Woman Shoots Woman In Sunday Night Affray

Janita Harper was wounded in the right thigh Sunday night when a gun in the possession of Myrtle Myhrler, wife of Sallor Myhrler, was discharged at Eddie Baldrige's place, about three-fourths of a mile west here on U. S. 42.

The wounded woman was taken to Bath County where she is reported in a serious condition from loss of blood.

J. J. Caudill, deputy sheriff, arrested Mrs. Myhrler, and she made bond for $500 before County Judge, C. E. Jennings. The charge was shooting and wounding.

Puppet Show At College Febr. 17

Miss West, Jackie Cooper, Shirley Temple, and many other celebrities will be brought to Morehead the afternoon and evening of Monday, February 17, by the Beaux Arts club of the Morehead State Teachers College, according to an announcement by Robert Arthur, Morehead, president of the club.

These characters will appear in a marionette dramatization of "Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer" and in the presentation of a "Continental Variety Show," produced and staged by C. Ray Smith's famous Olvera Street Marionettes of Los Angeles.

The immortal story of Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer will be vividly told by marionettes that walk, talk, sing, dance, skate, play instruments, and do circus tricks.

Calvert's Buy Pressing Shop In Flemingsburg

A business deal was completed recently whereby the Model Laundry of Morehead became the owners of the pressing shop at Flemingsburg and have taken over the management.

In connection with the Model Laundry, the News wishes to correct an error which appeared in a recent ad of that institution. The ad read: "12 pounds for 84c," when it should have read "12 pounds for 84c." The News is glad to make the above correction.

Women's Play Day Saturday Evening

Have you ever wanted to play again some of the games you enjoyed in the "days of old sport?" Do you want to know how to re-learn that over-looked game? Do you want to learn how to play some of the sports that you've always "hankered to?"

The Community Recreation class of the Morehead State Teachers College is sponsoring a play day and is offering the women of Morehead this "3 in 1" opportunity to participate in a number of interesting and enjoyable activities including bowling, deck tennis, shuffle-board, battle-boat tennis, horseshoe ping-pong, reducing exercises, and mass games.

GO TO IT HAPPY, GOVERNOR.

That "Happy" Governor Chandler seems to be living up to his campaign pledges in a way that is pleasing not only to the Democrats who supported him through the three elections, but is equally highly pleasing to his republican constituents, judging by the comment heard on every hand. It begins to look as if his administration will be one of few mistakes, an administration that in years to come will be pointed out with pride as outstanding in its service to the people of Kentucky.

Right from the start Governor Chandler has taken hold of the wheel of the ship of state and guided it unerringly in the direction in which all right thinking citizens have wanted it to go for lo, these many years. He began by clearing the decks for action by firing and accepting the resignations of the thousands of useless and unnecessary employes, thus leaving the way clear for a reduction in expense by omitting the employment of thousands of jobs that have been made by politicians for their followers and henchmen. Governor Chandler recognized clearly that it is much easier to do away with a job which is not filled than it is to do away with it and then release the occupant.

For years it has been almost impossible to recognize the government because of the state employes lobby which has come to be the most powerful lobby of them all. By releasing the employes first, and by then asking stricter laws and rules governing lobbyists, Governor Chandler has effectively blocked this form of coercion and given the legislature an opportunity to accomplish their work without undue pressure being brought to bear.

The past week in the General Assembly has been an eye-opener to those who have followed the course of the assembly for the past years. More actual work has been done and more accomplished in the first four days of the session than is usually accomplished in several weeks. There has been no lost motion and apparently it is not the intention of the leaders that there shall be. The Senators and Representatives are there for work and they apparently intend to accomplish that work in record time.

We are particularly gratified to note that Senator Clarence E. Nickell has been recognized as one of the important leaders in the administration program. Senator Nickell, while not representing this district, more or less belongs to Morehead and Rowan county, since he is connected with the Morehead State Teachers College as a member of the faculty. Senator Nickell is caucus chairman, and administration spokesman, as well as being on a number of important committees. It is a matter of local pride to know that he is taking such a prominent part in what is certain to be one of the most important sessions of the General Assembly that has been held within many years.

The Rowan County News is proud of the start Governor Chandler has made in carrying out his program for the welfare of Kentucky, and is proud of the part played by this paper in his election. And we are more than gratified to note that his every pledge is well on the way toward being carried out. Quite evidently Governor Chandler's platform meant more to him than the average campaign platform. He is regarding it as it should be regarded, as a sacred pledge to the people of the state, rather than as a convenient method of gaining a selfish end.

The attitude is a new and welcome one in the realms of Kentucky politics, where in the past promises have been apparently made only for the purpose of being broken.
Go to it "Happy" Governor!

FARM TENANCY INCREASING IN KY.

A striking increase in the number of tenant farmers in Kentucky has been revealed by reports of the 1935 Census of Agriculture. From 1930 to 1935, while the number of farm owners increased 10 per cent, the number of farm tenants increased 17 per cent.

During these five years the number of tenant farmers increased by nearly 15,000. In 1935, 37 per cent of the farms were occupied by tenants. These figures have been assembled in connection with the preparation of a report on farm tenancy by the Division of Land Utilization of the Resettlement Administration.

Final results of the Census of Agriculture have not been tabulated for all states. Figures for thirty-eight states indicate, however, an increase in the number of farm tenants in most sections of the country. Approximately 43 per cent of all farms in the United States are now operated by tenants. The trend of recent years is in accordance with the steady increase in the percentage of tenants since the first count was made in 1880. At that time 25 per cent of the farmers were listed as tenants.

Attempts to check the growth of tenancy have been made chiefly because of the instability of residence associated with a farm tenant system. Although conditions vary greatly throughout the United States, studies show that the tenant farmer moves on an average of every four years.

Because of this change in residence, the functioning of schools, churches, and other community enterprises such as co-operative organizations is badly handicapped. The important interest which many tenant farmers have in their land prevents their giving proper attention to soil conservation, the checking of erosion and the upkeep of farm buildings. The tenant hesitates to make improvements on the farm which would only benefit his successor.

