Lexington Market Disposes Of Large Amount Of Burley

Prices Paid For All Grades Is Lowest Of Entire Year

In its second heaviest five-day sale period in history, the Lexington tobacco market last week disposed of 15,157,248 pounds of leaf for $3,753,219.68, the lowest week for all grades of the season.

These past five sales sent the total volume of tobacco handled in Lexington this season to 62,338,173 pounds, sold for $18,097,134.90, a season's average of $28.77 per hundred.

When sales resumed Monday sufficient tobacco sent the season total to around 90 million pounds. However, receipts are expected to dwindle considerably, and probably will be very light after this week.

Most estimates Saturday placed the 1937 burley crop at 90 per cent—80 per cent including both that which has been sold and the tobacco that is now on warehouse floors awaiting sales. Total sales throughout the brief Friday night will not be available until the first of the week, but will total around 270 to 275 million pounds.

Some of the other markets in Lexington are expected to see closing dates this week and a few probably will end their season's activities week end next. Lexington will, as usual, remain open until the last of the crop is sold.

The President told reporters he had made a number of New Year's resolutions. They were, he smilingly added, too personal to disclose. He did say, however, that they were not very different from the sort of resolutions most people make.

The President asked the press to help him out. He said he had received over 7,000 holiday greetings, but it would be physically impossible for him personally to acknowledge them. He asked the newspapermen to convey his gratitude to all his wellwishers.

Asked how the number compared with last year, he said he believed the figure was substantially greater. They were all in yet, he added, with a broad grin.

Breckinridge Loses In Overtime Period While Eagles Win

Eagles Drop Close Decision To Trojans; College Beats Union

Union set up a specially designed zone defense to halt Lawrence Carter here last week, but the Hawks' flash, with his customary adeptness, continued flipping the leather through the hoop to score 20 points and lead Morehead to its third K-I-A-C victory. The final score was 39 to 28, the Eagles drawing into a comfortable lead during the last 15 minutes of the contest.

Breckinridge Training School lost a heart-breaking overtime game to the Sterling Trojans Tuesday evening. Breckinridge jumped into a sizeable lead at the outset, was ahead six points at the half and held this margin until the waning minutes of the game when Tatum and Pritchard were forced out of the game on personal fouls permitting Sterling to tie the score at the end of the regular playing time.

The game was fast throughout, the Breck team being slightly handicapped, however, by the Mt. Sterling floor which is considerably smaller than that which they are used to playing on.

Boycotting Japan Is Serious Job

Boycotting Japan is serious business with coeds of the school of education Dr. J. D. Falls, University. Twenty of them decided last week to wear their wool hose, half of silk stockings.

The boys looked upon them and found them good. The girls found their good—and also cheap. "What undergarments?" "Well, er—step-ins and such things?" "My dear," said she, "we don't wear such things. Everything else that we wear, pajamas, slippers, negligees, will be cotton or wool from now on."

Writer Sees More Political Maneuvering In State During Next Year Than In Its History

The last week brought some enlightenment on the key figures in Kentucky politics. To judge from press reports and rumors from Frankfort and Washington here is what some of Kentucky's leading politicians desire:

1. Alben Barkley wants to be President, but first of all he wants to be elected as United States Senator.
2. Happy Chandler wants to be a Federal Judge.
3. Keen Johnson wants to be Governor.
4. Senator M. M. Logan wants to be a Federal Judge.
5. Fred M. Vinson doesn't want to be a Federal Judge but would like to be chairman of the Kentucky Ways and Means Committee in the House.

Chandler Threatens To Call Holiday On State Burley Floor

Governor Says He Has Watched Tobacco Prices With Grave Concern

Governor A. B. Chandler announced this week he was "prepared to take definite action" to obtain higher prices for burley tobacco sold in Kentucky and would make an investigation to determine "why buyers are letting prices go down at this time."

"I have been keeping in close touch with the burley market ever since the season opened," the governor said in an oral statement. "I have talked over the situation with the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation and with tobacco men generally."

