SECOND YOUNG DEMOCRAT CLUB IS ORGANIZED HERE AT MEETING HELD IN COURT HOUSE SATURDAY

Dick Clay Elected President Of Newly Organized Rowan County Club.

The meeting of Young Democrats, called for last Saturday afternoon at the Court House resulted in the organization of a second "Young Peoples Democratic Club of Rowan County," with, according to the president of the newly formed club, Richard Clay, no desire or intention of affiliating with the state organization and with no dues. The Young Democratic Clubs of Kentucky, of which Mr. Tom Logan of Covington is president, charges dues of 20 cents per year. The Young Men's Democratic Clubs of Kentucky of which Senator Lewis W. Arnett is sponsor and head has no dues, but Mr. Arnett, who was present at the Saturday meeting recognized V. D. Flood as head of the Young Men's Democratic Club of Rowan County.

Mr. Flood presided at the Saturday meeting until replaced by Lyle Tackett as temporary chairman of the new organization. Mr. Flood introduced Senator Arnett, who addressed the meeting. He said in part that he came on at the request of both parties to the argument, which originated at Mayville at a district meeting. Both parties he said had agreed to accept Mr. Flood as president of the club until the December election. The party headed by D. D. Caudill, W. E. Crutcher and Dick Clay were then to be given the opportunity to elect a vice president without opposition and by unanimous consent. He read a letter from Crutcher to Mr. Tom Logan which stated that Mr. Flood was satisfactory to them. Mr. Arnett stated that he had seen Senator Logan explaining the plan agreed upon and read Mr. Logan's letter of approval.

He stated that he was not involved in any factional fight and had no intention of taking part in one. He pleaded for harmony among the young Democrats and mentioned the fact that he had made the proposal he did at the suggestion of Congressman Fred M. Vinson.

Mr. Arnett took time out in his brief talk to eulogize Judge Allie W. Young for his part in building Kentucky.

Senator Arnett was followed by D. D. Caudill who stated that he

AWARD TO BE MADE AT CUT RATE GROCERY

Cash awards will be given away by the Morehead merchants on Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Those who get the awards will be required to be present when their names are called. The awards will be made in front of the Cut Rate Grocery on Main Street.

Marvin Johnson Shot In Card Game Fight

Marvin Johnson of Haldeman is seriously wounded in an Ashland hospital, where he was taken Sunday morning, suffering with four bullet wounds, sustained, it is reported in a fight following a card game late Saturday night.

Johnson had been wounded in the right thigh, right lung, right arm and right hip according to the examination.

According to reports, Johnson stated that he had been engaged in a friendly card game. An argument between two of the card players arose and Johnson acted as peace maker, only to be shot later by some unidentified person.

Johnson was shot, it is alleged, by Elmer Edan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Edan. Warrants have been issued for his arrest on the charge, but he has not yet been apprehended.

ARCH CASSITY IS HURT WHEN CAR TURNS TURTLE

Arch Cassity and his sister Miss Grace Cassity suffered severe cuts and bruises when the car in which they together with a friend were riding, overturned on the Midland Trail near Bluestone last Friday night. The driver lost control of the car which went into the ditch turning over and breaking the glass in the windshield.

Arch was cut on the head and arms, while Miss Cassity suffered a cut on the head which necessitated five stitches.

The car was badly wrecked.

Infant Son Of Former Resident Buried Here

James William McCormick, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. McCormick, grand son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holbrook, died at the home of his parents, in Ashland, Kentucky, on Monday evening at 6 o'clock. The child had been born that morning and was twelve hours old at the time of his death. Mr. Holbrook had been called to Jenkins earlier by the serious condition of his daughter, formerly Miss Beatrice Holbrook of this city.

The remains were brought to Morehead Tuesday by Mr. McCormick and Mr. Earl Quick.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the home of the deceased, formerly Mrs. Holbrook and Mr. McCormick having been one of the leading pitchers of the old Morehead Merchants when they won the East Kentucky League pennant in 1935.

ROMIE D. JUDD IS MADE DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Prof. R. D. Judd has received his doctorate from Peabody College in Tennessee, according to an announcement released by college authorities. Dr. Judd is head of the Education department at the Morehead State Teachers College.

