Ranger's Column

U. S. Forest Service - Morehead, Ky.

Last Monday W. N. [Bill] Wentz was buried at his home town in Pennsylvania, having died of a heart attack on the Saturday before. Bill had made many friends and acquaintances in this area over a period of about ten years while he served as resource management staff officer in the Forest Supervisor's office at Winchester before transferring to the Allegheny National Forest in Pennsylvania about two and one half years ago. At the time of his death he was stationed at Upper Darty, Penna. Before coming to the Cumberland National Forest he was district ranger at Bridge-water, Virginia, on the George Washington National Forest. In addition to his work with the Forest Service he and his wife were active in Girl Scout work.

Our Clerk Miss Maxine Stephens is leaving tomorrow for a three weeks vacation trip to the west coast. During the trip she plans to visit relatives in California and her mother in Phoenix, Arizona. During her absence, Hazel Ramey will fill in as clerk. Mrs. Ramey previously worked as clerk about 10 years ago.

Last Tuesday, March 22, we had our first fire of the season. Some picnickers built a fire in one of the charcoal fire grills at Triangle Picnic area, with fine wood and trigs. After finishing their cooking they turned their attention away from the fire, which was blown into nearby leaves by strong winds. Quick action by other picnickers within the area and our pumpers held the fire to less than a quarter acre, lower than quarter acre sure made an eye sore in the middle of a nice picnic area. An investigation is underway to determine the amount of damage and persons responsible.

Speaking of fires and fire danger, the next thirty days is the critical fire danger period. All persons having need to use outside fires in or near woodland or other inflammable materials such as dry grass or weeds should use safety precautions to prevent the spread of fire. All brush burning, burning of stubble from fields, etc., should be done after 5:30 p.m. in order to comply with state laws.

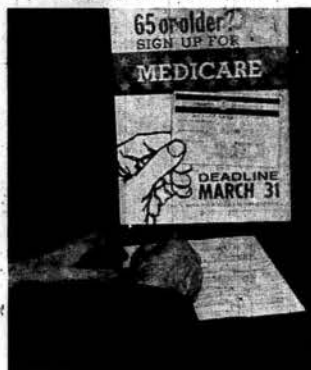

If the weather warms up sufficiently to permit turning on water to the outside water fountains and sanitary plumbing in the unheated toilets, the picnic and camping grounds at Rodburn will be open to public use this weekend. There will be no fee for use of the facilities until the latter part of May.

The Forest Service has called for bids for the construction of one and sixty-seven hundredths miles of road located on Clear Creek in Bath County. A showing of the project is scheduled for April 6 and bids received until 10:00 a.m., April 25, 1966. Bids for construction, etc., will be available from the Forest Supervisor's office in the Post Office Building at Winchester. It will be a timber access road opening up about three million feet of timber which will be advertised in this newspaper at a later date.

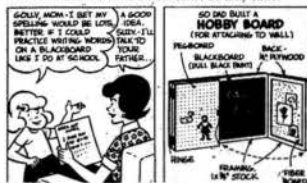

Contact Representative To Assist Veterans

She will assist veterans, and their dependents, with claims for benefits against them as a result of military service. Hours are from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Today Is Deadline

SOCIAL SECURITY'S MEDICARE DEADLINE is March 31 and the Kentucky Department of Economic Security is urging all recipients of State public assistance to sign up before it's too late. Some medical services offered under Federal Social Security plans will not be duplicated under State public assistance medical care. State public assistance benefits for persons over 65 will be increased by $3 beginning July 1 for all recipients who take action on the Social Security medical and hospitalization applications on or before March 31. Public assistance recipients should contact their local Economic Security caseworker; all others over 65 should contact the local Social Security office.

A. J. Rather, Manager of the Ashland Oil and Refining Company Liquid Petroleum Station at Morehead said that "LP" month is being observed in Rowan County.

Mrs. Lillie Adkins
Dies In Indiana

Mrs. Lillie C. Adkins, 82, died last Wednesday at Muncie, Ind., where she had made her home for the past 37 years after leaving Morehead.

She was the daughter of Fowler and Celcina Harris, lifetime Rowan County citizens.

Mrs. Adkins was born Dec. 15, 1884 in Rowan County, near Morehead. She moved to Muncie, Ind. in 1929.

Immediate survivors are her husband, Rollie C. Adkins, a daughter, and two sons.

Funeral and interment was at Muncie.

Replenishing Black
Walnut Timber Is
Major Problem

The project of replenishing Ken-tucky's dwindling black walnut timber supply has been undertaken jointly by the Kentucky Department of Natural Re-sources and the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

Natural Resources Commissioner J.O. Matlick and John Koon, executive secre-tary, Kentucky Farm Bureau Federa-tion, initiated "Project -- One Million Black Walnuts" after it was discovered the supply of the timber in Kentucky was rapidly decreasing.

"Black walnut is the most valuable timber species in Kentucky," Matlick said. "But while the demand by the wood-products industry for black walnut is increasing, the supply of the timber in Kentucky is decreasing."

