FIRST PENSION BACK HOME FOR INVESTIGATION

Plenty Of Blanks On Hand To Care For All Who Apply.

Pension applications have begun to return to the local pension office, according to Mrs. Clayton Johnson, who has charge in this county. Thus far one application has been returned for investigation, the first one that was sent in, said Mrs. Johnson. The application of William King of Haldeman has been returned with the request that she investigate it and return it to Frankfort for recommendations.

Mrs. Johnson has been busy filling out blanks for the past three weeks and more applications are going to Frankfort almost daily. Large numbers of those who are making application will be obliged to await their turn in receiving attention, said Mrs. Johnson, since it will be impossible to investigate all of them as rapidly as they come in. Under the provisions of the act, the pension will be paid only on the day after a careful investigation of their needs, meet the requirements of the law.

There will be no political distinction, according to Mrs. Johnson. The state department has made it very clear and definite that the purpose of the Public Assistance act is to take care of the needy aged in Kentucky, regardless of political party or leanings, and that is the intention of the local office.

An ample supply of application blanks has been received and Mrs. Johnson is prepared to take care of applicants who wish to have them filled out. Her office is in the jury room of the court house in Morehead.

Amburgy Family Plays In Hard Luck Roles

The luck that apparently follows the family of John Amburgy still works, and it is not good luck either. Mr. Amburgy himself has been ill for over a year and a half, bedfast from a paralytic stroke. For months he has not been expected to live.

Last week his son Kaney Amburgy was killed when struck by a C. & O. train.

Last summer his grand daughter, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Bailey died.

On Saturday of last week a mother of Mr. Johnnie Hamm was taken to the hospital in Ashland died.

And Mrs. Bill Hamm of Clearfield the mother of Mr. Amburgy's son-in-law was taken to the hospital in Ashland recently, suffering with inflammatory rheumatism and the heat.

No Farm Section Out This Month

Recognizing the economic hardship which has been felt by a number of newspapers, in drought stricken areas, publishers cooperating in the publication of the State Farmer Section, all-rotogravure agricultural magazine supplement, circulated by the Rowan County News have decided to withhold the publication of the August issue. The magazine, therefore, will be omitted in this week's issue of the Rowan County News.

With the one month's breathing spell accorded to the State Farmer editorial staff, plans are being completed now for an improved all-rotogravure farm magazine next month. It will come to the readers of the Rowan County News during the week of Sept. 6.

Many new features are planned for inauguration with articles by outstanding authorities and writers well known to readers of this newspaper.

WILLIAMS BOY HURT IN WRECK ON TRAIL

A wreck on the CCC highway near Clearfield in which his car was forced off the road, resulted in serious injuries to Vernon Williams of Cogswell. Williams is said to have been cut about the head and face so seriously that his chin and throat were almost severed.

Dr. A. Y. Lloyd Gets Pension Appointment

A. Y. LLOYD

Head Of History Department In Local College To Frankfort.

Dr. A. Y. Lloyd left Thursday morning for Frankfort where he assumed the duties of his new position as head of the division of Public Assistance, the division of the Welfare Department which has charge of the distribution of Old Age pensions. Dr. Lloyd was appointed by Director of Welfare Fredric A. Wallis with the approval of Governor A. B. Chandler in his position last week.

Due to his duties as head of the history department in the Morehead State Teachers' College, Dr. Lloyd was unable to leave at that time, although he has succeeded in part time attending to his new duties after taking charge of his daily classes here.

Dr. Lloyd is not planning on leaving Morehead permanently, and intends to maintain this city as his home during his absence at Frankfort. It was only at the insistence of Gov.

CHARLES HAMM DIES AT ASHLAND HOSPITAL

Charles, the nineteen month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Hamm at Clearfield passed away Saturday at the Kings Daughters hospital in Ashland where he had been taken that day for treatment.

Funeral services were conducted at the home on Monday by Rev. T. F. Lyons. Burial was made in Bradley cemetery.

Besides his parents and two brothers and two sisters, he has grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Amburgy and a host of other relatives are left to mourn his loss.

Labe McKinney Has Bad Luck With Car

Bad luck seems to pursue Labe McKinney, at least as far as automobiles are concerned. Mr. McKinney has had two wrecks recently with the same automobile. He wrecked his car on July 4 and left it in Cincinnati to be repaired. Saturday he went after it and killing two birds with one stone, started on to Hamilton, Ohio to deliver assignment of CCC shoes which he had repaired. On the way to Hamilton his car was run into again and torn up. It is again in the garage undergoing repairs.