"I am extremely anxious about the recent price decline and am determined to find out just what is behind it. The farmers should be paid a fair price for their product and I am ready, willing and anxious to co-operate with them in every way possible to bring this about."

"During the last few weeks, the governor said, "my time has been occupied largely with getting the legislature organized and mapping out a program at a place and time to be announced later. It is my intent to devote my time to finding out what is behind the bad tobacco marketing conditions and to remedying them as soon as possible."

The governor's statement follows a conference with the secretary, of the Kentucky Farm Bureau, and other farm leaders.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Ring out the old, ring in the new. In the world of business, the new year is ushered in by leaders of commerce and industry who have gathered in Louisville for the progress of the old year.

The outlook for 1938 as viewed by leading business men is for a further period of industrial activity with some of the existing general recovery, Lionel D. Edie, head of Capital Research Company of New York, says manufacturing will require between six months to clean up inventories, but predicts that business will get upward some time during the first half of the year.

"Behind the Scenes" presents herewith a brief but authoritative symposium of opinion by leaders representing the real estate, merchandising, capital, automotive, chemical, oil, meat packing, paper, iron and steel, general business conditions in 1938.

STEEL—Walter S. Tower, Executive Secretary, American Iron and Steel Institute.

"A marked improvement in steel plants operations is expected in the first weeks of 1938, but further gains may be slow and halting until some of the existing uncertainties have been swept away. Steel scrap pieces still point up in some markets, notably Pittsburgh, where the production of steel ingots in 1937 is estimated at approximately 50 million tons, a large increase for any previous year since 1928 and 1929, and an increase of about 1/2 per cent over 1936. However, a new record during 1937, approximately $75,000,000, about 25 per cent over 1936.

PERSISTENCE WILL WIN

The slump in the burley market came, if it had to come, at a timely occasion when the Kentucky Farm Bureau Foundation was meeting and farmers representatives were in conference.

It came also while Congress was in session with agricultural measures on its program and the Legislature convened.

Everything was in order for action, which resulted in the call for a meeting at Lexington next Friday. Everything combined to emphasize the common interests of the farmers in a specialty crop which requires co-operation without as well as within the State, regulation of supply and favorable marketing methods and facilities.

Tobacco farmers have had long experience in ups and downs, in co-operative enterprises and legislative assistance. They have learned by trial and error the advantages and defects of various means for stabilizing their industry. A good deal of study has been made of the experimentation, a good deal of sound expert counsel is available and a large amount of common sense guides stout hearts that refuse to be defeated. Their persistence proves their common sense. There is a complex problem. It takes experience, first to reveal the complexities, next to test the methods adapted to each of them and to learn how to combine the methods successfully. The farmers are a little ahead of other industries. They are past the makeshift, temporary expedient stage and seeking to establish a permanent condition of doing business.

TYPICAL EMBEZZLER

Every year thousands of trusted employees go astray and cost their employers an estimated $200,000,000 in stolen funds. What sort of fellows are these typical embezzlers? What inspires them to betray their trusts? What becomes of them?

Based on a study of 1,000 cases by a large bonding company, the typical embezzler belongs to the "white collar" class. He is 36 years old, married, and has two children. He earns around $15 a month, but his friends imagine that his salary is much more.

He is competent and smart and has held his position for five and a half years. He has the confidence of his employer and, from his past record, he is a regular fellow, a normal individual, with good business reputation and favorable prospects.

What inspired them to go wrong? Here are the five principal reasons: Gambling and liquor; Living beyond their means; Accumulated debts; Managing business badly; Women.

What became of them? Only twenty-two men and two women ran or tried to run away. Twenty-eight men and two women committed suicide. The balance simply "took it as it fell."

ECONOMIC WEAPONS FOR LAW

The governments of the world which desire to promote peace, order and friendly dealing between nations are faced with the necessity of taking decisions which involve one of two dangers—the danger of doing something which might lead to immediate war, or that of doing nothing, which may only postpone war.

