JAMES ANDREW NICKELL PASSES AWAY AT HOME OF SON AT AGE OF 93; WAS OLD SETTLER AND

Uncle Jim Andy Was Oldest Inhabitant; Remembers First House.

James Andrew Nickell, called by his friends and neighbors, Uncle Jim Andy, died at the home of his son, James L. Nickell, on Monday morning of this week, following a serious illness of several weeks. Uncle Jim Andy was at the time of his death aged 93 years 11 months and 12 days. Funeral services were held at the home of his son on Tuesday afternoon at 1:30, conducted by Dr. G. H. Fern and Rev. T. F. Lyons. Burial was in Lee Cemetery.

James Andrew Nickell was born in Morehead, Kentucky on December 22, 1842 and has spent his entire life in this community. He was the son of Robert and Rachel Nickell.

On April 6, 1870 he was united in marriage to Hannah Harriet Rouse, who preceded his death on February 23, 1933. To this union were born five children, Hattie Manley and Tina Johnson, who preceded him in death several years; Mrs. Emma Keeton of Morehead, Ky., Mrs. Bessie Caudill of Ashland, and James Leslie Nickell of Morehead. He is also survived by several grand children and great grand children.

Many years ago Mr. Nickell united with the Christian Church and was baptized. Born almost 93 years ago, Uncle Jim Andy was unquestionably the oldest citizen of Morehead. At the time of his birth there was but one house in this community and city. As he grew to manhood, he became interested in both the civic and political life of the city and county and from 1904 to 1908 served the county as jailer. He was identified with the civic and business life of the community as well and years ago established the first Standard Oil Agency ever to be established in this city.

He was a long and useful life, esteemed by his friends and having no enemies. Relatives who were in Morehead attending the funeral services were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Caudill and daughter Mrs. Claude Hazlett and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Caudill, his sons, Mr. George K. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Delaney, C. B. Caudill, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keeton, all of Ashland; and Mrs. O. G. Carter of Irvine, Ky.

COLLEGE BOYS ADOPT ORPHAN: PROVIDE HIM OPPORTUNITY TO ATTEND SCHOOL

The following article from last week's Trail Blazer, is worthy of a place in any paper not necessarily from the content, but because it relates a human story of real value. The article was written by Sam Bradley, Jr.

"Useless" had come to college. Who wants him? Biting cold, Saturday night, a car full of college boys a ragamuffin. Strong, well-built stopped just out of town to pick up body, genial, if dirty face, long bushy hair, patched and torn overalls, and a man's suit-coat with sleeves rolled up—yes, it was a boy. Actually freezing, the youngster was glad to be taken along—to college.

This is the reason why the tender spot of Thompson Hall has been touched. As best they can, they have adopted the waif. Addington and Lake Varnay brought him to school—all the boys are sharing the responsibility. And their meat tickets, too! If he is homeless, where can he find a better home? Why not "meat" of Thompson Hall?"

"I want to go to school more than anything else," says "Useless," otherwise named Ulysses Grant Meade. He boys want him—girls, too—and, if he has no parents, they intend to keep him. The boys have given him

K. E. R. A. OPEN UNTIL WORK BROUGHT TO CLOSE

The K. E. R. A. office will remain open for part of the month of December to complete records. There is a possibility that the office will remain open longer if state or county funds are allotted for distribution among the needy. The office of the local unit has been cut to four.

Accident in Ashland

A truck and a truck badly damaged, and the truck and the two cars involved in an accident between here and Ashland Friday night. One car was out of gas and the other machine was being towed.

Accident in Ashland

The injured driver, a 21-year-old assistant dean of women, sprained ankle, minor cuts.

Two occupants of truck, shock and minor cuts. Mrs. Robinson was returning from Ashland when the accident occurred. The truck, it is alleged, rounded a curve on the wrong side of the road and struck the Robinson car which was being pushed by the Taylor car. Both cars and the truck, an empty coal conveyer owned by a Mr. Wilson of Georgetown, Ky., were considerably damaged.

WILL ROGERS MEMORIAL FUND TO BE RAISED HERE

Funds are being collected for the Will Rogers Memorial Fund, proceeds of which are to be used for the purpose of erecting a suitable memorial for the eminent comedian who met his death in an airplane accident a few months ago.

Any who care to make a small contribution to this fund, may do so by leaving the amount at either the Citizens Bank or with Dr. T. A. E. Evans. Sums in any amount are acceptable.

JEAN BLAIR PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY SUNDAY EVENING OF 'HEART ATTACK'

Mrs. Luster Blair of this city, died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Penix on Sunday night of this week, following a heart attack, which was the first as she was entering the Penix home to attend a gathering of friends. The death of Jean coming so suddenly was a distinct shock not only to the parents and family, but to the entire community.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Christian Church of which she was a member, and burial was made in Lee Cemetery. Jean Blair was at the time of her death aged sixteen years having been born on November 2, 1919. She was the daughter of L. E. Blair and Mrs. Mayme Blair. She is survived by her parents and by two brothers, Harold Blair and J. Warren Blair, as well as by a host of friends.

Miss Jean who was a sophomore in the Rowan County High School, has been an invalid for the past few years she has however been able to get about better and it was hoped that she would continue to show improvement.

At the time she was stricken, she was accompanied by Camden Young and her brother, J. Warren.

Friends of the family offer their utmost sympathy to the bereaved.

AT END MEET OF ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Inez Faith Humphrey, head of the Home English department; Mrs. Mildred Silver, critic teacher in the evening school; Bettie Robinson, instructor in English; Anna Jane Day, teacher of English in the city high school, and Mrs. Lottie Nickel attended a meeting of the National Council of the Teachers of English, in Indianapolis, Indiana last week.

Growers Receive Allotment Cards

Allotment cards for Rowan County Tobacco contract signers have been prepared at the County Agent's office. A considerable number of local farmers have obtained their cards and have delivered their tobacco to the tobacco markets. The cards are required by the tax-collectors on the markets so that they may issue tax-payment warrants. Farmers who have not signed contracts are required to pay the Kentucky tax on all tobacco sold. Producers who have not obtained allotment cards may get them at the County Agent's office by applying for them personally.

The quality of tobacco produced in Rowan County is higher than in 1934 and early reports from the market indicate that the crop is weighing somewhat heavier than was expected.

Tobacco contracts for 1936 to 1939, inclusive, will be prepared at once and will be ready for producers signature by January 1st. The new contracts in general will be similar to the 1934-35 contracts.

