College, High Schools To Graduate Seventy-Six

CURRY, OXNAM WILL ADDRESS 1936 GRADUATES

Revelers To Open Grad Week With Production Of Three One-Act Plays.

Plans for commencement week, May 23 to 28, have been completed, according to Mary Page Milton, registrar.

The program will be inaugurated Saturday evening, May 23, when the Revelers, College dramatic organization, will present three original one-act plays in the College auditorium. These plays are those written by students in the recent Reveler play-writing contest.

Reverend Samuel R. Curry, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Ashland, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning in the College auditorium.

Monday will be class day and the seniors will have charge of the regular chapel program.

President and Mrs. Babb will entertain with a breakfast for the seniors Tuesday morning. An exhibit of fine and industrial arts will be held in the library building at four in the afternoon, and the College band will present a concert on the library terrace at 8:30 p. m.

Alumni Day is set for Wednesday. A chapel program at 9:20 a. m., registration of alumni at 10:30; an alumni luncheon at noon; a free movie in the College theatre at two o'clock; a tea and reception for alumni in the President's home at four o'clock; the alumni banquet at six, and the alumni-senior ball at nine will comprise a full day of entertainment for the visiting alumni. This year will mark the reunion of the classes of '85 and '30.

Roy Cornette, president of the alumni association, has announced that the election of officers for next year will be held at the alumni luncheon Wednesday.

The commencement exercises will be held in the College auditorium at ten o'clock Thursday. Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam, president of DePauw University, will deliver the commencement address to the twenty-nine graduates.

News Receives Congratulations

Comments and congratulations on the Special Inaugural Edition of the Rowan County News continue to come in from various sources, the latest being from Prof. M. E. Ligon of the University of Kentucky. Mr. Ligon was in attendance at the inauguration of President Harvey A. Babb and was greatly impressed with the spirit of cooperation manifested by the entire city toward the Morehead State Teachers College.

His letter to the News follows:

My dear Mr. Wilson:
I have been intending for some days to write you a letter of congratulation on the excellent inaugural edition of your paper. I was much impressed with the general attitude of the community toward Morehead State Teachers College. Your paper would lead an outsider to believe that there is fine cooperation between the school and the citizens of the town. This, in my judgment, is as it should be. I am reasonably sure that you have in President Babb a man that will do all he can to create a good, wholesome, businesslike atmosphere on the campus of the school and cultivate a good public relationship between the school and the merchants and citizens of the city.

I wish you continued success in your editorship and management of the Rowan County News.

Yours sincerely,
M. E. Ligon.

Collins Elected Raconteur Editor

Junior Class Elevates This Year's Business Manager To Editor.

Harold "Monk" Collins was selected by the Junior Class as editor-in-chief of the 1937 RACONTEUR at a meeting held in the auditorium after chapel Friday.

Collins was elected by acclamation. He was commended for his work as business manager of this year's book.

"I promise to make the 1937 year-book one in which you Senators will be proud," Collins said as he accepted.

JUNIOR PROM TO BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

The Junior Prom will be held Friday, May 22, in the College gymnasium. It was decided at a Junior Class meeting held after chapel Friday. The class voted to employ the Kings Jesters dance band, under the direction of Earl King "Senff," to furnish the music.

A grand march will be led by Nell Cassidy, selected queen by the Senior class. The queen will be attended by Katherine Blair, Leola Caudill, Nancebeth Baldrige, and Carolyn Wilson.

All Seniors graduating in June or August will be the guests of the Junior class on this occasion. Others will be charged seventy-five cents per couple or stag.

F. P. HALL SELLS OUT TRUCK EXPRESS LINE

After eight years of serving the people of this section with a trucking service, Festus Hall has disposed of his interest in the F. P. Hall Express service to the Union Transfer Company of Lexington which will continue to offer the service as in the past. Mr. Hall started in the trucking business eight years ago with one small truck and since that time his business grew to such proportions that he was running a fleet of trucks at the time of the sale. He retained one truck with which he will continue to haul in the future.

Revelers Dramatic Club Will Present Four One-Act Productions Here

The Revelers, College dramatic organization, will present four one-act plays in the auditorium Saturday evening, May 23, as a part of the commencement week program. The club had originally planned to give "The Royal Family" but found that they did not have sufficient time to put on this production. It will be given next year.

The four plays are those that placed first, second, and third in the playwriting contest staged by the Revelers. They are "Plotsman" by Paul Holman, "Destruction" by William Toran, and "A Great Old Lady" by Lucille Basenback. The three plays were termed "excellent readings" by the members of the selection committee which was composed of Mary Page Milton and Catherine Carr.

Morehead will take a particular interest in the Mountain Laurel Festival at Pineville this year, as a Morehead girl, Miss Katherine Daniel will be the representative of the Morehead State Teachers College for the high position of Queen of the Festival. The sixth annual Kentucky Mountain Laurel Festival will be held in Pine Mountain State Park, one mile from Pineville, on May 29 and 30. Preliminary entertainments will begin Thursday, May 28, with the arrival of the college representative who will compete for the title of queen of the festival.

The real festival will get under way Friday morning when every city in the Cumberland Valley will co-operate in staging a parade of floats depicting the progress of the mountain section of Kentucky. There will be five or six bands and many floats and marching units in the parade. The queens, Governor A. B. Chandler, Senator M. M. Logan and other officials, will review the parade. The coronation ceremonies will take place in a natural amphitheatre in the park Friday afternoon. They will be preceded by a band concert and an address of welcome by Dr. H. L. Donovan, Richmond, president of the festival association.

Admission to all will be ten cents.

Bud Hawkins Circus Draws Crowd Here

There is something new in the sun, even though it is a repetition of the old ones up in a new package. Bud Hawkins proved a Tuesday night when he came to town with a brand new circus, a dog and pony show that was good. The trained dogs and ponies performed, the aerialists did their stunts and Bud was there and drew down the packed house even though they missed the vaudeville and comedy performances of the week.