Books Now Open For Registration

Registration books for all parties were opened to registration at the office of the county clerk in Morehead for all those who failed to register on either party at the August primary. The new registration law provides that after August 15, and until October 10, registrations may be made without cost at the office of the county clerk.

Both the Republicans and Democrat parties plan on making an effort to get every voter in the county registered before the closing time on October 10.

There is an impression among a number of people that they are permitted to vote in the September local option election without registration. This is wrong, as in order to cast a vote in any election, of what ever nature, the voter must be registered. Unless he comes to the office of the county clerk he cannot register now, as registration in the precincts was closed on Primary election day.

The final date for registration, so that they will be able to vote in the local option election on September 29 is set at September 15. Unless you have registered by that date you will not be permitted to vote in the election.

Up to the present about sixty have visited the office of the county clerk for the purpose of registering.

Mrs. Henry Christian, 68 Years Old, Pays First Visit Of Life To Rowan Capital

Living within eight miles of Morehead for her entire life of sixty-eight years, Mrs. Henry Christian paid her first visit to the capital of Rowan county on Monday of this week. For sixty-eight years Mrs. Christian has been contented and happy at her home near Vale. She has not wanted to get out, but has been satisfied to remain at her home with her family and family interests. She has on occasion visited relatives at Gates, the longest trip she has ever made. She has never been outside of Rowan county.

Last Friday, Mr. Christian induced her to visit over the week end at his place west of Morehead on the Midland Trail, a place which he has rented and is farming Monday, returning to her home at Vale, she stopped in Morehead for the first time in her life to fill out an Old Age Pension application blank.

Pete Ison Is Held Under $1000 Bond

Pete Ison charged with assaulting George Adkins with intent to kill, was given his examining trial on Wednesday morning by County Judge Charles E. Jennings. Ison waived examination and was remanded to jail under a bond of $1,000, which up to the present he has been unable to make.

Ison was involved in a cutting affair with Jesse Brown several weeks ago is accused of having attacked George Adkins with a quart bottle of whiskey which he smashed off Adkins' head. "I braked" him in the face with the broken neck of the bottle. Adkins is at present able to be up and about, although he is still suffering from his wounds.

Work To Start On Project Aug 25

Word received from Paintsville WPA headquarters indicate that the Morehead sewage disposal plant which has been under consideration for some time, has been definitely approved for immediate work and the work orders are expected to be issued immediately. Work should begin on the tank and sewer line within the next ten days.

The work was started on such a plan in 1934, under CWA, but was abandoned before it was completed. However the line had been laid almost to the site of the tank and this line will be utilized in the new project.

Mrs. Wesley Cox Dies Suddenly Monday Morning Of Heart Attack At Crux Home

Mrs. Wesley Cox died suddenly Monday morning at her home at Crux, Ky. Mrs. Cox who had stayed alone in the home Sunday night, while her husband, Rev. Wesley Cox, slept in their stables, was discovered by her husband, Rev. Cox, on early Monday morning, when he went to rouse her. He found the door still locked and was unable to arouse Mrs. Cox. He finally forced entry to the house and found his wife partially dressed where she had evidently succumbed to a heart attack, and had fallen across the bed. Mrs. Cox was still alive at that time and a doctor was called from Morehead, but arrived too late to save her life.

Funeral services were held at the Crux Baptist church Wednesday morning, with Elder Mabry preaching the sermon. Burial was made in the family cemetery.

ROWAN VOTERS MANIFEST GREAT INTEREST IN COMING PRESIDENT'S ELECTION BY CASTING VOTES

IVAN HOGGE IS INJURED WHEN TANK EXPLODES

Ivan Hogge of Gates was seriously burned about the arms and face, when a gasoline tank on which he was working exploded, setting his clothing on fire. His arm was burned almost to a crisp from the finger tips to the shoulder and he suffered severe burns about the neck and face. The explosion is said to have occurred near his home.

Many Ballots Are Already In For Candidates Of Both Major Parties.

Returns from the straw vote started last week by the Rowan County News, in connection with a national straw vote program through the small towns and communities of the United States have already begun to come in to the News office. The number of ballots already cast has greatly exceeded the number of returns expected and they are still pouring in. While the number is still too small to provide a cross section of the vote of the county, they are indicative of the trend. It is the earnest wish of the publishers of the News, that every voter in Rowan county, regardless of his party politics, whether he be Republican or Democrat, or whether he wishes to cast his vote for any county candidate listed, take one of the straw vote ballots, mark it with his choice and send or bring it to the office of the News.

