

GRAND JURY FOR MARCH TERM OF ROWAN COURT MAKES FINAL REPORT AFTER 7 DAYS WORK

Return 62 Indictments; Investigate Slot Machines and Liquor Stores

The following is the report of the Grand Jury at the March term of the Rowan Circuit Court just concluded. Your Grand Jury for final report say: We have been in session 7 days and have reported in open court 62 indictments. We have endeavored to investigate conditions in every part of the county and where the evidence authorized it we have reported true bills. We find that in many places slot machines have been maintained and operated.

Liquor is now permitted to be sold under certain conditions which will require more diligent effort on the part of the law enforcing officers and we recommend that the Sheriff and his deputies and the police officers keep constant guard that this liquor law is rigidly enforced.

Grand Jury is called to this matter. Many citizens of this city have made complaints that the Kentucky Utilities Company is exacting from the consumers of electricity exorbitant rates with a possible meter system that is inaccurate and they are being required to pay enormous bills.

Taxes in County Are Being Paid Up Approximately $33,000 of the $47,000 which is due the state in taxes from Rowan county has been collected up to March 1, according to a report of the sheriff's office.

Senator Nickell States Position

Says He Expected Amendment To Go Through Usual House Routine

Senator Clarence E. Nickell, member of the faculty of the Morehead State Teachers College, who since the first of January has been in attendance at the sessions of the state legislature, spent the week-end in Morehead, where he, together with college authorities worked on the outline of the budget needs of the college for the next two years.

Asked about the affair, Senator Nickell explained fully his connection with the amendments submitted. It seems that the amendments were worked out in the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction for the purpose of being submitted in the usual way and acted upon by the committee.

Senator Nickell is not a member of the House, naturally could have had no part in the action taken by the House. Arrangements had been made to take the House bill immediately on its passage and give it a first reading in the Senate.

Senator Nickell was very frank in stating that he was in favor of the amendments and would be glad to see them included in the bill. However, he expected them to be included in the regular legal manner, with out an attempt to slip them in as was done.

Morehead College To Receive $175,000

Here's welcome news at last to those who have been anxiously awaiting the chance to get work on the new buildings to be erected at the Morehead State Teachers College. The last word is that indications are that actual construction of the new science building and dormitory will start in about ten days.

All labor, both unskilled and skilled will be supplied by the local re-employment office of the United States Department of Labor. Unskilled labor will be taken from the relief rolls. Reemployment officers point out that it is NOT WISE to register for this particular job.

Debate Team Has Wonderful Record

Wins Second Place In Eastern Contest, And Second In Round Robin Go

The Morehead State Teachers College debate team recently placed second in the South Atlantic States Debate Tournament held at Withers College, Rock Hill, South Carolina.

The Morehead team also tied for second place in the Round Robin Debate Tourney held at Transylvania College, February 29.

Morehead teams have participated in 105 debates over a five year period and have lost only five debates on their regular schedule.

JURY COMMISSIONERS APPOINTED FOR YEAR

A. H. Ellington, D. C. Caudill and Herbert Tackett have been appointed Jury Commissioners and are busy filling the jury wheel for the next three terms of court.

New Buildings Will Work 200 Laborers

The State Budget for the next two years includes an appropriation for both Morehead and Murray State Teachers Colleges in the amount of $175,000 each, according to President Harvey A. Babb.

Rowan county lost one of her oldest and best known as well as, highly respected citizens, Saturday in the death of Mrs. Katherine Spencer at her home near Vale, Kentucky.

Marriage Mart Works To Issue Many Licenses

The Marriage Mart at the county court house, judging from the number of licenses issued during the past week has been one of the busiest places in Rowan county. The following licenses to wed were issued by County Clerk Vernon Alfrey:

A program whereby all graduate work now being done in state teachers colleges will be dropped from their program and whereby the University of Kentucky will drop the first two years of work now being done in the college of education at that institution.

The program was said to be an economy move and was worked out at a conference at the executive mansion attended by Governor A. E. Chandler, Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky, James H. Richmond, president of Murray State Teachers College, H. L. Donovan, president of Eastern State Teachers College at Richmond and H. H. Cherry, president of Western State Teachers College at Bowling Green.