Katie Daniels Will Represent College

Morehead will take a particular interest in the Mountain Laurel Festival at Pineville this year, as a Morehead girl, Miss Katherine Daniel will be the representative of the Morehead State Teachers College for the high position of Queen of the Festival. The sixth annual Kentucky Mountain Laurel Festival will be held in Pine Mountain State Park, one mile from Pineville, on May 29 and 30. Preliminary entertainments will begin Thursday, May 28, with the arrival of the college representative who will compete for the title of queen of the festival.

Morehead High Exercises To Be Held In Auditorium Tonight

Commencement in Morehead and Rowan county will bring diplomas, degrees and certificates of graduation to seventy five or more graduates, according to the records of the various high schools and the college. Nineteen will receive diplomas at the Morehead High School, sixteen will graduate from the Breckinridge High School, and five will finish the course at the Haldeman High School. In addition thirty one, the largest class to complete the work in college will receive degrees at the commencement the latter part of this month.

The graduation exercises this year at Breckinridge training school will mark the first time in the history of the school that separate graduation exercise will have been held at that school. Heretofore graduates of the training school have taken part in the college exercises but the new plan is being inaugurated this spring.

Class Day exercises will be held at 9:20 o'clock, Tuesday morning, May 26th, and diplomas will be awarded the sixteen graduates at the close of the commencement program which is scheduled for 8:00 o'clock p. m. of the same day. Both programs will be held in the Training School Auditorium and the public is cordially invited to attend.

An innovation for this locality, a being offered in the commencement exercises in that no outside speaker is being used and the graduates themselves are furnishing the program. In various awards that have been earned by various groups and individuals during the year will also be presented at this time.

Those who will receive diplomas are: Josephine Alfrey, Jimmie Babb, Charles Lee, Opal Elliott, Pauline Butcher, Jean Dillon, Marjorie Hawkins, Murv'Hoeg, Ralph Holbrook, James Johnson, Dorsey Long, Mayme Myers Love, Dorothy Nash, Orville Redwine, Elizabeth Ricketts, Virginia Vencil.

Haldeman High School, at which commencement exercises will be held on Thursday night and Friday night of this week, will graduate five students. They are Jack Kelly, Thelma Hogge, Joyce Cartee Parker, Howard Stinson and Lee Crum.

Commencement and class day programs will be found in another column of this issue.

Morehead High School, whose commencement exercises are being held tonight at the high school gymnasium offers the largest class of any of the high schools, with nineteen scheduled to receive diplomas of graduation. The program for the exercises are to be found in this issue.

Baccalaureate services were held in Morehead Sunday night at the Christian Church, for Morehead High School, with Rev. H. L. Moore, pastor of the Methodist Church delivering the sermon. The baccalaureate services for Haldeman were held Sunday morning with Rev. H. L. Moore again preaching the sermon.

At Elliottville, commencement exercises were held for both the Junior High school graduates and the eighth grades graduates as one programme on Wednesday, May 20 at 9:00 a. m. The following received certificates of graduation from the Junior High School: Pruda Caudill, Bice Cox, Clara Boggs, Robert Conn.

NEWS FLASHES OF INTEREST

CONTINUATION OF OLD AGE PENSION SEEN

Washington — Revised hope for legislation at this session of Congress to encourage continuation of private old-age pension systems under the social security law was expressed by members of a joint Congressional committee.

The committee, composed of House and Senate members, met to consider a plan worked out by experts, but decided to seek the opinion of the Social Security Board before acting.

Chairman King, Democrat, Utah, of the joint committee, said later the plan outlined was workable and that something might be done at this session.

The pending proposal would have the employer pay the tax, but refunds would be paid by the Government to approved insurance companies holding funds for private systems.

BOLD VENTURE WILL TACKLE BREVITY AND GRANVILLE

New York, — As a result of Bold Venture's hair line decision in the Kentucky Derby and the Princess Stakes the stage has been set for the race of the year, when Martin L. Schwartz's great three-year-old again matches strides with J. E. Widener's Brevity and William Woodward's Granville in the $50,000 Belmont stakes at Belmont park June 6.

Bold Venture whipped Brevity by a head in the derby and beat off Granville by a nose in the Belmont stakes at Belmont park June 6.

CHINESE INSIST TOKIO IS PREPARING FOR WAR

Peiping — Chinese watched Japanese troops tramp into Northern mandarin garrisons and insisted the eye of Nippon were on two nations: China and Soviet Russia.

While Nanking protested to Tokio, and foreign diplomats, including the American, studied the possible consequences, the Chinese saw this double purpose in a triple-strength Japanese garrison at Peiping and Tientsin.

SECURITIES WORTH $1,950

DUG FROM ESTATE Hodgenville, — A jar containing securities valued at $1,950 was dug from a flower bed at the J. H. Burba home here three days before the property was scheduled to be sold to settle the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Burba.

Age Cox, Negro who had been employed by the Burbas for years, dug the nine-inch hole at the residence of Paul R. Burba, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Burba. Before his parents died, Paul was told by his mother that she had buried the jar in the yard in 1922 but that she had forgotten the spot. Efforts by the son to locate the spot were unsuccessful until Cox recalled having dug "a deep hole" at Mrs. Burba's request.

LAFFOON NOT TO SEEK DEMOCRATIC OFFICE

Madisonville, Ky., — Former Governor Ruby Laffoon announced here today he would not be a candidate for re-election as the Democratic national committeeman from Kentucky and would not serve if re-elected.

