Weed From Rowan County Averages From $22 To $24

Farmers Here Will Realize More Than $60,000 From Tobacco DAVID EPPERHART SELLS CROP FOR $37 AVERAGE Very Few Crops Have Sold For Less Than $20 Per Hundred

Rowan County's tobacco crop of 1937 will bring the producers of the crop more than $60,000 if the remainder of the crop sells as well as the first part has gold. There were 425 acres of tobacco in the county this year which will weigh an average of about 700 pounds per acre. At least 75 per cent of the tobacco raised in the county has been sold and it averaged from $22 to $24 cents per pound.

Prices received by some of the better tobacco growers is as follows: David Epperhart, $37.00 per hundred; J. E. Messer, $31.00 per hundred; C. T. Martin, $29.00 per hundred; Tilman Jones, $27.00 per hundred; Glenn Fralley, $26.00 per hundred, and S. J. Linton received $24.90 per hundred. Very few crops have sold for less than $20.00 per hundred.

The crop produced and sold by David Epperhart of the Little Branch Community has set the highest price of any crop reported that was grown in Rowan County. This crop of 1,860 pounds was produced on 1 1/2 acres of land, making the yield a little more than 1,300 pounds per acre. This is almost double the amount grown on the average. The crop brought $37.00 per hundred.

Mr. Epperhart used 800 pounds of fertilizer to the acre, 500 pounds of fertilizer to the acre, 200 pounds of fertilizer to the acre, 200 pounds of fertilizer to the acre, and the other 400 pounds was a special tobacco fertilizer. Farmers who have used fertilizer liberally are reporting heavier yields and better prices than those who have not used fertilizer.

TO TAKE SEAT ON CITY COUNCIL

Mr. Havens was born in Rowan County and has spent practically his entire life here. He was named after Dr. Frank C. Button, first president of the Morehead Normal School and the Morehead State Teachers College. Later Mr. Havens attended this school. Mr. Havens operated the first bakery here and instituted the first truck delivery in the city. He is a member of the Jr. O. U. A.

FRANK HAVENS Among the City Officers that will take office on January 3, there are Frank Havens, Owner and Manager of the Big Store, elected on the Council.

Other city officers who take seat at the same time are Mayor Warren C. Lippin, Police Judge Lee Stewart (incumbent); and Councilmen N. E. Kennard, S. P. Caudill, incumbents; Austin Riddle, Bill Hudgens and E. D. Patton.

2,300,000 in C. C. C. Camps Available

Ready to Defend Country Says Director of Corps Robert Fehner, Miami, Fla., national Civilian Conservation Corps director, said recently the United States has 2,300,000 youths trained in C. C. C. camps who are ready to act as a volunteer army in an emergency.

The C. C. C. men are not militarized in the ordinary sense of the word, Fehner said, "their training is such that they are about 85 per cent prepared for military life."

"The 300,000 boys now in camp are the 2,000,000 who were trained before them could be turned into first-class fighting men at almost an instant's notice."

Fehner said in an interview the military aspect of the CCC was unintentional. Since its inception by President Roosevelt in March, 1933, he said, the CCC has partly solved a tremendous unemployment situation, helped prevent crime by giving footloose young men fruitful work, and has wrought "literal miracles" in conservation projects.

Aside from that, however, he said the CCC has provided a gigantic protective body which could back up the Nation's standing army in any emergency.

CCC men, Fehner said, have been taught discipline, how to live in large groups harmoniously, to care for themselves, and to maintain rigid sanitation.

"It is such training," he said, "that constitutes the groundwork for an army of forces. The manual of arms and drill formations are but a very small part of a soldier's training."

Please note the windows will close at 2:00 o'clock on Saturdays. MATTHEW M. BURNS, Postmaster.

MOREHEAD CO-OPERATES AN EDITORIAL

Civic pride and community enterprise in Morehead was never more manifested than it is at Christmas-time this year.

Many homes in the city were decorated the most beautifully that we have ever seen them, spurred by prizes offered by the Morehead Woman's Club, the Rowan County Woman's Club and the City Council. Morehead residents attempted U. of Ky. Library

Morehead could well be proud of these decorations which were bound to leave a lasting and favorable impression on any visitor or stranger. Most of the underprivileged children and the unfortunate homes in Morehead were able to enjoy a real Christmas through gift baskets and other donations. To see a child's eyes light up and a smile come to its lips is well worth all the charity work that was done.

Yes, Morehead can well be proud of itself this Christmas.

Funeral Rites For Mrs. S. E. Logan Conducted Sunday

Funeral rites for Mrs. S. E. Logan, 75, were held at Mt. Pisgah Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in the Mt. Pisgah cemetery. The Rev. B. H. Kazee officiated at the rites which were under the direction of the Lane Funeral Home.

Mrs. Logan died December 24 after a ten days illness. Her death was ascribed to complications. She was born in Morehead September 1, 1863. She had spent practically her entire life here. Her husband preceded her in death.

Surviving are four sons: I. A. Logan, Mark H. Logan, Theodore Logan and S. W. Logan; two daughters, Sadie Logan and Mrs. Alice Howard, and a niece, Evelyn Logan.

Morehead Youths In Golden Gloves Match

Two of Morehead's amateur boxers already are entered in the Herald-Leader Golden Gloves Tournament to be held at Lexington February 1-4 and a number of other local boys are expected to be among the entrants. Morehead amateurs who have entered and the divisions in which they will fight are: James Babb, lightweight, and Joe Jackson, middleweight. The winner in each division of the Lexington tournament will receive a free trip to the National Golden Gloves Tournament in Chicago February 28-March 1-2.

Flemingsburg Store Robbed Of $200

Three hold-up men Monday night raided the grocery of Mr. and Mrs. Penn Doyle on Fox Springs Street, four blocks from the center of Flemingsburg and fled with $200.

Two of the gun-men backed the proprietors against the wall with live ammunition, and the third rifled the cash register of its contents. They escaped in a Ford V-8 car.

