Kentucky Tobacco Markets Will Open Sales December 6th

Over 100,000 Farmers To Send Weed To Floors This Year

INDICATIONS ARE FOR FAIR TO MIDDLEN PRICE

Burley Crop This Year Is Much Better Than In 1936

The sine-gang chant of the auctioneer on Monday, December 6 will signal the beginning of another marketing season for burley tobacco, the brown gold of more than 100,000 farmers in Kentucky and adjoining states.

On December 6 the Lexington market, with five sets of buyers operating in the year on its 24 warehouse floors, will begin the burley season, while Mayville with three sets of buyers and the other 400 markets in Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, West Virginia, Virginia and North Carolina following suit Tuesday and Wednesday, December 7 and 8.

This year burley producers will bring to the warehouses the largest crop in several years, estimates on the 1937 production ranging from an average of 280 million pounds upward to over 400 million.

Already more than two million pounds of tobacco have been placed on the floor. Lexington and Mayville warehouses. In general appearance the tobacco this year does not quite measure up to that of a year ago, there being a more decided red cast this year. However, in general smoking quality this crop is considered very good, most of it being of good texture and thinness. Practically all the tobacco is weighing very light in the bulk.

All warehouses on the Lexington market have been respected late-season and now early sales floor will be cleared every sixth day, while floor spacing on the Mayville market allows floor clearance every third day. No tobacco will go un sold on a Lexington floor any longer than a week or on a Mayville floor any longer than four days.

Woman, 86, Aunt of Mrs. Franklin Dies in Fire

If she had survived, Mrs. Mary Armstrong, 86 years old, of Vanceburg, an aunt of Mrs. J. W. Franklin, of Morehead, would be in line for a Carnegie Medal, denoting supreme bravery at the risk of one's own life.

However, Mrs. Armstrong's heroic deed cost her own life. She died, supposedly from her clay pipe, ignited by the fire which carried a baby and two small children to safety then returned to get $4 from a bureau drawer and was believed to have suffocated. Her charred body was recovered from the ruins.

Holbrook Elated With Sophomores At Morehead High

Prospect Good This Year While Sophomore Team Shows Good Future Team

Although the Morehead High School boys' basketball team will be composed principally this year of sophomores, Coach Roy Holbrook is exceptionally optimistic regarding his team's chances. Not since Holbrook took over the athletic rebuilding program of the High School two years ago has he been so much regarding his team.

"We'll win our share of games this year," declared Holbrook, "but you had better watch for us in seasons to come." Holbrook believes that in his sophomores and juniors he has the making of a basketball outfit that could easily lead the state in the coming years past at Morehead High.

Included in the list of sophomores, in whom Holbrook has so much confidence, with regard to the season are: James Butler, 17; Pete Brown, 16; Clifford Barker, 17; Robert Brown, 15; Robert Tackett, 17; Earl Bradley, 19, and W. C. Howard 17.

Performers on last year's team when their grade in school and ages are: Carl Sius, 18, Senior; Alle Rose, 18, Junior; Alpha Hutchins, 18, Senior; Wendell Calver, 16, Junior; Ova Johnson, 17, Junior; Homer Pettit, 16, Junior; Bobby Holbrook, 14, Junior; Hubert Cook, 14, Junior.

In addition to the above Holbrook will depend on several third and fourth graders who show strength and potential strength for Viking teams two and three years from now, included in the list are: Robert Kessler, 17; Henderson Bowling, 16; Alvin Gully, 17; Meredith Jones, 14; James H. Taylor, 14; Maxie Bowles, 16 and Pete Kessler, 14.

It has been seen from the above that the Vikings will have a squad that is young in years. The spirit of this group is fine... even the 14-year-olds are battling in there for a place.

The Morehead schedule has not been completed, many of the scheduled games being tentative, since contracts have not been signed. The Vikings will probably open next week, meeting probably Sandy Hook or Haldeman.

Two Worthy Movements To Support

AN EDITORIAL

Two worthy movements, to which all Moreheadians and Rowan Countians should subscribe, are now underway. They are the Red Cross roll call drive and the Christmas Seal sale campaign.