KEYNOTE FOR DEMOCRATS

Frankfort, Ky., — With the Democratic state convention called for June 9 at Louisville and mass conventions to select delegates in the directed to the coming campaign and to the probable reorganization of the Democratic State Central Executive Committee for the fall battle, Governor Albert Chandler will be temporary chairman of the state convention and Senator Albert W. Barkley permanent chairman. At least that is the arrangement said powers to be. As Senator Barkley has been agreed upon by "the ley" is not a candidate this year for nomination he can preside without the convention or the committee seem to take sides in the three-contested race between Senator Wm. Mills Logan, former Senator and ex-governor Augustus Owsley Stanley and former Congressman John Young Brown.

CAPITAL NEWS

By Howard Henderson From Courier-Journal

The Governor's Reorganization Committee spent part of three days last week looking over the field of emergency legislation, from which it will select the more vital issues to recommend to the Governor for inclusion in the special session call. The Governor, meanwhile, was in Virginia for a brief vacation, leaving Lieut. Gov. Keen Johnson in charge at Frankfort. Approximately 150 suggestions were before the reorganization committee for study. The greater number, of course, will be dropped because no real emergency exists concerning them, however worthy the suggestion may be. There seemed to be a certainty that the committee would recommend legislation for refinancing the State debt. The debt can be refinanced on a 3 per cent basis, the committee was told during the week. If the State enters into an agreement with the parties who propose to refinance the debt, the proponents will assume all elements of validity of the warrant obligations of approximately $20,000,000 are re-financed at 3 per cent. Governor Chandler and the General Assembly will have effected a saving of $400,000 annually on the interest item. One interesting development of the week was the suggestion that the debt could be refinanced on a one or two-year basis at about 1 per cent interest.

On the longer term of thirty years, suggested by the brokers, a proposal by State Treasurer John E. Buckingham, 3 per cent was the lowest interest rate the State could obtain, the brokers said. At the present 5 per cent rate, the State debt cost $1,000,000 annual for interest. This would drop to $600,000 at 3 per cent.

Attorneys representing the bondholders have gone over the legal decisions of Kentucky and believe they can write a bill for refinancing the State debt that will win court approval. The committee probably will recommend to Gov. A. B. Chandler that the subject be included in the call and that the broker group be directed to prepare a bill for suggested legislation.

Before he left for Virginia the Governor indicated he would include the subject of refinancing of the State debt in the special session call. In some parts of the State the charges constitute a barrier to travel, rather than an aid. Eventually, under the present setup, the bridges would be free, and then the bridges would be a great boon to the communities. But that would be many years away, under the present rate of retirement.

Between Smithland and Paducah for instance less than twenty miles apart, are two State-owned toll bridges. The toll on each is 55 cents. A person living in Crittenden County, making a trip to Paducah, would pay $2.30 toll at the bridges before he got back home. In a section of the State where agriculture is the main dependence for money the toll rate eliminates all but the most urgent local traveling.

A trip from Murray to Cadiz, county seats of adjoining counties, is another illustration, costs $1.35 for a round trip. If the State administration can devise some plan to reduce this charge so as to encourage local travel the bridges might be made to pay almost as much as they do under the higher toll with the travel limited to through traffic.

No definite plan was suggested by the Governor, last year King Swope, the Republican nominee for Governor sensed the demand for some relief which he visited Western Kentucky, and promised he would free the bridges if elected.

Federal legislation which permits the donation of Federal funds for part of the cost of construction of bridges will not permit the money to be donated to free toll bridges already constructed. A suggestion was made during the week that a way might be provided for Federal money to be donated. There also was a suggestion that the State might enact legislation to pay off the bridge debt, with warrants, and add the warrants to be refinanced. Another was that specific taxes be levied, earmarked for the bridge debt retirement, and used to call in additional bonds each year, or to pass the amount on to toll bridge users in reduced tolls. A tax on billboard and sign boards along State highways was one suggested form of toll bridge revenue.

Both labor and capital have agreed members of the reorganization subcommittee studying the subject reported, to the provisions of a proposed unemployed insurance bill. The bill is being printed, and will be ready for introduction as soon as the Governor calls the assembly.

Repairs to the State's Workmen's Compensation law have not been worked out, but the subcommittee is confident the work will be completed in time for the special session. Some amendments may be necessary to the old-age pension act, passed at the regular session. They will correct minor details, and will not alter the broad policy on which the legislation was based.

Experts from the T. V. A. were with the reorganization committee during the week. They recommended the two bills, one which would permit urban centers to contract for power, the other enabling rural communities to do the same.

The proposed legislation would free the units from the need of obtaining certificates of convenience and necessity from the Public Service Commission. The urban and rural units would be required to pay taxes, just like utility companies. In addition, minimum and maximum charges to the consumers could be stipulated by the T. V. A., so that the units serving the public could neither overcharge nor operate at a loss by obtaining special concessions, such as tax exceptions.

The rural units would be without the power of eminent domain. They could sell power only to persons who took stock in the enterprise. The entire set-up would be to make of the units non-profit organizations, engaged in the business of selling power at retail, but without special or unfair advantages over private business engaged in the same enterprise.

The set-up is not pleasing to one or two organizations in the State, which proposed to operate for profit, and feared the removal of such concessions as tax exemptions and the privilege of selling to as tax exceptions to non-stockholders at any price might cut in on their plans, might cut in on their plan.

Another problem before the reorganization committee is sales tax funds in the hands of the counties without county road indebtedness. Approximately fifteen counties in the State have their share of the sales tax money, but have been unable to use it for any purpose, because the sales tax law limited the use of the county portion to retirement of the county road debt.

While the reorganization committee deliberated, the Democratic State Committee set county conventions for June 6, the State convention for June 9, in Louisville. The county conventions, with few exceptions, will endorse the Chandler Administration. Governor Chandler will be temporary chairman of the State convention.

