campaign conducted in Kentucky will be brought to a close with an avalanche of ballots. There is no escaping the fact that the issues of the campaign have been thoroughly discussed and are familiar to every vote in the Democratic party. The campaign has been heated it has not been dirty. If there were issues which were said to be unfair, it was still necessary to hold them up to view, for it was necessary to let the people know what was going behind the scenes. Only by that method would they be able to select intelligently their candidate for governor.

But the issues of the campaign have been fully discussed and all that remains is to digest them.

Briefly the issues on which the campaign has been made, in spite of all attempts to disguise them or to side track the voters into forgetfulness, have been the Sales Tax. In spite of the fact that Tom Rhea has attempted to side step the Sales Tax, as an issue and in spite of the fact that Elam Huddleston has cried that it is not an issue, it remains the outstanding issue of the campaign. Other issues are of minor importance. The primary is one of them. After everything else is said and done, the Sales Tax again bobs up.

To summarize the issues of the campaign for our readers, these may be totalled in this way:

1. Are you in favor of the repeal of the Sales Tax? If so vote for Happy Chandler.
2. And don't let anyone fool you into believing that it will not have to be repeated. It will.
3. Are you in favor of a primary law? If so, vote for Happy Chandler. He gave you the right to vote in a primary.
4. Are you in favor of taxing liquor a reasonable amount, instead of the food and necessities of life? If so, vote for Happy Chandler. He stood for a whiskey tax in 1934 and there is no reason to believe he will not stand for it in 1936. He and his friends offered an amendment to the present Sales Tax bill to exempt food and necessities. Tom Rhea and his gang refused to accept it.
5. Are you against the use of troops in elections? Vote for Happy Chandler. He believes in clean elections with the people insured the right to vote without threats.
6. Are you in favor of the $12 per capita for teachers and for taking and keeping the schools out of politics? Then vote for Happy Chandler, who with his friends forced the Democrats in the Legislature to accept the $12 per capita after it had been promised.
7. Are you in favor of the Old Age Pension? Then elect Happy Chandler who has promised to cooperate with the federal government to see that the Old Age bill is passed to aid the old people in this state.
8. But and again primarily a VOTE FOR HAPPY CHANDLER IS A VOTE AGAINST THE SALES TAX. Vote for Tom Rhea for the continuation of the Sales Tax.
9. A vote for Tom Rhea is a vote for Ruby and a continuation of the form of government that we have endured for the past four years. Do you as citizens want it?

In our opinion, when the smoke of counting ballots has cleared away and when the final reckoning has come there is no question but that the people of Kentucky the Democrats of the Commonwealth will say in no uncertain terms that they want Happy Chandler as their candidate to set their own house in order.

not merely a member of a poor family, he was even poorer than that as he had no family. His home, if it could be called such, was anywhere he could find it. This cheerful little fellow was selling door-to-door, buy ice cream and other kid luxuries that came as a matter of course to the usual run of boys; he was hustling these pennies for bread, meat and clothes. The article has been seen, after selling enough papers to pay for it, getting his breakfast of two hot buns and butter at our little bakery. But was he gloomy and downhearted under these conditions? A million times no. He must have been, born smiling (and what a princely heritage). He would be grinning when hungry, which, by the way, was most of the time, and then present the same beamy and winning personality in his, to him, more difficult moments.

I know not what others' may think, but as for myself, here is how I see this. The very essence of all the ideals of our great country, with its Garfields, Lincolns and other big men, is saturated and blended into that great mental picture that is held dear to every American citizen, white or black, all of an honest, industrious, fearless man who has, by his own courageous efforts and his alone, come up from the bottom. Let us not warner these ideals for any price.

I do not know if the election of either of these candidates would have any monetary or financial effect upon myself, and I don't care. I absolutely refuse to give up what few ideals I have left for a vague will of the wisg promise or expectation of a little financial gain.

Knowing this boy all of his life, knowing how decent, honorable and capable he has always been, knowing how quick and how final he can say "no" when he believes anything to be wrong, brings to my mind that famous old line of Fitz-James Scott's "Lady of the Lake." "Come one, come all! This rock shall fly From its firm base as soon as I, Albert N. Galloway, Madisonville, Ky.

From Point of View Courier-Journal

When asked to name the most important piece of playground equipment, my questioners are usually surprised when I answer, the sand box. Of course, this piece is for young children only. The balance beam or rail is my choice for the older children.

The sand box, when used under adult supervision, is really an educational device. Here a child may truly create something. He can work out an idea, putting into actual form something first created in the imagination.

You see in this the same impulse which guides sculptors, artists, musicians, and construction engineers. True, the child's castle or tunnel of sand is not permanent, but the sense of achievement is. He has built something that is all his from the original idea to the final product. It is a most satisfying experience.

The balance beam or walking rail is valuable in posture training. Many interesting stunts can be performed on it. The balance required trains the muscles and nerves in body control which is an important factor in posture.

Miss Jean Blair entertained a number of her young friends at the home of her parents, on Tuesday evening.

Announcement is made this week of the marriage of Miss Edna McDaniels to Mr. Beiland Dick, of Dayton, Ohio.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

During the last few years there has been a steady and encouraging increase in the average annual fire loss. However, figures for the last year, issued by the National Board of Fire Underwriters, show that a decided slow-up has occurred in the rate of decline. Fire costs the nation less than it did a few years ago, but we are now experiencing less success in forcing the loss down still further.