Previously, this newspaper has pointed out the great work of the Red Cross, the nation's Mother. Millions of dollars were spent in Kentucky this year as a great flood struck the Ohio River Valley. In Rowan County our tributaries, but who know, when the time may come that we will need assistance comparable to that of the flood victim and refugees.

It has been only a few years since we had a flood of our own and at that time the Red Cross stepped in and expended thousands of dollars to ease suffering and helping the destitute to rehabilitate their homes. Whatever you can give to this worthy enterprise will not be too much.

A portion of the money that is collected through the Christmas Seal drive will be kept here at home to buy milk for our under-nourished school children. What enterprise is there that is more worthy than this? The people that are working daily in these campaigns deserve our commendation and support.

Let us not be backward with our assistance when we know that every dime we give will help the need of some less fortunate individual.

Quail Supply Good In Rowan, Reports State Commission

Thousands of Hunters Take To Fields As Season Gets Started

STRICTER ENFORCEMENT OF GAME LAWS IS BLAN

Rabbits Are Scarce In Most Of Eastern Kentucky Survey Shows

The state fish and game department, in issuing a report on hunting conditions throughout Kentucky, reported Rowan County as having a scarcity of rabbits while the supply of quail and squirrel was fair.

Reports on adjoining counties were: Carter; rabbits, good; quail, fair; squirrels, fair. Blue; rabbits, quail and squirrels, all fair. Bath; rabbits, scarce; quail, good. Fleming, rabbits, fair; quail, fair; squirrel, good.

Thousands of hunters took to the field yesterday, the first open day of the season. Men from the department made plans to see that illegal hunting and violation of the game laws will be curbed so far as possible by the placing of additional game wardens. Hunters should be careful in hunting game and people should not buy or have the owner's permission.

The rabbit and quail hunting licenses issued this year expire on January 1.

Social Security In District Exceeding Official Estimates

42,700 Persons Have Applied For Old Age Insurance In This Area

Served by its 12 offices, a bureau office here far exceeded estimates in their response to the social security program.

This statement was made by M. E. Vaughan, manager of the Lexington office, following a conference with representatives of the Cleveland regional office of the social security board. Cleveland supervises the social security program in Kentucky, Michigan and Ohio.

Here for conference with Mr. Vaughan, following the opening of the Middleboro old age insurance office on November 17 was F. D. Fehsenberg, regional representative of the social security board at Cleveland; also S. H. Ismahal, a social insurance representative in the Cleveland region.

His report indicated that the number of applications for old age insurance account numbers in this area for this year is more than 42,700. The Lexington area has applied for old age insurance account numbers in this area for this year is more than 42,700.

The fact that they have already exceeded the original estimate for the entire year by more than 7,000 indicates there is a continued on page three.

THANKSGIVING

Lord, I give thanks For the good gospel of the grass. And the white, billowy clouds And the world's great loveliness. And the rain's healing hands that bless. The fevered meadow and the road Whereon is set my still abode.

I thank thee for the quiet moon Lone shadows in the afternoon; For the great peace the blue sky knows, And the red rainment of the leaves. For the soft tumult of the leaves. In autumn on my mounted horse For the clear sky on wind-blown nights. And all the little village lights That smile in the through winter's dark.

Each on a human, tender spark. For apple orchards, while with May, For many a fair, sequestered kiss. For the deep patience of the pool Within a forest beautiful. I thank thee for the simple things; Beyond the glory of the kings; For goodly books to read at night In the sweet peace of candle light.

For break to break, a child to kiss. And O, Dear Lord, for this and this; The love of woman that shall last; Fill time itself, and life, have passed. And as the long bright journey ends, Lord I give thanks for many friends. —Charles Hanson Towne.

Abolition of Center Jump Proves Boon To Chances of Morehead College Team

Big Question With Blue and Gold Followers Is Whether Stanley Arzzen Can Be Replaced. Outlook For Winning Team Is Good, Coaches Declare

Will the Morehead College Eagles be able to replace Stanley Arzzen, crack forward of last year who garnered all S. I. A. A. honors? That is the question that Eagle fans are asking themselves.