Many WPA Jobs Are Allotted Here

BULLETIN

Recently approved WPA projects for Rowan county, as announced yesterday include the following: Morehead—improve streets, Federal funds, $15,000; renovate City Hall, Federal funds, $5000; construct 2,700 feet of sidewalks, Federal funds, $3,240. All these projects are in and for the city of Morehead, and were submitted some time ago by members of the city council.

Two additional projects which will employ approximately 100 men have been approved for Rowan County by the Works Progress Administration. A garage for the County will be constructed. Construction will begin as soon as possible. About 40 men will be used.

The grounds around the new college power plant will be landscaped and beautified as soon as the building is completed. This work will probably employ about 60 men.

At the present time, approximately 600 men are at work under the W. P. A. in Rowan and Elliott County. Each county has about an equal number. The district office for the two counties is located in Morehead.

County Board In Last Meet Of Year

The Rowan County Board of Education instructed H. H. Lacey, board treasurer, to prepare and publish a financial statement for the fiscal year 1934-1935 at the regular meeting Monday, December 2nd. The Board met the first Monday in each month.

O. J. Clay, Razor, was appointed sub district trustee for the unexpired term of Ruby Ralston.

The Board decided to renew all insurance policies on school property in the county. Agents and companies who insure the county schools are L. E. Blair, C. B. Lane, D. B. Caudill, Ted Crosswathine, Tom Hall, and the Miller Insurance Agency.

Ted Crosswathine, substitute visiting teacher, resigned his position effective December 13. No other appointments for the remainder of the school term will be made.

Approximately 50 claims for wood and coal were allowed. Teachers salaries for the fourth month were also allowed.

The National Youth Administration has recently approved a project in the county which will permit approximately 60 students in the county schools, between the ages of 16 and 25, to earn six dollars a month. They will assist teachers and do other work around the school. They must work 20 hours a month.

Athletic "Burgoo" Served At College

"Athletic Burgoo" is to be presented at Morehead College next week. The physical education department for women will present a program of sports activities on Thursday, December 12 from 3 to 4:30. There will be demonstrations of the various physical education activities offered by the department during the year, the majority of which will be presented by members of the various classes. The guest artists who will assist include Earl Mays and Ruth Marjon Holbrook of Morehead and Casper Bore of Indiana, a student at the College.

The program includes a variety of individual and group activities such as tap dances, folk dances, and various land and water sports. The department of education for women extend a cordial invitation to all residents of Morehead to attend the "Burgoo."

Hicks Held In Jail; No Bond

The alleged murderer of two Catholic nuns, Arthur Hicks, is still in the county jail. He has been unable to meet his bond of $10,000 set by County Judge C. E. Jennings and will remain under the March term of the circuit court.

Jack Swin and a son of John Swin are held in the county jail in connection with the burning of a barn belonging to Charlie Smith, Thanksgiving night. Bloodhounds were used to track down Jack Swin.

The district office for the two counties is located in Morehead.

With the annual Christmas Seal Sale getting under way last week, under the auspices of the Morehead Womens Club, the fund is already growing in a way that is decidedly pleasing to those in charge of the drive. The opening of the campaign, took place last Wednesday and Thursday, with a sponsored show at the Cozy Theatre, at which the club netted the sum of $20.00 for their

The meeting will be held at the court house, according to the announcement. The meeting is being called for the purpose of discussing adjustment service for all disabled veterans and for a discussion of the attitude of the service men on the bonus question.

Man Nominated To Be At Inauguration

Plans for making arrangements for the inauguration of Governor A. B. Chandler to be held in Frankfort on next Tuesday are being made at present. A great many citizens have signified their intention of attending the inaugural and many of them are seeking ways to go. Arrangements are in charge of C. B. Daugherty and Mike Flood. Anyone who intends to go and take his car is requested to get in touch with either one of them and register their car. If you will have room to take one you are also requested to let them know. Everyone who plans on going is requested to let either Mr. Flood or Daugherty know, so that, so far as possible, you may be assigned to vacant places in the cars. It should be understood that everyone who goes should expect to finance their own way.

Many of the property owners have taken advantage of the opportunity to provide themselves with Home Loans from the Home Loan Corporation, having made applications at the time in case they later suit in the courts as they did.

Jesse Stuart At College On Monday

Jesse Stuart, author of the "Man with the Bull-Tongue Pipe," spoke to the students of Morehead State Teachers College at convocation period, December 2. His subject was "The Portrayal of Life through Poetry."

"What a writer produces comes from his background," the six-foot two hundred pound poet stated. He gave his own background and told of the various things that had influenced him.

T. B. SEAL SALE MAKING RAPID PROGRESS AS CLUBS GET BEHIND GREAT MOVEMENT

With the annual Christmas Seal Sale getting under way last week, under the auspices of the Morehead Womens Club, the fund is already growing in a way that is decidedly pleasing to those in charge of the drive. The opening of the campaign, took place last Wednesday and Thursday, with a sponsored show at the Cozy Theatre, at which the club netted the sum of $20.00 for their in carrying on the great work started several years ago. Each school is responsible for the sale of a certain number of seals and teachers and pupils are working hard to reach their goal before the close of the Seal campaign, which ends on Christmas Day.

The Morehead Public school has been allotted $15.00 worth of seals which they have agreed to sell before the closing date. The Breckinridge Training School has accepted the responsibility for the sale of $50.00 worth of seals. Members of the Morehead club are responsible for the sale of $2.00 each. The Rowan County Club are being responsible for $18.00 worth of stamps. Other agencies are also at work to make this the greatest Christmas Seal year in history.

Everyone uses Christmas Seal during this next month. The T. B. Christmas Seal costs no more than ordinary seals and hardly as much, and yet every penny spent for these seals is a gold mine to some poor sufferer from the dread disease that takes a toll of hundreds of lives every year.

Every citizen of Morehead who has not already a few of these Decision By Judge Hanna Gives Judgement To City In Paving Cases.

A recent decision was handed down by Judge Hanna, special judge appointed to hear the paving suits brought by the city against the property owners to recover the cost of the paving done several years ago by Kneffle's Brothers, in which Judge Hanna found for the plaintiff and decided that all property owners must pay the paving taxes.

The decision was made in a test suit on the property of Mrs. Maude Peters and it was the agreement of the attorneys for both plaintiff and the defense that the ruling made in this case would apply to all other cases in the suit. Judge Willis of Ashland was attorney for the defense which held in the test case as in all others that the cost of the paving was in excess of the value of half the property and that according to law it could not be collected.