Matlick said county Farm Bureau organizations are now buying black wal-nut tree seedlings and distributing them to their members in small lots. Other members are buying them direct from the State division of forestry. Seedlings are available from the division's three nurseries at a cost of $8 per thousand.

"I want to urge other landowners to plant black walnut seedlings also," Mat-lick said.

A resolution supporting the black wal-nut project has been adopted by the execu-tive committee of the Natural Resources Development Committee.

The resolution urges the planting of black walnut and other seedlings, and encourages an educational program to promote additional tree farms, Matlick said.

Company Continues Its Scholarship To MSU

Kentucky Finance Co., Inc., of More-head, has announced continuation for the current year of 1966, of its Kentucky Finance-College Scholarship Program at the University of Kentucky.

Two $500.00 grants were issued to the university recently, marking the third consecutive year that the program has been in effect. Once again, the two 1966 grants will enable two deserving young persons from Kentucky to move on to higher learning, whereas without the grants it may not have been possible.

Final selection of the students is left to the University; however, Kentucky Finance does request that, where possible, the selections be made within counties in which the company operates.

If you think that the Spring Grove Dairy at Morehead is a little operation you might do well to take an On-the-Premises visit as hosts of Messrs. Kautz and Moorehead, who operate the place that produces products with the rating of "Excellent" highest that the Kentucky Department of Health confers. We can recall when Spring Grove was a little farm operation some four decades back, at Salt Lick.

Then, Aubrey and family, bought Red Rose on 2nd Street in Morehead from the late Ray Flannery... moved the operation to our city... and have expanded and prospered since.

Besides Red Rose, we recall off-hand that Spring Grove has bought, or absorbed competing dairies at Irvine, Winchester, Mr. Sterling, Flemingsburg, and several others. They now operate in about 20 counties, and are a 'sizeable' employer in our community.

CERTAIN - Dairymen are worried, however, a milk shortage is not certain this year, and the Willamette was continued in 1967. It will be Nam war continues, milk could be rationed. Dutter has already been taken off the army and air force menu... the surplus of dry (concentrated) milk is about used up. The cheese industry is concerned. One thing certain - prices have, and are, going up. Even more sure - farmers will receive more for their raw milk. The situation is serious today - it'll be critical before the year is out.

VACATION - Folks in these parts won't have to put up with this inquiring and nuisance [when we don't write the story] to suit the culprit. The newspaper is off to Atlanta and Florida where we're... combining business with pleasure. Note to Eli creditors - no need to call until after Easter because where we are you won't be, or know, unless our good girl Friday (MJC) tells you, and she won't. Our community is in a state of emergency, because she knows which side her bread is buttered and where the pay check comes from.

FAUX PAS - Last issue we listed the name of an attorney of courts case that has caused considerable local interest as being a certain lawyer in Mt. Sterling. It should have read Mr. Sterling. Tom Burns is a faux pas. No charge for the foregoing free publicity.

UNAVOIDABLE - Because of this party - business - but - mostly - pleasure-trip foremen, we have to cancel plans for a meeting in Frankfort between Rowan County officials and Highway Commissioner Henry Ward over that two-cent road fund budget. We know that Mr. Ward is a good Highway Commissioner, but in this case believe that Fiscal Court, Judge, County Attorney etc. are mostly right. But, it looks like this one should be compromised to the best interests of all concerned. From the file on this one it would appear that somebody goofed. Anyway, the meeting, and decisions, will be reported in the columns of the ever-growing good old Morehead News just like everything else that goes on in this neighborhood except a few things that people don't think about, but do know about, but can't put in print. Fact is, if you've been out with any lady besides your own good wife, the chances are 10 to one this newspaper staff is also of same... as well as most everybody else. One disadvantage (maybe advantage) of a small community (that you get by with very little... and it is an axiom that your business is everybody's business, when it should be nobody's business).

OH, YEAH - Another sweet-sweet, anonymous telephone caller: "Your paper is all wrong in stating that the Sheriff drag racing and loves ladies." Sheriff Green said only that drag racing in Rowan County had stopped.

BIG DAY - A local business is distributing the 'printed years' back pomphlet to employees. "The Customer Who Never Came Back." The sequel is: "The Customer Who Never Came In." The First Place" because the owner didn't advertise in the newspaper.

HALF RIGHT - Two weeks this column forecast Shelby County would win the Kentucky High School basketball tournament, and UK the NCAA. Both reached the finals. Everything was white at Louisville, and black at College Park.

SPACE AGE - Many subscribers report seeing a meteor in the sky Sunday week back. We've seen many a star fall, and not from the Heavens.

BIG AFFAIR - The mostest-for-your money event in this community is the annual oyster and fish dinner at Masonic Hall. They fed 'em by the hundreds (let's hours) last Saturday. This is truly a meeting, mingling and good eatin' affair. We still don't understand how the Masons make money, considering the price of oysters... everybody passes up the Fish... and some go back for three or four plate refills. They ought to bring a wheelbarrow.