Rowan County News Celebrates Eleventh Birthday Under Present Ownership

Eleven years ago today, August 13, 1925 the first issue of the Rowan County News under its present ownership and management was published. It is exactly eleven years since we took over the Rowan County News. At that time the shop was equipped with a broken down linotype and a press that fell down when we cut the wire which was its sole lease on life.

The management of the News is proud of the progress the paper has made and particularly proud of the progress Morehead has made in that period of time, because they have had a major part in that progress and advancement.

MACHINE BREAKS DOWN NO PAPER LAST WEEK

The News was highly gratified last week, in spite of the fact that due to a break down in the machinery, they were unable to put out the paper. Over four hundred telephone calls came to the office asking about the failure of the News to arrive. In addition numerous subscribers stopped members of the force on the street with inquiries as to its absence.

We are sorry, and we apologize, but at the same time we appreciate the fact that you missed your paper.

Addresses Teachers Meeting Last Friday

The second rural teachers meeting for Rowan county was held at the gymnasium of the Morehead High School last Friday beginning at 9:30 o'clock. President Harvey A. Babb made the principal address. The program offered follows: Opening Exercises . . . Rev. H. L. Moore

County Health Unit Gives Inoculation

According to an announcement from the office of Dr. T. A. E. Evans Rowan County Health Director, the Health Department will continue its work of fighting disease in this county by taking up its program of inoculation against typhoid and diphtheria. In order to reach everyone in the county, they have arranged to hold clinics in each school district in the county and began their campaign on Monday, August 10.

Everybody is requested to meet the Health Doctor and the county nurse at these places at the time set and receive their inoculation. Bring with you the family and all the children of the family and have them inoculated against diphtheria. This is extremely important especially in this weather.

For the next weeks the schedule of visits will be as follows: Monday: Mount Hope at 9 a. m.; Christy at 11 a. m.; McKenzie at 2 p. m.; Tuesday: Upper Lick Fork at 9 a. m.; Craney at 11 a. m.; Lower Lick Fork at 2 p. m.; Cranston 11 a. m. and Pond Lick at 2 p. m.

Thus far this year there has not been a case of typhoid fever or diphtheria reported in Rowan county and the condition that speaks well for the interest the people have taken in the efforts of the health department in eliminating these diseases from the county. If the people continue to cooperate with the Health Department by being inoculated and by having their children inoculated, Rowan county may be free from disease.

773 Drivers Licenses Are Issued In County

Issuing 325 drivers licenses last Friday and Saturday, kept Joe McKinney, Rowan Circuit Court Clerk, reasonably busy. The old licenses expired on Friday, July 31, and Mr. McKinney worked early and late during the weekends of those who had waited until the last minute to obtain their new licenses. Up to the time we go to press, Mr. McKinney issued 773 licenses.

In accordance with the law, several applicants were delayed in obtaining their licenses as the applications were required to be sent in to the central office at Frankfort. However, it is believed that very few will be turned down.

Ellis Johnson Talks At Monday Chapel

Monday's convocation period at the Morehead State Teachers College was featured by a talk by the new head coach of the college, Ellis Johnson. Mr. Johnson reminded his hearers that he was a former Morehead boy and that returning to Morehead has more in the nature of a home-coming than anything else. He promised to do his utmost to build up the athletic program of the college and stated that in his opinion there was no reason why Morehead's athletic teams should not be on a par or better than those of other colleges in the state. He pledged himself to work day and night to get the material and said that athletics should be a center of athletic activities in Eastern Kentucky.

He asked the cooperation of every one in building up teams that would be a credit to not only the college but to the community.

Forty-Two Get Degrees Today

Forty-two seniors will receive degrees at the annual August commencement at the Morehead State Teachers College, which will be held Friday morning at 10:30 in the college auditorium. Dean W. S. Taylor of the University of Kentucky will deliver the commencement address. The program for the ceremony follows:

Innovation H. L. Moore, Morehead M. E. Church.
Flowing River . . . Chilean Folk Song College Chorus (Dorothy J. Riggs Piano).
Commencement Address—The College Graduate and The Changing Frontier—William S. Taylor, dean College of Education, University of Kentucky.
Largo . . . Handel (Keith P. Davis, Violin).
Presentation of Diplomas—Pilgrims Chorus from Tannhauser, Wagner . . . College Chorus

MERCHANTS STILL GIVE AWAY MANY AWARDS

Money from Morehead merchants was distributed to nineteen people of the community again last Saturday, nineteen, whose lucky star seemed to have risen for the day.