Cupid Fires Arrows With True Aim In Rowan County During Holiday Season

Cupid fired his arrows with unerring accuracy during the holiday season in Morehead with the office of County Clerk issuing more licenses to wed than in any other week since Clerk Vernon Alfrey has been in office.

The Clerk's office reported there was a rush for marriage licenses all during the week with the peak being reached on Christmas eve. Among those who secured licenses were: Emitt Dickerson, 42, brick yard worker, and Corrie Huff, 51, widowed, both of Poplar Plains, Ky. Claude Patton, 21, single, farmer of Owingsville, Ky., and Arthur Brown, 25, single, machineist and Hazel Keith, 22, single, both of Owingsville, Ky. George E. Blizzard, 21, single, teacher, and Hazel Flannery, 21, single, both of Olive Hill, Ky. John White, 23, divorced, farmer, of Morehead, and Dixie Stampler, 19, single, of Haldeman, T. J. Hamersveld, 22, single, farmer, of Tipton, Ky., and Naomi Reed, 21, single, of Owingsville.

Mrs. Matt Cassidy Wins First Award In Lighting Contest

Color Scheme Of Blue Lights Brings Top Prize Of Twenty Dollars

CITY AWARDED FIRST FOR BUSINESS HOUSES

Mrs. G. D. Downing Takes Second-Place For Home Decoration

A lighting pattern consisting entirely of blue lights carried off the first prize of $20 in the Christmas Tree home decorating campaign here which was sponsored by the Morehead Woman's Club, the Rowan County Woman's Club and the City of Morehead.

On the books the winner is shown as Mrs. Matt Cassidy, but ever, Mrs. Cassidy explained today that "the children" did all the arranging and decorating and to them should go the credit.

On each side of the entrance to the Cassidy home there was placed two trees with blue lights. Two smaller trees likewise lighted with blue were at the outer ends. Blue candles were placed at the base of each tree. The trees and blue lights were the only decorations. That, in brief is a partial description of the manner in which the contest was won at this home was made so pleasing that it carried off first honors over nearly a hundred others which were judged.

Mrs. G. D. Downing, who annually has one of the best decorated homes in the city at Christmas time won second prize and ten dollars. The C. E. Bishop Drug Company carried off top honors in the business house division and won twenty dollars. The second prize of ten dollars was awarded the J. A. Allen Meat Market. The J. A. Lamp, donated by the Kentucky Power and Light Company was awarded Battson's Drug Store.

It was intended originally to award the lamp to the best decorated dormitory at the Morehead State Teachers College, but it was impossible to judge since school was out for the holidays.

The Christmas Tree Lighting was Mrs. W. C. Lippin, Miss Amelia Duley and the Rev. B. H. Kazee.

Court Rules Stork Derby Is Legal

Woman Who Bears 11 Children In 10 Years Wins Christmas Prize

The famous stork derby will be held in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, is legal. All the courts have to do now is determine who gets the money.

Canada's highest court ruled yesterday that the rich and eccentric Toronto attorney had a right to bequeath his $50,000 - estimated at more than $500,000 - to the mother who bore twelve children in Toronto during a ten-year period dating from his death; but it ruled also that illegitimate children don't count. Yesterday's decision came simultaneously with news from Toronto that Mrs. Martin Kenny, the leading contender for the fortune, is in danger following the birth of a child - her sixteenth, according to Mrs. Kenny's lawyer, though other mothers have disputed Kenny's claim.

Mrs. Kenny claims to have given birth to 11 children during the ten-year period specified by the will, but only nine of them are registered, as required by the will.

Government Scores Business Practices

Assistant Attorney General Plays Short-Sighted Leadership

A return to New Deal militancy in fighting chiselings elements of the industrial leadership as well today, as leaders in Congress ruled to Assistant Attorney General Robert H. Jackson's radio charge Monday night that large industry wants government cooperation only "on its own terms."

Jackson's denunciation of shortsighted industrial leadership as having led to monopolistic price exactions, causing the slump, attracted widespread attention. A 1. A declaration of Assistant Attorney General Carl Hatch of New Mexico favoring the inclusion of monopolistic practices in the forthcoming investigation of relief and employment conditions by a special Senate committee.

Three Injured In Auto Wreck

A head-on collision between automobiles Thursday at 1:30 p. m. on the Maysville-Germantown road seven miles west of Maysville resulted in injuries to three persons - two seriously hurt. Those brought to Hayswood hospital at Maysville were: Miss Martha Adkins, 23, fractured neck; Estill Gillum, 23, cuts and bruises about the face and head, both of Sandy Hook, Elliott county; Miss Garnet Insko, of Germantown, both ankles broken.

Miss Adkins and Miss Adkins were passengers in a coupe driven by Harold Click of Sandy Hook, who was injured, en route to Middleburg, Ohio, where he was attending Christmas with friends and relatives. Traveling eastward, the Click car collided with that driven by Miss Insko, who was alone going westward.

Both cars were demolished, with motors jammed back into the passenger compartments. To the east attributed the fractures of Miss Insko's ankles and Miss Adkins' knee.

Trail Barber Shop Changes Location

Martin and Stagg Barber Shop is being moved this week from its present location in the Caskey Building three doors west from its former location on the Barber Shop. The shop has changed its name to "The Trail Barber Shop" and is now owned by Orville Martin and Howard Stagg. New equipment is being added throughout. A taxi stand will be placed in the former location of the Barber Shop.

Morehead - This Week

Attorney Lester Hogg, of Morehead, Rowan County Chairman of the Democratic party, will second the nomination of Joe B. Bates for Congress when Chambermen from the various counties meet after the Honorable Fred M. Vinson resigns, it has been reliably learned.

Mr. Bates is practically assured of getting the 20th district county chairmen, which means that his only opposition in the special primary election will be the Republican. From Ashtand comes reports that the GOP will meet a hard fight in the special election, but that the party will put up a candidate at that time.

AMERICA IN CHINA

The Panay is not to be another Maine or even a Lusitania. The United States will not stampee into war with Japan in a flare of resentment...

It is well to understand these differences in considering American policy in the Far East. For on the assumption that conditions are the same, two extreme courses are urged.