The 1934 loss amounted to $2.08 per cent. That may not seem a large amount, but, looked at in the light of the fact that it amounted to over an unnecessary waste, it is important. Between two and three hundreds of millions of dollars a year is being sacrificed to fire, millions that could otherwise be used for home and business building, for investment, for all the articles and services that keep the wheels of industry turning.

Further, the true size of the fire waste cannot be shown in figures. A fire, for example, may destroy a $100,000 factory. Yet the factory's destruction may mean that several hundred men are thrown out of employment, that a town's principal industry no longer operates, that taxes are lost to the community, that a part of their customers gone, local merchants are forced out of business. A hundred thousand dollar fire can thus cause a total loss of many times that amount. A hundred thousand dollar fire can thus cause a total loss of many times that amount.

Fire is everybody's business. We all pay for fire waste, we all benefit when it is reduced. And the best friend of fire is public apathy, that permits hazards to grow unchecked, and allows the commonest risks to multiply and get out of hand. Fire prevention should not be regarded as somebody else's business. Forefront and caution impose the same responsibility upon us all.

TWO DAYS—115 NEEDLES

DEATHS

Newspaper headlines show that little if any progress has been made in cutting down America's horrible automobile accident toll, a toll that took 35,000 lives last year.

Over the single week-end of August third and fourth, 115 people were killed in automobile crashes. Thousands were injured seriously. Property damage ran to a vast total. And that week-end was simply an average one, the same thing happens week after week.

The nation must take a more aggressive stand than it ever has in pursuing and prosecuting reckless and incompetent drivers, if innocent lives are to be saved. If the chance-taking motorist, risked no loss but his own, it would be possible to overlook him, but, under present conditions, he menaces us all.

The drunken driver becomes more and more prevalent, and it is an unhappy fact that few states have shown any real success in punishing him. The speed demon still rules a thousand highways. And the drivers who don't correctly weave in and out of traffic drive on the wrong side of the road and nag on hills and curves continue to take their toll of life health and property.

Efforts to educate motorists must be vigorously pursued, they have unquestionably produced results, and have kept the annual death list from becoming even greater than it is. And these efforts must be backed up with modern, adequate traffic laws, as now enforced, to the limit. In the average state, traffic law enforcement is weak and inadequate, it spurs, rather than hinders, the dangerous driver.

Every motorist should regard the war on the reckless and incompetent driver as a public duty, in which all should participate so far as they can.

The Boy Chandler

The following was presented to "The Voice of the People" column of the Madisonville Daily Messenger by the undersigned and a subscriber of the above mentioned paper. It was refused publication. Evidently the Voice of the People said paper is the voice of their people only.

Albert N. Galloway.
Having read and listened to a lot of talk about one of the candidates for Governor, the writer of this article feels that it is his privilege and duty to do what he can in his very feeble way to get to the bottom of this question of the type and fitness of one of the above mentioned candidates. I refer to Lieut. Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Back around thirty years ago, I at Corydon, Ky., remember very distinctly a little rosy-cheeked ragamuffin newsboy selling his papers, carrying in coal and doing other odd jobs for his more fortunate village neighbors. This lad I am speaking of was

You Get Better Meals With Electric Cooking

★ REDDY KILOWATT SAYS—

All the delicate flavors, nourishing juices and savory aroma of meats and vegetables are retained when you cook electrically... and you have no food losses by shrinkage either.

With electric cooking you can put your meat and vegetables in the oven right after breakfast, set the range controls, be away all day, come home in the evening and find your meal cooked deliciously—ready to serve.

With electric cooking you get no smoke soot or greasy deposits to mar utensils, range or walls. And with our lower electric rates the cost is now less than one cent a meal for each person.

Come to our store at your earliest convenience and let us explain the advantages of the HOTPOINT RANGE. Local merchants sell other standard makes guaranteed to give years of satisfactory service. See them all. Buy the size and type you desire on easy payment terms. You'll never regret your purchase.

Farm And Agriculture News

Soil experts connected with the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station give rye first place among cover crops for Kentucky. It will grow on almost any soil, may be sown early or late, grows through most of the winter, and makes good winter pasture. It also is a fairly satisfactory nurse crop for young grass and clover.

Wheat and winter barley and winter oats are other small grains that make satisfactory cover crops, but generally are not considered as good as rye.

Dr. Fergus points out that small grains intended for cover crop purposes only should be sown about a third heavier than when sown for a combined grain-nurse crop. Late seedings should be heavier than early seedings.

Other crops sometimes used for cover purpose and in addition for pasture include crimson clover, hairy vetch, and the mixed grasses and legumes.

Crimson clover makes a heavy winter cover that furnishes a lot of winter and early spring pasture. In addition to covering the soil it tends to enrich it, especially when plowed under in spring.

Hairy vetch is also a soil builder and a good green manure crop.

The soils and crops men at the Experiment Station are insistent on the value of cover crops under Kentucky conditions, to protect the soil from losses of plant nutrients by helping to control erosion and leaching.