In the past tenancy has been considered a stepping stone to farm ownership, and as a means whereby farmers lacking capital could obtain experience in farm management. The steady increase in the proportion of older tenants, however, indicates that fewer men are now being able to move up the last rung of the ladder to farm ownership.

JUDGE FORD HOLDS UP TAX REFUNDS

Lexington, Ky., — Federal Judge H. Church Ford refused to release A. A. A. processing taxes impounding in the Western District for prohibiting collection of the of Kentucky under a restraining order.

Judge Ford ruled that the impounded tax monies could not be released until copies of the mandate of the Supreme Court, invalidating the A. A. A. processing tax, were received. Attorneys representing Louisville and other processors who had originally secured restraining orders to prevent the tax collection, had petitioned the court for immediate release of the impounded funds, following the Supreme Court's action.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL TAKEN FROM THE COURIER JOURNAL

Frankfort, Ky., — The personable young man who sits in the Governor's chair obtained from the General Assembly this week the same demonstration of confidence and loyalty which he won from the people in the primaries and the general election.

How he does it is another question, but the results are certain and convincing even to the few who still look with suspicion on his suggestions. By every standard of measurement, he exceeds the expectations of his friends and co-workers.

The ghost of the sales tax stalked the legislative halls this week, and when its work was done Governor Chandler's organization of the House and Senate had been completed in unprecedented fashion. For all major posts in the organizations his choices were, in almost every case, men whose majority in Governmental history, in the majority of 95,000 votes was too much for the men who opposed Mr. Chandler's views in legislative matters during the last administration. When the week was over, the legislature was small handful at that assigned in opposition.

An almost unanimous House and Senate showed their willingness to follow his lead. Men who had opposed his every move two years ago, looking now at the Governor from the front, openly pledged their loyalty to his program.

In the Senate and House, new members, affiliated in the primaries with his political opponents, could have thrown obstacles in his path. But when the organization was over, he had been given the sweeping endorsement any Governor has obtained in forty years.

Some credit goes to his position on public questions. His opposition to the sales tax and his stand in favor of primary elections, were popular. Few legislators wanted to get on the other side of those issues. Their inclination was to share the credit with him.

As a candidate he laid down the rule by which he hopes to retain the leadership which the people gave to him. "I want," he said, "to retain the respect of respectable people." Pivoting his political philosophy on that broad base, he found the legislators willing to work with him.

His personality stands him in good stead. In the campaign he never gave offense, even to those who had opposed him most strenuously. He was always considerate of the opinions of others, firm in the expression of his own, and uniformly good spirits. He never made anyone mad.

He has treated the same kindly attitude into the Governor's office. The men who had been opposed to him through the legislative battles over the sales tax, and in the primary campaign, found him, without a fault to find. He was interested in the work to be done, not in fighting over the old battles.

Before the week was out, a repeal of the sales tax was voted in the House 99 to 1, in the Senate 36 to 0. Eighteen months ago it was a highly controversial question. Final disposal will be consummated next week.

A week or so will see a constitutional amendment which will give the law of the State. Reorganization work is going on at a quickened pace. The entire structure of the Government is in for a change. The tax load will be redistributed.

The Governor is keeping his own counsel. He understands those who who for selfish reasons will stand ready to stop him if they can, but he believes the force of public opinion will force them to stand aside.

Some little evidence of opposition crept out during the week. In the House a dissatisfied member or two grumbled. But their numbers decreased during the week. Their sedition has been a time when the relationship between the Chief Executive and the legislative branch has been as friendly, based on mutual confidence.
In his message the Governor spoke frankly to the members. He told them he would not owe jobs to members, because, he said, "that is not right." But the legitimate favor which a Governor has to give, he said, would not be denied the member who were his friends and co-workers.
The Governor desires for separate consideration of his reorganization approval of the Democratic House and Senate caucuses. The two bodies will adjourn sine die on February 1, and will be responsible under a call for a special session to take up the reorganization task.

When the members learned that the Governor was dealing with them frankly, with no other purpose than to divide the work logically into separate parts so that what was to be done could be done better and accomplished with less waste, they readily agreed to early adjournment.

The Governor went to the Democratic caucus in the House so that any member who did not understand the plan could ask any possible question. He answered every question, and the members voted to separate their work into district sessions.

He asked the Assembly to drive the paid lobby from Frankfort. He declared it served no good purpose. Legitimate business interests, he said, should be permitted to send representatives to Frankfort to appear before committees when bills affecting the business were considered. But he denied the necessity for a paid lobbyist to remain in Frankfort throughout the session, and directed with every piece of legislation before the Assembly.

Late in the week the Governor started plans for improved service from the employes in all departments under his control. A personnel department will be set up, through which all applications for jobs will clear.

The Governor hopes to work out some minimum standard for technical employees. Failure to meet the standard would prohibit the applicant.

I LIVE MY LIFE

Reproduction of the Metro Goldwyn-Mayer Picture based on "L'ESPOIR" by CARTER GOODLOE—Novelized by HELEN WARE ROBERTS

Finally, on the eve of the wedding day itself, he burst into Kay's room, despite the protests of Grove that it was against all marriage traditions for the groom to see the bride the night before the wedding. Terry found Kay with her father who immediately tried to sink from the room at the appearance of impending trouble. Terry however, way ed him back imperatively, then turned to Kay.

"Darling, I'm sorry," he said feverishly, "but I've got to talk to you. This whole setup's ridiculous. Why I'm more like the bride than the groom in this wedding."

Kay slowly sank to a chair. Suppose you get down to details, Terry, after that sweeping decommitment?" All right, he replied fiercely. Now Kay, this is what I've come to settle with you. After we're married, we're going back to Nazco.

And then? she asked, ominously quiet.

I haven't decided. Maybe we'll go to Mexico and do some acting work. The point is, are you coming with me?

Hot anger flared in her eyes. May be I'm wrong but it's about as selfish a point as I've ever come across. You're asking me to give up everything and come to a flyinfest village and watch you dip up status.