The Arzzen case would be a good one for any athlete, who considers entering the professional field, to carefully consider. Arzzen, admittedly one of the greatest basketball players in Kentucky, played professional baseball last summer, picking up a few dollars.

Now he would like to return to college and play basketball with Morehead but S. I. A. A. and K. I. A. C. rules forbid his participation in any kind of college athletics once he enters the field of professionalism. Arzzen has probably lost a college education and some of the happiest years of his life. Morehead College has lost a great basketball forward... a sparkplug that drew the eyes of sports writers at Bowling Green last year to the extent that he was credited unanimous choice for the All Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association team.

In John Cassidy, who fills forward in place of Arzzen, a small school that has been represented with great High School success in the Tournament for the last four years may be the answer. Cassidy may prove to be the man that can replace Arzzen, and the team may be in good luck. If he does he will provide a scoring mate for the elusive forward, the former is a guard.

Watch James Isham, Carter is the word that is going around. Isham has always performed in creditable style and is one player who has commanded respect of his fellow players. However, at times this foot three inch Mt. Sterling had showed the stars in the past for the great scoring player. With Arzzen gone and Morehead needing a replacement, it is felt that Carter is the man to run with in the coming season. If he can hit the points in this season.

There are others on the Morehead club that may prove the answer, including the players are Donald Fair, who turned in a fine performance in football this year, and the players who are in the team. As we have so appropriately and wisely done in the past we'll rest our chances under the guidance of the K. L. C. and the Miller, admittedly Kentucky's mentors who seem to always be able to produce.

At the school assembled for workouts. The freshmen bunch includes some of the outstanding stars in the high school play, in the State. They come from many sections of Kentucky, practically all of them being first class players.

Included in the group are: Max Evans of Mayville; Harold Allen, Morehead; and George B. Shelton (Continued on Page Four)

Breckinridge Has Two Teams To Pick Starting Five From

Youngsters At Morehead School Show Rapid Advancement In Basketball

It will be a different Breckinridge Training School basketball team that Morehead fans will see in action this year. Let us make the prediction at the outset—it will be a stronger team, by far, than last year, although Coach Bobby Laughlin is dubious as to whether he hopes aren't bright.

To begin with we'll say that you won't see 5 or 6 star players starting in the opening game of the year. It will be 10 or 11 perhaps a dozen men that will be in Breckinridge and if you can distinguish but little between their playing ability then you will have done something that no one who has watched Breckinridge this year has been able to do.

"What will be your probable starting lineup for Breckinridge, Coach Bobby?" you scribble asked the good-natured and hard-working Breckinridge coach. "I'll give you my best," Laughlin's retort.

He put two teams on the floor and told them to go to town and toe-nail and remarked: "Select the 5 best men, if you can." Offhand, your writer thought that this would be an easy task, having seen the Frayley boys, Clinton Tatum, Walter Carr, Fredrick Hargrave and a couple of others perform in such magnificent style in tournament play last year.

On one team Laughlin had the 5 boys above mentioned. On the other he placed Bobby Hogge, Buddy Judy, Harry Caudill, Jack Hargrave and Bill Combs. There ensued a hard scrimmage as one would witness anywhere.

After twenty minutes of this we added up the score on our memo sheet and the result was 13 points for the Frayley team. If there was any difference between these 10 men we couldn't tell it.

So, after considering this happy state of affairs we come to the conclusion that about 12 men will play on Breckinridge this year. Laughlin has or will have the 1937 crop about the same amount of service.

We mentioned this to Warren C. Huggins, director of the training school, and Mayor of Morehead, and his sentiments were the same as ours. "I believe Breckinridge will play one team the first year, another the second year, put the starting team back for the second half of play and the other group the fourth quarter," declared Prof. Lippin.

This should make Breckinridge a much stronger team this year, since the rule-makers have made a drastic change in eliminating the play of the second half of play. This year you believe it or not, depended on this game of basketball.

