FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A tradition that celebrates a tradition, Morehead State University's Appalachian Celebration will observe its 10th anniversary June 22-28 with a week-long program of events.

Appalachian Celebration, sponsored by MSU's Appalachian Development Center, is designed to salute the rich cultural heritage of the mountains.

The Appalachian Arts and Crafts Market, a major event of the celebration, will be open both on Friday and Saturday for the first time. The hours for the market, located in Laughlin Health Building, will be from 3 to 9 p.m. Friday, June 27, and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, June 28.

"More than 100 quality artisans plan to participate in the market this year," said Wilson Grier, director of ADC's Eastern Kentucky Small Business Development Center. The EKSBD and the Small Business Administration sponsor the market.

"The market provides lovers of traditional craft work an excellent opportunity to purchase Appalachian craft items," Grier said. "We also welcome wholesale buyers, too."

The heart of the Appalachian Celebration will be the exhibits and demonstrations to be housed in MSU's Button Drill Room throughout the week. Other special displays will be set up outside the Laughlin Health Building on Saturday, June 28.

"I'm excited about the new 'Sheep to Shawl' demonstration," said Shirley Hamilton, ADC's assistant director for human services, who has organized the exhibits and demonstrations for the past seven years. "Granny Toothman will show the making of a wool item from its beginning on the sheep to a finished useable product," Hamilton explained.

Other Saturday displays include antique farm machinery, a working steam engine, the open outdoor stage for musicians, and a pedal powered tractor pull for children under 7.

Traditional parts of the Celebration run side by side with new offerings: the Jesse Stuart Symposium on June 24; a two-week long log home building workshop; evening and noon concerts; a daily workshop for children; dulcimer building workshops for children and adults; quilting, basketry, natural dyeing, square dancing and clogging workshops; music lessons on traditional Appalachian instruments; bus tours; storytelling; and classes in Appalachian history and genealogy.

This year's scholars-in-residence, who will be available throughout the week, are sociologist Dr. William Turner and folklorist Dr. Archie Green. Elderhostel classes again will be a regular feature of the Celebration.

ADC's Tourism/Industrial Development Specialist Pete McNeill, the 10th anniversary celebration coordinator, said:

"We are delighted with the variety and quality of this year's offerings. We hope as many people as possible can join us. Most of the events are free and open to the public, although the workshops require advance registration and a fee. A detailed brochure will be mailed out in late April, and registration begins at that time."

From the opening reception, Sunday evening, June 22, to the final concert, Saturday, June 28, which features Louise Mandrell and the Kendalls, the week will be full of learning and recreational opportunities for the whole family. Housing is available in air-conditioned MSU residence halls, in area camping facilities, or in Morehead motels.

Additional information may be obtained from Pete McNeill, Appalachian Development Center, MSU, Morehead, KY 40351, or by calling (606) 783-2077.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Donna Cecil, Morehead State University senior from Louisville, is flying high these days---figuratively at the moment, but soon quite literally.

Cecil is one of 10 women nationwide to be accepted into the U.S. Army's Aviation Branch from a collegiate ROTC Program. Following her graduation and commissioning as a second lieutenant on May 17, Cecil will report to Fort Rucker, Ala., for officers basic training and flight school.

"We're extremely proud of her," Lt. Col. Alan Baldwin, MSU Department of Military Science chair, said. "The fact that only 10 women were accepted lends honor to her, to Morehead State and to our ROTC Program here," Baldwin added.

He noted that Cecil also is the only one of 24 MSU students receiving commissions this spring to be assigned to the regular Army. "She's a very special young lady and a capable officer," he said.

"I've always wanted to fly," Cecil said, adding that last summer she was regional runner-up for a three-week Flight Training Orientation program. "Ecstatic" was how she described her feelings when she learned she had made flight school.

"I did everything but jump up and down," said Cecil, who holds the rank of cadet lieutenant colonel. The military science faculty tried to prepare her for not getting the slot, because so few slots are open to women, but they also had been very supportive, she said. "They (the faculty) tell me I'm still hovering," she added.

An honor student at MSU, Cecil is completing requirements for the B.A. degree in mathematics, while serving as commander of a 231-member cadet battalion and leading the drill team as well as serving on the Ushering Color Guard for campus athletic events.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Susette Redwine, coordinator of university center programs and special events at Morehead State University, has received the 1986 award for Outstanding Unit Development from the National Association for Campus Activities (NACA).

The award, presented at the Great Lakes Regional Conference held recently in Washington, D.C., is given to the Unit (state) which has participated in the most activities relating to student development.

Additionally Redwine was recognized for her cost effective travel arrangements which enabled additional students from her state to attend the conference. She and Kevin Madson, a Berea College student, developed a Kentucky Unit Directory of Activities personnel, which included NACA member and non-member schools in the state.

Since August 1985 she has served as the Kentucky Unit Coordinator for NACA.

Originally from Dayton, Ohio, Redwine earned her graduate and undergraduate degrees from MSU. She and her husband William have a son, Brett William.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Morehead State University's Black Gospel Ensemble will celebrate the 18th anniversary of its founding with a series of workshops, a concert and other activities April 18-20.

Joining the MSU ensemble for the workshop sessions, conducted by Marion Rogers, minister of music at the Main Street Baptist Church in Lexington, will be groups from Marshall University, Huntington, W.Va., Eastern Kentucky University, and the University of Kentucky.

Workshops are scheduled at 7 p.m. Friday, April 18, and 9 a.m. Saturday, April 19, in Breck Auditorium. The public is invited to sit in on the sessions, according to Roscoe Linton, Bardstown senior and president of MSU's Black Gospel Ensemble.

There will be a free, public concert at 7 p.m. Saturday in Breck Auditorium. On Sunday at 11 a.m. Linton will speak at a special church service.

Also scheduled is an organizational meeting of the Lena Coleman Black Gospel Ensemble Parents Association at 2 p.m. Sunday, April 20, in the Baptist Student Center.

MSU's Black Gospel Ensemble was established in the spring of 1968 by Jerry Gore, now MSU's director of minority student affairs; Calvin Settles, native of Maysville; Carl Bennett and James Holman, both of Louisville.

The celebration is one of the activities planned for MSU's observance of Black Awareness Week, April 18-27.

April 4, 1986
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Calling change the hallmark of his administration, MSU President Herb. F. Reinhard has announced his resignation, effective June 30, 1986.

Terming the action "in the best interests of the University," Dr. Reinhard said:

"My resignation should remove any cloud over my actions and/or recommendations to the board between now and June 30. It is my hope that my action today is one more step forward in my efforts to bring change and progress to Morehead State."

The resignation submitted to the MSU Board of Regents at its quarterly meeting Monday closed nearly a year of speculation concerning the future of MSU's ninth president.

Dr. Reinhard assumed the MSU presidency July 1, 1984 on a two-year contract which expires on the same date as his resignation. The 55-year-old Kentucky native came to MSU after five years as president of Slippery Rock (Pa.) University.

In accepting Dr. Reinhard's resignation, Board Chairman Louie B. Nunn described him as "a man of courage and conviction."

Noting that Dr. Reinhard had assumed the presidency at a time when the University was beset by problems, Nunn warned that "no one should conclude that the problems go with you. You leave, but problems remain."