I don't see it that way at all. Terry was shouting not in anger but with the desperate intensity of a man who fights for his very life. You're asking me as your husband to give up every interest I have in the world and to live a life that's stupid and dull and loathsome to me. And I won't do it! I can't do it!

Well then, Kay flung at him bitterly, if anything I stand—for is loathsome to you, for Pete's sake don't marry me.

There was a short ugly pause. Then Terry exhaled a shuddering sigh. That's probably the only solution, he said hoarsely.

You're joking.

He looked at her in wretched despair. No I'm not.

Very well. Kay spoke now through clenched teeth. But I'm not going to take the brunt of this and be the laughing stock of the town. You'll be gone but I'll have to answer questions. If both of us don't show up at the church I've still got to explain that you don't fit me. But if you show up and I don't, I can just say that I didn't want to marry you.

Terry nodded with weary understanding. I'll show up at the church tomorrow at noon and you won't be there at all.

Yes, quite all right.

We'll then, goodbye.

At the thirty, the next morning, he lay in bed, the deep shadowed circles beneath her eyes beaming on the sleepless night he had spent.

He watched her sleepily. You know, he said with a curious sidewise glance at her, maybe this has happened for the best. Maybe it's just as well you got rid of Terry. Never did know what you did in him.

What do you mean?

Well, Bentley said, take a fellow like Gene Piner. Well behaved, makes his orders. He nodded sagely, plays bridge and when he's told to head never give you any trouble.

Now with a fellow like Terry you never knew where you were at. He'd't any respect for the conventions. . . . a wags spoke his mind right out, no matter what it was about. . . . say where are you going? Kay turned a radiant face to him. . . . I was frantically ringing for her maid and pulling things out of her closet. Father, that's just it. That's what I did see in him. He was honest and sincere. . . . and trustworthy; And if he'd stayed and changed, her face filled with the soft wonder of enlightenment, then he'd have lost the very thing I loved him for. She tugged at her father's arm. You'd better hurry if you're going to give the bride away.

G. P. slid out the door, a conscious sense of satisfaction on his face as he moved toward his room.

The ceremony was over with all the resultant confusion of a tumultuary guests at the church and then enthralling overtones of the organ as it played, "O Promise Me."

In the car Terry turned to Kay. Darling, he asked half fearfully, is it true what all this means? Naxco Mexico? Anywhere?

Anywhere, she replied softly. Terry, I've a dream of love in my heart and geography hasn't anything to do with it. Oh, Terry! she cried. I love you so.

He buried his face in the sweet fragrance of her hair, then bent to claim her surrendering kiss.

BLACK-DRAUGHT

TO TAKE MYSTERY OUT OF BANKING

By ROBERT V. FLEMING, President American Bankers Association
The American Bankers Association has cooperated wherever it could properly do so in every measure for national recovery. It has offered constructive recommendations for a such changes in banking laws as were recommended were by the American Bankers Association. It has urged which to operate. The bank act of 1935 provides a number of opportunities for a better service and at the same time, relative the fundamentals which we believe are so vital to our national welfare and which have played a large part in helping our country, in a comparatively short space of time, to the position of the greatest industrial nation on the earth.

The Public and Banking

It is necessary that the public have a thorough understanding of the functions of banks, what they can do and what they cannot do, for it must be recognized that to many people the business of banking is still somewhat of a mystery. We should frankly explain these functions to the public, acquaint them with the laws under which we operate and explain the vital part which banks play in the economic life of the Nation. Therefore, in order that there may be the fullest cooperation and understanding between the banks and the people of the country, it will also be one of our objectives to take the mystery out of banking wherever it exists in the public mind.

Banking Conferences

A series of Regional Conferences on Banking Service will be held in strategic sections of the country, embracing all types of banking. The new banking laws and the regulations issues thereunder will be carefully analyzed so that our bankers will have a thorough understanding of the broadness of services now made possible. The question of public relations and how we can best serve the people of our communities will be another topic of discussion. Clinics or forums on special questions of interest to bankers and the problems confronting them in their particular localities will also be included in these conferences.

PUBLIC ATTITUDE HELPS THE BANKS

Annual Bankers Convention Says People Have Had Confidence Restored—Recommends Changed Government Policy

The restoration of public confidence in banking has put it in the position where it can function fully and vigorously in playing its full economic part in the progress of recovery, said the American Bankers Association in its annual convention resolutions. The passage of a generally constructive banking law by the Banking Act of 1935 has established the banking situation and enabled bankers to devote an undivided attention to the normal administration of their institutions in promoting the business and public welfare of their communities," the resolutions said.

"We feel that it is a particularly important feature of this law that it aims to create through the revision of the Federal Reserve Board a Supreme Court of Finance which, with the non-political appointment of exceptionally competent men, should constitute one of the greatest forward steps in building a sound banking and credit system for this country."

The Government in Banking

Another resolution said: "We particularly emphasize the desirability of the retirement of government from those fields of extending credits of various types which can be adequately served by privately owned institutions. We recognize that the exigencies of the low passing depression made an essay a large participation by government for a time in the task of meeting the public's emergency financial needs.

"These conditions have been largely remedied and the obligation now rests upon the banks and other financial agencies to demonstrate to the people of this country that they are fully able and willing to meet all demands upon them for sound credit cooperation. It is our duty as bankers to facilitate in every effective way the retirement of government agencies from credit activities by promoting public understanding of the proper function of privately owned banking."

ACCURATE RECORDS

The keeping of accurate records constitutes an essential part of any successful business management, whether manufacturing, merchandising or farming. It is quite generally conceded that good business records keep accurate records, and this procedure is equally important in the business of banking. declares the Bulletin of the American Bankers Association.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED AT LEGION MEETING

At a regular meeting of Corbis Ellington Post No. 126 of the American Legion January 9th, resolutions were drafted calling on our U. S. Senators and Congressmen to support the American Legion Bill, Copy of a telegram sent to Washington, D. C. is printed below:

Jan. 9th, 1936.
Hon. Fred M. Vinson, M. C.
Washington, D. C.