This week the money will be presented in front of the I. G. A. Be there when your name is called.

Ralph Hudson Leaves For Arkansas Post

RALPH HUDSON

To Head Art Department In University Of Arkansas

Prof. and Mrs. Ralph M. Hudson are leaving Friday for Fayetteville, Arkansas, where Mr. Hudson has accepted a position as head of the art department of the University of Arkansas, and where they will make their future home. Mr. Hudson has been a member of the faculty of the Morehead State Teachers' College for several years and has built up a large circle of friends in this city. He has for the past four years been sponsor of the Trail Blazer, college publication.

Gus Ison Attacks, Cuts Geo. Adkins

Gus Ison, who two weeks ago was seriously injured Jesse Brown in a cutting scrape is again confined to the county jail this time on a more serious charge. George Adkins his latest victim is in a serious condition and is not expected to live as the result of Ison's latest excape.

Ison said to have mashed a quart bottle of liquor over Adkins' head, knocking the man's brains out according to reports. The affray happened up Dry Creek. Ison, according to reports was hidden in the brush and jumped out on Adkins, striking him over the head with a full bottle of liquor. Adkins fell on the ground, and Ison grabbed the neck of the bottle and, as he put it, "jabbed the hell out of him. The injured man was cut about the head, neck and face, his flesh being chewed to pieces by the brogue bottle neck.

He was brought to the CCC camp at Clearfield where local medical assistance was applied. He is not expected to live.

Adkins is still in a serious condition and efforts are being made to raise a fund with which to take him to the hospital for attention. Ison is being held in jail pending the recovery of Adkins.

Low Bid For Building Goes To Ohio Firm

The Di Blasio Construction Company was awarded the contract for the erection of the new federal building to be erected in Morehead in the near future, according to an announcement from the United States Treasury Department made after opening the bids Monday.

NEWS SPONSORS STRAW VOTE OF ROWAN COUNTY

One Of Thousands Of News Papers Throughout Nation To Aid In Poll.

Which of the presidential candidates in the national election this fall is going to carry Kentucky. Which of the candidates will get the highly important small-town and rural vote? Which candidate will get the votes in the majority of states throughout the nation?

These are questions, the answers in which will no doubt play an important part in the final national returns next November. Upon the choice of the small-town and rural American voters may rest the balance of power to swing the election for the successful candidate.

The Rowan County News has joined in with these weekly newspapers and will conduct the vote in this territory. A straw-vote ballot is published in this issue. It may be voted by any legal voter. You do not have to sign your name. It is important, however, that you sign the name of the town and state from which you expect to cast your vote at the November election, so that the national tabulation of your vote will be accurately recorded.

Publishers Autocater Service of New York, producers of a service for weekly newspapers, is to serve in the capacity of national headquarters for this nation-wide vote. Your local vote will be recorded here in Morehead. It is the ballot sent on to New York for national tabulation.

Our local county and state returns in this straw vote will be of particular interest to voters everywhere in the United States. Returns from other states will be of interest to the voters here.

Of first interest, of course, will be the returns shown in our choices right here in Rowan County. During now to cast your vote. Clip out the ballot, write in the name of the town and state, then mail or bring it to the Rowan County News. Returns in the local voting will

F. P. HALL INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY BALL

F. P. Hall, Jr., 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Festus Hall of Lexington, was seriously injured Wednesday afternoon when struck by a ball but while playing with little friends near his home. The boy was struck in the back of the head with such force that he was thrown to the ground and his face, mashing lips and cutting his face to a considerable extent.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Hall, grandparents of the child were notified and Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Claude Brown left Thursday for Lexington.

Young Democrats To Meet Saturday

V. D. Flood, president of the Rowan county Young Democratic Club has called a meeting of the young Democrats of the county to be held at the court house in Morehead Saturday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. Mr. Flood is anxious that the meeting be well attended by young Democrats from every section of the county. The meeting is being called chiefly for the purpose of electing a vice president of the organization, which place was left vacant when Mr. Flood assumed the acting presidency, on the resignation of W. H. Rice, last year.