Nunn appointed former state Supreme Court Justice Calvin Aker as chairman of the search committee for an interim president. Other regents serving on the committee include Barbara Curry, student regent Margaret Holt, Walter Carr and Nunn.

Former Gov. Edward T. Breathitt was named to head the search committee for MSU's permanent president. Serving with him will be Charles Wheeler, Dr. Allan Lansing, William Seaton and Dr. John Duncan, faculty regent.

Nunn told the more than 250 specatators that the board was looking for an administrator with academic qualifications. "We don't intend to respond to political pressure. We are looking for quality and someone who can administer it," Nunn said.

Taking steps to address a $1,162,217 potential shortfall in the 1986-87 budget, the board increased student fees and reduced expenditures. The shortfall, predicated on "the worst possible scenario," allows for a 9 percent enrollment decline in the fall.

Fee increases included:

- Student Activity from $30 to $40 per semester
- Student Health from $15 to $25 per semester
- Student Housing up $15 per semester
- Married Student Housing up $5 per month
- Faculty/Staff Housing up $5 per month
- Parking from $15 to $30 per year

The increases will create $283,122 in new revenue. Expenditure reductions totaling $879,095 included cutting the Athletics budget by $82,400, while leaving MSU's intercollegiate athletic program in Division I and the Ohio Valley Conference.

Cutbacks totaling $239,187 in Student Development will result from eliminating 17 residence hall night assistant positions and closing three residence halls, removing three director and three custodial positions.

The Office of Academic Affairs will cut $304,325 by reducing the farm operation expenditures and restructuring the Appalachian Development Center, while maintaining its outreach service functions.

Academic affairs also will eliminate 13 vacant faculty and staff positions and make other adjustments to address salary and equity concerns and equipment needs.

3-3-3-3-3-3

Reductions in other divisions include:

Administrative and Fiscal Services--$192,375 by eliminating five positions, salary hiredowns and other adjustments.

Office of the President--$44,000 by eliminating a professional staff position.

Office of University Relations--$15,838 by eliminating a professional staff position.

In other business, the regents:

**Dissolved the Mission/Long Range Planning Committee

**Approved March 5-20 personnel actions

**Approved one-year extensions of contracts with the Peoples Bank of Morehead for University banking services, with the Morehead Clinic for Student Health Services, with Bryan, Fogle and Chenoweth for legal services

**Ratified sale of surplus property

**Approved bidding for relocation and purchase of WMKY FM 90 antenna

**Approved awarding the 1986 Founders Day University Service Award to Boone Logan of Ashland, retired banking executive and long-time MSU supporter

**Approved and encouraged implementation of a plan for increased recruitment of Eastern Kentucky students

**Approved awarding of degrees at Spring Commencement May 17

**Set next meeting for 2 p.m. Friday, May 16.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--"I think it would be nice if everybody cleaned up their own mess. But they don't, so I think the Great Clean-Up is a great idea," wrote Cassie Rice, a sixth grader at Rowan County Middle School.

Rice's essay is one of more than 50 received by Morehead State University's Appalachian Development Center for its "Pride in the Region" essay contest held in conjunction with ADC's Great Clean-Up which is scheduled Saturday, April 12.

"The annual Great Clean-Up is a fun event; it's a service to our community, and it's needed," said Shirley Hamilton, assistant director for human services at ADC and Great Clean-Up coordinator.

"Cash prizes will be awarded to those who collect the most litter, and county and city trucks provide free pick-up. This is a wonderful cooperative effort between Rowan County, the city of Morehead and the University," she said.

Volunteers--and additional ones are welcome--will meet at 9 a.m. on April 12 at the ADC, located on MSU's campus behind Cartmell Hall on Vaughn Drive, for assignments. Those participating should wear suitable clothing, including work gloves. Anyone interested in participating may call Hamilton or Carolyn Horn at (606) 783-2077.

"We also encourage people to let us know about sites around Rowan County that need cleaning," Hamilton said. These may be reported to ADC, the County Judge Executive's Office at (606) 784-5151 or the mayor's office (606) 784-8505.

In the event of rain, the Great Clean-Up will be rescheduled for the following Saturday, April 19.

The essay contest has generated a lot of enthusiasm and thought about litter problems among our young people," Hamilton said. Some additional student views on litter and the importance of the Great Clean-Up follow:

"I think the Great Clean-Up should be in all the communities because it helps so much. I think Rowan County should have the Great Clean-Up more often." (Beth Mattingly, 6th grade, RCMS.)

Great Clean-Up
2-2-2-2-2

"Different organizations pick up trash: scouts, schools, sororities and fraternities. Garbage bags are passed out, each group is assigned an area, when bags are full, they are left beside the road. A truck picks them up."

(Chris Terry, 6th grade, RCMS)

"It also gives the people in the Great Clean-Up a happy feeling inside themselves for their thoughtfulness." (Glenn Sibadogil, 8th grade, RCMS)

"The success of the Clean-Up is not only to get the community cleaned up, but to show citizens how good a clean community is and how they can help to preserve the cleanliness." (Blake Newton, 8th grade, RCMS)

"I think litter is bad. People shouldn't pollute our community. We have to think about other people...If people stopped littering, the world would be a lot prettier." (Daniel Hardin, 5th grade, Farmers)

"On this special day of the year, everyone should try to participate in the Great Clean-Up and keep up the good work every day." (Deanna Mays, 8th grade, RCMS)

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Computer and laser technology are among the topics to be explored at the Kentucky Weekly Newspaper Association's 1986 Spring Conference to be held at Morehead State University Thursday and Friday, April 10-11.

Dr. Ray Hornback, vice president for public affairs at the University of Kentucky, will be the guest speaker for the annual awards banquet set for 7 p.m. Friday at the Holiday Inn of Morehead.

Opening on Thursday at 3 p.m. with an informal reception at the Holiday Inn, the conference will get under way Friday with registration at 8:30 a.m. in the lobby of Breckinridge Hall.

"We expect about 40 publishers, editors and other journalists from our 30 member newspapers to attend," said Dr. Richard Dandeneau, acting chair of MSU's Department of Communications and liaison officer for KNWA.

The group will be welcomed to campus by Dr. Robert L. Burns, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, where KNWA headquarters are housed. He will speak at a noon luncheon Friday at the Adron Doran University Center.

Workshop speakers include: Thomas M. Maurina, account executive with Newsfinder, who will discuss wire services for weeklies; Jerry Byrne, circulation manager for Scripps League Newspapers, who will provide tips for improving circulation; Tony Galieti of Apple Computers, who will discuss the latest systems available for newspapers, and Michael C. Finch and Mark Howell, publishers of the Todd County Standard in Elkton, who will share their experiences as the first paper in the state to use a laser printer for typesetting.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's Student Alumni Ambassadors will host student ambassadors from other colleges and universities at MSU, April 11-12.

The conference, the first of its kind in the state of Kentucky, will bring together students from each institution who are involved in various aspects of their university's public relations programs.

"Our Alumni Association is very proud of the Student Alumni Ambassadors and we feel they deserve a great deal of credit to host this first conference," said Don Young, director of alumni relations and adviser for the MSU ambassadors. Young is coordinating the program.

