BONUS BONDS TO BE DISTRIBUTED IN COUNTY IN FEW DAYS; POSTAL SERVICE GIVES OUT INSTRUCTIONS

Bonds Expected To Arrive In Week Of June 15 At Local Office.

Within the next two weeks, $142,000 will come into the hands of the veterans of Rowan county through the distribution of the adjusted compensation bonds, according to figures recently released from Washington. Most of the service men have already sent in their application for their "bonus" and recently the government released a bulletin on how the bonds would be distributed.

The local post office at Morehead has also received a bulletin of interest to local service men, telling them just how they may cash their bonds when they receive them.

In the first place the bonds will be sent out from twelve distributing post offices, those for this county coming probably from St. Louis, Mo. They will be started out promptly on June 15 and should reach the local office within the week. Therefore, local service men may expect to receive their bonds within a week of June 15. The regulations state plainly that no bonds will be delivered by the local post master to any one except the person to whom they are addressed. The service man himself must get the bonds which are being sent out by registered mail. He must sign for them himself. If the post master is not acquainted with him, he must produce identification before they will be delivered. As soon as the bonds arrive notices will be sent out to the veterans and they will call in person, bringing in

Twenty One Take Route Examination

Twenty-one aspirants took the examination held at the public school gymnasium under the supervision of Mrs. Flora Cooper, for the position of rural mail carrier on the newly established rural route out of Morehead. The route is scheduled to be opened about July 1.

Those who took the examination were Howard Spurlock, Mae Carter, George Bailey, Dorothy Ellis, W. E. Crutcher, Earl Bradley, John Caudill, Ernest Brown, Luther Clark, Willie McBrayer, Lawrence Fraley, Allie Young, Glenmore Hozer, Carl Johnson, Rudolph Zeigler, Ira Caudill, Dixon Shous, Walt Pritchard, Herb Bradley, Earl McBrayer.

From those who successfully pass the examination, those making the three highest grades will be elected. From these three the carrier will be chosen. Howard Spurlock is the only service man to take the examination and he automatically has an advance step so far as grades are concerned because of his service in the army.

"Quint" Picture To Run Two Days Here

The Cozy theatre announces that in view of the advance interest in "The Country Doctor" starring the Dionne Quintuplets, which will make its first appearance in Morehead on Friday and Saturday of this week, the first show of Friday will start promptly at 2:00 p. m. and will run continuously throughout the day until 10:00 p. m.

News To Start New Serial In Next Issue

In our next issue of the News we will start a new serial story which we believe will be of particular interest to our readers, as it is written about this section of Kentucky by a young man who was thoroughly familiar with the Kentucky scene, having grown up in this section.

A pupil of Rowan county is particularly well interested in the new serial about which a further announcement will be made next week.

In view of the opening of this new Kentucky serial, we are publishing a brief synopsis of "San Francisco" which was to have run as a picture serial in this and succeeding issues of the News.

Bee's Dime Circus Arrives Monday

T. G. McDaniel, purchasing agent for the P. H. Bee Show, Inc. is here this week making the tent and making final arrangements for the Bee Dime Circus to fulfill its engagement of six days and nights at the Bradley Lot in Morehead during the week of the 8th to the 14th, inclusive. The Bee Show has been coming to Morehead for years and are well known to the people of this vicinity for their cleanliness, morality, and all performances as well as of the personnel.

This year Mr. Bee has augmented the system and attractions in to Dime Circus, which within itself is a feature to be proud of, and is not an experiment with this seasoned showman.

Pride is taken by Mr. Bee in offering every attraction as a feature. The various shows such as minstrel, vaudeville, freaks, curiosities, motorcycle races, free acts, band concerts and shows, etc., always have been guaranteed performances and this year are even better than ever.

There is always a variety of high

General Class I Payment $7.50 Acre

The county average rate of the Class I or soil-conserving payment for diversion of acreage from the general soil-depleting base to soil-conserving crops under the Agricultural Conservation program for Rowan county is $7.50 an acre, County Agent Charles Goff announced.

The soil-conserving payment for diversion from the general soil-depleting base for all counties and states throughout the United States will average $10 an acre, depending upon the productivity of the land.