The new program was requested by Governor Chandler it is expected that it will be finally adopted. Briefly, the plan included the signing of a protocol by the teachers colleges from $15.00 the semester to $20 to $25.

The following is a brief review of the tentative agreement reached at the conference: 1. That the University of Kentucky should not offer any courses in Education in the freshman and sophomore years.

2. That all graduate work in the field of Education should be done at the University of Kentucky, and that all graduate work now being done in any of the teachers colleges would pass at the end of this present school term.

3. That all graduate work in the field of Education should be done at the University of Kentucky, and that all graduate work now being done in any of the teachers colleges would pass at the end of this present school term.

4. That all graduate work in the field of Education should be done at the University of Kentucky, and that all graduate work now being done in any of the teachers colleges would pass at the end of this present school term.

CHAPTER TWO

It's your consideration he wants. Give me it, you're becoming a great man in the law courts.

"If I am it is due to my perseverance and the use of my brains."

"You mean my brains, Stryver?"

"Well, I pay you for it. Really, Carton, with a man's life at stake, how can—"

"I don't know Mr. Charles Darnay and I hate all Frenchmen."

"But I tell you Darnay is lost unless we find some way to counteract the evidence of these witnesses, Barsad and City."

"Barsad, Barsad. Seems to me I've heard the name, involved in a treason case once before."

"I believe we've discovered something here, Carton."

Carton, ignoring him, took up his brief. "Well, Mr. Darnay, it seems fate and Mr. Barsad have it that I should handle your case. Your life is in my hands."

"Then you'd better stop your drinking or I—"

"I wouldn't wonder but that Jerry Cruncher knows the man."

"But you can't go hobnobbing with Cruncher—there's a grave robber."

"Yes, he is luck Stryver. Cruncher probably knows the tavern Barad drinks in, I shall pursue this case in congenial atmosphere. I'd lay you a wager I drink you to victory!"

From Cruncher, who was a messenger in Telford's Bank, Sydney Carton learned that Barsad frequented Paffey's Tavern, and over their liquor he exchanged drunken confidences with the fellow. Carton boasted of having been the brains in a stage holding and of later getting all the booty from the robbery by lodging a treason charge against his confederates who were imprisoned at Newgate and later drawn and quartered. Craftily getting on Barsad to confide the details of a case of his own, in which treason had figured, by pretending to be bored and a disbeliever in Barsad's ability to make such a change stick, Carton learned all that he needed to know in the Barsad case.

When the French aristocrat appeared at the Old Bailey for trial, Carton, disguised by wig and keeping his face concealed from Barsad, prompted Stryver. They put off cross-questioning Barsad, and had no objection to ask Lucie Manette who was obviously troubled and uttered the hope, that she had said nothing to injure the young Frenchman who had been so helpful while crossing the Channel.

When the prosecution's evidence was all in, and the jury as well as the spectators appeared convinced of Darnay's guilt, Stryver asked him at dinner, consumed great quantities of wine and had invited his host—all because he had seen a light in Lucie's eyes as she told Darnay how glad she was that the jury had freed him.

Charles Darnay became a frequent and welcome guest at Dr. Manette's establishment in Soho; Lucie's eyes told him that she returned his love. And then, on the afternoon of Christmas Eve, Jarvis Lorry told Darnay something that sent him hastily to Soho.

"Dr. Manette," he said when alone with the Doctor, "I have just learned of your friend, Mr. Lorry something that distresses me deeply. He has told me of your sufferings at the hands of the Marquis of Evremonde."

It's true, Charles. I've been trying to forget that awful time.

"But bitter irony that this man who did you such dreadful injustice should be by blood related."

"Charles! What are you saying?" cried Dr. Manette.

"It's true. He is my uncle. My mother was an Evremonde. I have no choice but to confess it, Dr. Manette. If for no other reason than because you are Lucie's father, I had to tell you."

Dr. Manette whispered: "Evremond... The North Tower... would you mind very much... closing the door... No, no, I am here! Evremond!"

The young French aristocrat whom Lucie loved was the nephew of the infamous Evremond who had sent Dr. Manette to the Bastille for eight years. Could he spare his daughter from that knowledge? Don't miss the next chapter of this enthralling romance.