Members of Corbis Ellington Post No. 126 American Legion at a regular meeting voted on record requesting our U. S. Senators and Congressmen to vote for and use all full payment of Adjusted Service Certificates as sponsored by the American Legion. Signed, H. A. Sprulock, Post Commander.

On January 10th Congress voted almost unanimously to pay the Adjusted Service Certificates (Bonus) in full with refund of all accrued interest that may be against the Certificates. The U. S. Senate now by the Bill under consideration and I'll vote on it soon. We who have money due us can certainly be of help to the Legion National Commander Ray Murphy, and the Legislative Committee who are in Washington, D. C. working for the removal by the Senate and President Hoover of the bill which is now before the Legion Post. Commander Murphy states that it is a battle but if all veterans will co-operate we are sure to get our Bill through and has asked the American Legion Post in the United States have a special meeting Sunday January 19 therefore a meeting of all ex-servicemen will be held at the Court House at 1 p. m. January 19th, with a speaker from Louisville who will be able to tell you of the progress made on our bill for payment and also of our National Legislative Program now pending in Congress that will help the ex-servicemen, their widows and children. You are urged to be there.

H. A. Sprulock, Post Commander.

gripping story of "Frisco Waterfront" which opens at the Cozy Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 22, and 23, with Ben Lyon, Helen Twelvetrees and Rod LaRoque in the leading roles.

Paramount has always been one of America's most colorful theatres, and has recently provided the locale for a number of successful photoplays, among which the new dramatic presentation must be characterized as the best.

"Frisco Waterfront" is the story of a man who rises from stowaway to governor, and then finds he was aided most by the two people he hated most.

Ben Lyon plays the governor-elect, and his interesting career is told in the enthralling medium of stowaway. He lends the part of one of his finest portrayals, and is ably abetted by the remarkable histrionic presentations of Miss Twelvetrees and Rod LaRoque.

The supporting cast is also of uniform merit. Among those who must be mentioned for their individual performance are Russell Hopton, Barbara Pepper, James Burke, Henry Kolker, Parnell Pratt and Norman Houston.

"Forced Landings" At Cozy This Week

Forced landings are becoming a common occurrence in the family of Toby Wing. Only a few short months ago, Toby's father, Major Paul Wing, was seriously injured when the transcontinental plane in which he was traveling crashed. Now Toby has a featured role in the thrilling mystery drama, "FORCED LANDING," which comes to the Cozy Theatre for a run of two days, starting Wed.

The beautiful Virginia actress was substituted Martha Virginia Wing, but was nicknamed Toby because she resembled her family of a fraction, unruly collection of these young horses are called in the Blue Grass country, "Toby-struck."

Other members of the excellent cast of "Forced Landing" include Ester Rastan, Onslow Stevens, Sidney Blackmer, Eddie Nugent, Barbara Pepper, Willard Robertson, Sunday Page, Louis Richmond and Barbara Bedford. "FORCED LANDING" was directed by Melville Brown.

One of the little known facts about George Burns and Gracie Allen is that George picks out Gracie's songs and Gracie picks out George's suits.

This domestic arrangement came to light between scenes during the filming of Paramount's "The Big Broadcast of 1936", which features also Jack Oakie, Lydia Robert and Wendy Harris. The story is an hilarious romance comedy, with music with speciality numbers, by Bing Crosby, Amos 'n' Andy, Ethe. Merman, Bill Robinson, Mary Boland Charles Ruggles and Ray Noble and his band.

I like Gracie's taste in clothes patterns and rely on it, George said, during one of his rare serious moments, "and Gracie trusts my instincts in regard to words and music better than her own."

"Two In The Dark" Is Sunday College Show

On Friday, Jan. 17th, the College brings to the screen Frank Buck's wild animal picture "Fang and Claw" depicting scenes of wild animal collections in the Asiatic Jungles. Interesting scenes show Buck capturing large pythons. In one of these Buck's number one man is shown being attacked by a python, which though not poisonous, is able to kill a man by coiling itself around him and breaking his back. Buck and his men, however successfully free the man from the python and add the snake to their collection. Buck is also shown capturing the bird of paradise, in an interesting manner. There are the usual comedy scenes with the monkeys. Show with able for all ages. The short subjects are excellent.

Sunday, Jan. 19th, the College features "Two In The Dark" with Walter Abel and Margot Grahame. This is a thrilling mystery melodrama holding the spectator's attention throughout because of the mystery surrounding the murder of a theatrical producer, and of the fact that Walter Abel, who was suffering from amnesia, is in some way connected with it, although he does not know how. One is held in suspense in the scenes where Abel is greeted by different ones who know him and through them he tries to find out who he is. Several comical situations arise out of Abel's loss of memory. The closing scenes, in which he regains his memory and traps the murderer hold one in suspense. There is a pleasant love interest involved.

FRANKFORD NEWS
among those who up to the present have been more or less "Doubting Thomases."

A mass of constructive legislation is awaiting the action of both Houses, with practically all of the thirteen points in the Governor's program already in the making. Bills have already been introduced in both Houses covering the majority of the points submitted to the joint session of the General Assembly at their opening session last Tuesday night.

Several of them have already been advanced to their third reading and have passed one or the other of the branches. As already explained the procedure requires at least three days in each House for passage, which means that with the speediest of action it will require at least six days for a bill to be passed and reach the Governor for his signature.

One of the first measures to be introduced was the direct single party law advocated by Governor Chandler. The Governor, while advocating one primary, gets considerable pleasure out of reciting that while he favors one primary, he was glad that this time they had two.

Another bill which is being rapidly to passage is that which permits the submission of proposed legislation to the Court of Appeals for a ruling before it is enacted into a law. While no opposition was expected to this bill from any source, since it is the logical thing to do, and since its adoption would prevent the passage of many laws that are later declared unconstitutional, some little question has come up, as to the constitutionality of the law itself. This question has caused a little delay in the passage, but it is expected to become a law within the week.

Thus three of the thirteen points in Governor Chandler's program are likely to become laws in less than two weeks of actual work. If this is done it will establish a record of accomplishment for Kentucky legislatures for all time.