Eric Evans, Morehead senior and president of the student ambassadors, said the idea originated after he and other ambassadors met and talked at the state rally for higher education in Frankfort earlier this year.

Scheduled to attend are representatives from the University of Kentucky, University of Louisville, Western State University, Eastern Kentucky University, Northern Kentucky State University, Berea College and Union College.

"I'm personally very excited about this conference. I feel the opportunity for these students to exchange ideas will be beneficial to all the institutions who are sending representatives," Young said.

MSU's Student Alumni Ambassadors is a organization of student volunteers dedicated to promoting MSU. The organization is jointly sponsored by the University and the Alumni Association.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Calling it a time to look to the future rather than the past, Gov. Martha Layne Collins, speaking at Morehead State University's 1986 Founders Day Convocation and Awards Ceremony, issued a challenge to the campus community.

"For Morehead to serve as it is meant to serve, the entire university community must pull together," she said. "Morehead State has all the elements of a fine university: dedicated faculty, bright students, loyal alumni, good facilities and a beautiful campus. I challenge you to see that all these elements mesh together efficiently to carry this university forward," she said, adding that "it will take all of you."

Nearly 1,100 people attended the Convocation in Button Auditorium, one of the several events designed to celebrate the university's 64th year as a state institution of higher education and the 20th anniversary of university status.

Noting MSU's proud tradition of "providing light and learning," Gov. Collins called for the university "to reach out more aggressively to the people whose mission it is to serve.

They are looking to MSU for leadership and for "a vision of what this area can become. However much you have done in the past, extend your hands further across these mountains," she urged. "Morehead State can provide the steady hand, the leadership that moves the entire area ahead."

Calling for "a new beginning," the governor said, "If today we unite in our commitment to Morehead State University, then in the years ahead, speakers at occasions such as this one will remark on the achievements and the progress you set in motion--starting today."

In his remarks before introducing the governor, MSU Board of Regents Chairman Louie B. Nunn said that the board intended that "academic greatness shall prevail at this University," but that it couldn't do it alone. "The future will be determined by the faculty, students and people Morehead (State) University serves," he said.

(MORE)

Boone Logan of Ashland, a retired banking executive, was presented the 1986 Founders Day Award for University Service by MSU President Herb. F. Reinhard, who spoke of Logan's "untiring efforts" on behalf of the university through his work with the Morehead Normal School and the MSU Alumni Association.

In accepting the award, Logan said he had enjoyed being "a bit of help to the university over the years and I shall continue to do so."

At the annual Founders Luncheon which followed, special tribute was paid to legislators who played prominent roles in the passage of House Bill 238 in 1966 granting university status to MSU, Murray, Eastern and Western.

MSU Alumni Association President David Bolt, who presided, recognized former state Rep. Sherman Arnett and the late Sen. Ed Kelly, who co-sponsored the legislation. Also honored for their efforts during the 1986 General Assembly were state Reps. Frances Brown of Sandy Hook and Walter Blevins of Morehead.

Retired Ashland Oil executive Robert D. Bell, who headed the Kentucky Advocates of Higher Education's efforts for increased funding for the state's schools, was named honorary alumnus. His award was accepted by Judy Thomas, president of the Ashland Oil Foundation.

Terry Jacobs of Cincinnati, head of Jacor Communications, was named MSU's Eagle Athletic Fund "Most Valuable Giver." His son Jeffrey Jacobs, MSU freshman, accepted the award from Harold Bellamy, acting director of the EAF and vice president of the MSU Foundation.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Students from nearly 40 Ohio vocational and high schools have been invited by Morehead State University's College of Applied Science and Technology to explore the "World of Technology" on April 15.

High schools from Adams, Brown, Clermont, Gallia, Lawrence and Scioto counties will be represented by the 400-600 students expected to attend, according to Wes Blakely, MSU Department of Mining Technology chair.

"World of Technology Day" is a chance for students to see agricultural and industrial exhibits/demonstrations and also examine the facilities, programs and services offered at MSU, Blakely said.

The day will begin with registration at 9 a.m. in the east end of the Lloyd Cassity Building. Guided tours for the students will begin after registration and continue until 1 p.m.

Animals, robotics, energy, mining and land reclamation are some of the subjects dealt with in the many demonstrations and exhibits. In addition, the Department of Home Economics will present a fashion show.

The College of Applied Science and Technology will host a reception for the counselors, advisors and teachers accompanying the students from 9-11 a.m. in Reed Hall, Room 246. Lunch will be served to the students beginning at 11:30 a.m. in the Lloyd Cassity Building.

The exhibits and demonstrations are free and open to the public. More information on "World of Technology Day" is available from Blakely at (606) 783-2633.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Three members of Morehead State University's Equestrian Show Team will represent MSU at the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association (IHSA) National Finals, May 3 and 4 in Charlottesville, Va. MSU recently hosted the Annual Spring Intercollegiate Competition, the last in the year's 10 competitions involving 14 colleges and universities from Tennessee, Kentucky, Illinois, and Missouri. MSU emerged as Champion Stock (Western) Seat Team. This victory qualifies the entire team to compete in the National Finals, according to Tami McMillan, MSU horsemanship instructor.

The three students who will represent the team are:

*Laura Grassmick, Oxford, Ohio, junior and daughter of Robert Grassmick. She also qualified as Regional High Point Stock Rider.

*Sherry Gray, Ewing freshman and daughter of Roy Gray.

*Kathy Velat, Cynthiana senior and daughter of Reta L. Velat.

By acquiring points throughout the year's competitions 13 MSU team members have qualified to take part in the Regional IHSA competition to be held April 13 at Murray State University.

These students and their events are:

*Shelly Anderson, Nicholasville junior and daughter of Lynn Anderson, Intermediate Stock Seat.

*Sundae Bablitz, Nicholasville sophomore and daughter of William Bablitz, Intermediate Stock Seat and Advanced Walk-Trot-Canter.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Fairfax, Va., resident Marian Abdulkadir was among nine Morehead State University students who recently took a three-day nuclear physics training program conducted by the Oak Ridge Associated Universities, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Abdulkadir, an MSU senior, was among those enrolled in Physics 499 who took advantage of the federal program sponsored by the U.S. Department of Energy.

The group toured the Physics Research facility at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory. Experiments in detecting, measuring, analyzing and distinguishing the various types of nuclear radiation were conducted by the students using the Oak Ridge facilities.

According to Dr. Russell Brengelman, MSU professor of physics, who accompanied the group, the students were able to work with equipment valued at nearly $12,000 and to gain professional experience.

"It was not just a field trip, they worked hard and learned a lot but still had a good time," Brengelman said.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
April 9, 1986

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Morehead State University's annual International Day, sponsored by the Cosmopolitan Club and the Student Association, is scheduled for April 25.

Seymour Hersh, Pulitzer Prize winner and author of "The Price For Power," will begin the day-long event with a speech in Button Auditorium at 10:20 a.m.

Hersh, who has won more than a dozen major journalism prizes, earned the 1970 Pulitzer Prize for International Reporting, the George Polk Award, the Sigma Delta Chi Distinguished Service Award and the Worth Bingham Prize for his account of the My Lai massacre.