The meeting will be attended by Senator Louis Arnett of Nicholasville, who was the organizer of the original Young Democratic Clubs in Kentucky. The local clubs was the second organized in the state. The meeting was called by Mr. Flood following a flare-up at the district meeting of the Young Democratic Clubs held in Maysville last week, in which a factional disrepute was aired.

FRED M. VINSON

Congressman Fred M. Vinson, who was appointed by Frank Sausberry in the Democratic Primary last Saturday, proved himself to be the run-off man that ever entered into a primary race. So far as Rowan county was concerned there seemed to be but little doubt in the minds of any of the voters who wanted to vote for Vinson might easily have been the only man on the ticket, if the majority he piled up is any indication.

Mr. Vinson, without even visiting the county piled up the impressive majority of 1069 winning a total of 1322 to 253 for Sausberry. In the district, Mr. Vinson amassed the huge majority of over 35,000 to win an endorsement that was overwhelming to say the least. According to the latest reports, Mr. Vinson will be opposed in the November election by W. Hoffman Wood of Mt. Sterling, who is also well known in Morehead.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. H. H. Kaeze, Pastor of Baptist Church.

Subject: Saul Converted and Commissioned Acts 9:1-9; 17-19; 1 Tim. 1:12-14. Golden Text: "I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision." Acts 26:19.

The conversation of Saul is the outstanding event since Jesus ascended. The disciples had been killed, scattered, and their morale apparently broken. Saul had been their chief and dreaded persecutor. He first enters the scene at the stoning and murder of Stephen. "They laid down their garments at the feet of a young man named Saul." "And Saul was consenting unto his death." Saul never did anything self-heartedly. Like a vicious bull, he went at the task of exterminating Christians as if it were a passion with him. He cleaned up Jerusalem, all except the Apostles. For some reason they were unhurt. Then he heard of some Christians over in Damascus. So "Saul, yet breathing threatening and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest, and asked of him letters to Damascus unto the synagogues, that if he found any that were of the way, of either men or women, he might bring them bound unto Jerusalem." He intended to rid the earth of this terrible sect.

That trip to Damascus was a crisis in Saul's life. It is told here, and twice more it is given by Paul in the Book of Acts. The critics have found no way to drive off the impelling evidence of the Supernatural power.

Just before he got to Damascus there is one around him a bright light from heaven, and he fell upon the earth. He heard a voice saying unto him, "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?" And he said, "Who art thou, Lord?" And the Lord said, "I am Jesus whom thou persecutest." He rose and entered into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do. "Saul became blind, and from there was led by his companions in to Damascus. Three days he neither saw nor ate nor drank.

Ananias, a man, prepared by the Lord, became the instrument through which the light of Paul's mission was revealed. He laid his hands on Saul and told him that the Lord Jesus, who spoke to him by the way, had sent him (Ananias) that Saul might receive his sight, and be filled with the Holy Ghost. The eyes opened as if scales had fallen off, Saul could see again, and he arose and was baptized straightway. Then he ate and drank, and was strengthened. He remained with the disciples certain days in Damascus.

This is indeed the outstanding miracle of the Bible. It is just old time conviction of sin, repentance and faith toward God and the Lord Jesus, and salvation and blessing as Jesus and salvation and blessing to here, the work of the Holy Spirit. Without it no man shall see God, except in wrath. The tide of Christianity here turned, Judaism lost its most virile leader, and Christianity gained its most virile leader. The Epistles of Paul bring us the revelation of the mystery of the Church, a mystery hid from the prophets and wise men of all ages. Salvation by the Grace of God became Paul's theme, and through him it has been sounded down through the generations to the triumph of millions yet to have trusted Jesus as Saviour.

More Arrest Made In Fire Charge

Karl M. Stoller, District Ranger on the Red River District of the Cumberland National Forest, reports the arrest and conviction of William Fultz, Morehead, for starting a forest fire and allowing it to escape to National Forest lands. Mr. Fultz was fined $10 by Judge Jennings at Morehead, and, upon the recommendation of Mr. Stoller, the sentence was suspended. Mr. Stoller states that a drive, which has been under way for some time will continue until every person suspected of carelessly or willfully setting a fire on or near National Forest land has been brought to justice. No leniency will be shown unless warranted by the individual case. It is hoped that the number of fires started by carelessness will gradually be eliminated.

FOR SICK ROOM When a member of the family gets as "cross as a bear," look out for a spell. Find out if he has fever, if he has, he will be dull and drowsy and his skin will be dry and hot. Get him to bed. Get the doctor, if you can, so you may know at once what you are up against, and do everything the doctor tells you. Give the medicine exactly how and when he says. This may save a life.