The ruling was one of vast importance to the property owners of this community, as a great many of them were involved in the suit. Judge Hanna's ruling makes it necessary for all these property owners to pay the paving tax assessed, for the city will be forced to offer the properties for sale.

Many of the property owners have taken advantage of the opportunity to provide themselves with Home Loans from the Home Loan Corporation, having made applications at the time in case they later suit in the courts as they did.

It is not known at this time what course the property owners will pursue in the future, as there remains but one avenue for them to take, appeal to the Court of Appeals in the hopes of reversing the decision of the lower court.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS

No more pleasant duty falls to THE ROWAN COUNTY NEWS than to direct attention to the annual Christmas seals sale. On the success of this depends in a large measure the success of the fight against tuberculosis.

Since 1905 the Association has been making this fight and the means to make it come mainly from the sale of the seals. The association emphasizes that although progress has been made in the fight, "tuberculosis is still the greatest cause of death in this country between the ages of 15 and 45. The annual toll is approximately 70,000 men, women and children—more than twice as many persons as are killed in automobile accidents. One and one-half times as many young women as young men between the ages of 15 and 24 are victims. It causes an annual economic loss to the nation of nearly one billion dollars."

But the disease is curable and preventable. Teaching how it may be cured and prevented is the object of the association. Purchase of the Christmas seals will help effect this program during the coming year: An open air health school for twenty-five frail underweight children; health examination clinics in industrial plants; child health conferences for babies and pre-school children; a health education program in the parochial schools; an early diagnosis campaign; a continuous educational program for the promotion of health and the prevention of tuberculosis.

A modest expenditure for these seals undoubtedly will aid in a great work.

SAFE TOYS URGED

As the Christmas season approaches a timely warning against dangerous toys is sounded by Dr. Morris Fishbein, the well known health authority, who declares that with the almost unlimited numbers of safe toys available, it is entirely unnecessary to provide any other kind for the child's amusement. For babies, he recommends toys that have reasonable smooth surfaces to prevent the collection of dirt, and they should be washable. Dolls and toy animals with much hair collect dirt and germs, and are therefore dangerous for small tots.

Toys which have sharp protruding edges or corners which may cut the flesh are also to be guarded against. Those which shoot projectiles that may inflict wounds are generally unsafe. Particular consideration should be given from danger.

Aside from their value as playthings, well selected toys may have a great effect on the child's development. In this category come building blocks, erector sets, and other toys which may aid in interesting the child in practical mechanics. For larger boys the desirability of sets of tools is evident, but in the hands of very small children they are only implements of destruction.

It might be added that electric trains and a vast number of novel mechanical toys afford father almost as much amusement as they give the kids.

A Harvard professor says, "It is egregious occurmentism to postulate that synecopation in harmonization has an immoral connotation." The Washington Post comes to the rescue by translating the professor's dictum to mean that jazz won't hurt one's morals, if any.

Mayor E. J. Kelly of Chicago suggests a national law to restrict the speed of pleasure cars to 50 miles an hour. The only way to really restrict speed would be to make cars incapable of going more than the prescribed limit. And with a fool at the steering wheel a car going 25 miles an hour is a menace.

J. N. (Ding) Darling, famed cartoonist, has resigned as chief of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey. With a hot campaign coming on, the veteran artist probably could not bear the thought of keeping out of it. He is a Republican.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written Each Week By Rev. B. H. Kasse.

SUBJECT: Nehemiah Rebuilding the Wall of Jerusalem. Neh. 4:1-9, 15-21.
GOLDEN TEXT: The people had a mind to work. Neh. 4:6.
 The Temple of Jerusalem has been rebuilt, the worship restored, and Ezra has taught the people the Scriptures again. It is a period of advancement for the Israelites. But the Persians did not want them to become too independent. Hence, the rebuilding of the walls had not been encouraged, since it would fortify the city and place them no longer at the mercies of the Samaritans, Philistines and other tribes.
 About 444 B. C. Nehemiah heard of the desolate conditions. He was the king's cupbearer, and through visitors to the king he had heard of the destruction of the walls and gates of the Jerusalem. It made him sad, and the king inquired of his sorrow. He poured out his heart to the king who responded generously to his desires. With a royal guard and with letters to the various rulers along the way Nehemiah proceeds to the Holy City. For three days he remained quietly in the city. During the night he went out with the few inmates of his guard to survey the grounds and make plans. Then he called the leaders of the people together and revealed his plans to them.

 Immediately opposition began. Sanballat, Tobiah and Geshem, Jew haters, and Jeconiah of the synagogue for Jews, decided at first to the devil start his opposition. Nehemiah reminds them that the "God of Heaven" is with him, and so the work begins.

"So we built the wall," says Nehemiah, "for the people had in mind to work." Sanballat and his gang at once were angry, and sought to come against Jerusalem to fight Nehemiah say, "But we made prayer unto our God, and set a watch against them day and night." "Watch and pray," is the New Testament version of this. So God defeated the enemy's purposes, and the Jews went back to work.
 But from this time forth they worked only half of the workmen at a time while the other half stood watch with spears, shields, and bows and coats of mail. The workers had swords girded upon them. The trumpet sounded by Nehemiah. The plan was that when the trumpet sounded the approach of the enemy, all were together in one place. But the power of Israel was enough the organization and might of the people. "For God will fight for us." Thus the work went on under God.
 Did the opposition of the enemy cease? Never. Time after time they sought to fight him. From open warfare he resorted to trickery. He tried to get Nehemiah to come out to a big conference. Satan, when he is in his onslaught, will try to draw us into some great meeting where world problems are to be solved. It will usually prove our undoing. Nehemiah's tactful and true, eluded the traps. Barbed and fear both failed to work.

In fifty-two days the wall was complete. Thus we may accomplish mighty ends if we pursue them with might and in the fear of the Lord. It is not ours to conquer the enemy; we are unable to do that. But Christ has already conquered him, and we are to look to Christ. With His protection we march in faith, giving out attention to that which God has as

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

LAWYERS, I always figured have about the hardest jobs of anybody. They've got to make crooks look like honest guys, in spite of the crooks themselves. Why, one day I understood that this poor fellow carried all the evidence generally carries all the evidence against the crooks of it. Look at the lawyer and convict. The poor lawyer ain't got a chance. Still, he makes a fight, and he generally wins.

The lawyer had a thief for a client one day, and he was trying to tell the jury that the guy wasn't guilty, and that anyway it wasn't much of a crime.

