

TRI-WEEKLY HERALD

J. SPRING CHAMBERS, EDITOR.
Mayville, March 6, 1914

HON. JOHN J. CRITTENDEN.

HON. JOHN L. HELM.

The letter of our Army Correspondent, which we publish in today's paper, contains the only attempt at a mischievous description of the splendid Cathedral at Puebla we have seen.

It is well written, and will doubtless be read with interest by his numerous acquaintances.

It is, perhaps, not improper here to remark that our correspondent's views in reference to the best mode of concluding the war with Mexico, and of the final disposition which, under certain contingencies, referred to in a former letter, our Government should make of that country, are not approved by us, as our readers generally know, and are supposed by many to differ widely from those expressed previously to his departure. We have called attention to this subject simply for the purpose of depicting a harsh judgment by his friends in his absence.

ELECTION OF CITY OFFICERS.—The City Council at their meeting on Monday evening last elected the following corporation officers for the present year. The office of City Surveyor, created by the ordinance which we publish to day was filled by the appointment of Wilson Wood. City Clerk.—James A. Lee.

Treasurer.—Chas. D. Coons. Marshal.—Stephen B. Wood. Collector.—St. Wilson Wood. Assessor.—Edw. Johnson. Market Master.—James Lynn. Scales.—James Lynn. Ward and Coal Measure.—Rowell Grant. City Printer.—J. Spring Chambers.

The Philadelphia North American learns, through the agency of the telegraph, that the snow storm which commenced in that city last Thursday, at two o'clock, and continued to St. Louis, and South to Richmond.

Our readers will recollect, that we had a plentiful visitation of it about the same time.

Public sentiment throughout the Union as far, at least, as the press has spoken, seems favorable to the ratification of the Treaty of Peace now pending before the Senate, not it would seem, so much because of the favorable character of the Treaty, as because of a general desire to see the war brought to a close.

Mr. Arthur's recent exhibitions of skill in the preparation of festive feasts renders any commendation from us unnecessary.

Those Cigars are really fine. See advertisements.

The Morgan (Illinois) Journal states the 110 new members had been added to the Methodist Church in that place, and in Winchester over 100 being nearly all the inhabitants of the town had united themselves to the different churches.

Edward Everett is to deliver a eulogy on the life and character of John Quincy Adams. Mr. Everett is the President of Harvard University, and a man of splendid abilities.

The Eagle publishes a call signed "Bracken" on Vachel Welden of that county to become a candidate for the Legislature.

The Taylor Meeting.—held at St. Louis, on the 22d, though called without distinction of party, adopted a series of true Whig resolutions.

Brig. Gen. Pierce has not resigned as has been stated.

We notice in the papers that certain Banks; not named, have offered 1 per cent. premium for the $5,000,000 treasury note loan.

Raiders and Lettuce were sold in the Washington (D. C.) market last week.

A little daughter of Mr. Reid of Covington, was bitten by a mad dog a few days ago. Of course her life is in great danger.

The indignation of the "amalgamation" Democrats against Mr. Trust, is very lofty. Let it not be forgotten that Mr. Polk was severely censured by the Whigs for not sending an able and more experienced man, so important a mission.

We have received a synopsis of the case passed by the General Assembly of Kentucky, at its recent Session. They are contained in the Daily Commonwealth of March 2d.

That Old Fellow's Regalia, advertised by Brown & C., is magnificent, and cheap while. We predict that in less than ten days he will have to order another supply.

Larow & Brodick offer great inducements to buyers. Their provision for merchants, as well as for the retail trade, deserves and will receive the patronage of the public. See Advertisement.

Potomac, the Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot, in a recent letter says:

My late fears, that the Clay men and Taylor men would not unite cordially, are rapidly dying away. I think I see the bright future before them. Clay will not only help make all as clear as a sunbeam. Never, for a moment, have I distrusted him; it was some of his injudicious friends, as well as some of the injudicious friends of General Taylor, which were the cause of our trouble. Upon which the Editor remarks as follows:

We are glad our correspondent is again right in this matter. He and others may rest assured the Whigs will have but one candidate for the Presidency, and on him they will unite their entire strength. Before the great battle, will only produce healthy action.

From the Eagle of Saturday.

Near Wheeling, March 1, 1914. B. H. HARRIS, No. 2. A statement of a vote taken to-day on the above table:

Table with 4 columns: Name, Votes, and other details. Includes Clay, Duff, Butler, Scott, Taylor, and Woodbury.

In all 110.—of which 71 Democrats, and 2 Abolition or Liberty men.

Passengers were from the following States: Kentucky 29, Pennsylvania 23, Ohio 20, New York 10, Indiana 9, Tennessee 8, Tennessee 2, Missouri 8, Maryland 4, Delaware 1, Iowa 1.

We publish the above and request that all flag to copy.

We publish the foregoing with pleasure, as it indicates very clearly that with old Zach Taylor dead, and we have no fears about the cabin. We have always gotten our proportion of votes there.

TELEGRAPHIC COMMUNICATION WITH LEXINGTON.—Messrs. Kendall & Smith's line of telegraph has been extended from Louisville to Lexington. Here is the first correspondence between the two cities.—Lex. Jour.

D. C. Wickliffe has been confined to his room several days by a severe attack of rheumatism.

In his absence R. March in behalf of the Observer and Editorials, in Louisville, congratulating and editorially rebuking, in Louisville, upon being placed in communication with them by means of the magnetic telegraph.

Mr. Prentice, with many compliments to Mr. March, rejoices at the telegraphic connection of Louisville and Lexington, but regrets that the first dispatch from the latter city was not so intelligent as the indisposition of his friend Wickliffe.

Mr. Prentice is not the pleasurer of a personal acquaintance with Mr. March, but ventures to hope that he is not as cold as his namesake has been for the last few days.

THE TELEGRAPH IN OPERATION TO NASHVILLE.—In another article we announced the completion of Messrs. Kendall & Smith's (Morse's) line of Lexington, and we have now the pleasure to say that it is now in operation, and is connected by telegraph by the energetic Messrs. O'Reilly. We received the following brief dispatch from Nashville:

BY TELEGRAPH

From Central America. Difficulties in Venezuela.—Civil War threatened. Two Belligerents Fought between Monarchs and Paes.

By an arrival from Central America Paes to Cabello dated 11th of February have been received. The difficulties in Venezuela, an account of which was received by the press, and which increased to an alarming extent and the present advisers lead to the belief that the whole country is now engaged in a civil war.

President Paes, on whom the eyes of all the inhabitants opposed to the government of Monarchs were fixed, pronounced against the latter, who was the head of a large body of Government troops, declaring that he would not respect the decrees of Congress which were passed after the murders were done from the Hall—some murdered and other taken prisoners. Monarchs then denounced Paes as a traitor. Both parties were in the moment of the great struggle.

From Baltimore. BALTIMORE, March 6, P. M. The remains of Mr. Adams arrived this morning from Washington. The funeral was attended by a tremendous procession.

Business was almost entirely suspended. The great day was dying at half past. Minute guns were fired, and the bells tolled in an early hour in the morning.

The Foreign News has unseated the markets, and nothing transpired today to indicate its effect on the market.