COMING - To the four boys who have been destroying or damaging mail boxes in Rowan County - your identity is known. One more time, and it's to the jail. We'll be waiting for you, you're going, maybe if they don't read this your 'suspecting' parents will and also the calaboose handwriting on the wall.

ANSWERING PHONE CALL - Keeneland racing opens Saturday, April 9 and continues through April 22. The Kentucky Derby is Saturday May 7.

HOW TRUE - Our preacher said in his sermon Sunday, "You always see the little dog barking and yapping at the big dog... until the big dog becomes irritated and shoves up the little dog's nose."

OUR PEOPLE DID IT - Western, Eastern and Murray have had, or will have, observance on attaining the name, and status of Universities. But, none will have a program to march Morehead... and we sort of proudly boast that the newspapers in Bowling Green, Murray and Richmond won't have anything like the Morehead News supplement. Even if they wanted to, they don't have the lithograph equipment... and we are prone to believe the lack of know-how, and dedication.

BIG PROBLEM - How would you like to be the 'one' person who had to make a decision on 12 top policy appointments. That is in the unenviable position Dr. Adron Doran is in today. The organizational chart of Morehead State University calls for four full Vice Presidents; three 'overseer' Deans; and five Deans of as many schools. It's a LB7 facing his Cabinet - probably more difficult.

MODERN ISAAC WALTON'S - Last week The Morehead News carried the picture of Billy Litton with that over 26 pound muskie. His fishing buddy, Tommy Caselli, since netted a 12 pounder. Really, an eight to 12 pound muskie is the most difficult of all to land. They'll almost walk the water on the tails trying to shake loose the hook. Big question - will muskies continue to propagate in Fork of Triplet after Cave Run Reservoir is completed?

PREDICTION - We have a fair idea that Ronnie Caselli, Editor for next week, might have some bad news for you folks who are hoping to get food stamps instead of commodities.

SOUNDS NATURAL - A friend called to our attention that the Morehead fire siren has been repaired and is again on its blows-every-noon schedule.

PREDICTION - Our area will have the nicest possible weather from now until Easter, while a hurricane, or something, will happen in Florida. Our luck lately has all been 'snake-eyes'.

HOPE FOR NICE DAY - Thanks to the Aquila Club of MSU, children at Pine Crest will have their annual Easter Egg hunt a week in advance - this Sunday, since its spring vacation at the University starting on Friday before Easter. Pine Crest is the number one commendable project of Aquila members - at Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, and in-between. Incidentally, Aquila in Greek is Gamma Theta Lambda.

THIS IS IT - Today [Mar. 31] is the last sign-up day for Medicare - folks who have not signed up by the end of today (April 15) is the deadline to pay those dreaded income taxes.

CONCLUDING - Has it reached the point where the only way to prevent a big war is to keep a comparatively 'small' one going? - a restaurant advertised that they don't have what you asked, we'll give you $500. A customer asked for an elephant ear sandwich. The waitress told the manager that he might as well get ready to pay the $500. "You mean to tell me we're out of elephant ears?" the manager asked. "No," replied the waitress. "But, we don't have any more of those biguns."

WHAT'S THE REASON - What's the point in violating traffic laws? That depends on which violation a driver commits, says the Division of Driver Licensing, Kentucky Department of Public Safety. The Point System carries a variety of license demerits and some of them mean suspension of the license. Obey traffic laws and you'll never need to worry about it.

DOUBT TO - NEW YORK (UPI) - Prospective homeowners may have to look twice at bathrooms in new home projects to make sure their vision isn't impaired, says The City of America. The trade association of the nation's ceramic tile manufacturers says the latest thing in bathroom design is double fixtures - twin lavatories, twin tubs and even twin commodes.

MAKE YOUR OWN TV TEST - 1. Agony Kelly Robinson of "I Spy." 2. Agony V. Assistant "Cal." 3. Star of movie, "Belle from the Hill." 4. Aspiring dancer in "Disco." 5. Shipper of "Michele's Navy." 6. Henry Fonda.

YOUR NOSE IN THE KITCHEN - The women of my mother's generation used to tell their husbands to stay out of the kitchen, warning them that sticking their noses into the utensils to see what was cooking was an infringement on the prerogatives of the gentler sex.

WHERE WE TASTE - The nose is not commonly recognized as one of the principal organs of discriminating taste. This function is usually attributed to the palate, as indicated in the use of the phrase "licking the palate," or the adjective "palatable." Actually, the palate has no taste buds. These are on the tongue. They register four kinds of tastes - sweet, sour, bitter and salt, and sometimes fat, and sometimes the tip of the tongue is more sensitive to sweet taste, the margins to sour and salt, and the back to bitter. However, since food is not swallowed quickly spread to other areas, these sense areas are not properly defined as taste buds, determined by electrical stimulation.