An idea of the united front being presented by the General Assembly in their determination to support the Governor in his program, is offered by the vote on the Sales Tax Repealer. In the Senate the vote was 36 to repeal, 9 to retain, with two Senators absent. In the house the vote was 99 for Repeal and 1 to retain. The lone supporter of the tax, was Sam Milam, who had from Tom Rhea's home county and who at least was consistent to the end. Milam had introduced the Sales Tax bill in the House when it was passed in 1934.

Eagles Lose To Tigers, 29 To 24

Frosh Upset Tiger Cubs 32 To 24 In Opening Game.

Morehead split a double-header with Georgetown in the Tiger's own stronghold Thursday evening; the frosh winning the opener 32 to 21, and the varsity dropping a heart-breaker by a score of 29 to 24 after making a strong rally in the second half.

The freshmen, led by Armen, Kiser and Ishmael, were pulling away until the second half. The score at the rest period was 23 to 6. The second stanza of this fracas was not so one-sided. The cubs, aided by numerous foul shots, out scored the Eagles six points.

Practically every man that participated in this game for the Morehead fledglings contributed to the scoring. The defensive play was almost above approach during the whole of the game Georgetown was able to get but two crisp shots, only one of these resulting in a score.

Armen tallied for Morehead on a foul shot that neatly found the hoop to open the scoring. Smith sank a long one. Schaffer bagged one for Georgetown. With the count 3-2 in the Eagles' favor, the Cubs took time out. Armen collected one from the field and followed with a crisp. McLaughlin scored on a long one. Kiser bagged in a rebound. Ishmael got a crisp. Armen on a push shot from the side made the score 13-4. Horton hit a short one from the side. Horton looped in a foul. Kiser made a crisp and a foul. Ishmael scored from under the basket. Horton added two points on a toss from the side. The half ended with the score 23-6 in the Eagles' favor. During this time every attempt by the Cubs to score was made on the outside of the four circle.

Schaffer hit a long one to open the second canto. Ishmael bagged one. Kiser hit a pivot shot from the foul circle. McLaughlin snagged a field goal. Armen got a foul. McLaughlin also tallied on a foul shot. Quinlin made two free throws. Morehead took time. Quinlin rang up an other point on a foul. McLaughlin made a free toss. Green made a point for Morehead. Lacy hit a foul attempt. McLaughlin scored. A few seconds later the game ended.

The Varsity appeared to be sluggish. Not in any part of the game did they play the brand of ball that they are capable of playing. Georgetown controlled the tip and the rebound three quarters of the time.

Carter, versatile center, missed frequently, but was high point man of the evening, scoring fifteen points. Francis and Leslie were the only other men that seemed to be able to accomplish anything. Leslie in particular, added that something that it takes to win ball games. It was due chiefly to his and Carter's efforts that the second half was not like the first.

town's great center, bagged a short goal. Carter got a foul to tie the score at two all, the closest that Morehead was to the Tigers until the last two minutes of play. Lusk broke in to tally a neat crisp, and followed it with a foul shot. Turner snagged a field goal. With the score seven to two, Morehead called time. Lusk batted in a rebound. Francis made a foul. Hawkins hit a free toss. Carter, made another foul. Carter eluded his guard to take a crisp. Turner made a foul attempt and followed it in a moment with a crisp. Robinson collected a free throw. Bridges rang up a long one. Again Morehead asked for time. Carter made a foul as time was running. The half ended with the Eagles trailing Georgetown nine points.

Carter opened the second half with a foul shot. Shuey also made a free one. Leslie hit a short one from the side. Turner broke lose for a crisp. Carter made a foul. Lusk made two free throws. Carter snagged a crisp. Hawkins scored on a one handed push-shot. Lusk batted in a rebound. Carter collected one and it was followed by a crisp by Leslie. Georgetown called time. Carter hit a crisp. Francis made a foul. Parsley tallied on a push-shot from the side. Carter made a foul. Shuey and Leslie fouled out. Morehead was within two points of the Tigers when Green made a foul goal for Georgetown. As the game ended Turner sank a crisp.

Frosh Win, Varsity Lose To Centre 5's

Centre College defeated Morehead in a nip and tuck game here Saturday night, 37 to 34. The Eagles, trailing only one point at the half, the count being 14 to 13, were never able to catch the Colonels.

Morehead led for the first few minutes of play, but goals by Fitzpatrick, Cooper, and Smith, gave the Colonels a 8 to 7 lead which they held except for a few moments when Francis knotted the score at 8 all with a foul goal.

The game was rough throughout. Shuey and Leslie of the Eagles, and Fitzpatrick, May, and Smith of Varsity, were forced to leave the game for four persons, Rosson, Engle forward, received a bad over his right eye when he was tripped in the first half.

Carter was high point man for the Eagles with 11 points. Fitzpatrick led the Colonels with 8. Campbell, Cooper and May garnered 9 apiece. Morehead (18) (27) Centre Armen (6) (5) (1) Davis Ishmael (6) (5) (10) Johns Horton (4) (3) (3) Murphy Smith (12) (2) (8) Cundiff Substitutes: Thornton 5, Lacy 4, Green, Duff 2, Anderson, Fair 1, Maynard, Ramsey 2, Jackson (and), Hoffetter. Centre: Merriman 1, Lominac 2, German, A. Officials: Glivden, Transylvania, and Mohney, Kentucky.

Using the entire squad of sixteen men. Coach W. D. Scroggins' freshmen ran over the Centre Looses to the tune of 14 to 27, in a preliminary of the Eagles scoring, getting 12 and 17 apiece. Smith and Armen did most 10 points respectively.

The frosh took an early lead and had the game on ice by the end of the half, the count being 26 to 13. Johns and Cundiff were best for Centre, gathering 10 and 8 points respectively. Centre (37) (34) Morehead Fitzpatrick (8) F (6) Rosson Campbell (6) F (11) Carter Cooper (6) C (4) Leslie May (5) C (3) Francis Kidd (4) C (5) Shuey Substitutes: Centre: Smith 5, Alexander, Bartlett 2. Morehead: Parsley 6, Watson.