Robert Humphreys, who managed Governor Chandler's primary campaign last year and the Democratic fight in the November election, is seriously considering making the race for the Democratic nomination for congress in the First District. Neither Former Gov. F. M. Sampson nor Judge Charles T. Dawson will seek the Republican nomination for the Senate. The nomination may go to State Senator Ray B. Moss, Pineville.

Laughing Around the World

Out of the Frying Pan, Etc.

By IRVIN S. COBB

THIS one has one merit, at least. It really happened, and happened quite recently, too. A pretty young woman from a small Southern city was visiting in New York. She undertook to cross Fifth Avenue at one of its most congested corners. In the traffic she became confused and was in imminent danger—or thought she was—of being run down. As she hesitated, half fainting from terror, in the middle of the roadway, a strong hand caught and plucked her out of the path of peril. A moment later she found herself at the edge of the sidewalk, looking up into the face of a good-looking young Irish policeman, who held her in his arms. "Oh," she exclaimed, "am I safe? Am I really safe?" "Not with me, you ain't," he said. "I'm a regular Valentino, lady." (American News Features, Inc.)

Over 1400 Farmers Sign New Contract

More than 260 Rowan County farmers have filed Soil Conservation Program worksheet at the County Agent's office. This is slightly more than one-fourth of the county's total number of farms. Filing worksheets is the first step in participating in this national farm program. All farms are eligible to take part in this program and are being urged to complete worksheets without further delay.

County Agent Chas L. Goff is sending a letter to every farmer in the county, urging them to file a worksheet covering their farms. In this work by the temporary county committee which is composed of the County Agent is being assisted by Henry Eldridge, Sharkey, S. J. Linton, Morehead and Timian Jones of Hamm.

The worksheet is an outline of farm operation for 1935, giving acreage of various crops for that year. There will be no contract in the new program either now or later. Farmers will be paid for what they voluntarily do and not for what they contract to do as was the case in the old farm program. Payments are offered as inducement to carry out better farming methods and to assist in paying for certain soil building practices.

Getting a Job and Getting Ahead

By Floyd B. Foster, Vocational Counselor, International Correspondence Schools

Thinking Your Way To The Top

MANY of the country's most successful business men have the habit of leaving their offices early in the day. Sometimes this is mistakenly looked upon as loafing on the job, when the truth of the matter is that they really begin to do their most effective work only after they have left their offices. The work that makes them out-standing in their field is done when they go into conference with themselves, review their day's work, and plan for the next day. Trace back any successful action to its early stages and you will find that practically always it followed the formulation of a well considered plan. A man notable for his success as a salesman used to say that his sales were really made before he even called on the prospect. He had made such a complete study of the prospect's needs and had worked out such a sound plan of approach that the sale was almost a foregone conclusion. Close up should realize that your success will depend very largely upon your ability to "out-think" the men who are competing with you for recognition and advancement. A good idea does not work only when he is at his desk. He is thinking how he can cope with a棘手 situation or solve a pressing problem, while he is playing golf, digging in his garden or pursuing any other form of recreation that he enjoys. Whatever the height of your ambitions or the strength of your enthusiasm, your ability to get to the top is going to be determined by your ability to think your way to that eminence.

Christian Drive Nets Sum Far Over Quota

The eleven weeks financial campaign at the Christian Church was over the top drive in every way. Mother's Day 125 were present at the Bible School hour, and a photograph was made of the assembly as a permanent souvenir of the occasion. During the eleven weeks there were 17 additions to the church. Thirteen by baptism and four by letter. The Bible School ran an unprecedented high average in attendance and offerings.

The total amount of money raised was more than $860. The final reports of divisions were as follows: Division No. 1, Mrs. Calvert leader, $113.75; division No. 2, Mrs. Peratt leader, $147.70; division No. 3, Mrs. Lappin, leader, $215.27; division No. 4, Mrs. Vella Jayne, leader, $131.17; and division No. 5, Mr. Battsou, leader, $146.35. Other moneys raised, $104.36, making a total of $860.00. Other funds have come in since the final reports. This and other money to be raised will be used to paint and decorate the church and the parsonage.

Last Sunday brought a good attendance at both the Bible School and church hour. There will be no services of any kind next Sunday on account of the baccalaureate service at the college.

Morehead Seniors Present Class Play

The seniors of the Morehead High School presented "After You're Next," a hilarious comedy, in the high school gym, Thursday night. A large crowd enjoyed the cleverly executed production, and the seniors made over forty dollars at the box office.

Joe Williams took the part of a young novelist with money; Bena Hamilton played Marie Delmon, his wife; Murvel Hall was George, a study in black who trifled with the truth; James Justice and Glada Burton took the parts of a young honeymoon couple; Murvel Caudill and Irene Hall portrayed Phil Young and Peaches, two newspaper reporters; Pat, a crook, was played by Samuel Reynolds; Elizabeth Jenkins was a chorus girl; Maxie Mauk was the mother-in-law; Corinne Bradley played the part of Camille, the novelist's nice little niece, and Bradest Skaggs took the part of Kafe O'Reilly, her husband was a policeman.

The characterization and sets were excellent and the production in toto far above the usual high school level. The students of the seventh and eighth grade appeared in skits between acts.

The play was under the direction of Thelma Allen and Elwood Allen.

Eagle and U. K. Mermen Favored in Meet Tonight

BORST TALLIES SEVENTEEN TO LEAD SCORING

Eagles Take Seven Firsts To Maroon's One; Morris Hofstetter Score.

Paced by Borst, Indiana star Morehead's Mermen flashed to a decisive 50 to 28 victory over the Big Maroons of Eastern for their second triumph over the Richmondites with in a week. This time the Maroons succumbed to the Eagles in their own backyard.