OUR NOSE TASTE - Most familiar tastes are influenced as much or more by the odor of the substance as by its taste. As we know, the cold is often accompanied by a runny nose. When one has a cold, the sense of smell weakens, and with it the sense of taste. All tastes lose

Their Work On Display

The work of these five members of the Morehead State University art faculty will be on exhibit from April 3 to April 30. Drawings, paintings and sculpture will be shown by:

Editorial Thinking Of...
The Kentucky Farm Bureau

Farm costs, already at a record high, are destined to zoom into outer space if legislation now under consideration to increase the minimum wage to $1.40 in 1967, and $1.60 in 1968 is passed by Congress in this peculiar year.

Aside from extending minimum wage coverage to certain farm operators, the main impact on agriculture would be to increase costs of the things farmers buy for production.

The proposed increase in the minimum wage would increase the $30 billion of production goods and services that farmers buy.

The cost of the $11 to $12 billion of consumer goods and services that farmers buy.

The cost of processing and marketing farm products - a cost shared by farmers and consumers.

A fact often overlooked is that increases in minimum wages not only boost the wages of the lowest paid workers, but push up the whole wage structure.

If a semi-skilled worker's pay is shoved up from $1.25 to $1.60 per hour, a skilled worker who is now getting with one growl.

NOT CONFINE - Bad-driving records from all across Kentucky are compiled in the annual license files in Frankfort. You don't need to commit all of your violations in one city or county to lose your license to drive. Even out-of-state convictions are reported to your permanent record and they count against your record for suspension. Take it easy, and you'll never know how the Point System works, says the Kentucky Department of Public Safety.

WHAT'S THE REASON - What's the point in violating traffic laws? That depends on which violation a driver commits, says the Division of Driver Licensing, Kentucky Department of Public Safety. Easter Walk

A walk from Mayesville to Morehead will be held this Saturday to help finance the 1966 Easter Seal Drive which ends this Sunday.

The walk will be accompanied by the members of Pas Adelphi, men's social organization of Morehead State University. The walk is an annual event by Pas Adelphi.

Mrs. Robert Laughlin of Wilson Ave., the Rowan County Easter Seal Chairman, will greet the walkers as they arrive in Morehead. The walkers will arrive about 8 p.m., coming on to Main Street via the Flemingsburg Rd. The walkers will stay on Main Street till reaching Wilson Ave. and then proceed to the Laughlin residence.

The group will start from the home of Dr. W.H. Cantrell, members of the Board of Regents, Morehead State University. The walkers will leave Mayesville at 10:30 after a send off the Mayor and Mrs. Cantrell, a member of the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children's Board of Directors.

The walkers will be greeted in Flemingsburg by Senator Ed Kelly, state Senator from the 27 district. Senator Kelly will be accompanied by Irene Todd, Fleming County treasurer for the 1966

Easter Seal Drive. Morehead's Mayor William H. Layne is hoped to be on hand to greet the members of Pas Adelphi as they enter town.

Last year's walk collected $300.00 for the Easter Seal Drive.

State Job Applicants Will Be Fingerprinted

Starting April 1, the State will use fingerprints to identify job applicants when they take their merit system examinations.

Announcing the personnel department's decision, Commissioner Walter Gattis said, "Fingerprinting is a positive means of candidate identification which the personnel department will use to protect the thousands of completely honest citizens who apply for State government employment each year."

"The fact that fingerprints will be recorded when the required merit system examination is administered will discourage that small minority applicant who might consider sending a substitute to take the test for them," Gattis explained.

The Money Usually Spent . . .

By Women

"You are the Supreme Court of the marketplace," Leland Davis, vice president of the Kroger Company, told those attending the afternoon session of the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers' annual meeting here today. "Only you, the consumer, can make or break a product," he emphasized.

Davis illustrated women's power as consumers with examples of well-known successes and failures among products offered to the U.S. public. His talk continued the theme—"The Status of Women." At this annual Homemakers' event at the University of Kentucky, which ends Thursday night.

White women constitute half the population, they make about 90 percent of the buying decisions, he pointed out. "The massive battles of commerce are fought over ways to influence her. As a shopper, the homemaker can be depended on to try almost everything once. The product usually gets only one chance with her if there's the slightest thing

Some say the consumer in America is bamboozled and brainwashed into buying what producers want her to buy, that tastes in this country are not controlled by the individual but are dictated by manufacturers and the moguls of Madison Avenue, the hidden persuaders and the hucksters. To which I answer: "Don't be silly!" Davis commented.

"This year, more than 13 billion dollars will be spent in this country on advertising of all kinds to coax people to buy products. Every 24 hours every American adult is exposed to over 1,400 separate advertisements. Public opinion pollsters make fortunes trying to uncover consumer attitudes. Only one factor is responsible for all this activity -- the freedom of choice exercised by the American consumer. You're the boss and you vote every day," he stressed.