COLLEGE THEATRE

The mother Lode region of fabulous California gold, with all its lawless romance, mad gaiety and lawlessness has been recreated for an action drama that gives Richard Dix one of the most colorful roles of his career in "Yellow Dust."

As did "O'Carroll," "West of the Pecos," and "The Arizonian," this Dix picture revives one of the most vivid periods in American history with a story that smashes to a new high in thrills when love finds its way into that atmosphere of hate and greed. A good woman was an oddity in those mining towns of old, where men outnumbered women of any kind a hundred to seven. Her coming never failed to produce thrilling drama. "Yellow Dust" builds its nerve-snapping suspense when Leila single, she strikes a young prospector and Unlow Stevens, a suave mine town boss, to deadly rivalry for her heart.

After striking a fabulously wealthy mine, Dix temporarily forgets gold in his haste to prospect the romantic riches offered by Miss Hyams. But the exciting young singer flies claim on his mine for herself, and starts Dix on a path of wild adventure not only to regain the mine, but to take her to the altar despite her apparent duplicity. The path is high by dangers and Dix finds a gun in his ribs and a rope around his neck more than once as town boss Stevens, who makes his own law with a legion of henchmen fights for the same prizes of gold and love.

For Sunday, March 22 the College brings to the screen Carole Lombard, Preston Foster and Cesar Romero in a lovely entertaining story titled "Love Before Breakfast." This is a modern, devil-may-care story full of wit and humor, and a splendid modernism. The on folks will get a "kick" from the lovely scenes and fashions while the women will like the sporty Romeo who makes love to her.

An excellent selection of short subjects will make this an entertaining and liked by all.

COZY THEATRE

The secrets that Warner Oland uncovers in his new Fox mystery picture "Charlie Chan's Secret," opening Friday and Saturday March 20 and 21 to the Cozy Theatre, are of the dangerous kind that mean peril and possible death to the man who reveals them.

In the last picture based on the famous character of Earl Derr Biggers, Oland appears with an all-star supporting cast that includes Rosina Lawrence, Charles Quigley, Henrietta Crossman, Edward Trevor, and John Davidson, and Herbert Mundin.

It is Chan's task to trace down the missing heir of the Colby millions in the new picture. Until the man is discovered, no one knows to whom the Colby millions will go.

Tracing his man from a wrecked ship from which he is believed to have escaped to San Francisco, Chan becomes puzzled and horrified when he discovers mysteriously murdered at a spiritualist seance.

All the members of the family are under suspicion, because all had motives for his murder. When they come together, the wily Chan arranges to reenact the scene of the murder.

By an eerie, almost incredible feat, Chan manages to unnerve the murderer and force him to reveal himself.

By Gordon Wiles directed the picture under the supervision of John Stone, associate producer.

HORTON REVIEWS

SIBERIAN SINGERS

By Lewis H. Horton

A maximum of artistry with a minimum of ostentation characterized the splendid concert by Nicholas Vasiloff in the program presented at Friday morning chapel. This group of ten men has a vocal range of four octaves and a sixth, the lowest bass singing a contra-C below the bass staff while they command falsetto tones well above the treble staff.

But mere physical range is the least important attribute of this marvellous singing group. Their great range of emotional expression and fine taste in execution makes a universal appeal that is compelling whether they are singing the incomparable music of the Russian cathedral or the thrilling folk songs of their country.

One never hears the famous "Lord Have Mercy on Us" by Lovy, rendered as this group did it while the director interpreted the role of the priest in a tenor voice of great power and charm. One never hears Old Russian, Gipsy and Communist folk songs performed with such variety and fervor of emotional expression. The American "Chestnut," "Aloose in the Deep," afforded the bass soloist an opportunity to display the extreme depth of his range, while a musical transcription of the American "Big Bad Wolf" brought comedy relief to the concert. Seligmann, the pianist, played two solos (Continued on Page Six)

MRS. BROWN POTTER'S first appearance as an actress in this country was in Chicago. Her managers thought it would be better to have her face a Western audience on her initial performance. She was quartered at the Auditorium Hotel, which was new in those days. The city editor of the Inter-Ocean, which was one of the leading daily publications of that time was Harry Ballard, who afterwards came to New York and succeeded in journalism there. Mr. Ballard was a native of England, and so, naturally he was enthusiastic over