The county average rate of this payment is based upon the productivity of crop land in the county as indicated by the average yields of principal soil depleting crops, other than tobacco, in relation to the United States average yields of these crops. The rate of payment on individual farms within the county will vary from the county average rate according to the way the productivity of crop land on the farm varies from the county average productivity. That is, if the land on the farm is more productive than the average of the county, as measured by the yield of the general soil-depleting crop, the rate of payment for diversion from the general soil depleting base for the farm will be above the county average rate. If the productivity of

ELLIOTT LEAGUE MAKES GREAT RECORD IN FEW MONTHS TIME BY GAINING 4 HUNDRED MEMBERS

Rev. Kazee Takes Bow Then A Blow

Rev. B. H. Kazee returned home Monday morning in a rather gloomy frame of mind, all cant.

It seems that Mr. Kazee delivered the baccalaureate sermon at a neighboring town. The services were edifying. They opened with prayer as usual and the choir sang a beautiful and inspiring hymn. Mr. Kazee sat through this and when he rose to speak he felt truly inspired. He delivered what he believed was one of the most perfect sermons he has ever offered. It was truly inspiring, according to Mr. Kazee. He felt it himself.

And then— The choir rose and lifted their well trained and harmonious voices in song.

They sang: "There'll Be No Disappointment in Heaven." Mr. Kazee is still wondering what they meant.

First Indictment Made By Federal Forestry

The federal government is about to take drastic action against the so-called "fire bugs" who persist in starting fires in the forests. According to reports the first of several indictments has been made locally against a man on whom the evidence had been gathered. Several other indictments are promised in the near future. Evidently the federal government is tired of threats and intends to give those who doubted its intention the full benefit of the law.

Has Collected Over 1,200 Books And Raised Over $500 In Per. od

Anyone wishing to obtain proof that "where there's a will, there's a way" need take only a twenty six mile trip over a good road to become thoroughly convinced. They need only go to Sandy Hook to obtain complete and conclusive evidence.

In January or February of this year the Sandy Hook School building burned to the ground with a loss that was complete. All equipment and the entire library was destroyed as well. School books belonging to the children as well as the school were lost. Sandy Hook was without material with which to work.

Then was born the child of Sandy Hook, the Elliott County Educational League. To say that the League and the Sandy Hook and Elliott county citizens have accomplished wonders to put it mildly.

A visit to the neighboring village was a revelation. At the time the school building burned a gymnasium was under construction. The lower floor of this was hastily partitioned off into school rooms. What equipment had been salvaged, and it was little was moved into the basement and at the earliest possible moment the school work was continued.

Sandy Hook, however, was an accredited high school and this meant books and equipment.

So the Educational League was formed, with the avowed goal of one thousand members, and funds with which to replace the lost material.

The League in an excellent example of the "where there's a will, there's a way" program:

They have collected and donated to the Sandy Hook high school a library of over 1,200 volumes.

They have enrolled over four hundred members.

They have raised over $500.00. But more than all that they have created an interest in the school that will be worth more than all the Democratic Convention To Meet Saturday P. M.

Pursuant to a call issued by E. Hozer, County Executive Chairman of the Democratic party, in compliance with a call from the State executive committee, the Rowan County Democratic convention will be held at the court house in Morehead, Ky. on Saturday at 2:00 p. m. June 6. Fourteen delegates to the state convention at Louisville will be selected at the county convention, as well as resolutions adopted. Every Democrat is urged to attend the convention Saturday.

Nearly 500 Farmers Sign Soil Program

Soil Conservation Program work sheets have been filed for 466 farms in Rowan County. From 10 to 20 worksheets are being prepared and filed daily. It is estimated that 500 farmers should prepare worksheets for their farms without further delay.

Organization meetings of the Rowan County Soil Conservation Association will be held during the week of June 8th. The County has been divided into four districts or communities. These are Farmers which is made up of the Southwest corner of the county. Brushy, the North central section, Pine Grove the northeast corner and Elliottville the southeast corner of the county.