Morehead High Vikings Take Another Drubbing

Morehead High School lost its third consecutive game last Friday afternoon, Halfdeman winning 27 to 14. The Vikings just couldn't click and after leading 11 to 5 at the half, the Halfdeman team gradually increased their lead. Hayes was high point man for the Vikings with 6. The Vikings play two games this week. They go to Caldwellburg for a game Friday night and meet Boyd County High here Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Coach Mousie's team is handicapped by a shortage of material, only eight men being left for practice. He hopes to get into the win column as soon as his team has had a little more experience.

The Vikings have lost to Louisa, 28 to 22, to Russell, 12 to 3, and to Halidan.

Breck Wins Two, Loses Two In Encounters

The Breckbridge Training School won two games from Sandy Hook last Wednesday night. The High winning 14 to 7, and the Senior High winning 16 to 16.

The Juniors led 10 to 1 at the half and were never in any danger. Caudill was high point man for Breck with 8, while Holbrook, G. Brown, and Rogge tallied 2 each. Iron led the Sandy Hook team with 4 points.

The Seniors had little trouble in their game and were leading 11 to 3 at the half. Coach Bob Laughlin bred 12 men in the game. Daugherty was high point man for Breck with 8, Long, Geringer 5, and Crosswhite and Carr getting 4 each. Skaggs was high for Sandy Hook with 9 points.

Breckbridge Training School lost a double header to Mt. Sterling Tuesday night, the Juniors losing in two overtime periods, 14 to 12, and the Seniors 27 to 8. The Juniors played a bang-up game but the Seniors couldn't get started and the Trojans were leading them 21 to 4.

The Juniors started out strong and led 5 to 0 at the end of the first quarter and 9 to 5 at the half. Morehead was trailing 11 to 10 at the end of the third period. Cundiff and them in the lead with a goal, but Lockridge sank a foul shot to tie the score at the fourth period ended. The first overtime was scoreless and Peed's two foul shots in the second overtime gave the game to Mt. Sterling.

The Seniors were not clicking in the first half and Mt. Sterling made 9 in the first quarter and 12 in the second to lead 21 to 4 at the half. Breck tightened down in the last half and held Mt. Sterling to 5 points while they were making 4. Palmer was high scorer for Mt. Sterling with 9 points, and Holbrook was high for Breck with 3.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written Each Week By Rev. B. H. Kasse.

SUBJECT: Jesus Prepares For His Work; Luke 3:21-22; 4:1-13.

GOLDEN TEXT — Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God and him only shalt thou serve. Luke 4:8.

On the wilderness road near the river Jordan, John the Baptist is calling men to repentance and the baptist of repentance, declaring the coming of the King. One day he suddenly points to a man in the crowd and cries, "There is the Lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world." He was pointing to Jesus of Nazareth. This Jesus had come to John to be baptised as the initial step in the beginning of His ministry of only three years among men.

At His baptism John objected that he (John) had need to be baptized of Jesus. But Jesus urged him to fulfill all righteousness. There is something important in baptism. Jesus would never have urged it upon himself. Baptism does not save, but it declares in a visible way the great truth that does save, and that is that Jesus died for the sin of the world, was buried, and rose again for our justification. His came back to life to declare that our sins were paid for. Baptism declares this as nothing else can.

At His baptism John objected that he (John) had need to be baptized of Jesus. But Jesus urged him to fulfill all righteousness. There is something important in baptism. Jesus would never have urged it upon himself. Baptism does not save, but it declares in a visible way the great truth that does save, and that is that Jesus died for the sin of the world, was buried, and rose again for our justification. His came back to life to declare that our sins were paid for. Baptism declares this as nothing else can.

At this point Jesus begins that ministry which is to bring the baptism of the Holy Ghost and fire.

But He must be tested. No man can take the place of sinful men who has not first proved himself against sin. Adam the first fell at temptation; will this Adam fall? The Spirit subjects Him to Satan's temptations. There are three approaches of Satan to man: through the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, the pride of life. The first temptation begins on the lust of the flesh. After forty days of fasting in the wilderness Jesus is very hungry. At this point Satan says, "You are the Son of God; you have power. Why should you hunger? Display your power by changing these rocks into bread." There would have been no sin in having obeyed Satan. He came to do the will of the Father. He had no right to obey any but the Father. So said Jesus. "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." It is not dependent on making bread for His Son to live on.

The next temptation approaches on the lust of the eyes, or the road of ambition. Says Satan, "You are the King of this world. You have come to be king. I will give them to you if you will fall down and worship me." Christ again answers with Scripture, which is a good way. "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve." Many a man sells out for the kingdoms of this world. But not Jesus.

The third temptation appeals to the pride of life: "How do I look to others?" Satan takes Jesus up on the top of the temple and shows him the crowd below. "Now," says Satan you want to be admired; you desire the praise of the world. Jump off the angels will bear you up and you will not be hurt. This will cause the people to acclaim you." Jesus replied, "Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." Then the devil left him. How we look to others is the sin that takes so much of our time. The desire to be lauded by the world saves many a man to sell out to Satan.

Thus Jesus withstands Satan, and stands as one who has successful met sin. He is now prepared to become the sin-bearer for others. Thus we must withstand and resist Satan in order that we may be the helper and saviour of others.

News From The Training School

On Wednesday the senior class presented the most unique and outstanding chapel program of the year — a faculty funeral.

Dorothy Nash led the funeral procession as she was the minister. Kaye Hogge, as the funeral director, acted like a busy politician. Jimmy Babb and Ralph Hiltbrook were the pallbearers; and Pauline Butcher, who was the chief mourner, cried until her red bandanna handkerchief faded all over her face.

A quartet composed of Ralph Holbrook, Orrville Redwine, Opal Blanton, and Marjorie Hawkins sang "Let No Lower Lights Be Burning" and "The Worm Song." Virginia Vencill, Nancy Barbour, Gaynelle Hollan, and Jean Dillon represented the Training School students who were glad the teachers were dead. They laughed and sang while the mourners wept and wailed.