The first course is so little favored that only a most unlikely change in national feeling would support it. The second is rather widely urged, and not altogether by those whose desire for peace is greater than their knowledge of the situation.

Yet the very concern of the Japanese people and their Government over the Panay incident indicates that Japan may not do just what she pleases in China.

The State Department is convinced that firm but calm maintenance of American rights is actually more conducive to peaceful relations with Japan than complete abandonment of those rights would agree.

There are indications that in so far as the Tokyo Government can control the military it will try to respect the rights of neutral nations...

Certainly the United States is not going to undertake the task alone. And it is to be hoped that current reports from Washington indicate that the Panay incident may be used as an excuse for an expanded arms program...

THE McCARRAN-LEA BILL

At the last session of Congress, a bill was introduced which was given the almost unanimous approval of those who studied it.

This is the McCarran-Lea bill, whose purpose is to assure the stable development of America's commercial airlines by placing them under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The ICC regulates all the nation's railroads, along with bus and truck lines doing an interstate business. It is an independent bureau, wisely placed beyond partisan influence by the law which created it many years ago.

The bill has been endorsed by air line managers, pilots and organizations, and by experts not connected with the industry.

THE END OF THE "POSTAGE STAMP WAR"

The so-called postage stamp war between Nicaragua and Honduras has been settled peacefully and speedily through the mediatory efforts of the United States, Venezuela and Costa Rica.

The two nations agree to withdraw their troops from each other's territory which they rushed last fall when Nicaragua issued a postage stamp bearing a map of the country on which territory claimed by Honduras and held to belong to Honduras by an arbitration commission was marked "territory in dispute."

Much of the credit for the settlement is accorded to Dr. Frank P. Corridan, United States Minister to Panama, who represented the United States in the peace negotiations.

THE NEW YEAR SHOULD BRING BETTER THINGS

We are about to enter upon a New Year with our eyes and hearts turned joyfully and expectantly to greater things during 1938.

The working man, many of whom lost employment during the latter part of 1937, may well look forward to better things in 1938.

Business is coming back and as we gaze into the future of the New Year we can optimistically and truthfully expect the most prosperous year we have had for many seasons.

Sunday School Lesson

LESSON FOR JANUARY 2

The Gospel of Mark: A PREVIEW

LESSON TEXT—Mark 10:25-45. GOLDEN TEXT—And whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be the servant of all.—Mark 10:44

PRIMARY TOPIC—What Two Brothers Asked Jesus. JUNIOR TOPIC—Who Are the Great?

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Look at the Gospel of Mark. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Mark's Gospel: Author, Origin, Theme.

Beginning a New Year is always a thrilling experience. The thought of an unwritten record is pleasant one and at the same time most sobering.

Next to having New Year's day fall on Sunday, it is most appropriate that the Lord's day should come between the holiday of yesterday spent with our family and friends and the work week of tomorrow, when we begin the year's labors.

We begin today a six-month series of lessons on the Gospel of Mark, which is the "Gospel of the Servant of God." It is characterized by its directness, its spontaneity, its energy and its power.

Before considering our lesson for today, we would understand the lesson text chosen for our "preview" of the Gospel in one which shows the weakness of human ambitions as contrasted with the true spirit of humble service which characterized Christ.

I. Selfish Ambition Rebuked.—Ambition is not in itself wrong but when it becomes so extreme that it projects itself forward at the expense of others it becomes selfish and destructive.

The lesson text chosen for our "preview" of the Gospel in one which shows the weakness of human ambitions as contrasted with the true spirit of humble service which characterized Christ.

DON'T BE TOO FRISKY, YOUNG FELLOW

seeks to be glorified before it is crucified, exalted before it is abused." Their own ignorance of what was involved, their own weakness, their observation of God's hand in the carrying out of his own plans, should have deterred them.

Christianity is not organized after the manner of secular organizations. The Son of man came not to be ministered unto but to minister.

Anyone who observes with eyes a little clear knows that the church of Jesus Christ is hindered most seriously by the presence of pride and selfish ambition. Some people will not work unless they can rule. Their money is withheld unless it buys for them dominating interests.

But it amounts to exactly the same thing, and it is all entirely foreign to the spirit of Christ. The true Christians who humbly serve the Lord? Yes, praise his name, there are many, and wherever they are found they are the salt of the earth.

For many years ginseng has been grown through this area and used to be regularly quoted on the produce markets. Ginseng is still a very popular medicine among the Chinese and other Eastern races.

The ginseng plant grows wild in various parts of eastern Asia, and to a lesser extent in other parts of the world. The supply of ginseng is rapidly becoming exhausted and most of the roots now on the market are cultivated.

The Chinese consider the medicinal properties of cultivated ginseng far inferior to those of the wild root. A piece of the wild root, according to a recent analysis, is about 10 per cent more valuable than the cultivated ginseng.

The United States is by far the largest foreign supplier of ginseng to China. Records show that in the last 13 years total ginseng shipments from the United States to China amounted to 2,378,000 pounds, valued at approximately $25,000,000. The United States is the principal source of supply for ginseng.

Imports from North China usually amount to less than 50 per cent of those from the United States while the ginseng imported from Java, Ceylon, and Formosa, is about 10 per cent. It is a fact, however, that any genuine ginseng can be sold in China at a huge profit. As a matter of fact, in order to yield even a small mar-

GREECE PUTS MILEAGE TAX ON AUTOMOBILES

Greece recently inaugurated a motor vehicle tax based on mileage, according to a report to the Louisville District Office of the Commerce Department.

The tax is designed as a further step to control the highway transportation and to derive additional revenue from the operation of motor vehicles. The tax is applied to motor buses or passenger cars for hire as well as private passenger cars operated beyond a specified radius of the place of registration of the vehicle on highways owned by the government on a monopoly basis.

The government-controlled highways include all of the principal routes in Greece. Vehicles operated by the government and municipalities; by physicians; and those owned by tourists are exempt from the tax.