"Sonny Boy" Borst was the most outstanding individual performer of the meet, breaking the tape in three events and winning a heat in the medley relay for a total of seventeen points, Morris was second and Hofstetter third, the former tallying twelve and the latter nine.

Hofstetter, Jackson, Hope, and Morris, swimming in that order, captured the 200 yard relay for eight points. Borst and Henderson finished one-two in the 50 yard breaststroke, and Borst rang up his second first of the evening in the 50 yard backstroke. Welsberger, who was defeated by Morris in the 60 yard freestyle here, turned the tables on the pride of Frankfort in the 50 yard Hofstetter came to the front in the 100 yard freestyle to give the Eagles a 29 to 19 lead at the conclusion of the first five events. Morris topped all divers to remain undefeated in three starts in this department "Sonny Boy" Borst leaped out in front in the 225 yard freestyle and from then on it was just a breeze for the tow-headed blonde. At the finish he was a lap and a half ahead of the field, "Rosebud" Kelly was second to give Morehead eight digits for the first two places. The combination of Borst, Morris and Hofstetter remained undefeated in the Medley relay as the three walked away with every heat in this final one over 150 yards, giving Morehead its seventh first out of the eight events.

PIRATES WIN FROM PARIS MERCHANTS 9-3
The Morehead Pirates achieved a 9 to 3 victory over Paris in the Bourbon team's own lat Sunday. "Little" Dave Leslie went the entire route for the Pirates and if he had had a little more support might have made it a shutout.
The Pirates took an early lead and were never in danger. Every man on the team was able to find the ball with the stick and they peppered the Paris flingers for enough hits to win any ball game.
The Pirates are trying to get a game here next Sunday but have not definitely contracted any opposition. The team is now under the management of Claude Clayton, Duck Carter, and Lawrence Fralay.

Swimmers Blast Eastern 50 To 28

Borst Scores Fifteen Points As Eagles Take Seven First Places.

Morehead's water-dogs, swimming before a capacity crowd in the Senff Natatorium, trampled Eastern 50 to 28, capturing seven of the eight events and effectively demonstrated their superiority over the Big Maroons in the first duel ever staged by the two schools in the aurore aqua, Saturday night.

Captain "Sonny Boy" Borst walked away with three firsts for fifteen points and individual honors. "Sonny" was never forced to extend himself and therefore his time was not as good as it might have been. Charles Morris was second high with two wins and a total of ten digits.

Ahead From Start
The wearers of the Blue and Gold jumped into the lead in the 120 yard freestyle relay, the opening event on the card, and were never headed. Hofstetter, Jackson, Kelly, and Morris, swimming in that order, took every heat. Borst came through in the 60 yard breaststroke winning hands down. Morris contributed five points in the 60 yard freestyle, and Borst rang up a triumph in the 210 yard freestyle. In this race the elongated Indian almost lapped his nearest opponent. Morris won the diving contest with ease to give the Eagles a 22 to 16 lead. Borst scored easily in the next event, the 60 yard backstroke, and Bradley managed to eke out third to put the Eagles out on top 38 to 19.

The 90 yard freestyle was the spot picked by Edwards of Eastern to give the Richmondites their lone victory of the evening. And right down to the wire it was nip and tuck between him and "Rosebud" Kelly. The roman-nosed Kelly missed clipping Edwards at the tape by a hair.

Borst, Morris, and Hofstetter, Morehead's big three, combined to give the Eagles a win in the last event on the card, the 90 yard medley relay. Hamilton, Eastern anchor man, was passing Hofstetter at the finish, and for a while looked as if he might send the shoe-eyed speedster down to defeat, but the Chat-teroy flash rallied to tip the tape with only inches to spare.

Cornette Urges Alumni To Attend Reunion

Roy Cornette, superintendent of schools of Rowan county and president of the College alumni association, issued a statement this week in which he urged all former students of the College to be present for Alumni Day, May 27. Although this is the official reunion of the classes of '35 and '30, all former students are urged to attend, according to Mr. Cornette.

Sportsmen Invited To Ashland Convention

The League of Kentucky Sportsmen Convention at Ashland May 28, 29 and 30 will see the largest gathering of hunters, fishermen and conservationists ever held in the state of Kentucky. At no other period has there ever been so many conservation clubs assembled under one banner and fighting for a common tuck as a great fishing and hunting state.

While the many forms of entertainment will attract several hundred people, beside the delegates from the various clubs, the main day as far as the League is concerned will be Friday, May 29. On this date the delegates, two from each club, will meet and thresh out a program to work on until convention time again. New officers will also be elected. The men who have served the organization during the past year are: President, Dr. B. W. Kelly, Louisville; Vice Presidents, Dr. O. W. Thompson, Pikeville and Denny Coach, Somerset; Secretary, Wm. D. Singh, Louisville, and Treasurer, E. H. Thomas, Fort Thomas.

News Notes From The Three C Camp

CLASS DISCONTINUED
Now that the agricultural class has been discontinued until next fall, the boys in that class have turned gardeners and will put their education to a test.

A garden has been started near the baseball field across the county road, and records are being kept to note the cost and returns of the work.

FIRST AID
A Red Cross first aid button will be given to any administering first aid to an injured fellow enrollee out on the road.

The Lapel button is being offered by Mr. Earl May, Educational Adviser.

FOREST PLANTING
Following is a report on the recent planting of trees by the T. S. I. crew. The statistics were compiled by Mr. Barnes, Jr., Forester, who was the foreman in charge of the crew.
Area planted—20.58 acres in 3 plantations.
Number of trees planted—21013 shortleaf pines.
Number of days of planting—6 1-2 days of six hours each.
Lowest average planted per day per man—142 trees.
Highest average planted per day per man—368 trees.
Average number of men in planting crew—22 men.