The outrages in China perpetrated by the Japanese military are only a group in a long sequence of breaches of international law, each of them left unpunished. How long will this go on? It is a matter of universal concern. It is incumbent on the law-abiding countries to discover a technique of dealing with it.

What is wanted is a plan of action—resolute, far-reaching, effective action—which could be applied in cases where the common interest is clearly recognized. Ideally such action ought to be organized by the League of Nations, with the help of countries outside it which are willing to co-operate with it. But at the present time, to ask the League to undertake such a task would be straining it beyond its powers. Therefore, the countries most concerned must act for themselves.

But not in isolation. Only together can they apply that overwhelming pressure which would make success certain. Only by the evidence of a perfectly harmonized plan and a resolute scheme of action could they secure the respect which would insure success. The minimum in any such plan would be that a step be taken to the flow of war material to the aggressor, without restraint on the flow of help to the victim. No doubt a much more comprehensive plan of economic action would have to be framed, deliberations being taken in the light of all the possible consequences, and with a view to bringing about the maximum pressure.

Those who say that such action would lead to war overlook the overwhelming economic strength which such a combination commands, quite apart from its great military strength; and that all the free trading interests in the world would be bound to support it. The real danger of war lies in letting things slide, in allowing the aggressor to go from triumph to triumph, strengthening himself by economic acquisitions as well as by territory snatched, till he becomes so convinced that war pays that he and his like will in the long run force war upon the peace-loving countries.

It is necessary to look to the future as well as the present. A signal triumph of justice now, initiated by the resolute co-operation of the English-speaking peoples, and aided by all peace-loving nations, will stop the rot that is undermining civilization, and could set the whole world going forward again on its interrupted course of progress.

THE APPLE IS COMING BACK

Although a report from a recent meeting of the Western Association of Nurseries states the American appetite for apples is increasing and that new orchards are being planted and old ones revived, it is too much to expect that this delectable fruit will ever assume the importance it once held in the family circle, both in the days when a bowl of apples was the point of high attraction between the supper and bedtime, for the family and for the occasional visitor.

It is an open question, in fact, whether the decline of the apple supply of a winter evening spelled the doom of the family circle or the other way round. Certainly they went out about the same time, with modern heating for the home having its effect on one or the other. For when central heating plants went in the basements of homes not so fortunate as to have separate and ground-out cellars, the winter's supply of barreled apples went out. Apples stored in warm storage not only lost their snap but they would not keep.

The need for apples not long out of cold storage were brought to market in paper sacks and not by the barrel or bushel, and the evening bowl of snappy apples was no more in the family circle, if indeed the family circle survived the time when room heating units gave way to central heat that was piped about the place. It was soon learned that a radiator was a poor substitute to draw the family circle and keep it compact.

Nevertheless, the apple is coming back, even though it is coming back on the arm of a slogan that suggests "snap for health." But it has lost its genial strength to weld a family circle, especially as the family circle has found so many attractions outside the home since the fire side was moved out of the living room and put out of the way in the basement, to be covered by a thermostat, and not by the head of the home.

THE VOICE OF MAIN STREET

The president of the New York Stock Exchange recently observed that in the past, when prices of securities fell, the public tended to place the blame upon the market-makers themselves—rather than upon the real cause of the drop.

To a large extent, this is still true today. It is a very human and understandable reaction—the very consciousness and drama of the securities markets make it difficult for the poorly informed to realize that prices respond only to the seller's own estimate of value, whether these estimates be right or wrong. Nothing could be freer than a modern security exchange. There is no price-fixing. Wall Street has no controlling voice over the 48 states, determine each its own quotations.

If one wishes to sell a security, and can find no one who will pay more than 10 for it, that is its current price, irrespective of what the owner feels it should bring. And if one wishes to buy it, he must pay 10, that is that security's current price, for less than 10, that is that security's current price, is precisely as in dealings involving commodities, a home, an automobile—the price finally fixed marks a "medium" between the desires of buyer and seller. And that price changes when the views of worth of buyer and seller change.