TURKEY BUYING MAINE MAKE U. S. REFRIGERATORS

The Turkish market for electric refrigerators, which did not develop until recently, is growing steadily, according to a report to the Louisville District Office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Electric refrigerator sales in Turkey did not exceed $5 annually prior to 1933. Sales during 1935 are estimated at $250 of which approximately 2,500 were of United States origin, it representing an approximate increase of 25 per cent over 1934 sales while sales by the nearest foreign competitor were about 35 per cent lower than during the

RESUME

Marie Walewka, wife of Count Walewski, elderly Polish diplomat, is singled out for attention by Napoleon when he attends a ball held in his honor by Polish noblemen in Warsaw. The diplomat hopes to interest him in demanding from Russia the freedom of Poland. Their efforts are a complete failure. Realizing his interest in Marie, they appeal to her husband to send her to Napoleon to plead for them. Marie does so and discovers he has no interest in the Polish cause but is determined in his conquest of her. She pleads desperately for her country, but when Napoleon seizes her in his arms and kisses her, she finds herself helpless to resist him.

Chapter Four

LOVE TAKES A HAND

Day followed day in the snow-bound castle at Walewka to which Marie fled alone after her encounter with Napoleon. The long evenings found her in an arm-chair brooding before the fire-place. What answer was there to her problem? She loved Napoleon, that she knew; yet he had added insult to injury by sending her jewels as if to pay her for her favor. Poland was not free—and she was sullied. The night came at last when the sound of horses riding into the courtyard broke the silence of her thoughts. A sharp knock at the door brought Marie out of her chair. "What is it?" she asked of Stephen, her servant. He hurried to answer the knock. "French soldiers," he replied, "asking to be quartered for the night. Their general is coming. Marie's face filled with distress at the prospect of being surrounded by strangers. "Prepare quarters for them," she called. "Find out how many there are—they'll be hungry." She started quickly toward the hall, then stopped short.

Napoleon stood in the doorway. "I hope you will not resent our intrusion too keenly." His voice was level, but his eyes burned into hers. "It would be of service if our staff could be quartered here for the night." She gazed at him unable to answer; then, pulling herself together, bade him welcome in the Polish tradition. "Eat of our bread and salt in welcome to this house," she said with cold formality. "A guest has entered this house. God has entered it."

"You are gracious, Marie Walewka," he replied. "I hope Your Majesty will be comfortable," she answered coolly, rising from his chair to stand with his back to the fire, his hands behind him, watching the door through which Marie must come. She appeared at last and waited in the doorway. "Come in," he called. "Is that a command, Sire?" she asked coldly. "Yes, since you insist." He pointed to a chair. "Sit down, Marie Walewka."

"She obeyed without comment. He placed a chair in front of her, seating himself in it. "You know why I came?" he asked. She remained silent. "I had to come." His voice faltered. "I had to see you again. I had to ask you to forgive me." "For what, Your Majesty," she asked bluntly. "Isn't it punishment enough for you to ask?" "Your Majesty commanded me to stay—but surely not to reproach him," she observed. "I have come to bring you the spoils of a victory you did not seek," he replied. "My repentance and my admiration."

"Your Majesty has already expressed your admiration lavishly," she answered and winced inwardly as she thought of the jewels he had sent her. "I beg to spare me your penitence." "Marie!" he appealed, "I am your friend."

"The time for friendship is past," she paused briefly. "And now, Sire, have I your permission to return?" "If you insist." She curtained and made for the door. "Marie!" She stopped short. He walked over to her. "Marie, in that one movement I saw you going through the door the room became unbearable. I am lonely."

"Not I!" she cried—"but the truth, Sire, you stand in the sun." "My victories stand in the sun, Marie," he answered simply. "But I have known defeats. When was a small boy, I was poor, timid, despised. There was a great fire in school and it was bitterly cold. I used to try to get near the fire, but the bigger boys crowded me away, I could never get warm enough. I've never been warm since. That was defeat."

"She heard him in silence. "When I was twenty-seven I left the woman I adored to lead an Army of the Republic," the World acclaimed me as the savior of France. My wife received the news in the arms of other men. That was defeat."

He paused. No word fell between them; no sound except the soft crackling of the fire. Marie struggled with herself to overcome the wave of love and sympathy that surged through her. "The ties of blood are stronger in me. I have placed my brothers and sisters upon thrones. They have rewarded me with their quarrels—their jealousies—their selfishness. That is another defeat." He bent his head. "And I sighed. The next time you see me standing in the sun, remember these things." He lifted his hand to her. "Goodnight, Madame."

She gazed at him irresolutely. "Goodnight, Sire." She fled from the room and left her there to follow him with her eyes as he entered a second drawing room; as he paused in the light of the candles, to stare yearningly out into the pale night. A conqueror? No. He was a man so saddened by defeat as to tear at her very heart. Quickly she followed and stood softly behind him.

"I love you, Marie," he whispered without looking toward her. "Without a word, she placed her arm at his side. He took her in his arms and kissed her." She clung to him rapturously. "I love you, Marie," he repeated. "I tried to put you out of my mind. Ah, Marie, unhappiness is the only death. The other is merely the locking of an empty cage with you at my side I can achieve my dream."

"Your dream of more glory?" she asked fearfully. "Haven't you had enough?" "My dream of eternal peace," he replied. "I want to achieve the impossible—peace in Europe. I want to destroy forever the ever-burning balance of power that means war with every tilt of the scale. Victories breed wars of revenge. Wars of revenge breed wars of reprisal."

"When with it end?" she cried. "Not when we have a united Europe—a United States of Europe." "I believe in you," she whispered fervently. "And I need your belief," he answered simply.

"I will never long for spring again," she sighed. "In the spring you will have to go to war. I will be in danger—fighting. I shall always long for winter when you will be safe." "Marie," he pleaded, "Come with me to Prussia."

"I warn you, Sire," she smiled her face glowing. "I have known always that I would love only once. Do you want a love like that—a love that lasts forever?" "Will you come with me?" was his answer. "I shall walk the byways and backroads of the world gladly to be near you—for as long as you want me," she replied and lifted her lips to his.