He pointed out that advertising can sell an inferior product once but "if it isn't a good product and one the consumer will continue to want, all the promotion in creation isn't going to make it a success." And not all good products succeed, he noted, giving examples of some that failed in spite of widespread advertising campaigns -- "Just didn't happen to be what the consumer wanted." A product must keep up with the times and with its competition, too, to hold consumer approval.

"The really smart marketers not only discern what consumers really prefer but they supply them with it, they actually go out and create wants for products," Davis said. He pleaded guilt to the criticism that advertising sells people things they don't need -- "Things like television sets, automobiles, catsup, mattresses, cosmetics, refrigerators, etc. People don't really need these things, but the complex thing we call civilization is made up of luxuries that enhance life to whatever degree they can."

"Truly, our unique and restless economy is fundamentally devoted to the production and distribution of things people don't really need -- toothpaste, electricity, education, lipstick, etc. Without advertising, the economy can't exist," Davis pointed out. "Advertising influences people to buy, but the only products which survive are those which deserve to survive."

He quoted this formula for pleasing the American woman as consumer: "Quality plus Utility plus Price equals Value. The quality must be high, the utility genuine, the price as low as possible, and the value utterly dependable. No product that fulfills a need and meets these four demands has ever failed in the marketplace. No product without all four has ever had more than a temporary success."

4.8 Percent Of Kentuckians Are Unemployed

Kentucky unemployment insurance payments dropped more than $300,000 from February, 1965, to last month. The percentage of insured unemployment was 4.8 percent, down seven-tenths of one percent over the past 12 months.

State Economic Security Commissioner C. Leslie Dawson said the total paid in unemployment insurance checks was $2.4 million in February, 1965, and only $2.1 million for February of this year.

Continued claims in all categories were down 5,735 from 58,377 to 52,642; the number of weeks compensated for declined 11,074 from 76,031 to 64,957; and the number of claims exhausted dropped 106 from 1,024 to 918.

Dawson said, "Although the initial claims went up slightly -- only 264 -- the over-all unemployment insurance picture still is a healthy one."

Another significant statistic showed a slight increase in the average weekly payment, from $33.22 to $33.84.

The 1966 General Assembly passed a bill to gear unemployment benefits to current average industrial wages.

Doctors From This Area Counties, To Meet April 5

Everett H. Baker, M.D., Louisville, president of the Kentucky Medical Association, will be the main speaker at the meeting of the KMA Thirteenth Trustee District Tuesday, April 5 at Ashland, Walter L. Cawood, M.D., Ashland, district trustee, has announced.

The meeting, at Bellefonte Country Club in Ashland, will begin with a social hour at 6:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:15. Members' wives are invited.

Doctor Baker will discuss the challenges facing the medical profession today. The Boyd County Medical Society will act as host to the meeting.

Physicians from the eight counties making up the Thirteenth District will attend the meeting, Doctor Cawood said. The counties are: Boyd, Carter, Elliott, Greenup, Lawrence, Lewis, Morgan and Rowan.

The trustee district meeting, one part of the Association's Continuing Education program, gives physicians an opportunity to learn of the most recent advances in medical science.

Effective July 1, 1966, the bill's immediate effect will be to increase maximum payments from $40 to $45 per week.

Breathitt Recites Reasons For Veto Of Some Bills

Scores of bills were signed and a few vetoed by Governor Edward T. Breathitt in the week following the March 18 session of the 1966 General Assembly.

One of the outstanding measures signed by the governor was that requiring compulsory inspection of motor vehicles. In putting the final touch of enactment into law on this and nine other highway safety measures, he said they made up "the most significant package of safety measures ever enacted by a Kentucky General Assembly."

Besides the auto inspection law, effective in 1968, which is expected by Breathitt to save nearly 200 lives a year, he signed safety measures that:

Permit the Safety Department to license and regulate driver training schools and instructors; require drivers whose license has been suspended or revoked to pay a $5 license reinstatement fee before applying to take another driver's test; procedures to be used to underwrite driver improvement clinics.

Also, require gradual standardization of all highway signals in Kentucky; require all brake linings to meet safety standards prescribed by Safety Department; authorize school and church buses to use red flashing lights.

And, create a traffic safety co-ordinating committee by statute; provide for simultaneous flashing, parking and tail lights as an added safety device if desired by motorist; extend liability insurance coverage; and strengthen enforcement dealing with abandoned vehicles.

Three bills to strengthen the supervisory and regulatory functions of the State Insurance Department were signed. Generally they require new insurance companies to put up more money in capital and surplus before beginning insurance operations in Kentucky.

The Insurance Department, in addition, is authorized to investigate management of companies and to oust from the state those which are mismanaged.

One of the bills vetoed by the governor would have authorized state income tax credits for higher education expenses. He said this bill, sponsored by Sen. Richard Frymire, D-Madisonville, "would deprive the state of revenue needed to finance the scholarship program in Senate Bill 294, which I have signed."

Senate Bill 294, sponsored by Sen. J.D. Buckman, D-Shepherdsville, and guarantees Sen. Wendell H. Ford, D-Owensboro, sets up a state lending agency which guarantees higher education loans.