As the president of the New York Stock Exchange also said, "Even in the most ideal market, values will be subject to change so long as we live in a vivid world, if only as a result of those developments which make for progress and higher living standards."

When these simple truths are more widely understood, there will be less misrepresentation of the mechanism of the market place where securities are bought and sold.

A KENTUCKIAN APPOINTED TO THE SUPREME COURT

It is a pleasure to be permitted to congratulate Stanley Reed upon his appointment as an associate justice of the supreme court. It is a compliment to Kentucky that President Roosevelt chose the gifted Kentuckian for this high office.

Stanley Reed has long been recognized as one of the great lawyers of the nation. As solicitor general he has had increased opportunity to develop and to demonstrate those legal attainments which he possesses in an extraordinary degree.

The Kentuckian was appointed by President Hoover as counsel for the Farm Credit Board in 1931. Later he became counsel for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. In those important legal assignments he revealed unusual legal ability and was promoted to the position of solicitor general. In the latter post it has been his duty to represent the federal government before the supreme court in the important litigation which has resulted from attacks upon much of the New Deal legislation.

Stanley Reed has given steadily under the important litigation which has resulted from attacks upon much of the New Deal legislation. Sunday School Lesson

LESSON FOR JANUARY 23

MINISTERING TO PHYSICAL NEEDS

LESSON TEXT—Mark 1:29-45. GOLDEN TEXT—And he healed many that were sick—Mark 1:34.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus went to Peter's home.

JUNIOR TOPIC—When Jesus went to Peter's home.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Helping the Sick.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christians' Concern for Physical Health.

"The Mystery of Painfulness" is the title of a book published some years ago, in which the author pointed out that instead of the physical ailment of man we should thankfully recognize that much of life is suffering. There is point in the suggestion, but it has reached the years of maturity and who has stood shoulder to shoulder with suffering mankind is very conscious of the never-silent cry of those whose bodies are in need.

Our Lord was tender and solicitous of man. It was to him that the great host of impotent folk—the lame, the halt, the sick, and the feeble—came for healing, and they came not in vain. Note, however, that in the midst of his works of mercy he did not forget the real object of his mission was to deal with man's sin.

I. Healing—v. 29. First, we find our Lord tenderly sharing the sorrow of the home of a friend. One can picture the dark valley, covered over the home as distressed relatives and friends sought to alleviate the suffering of the one who lay in bed, and the possibility of a serious outcome of the illness. Many of us have gone through such dark valleys. All at once there was a joy beam, and soon there was joy. Jesus had come and had brought healing. Many of us have also had that blessed experience.

Note that the healing was instantaneous and the restoration complete. There was no "if" here. This typifies God's healing of the sickness of the soul. If you are sick, you are ready to stand up and live.

Christ's life is not a selfish faith, it is a selfless faith. He gave up his life for us. He died for us. He died for all the city came to his death with the disease and denunciation, and he healed them all. The account of the kindly and intelligent care of the sick is written large on the pages of the history of the Christian church.

II. Praying—v. 35. The Son of God sought out a place and a time for prayer communion with his Father. How often we who profess to follow him fail to pray at all. Certainly we need to pray, and pray that prayer can bring far more than Jesus did. But, we say, we are not real Christians, and we are not real Christians. We are not real Christians. We are not real Christians. We are not real Christians.

III. Preaching—v. 36-38. Foolish though it may seem to the natural man—read I Cor. 1:18-25—preaching the gospel in the power of the Holy Spirit is now as it was in the days of the centuries. God's chosen means of turning the world upside down—Acts 17:16—What a pity that churches and pastors are forsaking it for book reviews, dramatic social hours, forums, community services, and what not. God give us a revival of great, humble, and fearless preaching of the Word.

IV. Cleansing—v. 40-45. There is a sense in which the cleansing of the leper was another act of healing, but leprosy is such a striking type of sin that the incident calls for special consideration.

Leprosy, like sin in that it is such a striking type of sin that the incident calls for special consideration. Leprosy, like sin in that it is such a striking type of sin that the incident calls for special consideration.