In the ordinary course of seasons frost should come in not much more than six weeks, but on the off chance that it will be delayed this year, and if home saved or left over seed can be used, a planting of beans may still be made. If the frost should get them, not much will have been lost. On the other hand, if even a few beans mature, beginning to use the canned winter supply can be put off just that much. A way to "keep" green beans long after frost was described in these columns a few weeks ago.

This is the mid point in turnip and late greens planting time. It will continue for a month longer, but in order to assure plenty of these things, every opportunity should be grasped to make plantings, whenever and wherever matured and harvested vegetables provide space. It would in fact, do no harm to cover the whole garden with a mixture of table turnips, turnip greens, kale and mustard, for if they are not used for food they would serve the purpose for which farmers sow their cover crops and "green" manure crops, material to turn under in lieu of stable manure. If anything, providing humus in this way may be more important to gardeners than to general farmers, for the former sometimes experience real difficulty in obtaining sufficient amounts of stable manure, or at least, stable manure of proper quality.

Backward tomatoes can be made to hurry ripening by pinching off suckers and branches on which yet only blossom buds have appeared. Six weeks of good weather are needed for buds to become ripe fruit. This applies to tomatoes that have been allowed to run as well as to those that are staked. The pruning should not be done too closely, but only the extreme tips and the bud above them.

A few more, and larger, melons than would ordinarily have been harvested, may be had by pruning much after the fashion just cited for tomatoes. Runners on which melons are set should be pinched off, two leaves beyond the melon. The same is true of the cantaloupe of the more vigorous type, Bender and Tip Top, ripening now.

In the event there are seed near it was impossible to plant this spring or if inexpensive left over seed can be gotten from seedsmen, a few peas may be planted now. Although the crop may not be as bountiful as one from spring planting, even these few fall peas would constitute a decided luxury, something about which to boast.

This is the time to be about seeing that the storage place is ready to receive the winter vegetables. The philosophy of the contemporary of the leaky roof, who said that when it was raining he couldn't fix the leak and when it wasn't raining, it didn't need fixing, is not the philosophy of a good gardener. If there is at present no storage means, and if the expense of building one seems prohibitive, at least a submerged barrel or two may be provided.

This makeshift, but effective, form of vegetable storage is described in Kentucky Circular 266, as are, in fact, several other types of storage structures that many gardeners will be agreeably surprised to find they can build. This circular is sent free to those requesting it of the Kentucky College of Agriculture, Lexington.

Extensive tests indicate that more twin lambs are obtained when ewes are in a raining condition just before and during breeding time. Extra feeding, or turning ewes on good pasture, has proved the best way to get more twin lambs.

Cows on test in dairy herd improvement association last year produced more than double the average production of all cows. The cost of feeding high producing cows was more than that for average cows, but not twice as much, which means that profits were better for members of improvement associations.

Prominent Lawyer Seeks Nomination

Elsewhere in this issue we published B. M. Vincent, a prominent and a paid advertisement of the Honorable Lawyer who seeks the nomination for Attorney General on the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Vincent is regarded as one of the most outstanding members of the State Bar and has served as Senator from his Senatorial District participating in the sessions of 1928 and 1930. While a member of the Senate he was the leader in that body in enacting legislation which created Mammoth Cave as a National Park and made it possible for the Government to take over this scenic wonder. He has also served as County Judge of Edmonson County and at one time was employed in the office of Attorney General Chas. H. Morris where he became familiar with responsibilities and duties of that important office.

In the recent National election he was named as the Democratic elector supporting Franklin D. Roosevelt for Presidency.

Mr. Vincent was born and reared on a farm; received his early education in Edmonson County, later he attended the Western Teacher's College and the University of Kentucky where at the latter institution he received his legal training. He is a member of the Baptist Church, World War veteran and a member of the American Legion, also the Odd Fellows. He bids for your vote and support in the run-off Primary, Saturday, September 7.

How Cardui Helps Women To Build Up

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. An excellent general health tonic, it is built on certain medicinal plants, a sure back to good health. Dr. J. C. B. Baker of Boston, W. Va., writes: "I have known the worth of my last body. I did not know it until my strength had been taken away. My health was soon restored and well. I have given it to my daughters and recommended it to other ladies. I am convinced it is the best tonic I ever used. If it does you benefit you, consult a physician."

Retail Merchants Say "5 Cents Sales Tax, If Rhea Is Elected"

Killed in the performance of his duty, J. Wallace Emory, Jr., Executive Secretary, Kentucky Retail Merchants' Association, Thursday evening, August 8th. He was returning from Russellville, Logan County, where he went to investigate election frauds in the August Third Primary. He was struck by a truck between Elizabethtown and Ft. Knox, and never regained consciousness. Had he lived to send you a message, it would have been: "Tell our friends to continue the fight for good government, honest elections, and fair taxation in Kentucky."

Will You Carry On?

On Saturday, September 7th, these momentous questions will be settled at the Run-Off Primary for the Democratic nomination for Governor and other State offices.

At this Primary will be decided whether or not we are to continue the un-Democratic, unfair and unequal Sales Tax—the tax that falls heaviest on those least able to pay it.

At this Primary will be decided whether or not the retail merchants are to continue to be the tax collectors for the State and continue to lose millions of dollars in sales to competitors in other states and the foreign mail order houses which pay not a dollar to the upkeep of our institutions and to local charities.