Some of the above mentioned men Breckinridge had: Wendell Brown, a player of much promise, George Jackson, Calvin Coster, and some other players. Howewell, Rawlings on the squad. Click and Rawlings will not be back until the second semester, however.

The second team is made up of: Bobby Hogge, Harry Caudill, George Jackson, Leo Nason, Doug-Wellman, John Click, Frank Miller and Morty Ramsey.

Sale of Christmas Seals Sponsored By Local Organization

Morehead Women's Club To Start Drive After Thanksgiving

PART OF FUND WILL BE USED TO BUY MILK For High School Students Parade To Stimulate Purchase Of Seals

The annual Christmas Seal sale, sponsored this year by the Morehead Women's Club, will start soon after Thanksgiving. It is the aim of the club to try to make this the largest sale in the history of local seal sale drives. One-half of the proceeds will be kept here for local work.

That old adage "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is very true. In cooperation with Mrs. Ellington and teachers in Morehead High School, Morehead Women's Club will provide milk for children in the first three grades each day beginning Tuesday, Nov. 23. The length of time this milk will be provided will depend on the Christmas Seal sale, and the generous help of the public in donations to the drive.

The Morehead High School children will give a health parade December 10 in connection with the drive. Christmas Seals will be sold as the parade progresses. Those in charge of the campaign have pointed out that 80,000 Kentuckians have died from tuberculosis. Tuberculosis can be prevented and controlled and that is the reason for the Christmas Seal sale drive at this time each year.

Thirteen million Christmas Seals have been released in the State-wide crusade against tuberculosis. Kentucky is joining the nationwide fight against this great enemy, and it is urged that every community, group and family to have some part in spreading the message of health and good cheer over the entire state.

Tuberculosis is the greatest destroyer of life in the active period of life. Tuberculosis kills thousands of men, women and children every year, and has no regard for one station in life. Education is the greatest weapon in the fight against tuberculosis. The Kentucky Tuberculosis Association is the only state-wide organization dedicated to the fight against tuberculosis. The Christmas Seal spreads knowledge, creates interest and leads the way to safety from this dreaded disease.

Open your hearts, your homes and your communities to this harbinger of better health.

Tobacco Grading Demonstrations Set

Tobacco grading demonstrations which are to be held in Rowan County on November 29th and December 1st will be held on farms listed below in the time indicated. The following schedule will be noted from the one published last week. These changes are due to the fact that the one originally listed have or will have the 1937 crop graded before the demonstration date.

W. S. Shepherd's farm at Hilda, on Tuesday, November 30th, at 9:30 a. m. Leo W. Frayley's farm at Elliottville, on Tuesday, November 30th, at 1:30 p. m.

O. J. Clay's farm at Farmers, Wednesday, December 1st, at 9:30 a. m. John Jones' Farm (Myers Farm) on Wednesday, December 1st, at 9:30 a. m.

Tobacco producers in and near the communities where these demonstrations are to be held are invited to attend one of the demonstrations. Notices are being sent directly to many of these farmers by the County Agency's office.

ESTABLISHED PORTER BOUND OVER ON LIQUOR COUNT

Earl Porter of Elliott County, was bound over to Federal Court on charges of manufacturing and possessing illegal whiskey when he was arraigned here in the court of Rowan County Commissioner J. W. Riley.

Porter was arrested by Federal agents, who said they found a copper still and several gallons of moonshine in his farm.

BANKS AND SECURITY MARKETS

Efficient operation of the livestock exchange is essential to the American banking industry—an industry whose welfare is of the utmost moment to every citizen with a bank, a saving account, a home or any other stake in America.

Speaking at the annual convention of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, Frank R. Houston, President of the New York Bankers Association said the time ever comes when the stock market cannot function freely, it might stop functioning at all.

Recent drops in security values have been serious because of the surplus capital destroyed. They have been serious in that they have disclosed that the market today is dangerously thin.