Following the speech, a luncheon for special guests will be held in the Gold Room of the Adron Doran University Center.

To demonstrate the different international ways of life, there will be art and clothing displays and slide presentations depicting cultures of the various countries, along with song and dance performances by some of MSU's foreign students in Button Drill Room beginning at 3 p.m.

Rounding out the day, there will be an International Pot Luck Banquet at 6:30 p.m. in Button Drill Room. There will be a $4 charge at the door, which is waived to anyone who brings a dish.

All activities are open to the public.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--She couldn't have asked for a better birthday present. On April 5, her 21st birthday, Stephanie Kiser of Olive Hill was crowned the 1986 Miss Morehead State University.

Kiser is the daughter of Arne Hall and Phillip Kiser. A junior majoring in fashion merchandising at MSU, she was sponsored by Delta Zeta sorority.

As the winner of the Miss MSU Pageant, Kiser will now compete in the Miss Kentucky Pageant July 10-12 at Spaulding College in Louisville.

Kiser's pageant experience began at age 10 when she was crowned Carter County's Little Miss Sorghum Queen. According to Kiser, this gave her the opportunity for her first television appearance on WSAZ-TV. Next, she was named Miss Olive Hill Homecoming Queen at the annual Tom T. Hall Celebration and in 1982 was crowned Miss Carter County Fair.

In 1984, she won the Miss Grayson RECC Pageant and was special guest at the Miss Kentucky RECC Pageant in Louisville. After being crowned Miss Grayson in the 1985 preliminary to the Miss Kentucky Pageant, she competed in the Miss Kentucky Pageant last summer and finished in the top 10.

Kiser said the first thing she thought when her name was announced as the winner was, "I'm going back to the Miss Kentucky Pageant. I'm going to get another chance maybe to make the top five this year."

In preparation for the Miss MSU Pageant, Kiser said she worked mostly on the interview by keeping a folder of current events and she also worked on her talent, a vocal performance of "Break It To Me Gently."

She used the same wardrobe and the same song as she used in the Miss Kentucky Pageant last summer, so she had plenty of time to polish her interview.

As far as her future plans are concerned, Kiser said everything depends on what the outcome of the Miss Kentucky Pageant is in July.

If she doesn't win, she'll come back to MSU in the fall, graduate with her degree in fashion merchandising in December, work a few years in the field of fashion, and then pursue her career as a country music singer by maybe going to Nashville, Tenn., to make a demo tape.

If she wins the Miss Kentucky Pageant, she won't be back to school for a year, and if she gets the opportunity to perform in Atlantic City, N.J., it may open new doors for her.

"I'm going to need a lot of support in Louisville this summer," said Kiser, "and I hope everyone is behind me. I've got the confidence in myself and I hope MSU has the confidence in me too."

Finalists in the pageant were:

*First runner-up: Angie McClure of Chesapeake, Ohio

*Second runner-up: Shelly Webb of Mt. Sterling

*Third runner-up: Patti Fulner of Louisville and

As winner of the Miss MSU Scholarship Pageant, Kiser received a $1,000 scholarship along with other prizes donated by local merchants. The runners-up received scholarships ranging from $800 for the first runner-up to $200 for the fourth runner-up and other awards.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- A scholarship in memory of the late Dr. Edward J. Lucke, a Morehead State University professor, has been established by his friends and colleagues.

Lucke, a professor of health, physical education and recreation, died at home April 1. Services were held April 4 in Morehead.

Contributions earmarked for the Edward James Lucke Memorial Scholarship may be made to the MSU Foundation. The scholarship will be awarded to a student majoring in health, physical education and recreation, according to Bill Redwine, MSU's director of development.

Lucke's wife Sue, also a member of the HPER faculty, preceded him in death earlier this year and a similar scholarship was established in her name at that time.

"Ed Lucke was a dedicated teacher, who was known for his warmth and enthusiasm," said Dr. Earl J. Bentley, chair of MSU's Department of HPER. "Both Dr. and Mrs. Lucke will be missed by their students and colleagues," Dr. Bentley added.

Lucke taught at MSU from 1956 to 1960 and rejoined the faculty in 1969. A former MSU assistant basketball coach and tennis coach, Lucke also coached and taught at Lees Junior College in Jackson and at Lindsey Wilson Junior College in Columbia. He also coached and taught at Lenoir-Rhyne College, Hickory, N.C. from 1961 to 1969.

A native of Cincinnati, he earned his B.S. degree from East Tennessee State University and the master's degree and doctorate from George Peabody College.

Survivors include a son, Harry Vance Lucke of Russell, a daughter, Jamie Day Lucke of Birmingham, Ala., and three brothers.

MSU PRESERVES MUSICAL TRADITION: A PICTURE STORY.

The Vintage Fiddlers of Eastern Kentucky collection, compiled by Morehead State University's Appalachian Development Center; represents Kentucky's musical heritage in MSU's Camden-Carroll Library and the U.S. Library of Congress, according to Shirley Hamilton, ADC assistant director of human services. The U.S. Library of Congress requested and was sent a copy of the collection, which was presented to the Camden-Carroll Library recently. The collection was compiled by Mary Nell Young, former ADC special projects coordinator, and consists of audio and video-taped performances of several well-known and respected Eastern Kentucky traditional fiddlers. Included in the collection is a booklet of guide sheets for each song cataloguing the music and lyrics. "These fiddlers have been playing the traditional songs of Eastern Kentucky for many years. It is the purpose of this collection to ensure that this music can be enjoyed for many years to come," Hamilton said.

Cutlines:

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Two Morehead State University faculty members have been awarded Summer Seminar for College Teachers stipends, valued at $3,000 each, by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

They are Dr. Betty Gurley, professor of philosophy, and Dr. Frances Helphinstine, professor of English, Foreign Language and Philosophy.

Dr. Gurley will study at Yale University with James Dittes of Yale's religious studies faculty, who will teach a seminar on "The 'Theologies' of Freud and Jung." Dr. Helphinstine will attend a seminar on "Platonism and the Poetry of the English Renaissance" at the University of California-Los Angeles with Michael Allen, director of UCLA's Center for Medieval and Renaissance Studies.

"Competition for these coveted awards is extremely intense, so Morehead State is very fortunate to have two NEH summer scholars," Dr. Roberta Anderson, MSU's vice president for academic affairs, said. "It is even more rare to have two from the same department. These awards are tangible evidence of the quality faculty we have at this University," she added.

A member of the MSU faculty since 1969, Dr. Gurley earned the B.A. degree from California State College and her M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Southern Illinois University where she was a NDEA Fellow. A past president of the Kentucky Philosophical Society, she also is a member of the American Philosophical Society and the Society for Existential and Phenomenological Philosophy.

Dr. Helphinstine, a native of Fleming County, has been on the faculty since 1966. She earned her bachelor's degree and two master's degrees from MSU and holds a Ph.D. degree from Indiana University. She is a member of various national and state professional organizations, including the Kentucky Philological Association of which she is president. The recipient of several awards and honors, she participated in an NEH Summer Seminar at Stanford University in 1982.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.-- WMKY-FM 90, public radio from Morehead State University, will join Kentucky Educational Television in broadcasting a special televised presentation of "A Prairie Home Companion" on Saturday, April 26, at 9 p.m.