At this primary, will be decided whether the Democratic Party in Kentucky is to be returned to the people or whether it shall remain in the clutches of the Bi-partisan group at Frankfort, controlled by the alleged purchase of votes and the distribution of jobs.

At this Primary will be decided whether we are to express our choice of candidates in a fair election or whether the military power in the hands of the Bi-partisan crowd will interfere and intimidate liberty loving Kentuckians in the exercise of their constitutional rights of a free and untrammelled suffrage.

The merchants of Kentucky, their families, their employees, their customers represent an independent and unpurchasable vote that can save this Old Commonwealth from the Spoilers and Special Interests behind them.

What are your business prospects in Kentucky if no change is made in government? You will continue to tax your customers and give the out of state stores and mail order houses a 3 per cent advantage to undersell you. After collecting new taxes last year amounting to $12,000,000, the State now owes $2,000,000 more than it did a year ago.

At the rate we are going, you can expect a 5 cent tax in the next few years, which will put us all out of business.

The results show you did your duty in the first Primary. It has been charged that there were 60,000 illegal and purchasable votes cast in the first Primary. There were over 50,000 votes cast for Wallis, Huddleston, and Wootton. Governor Chandler was less than 14,000 votes behind Rhea. This can be easily overcome by the elimination of one half or one third of the illegal and purchasable votes, or by two thirds of the votes for the other candidates going for Governor Chandler.

Wallis and Mr. Wootton have already declared for him. It is your duty to see that we get out our full vote and influence those who voted for the other candidates to now vote for Governor Chandler.

You must do more than merely vote. You must influence every vote you possibly can.

This is your fight. You can win it if you work. Will you do it? Boodie, Brberry, and Bulbosing will not prevent free-born Kentuckians from selecting the man of their choice for the Democratic nominee for Governor—A. B. Chandler.

He has been our friend and a friend of the people ever since he has been in public life. His record is unblemished. He is vigorous, upright, honest, and capable a young man, endorsed by the youngest and best Democratic Governor we ever had—J. C. W. Beckham.

Yours very truly,
Kentucky Retail Merchants Association.
By Shirley Haas, President.

if they will sign up for the old age pension now and vote for Tom Rhea on September 7, they will receive their pension, within a few weeks. He branded the entire scheme as false and a mere election trick to gain a few votes.

Chandler On Air Hits Sales Tax

Central City, Ky., Aug. 31 — Instead of the benefits claimed for the sales tax by the Laffoon Administration the results have been an added burden, to the poor and destitute, and increased waste and extravagance, Lieut. Gov. A. B. Chandler said here tonight and before two other audiences earlier in the day.

Before addressing the Muhlenberg County audience here, he addressed the voters of McLean and Ohio Counties at Hatfield and Calhoun. His speech tonight brought the first part of his Western Kentucky campaign to a close. He will resume his campaign in Eastern Kentucky Monday with speeches in Floyd and Pike Counties.

The address by Mr. Chandler at Calhoun in his race for the Democratic nomination for Governor, was broadcast over WHAS, radio station of the Courier-Journal and the Louisville Times.

"They have mismanaged relief in the State so the Federal Government had to set up its own office," Mr. Chandler said in discussing the sales tax, which he said, was passed under the guise of raising relief and school funds.

"And we had to fight them for a $12 per capita for the schools," said Thomas S. Rhea, my opponent," and Gov. Ruby Laffoon, who is backing him, had urged support of the tax to raise funds for schools and relief. They wanted to set the per capita appropriation for schools at $9, and Tom Rhea knew that is true," Mr. Chandler added.

The speaker turned his attention to citizens of benefits from the sales tax put forward by Rhea supporters.

"Sam Miam, State Representative of Logan County, and Rhea's personal representative on the floor of the House when the sales tax law was passed, has been reading figures of the subject. Let's look at the record.

The State sent $3,000,000 to the counties. It increased the State debt by $2,250,000 the same year. Somebody will have to pay the State debt Rhea and Laffoon have incurred, and it will be the taxpayers. How can any citizen think the counties have benefited through the addition of a $2,250,000 State debt by Laffoon and Rhea?"

"Rhea, Laffoon took money — in addition, Rhea and Laffoon took money which belonged to the destitute people of the State. They stole the money belonging to these people who were destitute and without work to the counties.

"The General Assembly appropriated $2,400,000 for relief. Governor Laffoon gave only $1,150,000 of the appropriation to the people for whom it was provided. He then distributed the difference of $1,250,000 to the counties.

"What will the people on relief rolls think of that? Do they approve sending this money to the County Houses instead of using it for relief?"

"Let's see how it works. In ten years like the last, the State would distribute among the counties $39,000,000 but the management at Frankfort would have added $22,500,000 to the State debt. Is that good business? Is that what the taxpayers want? Do they want to increase the State debt $22,500,000 to give the counties $7,500,000? If they do that, the county money will be spent and the taxpayers will have to go into their pockets for the difference," Mr. Chandler said.

In addressing the Muhlenberg County audience, Mr. Chandler assured them of his friendship for the miners and other wage earners. He told them that they did not know what they were doing in opposing him and favoring Mr. Rhea.