What this means to banks, large and small, is clear. To quote Mr. Houston again, "When I say a broad market I mean one where the value of securities can be had in any reasonable volume in a reasonable time, whether in lots of 3,000 shares or more, as is sometimes the case when a bank has to sell for a customer."

Experts believe that the main reason for the present state of the market is excessively high margin requirements coupled with unnecessarily stringent regulations governing brokers and floor operators.

FIRE CONTROL IN RURAL AMERICA

On a comparative basis, fire occurs often in smaller communities than in larger cities. Figures compiled by the National Board of Fire Underwriters show that where 9.92 fires per 1,000 population occur in towns of 20,000-50,000 population, the rate drops to 4.29 in cities in the 250,000-500,000 bracket, and to 6 in metropolitan housing 500,000 more people.

The per capita fire loss in the 20,000-50,000 classification is $1.49, as against $1.36 in over 500,000 group. While statistics are not available for communities having less than 20,000 population, it is a logical supposition that both the number of fires per 1,000 people and the per capita loss are materially higher.

Fire waste is a grave problem to all the country—and it is more than ordinarily grave in our smaller cities, towns and villages. And in farms, where efficient fire-fighting equipment is often unobtainable, a fire that would be of small consequence in a well protected city may turn out to be a disaster.

Any community or district, no matter how small in population, can quickly and simply reduce its fire loss. Fire marshals can instruct citizens in the proper technique of inspecting property with a view to eliminating hazards, and literature is available on the subject.

One of the greatest tragedies of fire is that almost all fires are preventable.

CURRING ACCIDENT REPEATERS

Automobile accident repeaters can be cured. That is the gist of an article in Public Safety, by Edward L. Yardan, describing the results of a corrective system applied last year by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles in Massachusetts to 500 drivers selected as possessing the worst accident records in the Commonwealth.

in a number of accidents. One man, for instance, injured several pedestrians by striking them with the right side of his car. Tests showed a weakness in his right eye which was corrected with glasses. Another driver had his car rammed three times from the rear. Tests showed his brake reaction to be exceptionally fast and he was advised to watch out for the car in the rear when making sudden stops.

The facts speak for themselves. Enforced education can cure the great bulk of the drivers who are today responsible for major and minor accidents. In short, the cost to states and cities would be infinitesimal. Every motor vehicle department should be authorized by the legislature to adopt, as a consistent policy, some such corrective system as that experimented with in Massachusetts.

SAFETY EDUCATION: JOB NUMBER 1

The role of education in the efforts toward solution of the traffic accident problem, is ably discussed by Albert W. Whitney, consulting director of the National Conservation Bureau.

Mr. Whitney goes back to the early days of the industrial safety movement for an analogy which is vital to his discussion. He recalls that on the one hand there were those who believed that the only way to make industry safe was through the called property involving the cost to states and cities would be infinitesimal.

We now have a similar situation in the traffic field, Mr. Whitney says. "The state is in the same position as the employer, for the state cannot consistently insist on good driving and good pedestrianism."

As he says, "The people of the United States must be educated to an understanding of the fact that the traffic accident problem can be solved. If we have sufficient proof that solution is possible. If the man in the street can be educated to the belief that we do not have to have traffic accidents, the bulk of the traffic accident problem will be broken. To do this is educational job number one."

IN THIS SCREWY AGE

The government's left hand knows not what its right hand doeth. This seems to be the only possible deduction to be made from a series of recent events.

The Department of Agriculture has issued a sweeping complaint against a number of large meat packing firms, on the grounds that they have violated the anti-trust laws by conspiring to manipulate and control prices.

And at the last session of Congress a law was passed—the Miller-Tydings Act—which makes a farce of all anti-trust legislation so far as it applies to trade-related products in interstate commerce.

Prior-fixing with government blessing is very new in our national life, but the effects of it are already seen. In less than a year, representative products, including cosmetics, liquors and drugs, rose in price 4 to 15 per cent above the levels obtained before price-fixing was legalized.

So we legalize anti-trust law violations for some concerns, and at the same time we prosecute others for alleged law violations of the anti-trust laws! This curious situation will doubtless provide an interesting chapter for the scholars who will someday write the history of this screwy age.