Garrison Keillor, host and creator of the American Public Radio show, will bring his brand of humor to the screen for a two-hour program taped for broadcast at the World Theater in downtown St. Paul, Minn. The simulcast will be televised on KET (Channel 10 in Morehead) as it is broadcast on WMKY.

Celebrating the grand opening of the newly-restored World Theater, the permanent home of "A Prairie Home Companion," the television/radio special will feature all of the favorite elements of Keillor's popular radio show.

Featured material will include Keillor's stories about Lake Wobegon, Minn., taken from his bestselling book Lake Wobegon Days; music by pianist Butch Thompson, known nationwide and in Europe for his work as a jazz performer, and appearances by other guest artists.

A combination of widely diverse elements, "A Prairie Home Companion" has won numerous accolades, including a George Foster Peabody Award - one of the industry's highest honors.

"A Prairie Home Companion" was conceived by Garrison Keillor in 1974, when he was assigned by the "New Yorker" magazine to write a story on the last performance of the Grand Ole Opry in the old Ryman Auditorium, its home for many years before the completion of Opryland. Keillor, who used to listen to performances from the Grand Ole Opry on the radio as a child, was inspired by the excitement of the show and decided to create a radio show of his own. Shortly thereafter, "A Prairie Home Companion" debuted on Minnesota Public Radio to a local audience.

Keillor

Today the show is distributed by American Public Radio to more than 260 public radio stations nationwide, including WMKY. With an audience of between three and four million listeners each week, "A Prairie Home Companion" is the most popular program on public radio. The show also reaches listeners in Australia.

The television special, "A Prairie Home Companion," is distributed to public television stations by the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS).

The simulcast will be underwritten by Cargill, Inc., which has also been the sole corporate underwriter for "A Prairie Home Companion" since its inception in 1974. Cargill, Inc. is also the provider of the largest corporate grant for the restoration of the World Theater.

"A Prairie Home Companion" can be heard Saturday evening at 6 p.m. on WMKY-FM 90, public radio from Morehead State University.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

By TERRY HOPKINS
MSU Communications Student

MOREHEAD, Ky.--The Morehead State University Board of Regents has authorized WMKY, public radio from MSU, to seek bids for the erection of a new transmitting antenna to increase WMKY's broadcast area from the present 12 county primary coverage region to a 20 county area.

Larry Netherton, WMKY's general manager, said that the proposed antenna project could increase the station's primary coverage area to include Bourbon, Boyd, Clark, Estill, Greenup, Lee, Mason and Robertson counties.

"We have been working in conjunction with a communication consultant in Cincinnati," said Netherton. "If certain technical criteria are met, we could double our listening population and, at the same time, produce a higher quality signal to areas which have a weak signal at present."

"All of this is still in the preliminary stages, of course," said Netherton. "It hinges upon the bidding specifications being met and approval by the Federal Communications Commission," he said.

"Currently, WMKY serves a 12-county area around Morehead with a population of $150,000 people. If our specifications are met, we could add eight more counties with a population of another 185,000 people," he added.

Netherton also said that with the Board's recent approval, the station will begin to accept bids for the directional antenna immediately. If all specifications are met, the antenna could be erected within a year.

Along with the new antenna, the Board of Regents approved for WMKY to research the feasibility of a booster station which would take the signal from WMKY in Morehead to another transmission site and, subsequently, to an even greater coverage area in eastern Kentucky.

Netherton said that there are several major determining factors in the consideration of a booster station, and that WMKY is carefully studying all the possibilities.

"A big factor in the search for a site for the second station is to find a location not served by any other public radio station," he said. "We are looking at sites which could serve parts of Pike, Floyd, Knott, Lawrence, Breathitt and Magoffin counties. This entire area is part of the region that Morehead State serves."

In addition to the antenna project and the booster station, WMKY is making technical changes and improvements to heighten the quality of broadcasts and public service.

WMKY's Chief Engineer Ray Roberts considers the most major of these technical changes to be the acquisition and installation of an emergency generator.

"The emergency generator will enable us to continue broadcasting in the event of an electrical outage due to weather conditions or a main generator breakdown," Roberts explained. "Our main priority is to serve the listening audience, particularly when they need to be informed about the weather or any other situation."

The emergency generator, according to Netherton, also aids WMKY in serving as a vital link in the statewide Emergency Broadcast System.

Major renovation is also under way in the master control room where broadcasts originate. The most vital piece of updated equipment there is an advanced master control board which regulates every broadcast, taped or live.

Other new equipment includes turntables, a compact disk playback unit, state-of-the-art compact disks, and an STL aural transmitter, which sends the signal from the station to the main transmitter where the signal is then broadcast to the general public.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--The Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences at Morehead State University will sponsor two workshops for registered and practical nurses during April and May on campus in Adron Doran University Center.

The first workshop, entitled "Confusion: Organic and Drug Induced," will be held Thursday, April 24, and is designed to increase the nurse's knowledge about individuals with mental confusion.

Mary Ellen Lutz, clinical nurse specialist for geriatrics/rehabilitation at the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Lexington, will conduct the workshop. The registration fee is $36.

On Thursday, May 8, a workshop on "Alzheimer's Disease: A Nursing Perspective" will be held and will feature an overview of the disease and its symptoms as it progresses, as well as the importance of family support.

Judith W. Pollmann, director of Nursing Educational Services Department at St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington, will conduct the workshop. The registration fee is $42.

All participants will receive continuing education credits. Both workshops are approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Pauline Ramey, MSU's coordinator of continuing education for nursing and allied health sciences, at (606) 783-2632.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--An address by Yolanda King, daughter of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., will highlight Morehead State University's observance of Black Awareness Week slated April 18-27.

Co-sponsored by MSU's Black Student Coalition and the Student Association, King will speak at 10:20 a.m. Thursday, April 24, in Button Auditorium. The event is free and open to the public.

Programming for Black Awareness Week has been developed around the theme "Resurgence of Black Females in the 80s," according to Jerry Gore, MSU director of minority affairs.

An honors graduate of Smith College, where she majored in theatre and Afro-American studies, King has combined a commitment to human rights with artistic pursuits. She is a founding member and co-director of Nucleus, an acting company committed to promoting social change through the performing arts. A film and television actress, she also has worked as an associate producer and consultant in both media.

A lifetime member of the NAACP, she also is on the board of directors of the Martin Luther King Jr. Center for Nonviolent Social Change, where she is director of its Cultural Affairs Program.

In addition to King's appearance, Black Awareness Week activities will include a "rap session" with Dr. Betty Sue Griffin, educational psychologist at Oregon State University, at 8 p.m. Monday, April 21, in the Eagle Room, Adron Doran University Center; a fashion show sponsored by Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 23, Crager Room, ADUC, and a seminar/workshop session from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, April 26, in the adult living/learning center at Breckinridge Hall.

In addition, MSU's Black Gospel Ensemble will celebrate its 18th anniversary during Black Awareness Week with workshops on Friday, April 18, and Saturday, April 19, in Breck Auditorium featuring Marion Rogers, minister of music at the Main Street Baptist Church in Lexington. Ensembles from the University of Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky University and Marshall University of Huntington, W.Va., are expected to participate.