"VENEZUELA WANTS U. S. HORSES AND DONKEYS"

World inquiries for the purchase of a diverse assortment of merchandise of United States origin ranging from paraffin kerosene to fence posts have been reported to Washington this week by representatives of the Department of State and Commerce stationed in the world's commercial centers and just relayed to the Louisville District Office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

Brazil has inquired for the purchase of phosphate and superphosphate in lots of 300 tons. South Africa is in the market for farm-lighting plants; Venezuela wants to buy horses and glaucy educational motion pictures are wanted in Sweden.

Radio receiving sets, canned fruit and fruit juices, shelled and unshelled nuts, rice, printing inks, personal-use scales, machinery for manufacturing boots and shoes, Diesel engines, printing machinery and equipment, refrigeration units, power-driven drag saws, lead and copper in ingots, used blankets and clothing, hosiery and underwear, and novelty cotton eggs are included among the merchandise inquired for.

HEAVY INCREASE IN U. S. FARM TOOL SALES ABROAD

Exports of farm implements and machinery from the United States in October were valued at $6,826,322, an increase of 41 per cent over the corresponding shipments in October, 1936, valued at $4,852,128.

While there was a slight seasonal decline as compared with the foreign sales during September of this year, total sales for the first ten months of this year, aggregating $64,114,336, show an increase of 73 per cent over the $37,065,402 exported during the corresponding period in 1936.

FARM For Sale

Having broken up housekeeping, I desire to sell privately my farm on the Locust Turnpike, 5 miles South of Flemingsburg.

This farm consists of 170 acres of good limestone land, all well set in blue grass, except 16 acres in wheat. Has upon it a new modern brick house, 6 rooms, basement under all, bath, electric lights, telephone and all conveniences, a good tenant house, stock and tobacco barn 60x60, stripping room, two cribs, garage and unfalling water. It has been plowed but little in a number of years and is ready for tobacco.

Capitol Comments

In a few more days Kentucky will parade, for public inspection, its new, 1938 model General Assembly. . . . It is streamlined, high powered and air conditioned, and comes equipped with all of the latest gadgets. . . . Unless the engineers who designed it built and placed it on the market, overlooked some major detail in the making, it should be a slick running instrument. . . . In only a few hours it will begin to purr. . . . It will have the distinction of being the first Legislature to come to Frankfort and take its seat, knowing, for the most part, just what is in store for it in the way of legislative measures.

The Legislative Council, created by the Reorganization Bill, has listened to, talked with and taken advice from all sides on all questions that are concurrent with the coming session and as a result of months of hard work, the Council, with Lieutenant Governor Johnson as Ex-officio chairman and Speaker John Kirtley of the House as his right hand man, has mapped all sorts of legislation to be presented to those two bodies. . . . It will mark the first regular session of the Legislature in Kentucky when the solon will take their places, knowing what pieces they are about to review.

Governor Chandler has mapped his desire, a three point program which is "No more taxes," let the present revenue set up as is, and a $27,000,000 budget for each of the next two fiscal years. . . . His program amounts to this: "Please let my organization of the State government stand as it now stands. . . . Already most of the newly elected senators and representatives have visited and congratulated, just getting acclimated. . . . 103 Democrats in the two branches have been asked to come early for a pre-session caucus which will be held Monday, January 3. . . . At that time the slate for the higher posts in House and Senate will be completed. . . . That slate is virtually complete now. . . . At the present sitting Sherman Goodpaster, insurance Commissioner, is billed to be clerk of the Senate, one of the most important jobs that the senators have to offer. . . . Bill Phillips is to be Goodpaster's assistant. . . . As advertised in this column early in November, Edwin C. Dawson, a veteran of the Senate, will meet with little or no opposition for president pro-tem of the Senate. . . . Just in any event you had forgotten, the president pro-tem of the Senate is the third ranking State officer. . . . If, by chance, both the governor and the lieutenant governor are out of the State at the same time, the President pro-tem of the Senate becomes chief runner for the State. . . . The other posts in the Senate are not definitely settled as yet. . . . In the House, Marshall Barnes, defeated legislative candidate from Ohio County, will attend the meetings as chief clerk of the House. . . . Brooks Hargrove, who held this job last year, will likely be assistant clerk. . . . John Kirtley will again be speaker. . . . John Hummatt of Kenton County will be Democratic Floor leader in the House, with Garland Embry of Grayson County as the minority leader. . . . The floor leaders in the Senate will remain the same as Ralph Gilbert of Shelbyville, Democrat, and Ray Moss, Pineville, Republican, have no opposition for the jobs.

 Salve, Nose Drops, Minutes
 Try "Rub-My-Tum"-World's Best Linctant

An effort is being made here in Frankfort to get the State to purchase from the Government, the old Frankfort Postoffice and transpose it into a State office building. . . . The Old Postoffice is a fine building and the State needs new buildings but whether the Postoffice would be suitable, because of its size, is questionable. This building would hardly house more than one of the larger departments and its cost would be a bit high. . . . The folk of Frankfort can get a new government building of proper disposal can be made of the old one. . . .

Two of Kentucky's most distinguished Democrats died within a few hours of each other. Judge Robert Bingham, Ambassador to the Court of St. James, died Saturday in a Baltimore Hospital of a rare disease. Joe Morris, New Castle, former Secretary to Congressman J. Campbell Cantrell, died Tuesday at his home in New Castle. Both were highly respected figures in political circles. . . . The loss of both will be felt deeply ly in Frankfort, although neither did much active work here in recent years but both had a far-reaching influence that was greatly felt especially when highly important affairs were to be dealt with. . . .

Magistrates who hold court in Kentucky are on the spot again. Attorney General Hubert Meredith has sent out an investigating party to check up on alleged magistrates that are being indicted in some of these courts. . . . In northern Kentucky there is a magistrate's court which has been so active in hauling in truck operators and automobilists that numerous complaints were being filed and as a result the automobile clubs of not only this State but other states are advising motorists to avoid that section. . . . It seems like trucks were the best prey. . . . This business of hauling trucks into court for such offenses as lacking one of having sufficient clearance lights, although the truck was moving in daylight and a dozen other offenses just as trivial, brought the protests. . . . The truckmen are doing their best to avoid this section. . . . It is hurting not only the State's reputation for hospitality but is knocking a dent in the toll bridge revenue at Covington and Newport. . . . There are other courts in the Southeast section that are being investigated also. . . .