See that the bed is in a comfortable place. In winter, put it where an opening door won't let the cold air strike it. In summer, pull it out between the windows, and let the breeze blow strong and cool. Have fresh air in the room all the time. Keep your sick person clean. Give him a clean bed and a nice warm bath each morning, and a clean gown, Talcum powder and good smelling soap are soothing and pleasant when one is ill.

A person in bed thinks a lot about eating. Bring him hot soups, with the steam coming up. Pretty dishes make food taste better. A small glass full of milk is better than a large one, half full. Don't ask him beforehand what he wants to eat; this frets him. He'll say, "nothing," and probably get peevish, and may be not eat when you bring it. If he has company, their visits must be short. At bedtime, bathe his face and hands and comb his hair. Rub his back and legs to help him drop off into restful sleep.

How Few Can Say the Same These Times?

A MAN I know swears on his word of honor that he overheard this one. I think he is telling the truth because to my mind the story has all the aspects of being the genuine Afro-American good—it couldn't be synthetic.

The scene, so my informant claims, was the Boardwalk at Atlantic City. Two colored roll-chair pushers met in a quiet place. "How is business wid you, Henry?" asked one. "Even." "Huh!" "Just even." "What?" "Even, I tells you." "I don't know as I gits you drift?" "Listen, you come along an' see how is business wid me? So I says to you business wid me is even. Ain't that plain enough?" "Yes, an' no. What does you mean by even?" "Even better this week than 'twas last week." (American Negro Business, Inc.)

Farm and Agricultural News

REPLANT LAWNS

While much bluegrass in lawns has been destroyed by drouth, N. R. Elliott, landscape specialist of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, believes most of the old sod will renew itself when rains come.

If the grass does not come back satisfactorily he says it may be necessary to loosen the top two or three inches of the soil, fertilize and reseed to bluegrass in September. In any event, many lawns will have spots which will need this treatment.

Fertilizer should be applied about 10 days before seeding and thoroughly raked into the soil. A good high-grade fertilizer should be used at the rate of 10 to 12 pounds per 1,000 square feet of land. If the lawn renews itself so that reseeding need not be done, then the fertilizer thus need not be applied until October.

Prof. Elliott suggests that now is a good time to dig or pull weeds from lawns. This prevents their maturing and seed and lessens the number next year. If there is crabgrass, rake out as much as possible, remove and burn to prevent seed maturing.

Plan now to seed the land about Sept. 15. Experiments indicate that about the middle of September is the best time of year to sow bluegrass in lawns.

In ordinary years, the fall garden would consist merely of plantings of Chinese cabbage and turnips. This year, it should include, too, some of the vegetables whose supply is short because of unfriendly weedy earlier in the season. Rains have fallen, here and there, in the past few days, and more are to follow if forecasts are at all reliable. If rains have been taken to keep enforcedly idle garden areas weedless, enough moisture will have been absorbed to sprout seed without delay. Given good conditions, and barring unseasonably early frost, beans, tomatoes, beets and sweet corn, may still mature, to make good the mid-summer lack there may now be.

Beans. — Any spot in the garden that can be got ready will suit beans, except that superphosphate is always added with profit, especially as early maturity is desired. Too, and again because of the visible short season the gardener has at his disposal, short season varieties should be elected. These are Tennessee Greenpod, Valentin (black or red) and Stringless Greenpod. It is scarce safe to try any of the pole sorts nor even the fallbean, Horticultural of "Cranberry," although the latter might mature satisfactory in the southern counties of Kentucky.

Tomatoes. — If plants even a month old can be procured, tomatoes set immediately are a possibility. Commercial growers of tomatoes determine the fall crop by counting as ripe tomatoes blossom buds and the stems as of August 1, the season being normal. Nobody knows whether it will be a "late frost year," but even a timid gardener might profitably venture setting a few tomato plants, preferably of early varieties, but lacking these, any that he may be able to get. Even though not all the fruit matures by frost time, much of it will attain usable size, and can be ripened on window sill or on the plant itself, pulled entire and hung in a protected place. To provide all possible advantage, as beating the frost, superphosphate or high-grade fertilizer should be used in preparing tomato land.

