MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's Academy of the Arts has received full membership status from the National Guild of Community Schools of the Arts (NGCSA).

Established in 1983, the Academy offers individualized and group instruction to people of all ages in the performing and visual arts and creative writing. Classes are taught on campus and at regional centers by professional artists.

The Academy also sponsors a Summer Chamber Music Celebration which drew 75 professional musicians from nine states and Canada to campus last year.

In his letter notifying Director Milford Kuhn of the Academy's new status, Azin Mayadas, NGCSA membership services consultant, said that the admissions committee "commented favorably on the all-round progress of the Academy under your leadership" and the guild looked forward "to its continued growth and development." MSU's Academy has held associate membership status since 1984.

"A strong arts program is a good indicator of a university's commitment to quality and MSU can take pride that the excellence of this community outreach program in the arts has been recognized by others in the field," said Dr. John C. Philley, dean of MSU's College of Arts and Sciences. "Milford Kuhn and those involved with this program are to be commended."

Currently serving approximately 150 students of the arts, the Academy has offered classes at regional centers in Greenup, Boyd, Fleming, Bath and Montgomery Counties as well as on campus.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky--Dr. Stuart Sprague, professor of history at Morehead State University, recently published a third book to aid genealogists seeking their Kentucky ancestors.

"Kentuckians in Illinois" is a listing of migrants who moved from Kentucky. Arranged in tabular form, the entries include such information as name and birthdates; parents' names, birthdates and birthplaces (if known), and also the date of migration. The book's index contains references to more than 10,000 people.

Dr. Sprague found his information in such sources as county histories and atlases and traced the indistinct trails left by these migrants. Using the same type of research, Dr. Sprague wrote the first two books in his Kentucky migrants series, "Kentuckians in Missouri" and "Kentuckians in Ohio and Indiana."

Dr. Sprague has been with the University since 1968. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Yale University and his doctorate degree from New York University.

A noted Kentucky historian, Dr. Sprague has published several books and many articles for newspapers, magazines and journals. A recipient of the 1985 "Distinguished Researcher Award," Dr. Sprague is known as a pioneer in Appalachian history.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--In celebration of Black History Month in February, WMKY (90.3 FM), public radio from Morehead State University, will present five half-hour programs focusing on the importance of the Black experience. The programs air at 3:30 p.m. Feb. 16-20.

The first four programs, a National Public Radio series called "Destination Freedom," highlight outstanding black figures of the nation. The final program is "Reflections of the Past: Kentucky's Black Heritage."

"Kentucky's Black Heritage" emphasizes the importance of documenting and preserving the experiences of black Kentuckians as a part of the state's history. The program features Dr. George C. Wright, a leader in the search for Kentucky's Black heritage, and highlights the stories of three individuals who live in Kentucky and who talked with Dr. Wright during his research. The program is a production of the University of Kentucky Office of Instructional Resources.

"Destination Freedom" is a series of dramatizations of the lives of black champions: Harriet Tubman, W.E.B. DuBois, Mary Church Terrell, and Denmark Vesey. Each dramatization is set at a critical time in the characters' lives, and explains their fight for freedom.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --A collection of works by Thomas Cornell, professor of art at Bowdoin College, will be on display in the gallery of the Claypool-Young Art Building at Morehead State University Feb. 19-March 6.

The artist will be in Morehead on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 3-4. At 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 3, he will present a formal lecture in Claypool-Young Art Building 111, which will be followed by a reception in the gallery. The next day from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., Cornell will show and discuss some of his drawings in CY 305. At 3 p.m., he will give a talk in the gallery.

The gallery of Claypool-Young Art Building is open Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The exhibit is a collection of drawings and prints done over the last 10 years. According to Cornell, their theme relates to his concern for the environment and the human figure in the environment.

"I try to draw the figures in balance, or harmony, with nature," Cornell said. The artist classifies his style as naturalistic-classicism and says that he often uses his art as a philosophical outlet or to present a social critique.

Cornell earned his bachelor's degree at Amherst College and did graduate study at Yale University. He has received several grants and has been included in major publications on American drawing.

He was elected to the National Academy of Design and is a member of the National Institute of Arts and Letters. Cornell recently was commissioned by John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company to do four oil paintings entitled, "The Four Ages of Man."

MOREHEAD, Ky. --- Morehead State University will honor its most successful coach here Wednesday night with the dedication of the Ellis T. Johnson Arena during halftime of the MSU-Marshall basketball game.

Johnson, a resident of Huntington, W. Va. and a native of Morehead, served as MSU's athletic director, head basketball coach and head football coach from 1936 to 1953. He later coached basketball at Marshall.

Naming of the 7,000-seat arena in Johnson's honor was approved by MSU's Board of Regents after being recommended by President A. D. Albright. Constructed six years ago, the arena is the largest facility within the University's $8 million Academic-Athletic Center.