Mr. Ballard sent for him and told him that he wanted him to go to the Auditorium Hotel and get an interview with Mrs. Potter. He called special attention to her English accent. Mr. Mainwaring was greatly elated over the assignment. He put on his best and went to the hotel and sent his card in to the distinguished visitor. He was promptly admitted to her apartment. After a formal interview, Mrs. Potter asked him how long he had been in this country. He told her he had been here twenty years, but admitted with pride that he had remained loyal to the Crown, never having been naturalized.

Mrs. Potter's next caller was a reporter from the Herald, named Joe McHugh. He was born in La Fayette, Indiana, but his antecedents were Irish. He was very well acquainted with Mr. Mainwaring and knew the latter's eccentricities. When he had finished with his questions and was about to depart, Mrs. Potter asked him if he was acquainted with the Fields and the Letters.

"Oh yes," said Joe, airily, "but they're in trade, you know."

Mrs. Potter took a new tack. "A most charming gentleman from another paper called on me this afternoon," she said. "He was such a gentleman. And do you know, he has lived in this country over twenty years and has not yet been naturalized. I have never in all my life heard of such loyalty to one's native country."

"Oh, that's easy to understand," said McHugh. "What do you mean?" inquired the actress, with a puzzled look on her face.

"Why," said McHugh, "it takes two dollars in cash all at one time to get naturalized in this country."

Russell Wins Again Crown; Soldier Is Runner Up In Upset

Russell defeated Soldier 21 to 13 in the finals Saturday night to win the Fourteenth Regional High School Basketball Tournament which was held in the College gymnasium. Soldier went to the finals by eliminating Olive Hill, their enemies in the district tournament, by 21 to 19, and then coming from behind to trounce Ashland 29 to 15. Russell and Mt. Sterling 25 to 15, and whipped Booneville by 27 to 18 to gain their final berth. Russell won the right to compete in the annual state high school tournament which is being held at the University of Kentucky this week.

Russell played perhaps their best game of the tournament in besting Soldier. The Red Devils led 6 to 3 at the end of the first quarter, 11 to 7 at the end of the second, 15 to 11 at the end of the third. The Panthers were outscored in every period but the third when they made five points while the Red Devils were making four. Ramsey, Heron, and Stultz made six points each for Russell, while Barker was best for Soldier with five points.

The tournament officials and newspaper representatives named the following all-tournament team: Bill Barker, Soldier; Bruce Stultz, Russell; Waldo Fultz, Olive Hill; Harry Cairns, Ashland, and Bill Heron, Russell. They were awarded gold basketballs. The winning team and their coach were also awarded gold basketballs, while silver basketballs were awarded to the losing team and coach.

George Dewey Downing officiated at the presentation of the trophies, and said this tournament had been the most exciting one in years. A huge trophy surmounted by the figure of a basketball player went to the Red Devils, and the Soldier outfit was awarded a slightly smaller trophy for being runner-up.

In other first round games, Ashland defeated Clark County 25 to 22 in an overtime period, and Booneville disposed of Heidelberg by a 32 to 19 count.

C. B. Lane, tournament manager, reported that the meet this year was a success as far as finances were concerned. Unusually large crowds were present for all of the games.

Soldier defeated Olive Hill 21 to 19 and Ashland eked out an overtime victory over Clark County by 25 to 23. The semi-finals of the Fourteenth Regional High School Basketball Tournament yesterday afternoon. Both games were close and decided in the last few seconds.

Soldier led 14 to 12 at the half. Olive Hill garnering six baskets and Soldier six baskets and two foul goals. Olive Hill tied the score in the second quarter.

Russell, Soldier and Ashland were tied in the final gun. Barker, Soldier, and Fultz, Olive Hill, divided high-scoring honors, each netting eight points.