Leprosy, like sin in that it is such a striking type of sin that the incident calls for special consideration. Leprosy, like sin in that it is such a striking type of sin that the incident calls for special consideration.

So, also, may the sinner be cleansed, for "whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved"—Rom. 10:13. He will not turn the vessel of sinners away, for he came to seek and to save that which was lost.—Luke 19:10.

The man who was cleansed disobeyed the instructions of Jesus—v. 44—with the result that he was brought back to the land of the living. We should obey the commands of God with exactness and promptness. Disobedience, even though it be by reason of great joy and enthusiasm results in confusion.

PILGRIM HOLINESS CHURCH Our revival is going on with increasing interest and attendance souls are being brought to Christ. The Christians are getting under the burden.

We believe Morehead is in line for a real spiritual awakening. Services will continue every night.

tenancy, the availability of good land, and other pertinent factors.
6. How many loans will be made in each county selected?
About seven. It is estimated that funds available this year will be enough for approximately 2,100 loans, to be spread among the 300 counties in the several states.
7. How many loans will be made in each county, except in those states where the total number of loans will be less than five?
8. Who may apply for Tenant Purchase Loans?
United States citizens who are farm tenants (not owners), sharecroppers, farm laborers, or others who obtain or recently have obtained most of their income from farming.
Preference will be given to married persons or persons with dependent families; to persons able to make a down payment; or to persons who own livestock and equipment necessary to carry on farming operations. No loans will be made to persons who cannot obtain an adequate loan for the purchase of a farm from other sources at reasonable terms.

9. How should loan applications be made?
If you are in a group designated as one in which loans are to be made this year, obtain an application blank from the County Rehabilitation Supervisor who serves your county. Fill it out carefully and return it to him, either personally or by mail. It usually is advisable to call at his office and talk the matter over with him or his assistant. If you do not know the Supervisor's address, it may be obtained from your county agricultural agent.
10. If my county is not selected for loans, may I apply in another county?
No. Because of the limited funds available, application must be restricted to residents of the 300 selected counties.
11. How will persons who will receive loans be selected from the large number who may apply?
Congress has provided that county committees of three farmers shall certify which applicants by reason of character, ability, and experience are likely successfully to carry out the undertaking required under a loan to purchase a farm. It is recognized that limited number of worthy and deserving applicants this year.
12. What kind of farms can be purchased?
A family-sized farm which can in general be operated with the labor available in the family. It should be large enough to provide a living for the borrower and his family and enable him to return the loan for the purchase of his farm.
13. How will the farm be selected?
Applicants who will receive loans will be given a wide choice in selecting the farms they want to buy. The price of this property however, must be in keeping with its value, as determined by the county committee and the FSA. Preference will be given to farms needing a minimum outlay for repairs and improvements.
14. What help will FSA give the applicant who rents a farm?
The Farm Security Administration will assist applicants who receive loans in developing sound farm and home management plans, preparing operating budgets, and maintaining businesslike records.
15. Will loans be large enough to cover farm improvements and other farm improvements?
Yes, to a limited extent.
16. Can I get a loan to finish paying for the farm I am now buying?

No. Farm owners are not eligible, and refinancing loans will not be made.
17. How will loans be secured?
By a first mortgage or deed of trust on the farm purchased. The borrower must agree to pay taxes and insurance on the farm buildings, to keep the farm in repair.
18. How will the farm be repaired?

ed in Mt. Sterling Friday. Mrs. Earl King visited in return from a visit in Paintsville.

Miss Alma Barnard, of Mt. Sterling, visited Miss Helen Holbrook Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Ina Bellamy, of West Liberty, and Mr. Bill Bellamy, of Middletown, Ohio, visited Mr. and Mrs. Dub-Bellamy Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Flood and daughter, Glady, visited in Ashland over the week-end.

Miss Helen Holbrook had as her house guest over the week-end, Miss Jane Preston, of Huntington.