"Gentlemen," he says, "I hope you all understand that this poor fellow ain't charged with running off with a church or anything like that. It's a simple burglary he is accused of."
 The chief got sore at being belittled that way, and he was trying to bawls his lawyer out.
 "Simple burglary, hey? I'd like to see you do it, or any of these routs on the jury! With the windows down all locked, and the door in the old way, and the

Campus Club Admits Six New Members

The Campus Club, men's honorary organization, held a very important meeting Monday evening in the Administration Building. Six new members were formally taken into the club. The new members who had previously been initiated were Lawrence Carter, Paul Young, Luke Varney, Ed Bell, Bruce Henderson, and Irvin Tripp.

A committee with Paul Young as chairman, was selected to compose a club song. Proposals for new members were discussed.

The club also considered further their program of merchant aid for football players. They plan to get good athletes to come to Morehead and to arrange for them to work their way through school.

MUSIC GROUPS

The music department made numerous recordings Thursday when a representative of the Fairchild Record Corp. was in Morehead. The Concert Band recorded the "Viking" and "Carrollton" marches by King, Massenet's "Prelude," and two school songs.

The orchestra recorded the first movement of Mozart's G Minor Symphony, and "Valse Triste" by Sibelius. The Sight Singing I class recorded two anthems, and the string quartet made records of Beethoven's Quartet and several other numbers.

Private recordings were made by Lewis H. Horton, baritone, head of the music department; George Rachford, tenor; Keith Davis, violin, and Ralph Schwartz, marimba.

DEMONSTRATION DEC. 12

The Women's department of physical education is planning to hold an open house demonstration of the activities being taught this semester. The program will include folk and tap dances and land and water sports. The event will be held on December 12, from 3:00 to 4:30 P. M. The campus and townspeople are cordially invited to attend this demonstration.

CLASS VISITS CLEARFIELD

The class in "Community Hygiene" visited the Lee Clay Protectors Co., at Clearfield, to get an idea of the conditions that confront the workers. Health habits was the item that they were interested in. They tried to find out the methods of eliminating dust, correct lighting, and heat.

MISS CLAYPOOL SPEAKS

Naomi Claypool, art department head, gave an illustrated lecture on "The Vatican" at a meeting of the Young County Women's Club in Marysville, Monday afternoon, November 25.

The art department of the club gave a luncheon for Mrs. Claypool at noon on Monday. Opal Moore, former Morehead student, is chairman of the program committee of the art department.

Mrs. Claypool reported the Mason County Club to be highly organized and very active. She expressed her appreciation of the hospitality extended her by the art department of the club in mentioning a course that was presented to her at the luncheon.

HOGGE AND DEAN TALK

The Lloyd Debate Club met Tuesday evening for their regular monthly session. A mixed and interesting program was given.

Earl Dean spoke on "The History and Purpose of the Club" and Elijah Hogge gave a vivid description of the Rowan County feud. Suzanne Langley did several vocal numbers.

D. A. Y. Lloyd, head of the history department and sponsor of the organization, was unable to be present on account of illness.

BETA ZETA CLUB MEETS

"Art and Biology" was the topic of an illustrated talk given by Ralph M. Hudson, art instructor, at a meeting of Beta Zeta, biology club, held in the biology laboratory Wednesday evening, November 27.

Paul Hayes, club president, presided at the meeting.

ENGLISH BROADCAST

The English department will broadcast a "Mark Twain" program over WCMJ, Ashland, this afternoon at 2:30 Central Standard Time. The program was arranged by Inez Faith Humphrey, head of the English department.

The broadcast was scheduled for Saturday due to a conflict at the usual 2:30 period Thursday.

Scottie Hankins, former student, and Paul Holman, will take part in a dramatization of a part of the life of the noted author.

L. H. Horton, who has charge of the broadcast series, will accompany the participants and assist in the program.

TROEMEL ELECTED

The Kentucky Health and Physical Education Association has adopted a new method of meetings. The old form has been cast aside and the new one, that of dividing the state into sections has been adopted.

The new method has been adopted in an effort to contact more people in the field.

Rowan County is a member of the Eastern District, and Ernestine Troemel has been selected as the chairman of the district, which is composed of fifteen counties.

The annual state meeting will be held in Louisville, Ky., at the Brown Hotel, on December 7. Dr. W. W. Patty of Indiana University, and Mr. Quincy of Berea College, will be the principal speakers.

At Convocation Period

Music Program Heard

The Music Department gave a varied program of classical and semi-classical numbers at the chapel program Monday.

The string quintet, composed of K. P. Davis, Virginia and Evelyn Harpham, Christine Flaw, and William Toran, played "Spanish Dance, No. 1" by Moszkowitz and La Zingara" by Carl Bohm.

The Junior High School Boys' Glee Club, directed by M. E. George, sang "Who's that Calling," arranged by Laureer.

Brahms' "Hungarian Dance" was played in a piano duet by Marie Schaefer, Young and Virginia Caudill.

The Junior High School Girls Glee Club of the Training School, directed by Keith Davis, sang two selections, "Pale Moon" by Logan and "Old King Cole" by Forsythe.

Virginia Caudill and Jane Scott played a piano duet, "Military Polonaise."

Lewis Henry Horton's arrangement of "Morehead School of Gold and Blue" by the Foster Choral Club concluded the program.

You Ready?

ARE you ready for the oyster season? September is the month when these succulent bivalves are once more eaten with avidity all along our coasts. We have never met a real oyster lover who would admit that he had had enough oysters at any one sitting, and that is why we counsel an early start.

Check out Oyster Pie: Make a sauce of two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, the oyster liquor from a source can and one and a fourth cups this cream or top milk. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add the oysters, the contents of a source can, chicken and one-half cup cooked diced celery, and pour into individual ramekins. Cut rounds of toast large enough to cover top, place one on top of each, and sprinkle with grated cheese. Place under broiler flame until cheese is melted and bubbly. Serves eight.