Clark County led 10 to 9 at the half, garnering 3 field goals and 4 foul shots while Ashland made 2 field goals and 3 gratis flings. Johnson tied the score in the first minute of the second half with a foul shot, and after Gray made it 12 to 10 for Clark County with 2 foul shots, the Tomcats made three in a row to lead 16 to 12. Clark County came back to lead 19 to 16. With Ashland trailing 21 to 20 in the final seconds, Adkins sank a gratis fling to tie the score at 21 to 20. The overtime Henegans ended it. Ashland got a foul shot. Maynecke, Ashland, got a foul shot. Rucker tied the score at 23 all with a foul shot, and then sank one from the field to give Ashland a 25 to 23 lead as the period ended.

Probably the most thrilling games of the entire tournament which by the way was packed with thrilling battles, was that between Soldier and Ashland. Ashland, as usual, was slated by the odds to win, as they had easily defeated Russell the previous week in the district tournament.

Soldier undoubtedly played their best game of the season to top the Ashland boys. Trailing throughout the game they came from behind to eliminate the Tomcats 20 to 15.

The night and final session was tame compared to the hectic session of the afternoon. However the Soldier team had apparently let down after the thrilling tussle of the afternoon and Russell who were playing in top form were never headed.

In a preliminary to the final game, Mt. Sterling owned Olive Hill by a 22 to 14 count.

The Importance of Knowing Your Own Mind

SOME years ago the personnel director of one of the country's largest business organizations remarked that in his experience one of the rarest of human individuals is the young man about to be commissioned who possesses a fairly definite idea of what he wants to do and his qualifications for doing it.

To be uncertain in your own mind about what you want to do when you are applying for a job is a serious handicap, but the handicap is far more serious if the uncertainty continues for months or years after you have landed the job. Yet this uncertainty does continue to exist in the minds of great numbers of men and is a factor largely responsible for the lack of success of those who spend their entire lives drifting from one job to another, never earning more than a bare living in any of them.

In nearly every business the period of apprenticeship is likely to be more or less boring and is rarely highly remunerative. But this period can be invaluable to the beginner if he uses it to study the workings of the business in all its phases, and to make up his mind in which of these phases—accounting, research, selling, general administration, etc.—he is most interested and best qualified to succeed.

The business leaders of tomorrow will be the young men who today are using their apprenticeship to discover where their interests and aptitudes lie, who are developing a definite purpose to chart their career accordingly, and who by observation, reading and study are equipping themselves to attain their goal.

Beware The Cough From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies, such as Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its perfectly blended with all of these to bring the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Doctors also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written Each Week By Rev. B. H. Kasse.

SUBJECT: Jesus Teaches True Values, Luke 12:22-34. GOLDEN TEXT: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." Matt 6:33.

As one of our lesson writers puts it, this lesson tells us to do three things: Trust God, Seek the Kingdom, and Do Good. It could hardly be more perfectly summarized.

TRUST GOD. (Verses 22-28). To modernize, Jesus said, "Be not anxious about what we shall eat and wear." That is strange, isn't it? These are the very things we are most concerned about. We go to work in the morning weary from worry over bills unpaid, the necessities of life which we can hardly afford, and the problem of how we are going to make ends meet. Every day is a struggle with thought on this matter. Yet Jesus said for us not to worry about these things! How can we harmonize such teachings with our present life's demands? I see it this way: Jesus meant for us all to live a simple life. That would solve much of our anxiety. The necessities of life, the simple life, would not be so expensive. It is the demands of a complex living that costs us so much worry and anxiety. "Keeping up with the Joneses" is a pretty expensive business. In other words, Satan has so organized life as to make it cost. If we would go in what the world calls good society, that is, the people who wear good clothes, dress in latest styles, have servants and so on we must pay a price we are unable to pay. Satan has molded the tastes of this world, and he has made them lavish, extravagant and expensive. To be a disciple of Jesus meant to curtail our expensive tastes, to live simple, to be humble, and our lives simple, that would make it possible for all people to have what they need without so much worry. Extravagant living is the curse of our civilization. God promises to meet the need of His disciples, but He means the need of disciples, not worldlings.