Mrs. Tinsley Barnard, of Mt. Sterling, visited her mother, Mrs. D. M. Holbrook, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holbrook here Thursday. Her mother returned home with her for an extended visit.

Mrs. Gertrude Snyder is ill this week at her home on Sun Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cornette and daughter, Margaret Sue, spent Saturday in Lexington. There seems no question but that he is well qualified for the bench. The appointment of Stanley Reed, of Maysville, to the Supreme Court this week removed Logan as a possible contender for that judicial position.

Congressman Fred M. Vinson, without question one of the biggest if not tops of Kentucky's entire delegation, has been chosen as Judge of the Circuit Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia.

The governor would say that Senator Logan would like to have that place. Fred Vinson is an active and energetic individual. Having come into close contact with him on many occasions we would say that he has more vitality and the ability to handle more important matters at one time than any individual we have seen.

Mr. C. C. Tussey, of Cynthiana, visited his mother, Mrs. C. Z. Bruce, last week.

Mrs. C. Z. Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Bruce and children, Eleanor and Susan, visited in Mt. Sterling Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Clay were visitors in Lexington Thursday.

Mrs. Clarence Baker, of Greenup, visited Mrs. Clarence Baker over the week-end.

Mr. Jewett Boone, State Bank Inspector, was the Thursday evening dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Caudill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hambrick and son, Howard, spent the week in Lexington with relatives.

Mrs. A. T. Tatum and children, Chloete and Bobby, spent the week-end at Allen's with their father.

Mr. Sam Caudill and daughters, Glady and Mrs. O. B. Elam, visited in Washington Court House, Ohio, Friday and Saturday. His daughter, Mrs. Thelma Litton and children returned home here to make their home here.

Miss Dorothy Adkins, of Auxier, visited Mrs. O. B. Elam Saturday.

Misses Helen Holbrook, Virginia Lee Nickell and Jane Preston accompanied Miss Alma Barnard to Mt. Sterling Friday afternoon.

Mrs. C. O. Ferrati and daughter, Frances, attended the funeral of Mrs. Peratt's uncle, Mr. John I. Fisher, of Carlisle, Friday.

ing a vigorous campaign for reelection. Because Barkley's defeat would be a direct slap at Roosevelt, which might rouse from coast to coast, official Washington is not anxious for him to have a hard race with possible loss staring him in the face. A defeat for Barkley would just about kill any aspirations he might have to be the Democratic nominee for President.

In addition, the enemies of Roosevelt and his administration would possibly pour money with which they seem to be admirably fortified, into Kentucky, to help cause his defeat.

Today, Barkley is sitting on a hot seat.

It appears fairly obvious that Senator M. Logan would welcome a place on the bench. To begin with, Senator Logan is a jurist and a judge, instead of a politician and statesman. There seems no question but that he is well qualified for the bench. The appointment of Stanley Reed, of Maysville, to the Supreme Court this week removed Logan as a possible contender for that judicial position.

Bronchial Coughs Need Creomulsion

Just a common cough's chest cold or a bronchitis irritation of the day may lead to serious trouble tomorrow. They may be relieved now with Creomulsion, an emulsified Creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medicinal combination designed to aid nature in soothing and healing infected mucous membranes by slaying irritating and inflaming and by aiding in loosening and expelling the germ-laden phlegm.

The Medical Profession has for many years recognized the beneficial effect of Beechwood Creosote in the treatment of coughs, chest colds, and bronchial irritations. A special process was worked out by a chemist for blending Creosote with other ingredients and now in Creomulsion you get a real dose of genuine Beechwood Creosote which is palatable and can even be taken frequently and continuously by both adults and children. Creomulsion is one preparation that goes to the very seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Wagon coughs, chest colds and bronchitis troubles due to common colds—take on, get a bottle of Creomulsion from your drug store, use it as directed and if you are not satisfied with the relief obtained, the druggist is authorized to refund every cent of the money. Creomulsion is one word—two, it is plainly seen that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief that you want. (Adv.)