Beets. — Stands of mid-summer beets have not been so easy to have, in some instances, and the condition of some early beets precludes their being canned or their being satisfactorily stored for winter. All right; it may be too late to plant the standard storing variety, Detroit Dark Red, one may venture a row or two of Eclipse or Crosby's Egyptian beets. At least, there will be "baby" beets for canning, and some may catch storing size. High-grade fertilizer should be used to hurry the crop along.

Sweet Corn. — Sweet corn has been a luxury this summer, because of high-temperature injury to the tassels and because of the stunting effect of the drouth. Although the really good sorts, hybrid Golden Bantam and Stowell's Evergreen need more time than one may expect before frost, there is still conceivable enough season to mature the known early sort, Adams, which needs 70 days or less. Those who value real quality, may try Black Mexican, which, though it may need a few days more than Adams can come in before serious frost. If, per chance, the foliage is nipped, the ears protected by their husks, can continue growing and fill out quite satisfactorily, to make a real luxury: "cracking ears." Corn land should be fertile, but in a balanced way, as from using high-grade complete fertilizer.

The United States Department of Agriculture announces that during the coming marketing season tobacco inspection services will be maintained at Hopkinsville, Murray, Mayfield, Paducah, Henderson and Madisonville.

Despite lack of rain, J. M. Childress, a Carlisle county farmer, cut 125 bales of alfalfa off four acres at the second cutting. He is planting to sow 10 acres to alfalfa in August, first applying two tons of limestone and 300 pounds of superphosphate to the acre. Breckinridge county farmers set about 500 acres of tomatoes last month. Contracts called for delivery of the crop at a Hardinsburg station.

CAMP NEWS

NEW CAMP

One of the barracks at the new camp will be turned over to the Educational Adviser to use as class rooms, library, woodworking, shop photography room, handicraft shop, and a large room for motion pictures and other gatherings.

It is possible to have the best educational and recreational set-up in the country if everyone will take an interest.

FURNITURE

Approximately $120.00 worth of furniture has been purchased with the idea of having an up-to-date loafing place. Two complete suites of Mohair furniture, reading lamps, bridge tables and other tables will be available to all those who care to put on their civies or O. D.'s. You must be dressed in loaf in such a fine lobby as we will have. A course in life saving based on Red Cross instructions as has been demonstrated these last few evenings will be started for those who want to learn more about it is work.

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a girl that took her new husband to her dad's house to eat his first dinner there, and her dad was a lawyer, so the poor boy, who was nothing but a vice-president of an automobile factory, was scared to talk for fear what he said might be used against him at the trial.

On the way home the wife says to him, "Why, dearie, I was kinda worried about you, settings there and not opening your mouth to let out a word or two. I was afraid you was doing yourself dirt with the old man. Ain't you scared he might think you was a gambler, setting there without letting out a rap?"

"Yes, I was kinda scared of that," he says.

"Then why didn't you talk?"

"Because I knowed he know'd by the 'b'." he says.

EVEN lexicographers—the people who prepare our dictionaries—are sometimes guilty of mistake. Dr. Samuel Johnson, probably the most famous of them all, defined "patern," meaning a leather, as "the skin of a horse." What asked by a lady who he happened to make such an error, he replied, "Ignorance, Madam, pure ignorance."

The mistake was corrected in the fourth edition of his dictionary, but Dr. Johnson never altered his definition of excise—"a hateful tax levied upon commodities, and adjudged not by the common judges of property, but by wretches hired by those to whom the Excise is paid."

As a result of his bellicose definition, Dr. Johnson narrowly escaped being prosecuted for libel by the infuriated Commissioner of Excise.

COOL COOKERY

MORE than a million women who have bought electric ranges have embarked on a new experience in satisfactory housekeeping.

If you'll join this great host of housewives by installing an electric range and appointing me your cook, you can say good-bye forever to the overheated kitchen in summer... to smudged pots and pans... to flame, smoke and fumes.

And you'll get better meals with less work... more appetizing and nutritious meals... have much more time for recreation—because I work automatically.

All these advantages you get at an amazing economy—less than a cent a meal for each adult. So come in and see our display of Hotpoint ranges. Other standard makes are sold by local dealers.

COZY THEATRE

For the second time within recent months, the aristocratic beauty of Rosalind Russell will be seen in a Darryl F. Zanuck-20th Century picture, when "Under Two Flags" comes Friday and Saturday to the Cozy Theatre.

Miss Russell who was recently starred with George Raft in "It Had to Happen" is the willowy brunette who first claimed attention with a sensational performance in "Rendezvous."

