Leaving out of view the ques-tion of the origin of the war, Mr. Polk had ordered the army into the position in which was attacked by a Mexican army, and a tyrant majority in Congress,-when called upon to furnish the President with the one of rescuing that army from what ecmed almost inevitable destruction. seemed almost inevitable destruction, gave to the whigs the choice of refusing to vote supplies and reinforcements to that army, or, at the same time, voting that war existed by the act of Mexico. They chose the latter, entering their solemn protest against the truth of the preamble, and denouncing the war as unauthorized and unconstitution al, and appealing to the future for a vindica tion of the correctness of their position.---How well they have made good the truth o and the justice of that con that protest, ation, let the recent vote of the population lar branch of Congress, that the war cessarily and unconstitutionally begun

He was followed by Mr. Clayton, of Delaware, ry by conquest, in no measured tern on the same side, in a speech sustaining Mr. Clayon's high character for ability and statesmanship. Other Senators are expect-ed to follow, it was believed that the whigs

(except Mr. Johnson of Md.) would oppose the Ten Regiment Bill en masse, on the final vote, aided by Mr. Calhoun, and perhaps, one or two other democrats. In the House Mr. Stewart of Pennsylva-nia, known, at home, as "Tariff Andy," spoke in opposition to the veto message on he River and Harbor Bill, of the last ses

the River and Harbor Bill, of the last eco sion, as well as upon other topics of interest introduced into the debate now pending in Committee of the Whole. He reviewed the report of the Secretary of the Treasury with great severity. He was followed by Mr. Venable of N. Carolina, Mr. Rockwell of Connecticut, and Mr. Lincoln of Illinois.

The County seat Question settled. We learn from Esq., W. Wood of this City who was present when the vote was taken, that the House Bill for the removal naken, inat the House Bill for the removal of the County Sent of Mason from Wash-ington to Maysville passed the Senate on yesterday by an almost unanimous vote —only 2 or 3 voting in the negative. We are gratified to without the hearth.

welcome as it unquestionably is. Their opponents have fought gallantly throughout the struggle, and although a strict enforcement of the Republican principle. that majorities have the right to rule, would have sooner given to Maysville the desired boon, there are but few neighborhoods who are so wedded to principle, in their po litical religion, as volu ntarily to relinquish advantages, so long enjoyed and so dearly cherished. The question, however, is now disposed of, and with it, we hope, whatever of angry feelings it has given rise to in the public mind, during the long controversy.

We see it stated in several of our ex change papers, that a young man in Dearborn county, Ia., recently got his throat cut by riding rapidly and unexpectedly against a Telegraph wire. He is reported to have lived but a few minutes after the accident.

We wonder if any body witnessed this strange occurrence?