It was very amusing when Dorothy Nash told how each teacher had died and gave her funeral oration. The students danced around to view the remains of the bodies to the tune of, "I'll Be Glad When You're Dead, 'You Rascal' You." The chief mourner climaxed the program by fainting in the funeral director's arms.

The fifth grade gave a German play "Uncle Ruprecht's Visit" and sang two Christmas songs, "Stille Nacht" and "O Tannenbaum."

Harold Brooks visited in Huntington Christmas. Bobby Hogge, Margaret, Marvin Wison, Margaret and Harry Crooks visited in Lexington during Christmas vacation.

Howard Horton is loaning the fifth grade his large black train that he built from an Erector set.

The second grade is planning a pageant on transportation to be presented next Friday.

On Wednesday Dec. 18 the juniors and seniors united in giving a Christmas Party. All received a special 10c presents and a sack of candy. Many turned somersaults to get their things back when they played "Heavy Hangers Over The Floor Head."

The Training School is planning for an active alumni association. Elijah Hogge has been appointed chairman to organize it by sending a letter to all the graduates of the Training School. Miss Catlett is the sponsor.

The sixth and second grades presented an O-D-Fashioned Christmas for their parents and friends.

The sixth grade is receiving letters and newspapers from the sixth grade in Murray, Ky.

How Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Bad Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fifth night if needed.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs is one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators; they cleanse the intestinal tract of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the system. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

A New Dinner Deal

NOT a New Deal dinner, but a new dinner deal is what we are talking about. Times are so uncertain nowadays for us to eat up all the money we earn, but that doesn't mean by a long shot that we should eat less well. All that it implies is a little more careful planning on the part of the housewife, and there are a number of ways in which she is doing it now.

If she has a mechanical refrigerator, for instance, she is able to take advantage of the weekly "bargain specials" in butcher shops and grocery stores and she can keep the bargain prices safe and sweet in her refrigerator until it is eaten up. She can also buy large sized cans containing twice as much food, which cost usually only a few cents more than the small ones, and keep the unused part in her refrigerator. These devices may mean a saving of more than a dollar a week—fifty or sixty dollars a year!

Planning Is Fun

Another way she can economize on food is to plan more carefully the dishes she will serve. The price as a consideration as well as taste and appropriateness to the other dishes in the menu. It is real fun and a small triumph to be able to think up another dish just as the one on the menu is about to be thought of. There are many ways these things can be done. You can get the best of the best, and still save. These tempting menus do not require a graduate dietitian to serve to you. They are just as simple as doing and a lot of only a

Jellied Salmon Mold

Of course these prices are only approximate, but as much of the dinner consists of canned foods, and their prices are more stable than that of fresh foods, they can be taken as fairly representative.

Here Are The Recipes

Meat and Grapefruit Cocktail: Combine half the contents of a No. 2 can grapefruit (excluding juice and one-half cup canned grapefruit juice. When it starts to stiffen, add the flaked contents of one tall can salmon, one cup diced carrots and one-fourth cup dried sweet pickles. Chill in a cold mold and serve on six leaves of lettuce with six tablespoons of mayonnaise. This makes sufficient for six liberal servings.

Mashed Potato Puff: Beat one egg and add with one cup grated cheese, salt, pepper and one-third cup diluted evaporated milk in two cups hot fat. Beat. Add one tablespoon butter, beat with fork until fluffy and pile heaping into a buttered baking dish. Dot with one tablespoon butter, and place in a moderate oven. Bake thirty minutes or until browned.

Farm and Agricultural News

FARM AND HOME

Plenty of clean water for laying hens is considered highly important. An egg is 60 percent water. If hens do not have good water before them at all times they may not eat enough to produce the maximum number of eggs.

One acre is the minimum which may be taken out of production at any year by a farmer who signs the 1936-39 cotton contract. Where the base acreage is not more than five acres the entire base may be taken out of production and the producer will receive adjustment payments on the entire five acres.

More farmers than ever before are taking inventories on their property this January. With this listing of their ownership, they will be able to know from year to year whether they are "getting ahead" or "falling behind."

Lespedeza straw is being used by many Kentucky farmers to help carry dry cows and young stock through the winter. It is not so good as lucerne hay, especially for cows in milk, but does fairly well for stock cattle.

Clover Leaf Rolls: Pull off small portions of light dough and shape into small balls. Place three balls in a greased muffin tin and brush with melted butter. Set pan in a warm place and let stand until the rolls double in size. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in a hot oven.

To prevent rings, in cleaning spots from clothes, brush from the wrong side. Use sparingly of the cleaning fluid, brush lightly and dry quickly. A blotter or other absorbent material should be used beneath the spot.

CORN - HOG PROGRAM

Duration of Contract — Two years, December 1, 1935, to November 30, 1937.

Bases — Establishment by community committees. Review, to assure uniformity, by county allotment committee. Both appraisal and review to be in accordance with standards prescribed by Secretary.

Corn Adjustment in 1936 — From 10 to 30 per cent of corn base, with exact percentage at option of producer. Planting of not less than 25 percent of base acreage required.

Hog Adjustment in 1936 — To receive maximum payment, producer shall raise not less than 50 percent and not more than 100 percent of his corn base or adjustment below 75 percent of that base not to be required.

Hog Adjustment in 1937 — To secure maximum payment, producer will not be asked to raise more than 60 percent nor make a downward adjustment of more than 25 percent of his assigned market base.

Corn Payments — In 1936, two installments, about August 1 and about December 31, at rate of 35 cents per bushel, times the appraised yield, times the adjustment corn acreage. The 1937 rate per bushel to be not less than 30 cents; announcement of rate by November 30, 1936.

Hog Payments. — In one installment as soon as possible after final compliance check at close of each year. The 1936 rate will be $1.25 per head for each hog in the market base. The 1937 rate will not be less than the 1936 rate.

Division of Corn Payments — Tenant and landlord share according to respective interests in assigned corn base and as the corn crops under the lease are divided on each separately owned tract. As an alternative method, subject to approval of allotment committee, tenant and landlord may make division according to number of adjustment acres on each separately owned tract.