Bills placing restrictions on the use of his emergency fund and allowing public school teachers three days off for personal hardship leave also were vetoed by the governor.

The emergency fund bill would have limited the fund's total to two-tenths of one percent of the general fund budget. Breathitt said this would have reduced the fund from $1 million to $750,000 for the next two fiscal years.

It also would have set up a definite procedure for making allocations.

Sen. Clay Gay, R-Hyden, sponsored by bill which would have permitted local school boards to let teachers use three days of sick leave for personal hardship leave. Breathitt said a veto had been recommended because the bill could lead "to all kinds of diversity among local school boards concerning days allowed."

The governor also vetoed bills giving circuit and county clerks a $1,500 expense allowance annually in addition to fees collected as salary, requiring special licensing of antique automobiles giving the city prosecutor in second-class cities the power to issue summons and warrants; and requiring the state to exclude old-age benefits received by needy blind persons in figuring public assistance payments.

Claig Sprout ... Sez

We note from your last edition that Gov. Breathitt gave a "tricky" answer when you asked him if he was a-going to resign. Let Burt Combs be a Judge while Burt is a-going to be a Judge. Lee go in as Governor and Breathitt get a big job from LBJ like ambassador.

ETB said he was elected Governor for four years -- not two. That is true. But me and Timothy have long ago found out that elected officials don't always do what they say.

An example of this -- Clem P. Simer was elected several years ago as Constable and after he was elected started making moonshine. Then he was elected a Judge who fined everybody unless they was a relative, or close friend -- and a Commissioner of Taxes who omitted his own house.

I was reading in my Farm Journal where they have picked the All-American vegetable for 1965. This piece said the Gold Nugget squash and the Butter King lettuce won top honors in the All-American contest.

It's a fine thing for farmers and ranchers that they was ferever coming out with seeds that was stronger and better. Farm Journal said you could get seed that was about ready to do everything except harvest itself. We go seeds that resist diseases, that grow in dry, rich or poor land. The feller writing this piece in the Farm Journal said the laboratory experts has got to the place they can fit the seed to the job.

I bring this matter up at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle says show our experts has done about everything except improve the human race. Ed reported he had saw where one serial killer had come out with corn flakes with dried up strawberries right in the box and all you had to do was add a little milk and the strawberries come back fresh like they was off the vine. Ed said he got strawberries, beans, watermelons and oranges without seeds, but up to now they ain't found nothing for his roommate.

Zeke Grubb was a little more optimistic about the future. He said we need mechanical hearts, was trading eyes and kidneys around, and afore long people would be like cars. You could go down to the parts store, said Zeke, and get replacements fer what was ailing you.

Bug Hookum predicted he wouldn't be here when this happened, but he figured when we got people on this production line it would be a heap better if we just had two or three models so's it would be easier to get the parts.

Clem Webster was agreed with Zeke, said the time was coming when fellers our age would be antiques. And he allowed as how he didn't like to talk about it but us old antiques was the only ones that didn't get more valuable with age. It was a odd thing, said Clem, that a feller could buy a bed and sleep in it fer 50 years and sell it fer a antique fer 10 times what it cost. Then he had to spend the money to stay alive on account of he was too old and wore out to work fer a living. He was of the opinion Ed Doolittle was right. Contrary, that the Great Society got here just in time.

Like the man said, Mister Editor, I don't know nothing and git that all mixed up, but when I go home from that session Saturday night I couldn't decide whether it was better to be a 50-year old beddard or a member of the Great Society.

Yours truly,
Claig Sprout

Women's Medical News

BY LOUISE CHASE
Women's Medical News Service

One of the "in" hair styles may be the culprit in spreading acne. This medical fashion note comes from Dr. Cicely Blair who reported recently that several of her young girl patients seemed to develop acne lesions along the angles of their jaws. Why? the doctor wondered.

She observed that all the girls wore their hair with a lock curling forward over one or both jaws. The doctor believes that the lock of hair acts as a barrier to sunlight, which, the doctor explains, has a beneficial effect on the skin disease. The lock of hair may also transfer grease of various kinds - thus spreading the disease.

Dr. Blair pointed out that friction, in the form of brassiere straps, may be also responsible for the formation of acne lesions.

CLINIC CUTS

PREGNANCY RATE

Evaluating the results of a tax-supported family planning program in public maternity clinics in this city, Dr. Murray Gram, Director Public Health, noted recently:

- Instead of the expected 207 pregnancies in one year among 993 women, there were only 66.
- Instead of apathy on the part of the medically indigent, the program has been oversubscribed, with a maximum patient load from the day the program began.
- A startling number of women do not know that family size can be regulated, the doctor reported. Given birth control information, he said, "our patients certainly use it."

LOVING STRICTNESS

HAPPY CHILDREN

When parents set clear rules of conduct which they expect their children to obey, and when they enforce these rules with respect and affection, they are likely to rear successful and happy children. This is one conclusion from a seven-year study completed by the National Institute of Mental Health.