Ensemble concerts are scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday, April 19, and at 3 p.m. Sunday, April 20, in Breck Auditorium. Organizational meetings of an ensemble alumni support group and of a parents association are slated for 2 p.m. Sunday, April 20, at the Baptist Student Center.

MOREHEAD, Ky. ---- Two Eastern Kentucky high school students have received scholarship awards to Morehead State University as a result of their participation in the 23rd Northeast Kentucky Regional Science Fair.

They are:

Jo Ann Fooks of Deming High School in Robertson County, who received a four-year MSU scholarship, and Donna Wills of Lewis County High School, who was recipient of a one-year MSU scholarship.

Fooks, one of the 13 division winners, won first place for senior high in environmental sciences and received the American Association of Clinical Chemists Certificate.

Wills was second place winner for senior high in botany.

Angela E. Buckner of Nicholas County High School was chosen as alternate in the event that either scholarship is declined. Buckner was winner of first place for senior high in medicine and health, the U.S. Navy Distinguished Achievement Certificate and the Secretary's Award of Merit from the National Association of School Nurses.

A panel of MSU judges evaluated the 13 division winner on criteria including creativity and scientific thought shown in the project to select the overall grand prize winners.

The overall winners are:

Tamila Anderson of Nicholas County High School, first place overall winner, who was first place for senior high in microbiology winner, recipient of the U.S. Marine Corps Certificate of Achievement and the American Society for MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Taking 14 individual awards, The Trail Blazer, Morehead State University's student newspaper, was ranked fourth overall among Division A schools in the recent Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association (KIPA) competition.

The awards were announced at KIPA's state conference held earlier this month at Eastern Kentucky University. The annual competition drew entries from student newspapers at 15 institutions of higher education statewide.

Individual MSU student winners were:

Kevin Goldy, Mt. Sterling sophomore, placed first and third in news photos.

John Selvia, Harlan senior, placed third and also received an honorable mention for informational graphic. He also received third place in advertising art and in original illustration.

Greg Hopkins, a 1985 MSU graduate from Burlington, received a second place award for editorial cartoons.

Gary Hines, Aberdeen, Ohio, senior, placed third in reviews.

Teresa Montgomery, a junior from Mt. Sterling, placed first in advertising design.

Anita McLeod, Detroit, Mich., senior, placed third in advertising design.

Gary Crume, Bloomfield junior, placed first in panel cartoons.

Terry Farmer, a Pikeville freshman, placed first in advertising art.

Robert Triplett, a Campton senior, received an honorable mention in editorial cartoons.

Deborah Powell, an Irvine senior, and Vicki Aleshire, a 1985 MSU graduate from Ashland, placed third in continuing news.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University will offer a three-day shortcourse on Artificial Insemination and AI Management at the Derrickson Agricultural Complex May 19-21.

The classes will be taught by Fischer Harned, a Kentucky Artificial Breeders Association (KABA) field supervisor since 1969, and Dr. Andy Boston, MSU professor of agriculture. Sponsored by the University's Department of Agriculture and Natural Resources in cooperation with KABA, an affiliate of Select Sires, the AI shortcourse is open to any interested beef or dairy cattle producer as well as both college and high school students.

"Registration for the program is under way now and will continue through May 12," Dr. Boston said. A $50 deposit fee is due at close of registration and checks should be made payable to KABA. The remainder, $25 for students and $100 for producers, is due on May 19.

The three days of coursework provide participants with practical application of AI techniques. Study topics include the estrus cycle and breeding time, effects of feeds, minerals and vitamins on breeding efficiency; principles of genetics and pedigrees and sire selection, as well as practice in insemination.

"All students successfully completing the training course, including passing a final examination, will receive certification as AI Technicians," Dr. Boston said. MSU students also may earn one credit hour by enrolling in AGR 399(001) as listed in the Summer I class schedule. He added that the fee for students would be $75 rather than the $200 listed in the schedule.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Dr. Boston at (606) 783-2666.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Herb Ramey, Rowan County Middle School principal, has been named 1986 Outstanding Administrator by Morehead State University's Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa.

The award, given annually, is designed to recognize outstanding leadership in public school administration, according to Dr. Kathy Herzog, associate professor of education and MSU Chapter president. The presentation was made earlier this month at PDK's awards banquet.

Other award recipients included: Gregg Wright, an elementary teacher in the Magoffin County schools, who was named 1986 Outstanding Teacher; Cynthia Hawkins of Lexington, 1986 Outstanding Graduate Student, and Mary Alma Campbell and Ruth Ann Furby, both Maysville juniors majoring in elementary education, who received Phi Delta Kappa Scholarships of $100 each.

Ramey, a native of Rowan County, has been principal of RCMS since it opened in January 1983. As assistant principal at Rowan County High School the two previous years, he was responsible for development of the new middle school's curriculum, faculty and the facilities. He also was principal of Clearfield Elementary School for 11 years.

Ramey earned his bachelor's and master's degrees, as well as Rank I Certificate, from Morehead State. Active in numerous professional organizations at the national and state level, he is on the board of directors of the Kentucky Middle School Association, president of Region Nine for Kentucky Association of School Administrators, and is eastern region representative on the board of the Kentucky Association of Teacher Educators.

He and his wife, the former Judy Gay Parker, have two daughters, Darienda June Ramey, a recent graduate of Western Kentucky University, and Vonda Kay Ramey, a junior majoring in speech and business at MSU.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University will join 167 schools worldwide as a participant in an international videoconference on world issues and media responsibility scheduled on Saturday, April 25.

Journalism students from 130 Eastern Kentucky high schools have been invited to join MSU communications majors for the videoconference, sponsored by The Christian Science Monitor, according to Dr. Richard Dandeneau, acting chair of MSU's Department of Communications.

The conference will feature live transmission via satellite of panel discussions by leading journalists at three international sites to Morehead State and other schools in the United States, Canada, Egypt, United Kingdom and Australia. Panel leaders will include:

Veteran CBS newsman Richard C. Hottelet from Vienna, who will explore the relationships among world superpowers.

ABC Paris Bureau Chief Pierre Salinger in London, leading discussions on small wars and terrorism.

PBS' Edwin Newman in Japan, discussing sharing technology and understanding foreign cultures.

Each panel will include representatives from print and broadcast, along with a noted authority on the topic and a senior Monitor staffer as host. Senior CSM editors will moderate the conference from Boston.

Sharing their views from the Morehead State campus site in Breck Auditorium will be Richard Wilson, chief of the Louisville Courier Journal's Bluegrass Bureau; Roger Shepherd, assignment editor for WOWK-TV in Huntington, W.Va., and Vic Carter, MSU alumnus and newsman with WSB-TV in Atlanta.

Students at each participating school will be able to submit questions to the panelists at any of the international sites before and during the videoconference, which was designed to provide future journalists the opportunity to share the experiences of seasoned print and broadcast journalists, according to Earl Foell, CSM editor-in-chief.