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Many people have become dependent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.
If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) at night and morning as directed you should quickly notice an improvement. Continue to apply Emerald Oil until the veins and bunches are reduced.
Moore's Emerald Oil is a balsam, yet most powerful penetrator and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, it is powerful in Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often curably healed. It has brought much comfort to worried people all over the country.

EAGLES TO PLAY LAST GAME WITH CARDINALS

The Morehead nine will meet the Cardinals of the University of Louisville in a return game here Tuesday afternoon, May 26. In an engagement in Louisville, the Eagles trimmed the Cards by a score of 9 to 8.

This will be the last game of the season for the Eagles. Their percentage so far is .500. They have defeated Louisville and Lindsey Wilson, and dropped two games to the Maroons of Eastern.

Dave Leslie will probably be in the box and Wyant will do the relieving. The infield will be composed of Vinson at first, Huston at second, Day at short-stop, and Ryan at third. Varney, Ison, and Arzen will be in the outfield.

Troemel And Odum Will Tour Europe

College Tennis Meet Enters Second Round

Roschi Trims Alley 6-3, 6-0 To Enter Finals; Hall Loses To Calloway.

All of the second round matches in the intramural tennis tournament have been played, with the favorites, to the most part, coming through in great style.

Rogers, Kessler, VanArsdale, Lykins, Holman, Coraette, Hall, Calloway, Rouse, Alley, Fern, and Roschi survive the first round. In the second however, Calloway overthrew Hall in three sets 6-4, 4-6, and 6-4. VanArsdale eliminated Lykins, Alley downed Rouse, and Roschi dumped Fern into the discard.

Roschi defeated Alley, Thursday afternoon 6-3, 6-0. Kessler downed Rogers 8-6, 5-7, 8-6. VanArsdale, Holman, Coraette, and Kessler will battle for the final berth in the upper bracket and the winner will meet Roschi in the final.

CHAPTER FOUR

Immediately on Whitey's arrival Van hustled her into a cab, drove to his hotel where he had engaged a room for her and plunged into the business of working out a contract that he could place before Underwood by the following evening.

At four in the morning the two tired typists were still chattering away in the living room while Van and Whitey worked feverishly in the bedroom.

Wearily, he had his hands over his eyes.

Whitey yawned up. A glaze of exhaustion hung over her face.

He glanced at his watch. If we start in again at eleven in the morning, do you think we could finish it by night?

"We'll have to."

At nine o'clock Van stood in the doorway of the large Convention Hall, searching for Underwood. Then, catching sight of him, he made his way to his side and said, in a low voice, "When are you going home?"

Underwood looked up in surprise. "Tomorrow morning."

"It's like to see you tonight."

Underwood smiled back. "But your board of directors doesn't meet until Tuesday."

"I don't need the Board of Directors."

"Ah, Well... make it seven o'clock at eight o'clock that evening. Whitey was sitting beside a palm in the hotel bar, savoring the effects of her eye highball and the potent strains of the rumba music.

"May I join you, Madam?" It was Van. He dropped into a chair beside her.

What happened? Whitey asked vaguely. A slow smile of exaltation covered his face. "Oh, I'm so glad for you," she cried.

He squeezed her hand under the table. "I know you are, Whitey." Then he winked with the air of a conspirator. "Tonight," he said, "we let loose. Who'll know? And summing up the waiter, he ordered some drinks.

Whitey caught her breath. What did he mean?

It was well past two o'clock when Van and Whitey stepped off the elevator.

"You probably think I'm drunk," he said owlishly.

He spread his arms wide in amazement. But I am,

They were at his door. Quivering from head to foot, Whitey faced him. Thank you for the lovely evening," she said slowly, challengingly.

Thank you."

She could see tiny flames kindling in his eyes. "I don't think I should leave my notes scattered around. Blushing past him, she walked through into the bedroom.

Van followed her, then flung himself on the bed, full-length.

"You know, he said thickly. It's unkind to be in bed with your shoes on... but I can't help it."

As if hypnotized Whitey moved to his side. She sat on the bed and in silence removed his shoes. They still were still and her body froze into an immobility that was like an arrested flame.

But after a throbbing moment, faintly slowly ebb'd back, like a morning tide. "We've had an awful lot to drink," she said evenly.

He nodded dully and stared at the ceiling.

The telephone rang. Being closest to it, Whitey reached for it. "Hello, Hello?" There was no answer. She cradled the telephone in his berth and shrugged. "Wrong number, I guess. Even in Havana."

"But! The operator's crisp voice asked, "Were you disconnected from your New York call?"

"New York?"

Van sprang up like a shot. "Linda! Get her back on the telephone." Finally, the operator rang back, "Linda Linda?" Van cried. But no voice answered him across that vast secretary void. "Linda, do you hear me? Please dear, I want to explain. There was only the relentless click of a broken connection.

The operator cut in. "The New York Operator reports the number temporarily out of order."

Subdued and heart sore, Whitey crept out of the room.

It was rather early in the morning when Van's taxi pulled up before his house. And twenty despairing minutes had passed, by the time Linda appeared in the dining room, dressed in her street clothes. She nodded civilly, formally asked about his health and that was all. She started for the door.

Van rushed forward and crowded her back. "Linda, how can you treat me like this?"

Her brows shot up and two bright spots of color burned on her cheeks. "I treat you?"

"You'll have to listen to me." She folded her hands resignedly. "Whitey told me down to Havana, the day after I did. It was contemptuous National Weekly... At her contemptuous gesture, he flared angrily. "Won't you even try to understand? I could make it all clear to you."

"Clear? You haven't touched on the minor point as to why Miss Van was in your room at two o'clock in the morning."

Van dropped miserably. "I know that looks bad. But Linda, there is nothing there never was anything between Helen Wilson and me. Do you believe me?"

She subjected him to a long, stately scrutiny. Then she shook her head. "No. I don't believe on her head, she left."