Her new picture is a sweeping emotional drama of love and adventure with the French Foreign Legion. Produced in a lavish scale by 20th Century-Fox, it has a starring cast that includes Ronald Colman, Claudette Colbert and Victor McLaglen, and a supporting cast of ten thousand. Jannette Hall Drowns At Muncie Ind. Home

Jannett Hall 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hall of Muncie, Indiana was drowned Saturday evening at 5:00 p. m. Jannette and her brother, Harlan, 13, were fishing when the child fell in the river and was caught in the quick sand. Her brother tried to rescue her, but failed, called help. The police and fire department responded and rescued the body after the child had been in the water for 45 minutes. There were still some signs of life, but she died a few minutes after being rescued.

Jannette Hall was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Hall formerly of the city. She was a grand daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Davis and a niece of Ed and Oscar Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Davis family left immediately for Muncie. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Davis returned home Tuesday.

Many Are Fined For Neglect In Forest Fire

Forest fires are costly institutions as a number of Rowan county farmers learned last week. The man who called before County Judge Charles E. Jennings charged with setting fires in the forest were each fined. However the fines were suspended, with the understanding that they will be collected if at any time they are in the next five years the men are connected directly or indirectly with causing another fire.

The forestry department has taken active part in enforcing the new forest fire laws and intends to burn down on those who either through neglect or willfully permit fires to burn over into government property.

There has been a marked improvement in the attitude of the citizens toward the setting of fires, in the past two years, according to Mr. Stalard, district forest ranger. Where formerly hundreds of fires set and hundreds of acres were burned over, the average lost at present is almost the same, but the eternal vigilance is necessary to prevent large areas from being destroyed and this is particularly true at the present time, during the excessive drought period.

The forestry department plans on pushing the enforcement of the law to the limit, and every offender who is caught will get the full measure of the law.

Logan Wins In Official Count By 2550

Senator M. M. Logan will carry the Democratic banner in November according to the latest returns from the August Primary. The count was finished Tuesday night, with Logan leading his nearest colender by a scant margin of 2458.

Rowan county where the vote was about half of the normal Democratic vote in the primary, registered a majority of 209 for Governor Beckham. Beckham carried five precincts of the nineteen precincts in the county. Morehead Number One, Farmers Two, Peary Three, Wagner and Lewis piled up the largest majorities for Beckham, while Brushy gave Logan his best vote.

Fred M. Vinson ran clear away from his opponent in the primary, Frank Salsberry. Every precinct in the county gave Vinson a huge majority, his total vote in the county being 1322 to 252 for Salsberry, a majority of 1069. Charles O'Connell, who had the nomination before the primary, due to the withdrawal of his opponent, Mr. O'Connell received 698 votes to Curley's 307. O'Connell was running for Clerk of the Court of Appeals to succeed his office in January.

FEDERAL COURT HANDS DOWN LABOR DECISION

Federal Judge Robert M. Gates of the Federal Labor Board has handed down a decision dismissing complaint of the Local Union 610 against the Kentucky Fire Brick Co. of Halemans.

Concluding a 20 page resume of the case with his findings, Judge Gates said: "Upon the basis of the findings of fact, I hereby determine and conclude that such unfair labor practice as respondent (The Kentucky Fire Brick Company) has engaged in are not unfair labor practice affecting commerce within the meaning section, subdivision 6 and 7 of the National Labor Relations Act. Therefore I recommend that the complaint be dismissed for lack of jurisdiction.

The suit was the result of two strikes at the Haldeman plant. The local union sought, through the suit, to have a number of the men put back to work when the company resumed operations after the Kentucky Fire Brick Company had allegedly denied them employment.

The Federal hearing was conducted at Mt. Sterling before Judge Gates April 6-7 and 8.

WANTED—Farmers or Farmers sons over 21 years of age with good car to travel in the country. Steady work. Write for particulars. G. C. HEBBERLING Co., Dept. 994 Bloomington, Ill.

Religion has often been shown of its greatest power by making it an opinion of a learned head instead of the conviction of a pure soul walking with God.

We must have the fullest possible knowledge, upon every possible subject, for always, people perish for lack of knowledge. And yet the thing I want to say is this: life, love, religion, and experience may be most beautiful and satisfying to all whose souls are attuned to God and beauty.

"There is the wide open field of opportunity for a carefully planned placement program." For despite all other factors, there is an astonishingly large number of good farms for sale and probably a much larger number that within a few years will inevitably change hands. A placement program can bring sellers and potential sellers and young farmers together where individual methods have failed.