"Close Over Labor Fight — You'll do the cruelest thing you ever did in your life, if you let the labor endorsement stand against me," Mr. Chandler said. "I fought your battles in the Senate and as Lieutenant Governor. I don't know why you could vote against me. I did what I thought was for you best interests, the record will show, because that was all I knew to do."

Mr. Chandler was introduced by W. O. Smith, an attorney who assured miners and wage earners that Mr. Chandler was interested in their welfare and always had fought their battles.

"Are you miners going to be deceived by the men who endorse the use of troops in Harlan County to intimidate their fellow miners at the polls?" Mr. Smith asked.

He asserted that efforts had been made to deliver the mining vote in a body to Mr. Rhea. He charged that "Hoover Republicans" from Iowa and other places are here trying to nominate Mr. Rhea. Mr. Smith referred to Mr. Rhea's management of the Russellville bank and charged that he violated the law and permitted others to do so in borrowing money that they were permitted to under the law. This, he charged, resulted in part in the collapse of the bank, depriving the widow and the orphan of their money.

In again reviewing the issues of the campaign, Mr. Chandler pledged a $12 per capita appropriation for the schools and said they would be kept out of politics and promised to renounce the Rhea Government "from top to bottom," and let that the people have a right to nominate their candidates in a primary.

Mr. Chandler said his record was such, he believed, that it would be necessary for him to go on record before the State making thousands of promises in order to gain the support of the people. He said they knew his record, which showed he had been on the side of the people in every fight.

His remarks were interrupted frequently by cheering and shouts of approval.

Reference to J. W. C. Beckham, former Governor and United States Senator, who is supporting Mr. Chandler, was greeted with outcries of applause.

"They say I am young to be Governor," Mr. Chandler said. "I will answer that by pointing out that when I am inaugurated in December, I will be 37, the same age that Governor Beckham was when he retired, following his inauguration seven years earlier at the age of 30.

Had No Superior. Governor Beckham has had no superior as Governor of Kentucky and gave the state an administration that lives in the breasts of decent people to this hour. I ask the youth of Kentucky to join me in this fight to restore decent govern-

BICYCLE CONTEST NEARING CLOSE

Jack Ellis and Alenda McKinney lead in the bicycle contest being sponsored by the Midland Baking Company. The rules of the contest are simple. The boy and girl saving the most bread wrappers from the products of the Midland Baking company will be awarded a bicycle of September 15.

In reference to criticism of his conduct of the campaign made by Mr. Rhea, Mr. Chandler said he intended to continue to conduct a decent campaign. He asserted charges of "mismanagement" and "less referred to the records of Mr. Rhea, Governor Laffoon and others responsible for conditions at Frankfort could be so described.

Mr. Chandler said he would continue to have a smile on his face and a song in his heart, with the assurance of certain victory September 7.

"Everybody knows, also, that Tom Rhea cannot legally increase the vote in his county as he has boasted he will do. That is because more votes were counted in the last primary than there were legal ballots, and that sample ballots were voted and counted. How can he say he will increase the vote when in some precincts there were more votes counted than there were residents? For a comparison, Mr. Chandler pointed out that in Woodford County, he lives, fewer votes were cast in the recent primary than for President Roosevelt, and that every vote cast for Mr. Rhea was counted. He said every Woodford County vote was an honest one.

He charged that Mr. Rhea tried to take the first primary by the use of money, by voting Republicans and the leading of troops to the polls in Harlan County by Henry "Elder" Denmark."

The crowds interrupted his speech with laughter when he quoted from an address by Governor Beckham that General Denmark was a warlike man in time of peace and a peaceful man in time of war. Mr. Chandler recalled that his opponent defended the use of troops sent into Harlan County by the Governor.

"I know the people of Kentucky do not approve invasion of the polling places in Harlan by troops sent there by a machine which selfishly is trying to perpetuate itself," he said. "I know they do not approve the use of the road department to force the nomination of a man the people don't want.

"Another thing they are doing that the fair and decent people of the State will not ignore is their efforts to deny me precinct election officers. We are forcing to file suit in many counties to have them to give us what the law plainly says we are entitled to, that is equal representation at the polls, be declared.

Looking forward to the general election this fall, Mr. Chandler offered out that it is of Nation-wide interest. This is because of the holding of the Presidential election next year coupled with the fact that it is the only State election in the Nation this fall.

Mr. Chandler reasoned that he would be in a better position to defeat the Republican nominee, Judge King Swepe, than Mr. Rhea.

"King Swepe would say, 'I'm a soldier. I would say, 'So am I. Tom Rhea would say nothing. "Swepe would say, 'I'm against the sales tax. I would say, 'So am I and with the aid of my friends, we kept it off the people for three and a half years," Tom would say, 'I am for it some and against it some.' When the people know he had an amendment killed in the Legislature that would have exempted the necessities that he now damns he wants amended."

"Swepe would say, 'I'm in favor of giving the people the right to vote in the primary.' I would tell that right after Ruby and Tom had taken away from you, Tom Rhea and I will have to say he was for a convention.

After referring to a quotation from a speech by Mr. Rhea that the Constitution and not Mr. Chandler gave the people that right, he said he did and does now that right, he restored that right to them after Rhea and Laffoon had violated the Constitution and taken it away from them.