"We are pleased to have this opportunity to recognize Coach Johnson's contributions to intercollegiate athletics at this institution and his pioneering role in the formation and development of the Ohio Valley Conference," said Dr. Albright. "It is most fitting that the dedication ceremony take place at an athletic contest involving the two institutions he served so ably."

MSU and Marshall compete in basketball each year for the Ellis T. Johnson Trophy.

Johnson's coaching record includes more victories in football, 54, and in basketball, 176, than any other coach in MSU's athletic history. In addition to being among the five founders of the Ohio Valley Conference, he also led MSU into the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

The retired coach is a member of the MSU, OVC and Kentucky athletic halls of fame. He earned high school basketball All-America honors at Ashland and repeated as a collegian at the University of Kentucky.

Coach Johnson and his wife, Myrtle, are expected to participate in the dedication program.

Feb. 21 will be declared "Phil Simms Day" throughout the state by Gov. Martha Layne Collins and the Louisville native also will be honored at other events during that week.

"We have been working closely with the governor's office and other interested parties to arrange an appropriate homecoming for this outstanding young man whose athletic achievements have brought distinction to his home town, his state and this University," Dr. Albright said.

He continued:

"The retirement of a uniform number is an exception in college athletics but we feel it is more than justified in this case because Phil Simms has demonstrated that he is an exceptional person, on and off the playing field."

Simms was first-round draft pick by the Giants in 1979 after rewriting most of MSU's passing records. He played earlier at Louisville Southern High School.

MOREHEAD, Ky--WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University, has named Ohio native Susan Westfall to the post of program director for the 50,000- watt regional station.

"My goal at WMKY is to help refine the programming and to help present the best possible air sound we can have," said Westfall.

The Kent State University graduate added that the program director's job was just the challenge she was looking for. "I enjoy going into a situation where there's a challenge to be met. WMKY is poised on the edge of tremendous growth and there are quality and interested people on the staff to help with the growth," she added.

"The overall format is a very good one. There are a lot of opportunities here for increased listenership and community involvement," she said.

WMKY General Manager Larry Netherton said that Westfall has held a variety of positions in public radio and at commercial stations as well. "Her experience in marketing is a valuable asset we hope to use at WMKY," he added.

Westfall has gained a great deal of her work experience in Kentucky, having held positions at WEKU-FM in Richmond and WKYU-FM/WDCL-FM in Bowling Green. "Even though I'm new to Morehead and to 90.3 FM, the transition has been easier because I feel comfortable in Kentucky," she said.

MSU HONORS COACH JOHNSON

Honoring its most successful coach, Morehead State University dedicated the Ellis T. Johnson Basketball Arena during halftime of the MSU-Marshall University basketball game. Johnson, a Morehead native now residing in Huntington, W.Va., was MSU's athletic director, head basketball coach and head football coach from 1936-1953. He later coached at Marshall. MSU President A.D. Albright, left, presented Johnson with a plaque commemorating the event as Mrs. Johnson, their son Kenner Johnson, Larry Dillon and Ralph "Buster" Cartee looked on. Cartee, an Olive Hill resident, played basketball under Johnson. The 7,000-seat arena is the largest facility in MSU's $8 million Academic-Athletic Center.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--High school seniors in Morehead State University's 22 county service region are reminded of the March 1 deadline for the University's first Constitutional Essay and Scholarship Competition.

"How Does the Separation of Powers Help Make the Constitution Work?" is the topic for the competition which is endorsed by the Kentucky Bicentennial Commission, according to Dr. William Green, MSU assistant professor of government and contest director.

"Students must submit their 1,000 to 1,500 word essays on this topic no later than March 1 in order to be eligible for the award." Dr. Green said.

The author of the winning essay will receive the MSU Constitutional Scholarship valued at $5,520 over four years along with a certificate and book on the Constitution.

The winner's sponsoring teacher will receive a certificate and the choice of free tuition for a three-hour course at MSU or a trip to the 1987 Kentucky Council for the Social Studies meeting.

Joining MSU in sponsoring the competition are the Kentucky Council for the Social Studies, Kentucky Historical Society, Kentucky Political Science Association and the Southern Social Studies Quarterly.

Additional information may be obtained from Dr. Green, Department of Geography, Government and History, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY., 40351, or by calling (606) 783-2128 or 783-2090.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will receive a half million dollars in private support over the next three years from the Ashland Oil Foundation, it was announced here today.

Representing the largest corporate gift in the University's history, the "Ashland Oil-Albright Grant" will be used to enhance several special programs and to stimulate other private giving to MSU.

William R. Seaton, vice chairman of the board and chief financial officer of Ashland Oil, Inc., made the presentation at a luncheon hosted by MSU's Board of Regents and attended by nearly 200 business, civic and educational leaders.

Seaton, a member of the MSU Regents, said of the grant:

"We believe it is critically important to support quality education in the Commonwealth and Morehead State University has played a major role in providing quality education to students in Eastern Kentucky. Given the initiative Morehead State University has shown in meeting the needs of its service area, I can think of no more deserving institution through which Ashland Oil can emphasize its commitment to quality education."