FARM RELIEF AGAIN

Every one hopes that Congress will manage to create a sound "farm aid" plan during the special session. If past precedent is any arbiter, and giving our legislators all credit for their intentions and abilities, the odds are several hundred to one that in the future, as in the past, more good will come out of the things the farmer does for himself than those which are done for him by any political or other outside group.

During the past ten years, for example, we have had a number of farm relief measures. Every one of them wholly or partially a failure. During those same years, the farm cooperative marketing movement has been steadily going ahead—and one result of farm organization to stabilize production and markets is found in agriculture's near-record 1937 income. Self help is still the best help.

COMPETING WITH CHOPPS

Fort Peck dam on the Missouri River in Montana, is generally conceded to be the largest construction project ever undertaken by man—larger even than the great pyramid of the Egyptian pharaoh, Cheops. The $200,000,000 of public funds to be spent on it will ultimately result in a vast pile of dirt, ranging as high as 242 feet over the river bed and extending several miles of Montana prairie land. Behind this monumental upheaval will be created the "largest duck pond in the world."

Sunday School Lesson

Lesson For November 28

CHRISTIAN FRUITFULNESS

LESSON TEXT—John 15:1-16. GOLDEN TEXT—Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit; so shall ye be my disciples—John 15:8.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus' Ministry of Love.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Royalty of Love.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What May We Expect to Achieve?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Christians Become Fruitful.

"Thanksgiving day has just afforded each one of us a special opportunity to return praise to God for the fruitfulness of America's broad acres. It is appropriate that we think today of the Christian life as manifesting itself in the bearing of fruit."

Christian work of which we spoke last Sunday may—at least in a measure—be limited, but the fruit cannot be limited. It is the result of life and only those who know the new birth bear the fruit of Christianity.

The chapter before us is only a portion of Scripture which has been the peculiar favorite of God's children in all generations. It is at the center of our Lord's words with his disciples immediately before his death on the cross.

Many are the expositions of this passage, but a beautifully simple one which came to the writer from Dr. W. Graham Scroggie is suggested as most helpful.

Life results in fruit, and there can be no true fruit where there is no life. One who does not have the Father the keeper of the vine. We who are Christians are the branches abiding in him, that is, living our whole life in and for him in such close union with him that his life as the vine brings forth fruit in us as the branches. This is real Christian living.

But, alas, there are branches that seem to belong to the vine but they lack the one indispensable evidence of life which is the normal bearing of fruit. These the Father must take and cast away to be destroyed. While we must not read into these words more than they had intended, let us beware lest we explain away their serious import. These are grave words of warning to false professors of Christianity, but they are not spoken to distress and disparage true followers of Christ in us as the branches.

Fruit in the Christian is undoubtedly first of all fruit of character but that character is also to show in conduct. Note the progress—"fruit" (v. 2) "more fruit" (v. 2), "much fruit" (v. 5). In order to bear much more fruit there is need of pruning and cleansing (v. 2, 3). Pleasant? Not always, but always profitable. Let us thank God for even the pruned knife when its work is needed.

Do not miss the prayer promise in verse 7. It is an unqualified promise with a closely limited condition. Let us meet the condition and claim the promise.

II. Love And Friendship (vv. 9-16).

This is my commandment that ye love one another. In verse 10 we read that to abide in the love of Christ we must keep his commandments and now we learn that it is his commandment that we love another. We are not to await the impulse prompted by the beauty or kindness or popularity of someone, but we are to love one another. Many a Christian who has obeyed the commandments against stealing, adultery, and blasphemy has never noticed that he is commanded to love.

The joy of Christ was fulfilled on the eve of Calvary by the love of his disciples for one another and for him. He rejoices today when we love the brethren and love him, for he enters upon the beautiful relationship of friends.