"We are pleased that Morehead State could serve as one of the sites for this demonstration of how modern technology can be used as a teaching tool," said Dr. Robert Burns, dean of MSU's College of Arts and Sciences. "This really is an exciting and unique opportunity for journalists-to-be to gain firsthand knowledge about world affairs and the media's role from those actually involved in global reporting," Dr. Burns said.

Additional information on the videoconference may be obtained from Thomas Yancy, radio/television program coordinator, Department of Communications, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351. Telephone (606) 783-2134.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Arts in Morehead will present the National Shakespeare Company in a production of the tragic tale of love and revenge, "Othello," at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 23, in Button Auditorium at Morehead State University.

Admission will be by season membership in AIM's Concert and Lecture Series or by general admission tickets available at the door for $5 each for adults or $2.50 each for youth age 18 and under. MSU students with valid ID cards will be admitted free.

Shakespeare was considered to be at the height of his powers when he wrote "Othello," which critics have called one of the world's great dramatic masterpieces and "a harrowing tale of revenge." It is a moving tragedy of a passionate man who is destroyed by vain fury and false friendship.

For more than two decades, the National Shakespeare Company has crisscrossed the United States presenting full-scale performances of Shakespeare's works. Each year the company travels more than 35,000 miles to cities--large and small--presenting Shakespeare's plays in theatres, gyms and chapels.

In addition to its touring commitment, National Shakespeare Company also operates the Cubiculo Performing Arts Center in the heart of New York's theatre district where new playwrights, performers, poets, choreographers and composers are encouraged to develop their professional skills.

Arts in Morehead is a cooperative venture of Morehead State University and the Morehead-Rowan County Arts Council.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Morehead State University President Herb. F. Reinhard Jr. has been named president of Frostburg State College in Maryland, effective July 1.

The appointment was announced by James K. Archibald, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Maryland State Universities and Colleges.

Frostburg State, located in Western Maryland, is among six institutions in the Maryland State system and has an enrollment of about 4,000 students.

Dr. Reinhard, who has resigned his MSU post effective June 30, was selected through a national search which began seven months ago. He succeeds Dr. Kenneth Jablon, who had served as acting president of FSC for a year.

"Dr. Reinhard is a distinguished scholar and dynamic administrator," Archibald said from the board's offices in Annapolis. "With his appointment, we underscore the board's commitment to providing the citizens of Maryland with the very best in higher education. Dr. Reinhard is eminently qualified to guide Frostburg State and to provide the innovative leadership that the college has come to expect."

"My wife, Nancy, and I are very excited about the opportunity to serve Frostburg State College," Dr. Reinhard said. "The institution has an excellent reputation in academics and student development and a history of stability and progress. We look forward to becoming a part of the Frostburg community."

President of Morehead State since July, 1984, Dr. Reinhard previously served five years as president of Slippery Rock University in Pennsylvania.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Winners of the short story and poetry contests, sponsored by Morehead State University's literary magazine Inscape, have been announced.

The 1986 competition drew 160 poems and 35 short stories from MSU students, according to Dr. Marc Glasser, professor of English and Inscape faculty adviser. Winners received $50 and $25 for first and second placings respectively.

Johnda Sammons, an Ashland senior art major, took first place in poetry with her poem "A Well-Worn Chair." Last semester Sammons took second place for poetry.

Second prize for poetry went to Peggy Wilburn, a Maloneton sophomore majoring in English and philosophy. Wilburn's poem was entitled "Old House."

In the literature portion of the contest, Nina Goecke took first prize for the short story "Which Road to Take." She is a Georgetown, Ohio, sophomore majoring in elementary education.

Second prize for literature went to Kathy Webster, an Edgewood freshman chemistry major. Her short story was entitled "Consider Me Gone."

Honorable mentions for poetry went to Ryan Hardesty, Ransom senior, for "Phoenix, of the Poet's Plea For Madness," Rebecca Bailey, Hazel Green graduate student, for "An Execration Upon the Muse," and Rick Caldwell, Crown Point, Ind., freshman, for "Monday's Smile."

An honorable mention for literature went to Chris Marshall, Union City, Ohio, senior, for his play "Sister Mary: A Play In One Act," which was recently produced as part of the MSU Players' presentation of A Night of Original Works.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Rachel Wann of Indianapolis, Ind., who will enter Morehead State University this fall as a freshman music theory/composition major, has been awarded the Teena Chinn Musical Creativity Scholarship.

The $1,000 annual award was established last year through the MSU Foundation by Teena Chinn, who received a Bachelor of Music degree from MSU in 1978, and her husband, David.

Ms. Chinn is choral editor for Columbia Pictures Publications and her husband is president of Allied Publications, Inc., in Indianapolis. They reside in Plainfield, Ind.

"In setting up the scholarship, Teena said that she wanted to 'give something back' to MSU's Department of Music because of the excellent training it had provided her," said Dr. Christopher Gallaher, department chair. "We are very grateful to the Chinns for their interest in encouraging young composers in their studies at Morehead State," Gallaher added.

"While Morehead State's music program is nationally recognized, we have many other fine programs and we would like to challenge our alumni to follow the lead set by Teena Chinn," said Bill Redwine, director of development at MSU.

The first recipient of the scholarship was Robert Taylor of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., also a theory/composition major, who graduates this spring.

April 26, 1986
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--The daughter of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King Jr. told an audience at Morehead State University that while "a veneer of prosperity permeates the atmosphere," America's blacks still have not reached the promised land.

"We have not learned the simple art of living together as brothers and sisters," Yolanda King said, recalling her father's remarks as he accepted the Nobel Peace Prize. King, the primary speaker for Morehead State's recent observance of Black Awareness Week, later was presented with a commission as a Kentucky Colonel. Nearly 300 students, faculty, staff and townspeople heard her speak in MSU's Button Auditorium.

The old Jim Crow may be dead, but "his college-education suburbanite cousin J. Crow Esquire is alive and kicking," she told her audience, noting that many of them weren't alive during the era of segregation. "The civil rights movement may seem like ancient history to those of you in college, but it was not a mirage. It was not a documentary or a television special. It was live and in living color," she said.

Recalling her father's involvement, King said it was through his leadership that America "came close to living those words in the Declaration of Independence" and that while short-lived the movement opened the doors of opportunity not just to blacks, but to other minorities and women. It was the "conscience for other movements," she said.

"The civil rights movement brought the South into the 20th Century, but we can't stop here. When profits remain more important than people and we spend 10 times more on military defense as we do on education--and still not feel safe--our priorities are warped," she said.

According to King, America's emphasis on military defense is doing long-term damage to education, health care and employment. "We have more people living in poverty and on the streets today than we've had since the depression," she added.

"Those of you safely tucked away in the never-never land of Morehead, Ky., may feel protected, but the widening gulf between the haves and the have nots will affect you," she told the audience. "We aren't separated by color, but by greed--by the perverted urge to be number one."

Again invoking memories of her father, King said that while living together as brothers and sisters might seem like a lovely dream to some, but "I choose to continue dreaming, for to live with a dream may be crazy, but to live without it would be a nightmare."

MOREHEAD, Ky.--The Kentucky League of Nursing has recognized a Morehead State University faculty member as Nurse Educator of the Year.

Dr. Betty M. Porter, chair of MSU's Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences, was honored by the League at its annual meeting recently. She was nominated by MSU's nursing faculty for the award which recognizes outstanding performance, scholarly achievement and innovative and effective teaching in the field.