It will then in turn be sent to the New York office of the American Press Association where the votes will be tabulated by states. This will in turn be published in later issues of the News, so that our readers will be able at a glance to tell which way the voters of the nation in the smaller communities are likely to vote in November.

There is of course the possibility of some few of the voters voting more than once in the straw vote, although this is not the intention of the effort being made. It is figured that there will be approximately the same number on both sides who do this, as in any other straw vote, so that it will have little or no effect on the analysis. We want to urge our readers, however to cast but one ballot in the straw vote, as our only interest is to learn for the benefit of our readers how the candidates will actually run.

This is no little thing. Over four thousand newspapers in various communities throughout the United States are participating in this campaign. The final results should be unusually accurate, as each paper participating has enough readers in each county to insure a fairly accurate decision.

The ballots published again in this issue for the benefit of those who failed to notice it last week, or who failed to clip the ballot and send it in.

We want to particularly urge you, regardless of your politics to clip the ballot, mark it with your choice for the presidential chair and send it to the Rowan County News. You are interested, probably either

Health Department Goes Humanitarian

The Rowan County Health Department is called upon to do many things in addition to the regular round of visits to schools and preventing disease. Even when death visits a family the health department is still serving and ready to our attention which proves this point, that the health department is not only a disease prevention center but a humanitarian institution as well.

On April 8, 1936, John Cox, son of Rev. Wesley Cox of this county died in West Virginia leaving a family of ten small children, the oldest being 14 years. They had no insurance and no money.

Working through the local Health Department, Dr. Evans learned that Mr. Cox had belonged to the Mooseheart Lodge in Morehead, a lodge that had been discontinued here but to which Mr. Cox still belonged. Taking it up with the Grand Lodge of Mooseheart, Dr. Evans received assurance that the following letter that the family will soon be well taken care of in the Mooseheart home outside of Chicago.

August 13, 1936.
Dr. Thos. A. E. Evans, Director Rowan Co. Health Dept., Morehead, Ky.

I wish to acknowledge receipt of your letter in which you enclosed blanks with regard to the family of John Cox, who recently passed away.

The case has been completed and will be turned over to the Board of Mooseheart Governors at their next meeting, at which time we will get

Allen Gearhart Killed By Train

The mutilated body of Allen Gearhart, 25 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gearhart living west of Morehead on the Midland Trail was found on the C. & O. Railroad tracks near Brady curve, West of Morehead, after the running of Twenty Four on Tuesday night. The trainmen reported striking the young man when they pulled into the station at Morehead. Investigation disclosed that the body was badly mutilated, with the head and legs severed, the skull crushed and the only means of identification by the clothing he was wearing. Coroner Jim Brown and the sheriff gathered the remains and brought them to Morehead, where they were claimed by Mr. Gearhart the father.

Nothing is known as to the cause of the accident. It is supposed that Mr. Gearhart had started home down the track, which would have brought him out close to the highway and his home.

As we go to press no arrangements for burial have been made. This is the second fatal accident of the same sort which has occurred here within the past three weeks. About three weeks ago the body of Kanes Amburgy, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Amburgy was found where it had been struck by a C. & O. train near the old spoke factory in west Morehead.

Judge Stewart Gets Opponent's Congrats

Aug. 15th, 1936.
Judge R. Lee Stewart,
The Next Clerk of the Court of Appeals,
Morehead, Kentucky.

Dear Judge Stewart:
Please accept by sincere and hearty congratulations for your victory over me on August the 1st, in our race for the Republican nomination for the office of Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

I certainly hope you win in November, and you can count on me, for I will be behind you with all the power I may have. When you get down in this part of the State my office is wide open to you just make yourself at home with me.

Hoping to see you soon, and wishing you all the success one could hope for.
With kind personal regards and best wishes, I am
For you,

MAKING NEIGHBORS OF US ALL

National expositions such as was held in Chicago and as is now being held in San Diego and as planned for San Francisco and New York, probably do more than anything else to acquaint the citizens of this country and other countries with the wonderful opportunities and advantages open for development in the United States.