Dr. Scroggie says, "We may be God's children without being his friends; the one is based on his gift of life to us; the other, upon our offering of love for him. Are you a friend of God? You cannot have God and the world for friends at the same time. The friendship of the world hates Christ, and therefore will not love you if you are like him." But, oh! the sweet intimacy of fellowship with him. Read verses 14 to 16. Chosen and appointed by him, for "he first loved us," we are not kept in the distant position of servants but are brought into his circle of friends—whom he shares the glorious secrets of his Father, and our Father. It is a great thing to be a Christian, a friend of the Saviour.

Note how closely his friendship is linked with assurance and power in prayer. Dr. Gray points out that "there is nothing in this sublime discourse of more practical value than what it teaches about prayer. See 14:13; 15:16; 16:23-27. To ask in Christ's name is as though He asked Himself with all the assurance of answer which such a fact implies. This is the privilege of the true believer who is thus a member of Christ's body and of His only, and it is a revelation of truth which Christ at no time had made known to his followers until now."

U. S. PURCHASING MORE CORK FROM PORTUGAL

During the first eight months of the current year Portugal exported 30,389,372 kilograms of cork shavings to the United States compared with 12,245,541 kilograms during the corresponding period of last year.

In addition to cork shavings the United States purchased a large amount of cork wood and cork stoppers.

Neutrality Act Bloc Encountered

Senate Deadlocked Over Roosevelt Commerce Proposal

The senate neutrality bloc consolidated its forces this week in a drive to force President Roosevelt to invoke the Neutrality act against China and Japan...

Senator Bone said that if the amendments are not reported soon it would attempt to make them riders to other legislation.

"We're going to bring them out," he said. "We're not even going to worry about the committee report."

Sale Of Timber Is Government Plan

Laurel County Tract Will Go To Highest Bidder This Month

Invitations to private operators to bid on Government-owned timber are being sent out today, was the announcement made by R. F. Hemingway, Supervisor of the Cumberland National Forest.

Timber will be sold on an area of about 1,229 acres located in Laurel County. Estimates made by Forest Service timber agents show that more than five million board feet of timber will be cut, including white oak and other species of oak, yellow poplar, pine and hemlock.

The successful bidder will be required to operate on the area in such a way as to assure the minimum of damage to the young growth now on the area and the minimum of waste from the trees removed.

In making timber sales the U. S. Forest Service does not consider the value of the timber crop alone, but much careful planning is done to determine the effects of the removal of the timber on the recreational value, as well as the values for watershed protection and game propagation.

Agreement Made In Labor Trouble

General Motors Plant To Re-open Monday, Executives Declare

Plans to start the wheels turning again in General Motors plants, closed to 14,721 employees in Michigan for six days because of a sit-down strike in the Fisher body division, were being rushed by officials of the automobile corporation.

After Homer Martin, youthful president of the United Automobile Workers Union, made a fervent plea to the 500 strikers this morning that brought an end to the strike, General Motors officials said that both the Fisher and Pontiac Motor Car Company plants would be reopened as soon as possible but not before next Monday.

Martin, tired and haggard from 24 sleepless hours attempting to coax the sit-downers to abandon their strike, made a successful plea after previous threats and promises brought no results. A little more than an hour after the U. A. W. president hurried to the Fisher plant for a surprise conference with the stubborn strikers he emerged from one of the gates with the cheering strikers behind him and announced to newspapermen and a large crowd:

"It's all over boys."

His announcement brought to an end a serious challenge to the Committee for Industrial Organization's ability to keep its members in check. It was the first real test of the U. A. W.'s power to prevent outlaw strikes and enforce discipline.

Shipments of leaf tobacco from Turkey during the first 7 months of 1937 amounted to 10,270,492 kilos, valued at 10,944,816 Turkish pounds.

LET'S MAKE CHRISTMAS MERRY IN KENTUCKY!

JUST among ourselves, let's remember that for thousands of our own Kentuckians this year, "Merry Christmas" will depend on Christmas trade. You can help make a Merry Christmas for Kentuckians this year by shopping first among home folks, in your own locality. If you can't find what you want, try a neighboring Kentucky town or city. Don't take your business outside the State. Too many Merry Christmases depend on it at home!