Getting a Job and Getting Ahead

By Floyd B. Foster. Vocational Counselor. International Correspondence Schools. Advertising What You Have To Sell

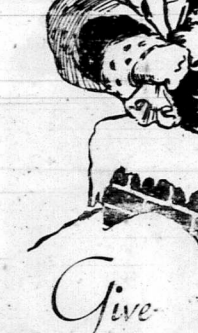

A YOUNG man living in one of the smaller cities recently decided to insert an advertisement in the daily newspaper in an effort to obtain a position. Some of his friends told him he was crazy. Jobs were scarce as hen's teeth. Employers weren't going to bother to write or telephone prospective employees, even if they had a job open. Within a week the young man had a job, and some of those who had prophesied failure most loudly were wondering why they hadn't thought of the same thing. It's doubtful, though, if they realized the real secret of his success, for he had used his ad to sell himself and his services just exactly as a manufacturer of grocery products or automobiles use advertising to sell his products. Before the young man wrote, and he set down and studied his product—which in this case was himself—and what he could do. Instead of thinking of what a job would mean to him he thought of what he might mean to the man who employed him. Then he used his ad to tell the prospective employer what he had to offer as an employee, and why he would be an asset to the business. He is looking for a job no more. It is more important than to put yourself in the place of an employer. His first thought is, "What can I do? What have you got to sell me for the price I can pay you?" Answer those questions in a fashion which will convince the employer that he is getting a bargain and there is every chance that the job will be yours.

Training School Gives One-Act Plays

The ninth and tenth grades of the training school presented three one-act plays at a special Thanksgiving convocation on Wednesday morning. The first two plays were written by training school students, and Mrs. Mitchell, teacher in the training school, wrote the last one.

"The Wise Decision" by Karlene Vencill, Mary Aikins, and Robert Barner, opened the program. The cast included the authors, H. T. Hamlin, and Milton Caudill, Elizabeth Justice directed and Billy Black acted as stage manager.

Coach Announces Tentative Schedule

Arrangement of Morehead's grid schedule for 1938 is already underway. According to Coach G. D. Downing, Georgetown has definitely been booked to appear here October 11, and tentative plans have been made to meet Transy at Lexington, October 17.

The schedule, which will probably include Union, Eastern, Louisville, and Western or Murray, will be completed at a meeting of coaches and officials of the K. I. A. C. in Louisville, December seventh. The K. I. A. C. is the Kentucky branch of the S. I. A. A.

The frosh will play Transy, Georgetown, Centre, U. of K. and wind up with the latest foe, Eastern.

Frosh Down C. C. C.'s In Season's First Tilt

The Morehead froshmen opened their basketball season last Saturday night with a 71 to 6 victory over the boys from the C. C. C. camp. The frosh completely outclass the government boys and had the situation well in hand by the first half, leading at that time 25 to 0.

Coach Scroggins used fifteen men or three complete teams in the game. Arnsen was high point man with 10 points while Horton and Hoffstetter averaged 8 apiece.

The game was a rough and tumble affair in the last half and players were not forced to leave the game on account of fouls.

Eagles Will Meet Rio Grande Dec. 12

The Eagle basketball team will meet the Reds of Rio Grande Junior College in the college gymnasium tonight. The Ohioans were originally scheduled to meet the Eagles Wednesday night, but due to the fact that Rio Grande is a junior college, it was decided that they would be a better foe for the frosh.

The frosh after mauling a weak team from the C. C. C. camp last Saturday, will have a real test when they meet the Reds. While little is known of the strength of the Rio Grande team, they will in all probability have a strong team.

The frosh looked pretty good in their initial game and Coach Scroggins has three complete teams which work smoothly together.

Kiser, Arnsen, Gastly, Peebles, Linnell, Norman, Smith, Thornton, Huston, Noosely, and Wilson were all stars during their high school careers and form the backbone for a real team. All of these men will probably see action on tonight's game.

CLUB PRESENTS CHRISTMAS BAZAAR

The "Christmas Bazaar," a concert-opera by Joe Hartman and Harold Wansborough will be presented by the Glee Club, Thursday evening December twentieth, at 7:30.

The scene is laid at a Christmas charity bazaar given by the leading organizations of the city of Bannerville.

The cast is as follows: Billy Carrista — Joe Williams Lubie Reiner — Mildred Haney Tottie Baines — Jeanette Hall Meta Hopeworth — Ethel Robinson Mrs. McAllister Rammer — Della Crager

Arts Cherry — Mildred Black Jessie Akers — Julia Stanley Roscoe Rammer — Harold Prather Poodle Neely — Paul Reynolds Abel Stowe (Crickety) — Alpha Hutchinson.

Mrs. Hopeworth — Ida O. McDaniel Mike Brophy — Murrel Hall Cynthia Ellerton — Hattie Caudill and a chorus of skippers, elves, fairies, etc.

The operetta is given under the direction of Norma Powers and Marie Howard, Glee Club sponsors.

Lighten Their Climb Back to Health—Buy Christmas Seals!

Varsity To Open With Holbrook

The varsity basketballers of the college will open their season with Alfred Holbrook, here, Thursday, December 12. This, the first scheduled game for the Eagles, will probably be their only game before the Christmas holidays.

The varsity squad started practice Monday and should be in fair shape for the encounter. It is probable that Holbrook will have the edge as far as practice is concerned, but the Morehead squad should be more experienced.

Morehead defeated Holbrook in the season's opener last year by a 20 to 17 count, but only when Parsley sank two field goals in the last three minutes of play.

Shesey, Ryan, Rowson, Francis, and Parsley, all of whom saw service in the state tournament last year, will probably do most of the work for the Eagles. They will be reinforced by Carter, McKeehin, Peirce and Mitchell from last year's frosh team.

Breck Will Play First Game Next Week

The Breckinridge Training School basketball team is scheduled to meet Frenchburg High School sometime next week. No definite date for the game has been set.

Coach Bob Laughlin has a wealth of material and should turn out a good team. Men who are out for the team are Babb, Frichard, Long, Daugherty, Tatum, Davis, Goodman, Allen, Crosthwaite, Carr, Fraley, Holbrook, Elam, and Miller. The team will have approximately three weeks practice before their opener.

Music Department Head Writes Book

L. H. Horton, head of the M. S. T. C. music department, and nationally known for his choral arrangements and compositions, is the author of a text book for beginning choruses, the "A Cappella Primer," which was recently published by the Willis Music Company of Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Primer was written primarily for teaching choral singing in rural high schools, and is conceded by critics to be one of the best books yet written on the subject.

Mr. Horton has written several other books and is director of the Foster Choral Club and the Civic Chorus.

Vikings Back For Basketball Season

Morehead High School Vikings, while failing to finish their football season playing but two games, were unanimously admitted to the EKAY Conference at a meeting held in Ashland on Monday night of this week. Morehead was represented by Coach Austin Kiddle and principal D. D. Caudill. Hereafter, however, the conference voted that any member of the conference to retain its place must remain in the sport of the season until it has made a conference rating, in order to be credited with a season in the sport.