RANDOM SIDINGS—Up to the minute there has been nothing said officially about the Congressional race which will take place up in Eastern Kentucky in the immediate future. . . . A man must be elected to replace Fred Vinson, a Federal Judge in Washington. Joe Bates of Greenup seems to be the only choice for the candidacy at this time. . . . A deep rift has been made by the Department of Welfare in the Division of Old Age Assistance. . . . The retirement caused many pensioners to be cast from the rolls. . . . A thorough recheck of the rolls is still being made and one on a note dropped in the machine, and the clerk will mail out the receipt after the bank is closed. The machines are not intended to permit reduction in bank staffs, but merely to supplement present legals in peak-rush periods.

SOIL TOO SWEET?—Increasing numbers of back-yard gardeners are profiting by the methods of 1,000-acre farmers, according to the Freeport Sulphur Company. One of the latest methods they have adopted is the delibate "souring" of over-sweet soil by adding sulphur to it. Highly alkaline land is unfavorable to the growth of not only orchard fruits, but also those two sand-beds of back-yardmen, potatoes and strawberries. Hence the growing tendency to "get over the acid side" with sulphur.

OVER FORTY?—Significant evidence that the "straining years" of the hard-working man are being extended has been found by the American Iron and Steel Institute. Two of every five steel workers or a total of 230,000 have passed forty. Of these, 170,000 are fifty years old or more. The average of all steel workers is 38—two years more than in 1930.

HEADLINES—Cigarette output sets 18th straight monthly record. Unfilled orders of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation highest in history. . . . Louisiana rice crop largest in 16 years. . . . Oil company dividends set new high in 1937. . . . C. F. Hood elected president of American Steel and Wire Co. . . . A. B. Jones, elected director of the B. F. Goodrich Co. . . . Acreage planned to winter wheat estimated at 57,492,000 acres, a fractional decline from a year ago. . . . U. S. income tax receipts show rise in fourth quarter. . . . World use of tin gains 21,000 tons. . . . Utility expansion indicated for 1938.

BOYCOTT SPREADS—The Panay incident has had an important effect on business here. The label "Made in Japan" almost overnight became much more unpopular with the American public. Retailers questioned last week revealed that business in men's hosiery is at a standstill, and privately they expressed concern over inventories of Japanese merchandise. Importers have placed no new orders in Japan for several weeks. Japan with its cheap labor costs had built up a good business here in men's hosiery. Last year imports amounted to 2,100,000 dozen pairs, equal to about 25 per cent of the comparable men's hosiery made by mills in the United States where a substantially higher living standard is enjoyed by the workers.

WASTE—One person in every 260 in the United States has an active case of tuberculosis and about one in every 1,850 died of the dread disease during 1937. The carefully computed cost of a tuberculous case to home, industry and community is around $4,000. The 500,000 cases currently active will cost the nation $2,000,000,000. It is an unnecessary waste because tuberculosis today can be prevented.

BEHIND THE SCENES . . .

GALLSTONES: Beef packers, who claim their profit on a pound of meat is so small as to be infinitesimal, utilize every inch of a cow's carcass including hoofs, horns, eyes, tongue and even the gallstones. If the animal happens to have them, it is said the butcher in the slaughter house drops the stones in a little box strapped to his waist. The larger ones bring $250 to $300 a pound and are sent to China, where they are polished into red jade. Small stones are crushed and made into incense used by young Chinese ladies. . . .

SURPLUS DISPOSAL: Faced in 1937 with an apple crop the largest in 10 years, bumper grapefruit, sweet and white potato, pear, watermelon and orange crops—all threatening to glut the market and cause ruinous prices cooperative forces joined with farmers in a unique and successful plan to stabilize commodities. As a result distressed conditions were alleviated to the benefit of the farmer by moving his crops and to the benefit of wage-earners through reduced costs. . . .

HABIT: Breaking a habit is sometimes very difficult. Two months ago the major telegraph companies filed with the Federal Communications Commission new tariffs eliminating charges for "stuntation." Said Western Union last week: "It is evident that a very large portion of telegraph users are not thus far taking advantage of the opportunity." And so it would seem that people who for years have formed the habit of writing "stop" to indicate the end of a sentence in their telegrams find it hard to stop. . . .

HEADLINES: Aircraft makers see 1938 topping this year's peak. Better inventory situation reported by retail stores. Japanese gold shipments to U. S. continue heavy. . . . Continental Oil Company employees get month's salary as bonus. . . . 1,100,000 tons of pure, elemental sulphur produced by Freeport Sulphur Company in four years operations at salt dome on marshy, Mississippi delta. . . . Rail officials expect upturn in a few weeks. . . . Eddie Rickbacher, Eastern Air Lines general manager, sees record air travel to Miami this winter. . . . Ohio Bell Telephone Co. plans $17,900,000 expansion in 1938. . . .

HEATING OIL PRICES: Freezing weather in the past two weeks has kept many household oil burners running steadily and has fractionally raised the price of oil. Prices have returned to approximately 7 1/2 cents a gallon in many areas after lapsing to 7 cents during the warm spell in December. Two factors should tend to maintain fuel oil prices at present levels or possibly raise them more this winter; the recent increase in retail coal prices under minimum price regulations laid down by the National Bituminous Coal Commission, and the increased number of oil-burning furnaces in use in private homes compared with a year ago. . . .

HIDDEN TAXES: On a percentage basis it often happens that those least able to pay, actually pay the most in taxes. A recent study made for the Twentieth Century Fund reveals that a rural dweller with only $500 cash income must pay a higher percentage than the man with an income of $1,500 or $2,000. The reason of course is that direct sales taxes and all kinds of indirect taxes that manufacturers and other producers shift to the ultimate consumer increase the cost of the basic necessities of life, such as food clothing and shelter. The less money a person earns, the more likely to be the percentage of his income used for purchase of basic necessities, and hence the paradox that the tax burden grows larger as a man's income decreases. . . .