The five bus routes will this year offer transportation to about 360 pupils.

DAY OF DOOM

(Continued From Page One) Cereally believe that Rowan county will increase its majority to such an extent as to cause considerable wonder. We are not prepared to say just what the vote will be, but we believe that Rowan will show a considerably larger vote and that Chandler will have the advantage in the increase. Now you tell one.

As far as the state is concerned, we naturally believe that Mr. Chandler's vote will be increased to an extent, we have not visited Western Kentucky or Central Kentucky or the Second District, so consequently we have no means of knowing just what will happen. Neither do we have a crystal into which we can gaze to learn the future. We do not accept the pre-primary predictions of other Chandler of the Rhea headquarters with regard to the race.

Based purely on our own wishes, we believe that Chandler will be the nominee of the Democratic party after September 7, because he is the logical man, because he is the champion of the common people who will profit by his program. We do not believe that in the state at large there is enough money to buy it nor enough election officers to steal it.

Local election officers are of course exempt from that statement. We know of course that no election fraud has ever been practiced in Rowan county and none ever will be. We have no criticism of the election officers selected at any precinct in the county. The election commission in this county agreed after considerable discussion with the Republican officers in each precinct and one Democrat representing Chandler and one representing Rhea.

That apparently was not true in Elliott county where a suit was filed by Chandler against Chandler's campaign manager. He had been completely ignored in seven precincts in the county, he said, and demanded in his suit representation at all precincts. The case was decided in Judge Wolford's court on Tuesday. Naturally Chandler was given representation as required by law.

Those things always work to the benefit of the opposition, Chandler gained votes from the liberty loving people of Elliott county who are strong for a square deal. The people of Elliott county, whether they are supporting Chandler or Rhea, are not the kind of people who want to see any candidate cheated out of what he is entitled to without a chance to be re-elected.

And so we go into the final lap. September 7 will soon be here. Here's to you for a clean election an honest election, and may the best man win. If he does, there is no cheating, but that Happy Chandler will be your candidate and mine for governor.

HIGHWAY PLOYS

(Continued From Page One) reported Chandler, in the August primary. They were further told by Mr. Ruth that he was forced to take this action on account of the police building erected on him by the Rhea force in Rowan County. They were told by Mr. Ruth "he was so soaked their backs and they were to scratch his." These affidavits, have refused to support Hon. T. S. Rhea, but they are not primary to be held on September 7, and are now going to give their support to Hon. A. B. Chandler for Governor.

Many other laborers have been contacted since because they refused to support Mr. Rhea and the contractors have no hesitancy in telling the men if they want a job they must vote for Mr. Rhea for Governor.

We are making this affidavit for the purpose of asking the Federal Government if they have any control over this project to correct this situation for us since we do not want to consent and have to consent to vote in order to hold a job. All these facts that we have stated can be substantiated and proven by twenty five people and more.

Arthur E. Black, Burt Fouc, Wilson Hoggie. Subscribed and sworn to before me and the supervisor of Mr. Buell Hoggie, and Wilson Hoggie, this 2nd day of September 1935.

BOARD LETS CONTRACTS FOR WOOD AND COAL

At the regular meeting of the Rowan County Board of Education held at the office of the superintendent at the office of this week, the board decided to open a manual training department in the Morehead High School under the direction of Buell Hoggie. The work will be conducted chiefly for the benefit of the Junior High School students.

Charles Caudill was employed as janitor for the Morehead school. The contract for supplying the coal to the schools was awarded to D. B. Hollis, who submitted a bid of $274 per ton.

Wood contracts were awarded to six bidders in the various districts. School will begin in the four consolidated schools on next Monday.

A teachers meeting has been called for September 20 to complete arrangements for the fall. Russell Barber who has been in Shelby, Ohio for some time is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Barber.

ELLIOTT SUES

(Continued From Page One) Saturday night the committee came to Morehead, drew up the suit and the jailer of Elliott county served the papers since the sheriff will serve. He further instructed the Judge Wolford, set the hearing for Tuesday afternoon, and ruled that the commission was required to meet again Wednesday for the purpose of selecting the officers who will serve. He further instructed the commissioners to accept the Chandler list and to see that two officers from each precinct were chosen from each list.

The Chandler forces are also represented in each precinct by a challenger, appointed by Dr. C. W. Green county Democratic chairman.

Coming To The Cozy Theatre

Viennese gaiety and music, whimsical comedy and lighthearted musical sequences mark "Eccapapa," Metro Goldwyn Mayer's new Continental romance coming Wednesday and Thursday Sept. 4-5 to the Cozy Theatre, and in which William Powell is introduced in an entirely new type of role.

The picture has many interesting surprises. It brings to the screen the golden voice of Enrico Caruso, amplified from existing records into the most lifelike replica possible of his actual voice, for a great opera sequence.

It introduces to the American screen the famous Viennese stage star, Louie Blatter, Viennese stage star, acclaimed in the Old World as a great dramatic actress and owner of "Europe's Most Beautiful Eyes."