In the EKAY race this season, Olive Hill and Catlettsburg were voted Champions in football, as the two teams were both undefeated in the season's play. Three Olive Hill, two Catlettsburg, two Raceland, two Louisa, one Greenup and one Russell player were voted on the All Conference team.

Southern Methodist To Be At Rose Bowl

Southern Methodist University and Stanford University will meet in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day to decide the supremacy of the football world. Stanford had the outstanding team on the coast and S. M. has an untarnished slate and a 29 to 14 win over T. C. U., heretofore unbeaten. Of course there are other outstanding teams in the country which lay claim to the mythical title of American champion. The two greatest of these teams are Minnesota and Princeton, both teams having perfect slates. L. S. U., winner of the Southeastern Conference, will meet some team from the north in the Sugar Bowl Tournament at New Orleans on New Year's. The Louisiana boys lost one game, an opener to Rice 10 to 8, and will furnish tough competition for any team from the north.

Mark Twain, Another Zephyr Train Of Stainless Steel, Makes Its Debut

The Mark Twain, a high-speed stainless steel electric train, made its debut on the Burlington's fourth stainless steel train, which was built after the railroad had demonstrated the safe, reliable and economy of light weight construction in the operation of its three Zephyrs which have averaged under 24 cents a mile, less than half the cost of operation of the older, heavier steam trains.

The name Mark Twain was selected because the train will run through Hannibal, Mo., heretofore some of the famous aviators whose one hundredth anniversary will be observed November 20. One of the three Zephyrs which has been named Mark Twain and the other Tom Sawyer, after characters in Twain's books.

Outbreak of rabies in the state has brought another plea from the department of animal pathology...

Dogs are considered the principal way in which rabies are spread and their vaccination or confinement would in a large measure control the disease.

Medical Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of menstrual pains as monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Howard W. Hunt of Halvick, Texas, describes.

dog that is worth owning is worth the trouble and expense of inoculation against hydrophobia, says the statement.

Heads of animals suspected of having rabies should be sent to the Public Service Laboratories at the Experiment Station at Lexington or to the State Board of Health, Louisville.

So far this year 228 heads of animals have been examined at the Public Service Laboratories at Lexington. Of this number, 167, including 142 heads of dogs were found to be infected with rabies.

Last year, a total of 239 heads were examined at the Public Service Laboratories, of which 114 were found to have rabies.

Two children in the state have died of rabies this fall, and a large number of animals have had the disease, according to reports to the Experiment Station.

Finds Outlet for Love of Sea In Inland Pennsylvania City

Former Officer in Swedish and Argentine Navies Aids U. S. Navy League and Sea Scouts

SERVICE in the navies of two nations, involuntary participation in a South American revolution, and fifteen years as a navigating officer on merchant vessels, all contribute to a series of stirring chapters in the career of Captain E. K. Roden, organizer of the U. S. Navy League at the inland city of Scranton, Pennsylvania, and of a Sea Scout Base on a nearby body of water.

Barriadas were thrown up in the streets of Buenos Aires. Two days of indestructible street fighting followed, but the navy and a number of regiments of the regular army went over to the insurgents.

Captain E. K. Roden

From Sweden and the Argentine to his present position as Director of the School of Navigation of the International Correspondence Schools at Scranton, Pennsylvania, is a long sweep, but Captain Roden's love of the sea has led him both to his work as a teacher of navigation and to his Navy League and Sea Scout activities.

FARM AND HOME

Meat from this hog is often tough and lacking in flavor, while high-class cured pork cannot be produced from over fat animals.

For laying hens, ground limestone is usually cheaper than oyster-shell and quite as efficient as a source of shell-forming material.

Cold, wet weather will reduce milk production, unless the cows have access to barns and extra feed.

Turkeys may bring a good price even after Thanksgiving, and unfresh birds should not be pushed on market.

EARLY SEED CORN

Early selection of seed corn to avoid injury from freezing is suggested in a statement from the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Much of the corn crop, made up of late maturing varieties, is damaged by frost.

It is suggested that seed corn be selected and dried out by artificial fire, basements or other places, if heat in tobacco stripping rooms, if any, be strung on binder twine or suspended in some way so it will dry to advantage.

FARM LIFE LONGER

To average life expectancy of the farmer is four or five years longer than that of the city inhabitant, according to figures compiled by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, South Dakota, only 0.2 per cent industrialized, ranks first in life expectancy, with an average of 64.38 for men and 66.81 for women.

Farm and Agricultural News

Outbreak of rabies in the state has brought another plea from the department of animal pathology at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Experiment Station that all dogs be vaccinated against this disease. Dogs are considered the principal way in which rabies are spread and their vaccination or confinement would in a large measure control the disease. Rabies vaccine is comparatively inexpensive, and can be administered by any veterinarian. A dog that is worth owning is worth the trouble and expense of inoculation against hydrophobia, says the statement. Heads of animals suspected of having rabies should be sent to the Public Service Laboratories at the Experiment Station at Lexington or to the State Board of Health, Louisville. So far this year 238 heads of animals have been examined at the Public Service Laboratories at Lexington. Of this number, 167, including 142 heads of dogs were found to be infected with rabies. Heads of other animals examined included 25 cattle, 17 cats, four mules, one pig and one coon. Last year, a total of 239 heads were examined at the Public Service Laboratories, of which 114 were found to have rabies. Heads from animals that had hydrophobia included 98 dogs, six cats, eight cows, one rat and one fox. Two children in the state have died of rabies this fall, and a large number of animals have had the disease, according to reports to the Experiment Station.

Finds Outlet for Love of Sea In Inland Pennsylvania City

Former Officer in Swedish and Argentine Navies Aids U. S. Navy League and Sea Scouts

SERVICE in the navies of two nations, involuntary participation in a South American revolution, and fifteen years as a navigating officer on merchant vessels, all contribute to a series of stirring chapters in the career of Captain E. K. Roden, organizer of the U. S. Navy League at the inland city of Scranton, Pennsylvania, and of a Sea Scout Base on a warry body of water. Captain Roden began his career as a cadet in the Swedish Navy. While still a young man, with the consent of the Swedish Government, he accepted a commission in the Argentine Navy and for four years was engaged in the hydrographic surveying of the River Plate and adjacent waters. During this period, on the night of July 26, 1906, the Union Civica, a revolutionary organization, called its members to arms in revolt against the corrupt administration of President Celman. Barricades were thrown up in the streets of Buenos Aires. Two days of intensive street fighting followed, but the navy and a number of regiments of the regular army went over to the insurgents. President Celman discovered that his corrupt administration of affairs had alienated practically all public support. On July 21, he resigned his office and fled the city, disguised as a fireman on a train bound for Coriova, having taken the precaution to deposit some two million dollars to his account in the Bank of France.