At these meetings a Community Committee will be elected for each community. This committee will be composed of a chairman vice chairman and other members. An alternate will also be elected. The administration of the County Organization will be in the hands of the members of these committees.

FARM BOY AT THE CROSSROADS

At the season when high schools are turning out so many graduates to a future which seems doubtful, there will be general interest in the following advice by L. J. Taber, Master of the National Grange, given in The Progressive Farmer—

"Which road shall the puzzled farm boy take? What shall he do? Farm work, my boy, may seem hard and it is sometimes monotonous. But what can be harder than seeking a job where none can be found?"

There is one road open to every boy on the farm. It is a safe and sure pathway that can be made to lead to happiness and a satisfying and useful life. Many men fail because they do not understand their life's work. Others fail because they find no job in the tasks that they must daily perform. The time has come when we must learn to do by doing, when hand and head lead direction, and when the heart must find joy in the achievements of life.

"There may be no more new land, the cities may be overcrowded, but the essentials of civilization and of life—food, clothing, and shelter—will not change and they all come out of the soil. Just as sure as it is that cating will not go out of style, just as sure it is that the good farmer will have a real job in all our future. Nor are the old demands for food and clothing alone in justifying our faith in agriculture's future."

"We not only must feed and clothe the nation, but we must also restore wasted resources and fertility. No new frontiers? We can find them in conserving for the future. Here is a challenge that will interest every young person in our land. As we put water in the 'soil bank' by restoring its fertility, as we reforest our hillsides, as we build new playgrounds and sources of recreation, as we add to the possibilities of securing food and fun, health and recreation in a better rural life—in doing these things we are opening new frontiers to explore."

Mr. Taber concludes his message by advising each farm boy to do these simple things—

1. Take full advantage of the opportunities offered you by 4-H club work and vocational agriculture.

2. Take full advantage of the opportunities offered you by farm organizations and by rural church and Sunday school for teamwork in promoting material progress and spiritual values.

3. Make full use of the opportunities for continual self-education as long as you live by reading good books, good magazines, and good farm publications."

DON'T WANT WAR

A good deal of agitation and protest is to be found the country over against war. Young people are organizing against it and some pledging themselves not to fight. It sounds well at this distance from war, but when once the law of society has been violated and war is declared, when the bands play and the flags fly and there is heard in the street the tramp of marching feet, pulses throb and the war fever burns—the infectious war fever. No one can say at this distance how long the protestors themselves could stand out against war. Thousands of them we know would enlist. The important thing is not to let the war flames reach that point.

SAFETY SLOGANS

More lives were lost in the United States by auto accident in the last five years than were killed or died of wounds in battle in the A. E. F. during the World War.

It requires an average of 162 feet to stop a car traveling at the rate of 50 miles an hour. Drive carefully.

Tetanus or lockjaw is often caused by stepping on a nail. Such injuries should always be treated by a doctor. When tetanus sets in it is too late. If a doctor is not available encourage bleeding and work iodine to the bottom of the wound.

There are 20,000 accidents each year caused by dozing at the wheel. Don't drive while drowsy. It only takes a split second to cause a wreck.

Frankfort, Ky., — The first political headquarters to open this year will not be the Democrats or Republicans, or even the Socialists. Organized labor is setting a precedent when its office State Headquarters for its Roosevelt-for-President campaign at the Kentucky Hotel in Louisville next Monday.

Labor already is much better organized for the fall election than either of the two major political parties. At a banquet in Lexington Thursday night State labor leaders announced that more than 700 Roosevelt Clubs are organized, with a membership of more than 100,000 voters.

This showing the leaders predicted a Roosevelt majority of upward of 200,000 votes in the State. If that comes to pass it will demonstrate the importance of early campaign work, long before the mass of the voters has been set in its way of thinking about political issues.

The last filing day for entries in the primaries is three weeks away. All entries must be in by midnight June 22. The approach of the time when the races will be made up brought increased activity from the already entered candidates.