Here Comes Trouble Thrill and Laugh Riot

With rapid-fire romances, drama and comedy, "Here Comes Trouble," the new Fox picture will be shown at the Cozy Theatre, Friday and Saturday May 22 and 23 to tell a grand story of an engine room romance and his manuring cutie in a ship full of luxurious luxury cruisers.

Lanky Paul Kelly, who does some magnificent work in his first comedy role, is the hero of the picture, which stars and wondrous Arline Judge plays a fitting romance partner in a role of his cutie-cutting sweetie.

They're on a liner playing between Havana and New York and they make love by quarreling with each other when they're not handling contentious passengers. When they get to Havana, Kelly and his sidekick, Sammy Cohen, sample the pleasures of the city and wind up in a scrape that serves to cement Kelly from third engineer to coal hauler.

In the meantime, there's a conspiracy afoot, with two pairs of thieves vying for a $10,000 gem that Gregory Ratoff has in the ship's safe. Mona Barrie, who is plotting with Halliwell Hobbes, is trapped in a boiler room explosion, saved by Kelly. He wins back his rank and the undisguised admiration of Miss Barrie.

The film reaches its climax when Kelly becomes involved in a miniature riot at Miss Barrie's home because the ruby has slipped out of the cigarette lighter. Just as Kelly is going down for the count under the onslaughts of five burly gentlemen, Arline Judge and Sammy Cohen come to the rescue with the police. The close shows the stars too happy to argue for once, and happily making up.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

When a boy goes crazy about baseball or girls or anything like that, he usually goes real cuckoo. Well, there was a kid that got to playing baseball, but he was-

It's not any good. He couldn't stay on any team, because they'd have to find somebody that was a little better for than him or now. So he got real discouraged, because he was bound to play.

One day this guy came home and told his dad he was going to join the navy.

"What for?"

"Well, I want to get into the submarine service and have a me fun." "Submarine?" What makes you like to be drowned?"

"I think that, too. I think I'd do better with my baseball. There's more of a chance there. There's only five or six leagues, and they're the big ones and the best ones, around here, and I can't make any of them. But in the submarine service it must be great."

"You're crazy, my boy. How could you play baseball in a submarine?"

"I don't know anything about that. But I saw a book a put it in the shop in the bookstore. It called 'The Submarine' and it says that they're supposed to be swimming to us drowned."

College Feature All Star Picture

There have been lots of pictures that were hailed as favorable comparisons to "It Happened One Night," the new immortal Columbia production that Frank Capra injected with the directorial genius that is so definitely his. It is admitted, however, that none really come up to the high standard of romantic comedy that Capra set with that prize-winning film.

Now, with his inimitable magic touch, Capra has brought forth another "It Happened One Night," a gay, charming Cinderella story called "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," which plays at the College Theatre Friday. Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur have the leading roles. Critics have welcomed it as the only picture that

It is fitting that only Capra should surpass Capra's achievement.

"Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" tells the story of Longfellow Deeds, a rustic young man who suddenly falls heir to $20,000,000 and goes to New York City against his will to claim his money. The adventures that befall him are said to make for some of the choicest hilarity the screen has seen in years.

He gets mixed up with a girl reporter; goes out on a roaring drunk; feeds doughnuts to a horse to show how many he will eat before asking for a cup of coffee; makes madly around the city streets in his underwear; tries to give his entire fortune away to needy farmers; and manages to get himself arrested as mentally incompetent.

In the strong supporting cast are found George Bancroft, Lionel Stander, Douglas Dumbrille, H. B. Warner, Raymond Walburn, Mme. Margaret Matusseff, Warren Hymer and others.

KENTUCKY TURKEY CROP ON ITS WAY

Recollect "Poke-Stock" shot guns when you was a boy back yonder, muzzle loaders, and how they'd kick the very stuffin' out of your shoulder? But us boys thought they was awful fine. Now they're about to perfect a "kickless" gun—they've already got "smokeless" powder, and nearly "noiseless" report—and if they get 'em "kickless" how'll a feller know when he's shooting?

Anyhow, "how comes along another feller—a "dirtless" farmer—and that about tops the list? and "dirtless" is about like some of 'em are—where it comes to dirt that'll grow anything. But this feller has done tried it and showed pictures of a way by which he claims 2,000 bushels of potatoes, or $50,000 worth of tomatoes, could be grown on one acre of "ground" without usin' a hoe or plow. And soil is just as useless as the plow and the hoe in this process. He uses only water that has the things in it needed for plant life. Besides, a feller could grow as much in a green house as he could on a 1000 acre farm, and have summer time crops comin' along in the winter.

But there wasn't nothin' said about where them "elements in the water, "necessary to plant life," was comin' from. That's the tick—and most of us I reckon, had best stick along with our dirt farms for a while onw, anyway.

GRAVES HOMEMAKERS ESTABLISH LIBRARY

When Graves county homemakers became aroused over poor library facilities, they did something about it, reports Florence C. Bennett, county home demonstrator agent. After holding an egg sale, they bought book shelves and installed them at the agent's office. That was a year ago, and every month since then various homemakers' clubs have contributed one book a month. A fairly adequate library is now available on travel, hobbies, history, religion, art.

WAYS TO CONTROL MILK OFF-FLAVOR

Most feed and weed flavors pass into the milk within 30 minutes after the feed is consumed and remains for three or four hours. Therefore, poisons out the Kentucky College of Agriculture, if cows are removed from pasture to dry lot or clean pasture several hours before milking, most off-flavors will be eliminated. Usually four hours is sufficient, except where the animals have eaten onions or bitter weed.