With Hope We All Face The New Year

For many the year of 1937 has brought great blessings and happiness. For others it has meant some loved friend or member of the family lost . . . possible business reverses or other unforeseen trouble. The year of 1937 is almost gone now and soon what it brought will only be a memory. We turn our eyes to a New Year with well-founded Hope. The future may hold much in store for all of us and joyfully we turn to it for rest and comfort and prosperity. We can turn our backs on that which is gone and plan for things to come. It is our sincere hope that the good year of 1938 may fulfill your every wish and bring to you and yours greater happiness and prosperity.

During the past year the publisher of the Independent feels that remarkable steps have been taken to bring to its readers a better balanced, a cleaner, a larger and much better newspaper. The heading "One of Kentucky's Greater Weeklies" is displayed on page 1, because the staff feels that this newspaper has attained that place. It shall be our aim and ambition during the coming year to continue serving you. We welcome any suggestions or honest criticism that may be made by you for the advancement and well being of this newspaper or of this community. May the New Year hold much in store for all of us.

Machine Grades School Papers

A glimpse of a school teacher's Utopia is on display in the research department of the University of Louisville.

A machine that grades papers leaves very little to be desired in a pedagogical heaven and that's just what they have at the U. of L.—the eighteenth such machine to be installed in the United States. The table-shaped machine that will grade, with indisputable accuracy, 360 test papers an hour is causing grave head-shaking among the students. They are deploring "this machine age" and conjecturing pessimistically on "what will they think of next" in a manner unbecoming the forward-looking youth of the nation. There is a possibility, of course, that a grading machine will make instructors more test conscious. If the machine can grade 100 papers in fifteen minutes and an instructor can grade 100 papers in fifteen hours, how many instructors will be inclined to use the machine and how often? The answer is obvious at a glance, say U. of L. boys and girls. The trick of the functioning of the scoring gadget rests upon the fact that a soft led pencil mark is electrically conductive.

Together with his test questions—or statements—the student is given a printed piece of paper or answer sheet with spaces for vertical pencil marks opposite a series of numbers. The numbers correspond to the questions on the tests. For instance a test in Government given by Dr. Kenneth P. Vinsel, statement No. 1 may read: "The making of laws is the sole function of Congress." The smart boy will black in the tiny space opposite No. 1, under the column marked "A" meaning false. In blanking the space in the "T" or true column.

Statement No. 2 said: "The secretary of the House of Representatives is required by law to be a member of the House." Should the pupil inadvertently indicate the above statement is true, the machine will grade him off.

He puts a black mark in the true column on the declaration set forth in an "education" test. "A retarded pupil should not be held in the same grade for more than three years."

After the sheet is filled out with little black marks—which incidentally must be made by a special lead pencil, a key sheet is made with all the answers correct. Miss Lily Detchen, research secretary, makes out the key answer sheet by punching holes in the correct spaces. The key sheet is placed in the machine and then the test papers are passed through. Immediately when the student's answer sheet goes in the machine, the score appears on the ammeter. The operator notes the grade, the edge of the paper and it is dropped on down in the machine.

Gaining Higher Heights

THE story is told by an aviator that once, during his course of training, he was compelled to effect a forced landing. His plane was wrecked and an investigation was held. Throughout the trying experience he seemed to be much confused and condemnation, but finally he was released, and one of the superior officers said to him, "It is not the flying, it is the landing. How do you rise and take off again?" Afterward, as part of the discipline, he was compelled to repeat the full course. At first this was resented, but later he recognized that it was to his complete advantage, for in addition to the usual training, the extra months of practice and study gave him greater poise, knowledge, experience. How many of us, in contact with fellow workers, with relatives and friends, and in daily endeavor to accomplish acceptable work in the world, often feel that we have failed, that we have fallen. It is the high ideal which we have set for ourselves as a goal. Fear, anxiety, and indecision sometimes often seem to haunt our footsteps. Frustration and delay would normally materialize. As our progress with that of another, we may listen to the argument of the smaller, wherever we find ourselves, anywhere, in any place, Love always, He has never forsaken us.

The understanding of spiritual law discloses the nothingness of the material world and its claims. Failure and disaster come from ignorance of God's will. Prosperity and progress are manifested as one gains the understanding of the true, impartial law of good. God knows only good for His children. . . . She was not used to using a typewriter, but she was so determined to succeed that she was determined to succeed. Her child thought accepted this so simply and graciously that she was so determined to succeed that she was determined to succeed. Her child thought accepted this so simply and graciously that she was so determined to succeed that she was determined to succeed.

From the human standpoint alone does the struggle to be Christian seem to meet with ridicule, frustration, or defeat. Yet all such experiences teach us to trust our thoughts, our temper, our tongue. They teach us to live with people amiably, and through these lessons we may grow in grace. Every seeming fall is of value, it because of it, we seek and find God, and thereby our true selfhood, and learn to express more love to our neighbor. It is satisfyingly sweet to "rise again, stronger than before the stumble," and to attain in some measure to that "dignity of soul which sustains us through our conquests."—The Christian Science Monitor.

Money Will Be Spent To Fight Spread Of Infantile Paralysis

Federal, State, County and City health officers, "G Men" of the medical world are eager to go into action behind the new national Foundation to fight that crippling, maiming killer—Infantile Paralysis.

In every state in the Union these doctors who guard the public health have sworn to the support of the "Fight Infantile Paralysis" campaign. Keith Morgan, Chairman of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday, declared recently.

These health officers realize the importance of making a united fight against the disease. They know that infantile paralysis cannot be conquered by haphazard methods.