Senator M. M. Logan has been in the State since Monday. He and John Young-Brown have filed their declaration papers. Senator A. O. Stanley, not filed. No organization-backed Republican candidate for the Senate nomination has filed.

draw is candidacy. Burley is too powerful for them to fight. Perhaps their plays will be the next to be refused. But when Blackie stubbornly refuses, they withdraw their support suggesting that his reason for continuing the battle is because of Mary. The next evening Mary sings the finale of the Opera, then, as Burley smiles down at her she steps to the footlights and announces her engagement to him. The audience shouts its good wishes as the curtain descends. Burley tells Mary of the surprise he has planned. To celebrate their engagement they are going to the Chickens Ball where an annual award is made for the best cafe show in San Francisco.

At the Chickens Ball, Mary is told by Della, an old friend of Blackie's, how Burley has had his place raided so that he cannot compete for the large prize that would save him from ruin. Stepping up to the stage to sing, Mary announces that she is representing the Paradise. To overwhelming applause, she wins the cup of gold pieces for Blackie. Just then he rushes in.

Brutally, he snatches the cup and gives it to another cafe proprietor, Mary turns away, humiliated and heartbroken. The music is playing when suddenly an ominous rumble is heard. Burley, the walls begin to crack. Shrieks and screams rend the air. It is an earthquake! A chunk of plaster falls Blackie to the floor. He lies there, unconscious, as Mary is dragged out by Burley.

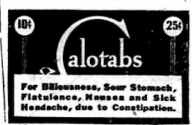

Blackie rushes out of the demolished dance hall. He must find Mary. Fearfully, he pushes through the stricken city, afraid he will hear that she is dead. Suddenly he stows, for he sees Burley lying dead in the middle of the street. Shocked, he glides on, finally reaching a table where his boyhood friend, Father Tim, is caring for some of the wounded. At first Tim refuses to help Blackie find Mary, for he remembers the way he had exploited her talents in his cafe. Then he sees that this is a new Blackie, finer and better for the suffering he has gone through. To

Blackie, forgetting self, toils with the others, but his heart is dead and hope less. Tim has been gone for hours. Then at dawn he returns. He has found Mary! He leads Blackie to the square where she is singing to the beg in his arms. The sun begins to shine, breaking through the fog and smoke. A great cry goes up. The fire has stopped! Together, Mary and Blackie prepare to face the future while Tim smiles his benediction upon them.

"ROBIN HOOD OF EL DORADO"

Story adapted by Peter B. Kone. Illustrated by Herbert M. Sloops.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING INSTALLMENTS—In 1848, Joaquin Murietta and his band dealt vengeance. Then a drunken mob hangs his brother Jose, and lashes Joaquin. Three-fingered Jack, an outlaw, comes to the rescue.

Left—Jack takes Joaquin to his outlaw camp where he is cared for until he is well again. At a card game one night Joaquin suddenly pulls his gun on Jack and the others. Boldly, he announces that from now on he will be a free citizen. Everyone is willing, including Jack and soon Joaquin has organized so that they are a powerful force.

Center—Joaquin's band grows more and more successful, terrorizing the countryside with its stagecoach holdups and killings. But always Joaquin feels revenge burning in his breast. He and Jack now plan to ride on the rich Spanish land owners who are meeting secretly to overthrow the American invaders. But on the way, Joaquin sees the three ringleaders who had hanged Jose. His men surround them. The victims fight desperately but they are outnumbered and quickly cut down by the outlawy bullets.

Right—The outlaws now go on to the meeting place of the Spaniards. Though some resist they are quickly overpowered and their valuables taken from them. Suddenly Joaquin sees Juana, daughter of his former employer. She has always loved him. Will he call of the men? Will they obey? See the next exciting installment.

YOU BEEN INOCULATED?

If you have been putting off being inoculated against typhoid fever, here is a hint from the "Mistakenly Have Made" department of the Progressive Farmer which should serve as a timely warning—

"My greatest mistake last year was my failure to take a vaccine for typhoid fever. I fell victim to this dread disease in Igou, and then spent my money and efforts. It was necessary to a city hospital for three months, many days in helpless delirium with each hour seeming the last. Had it not been for the prayers of Christians and the best of medical attention, my mistake would have cost my life."