As evidence of how these expositions make the 48 states neighbors, as it were, the heavy increase in westbound traffic through the city of Salt Lake is a good example. Mr. W. D. Rischel of the Utah State Auto Association, has stated that the San Diego exposition is the major tourist magnet west and has been of immense value to Salt Lake City and the mountain region. Undoubtedly every city in the West and towns along the highways have felt the benefit of increased tourist traffic, as have the railroads and steamship lines.

The California-Pacific International Exposition at San Diego stands unique in such undertakings in that it has been developed as a thing of beauty rather than being merely spectacular. Anyone who is familiar with the relaxed atmosphere and customs of the California Southland toward the Mexican border, the romantic settings, the points of historical interest and Old World charm, will be delighted with the difference of the exposition in San Diego.

Here a modern review of industry and business has been combined in a "leisurely manner" with charming surroundings. One is able to see the latest in modern inventions and ideas in a setting of native beauty that takes the rough edges off our high-speed life by combining the wonders of nature and invention in a most restful manner.

Yes, indeed, such expositions make neighbors of us all and furnish us with the new ideas on how to live a more pleasant life.

PROTECT TIMBER FROM FIRE

A few years ago a forest fire burned for eleven days in Oregon. It destroyed three hundred thousand acres of timber. According to an article in the Family Circle, the actual damage done was estimated as follows:

"It wiped out six years of continuous employment for 14,000 woodsmen.

"It reduced the tax income of one county by 43 per cent a year, or $400,000.

"It robbed the lumber companies of timber with a potential value of $200,000,000.

"It cost the general public five dollars for every dollar the lumber interests lost."

This was an unusually great forest fire. But every year, there are thousands of fires all over the nation whose cumulative total destruction greatly exceeds the holocaust described. Our average yearly loss for the entire country is 52,000,000 acres of woodland.

Here is a problem that almost every citizen can help solve. Most of us at one time or another visit woods—and many of us, through either ignorance or carelessness, do things that are liable to cause fire. Careless disposal of cigarette butts and matches and improperly built camp fires are two prolific causes of forest holocausts. Most man-made fires begin from something of this sort—and a modicum of care would prevent them.

Man is burning his forests faster than nature can replace them. Do your part to protect our irreplaceable and invaluable timber resources.

THE NEW CRUSADE

"Life insurance is, under present conditions, the logical sponsor of a new crusade—to awaken a desire to save and to become financially independent, to restore the motive for saving and to disperse the factors that are destroying the impulse to have," said Roger Hull, General Counsel for the National Association of Life Underwriters, recently.

"Money for future delivery is the very essence of life insurance. Life insurance encourages and develops the inherent tendencies of men to individual acquisition for themselves and their families. And that has been and always will be the greatest driving force of progressive American civilization. It excludes uneconomic measures of relief which can only sap the moral fibre of a people.

Security attained through insurance is security that is really earned by the individual—security that is a monument to his thrift, his abilities, his determination. Today, some 63,000,000 of our citizens are possessors of life insurance policies, and the number is constantly rising. These citizens are building soundly and steadily a financial structure that will mean much to the nation's future.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kaeze, Pastor of Baptist Church.

Subject: The Gospel For All Men, Acts 11:15-18; Rom. 1:15-17.
 Golden Text: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him, should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16

The Jews used to keep everything strictly unto themselves as a nation, and the law of the Jew was separated from other people. It was not strange then that the early disciples found it difficult to get Christ's view of bringing salvation to all the world instead of to the Jew only. But Christ had told them the Gospel to every creature. The large meaning of this instruction had not dawned upon them. In a mysterious vision to Peter, God reveals His great purpose of saving all of the world that will come unto Him.

Peter had just returned from that great experience at the house of Cornelius, in which God through the animals led down in a sheet by visions, had shown Peter how to go to Cornelius and teach him how to be saved. Peter had followed the vision and the instruction of those whom God sent to direct him to Cornelius. The Holy Spirit had come to confirm the work done there among the Gentiles, and now Peter returns to Jerusalem to find his Jewish brethren calling him to account for his fashion.