MIDLAND TRAIL TAKES OVER PYROIL CONTRACT

The Midland Trail Garage announced in this issue that it has secured the agency for Pyroil, the new motor lubricant said to be the finest known to the science of automotive lubrication. Pyroil is liquid-graphite, produced by a patented electro-chemical process and produces a glaze in the motor on all wearing parts that will resist 6,000 degrees of heat, according to the company representative. Thus, it is claimed, that in the event of loss of oil in an auto, where the motor has been Pyroil conditioned, that no harm will result. Tests authenticated by national officials show that motors Pyroil conditioned have been run from 35 to as high as 600 miles without cylinder oil in the crank case. Pyroil is added to the gasoline and cylinder oil.

THINK! HAVE MONEY!

The dollar "held out" of circulation is a drone in the money hive. It neither toils nor spins. It could help a neighbor to earn a living, but it won't! It is economically short sighted, and cannot see the harm it is doing reposing in the family stocking or kindred hiding place.

Get these dollars out in circulation via your bank. Every bank dollar releases five to ten dollars in useful credit. Ample credit diffused through the bank to responsible borrowers means full time employment in the community. You benefit your neighbor, your community and yourself when you:

THINK! HAVE MONEY!

From The State Capital

(From The Courier-Journal)

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 31.—Approval or disapproval of the Laffoon administration and the sales tax which it passed is the big issue at stake in the Democratic run off primary which will end with balloting next Saturday.

The injection of so-called new issues, such as the high vote in Logan County or the use of 1920 as the August primary in Harlan County, really is a part of the general question which the voters will decide. "Do you want four more years of Laffoon administration?"

Sales Tax Big Factor
The sales tax at the end of the campaign loomed as big as it did in the beginning, with everything pointing to it being a decided factor.

None except the most partisan would deny that he made the most of his opportunity since the campaign opened. Four months ago when he announced, at least three other candidates already had much stronger organized support.

Rhea Better Organized
Thomas S. Rhea, favorite of the Laffoon administration, backed by the State Highway Commission, the Board of Welfare and nearly every other agency under the State Government, was better organized than they had together in any invincible organization, more powerful than any ever constructed in Kentucky.

And there was much to lend color to their claim at that time. In addition to the State machinery, Mr. Rhea, a candidate for more than a year, had tied up most of the county politicians at the county Court House. Never a man with a following among the people, Mr. Rhea relied on the aid of the Court House crowds could give his candidacy.

But Mr. Chandler had a political record that exactly fitted the situation. That was to prove more advantageous than the superior organization of his opponents. Mr. Richmond and Mr. Huddleston had supported the sales tax which Mr. Rhea had forced through the General Assembly, but Mr. Chandler had opposed for two and one-half years.

Rhea Forces Claim 'Earth'
When former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham decided not to enter the Democratic primary, the Rhea forces immediately claimed the "earth." They said the "songbird," the "warbler," the "boy" could not make the race interesting.

One incident had given Mr. Chandler his opportunity. He had captured the imagination of the voters with his call for a special session of the General Assembly to pass a compulsory primary law. The move became dramatic when Mr. Rhea and Governor Laffoon rushed back from Washington to make an issue of his and ten days of hiding and then the virtual collapse of the case against the Sheriff.

When eight witnesses had been heard by Governor Laffoon this week, he suddenly, and getting indefinitely the hearings in the outer proceedings against the Sheriff. The proof, according to those who heard it all, was far short of a case. Mr. Denhardt, himself, was absent from the hearings on the last day.

Court Review Trouble
The trouble with the outer effort, from the Administration standpoint, was that whatever the Governor did is subject to review by the Court of Appeals. That meant there had to be a bona fide case, or the Governor's findings would be reversed. So for the time being at least, everything came to a halt.

Meanwhile, Attorney General Bailey P. Wootton took a step that gave the Denhardt group some concern. The Attorney General charged that he was not consulted, and had difficulty in getting action concerning the case against the Sheriff. He asked that he be permitted to supervise the proceedings against the Sheriff, since a State law gave him control of legal matter for State officials.

The probability that Mr. Wootton would invoke the same statute if the State Highway Department seeks to force J. Dan Talbott, State Auditor, pay employees or contractors before they have made affidavits was not forced to give campaign money to Mr. Rhea, would leave Mr. Talbott in a much stronger position in the controversy.

Talbott Demands Affidavits
During the week he informed J. Lyster Donaldson, chairman of the Highway Department, that all payments to contractors would be withheld until the contractors made affidavits that they had not made contributions to Mr. Rhea with any arrangements to be repaid out of high way funds for other reasons, and Mr. Chandler's youth still stood him in good stead.

Disposition Never Ruffled
Those who have known him since the days in which Mr. Chandler's happy disposition is a natural part of him. During the campaign it never was ruffled. He never was angry, or made an ill-tempered remark during the campaign. In contrast Mr. Rhea became increasingly bitter, making slashing attacks that accused Mr. Chandler of mud slinging. The voters caught the difference.

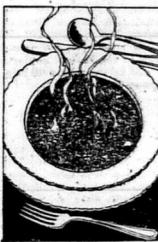

With all his advantages as a campaigner, Mr. Chandler would have been far outdistanced but for the loss of the campaign. His smile, his handshaking, his better speaking would have done little good but for the support by the sales tax and the primary law.

And whether he wins or loses, it generally will be conceded that Mr. Chandler, belittled by the Rhea organization four months ago, has made a remarkable showing. Many would have made more blunders and older and more seasoned candidates would have failed to take advantage of so many opportunities.