Mrs. M. F. W., Mississippi

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of expressing our appreciation to our friends for their many kindnesses during the illness and death of our son and brother, G. Clayton. We also extend our thanks for the beautiful floral contributions.

Mrs. Laura Clayton and family

$7.50 PER ACRE

Attention is called particularly to the fact that this announcement does not refer to payment for diversion of acreage from the tobacco and depletion base. Rates for those payments on individual farms are calculated from the tobacco yields per acre for the farm, as announced when the program was inaugurated. Those rates of 5 cents per pound for burley tobacco are not affected by this announcement.

BONUS

(Continued From Page One) Identification if necessary. Even if the bonds are addressed in care of someone other than the veteran, they WILL NOT be delivered to anyone except the veteran. They must not be forwarded to any other office. If the veteran has moved since applying for an award, he must be re-sent to that address.

In Morehead, where carrier service is had, the service man may either call at the post office or he should remain at home so that the carrier may take the receipt required. This however, is not so essential as it would be in a large city. If identification is necessary the identifying person must also sign the receipt.

In case your bonds do not arrive on the day and date you expect them do not be discouraged. If your application has been in and you have received the card stating the bonds will be allowed within a short time. No diversions of bonds will be made by star route mail carriers, according to the regulations. Therefore, if you live on a star route out of Morehead, you will receive a notice of the arrival of your letter and will be required to call at the post office for it yourself. Particularity remember that you are a veteran to whom they are addressed.

An entirely different arrangement has been made to take care of those veterans who wish to cash their bonds at the earliest possible moment. The plan has been worked out in detail so that it may be done with the least possible delay. In the next issue of the News the details of this plan will be given for the benefit of the service men who receive bonds.

World Famous Drivers Know Only One Tire is Safe! Firestone GUM-DIPPED TIRES

WIN INDIANAPOLIS 500 MILE RACE Saturday Louis Meyer broke the track record, at 100 miles per hour, driving the entire race without tire trouble. He is the only driver ever to win the race three times, and has always used Firestone Tires.

No tires except Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires could have resisted the terrific heat generated at such high sustained speeds on the hot brick track, lap after lap, hour after hour. You can have no greater proof of blowout protection. Not one of the thirty-three drivers who risked his life on any other tire, for each driver knows that heat is the chief cause of tire failure and blowouts. Firestone cords are soaked in liquid rubber, which saturates and coats every cotton fiber, preventing friction and heat and adding great strength. This is the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping, that gives you greatest blowout protection and safety. Profit by the experience of race drivers. Equip your car today with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires—it costs so little to protect lives worth so much.

THE New Firestone STANDARD

Designed and constructed by Firestone skilled tire engineers—a first quality tire built of all first grade materials, embodying the many exclusive Firestone patented construction features. Its exceptional quality and service at these low prices are made possible by large volume production in the world's most efficient tire factories. Made in all sizes for passenger cars, trucks and buses. Let us show you this new Firestone tire today.

Full Length Story "SAN FRANCISCO"

It is New Year's Eve — 1905, in Old San Francisco and revelers all over the city are making merry. Blackie Norton, the most colorful figure in the Barbary Coast, is the owner of the Paradise cafe and gambling house. On the stroke of twelve he walks in and greets his friends. Then he tells them of the fire at the Hotel Bristol that had dazed him. Everyone is horrified for this is the fourth serious fire in the past month.

Suddenly, Blackie notices a beautiful, red-haired girl standing timidly to one side. Her name is Mary Blake. She explains that she has just escaped from the dreadful fire at the Bristol and has nowhere to go. She is trembling from fright and Blackie invites her to sit down, although he is a little suspicious of her story. Mary tells him that she is a singer. Blackie listens to her voice, then says he will give her a job at seventy-five dollars a week. Dazed and weak from lack of food, Mary faints. When she recovers, Blackie good-naturedly offers her a room in which to sleep until she finds lodgings. Mary is somewhat frightened at the rowdy atmosphere of the place, but, penniless and friendless, she is forced to accept his hospitality and the job.