Peter, a bit puzzled, simply gave them the account as it is told in the Scriptures in Acts 11:14-17. He showed how plainly it was God's doing, and his presentation of the case was convincing. He was on the house praying, he said, in the city of Joppa. He became hungry, and suddenly there was let down before him as it were from heaven a large sheet, in which were all kinds of animals, which, to the Jewish mind, were unclear. A voice said, "Arise, Peter! Kill and eat." But Peter said, "Not so, Lord, for nothing common or unclean hath at any time entered into my mouth." To which the Lord replied: "What God hath cleansed call thou not common. They that are men from Caesarea, who are from the house of Cornelius, who had been praying, and had Peter go with them. Peter told how he followed the men, and how God blessed his mission in the salvation of Cornelius and many other; and how the Holy Spirit came upon them. His simple argument was: "Could I withstand God?"

And so they were all glad to learn that God had meant to save all men from their sins, and they glorified God. Paul declared this great message in Rom. 1:15-17, "So much as in me is, I am ready to preach the gospel to you also that are in Rome. Many of our Christian people today have forgotten that the Gospel is for the whole world. They somehow feel that it is just for 'me and my wife, my son John and his wife, my four or five more." At least we act as though that were true. God wants us to tell our relatives, friends, neighbors, and every race, color, and nationality in the world, that Christ died for all men, and that all who confess their sins and trusting Jesus as Saviour, let not act as though to this blessed salvation were for us only.

Union Statement

The statement below was submitted to be obeyed and respected, by Charles S. Stinson, secretary-treasurer of the Brick and Clay Workers' Union No. 510 at Haldeman. The statement is published in line with the policy of the News to permit its subscribers or readers to express their opinions, and is not to be construed as the opinion of the editors of the News. Any editorial comment by the News will appear in its regular editorial columns. These columns are always open to the readers of the News for the expression of opinions and we are glad to carry statements from either side of any controversy, provided, of course that they are signed and that they do not involve the News.—Editor.

According to a statement of Charles S. Stinson, Fin. Sec. and Spokesman for Local No. 510, United Brick and Clay Workers of America, a decision has been made by Mr. Robert M. Gates, Trial Examiner, who was appointed by the National Labor Relations Board, to hear the case of the Kentucky Fire Brick Company, of Haldeman, Kentucky, and local No. 510, United Brick and Clay Workers of America, affiliated Labor. This hearing was held in Mt. Sterling, Ky., on April 6, 7, and 8, 1936, on a complaint filed with the National Labor Relations Board by Local No. 510, United Brick and Clay Workers of America, that the company had violated the National Labor Relations Act, by refusing to reinstate 73 Union men after the termination of a strike which ended October 30, 1935.

According to the decision of the Trial Examiner, Mr. Gates, the company is guilty of discrimination in the case of those union men who have not been returned to work, because "The men in groups A and B were discharged by D. B. Leadbetter, an agent of the respondent, and since been refused employment by the respondent, and the men in group B were discharged by D. B. Leadbetter, an agent of respondent, and the reason that the men in groups temporarily refused employment, for a number of months, to join the labor organization known as Local 510, United Brick and Clay Workers of America, and engaged in concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining and other mutual aid and protection. By said discrimination and refusal to employ the men in groups A, B and D, respondent has interfered with, restrained, and forced its employees in the exercise of the rights guaranteed in Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act. By said discharge and refusal to employ the men in groups A, B and D, respondent has discouraged membership in the labor organization known as Local 510, United Brick and Clay Workers of America."

"(As it was an unfair labor practice to refuse them jobs, the men in group A should be offered full and immediate reinstatement in accordance with their seniority, even though this may require laying-off of some men now at work. Such lay-offs should be in accordance with the actual seniority of the men to be reinstated, and any employees whom it may be necessary to lay off, who were called to work should have been called on the basis of their actual seniority and not the seniority established by the company on the basis of the date and hour the men reported to work in October and November, 1935.)"

"(Respondent by discharging and refusing to employ the men in groups A, B and D, and thus discouraging membership in the labor organization known as Local 510, United Brick and Clay Workers of America, and by interfering with, restraining and coercing its employees in the exercise of the rights guaranteed in Section 7 of the National Labor Relations Act, acts set forth in the above findings, fact, has engaged in and is engaging in an unfair labor practice within the meaning of Section 8, subdivision (1) of the National Labor Relations Act.")

"Respondent by discharging and refusing to employ the men in groups A, B and D, and by discriminating in regard to hire and tenure of employment and thus discouraging membership in the labor organization known as Local 510, United Brick and Clay Workers of America, has engaged in and is engaging in an unfair labor practice within the meaning of Section 8, subdivision (3) of the National Labor Relations Act.")