Off-flavors in Kentucky are caused mostly by wild onions, rag-weed and bitter weed. By, green alfalfa cowpeas, beet tops, rape, cabbage, turnips, kale and other feeds often affect milk flavor. Full feeding of alfalfa hay, clover hay and corn silage sometimes produce a strong feed flavor; musty hay gives a musty flavor, and green barley, wild oats and foxtail may damage the flavor.

Another Kentucky turkey crop is on its way, since most of the poult in this state are hatched in May. Some breeders continue hatching well into June, but Dr. J. Holmes Martin of the College of Agriculture at Lexington does not favor starting the birds much after the middle of June.

Many of the big birds now are artificially brooded. R. E. Nute, Bullitt county, one of the most successful turkey raisers in the state, says he likes the brood brooder. One he uses is a 10 by 12 house built of tin adobe and corrugated metal roof to make it fireproof.

This kind of house is light in weight and easily moved. By moving the house frequently, at least once a month, the birds are kept on clean ground. This is the principal method of avoiding disease. Turkey raisers must even keep in mind ways of dodging blackhead. The most effective means of controlling disease, according to this breeder, are to keep the birds on clean ground, and to pick up and burn or bury deeply all dead birds as quickly as possible.

"Our experiences with remedies for turkey diseases teaches us that they do not work," says Mr. Nute. "We consider a sick turkey the same as a dead turkey. We express our sympathy for the poor bird by cutting its life short and sparing it the agony of forcing medicine down its throat."

Lips Like Red Cherries

THE poets of the Seventeenth Century, who knew a good thing when they saw one—to wit: it was worth to compare lovely girls' lips to cherries. "It was early in 1606 that the following words were set to music by Richard and Alison in "An Howes Recreation Set to Musick": "There is a garden in her face, Where roses and white lilies show; A heavenly paradise is that place, Which all the seasons is so green. There cherries hang that none can see, Till cherry lips themselves do cry."

And it was not many years later that Robert Herrick wrote these possible echo of the earlier lines: "Cherry ripe, lips, ripe, I cry, Full and full fair case—one and both. If to be you see me where they do grow, I answer, there. There's the land, of cherries, ripe."

WORTH TALKING Now everyone will freely admit that cherries of the above description, as well as cherries that grow on trees, are well worth talking. There are no fixed formulas for enabling you to taste the first. You'll have to work that out for yourself. But, fortunately, there are innumerable good recipes for tasting the second. Here are some of them: Royal Purple Parfait: Soften one tablespoon gelatin in four tablespoons cold water. Dissolve in one cup boiling hot grape juice. Add the syrup from a No. 2 can gelatin berries to set and add the stoned and halved cherries, soft pulp in tall, slim parfait glasses.

Acres And Men

There are no more frontiers, no great new areas on which to settle and expand. We must use our land wisely because worn out land means an impoverished people. This is the first of a series of four articles by Rexford G. Tutwell, describing what the Resettlement Administration is doing to conserve natural and human resources.

The Resettlement Administration is concerned with people and land. Land was plentiful when the hardy first settlers came to America. Great forests yielded to their axes, great plains to their plows, and from thousands of fertile acres sprang the snowy cotton and waving grain. Often, the plowman was preceded by the lumber jack and cattlemen, who stripped the surface bounty of trees and grass. Great wealth was taken from the soil—but little was returned to it in the way of care.

It was inevitable that a reckoning should come from all this. Overcropped and overgrazed, 35,200,000 acres of our land are dead, and millions more are dying. The dead land is carved grotesquely by deep fan-like gullies or plied up by the prairie winds in great heaps which cover houses, barns and fences. The dying land is desolate, or spotted by crops of stunted corn, thin wheat, short scraggly cotton or other puny plant life.

Hints To Gardeners

By Gordon Morrison Breeding Expert, Ferry Seed Institute

Miscellaneous Hints

FLOWERS: Most flowers should have little or no artificial water until they are at least half grown. When watering is begun, lay the hose on the ground and soak the soil between the rows. Sprinkling requires the use of more water and is less thorough. For a continuation of bloom, pick flowers regularly. This is most important with sweet peas and pansies, less so with petunias.

VEGETABLES: Avoid the common mistake of American of letting vegetables grow too large before picking. Younger vegetables are more tender, more nourishing and more palatable. With a large percentage of the vegetables get there while they are yet in the full stage of growth. Root crops—radish, carrot, beet—are at their best when hardly half grown.

Pick peas just before pods fall out completely. Pick corn just at the "milk" stage, that is, when the kernel, gouged with the finger nail, yields a milky juice. Use sweet corn squash when milk, not when the bloom has dropped off. Other vegetables, of course, should be allowed to mature more completely before picking. Tomatoes should be ripened well on the vine, as should Vandy squash. Cantaloupe are at their best when they need not be picked from the stem, but roll off the vine at a touch.

There are exceptions to many of these rules of course. Some may wish to use green tomatoes for special dishes or for canning, or they may wish to allow beans to grow to the dry bean stage.

DEAS

Have Their Secrets

WHAT do you know about V? I mean peas, beyond the fact that everyone uses them and they are mighty good? Do you know that both wrinkled and smooth-skinned varieties come in many colors? Do you know that peas are numbered from 1 to 6, and that 1 is the smallest? And do you know that the smallest size is the most expensive because of the labor to can them, and not because their flavor is superior?

As a matter of fact, many housewives think that the larger sizes (2, 4 or 5) taste better, and some canners pack a flavory blend of these three sizes called "run of the pod." You must take into account, too, the grades— Fancy, Extra Standard and Standard grade. The Standard grade is the one best adapted to such dishes as soups and purées.

Rich in Vitamins Canned peas are rich in vitamins A and B, and their vitamin C content is higher than that of certain fruits. There are also valuable mineral salts—in the form of as well as in the protein—thrown away but saved by use of a peeler and canner. Canned peas are a great ingredient to use in vegetable soups. Here's a simple one to which they make a delicious addition.