Next day Blackie is at the gymnasium boxing with Father Tim Mullin, his boyhood friend. A delegation of men—safe proprietors—approach Blackie and ask him to run for Alderman, to compel landlords to rebuild their fire-trap tenements. Blackie refuses for he would have Jack Burley against him, most powerful of the Barbary Coast landlords. Tim, however, urges him to accept. Jack Burley, richest of the Barbary Coast landlords, now comes to Blackie's cafe, accompanied by his friend Baldini, director of the Tivoli Opera House. In view, menacing words, Burley warns Blackie not to run for Alderman. He is interested in keeping the Coast as it is, for its picturesque, ramshackle buildings attract the tourists. But Burley's interference promptly decides Blackie to accept as candidate.

Blackie steps out to change to evening clothes. Returning, he finds Mary singing an operatic aria, suggested by the singing coach. Blackie is enraged for he has told her she must sing only popular songs in his place. Burley is tremendously impressed by her voice and Baldini offers her an immediate audition. Blackie, however, mentions his two-year contract with Mary and refuses to let her go. With tears of disappointment, Mary thanks the two men.

Mary meets Father Tim, Blackie's friend, at the Rescue Mission where she sings to the derelicts. Tim talks to her of Blackie. Like the city itself he says, Blackie has his virtues and faults. Although he has donated the new organ to the Mission, he is "the most unbelieving soul in all San Francisco." Despite this, Mary refuses to leave the Paradise. Secretly, she loves Blackie.

At a picnic rally in Schuetzen Park, Blackie announces his candidacy. As he begins to speak, someone starts to heckle him. Blackie recognizes him as one of Burley's men. He jumps down and brutally hits the man, then turns to Hazelton, Burley's assistant, and orders him and his friend from the park. The battle is on! Fearfully, Mary has been watching.

Blackie and Mary are driving down a lonely country road. Though their interests are far apart, they are attracted to each other. Blackie has no use for any place in the world but his beloved San Francisco. Gently, Mary tries to make him understand that there are other things in life than the fast, reckless pace he leads at the Paradise. Her own ambition is to sing in the Opera, Blackie scoffs but it is plain that he likes her enormously.

Burley again visits Blackie, this time to buy Mary's contract so that she can sing the lead in the opera "Faust." Blackie says he will leave the decision to her. But when Mary asks Blackie if he wants her to leave, he says no, unable to hide his jealousy of Burley. She refuses the offer and Burley departs with some last threatening words to Blackie.

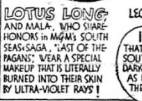

Blackie now takes Mary in his arms and tells her he loves her. She is thrilled, for these are words she has been waiting to hear. But a few moments later, she is heart sick when Blackie brings out a gaudy poster of herself in tights that he is going to display outside. It is the new costume that he wants her to wear in the Paradise.

Mary makes her decision. It is now or never! She leaves the Paradise and hastens to the Tivoli Opera House, to accept Burley's offer. After weeks of rehearsal, the great opening night arrives. The curtain is up on the first act, when Blackie enters abox, accompanied by a process server. He is going to stop the performance by legal measures. Burley is alarmed.

Blackie watches Mary's entire performance and falls more in love with her than ever. Then he notices that

IT'S TRUE!

By Wiley Padan

"IT'S TRUE that 'Last of the Pagans' was filmed on a 'forgotten coral island' in the South Seas near Tahiti," says Wiley Padan. "It is based on 'Type,' a novel by Herman Melville, author of 'Moby Dick.'"

the impatient process server has gone calmly knocks the man out, then proceeds to Mary's dressing room. Mary's heart is troubled for she has just refused Burley's offer of marriage. Then suddenly, Blackie has her in his embrace and is asking her to marry him. Father Tim, his boyhood friend, comes in. Radiantly happy, they tell him the good news.

Hypnotized by her love for Blackie, Mary agrees to return to the rowdy Paradise. On the night she is to appear in her gaudy costume, Tim rushes in and tries to prevent her from going. Blackie, infuriated, pulls Mary away and tells Tim to leave. When the latter refuses, Blackie strikes him down. The shock of Blackie's brutality brings Mary to her senses. She breaks her engagement to him and quickly departs from Paradise with Tim.