The most successful youngsters in school and at play, study showed, were those with the highest self-esteem. They came from homes with the strictest parents. The parents of these chil-

HONORED ... Ezra L. Adkins, right, is presented a Kentucky Colonel Commission Saturday at the annual oyster and fish dinner of the Morehead Masonic Lodge. Adkins is Master at the Morehead fraternal organization. Presentation of the colonel's commission, issued by Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, is made by Mayor William H. Layne, who is also senior Warden. Several hundred attended the six-hour "coming and going" dinner.

ren were likely to feel it more important that their children meet high standards than that they enjoy themselves. They were also apt to regard "achievement," as more important than "sociability."

Strict parents, the study shows, granted their children more responsibility, listened to them more closely, gave them a say in making family plans, knew virtually all their friends, and tolerated sharp disagreements more than permissive parents.

Although the stricter parents did not necessarily spend more time with their children, they were more deeply interested in them and enjoyed being with them.

The firm parents, the study indicates, respect themselves, are independent and less conforming, and are interested in community affairs.

The mother frequently had worked for a long time, had enjoyed her work, and had drawn self-confidence from it. She welcomed child-rearing and did not let it cut her off from her other interests. Such women were satisfied with their marriages, husbands and the way the latter helped to raise the children.

The strict father usually successful, self-confident and the family disciplinarian.

Both parents were direct and realistic and expected and usually got the best out of life. They were able to instill in their children a sense of high self-esteem and the idea that they could and would succeed in life.

The Handicapped Often Become Best Workers

Is an older worker a potential risk for the employer because his physical capacity has decreased to the extent that his job performance will suffer? Not necessarily, says the Kentucky Commission on the Handicapped.

As a matter of fact, research has brought these facts to light:

- The proportion of vocationally handicapped persons is no greater among older workers than among any other age group.
- Physical changes are not uniform among workers, nor are all activities affected equally in the same individual.
- Mental capacities may be unimpaired, even if physical capacities do diminish.

An old physical handicap is not a job placement problem when the older worker has become adjusted to it.

The commission noted that a handicapped situation in later life may call for a need for new vocational plans. In this case, the commission advises older persons to contact the Kentucky employment service or the nearest office of the Bureau of Rehabilitation Services through the State government listing in the telephone book.

"Older persons sometimes find that they cannot locate the type of employment they have had through the majority of their previous working years," said Victor B. Shoemaker, the commission's executive secretary.

"In this case, the employment counselor can help the older worker to identify occupations and job openings which are suitable for his physical capacities," Shoemaker said.

Downpour Causes Many Accidents In This Area

The district State Police office at Morehead was deluged with reports of accidents, only one fatal, during a heavy rain that fell throughout the area last Wednesday afternoon.

Radio Dispatcher Bobby Stamper said: "We had four in 11 county areas at almost an identical time, around 3:34 Wednesday afternoon."

The Kentucky Department of Child Welfare adoption program placed 465 children in the fiscal year 1964-65. A total of 1,458 children were placed in foster care.

Governor Proclaims April As Kentucky Arbor Day

April 1 has been designated Arbor Day in Kentucky by official proclamation of Governor Edward T. Breathitt. He urged all Kentuckians to participate in the annual observance by planting trees and shrubs.

State Natural Resources Commissioner J.O. Matlick, noting that Arbor Day has been observed in the state since 1874, urged Kentuckians to plant trees or shrubs in "recognition of our forest heritage."

Matlick said Kentuckians are planting thousands of forest tree seedlings each year. "This is as it should be," he said, "but Arbor Day is for everyone -- city or country dweller. It is a time to stop and reflect upon the blessings bestowed upon us by God -- our vast and beautiful forest lands and what they mean to us."

This Is The Time For Starting Lawn Control Practices

The common weed pests of established home lawns are waiting now to get their first good spring growth -- so now is the time to bang them hard with proper treatments.

Dr. James Herron, University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service weed control specialist, says:

WILD GARLIC: Commonly called wild onion, live 2, 4-D, or 2,4,5-T, or combination of the two. Treat lawns last of March or first two weeks of April.

CRABGRASS: A pre-emergent treatment before the crabgrass has started spring growth) has been very effective. This should be applied to lawns by April 15 at the latest. Materials recommended (one of the following): Azax, Bandane, Benefin, Betanase, Dacthal, Tugasan, or Zyrcon. Materials named are the killing agents; they will be in numerous commercial preparations sold as "crabgrass killers." They are packaged in "containers" for certain sized areas. Dr. Herron warns: don't try to stretch these materials further than recommended on the label.

Follow label directions in all cases for any of the materials named. Misc. 322-A, entitled "Weed Control Recommendations for Established Bluegrass Turf" is available at county agents' offices; it gives full directions.

Kentucky is one of 22 states and the District of Columbia that have automobile-inspection laws by their books.