Division of Hog Payments — Tenant and stock-share-landlord divide payments as they divide hog crop or proceeds from sales of hogs under the lease.

SAYS MICE DAMAGE MANY FRUIT TREES

Calling fruit producers attention to the necessity of protection trees against mice at this time of year, when green feed is scarce, W. W. Magill, of the Kentucky College of Agriculture, says these rodents probably are more destructive than the notorious San Jose scale.

While some persons think mice damage only young trees, Magill points out that he has seen mature trees, capable of producing 40 bushels of apples, completely killed by mice. He mentioned a 15 acre orchard that had been almost wholly ruined by the pest.

Control of mice is by poisoned bait made of crushed oats, steam grain then coated with paraffin. This treated with strychnine and the bait is best had from the U. S. Biological Survey, Lafayette, Ind., where it may be purchased in five pound lots for about 15 cents a pound. A pound usually is sufficient to treat an acre of orchard. Similar bait may be had from commercial firms handling orchard supplies.

A specimen of 30 of the poisoned bait is placed in the run-ways of the mice, in their dens if they can be found. To keep rain from damaging the bait, it may be wrapped in waxed paper, such as comes around bread. The mice like the wax, and will eat through the paper into the oats.

Clearing away from the trunks of the trees, weeds, straw, manure and other trash helps to destroy the dens of the mice.

Wrapping tree trunks with paper will tend to prevent injury by rabbits.

REHABILITATION CLIENTS

"He regained his self-respect." These words, in the report of a Kentucky rehabilitation client, are typical of the gratitude and new confidence in the future noted by county resettlement supervisors of the Resettlement Administration in recent reports. The supervisors are operating under Earl Mayhew, 119 Washington St., Lexington, Ky. state rural resettlement director.

The farmer referred to — one of several hundred typical Kentucky cases — lives in Clark county. He is 34 years old and has a wife and five children. With the aid of the Resettlement Administration, he made a crop this year and stayed off relief. His main accomplishment, the county supervisor stated, was that "he regained his self-respect."

The farmer himself said: "I don't see how we could have kept going without government help."

Widow's Have Suffered.

Not without a certain amount of grim humor were the copies of some of the Kentucky rehabilitation clients, shown in the supervisors' report.

For instance, take the case of a 35 year old Hopkins County farmer, who found himself in desperate straits during the depression trying to make a living for himself, his wife and five children on a 280-acre farm.

"If it had not been for the Resettlement Administration," he related, "We would have suffered on the throne of poverty at the pearly gates of the dole."

This farmer was described by the supervisor as "an honest man, of good moral character, an anxious one to maintain a good standard for his family."

Becomes Outstanding Farmer

A young Jackson County farmer made a particularly good impression on his supervisor. At the age of 32 years old, with a wife and one baby, made a crop this year under the rehabilitation program of the Resettlement Administration on his 65 acre farm. This fall found him with a new lease on life after he had made his schedule payment to the government on his loan.

"He is becoming an outstanding farmer and citizen of his community," the Supervisor reported.

College Grad Makes Good.

Among the rehabilitation clients in Kentucky this year was a college graduate — a 28 year old farmer with a wife and one baby in Shelby County. He made his crop this year under a Resettlement Administration loan and paid the government back on the scheduled date. "He has had many reverses but is hard worker and is making good," the supervisor stated.

Needs Were Desperate.

Most of the farmers taken into the rehabilitation program in Kentucky were desperately in need of help, according to the supervisors' reports. In response to the question, "what would you have done without government aid?" here are some of the typical replies:

"We wouldn't have had a decent standard of living."

"I couldn't have kept the children in school."

"We would have lost the farm."

"I guess we would have landed in the poor house."

"My family would have suffered for food and clothing."

"We would have just existed from hand to mouth."

POINTERS I HAVE KNOWN

Some exceptionally interesting little stories about bird dogs and remarkable points are told by Archibald Rutledge in an article in the current Progressive Farmer. He says in part —

"For example, there was Ned, a liver-colored pointer. He was the kind of dog who teaches a man how to hunt quail. One day he trailed a covey over a high bare hill. In a few minutes I saw him reappear, stepping as if he were walking on eggs. He kept coming in this singular manner until he was sure he had my attention. Then he waited for me until I came up. Turning then, he began his stalk of the birds, every now and then looking back to be sure I was following. At last he came to his point, and by that time I was just where I should have been."

"Of all the points that I have ever seen a bird dog make, that of the White Star was the best. This English setter of mine, one day while we were hunting along the line of an old rail fence, decided to jump the fence and try the luck on the other side. A top rail had become dislodged and was balanced at right angles to the line of the fence. In crossing, the dog set on this, and I was amused to see him sway there for a moment on what was a regular set for his equilibrium and with the rail for his equilibrium, and with the rail gently swaying up and down, he froze to a point. He held his stance with his whole body stiffening, lifted and lowered with the rocking of the rail. I crossed the fence and flushed a covey of quail almost under his nose.

"I have noticed that when a bird dog points, he appears to go into a trance; his eyes have a far-away look; and over his whole demeanor comes a complete transformation. I have had a dog standing in a buggy before me, come to a point on quail beside the road. On that occasion I lifted the dog (still rigidly pointing) out of the buggy, and set it on the ground, still as immobile as a statue."

 state. The buildings will be divided among the various science departments, Agriculture and industrial arts will be housed on the ground floor; the first floor will be devoted to geology, physics, mathematics and geography; the second floor will be taken by the biology and chemistry departments, and home economics and chemistry will be taught on the third floor.

The building is being planned for the future. All pipes are easily accessible and connections are found every 18 feet for gas, water (hot and cold), electricity (D. C. and A. C.), air and soil.

The main entrance hall will have a huge display cabinet which will be rotated among the departments. Each floor will have two smaller display cabinets at each end of the building.

A massive pendulum, designed by the distinguished French scientist, Foucault, will be built into the corridor wall on the second floor. Windows will permit students to observe the rotation of the earth.