Mary now returns to grand opera, throwing herself into hard work. Burley renews his attentions and one day takes her to visit his mother, who begs Mary to marry her son. Won over by her sweetness, Mary consents. But unknown to her, Burley has been persecuting Blackie's relentlessly. Trying to forget Mary, Blackie has recklessly plunged into debt was offered. Then it was brought to the attention of Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of 20th Century-Fox, and things began to hum.

Blake was taken from his newspaper work and hurriedly transported to Hollywood where he was set to work fashioning a screen story from his original, in company with scenarist Sonya Levien.

There still remained the mammoth task of securing the Dionne Quintuplets for the starring roles. Other major studios had all received flat refusals for their tempting offers for the children. In some manner that is still a mystery to Hollywood, Zanuck accomplished what Hollywood thought was impossible, and soon had the quintuplets tied to a contract.

Then there was a brief period of preparing special equipment, of selecting Jean Hersholt, June Lang, Michael Whalen, Slim Summerville and Dorothy Petersoff for the leading supporting roles, and soon an entire film company was straddling the continent to cold Canada, bringing Hollywood to Callender so that the world's most famous little girls could make their film debut.

When the troupe returned to Hollywood, the finishing touches were added to the drama. And soon from the laboratories of 20th Century-Fox a Hollywood drama issued, vitally interesting in itself because of its suspense, its comedy and romance. But doubly important because Darryl F. Zanuck had at last succeeded in immortalizing the adorable quint in celluloid.

College Features Walter Huston In Historical Drama

For the first week of the summer term the College brings to the screen two of the biggest pictures of the year. The summer session will start off with a show on Monday, June 8, featuring Walter Huston, in a master piece of historical drama entitled "Cecil Rhodes: The Empire Builder" and on Friday, June 12th, the celebrated young star Freddie Bartholomew, in a picture which will grip you and thrill you entitled "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

"Cecil Rhodes, The Empire Builder" is the story centered around the life of the great English statesman and pioneer Cecil Rhodes. Walter Huston, one of the greatest dramatic impersonators of all time (the man who played the part of Abraham Lincoln, in the story of that name) takes the part of Rhodes. If you want to get the thrill of seeing one of the most dynamic characters in world history, you cannot afford to miss this one.

Little Lord Fauntleroy brings to the screen one of the greatest stories of all time with Freddie Bartholomew in the leading role, supported by such actors as Dolores Costello Barrymore, Mickey Rooney, C. Aubrey Smith, Guy Kibbee in a plot worked out with infinite attention to detail.

The action centers around the life of a small poor boy who is taken from his home in New York to England to inherit a large estate and become Lord Fauntleroy. His English uncle however will have nothing to do with his mother because he is angry because she has married into the family. The manly young Lord Fauntleroy, however, soon begins by his tender and manly little acts to soften the heart of the stubborn old Earl and finally the old gentleman becomes quite human and accepts the mother into the family, after a great party is given in celebration by the villagers who are happy to have the young Lord Fauntleroy and his mother with them.

Drama, Comedy
Animate Story
Of Quint Film

Because one news reporter actually wrote his story instead of just talking about it, and because one Hollywood producer has a phenomenal way of accomplishing anything he starts out to do, the Dionne quintuplets, world famous infants, are making their feature film debut as real stars in a real story. "The Country Doctor," coming to the Cozy Theatre Friday and Saturday June 5 and 6.

The story of how this new Darryl F. Zanuck picture came to be filmed is as fascinating as the quint themselves, and goes back to the birth of the babies. At that time, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe sent out a frantic plea for an incubator to replace the heated bricks he was using to keep the five tiny human miles alive.

The Chicago American answered the doctor's plea by sending out their ace reporter, Charles E. Blake, with the incubator in a perilous flight into Canada.

In this fashion, Blake became better acquainted with the quint and their doctor than perhaps any other of the hundreds of reporters who made pilgrimages to Callender, Ont. More than a year later Blake conceived the idea for his story. Taking a two-day leave of absence, he shut himself in a room with a typewriter, banged out the tale that was to become "The Country Doctor," and mailed it to a friend in Hollywood.

Blake's story was turned down flatly by the first studio to which it