—Captain E. K. Roden

From Sweden and the Argentine to his present position as Director of the School of Navigation of the International Correspondence Schools at Scranton, Pennsylvania, is a long sweep, but Captain Roden's love of the sea has led him both to his work as a teacher of navigation and to his Navy League and Sea Scout activities. Textbooks on navigation prepared by him are being used in teaching nautical science to naval officers of the merchant marine, the enlisted personnel of the U. S. Coast Guard, and the enlisted personnel of the U. S. Marine Corps.

FARM AND HOME

Meat from this hog is often tough and lacking in flavor, which, however, the navy and a number of regiments of the regular army went over to the insurgents. President Celman discovered that his corrupt administration of affairs had alienated practically all public support. On July 21, he resigned his office and fled the city, disguised as a fireman on a train bound for Coriova, having taken the precaution to deposit some two million dollars to his account in the Bank of France.

EARLY SEED CORN

SELECTION URGED Early selection of seed corn to avoid injury from freezing is suggested in a statement from the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Much of the corn crop, made up of late maturing varieties, is high percentage of moisture when the recent damp period began. Damp weather added to the moisture content, and if freezing weather should occur, corn might be damaged for seed purposes, as was the case in 1934. It is suggested that seed corn be selected and dried out by artificial fire, basements or other places, at least in tobacco stripping rooms, at least in late maturing varieties, or expended in some way so it will dry to advantage. If not too damp, it will dry out if put in burlap bags and ricked in stripping rooms or other dry places.

To average life expectancy of the farmer is four or five years longer than that of the city inhabitant, according to figures compiled by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, South Dakota, only 8.2 per cent industrialized, ranks first in life expectancy, with an average of 64.38 for men and 66.81 for women.

O'SHAUGHNESSY'S BOY

From the Motion Picture Coming to the

COZY THEATRE

Hasting's Greater Circus has come to town and a tremendous crowd is welcoming it. The Barker is telling the breathless listeners all about the star performer, Windy O'Shaughnessy, famous animal trainer. Everyone is excited for Windy's death-defying act in a cage filled with savage lions and tigers is well known the world over. But although Windy has the admiration of thousands of people, his dearest possession is his four-year-old son, Snubby.

Little Snubby wants to be an animal trainer like his Dad. "Up, Leo, up," he tells the leopard cub, but Leo refuses to obey. Snubby turns to his Dad but Windy suddenly says that it is Snubby's job to train him. The boy hurriedly tries again for he knows that when his mother, Cora, returns he will not be allowed to play with the animals.

Windy now picks Snubby up to carry him off to bed, for there is a thunderous burst of applause from the center tent which means that Cora's act is nearly over. "An' this means Ah'm on!" the ebony-faced buff says, as he runs on the hind quarters of an elephant costume and finishes the act. But Snubby is in a hurry, for because always brings another of Windy's thrilling tales of adventures in the wild jungles of Africa.

Cora is just finishing her daring aerial stunt with its dangerous breakaway slide. She catches the tows and nervous. And Windy is worried, for her dear Martha, a crotchety old old woman, has been his enemy against the crowd. In spite of falling nerves, Cora finds her act safely. The manager's enthusiasm of "Oh, the coming ones that built Windy and Snubby."

UNDER GRECIAN SKIES CHAPTER ONE

"Would you care for some tea Miss Kay?" Grove, the Bentley butler, stood primly at attention.

"Tea?" Kay, golden of skin and tawny of hair, was languidly draped over the rail of the gleaming white yacht that stood at anchor near the Isle of Naxos off the Grecian coast.

"Tea!" she asked again vaguely, then swung around and glared. "Is it tea time already? It seems like only six weeks since lunch. And now in about three years we'll have dinner." Repressed resentment was in her voice. "But maybe they'll play bridge right through dinner."

"Yes, just as they did last night and every night since we started. Good heavens! Don't they know we're in romantic, mysterious Greece?"

Gene Piper, his handsome, weak face wreathed in a smile, stepped on deck. He grinned at her shamefacedly. "It's terrible, isn't it?" he asked. "I mean my playing bridge all the time. But you know your father is—"

Kay nodded with mockery. "Well I suppose that as an employee of Gage and Bentley it is to your benefit to do what the boss says."

Gene's eyes clouded over with hurt. "I'm sorry you feel that way about it," he said stiffly.

"Instantly Kay was contrite. "I'm sorry too, Gene. I didn't mean to say that." She smiled wistfully. "I've just been so darned lonely and miserable this trip—tell you what. Let's just the two of us go ashore this afternoon."

"Gene! Gene Piper!" It was G. P. Bentley calling him back to the game. And with a hurried shamed wave of excuse Gene answered the summons not daring to look back at Kay's still, frozen face.

Some few minutes later however the bridge game was interrupted by a steward bearing a radiogram on a tray. With one startled look Bentley perused it, then latterly made for his suite followed by Doctor Stafford.

Downing a stiff drink of liquor, Bentley sat in a chair. "Four thousand dollars! Ninety days to raise it in. He closed his eyes. "So I'm a ruined man. If I borrow the money openly it would hurt the firm."

"Besides you mother-in-law would hear about it," Stafford pointed out, referring to Grandmother Gage, ruling matriarch of the family. He rubbed his chin reflectively. "Look G. P., I believe I have an idea. We'll continue the cruise as planned. Leave everything to me."

He hurried to the deck and was presently in low earnest conversation with Gene. "Now I think that Kay is very fond of you," he was saying, "and frankly, I look with great favor upon the prospect of your marriage."

Gene's face lit up. "You could do a lot for me Doctor. Next to the old lady you know you run the family."

The Doctor interrupted smoothly. "So in return for my helping you with Kay you'll see to it that I serve her in exactly the same capacity that I serve her father— as general advisor. You have my word for it that Kay's marriage settlement from her grandmother will be invested wisely."

The wily old fellow breathed thankfully. A small portion of the settlement would take care of the debt, enabling Bentley to slide out of a tight spot safely. Best thought the Doctor decided, since he had to tell his friend about it until it was all over.

"It's a laugh," Gene declared solemnly. At precisely this moment, Kay glowed happily to have escaped ashore for supplies, was riding her burro through the gate of a half-ruined temple perched at the top of one of the mountain paths. The "American Archaeological Society" Keep Out" was unperceived by her as she rode through and dismounted.