"That the placement program will move slowly at first, there can be no doubt, nor should young farmers anxious to become untidily hopeful of immediate assistance. Hope it in the gradual development and spread of the program and in the now clearly recognized fact that the best prospect for a successful farmer is the ambitious young man in good health, well-acquainted with sound farming methods, even though his capital may be small.

PATTERNS OF WOLFPEN

By Harlan Hatcher

Copyright by the Bobbs-Merrill Co. WNU Service

He took down the second volume of the history of the United States and held the yellow covered pages open in his hands. There was the tale of the growth of these states and of the westward sweep of restless men who were always leaving one thing and seeking out another. Now they had done all that while he and his fathers lived out their days in the self-contained fields of Wolfpen.

The rough sketch must now be filled in. The fact was certain, but the manner rested with the makers of the future. Would it be continuous destruction and debris, dirt and ugliness wasted land and destroyed timber like the Ohio end of the Big Sandy? Or might it be in the orderly manner of Wolfpen—fence and greed would feelin' curves and knots on your never pause for vision or plan. The Ohio was filling, the West was filling, the mountains were filling, everywhere (from what he could learn) the unrest of men and the inexorable pressure of trade. The outside had pushed into Catlettsburg, then up to Louisa, on to Richardson and Paintsville, and now the Big Sandy boats were towering it right into Pikeville. Most of the timber on the lower Sandy was gone and the hillsides were gutted with washouts.

The demand was increasing; the hunger mills must be fed, and now Shellenberger was up here on Gannon and Wolfpen wanting logs and land. And after all, why not? Not telling but the demand might cease. His children needed the money more than the stumpage.

There was the new mill which could run a saw. He had been so busy with the planting; he had hardly seen his mill. It was no crime to sell timberland at a profit. Sentiment could never prosper a man. He closed the worn history-book and put it back on the shelf. He wound up the weights in the clock, and bathed his feet, and lay in the bed, waiting for Julia. When she had put out the lamp and had taken her place by his side, he laid his hand on her face, stroking it gently, and said "We won't much miss the land Shellenberger wants and the money will come right handy."

"I think that's best too, Sparrel," Julia said, just as though they had had a long talk about it.

"We didn't think much about not having real money when we were young, did we, Julia?"

"We had this fine place to start on, and it wasn't a bit of trouble to make things."

I reckon it's not a bit at way with our children.

"We can see them all get a good start now," Julia said, thinking, as always, of her children and not of herself.

You're going over to town in the morning?" she said.

"That was 'e talk they had about selling four thousand acres of timber land to Shellenberger."

Cynthia was awake when the first undecided birds in the orchard chirped uncertainly for a morning. By the time they had swelled to a full chorus with the coming of daybreak she was in the barnyard opening the gate and waiting Sparrel and Jasper ride down Wolfpen toward Gannon on their way to Pikeville. Before they disappeared around the lower orchard, Sparrel turned in the saddle and waved goodby to Cynthia. When Jesse came out of the barn with his own black gelding.

She was still leaning on the gate.
"You open the gate for me, will you, Cynthia."
"Why, Jesse, wherever are you going to?"

"I just took a notion to go over to town too. I don't feel at rest in my mind this morning, and I'm going to try to see Tandy Morgan about so at I told you about the other day. He rode through the gate. "Will you water the sheep and tell Mother?"

"Yes, Jesse, I had never seen him in a hurry before. She waved good bye to him and watched him ride hurriedly down the creek after Sparrel and Jasper.

He overtook them at the Gannon Creek ford.
"Where are you going to, son?" Sparrel asked also in surprise.
"I thought you went up to the field to look after that last piece," Jasper said, and there was an irritation in his voice.
"Abra! looking after it."
They rode in file—Sparrel, Jesse, "What about the sheep, son?"

Sparrel asked. It was as near as he got to reproving Jesse for coming away.
"Cynthia will water them all right Jesse spoke quietly, riding on with his fat and brother up the bank.
Sparrel said no more; he rode off at a lope up Gannon.
"What are you going to do over at town anyway? Jasper demanded.
Jasper—with ease and rapidity up the creek, the fall of twelve hoofs muted in the soft dirt, beating quick rider, and then nervously out of rhythm as if there were only gently as though there were nine. They rode without words, the only sounds the mild friction of saddle leather and the quick intervals of the hoofs collecting into a more insistent and then shattering into many.