SEEK THE KINGDOM. (Verses 29-31). In verse 30 Jesus suggests the difference between a disciple and the nations do not. They are of the principle has a Father to look after him, the nations do not. They are of the world system. They must pay the price of that world position. But the disciple has no earthly fame to seek. His citizenship is in another world, and his activity in the Kingdom of God on earth. He need not worry about earthly things, for they are perishing like the world, and no disciple has any business investing in them. Jesus does not want his disciples to be idle. Rather, they are to live a positive life; seek the kingdom of God; learn all they can; walk according to His laws; and reveal God to the world. This will give any man a life of activity which is positive, imperishable, and eternal. DO GOOD. (Verses 32-34). Here are the values of service. To give out blessing to the world, whether in money, prayers, kindness, or what ever other expression of goodness one may have, is to lay up treasures in Heaven. The man who takes from the world to gratify his own selfishness is getting his reward here. The man who gives out his life to the world through whatever means he has of giving is laying up his life in eternity with the age as the reward of the self fish Jones, but will be interpreted in the 'coin' of Heaven, and by the Almighty shall be manifold richer in value than they are if paid off in the coin of earth.

STATE NEWS

(Continued From Page Two) House, where it went through in altered form without the knowledge of members of the House. Mr. Ford talked seven or eight times to Frankfort.

Dr. H. H. Cherry, president of the Bowling Green school, also emphasized in a statement to newspapers, Ford from the very beginning that whatever was done should meet with the Governor's idea of what the reorganization bill should contain.

However, no inkling reached the Governor as to what was proposed. He was not telephoned, written to or talked to about the proposed changes. Finally the alternations went through the House without the members of that body knowing they were incorporated in the bill.

During the week criticism of the "school lobby" crept into questions propounded at the investigation. For years the lobby of the governmental departments has been as big, and more persistent, than the lobby main tained by private business.

A leader in this lobby of departments within the State Government has been the Department of Education and allied school interests. In former years heads of some of the teachers colleges have remained in Frankfort a good part of the session, of gun powder.

School Notes

TRAINING SCHOOL

The tenth grade is planning to give an April Fool program in their homeroom April 1. It is adapted from an original short story written by Frances Ferratt.

George Young chaperoned a swimming party last week for the sophomores.

There are more sophomores in the Minstrel Club than from any other grade. They are very busy studying their parts for the third minstrel show, which will be produced in the future.

Tryouts for the senior play "Growing Pains" were held Monday afternoon at 3:40. The judges were Lucille Caudill, Neville Finzel, and Mrs. Morrison.

As yet the cast hasn't been selected, although every person tried out for every part.

Carol Patricia, Frances Ferratt, and Robert Humphrey have written such good short stories that they are to be sent to the contest sponsored by the SCHOLASTIC magazine.

On Friday afternoon all but a dozen of the senior high students skipped school to go on a hike. Mr. Lappin had promised them they would be out to attend the regional tourney but when B. T. S. was defeated he withdrew his promise.

The Alumni Club will have charges of the chapel period Wednesday morning. The third grade class entertained with a surprise party for Katherine Morrison, last Friday afternoon, February 28. She celebrated her second anniversary which fell on Saturday, February 29, but was actually eight years old. The class under the supervision of Miss Moore served a delightful ice cream course.

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL

According to an announcement made Monday by Dennie Caudill, principal of the Morehead High School, the annual Popularity Contest which is sponsored by the high school paper, The Viking Voice will be underway beginning the week of April 1.

Last year Miss Lurline Penix was elected as the most popular girl and Jack Carter as the most popular boy. The money realized from the contest will be placed in the Athletic and Newspaper fund.

Beta Zeta Club Tours Carter Cave Saturday

Neophyte Biologists Add Many Rare Specimens To Collection

Three car loads of Beta Zeta members went to Carter Caves last Saturday afternoon and collected several different specimens of bats, snakes, cave crickets, salamanders, and trees, besides viewing the caves. The neophyte biologists explored the Bat Cave, "X" Cave, and four of the group visited the famous old Salt Peter Cave. Salt peter was taken from this cave during the Civil War and was used in the manufacture

On the trip back the party visited a natural bridge situated in a virgin forest about two miles from Carter Caves.

The next meeting of the club will be Wednesday night and plans for future trips will be made. Plans for the initiation of new members will also be discussed.