Frankfort

The National Eggmobile will make a stop in Bowling Green during its visit to Kentucky. Plans are being made to hold ceremonies there April 5, at which time Tennessee Commissioner of Agriculture W.F. Moss will present the car to me as Commissioner of Agriculture for Kentucky. The Eggmobile will visit Nashville prior to its arrival in Kentucky.

Other activities include the presentation of a "Good Egg Award" to a local citizen, and keys to the city to the driver of the Eggmobile. Easter eggs will be given to the Potter Orphan Home and School.

On Wednesday, April 6, the Eggmobile will be in Louisville, where another program will be held. Included as a part of the Louisville program will be the presentation of a Good Egg Award to a local person.

The National Eggmobile is a 1929 Buick car which is decorated with promotional material. It is being sponsored by the Poultry and Egg National Board, and will make stops in 18 states as a part of its cross-country tour.

Destination of the vehicle is the National convention of the Poultry and Egg National Board in Los Angeles, Calif. The tour begins in Raleigh, N.C. on March 28 and is scheduled to end in California on April 24.

The Department has completed two of its annual hog shows and carcass contests, with these being held at Mayfield and Owensboro. The third will be held at Campbellsville in October.

At the Mayfield show, 57 exhibitors from 9 counties had 146 animals to qualify for on-foot showing. Of this total, 49 percent certified for the carcass show.

In the on-foot division, Gordon Samples, a 4-H member from Clinton, showed the grand champion, W.E. and Thomas Harper, Clinton, exhibited the reserve champion. Sample's animal won the carcass contest, with an animal entered by Bailey Harper, Jr., being named as the reserve champion carcass. The grand champion carcass had a ham and loin cutting of 43.04 percent.

This year's Owensboro show and carcass contest had 67 animals to qualify for showing. Forty-two singles were entered, with 15 pens of three being shown. Of the total, 85 grand U.S. Choice No. 1, and 64 percent qualified for the carcass show.

In the on-foot show, Paul Bailey, Route 2, Murray, had both the grand champion and reserve champion. Kenneth Ashby, Jr., Route 1, Hopkinsville, an exhibitor in the on-foot division, had the grand champion in the carcass division. Both the shows had the type animals we like to see produced by our Kentucky swine breeders. The number certifying in the carcass contests signify the quality of the animals entered in these events.

Presentation Of Awards

Internal strength was displayed at last week's meeting of the Morehead Jaycees as 11 Speak-Up Jaycee award certificates were presented. Paul Ousley, Speak-Up chairman, stated that the Speak-Up program is an integral part of the Morehead Jaycees internal growth achievement as Morehead ranks seventh in the state in total Jaycee activities. Bob Green, State Regional Vice-President, who attended the meeting, said Morehead is the smallest city (population-wise) to be represented in the top 10 chapters state-wide. Shown with award certificates from left: Ival Bryant, Jim Cox, Jack Thompson, Ray Bailey, Herb Ramey, Zane Collins, Billy Greenhill, Bud Stidom, Arvil Crase, Johnny Jackson, Bobby Gambill.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

APRIL

April brings a season of contrast. It is spring if the weather may be unpredictable on a day-to-day basis, we are assured that winter has had its turn and are cheered by the welcome song of the bird and the equally welcome sight of new life flowering in the fields and forests.

It is easy to feel young at heart. We must resist the urge to become footloose and fancy free. We could leave our cares and responsibilities and contemplate the ramblings of a brook as it courses its meanders, flowing endlessly to the sea.

In this season of new life, surrounded by the wonders of nature's beauty coming forth in a burst of color and green, our thoughts eventually turn to the higher meaning and the higher purpose of our own existence. Spring can be for us a time of spiritual rebirth. We have but to turn our thoughts and our eyes to the church by the side of the road. There we can find the story of the life of Christ upon earth. In this season of new life and rebirth we may refresh a strong spirit of faith and purpose.

FOR THE FAMILY MANAGER

ITEM: A mother of four children walks at least 3,000 miles a year just keeping up with her youngsters and doing her household chores. Much of this mileage is wasted up in the kitchen—which means the kitchen should be built around her sink with plenty of work space next to it.

ITEM: Despite the fact Americans are the best "plumbers" in the world, there are still nearly 7 million families that have no bathtub or shower in their home. Another 6 million have no water closet facilities.

ITEM: The well dressed person is the one who selects from current styles only those most becoming to her. The current fashion is on youth-fashions that are feminine and elegant. Softer shapes are closer to the body's natural lines, his cuts, and even pleated skirts. These silhouettes require cupie, drapable fabrics.

ITEM: Increase your linen closet by adding shallow shelves for napkins, hand towels and other small items.

ITEM: If you have a wide-mouth vacuum bottle, you can pack hot soups, baked beans or chili for lunch.

A GO GO... Four views of a GO GO style are shown. Glorifying Lady Edmond, who demonstrates her style on weekly television show and has appeared on many other programs.