Blunders Handicap Rhea
The Rhea campaign was handicapped by political blunders of some of his lieutenants. During the week, for instance, another chapter was written in Gen. H. H. Denhardt's effort to deliver to Mr. Rhea the vote in Harlan County.

Several months ago Mr. Denhardt set out on an investigation of Harlan County. He confided to friends then, that before it was over, the Rhea forces would have the vote "in the bag." These followers, in sequence his report on Harlan County law enforcement, his recommendation that Sheriff Theodore Huddleston be removed, the use of troops at the election, his indictment

Some Basic Soups

Shivery weather like this, sizzling hot savory corn is one of the best bases for nutritious soups. That's good alteration, not hot half as good as some of the soups which we are going to suggest. Here they are:
Corn and Lettuce Soup: Sauté one cup shredded lettuce in two tablespoons butter until it starts to brown. Add one cup cream, one large sliced onion, one small stalk celery and one bay leaf in double boiler for fifteen minutes, then strain. Cut the mushrooms into two halves, add to the hot milk mixture and cook again till smooth and creamy. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add one-half cup cream. Serve in cups. Serves six.

Made with Mushrooms
Cream of Corn and Mushroom Soup: Cook the contents of an 11-ounce can corn three cups milk, one large sliced onion, one small stalk celery and one bay leaf in double boiler for fifteen minutes, then strain. Cut the mushrooms into two halves, add to the hot milk mixture and cook again till smooth and creamy. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add one-half cup cream. Serve in cups. Serves six.

Kennel Murder Case

BY S. S. VAN DINE

Copyright by W. H. Wright

I am sorry my efforts were not more successful, but at least I made it difficult for Mr. Wrede.

Vance got up and put out his cigarette.

You've helped us a great deal. We are most grateful.

He walked to Liang and held out his hand. The Chinaman took it and bowed.

When Liang had gone out, Vance turned to Miss Lake.

No, Miss Lake, he admitted. That's a part of the problem still to be solved.

But why, she asked, should he kill Uncle Brisbane? Uncle Brisbane was his ally.

That's another phase of the problem that must be worked out. There was an error, a miscalculation, somewhere.

I can understand, Hilda Lyle remarked, why he should attempt Mr. Grassi's life.

All clever, scheming men, with a sense of their own inferiority, said Vance, are inclined toward intense jealousy.

Vance's question amazed me, and when I glared at Markham and Heath, I saw that they too, were startled.

Oh, various reasons, she answered calmly. There was a deep antagonism between the two, Uncle Brisbane had a kind of paternal love.

For unadmitted, amorphous, blow in the bottle, all wool and a yard wide, asinity, the latest feat of Mr. Elam Huddleston surely bears the palm.

How in the name of common sense can a man so stuffy himself? How can he hope that any person of ordinary sense and regard for truth can countenance him now?

Perhaps, suggested Vance, the arrival of Mr. Grassi changed your opinion.

For the first time during my acquaintance with Hilda Lake, I noted an odd, feminine expression come into her eyes.

Perhaps, as you say, yes, she replied in a low voice, the arrival of Mr. Grassi changed my mind.

I hope, Miss Lake, he said, that you will both be very happy.

We dined at Vance's apartment that night. Both Vance and Markham were troubled, for the case had not had a satisfactory ending.

The final elucidation of the mystery came in of an unexpected manner. We were sitting in Vance's library, talking, after dinner.

It's dashed mystifyin', he muttered. What I can't understand is how Archer got upstairs after he had been stabbed in the library.

There's little doubt, after Liang's remark, that the bloody work was done downstairs.

I'm not so sure you're right about that. Vance, submitted Markham if your theory is correct, you must logically admit the proposition that a dead man walked upstairs.

Vance inclined his head, and I realize that, he said thoughtfully. Then he leapt to his feet and stood before Markham, tense and animated.

Markham looked up at him with benevolent concern.

Come, come, Vance, he said, in a kindly paternal tone. This case has upset you. Take a good stiff nightcap and go to bed.

S. E. DEHAVEN, SHELBYVILLE, KENTUCKY

Mr. Elam Huddleston in his support of Thos. S. Rhea is certainly everything but consistent.

He has denounced the military invasion of Harlan County, and is now supporting Rhea's policies, and his belief that Mr. Rhea is the logical man for Governor of Kentucky.

It is fortunate for Kentucky that Mr. Huddleston was so quickly and conclusively eliminated.

in beauty and purity of diction the touching and eloquent parting words of Ruth. Driven from the homeland about Bethlehem by hunger and famine Naom, and her husband Elimelech and their two small children had sought refuge some years before in Moab.

How natural that these two young men, when the mating time came, should select as their wives two of the young women of the neighborhood.

How natural that when death had deprived Naom of her husband and her two sons that she should again turn her face toward Bethlehem and the friends of her childhood.

I looked up Satisfy and it says -

SAT-IS-FY. Something that pleases, gives satisfaction; something that just suits. For example, you are pleased with a dress. As applied to cigarettes, it means one that is MILD—that is not harsh or bitter; one that TASTES just right.

Chesterfield... the cigarette that's MILDER

Chesterfield... the cigarette that TASTES BETTER