Tumbling down the small incline she stopped just at the feet of a tall rangy young man who was looking down at her with blazing gray eyes.

"It's a lucky thing you didn't hit the statue," he said severely.

"Yes, I might have broken my neck."

"I wasn't thinking of that. You might have broken her neck." He looked up. "Max. The derrick."

When they had been hoisted to the top he turned to her impatiently.

"Where's your mule?"

"My mule?"

"Yes. Where did you tie him?"

"I didn't tie him anywhere."

"His attitude had begun to annoy her."

"Well, he's not here now and there isn't a spare one in the camp. So you'll have to walk, and hurry please."

She shrugged with apparent good nature, her violet eyes dancing at him. "All right, I walk." But one uncertain step toward the trail, and she was crumbling to the ground with a low cry of anguish.

Her line quivered pitifully. It's my ankle."

After his first expression of concern, Terry looked at her in exasperation. "Well, I might as well get it over with. I'll carry you down myself."

Moving along the path, Terry was grim. "The minute I saw that yacht come in here this morning I knew it was bad luck."

He glanced at the tailored perfection of slacks and blouse that so strikingly set off the lovely curves of her figure. Then he hastily averted his gaze.

The voice proceeding in silence when Kay suddenly began to sing in a loud raucous voice. "Shall I keep on singing or can I ask you some questions?" she queried archly.

His lips twitched. "Ask me some questions."

COLLEGE THEATRE

Romance on a rampage, zipping through melodies, twinkling toes, rapping rhythms, whimsical wit, and a captivating cast will make you applaud "To Beat the Band," RKO Radio's musical showing at the College Theatre.

The production boasts a triad of brilliant new teams in the persons of Hugh Herbert, and Helen Broderick, comedy duo; Roger Pryor and Phyllis Brooks, radiant romancers; and Johnny Mercer and Matt Neal, song-smiths supreme.

Hugh Herbert discovers Roger Pryor hanging, perilously on an awning of his, penthouse, following a suicide dive. After rescuing the young and blind and talking it over a phone message brings news that Herbert's eccentric old aunt has died and left him $59,000.00.

But the proverbial string to the will game is a joy-killer, because it provides that Herbert, who is desperately in love with youthful Phyllis Brooks, must marry a widow within three months' run-dum, bewildered brand of comedy, abetted by Miss Broderick's dead-pan drooleries, is certain to bring a demand for an encore by the sparkling new flicker team.

Handsome Roger Pryor crooned love ditties for lovely Phyllis Brooks. Eric Blom gives his customary four-star performance and Fred Keating's versatility stamps him as one of the most popular of young comedians.

A new and original note is introduced to filmstrips by the original California Colegians, a madcap group of musicomicians, their maddest dance novelty is one of the cleverest specialties ever conceived in Hollywood, while their circus burlesque is a high light in the extensive gamut of screen comedy. The band was imported from New York especially for the picture by RKO.

For Sunday, Dec. 8 the College brings a thrilling drama of love and action in the film "Grand Exit."

COZY THEATRE

Combining a diverting story, catchy music, eye-filling dance specialties and a highly competent cast, "Music Magic," the new Fox production, made an auspicious arrival Friday and Saturday at the Cozy Theatre.

"Music is Magic" provides a fast moving, tuneful vehicle for talented Alice Faye. Her singing of the four hit numbers including "Music is Magic," "La Cumba," and "Honey Chile," is one of the high spots of the picture.

Ray Walker, As the young master of aeronomics who tries to project his sweetheart, Miss Faye, into stardom in Hollywood, is likeable and makes the most of an important role. The comedy is handled by Mitchell and Durant, whose rough-and-tumble antics sent the audience into a gales of laughter. Bebe Daniels gives a clear-cut characterization of the role of the waning picture star whose temperamental tantrums serve to give Miss Faye her first break in the motion pictures.

The plot concerns itself with the efforts of Miss Faye, aided by her sweetheart and two friends, Mitchell and Durant, to win fame and fortune in Hollywood.

Miss Faye manages to get a part in a chorus in a filmstrip in which Miss Daniels is the star. Mitchell and Durant are cast in the roles of half-wits in the picture.

Willie Morris Radio Star

Willie Morris holds the long distance record in broadcasting! No singer on the air stands further away from the "mike" than Willie does on her new starring program, "The Flying Red Horse Tavern," heard over the CBS network. The distance is a good four feet. The reason for this is not to control her powerful, toned voice, but to register a quality of sweetness on those high notes.

The night that Willie Morris, popular soprano, made her debut on "The Flying Red Horse Tavern" program on the CBS network, her father, a merchant grocer in Mexico, Missouri, held open house in his store after hours. About two hundred of Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up. Certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for their relief of these pains. Mrs. C. E. Webb of Hinton, W. Va., writes: "I did not get my strength back until I had used it. It was so good for me and I have given it to my daughters. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefits them. If it does not remedy your trouble, get a physician."

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Sub Quick Speed Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way

Many people have become dependent because they have been led to believe that there is a remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunions.

Now you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) with your first purchase. Use and apply it night and morning as directed you should quickly receive improvement. Continue to apply Emerald Oil until the veins and bunions are relieved.

Moore's Emerald Oil is a harmless, non-poisonous liniment and gives relief in a very long time. Indeed, as powerful liniment will do their office and cure and ulcers are often cured. It has brought much relief to thousands of people all over the world.

How to Keep Colds UNDER BETTER CONTROL

Catching Cold? . . .
Vicks VapoRub helps prevent many Colds

Caught a Cold? . . .
Vicks VapoRub helps End a Cold Sooner

At the first warning nasal irritation, snuffle or sneeze, use Vicks VapoRub—just a few drops up each nostril. VapoRub is especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. It stimulates Nature's own defenses—in the nose—to help prevent colds, and to throw off head colds in their early stages. Used in time, VapoRub helps avoid many colds.

Follow Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds

A helpful guide to fewer colds and shorter colds. Developed by Vicks Chemical and Medical Staff, tested in extensive clinics by practicing physicians—further proved in everyday home use by millions. The Plan is fully explained on each Vicks package.

ANTISEPTIC SOLUTION and YOUR CHOICE of EITHER of these TOOTH BRUSHES.

Some prefer the concave (or tufted end) brush. Others prefer the convex (or beveled) brush. Get your choice for a limited time with this full pint Mi 31 Solution. Both are equally dangerous nose and throat germs in a few seconds—even when diluted to half strength. And it protects you from offending odors with "fresh breath." Pleasant tasting too!