DR. MILLER TALKS AT Y. M. C. A. MEET

Dr. Frank Bruno Miller, professor of education, discussed the topic, "The Kiss of Judas Iscariot and the Professional Teacher," at a meeting of the Y. M. C. A. in the lobby of Thompson Hall Monday night.

The substance of Dr. Miller's talk was as follows: "The person who professes or claims a knowledge of law, medicine or teaching, but does not have it, may be licensed to practice his profession but not of the profession."

In it. Often a person is in the profession but not of the profession." Judas Iscariot was IN his group, but he was not OF the group. He was a traitor.

"The professional teacher should be loyal. He should cooperate with organizations seeking to improve professional standards."

Workshop Students Have Highest Marks

The workshop students led the College in the matter of grades for the first semester, according to a compilation released by the registrar's office this week. The workshop had a median grade of 1.33. The girls of Fields Hall were next on the list with a median of 1.13. Thompson Hall followed with 1.13. Allie Young Hall had a median of 1.03, and the town students were at the foot of the list with .95. The medians were compiled by Kenneth Clayton, student worker in the registrar's office. Grade averages made by students ranged all the way from zero to 3.0.

convocation period Monday. Some of the slides were from snapshots made by Mr. Hudson, and depicted scenes on the voyage and in Belgium and France.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Dallas, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramps. My men would be so nervous it would be almost impossible for me to get together. I decided to give me Cardui. I began to feel that great, tough feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise it too highly because I know it helped me." "Cardui does not help YOU, unless a physician."

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THE cook is going to entertain us with a few remarks today. Sometimes I think it wouldn't be a bad idea, at that, to get the cook to do the entertaining once in a while and let the lady of the house do the cooking. A lot of guests would wake up and find themselves having a real good time. I'll bet. "Well, the lady was hiring a cook, so she told her she was very particular about one thing. No policeman to be entertained in the kitchen. The last two cooks had made the back entrance look like headquarters, she said. "Don't you never think I'll fill your joint with cops," says Margie. "You see, my dad was a burglar and my two kid brothers was in the penitentiary line, and my three uncles are doing life in Sing Sing. And I might tell you as a bit of confidence that I'm something of a shooftler myself. No pe for mine, lady!" [American News Feature, Inc.]

Tuberculin Test To Be Given in Rowan Soon

By Dr. T. A. E. Evans

As a part of the state wide program in Tuberculosis control Rowan County Health Department with the assistance of the State Department of Health and the Christmas Seal Sale, will conduct a program of Tuberculin testing, X-Ray and case finding within the next few weeks.

The Tuberculin test is a simple harmless skin test applied on the fore arm. If an area of redness, a positive test should appear on the arm it simply means that the individual has been in contact with someone who has Tuberculosis and has received what is termed, a first infection.

In 1936 there were 2005 deaths from this disease in the state of Kentucky. There were nine deaths in Rowan County reported from Tuberculosis.

"Tuberculosis, which is responsible for more loss of health among our young people from 15 to 50 years of age than any other disease must be subdued just as other preventable diseases have been," according to a bulletin from the National Tuberculosis Association.

Christian Church Drive Continues Raising Fund
Sunday was another big day at First Christian Church. The Bible school and morning preaching services were marked by large attendance. A unified service was used with an opportunity for those who could not remain to file out at close of Bible school hour and reports. The same order will be followed next Sunday. The Bible school opens promptly at 9:45. The change to the preaching or second feature of the service comes about 10:30. Reports of the campaign are made at this time. Division number One and Five are serving dinner in the dining room of the church following the morning services. Next Sunday Mr. Battson and Mrs. Calvert are leaders of these divisions. The price of the meal is forty cents.

The reports last Sunday were fine, and the total for the three weeks in each amounted to $272.68. Every one is interested in seeing her or his division rank well in the front. The campaign closes Mother's Day, Sunday, May 10th, with a grand climactic attendance, money reported and turned in, and a picture will be made of the attendance, which, in all probabilities, will be one of the largest in the history of the church. The following week the two winning divisions will be three losing divisions will be given. There were three additions to the church Sunday morning, making a total of six additions to the church thus far this month. Next Sunday will be a big day, probably the biggest day thus far in the campaign, and every member urged to be present, and all friends are invited to come and enjoy the fellowship and inspiration of the occasion.