Of the decision to name the grant for MSU President A. D. Albright, Seaton stated:

"Because of his outstanding contributions to higher education in this state and to Morehead State University at perhaps the most critical time in its history, we are privileged to name this grant in honor of President Albright."

(MORE)

Ashland Oil

The grant will consist of $350,000 over three years to support scholarships for exceptional students, to enhance certain academic programs and to underwrite a series of distinguished lectures. The remaining $150,000 represents a challenge gift in three annual $50,000 increments which MSU will be required to match in new, unrestricted gifts.

Former Gov. Louie B. Nunn, chairman of MSU's Board of Regents, described the "Ashland Oil-Albright Grant" as "a tremendous vote of confidence in the future of Morehead State University."

Dr. Albright described the Ashland-based corporation as "Kentucky's largest and most generous corporate citizen with a long and proud history of benevolent support of education at all levels."

"With this announcement here today, Ashland Oil has propelled our fund raising program into a new and exciting period which holds great promise," Dr. Albright added. "The University is joining hands with its Foundation and Alumni Association and other friends to accept this challenge. We shall be forever grateful to Ashland Oil for giving us this golden opportunity to help ourselves."

Nunn and Albright paid tribute to Gov. Martha Layne Collins for her personal involvement in the University's recovery from a series of problems, including an enrollment decline and a leadership conflict. The governor appointed seven new Regents in January of 1986 and the board brought Dr. Albright to the campus last July 1.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Every year as April 15 draws nearer, American taxpayers scurry about looking for ways to minimize their annual contributions to Uncle Sam. With news of the federal government's new Tax Reform Act, 1987 brings an additional flurry of activity.

As a service to such taxpayers, WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University, offers the "1987 Radio Tax Clinic" on Sunday, March 1, at 3 p.m. This two-part American Public Radio program is a live national call-in that answers listeners' questions about federal taxes.

Hosted by Noah Adams, the Radio Tax Clinic has helped thousands of listeners around the country find ways through stacks of federal tax forms in the past.

The program features two Internal Revenue Service (IRS) regional experts and one private tax consultant. Via a toll-free number, listeners nationwide consult with these experts for answers that may save them both time and money.

While most information these days centers on the Tax Reform Act, the rules that affect taxes being filed this April 15 are the old rules, unchanged from previous years.

Virtually everyone's taxes are affected in some way by the new tax law which will also change how we pay taxes. Every employee in the country will probably need to fill out a new W-4 form - the so-called Employees Withholding Allowance Certificate.

Criticized by many as being incredibly complicated, however, the new W-4 may have to change again. The experts on the 1987 Radio Tax Clinic will have up-to-the-minute information on that issue.

The 1987 Radio Tax Clinic, produced by Frank Fitzmaurice, was made possible by funding from the Taxpayers Service Divisions of the Internal Revenue Service.

More information on WMKY's programming or on how to become a WMKY subscriber is available by calling (606) 783-2001.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Dr. Frederick A. Mueller, Morehead State University professor of music, has been honored by his colleagues across the state as the 1987 recipient of the Kentucky Music Educators Association "Teacher of the Year" Award for colleges and universities.

Dr. Mueller, a member of the faculty since 1967, received the award at the KMEA's recent in-service conference in Louisville.

The award is given at four levels to recognize excellence in teaching and service on the part of elementary, junior high, senior high and college music teachers, according to Dr. William M. Bigham, current KMEA president and MSU professor of music.

A composer and educator, Dr. Mueller is a frequent lecturer/teacher for summer music camps and has appeared with numerous symphony orchestras. He has received numerous awards and honors over the years for his work both as a teacher and as a composer, including the Kentucky Music Teachers Association's 1978 President's Award.

"We're extremely delighted that music educators around the Commonwealth have recognized that which we here at Morehead State have long known--Dr. Mueller is indeed an outstanding teacher," said Dr. Christopher Gallaher, chair of MSU's Department of Music. He added that Dr. Mueller had been nominated and recommended for the honor last fall by KMEA Region 8 members.

"Dr. Mueller deserves to be recognized for the excellent teaching skills he exemplifies to all of us," noted Dr. Bigham.

"I've always thought my job was in the classroom," said Dr. Mueller, whose specialities are music theory and composition. He also is an accomplished bassoon player and gives instruction to students on that instrument as well.

"I try to offer our students personal attention in whatever area of music they are studying," said the soft-spoken music teacher, who added that he finds teaching to be rewarding and fulfilling.

Before joining MSU's faculty in 1967, he taught for seven years at Spring Hill College in Alabama. He earned his Bachelor of Music degree in composition cum laude from the University of Houston, his Master of Music degree in composition from the University of Rochester Eastman School of Music, and his Doctor of Music in composition from Florida State University.