The new Foundation will be like a giant net reaching into every community. This is the compelling need."

ly and the wife said that the children poked up coal along the railroad tracks for a meager fire. Occasionally she found work at 50 cents a day and the older children kept house while she was gone. Another family had perhaps better living quarters, although there were only two rooms and 11 in the family. Still another mother was unabashed when she said that she and her family of five, had lived practically all year on apples which a neighbor was giving her.

LITTLE BOY BLUE

The little toy dog is covered with dust, but sturdy and staunch he stands; The little toy soldier is red with rust, and his musket molds in his hands; Time was when the little toy dog was new, and the soldier was passing fair; And that was the time when our Little Boy Blue Kicked them and put them there.

"Now don't you go till I come," he said. "And don't you make any noise!" So, toddling off to his trundle bed. He dreamt of the pretty toys; And as he was dreaming, an angel sang.

Awakened our Little Boy Blue—Oh! the years are many and the years are long, but the little toy friends are true!

Aye, faithful to Little Boy Blue they stand, Each in the same old place, awaiting the touch of a little hand. The smile of a little face; And they wonder, as waiting the long years through, In the dust of that little chair, What has become of our Little Boy Blue, Elizabeth Blair, Mary McKelvey, Ernestine Powers, Thelma Young, Frances Peratt, Frank Miller, Bobby Hodge, Billy Black, Jack Helwig, Charles Fraily, Harry and Earl Bogges.

Business Practices

ringing speech (from Congressional conservative spokesmen, indicating they recognize it as the prelude to a wide onslaught by the Administration, in the courts and in Congress, against accused big business.

On all sides, the carefully-prepared Jackson speech, with its background of circumstances, was accepted as President Roosevelt's reply to those forces which held up action on his program for special session of Congress including wage-hour regulation.

It was also accepted as a forerunner of the kind of a message that is being so eagerly awaited when it reconverts Monday.

While Mr. Roosevelt is continuing his hope of finding common agreement on ways of meeting the recession, and Congress is being encouraged by certain business burdens, it is nevertheless plain that the Administration has concluded that it is futile to rely upon the regulation from certain parts of business. Clearly, the Administration has decided that a "one-way" rapprochement, the "Royalist" seek under cover of the slump.

As Mr. Jackson said on the floor last week, the real co-operators of the average man gained under the New Deal, merely by their feeble insistence on trading the last ounce of concession out of Government as the price of putting their capital back to work.

There is going on in the big business world something of the process that hit the political world in 1932. The old dealers in industry and commerce are being dominated by labor, and resistance to Government, and disregard of consumer welfare, and subsidence toward the masses, are going the way of the political old dealers.

Mr. Roosevelt is taken as Rooseveltian simply because of his key place as a Presidential adviser. When Mr. Roosevelt recently vacated off Florida Jackson was a member of his ship's company. It was on the Presidential train, bound southward, that the Assistant Attorney General disclosed a proposal for adding $1,000,000 to Justice Department appropriations to provide for monopoly prosecutions.

So well does Jackson express New Deal aims by his words and deeds that he has been dispensed as possible 1940 President's material, despite the fact that he is an upstate New Yorker.

It may have been the incident which led Senator Josiah Bailey of North Carolina, one of the old-liners, to cry out today against "political agitation and publicity speer" when he was asked about the Jackson broadcast.

President Roosevelt has shown at recent press conferences an increasing impatience with the disposition of business leaders to ask unreasonable concessions.

THE COLLEGIATE REVIEW

A mother is attending Hunter College in New York while her two sons, 12 and 14, do the house-keeping. "I get more from my boys than many women do from their girls," she said.

A University of Washington freshman, listing his activities for the student yearbook, said he belonged to "Flat feet, earache and appendicitis once." He had mistaken "affiliations" for "affiliations."

Betty Coed has rhythm, but Joe College has almost twice as much. Fris gives at Miami University showed that while the women's score was a bare 39—or eleven points below, an average struck on the basis of 10,000 similar studies throughout the United States—men students achieved a rating of 67.

Depauw University's 750 men students foot most of the "date" bills, but despite those expensive items, spend less in a year than the 450 coeds.

A course for parents of University of Washington students, because the only one of its kind in the United States, has become so popular in its second year, that it is being limited to parents of freshmen only. Discussions cover such subjects as student activities and problems, adjustment to university conditions.

Because the president of Georgetown College, Kentucky, has been baptized only once, he is in danger of losing his job. The Baptist council which controls the college contends that one immersion would be sufficient for a layman, but that a minister should be baptized at least twice.

Women primip for the same reason that men drink—to bolster up morale, according to a psychology professor at the Fogarty Plains. They dress chiefly to make an impression on their own sex, rather than to win the approval of men, he declared.

A "date" bogam is in force at the University of Washington against all coeds who wear sheer silk hose. It was started by men of the American Student Union, a campus group to stay in force until Japan removes her troops from China.

The queen situation became so complicated at Kent State College that the student council took matters in hand and abolished three queens. Henceforth, the only legal titles are those of Homecoming

LEPER SAVES FOR FREEDOM

George W. "Granddaddy" Webber, 87, oldest inmate of the Oregon State Penitentiary and serving a life sentence, is saving his pennies to buy a chicken ranch when he is released. Officials have told him he will be freed when he reaches the age of 100, and Webber believes the time will come when he owns that chicken ranch.

Queen, Queen of the May, and Miss Kent State.

Ticket scalping at the Harvard-Yale football game was picked by student "sandwich men" whose signs read "Scalp the Scalpers. Students Unfair to Harvard Men." Students reported speculators were asking as much as $50 for a pair of seats for the game.

Getulio Vargas, Jr., son of Brazil's new nationalist dictator, is a student at John Hopkins University, and unaccustomed with the political upheaval in his homeland.

The latest thing for college hands—to get all lit up.

Fremo State College band organization in the country.

By means of a central power unit carried on the carriage of the big bus dump, the entire band of 100 pieces is lighted up with neon and bulb lights for night marching.

With the football stadium dark, the band makes a startling appearance—trombones outlined with red neon and base horns circled with blue neon, the college colors.

Each musician has a red or blue light on his cap and movable lights at the hip which swing as he marches to light up bright red trouser legs.