This part of the decision of the Trial Examiner, Mr. Robert M. Gates, is made public in order that the people might know the facts and not have to depend on the rumors that are spread over the country by persons who are not capable of relating the facts, but are interested in spreading stories that are misleading.

There has been numerous stories spread through this section about the labor dispute at Haldeman, the most of which are without foundation and are spread for the purpose of confusing the minds of the people as to the true situation. This labor dispute has become of interest to every citizen in the County, because of the unfair tactics of the company officials, as well as the county officials. Since the United Supply Company has taken over the county store at Haldeman, it has become a matter of concern for the independent grocermen as well as the local wholesale houses, for the United Supply Company operates chain stores in various localities and I wonder how many sales the local wholesale people make to the United Supply Company, and isn't the chain stores very detrimental to the independent merchant?

And is this labor dispute not of interest to the tax payers of the county? When, according to a statement of the county judge, the county's money is being used to pay quite a number of guards at Haldeman as well as paying for the guns and ammunition used by these guards the county going so far as to accept money from the company to pay for these guards when the county carries on its other business. Do the county have the money to improve the county by building? Does the county have any money for building roads? or does the county spend all of its money to furnish guards to fight the laboring class of people and then have to borrow money

PATTERNS OF WOLF PEN

By Harlan Hatcher

Copyright by the Bobba-Merrill Co. WNU Service

At the upper ford the Pattern men crossed the creek and began to climb up Stepstone Hollow by the bridge path which lifted them slowly into Craneseck-Gap, took them around the ridge and looked them into the Big Sandy Bottoms a few miles below Pikeville. As they climbed, leaning forward lightly while the hill-trained mules picked their way with precise steps up the mountain, Sparrel and his sons rose out of the revolving thoughts that had possessed them and relaxed into the untroubled sensation of riding up a capable mount. The hills were now fully awake, and the wild life astir in the woods; the original possessors of the land which had survived the Patterns but had not left the hand of the Shellenbergers.

They came out of the dense upper woodland at the end of the ridge and paused for an instant to look back at the pinnacles barely visible through the faint green of the trees and down upon the green fringed bends of the Big Sandy river sweeping through the valley. Then like the mules placed their feet down ward steps, the men leaned backward lightly and dropped gradually into the aura of thought which surrounded and isolated each one: Sparrel, Jesse, Jasper, in file; Shellenbergger, Tandy-Morgan, Jane Burden in a circle of revolving thought. At nine o'clock they rode into the straggling outskirts of the little court-seat, on the dirt road which thickened with houses farther along and became the main street. It gathered on its edge the livery-stable, the hardware store and harness shop; then, overflowing around the public square that held the court house and jail, it fronted the three general stores, the state bank, the post-office the Gibson house, a restaurant and pool-room, a few homes with trees and wide yards, and then plunged down through the warehouses to the wharf where several small boats tied. This was Pikeville.

And Pikeville had a future, the wise men said. It stood at the head of navigation on the Big Sandy in here, Sparrel, is somebody to develop this country, as the feller says."

Sparrel gestured a goodbye to Harlan and walked with his sons to the square, three tall men in black boots and white shirts, Sparrel in the lead setting the pace, Jesse and Jasper in step behind him.

"I guess you boys will look after your own business," Sparrel said.

"You aim to start back about the usual time?" Jesse asked.

About the middle of the evening, he reckoned, Sparrel said.

"Howdy, Sparrel. Howdy, boys," Harlan called out.

"Howdy Harlan."

"Right smart gang of people in town today," Harlan said.

"Looks like they're all hitched up around the court-house fence," Sparrel said.

"I got all I can take care of," Harlan led the mules into the clean stall smella.

"That mule that fell left here got a shoe loose on the back-off-side."

"It's a cause for wonder they're not all loose, the way he was riding that mule down 'Wolf Pen. Maybe you'd better try shoeing her. But I have to hobble her, myself."

"I'll fix her."

"When did he get in?"

"Day before yesterday. He said tell you he'd pay for the stall."

"You doin' some tradin with his some way Sparrel."

"I don't reckon I am, Harlan. He wants to buy some land and get out timber."

That sure is what we need up in here, Sparrel, is somebody to develop this country, as the feller says."

Sparrel gestured a goodbye to Harlan and walked with his sons to the square, three tall men in black boots and white shirts, Sparrel in the lead setting the pace, Jesse and Jasper in step behind him.