A native of Greenup County, Dr. Porter taught at MSU from 1971 to 1979 and returned to the campus in 1983 to head the department. She oversees the department's two-year nursing program, the radiologic technology program and the new four-year nursing program which will be implemented this fall. The department also provides more than 200 contact hours of continuing education for nurses in the region annually.

Dr. Porter earned baccalaureate and master's degrees from Morehead State, before going on to earn her undergraduate and graduate degrees in nursing from the University of Kentucky and her Ed.D. in higher education degree there as well.

She is active in several professional organizations on the state and national levels, including the American Medical Auxiliary.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University senior Carlos Cassady of Inez has been elected as Student Association president for 1986-87.

A government major, Cassady won by taking 63 percent of the votes cast, defeating Melissa Gardner, Richmond sophomore, for top student body post. The son of Billy Ray and Donna Cassady, he also will represent MSU's student body on the Board of Regents.

Also elected as Student Association officers were:

*Secretary: Sophomore Marilyn Jones, daughter of Wanda Lee Jones of Sharpsburg

*Treasurer: Freshman Sheridan Martin, son of Sherman Martin of Drift

*Public Relations Director: Junior John Parton, son of Sidney E. Parton of Greenup, and *Programs Director: Junior Scott Sode, son of George Phillips of Elkhorn City.

"I've always been a leader," said Cassady, who is president of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. "I'm also a follower," he added, noting that he paid attention to other people's ideas. A graduate of Sheldon-Clark High School, Cassady was president of his senior class and the Beta Club as well as vice president of the Pep Club.

"As Student Association president, I'll continue to be a leader and a follower--by following the student's ideas 100 percent," Cassady said. One of the reasons he sought the MSU post, Cassady said, was because he believed the students needed more encouragement to become involved in the campus.

As SA president, Cassady said his major priorities will be to increase enrollment through recruitment, total communication and openness, and campus improvements.

"Total happiness" and "relief" are the thoughts that went through Cassady's mind when he heard he won the election. "Winning is just the beginning of what we have to do," said Cassady. "We have a lot of work ahead of us."

MSU Student Journalist

"We in the U.S. are viewed by many in the world with as much anger and hostility as those in this country view (Moammar) Khadafy," said Pulitzer Prize winner Seymour Hersh, who spoke at Morehead State University last week (April 25) as part of International Day activities.

The veteran reporter, who won a Pulitzer for international reporting about the My Lai massacre during the Vietnam War, said terrorism is not as irrational as it seems, and that in this country we have a double standard as to what we call terrorism.

"In the eyes of the Arabs, terrorism is a strike against Israel and those who support Israel. Much of the support for Khadafy in the Arab world is because of his stand on Palestine," he told the audience composed primarily of students.

"Why is Khadafy called a terrorist and the U.S. bombing of Libya not called terrorism? Because we say it is terrorism," Hersh said. "We always use the words Arab terrorist, but when the Israelis do something similar it is called self defense."

Hersh noted that Khadafy is a menace, but that dealing with him is a complicated matter. "What do you do about him? You don't try to oust him, and you don't bomb his quarters. There could be bloodshed in this country because of our attack on Libya. The problem was worsened by the attack.

"Everybody doesn't buy the American view on Khadafy. He has enormous support in the Middle East. Of course what Khadafy is doing is wrong and terrorism is wrong, but Khadafy cannot just be written off," Hersh said. "He represents a mainstream of a freedom movement in Libya."

"How do you respond to terrorism?" Hersh asked. "We are going to have to get smarter about that issue," he answered.

Hersh also said the notion that the Russians are supporting terrorism is ridiculous. "The U.S. and the Russians both stand to lose from terrorism. In the next decade we will move closer to the Russians on controlling the spread of terrorism," he predicted.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Morehead State University's Individual Events Speech Team placed ninth in the 1986 National Speech Tournament held at Bloomsburg University of Pennsylvania.

MSU's Speech Team was one of 123 teams from 40 states competing in the tournament April 23-28.

Three MSU team members gained semi-finalist status and another placed in the quarter finals, according to Phil Martin, team coach.

Individual wins included:

John Burchett, Morehead freshman, and Kevin Cockrell, Jeffersonville sophomore, semi-finalists in Dramatic Duo.

Bob Stafford, Vanceburg senior, semi-finalist in Informative Speaking.

Vonda Ramey, Morehead junior, quarter finals in Rhetorical Criticism.

"We're very proud of our speech team," said Dr. Robert Burns, dean of MSU's College of Arts and Sciences. "Our speech program enjoys a fine national reputation as these students have just demonstrated with this most recent achievement," Dr. Burns said.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Scholastic excellence will be the focal point during Morehead State University's second annual Academic Excellence Week, scheduled May 5-9.

Awards for outstanding achievement by students, faculty and staff will be presented during the week-long tribute to academic excellence, according to Dr. Roberta Anderson, MUS's vice president for academic affairs.

Highlighting the celebration will be a formal Academic Awards Convocation at 7 p.m. Monday, May 5, in Button Auditorium at which time the University's most prestigious faculty awards will be presented

"In keeping with this emphasis on student and faculty academic achievement, this year the University will announce the recipients of its Distinguished Faculty and Distinguished Researcher Awards at the convocation," said MSU President Herb. F. Reinhard Jr. "We believe this peer recognition may be more fitting at this time, rather than at commencement," he added.

The Distinguished Faculty Award will be presented by MSU Alumni Association President David Bolt. The annual award was established by the alumni association in 1964. Awarded since 1979 by MSU's Research Committee, the Distinguished Researcher will be presented by Dr. Anderson.

In addition, awards will be presented to the outstanding graduate and undergraduate students in each department by Dr. Robert Morasky, dean of the Office of Graduate and Special Academic Programs. Recognition also will go to students with 4.00 grade point averages, Honors Program graduates and the recipient of the Veteran of the Year Award.

Kerri Salamanca, Louisville senior and a 4.00 student, will be Awards Convocation speaker. Dr. John E. Kleber, Honors Program director and professor of history, will preside. Dr. Reinhard will offer congratulations to the honorees. Members of the Board of Regents also will be platform guests.

A reception will follow the convocation in the Red Room, Adron Doran University Center.

Throughout the week, the colleges and various departments will recognize outstanding achievements of their students. Also scheduled is a special "Scholars Luncheon," sponsored by the MSU Research Commission, on Monday at noon at ADUC.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's Adron Doran University Center will soon be filled with the "Flowers and the Enchantment of Spring."

"Flowers and the Enchantment of Spring" is the theme for the University's annual floral design show of exhibits by students of Martha Norris, associate professor of agriculture.

Located in the Gold Room, ADUC, the exhibit will be open to the public from 3:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Monday, May 5.

There will be 77 fresh arrangements, inspired by flowers and their contributing beauty to spring, according to Norris, who has taught floral design classes at MSU for 10 years.

Awards will be given in the following categories: Tri-color, Creativity, and Best-in-Show. The Tri-color Award is for the most original display. A panel of four judges, headed by Mrs. Doris Galloway of Ashland, will select the award-winning exhibits.