"I guess you boys will look after your own business," Sparrel said.

"You aim to start back about the usual time?" Jesse asked.

About the middle of the evening, he reckoned, Sparrel said.

They separated at the square. Jesse crossed the rutted and damaged street into the crowded court-house grounds, passing knots of men who were beginning to drink and talk trades, and went around the corner by the recorder's office toward the pump and watering trough. There in the center of a crowd was Tandy Morgan. Jesse could hear Tandy's laugh bubble in his lungs before it burst in a circle of ripples over the crowd of men. Tandy Morgan was already the best criminal lawyer in the county. Every one said that as soon as this section developed, Tandy Morgan would go to Frankfort as Governor of Kentucky. He knew everybody in the county and most of the people down the river. When Jesse walked up to the pump, Tandy crushed his hand and said: "Why, how are you, Jesse, mighty glad to see you. How're all the folks?"

"About as well as common," Jesse said.

"How's yours?"

"Never felt better and had less in my life, Tandy said, the laugh bubbling and breaking over the crowd.

"I'd like to see you a minute if you're going to be in your office for any time, Jesse."

Sure. Right now if these boys will just excuse me."

Tandy Morgan opened a way through the crowd and Jesse was carried along in the eddy behind him across the courtyard to the bank building, up the flung stairway, and into the large barren office littered with yellow-bound law books on the chairs, the rough pine table, and awry on the varnished bookshelves.

Just have a seat, Jesse.

Jesse lifted two fat books from a chair and sat down with them on his lap.

"I've been thinking about asking you something for a long time, Tandy."

"Is that so, Jesse?" Tandy Morgan's hands spread over a disorder of papers on the pine table.

"Yes, I want to know law and be a lawyer like you."

Tandy studied his as though he were about to seat a juror.

Well. Do you honest?

"I sure do, I just wondered if you'd take me into your office here and help me and help me learn law. I might be able to help you a right smart looking up things for you and writing papers." His eagerness mounted with the words and quiver ed in his throat.

"Well, now, I don't hardly know, Jesse. When would you want to come?"

"Not much before fall I don't reckon till things about the place are up in shape. But I thought if..."

"How much schooling have you had, Jesse?"

"A right smart. Five winters at Gannon Creek school. And then I've read all Dad's books and I always read the Cincinnati Weekly Gazette."

"Well, now, I don't hardly know, Jesse," Tandy walked about the room impressively.

"I thought if you'd agree to it I could take one year of books over home and get started some before fall."

"Well, Jesse, I'll tell you. If you've made up your mind to follow the law, I'll be glad to have you. Things are slack right now, but they're going to pick up before long around here. I'm gettin' practice down the river now and it'll be handy to have somebody here in the office."

"I'll be much obliged to you, Jesse said."

"Don't mention it."

potential commitments with more than ordinary accuracy. But, equally important, it is undoubtedly true that the school teacher, concerned as he is with social and economic trends and facts, has more than ordinary relation of the value and necessity of life insurance. He appreciates its worth both as a protection and as an investment for attaining self-earned "social security." And when he buys a policy, he does everything in his power to keep it intact.

Attendance Officer Writes on Importance of Attending School

Good attendance is essential to successful work in school. If the schools are to educate a child we must not only see that he is enrolled in school, but that he attends school regularly. The greatest reason that there are so many failures today, is because the child does not attend regularly. If a child remains out of school and is not promoted, then the next year he must do this same work over. The cost of re-educating these children who have already been over the work is a large item of expense to the school district and the cost in the loss of many years of time to the children who are involved. It makes no difference what the cause of the absence may be, it is a loss of time and educational opportunity to the child. It is unfair for tax payers to pay their hard-earned money to send children to school to be educated unless every citizen takes advantage of this opportunity. If a child has no children he must pay just the same for B to send his children to school and if A is willing to do this he expects and has the right to demand that B send his children to school.

The average school year is 136 days a year. If a child comes to school every day and has perfect attendance, he will be losing because of the fact that he is in school just a little more than half the year. There is a loss not only of the farm's money but a greater loss in time and education which will affect the child's future years as a self-supporting citizen. It is a proven fact that every day a child comes to school it is worth $9.00 to him. He can't realize that this could be at the time, but when he becomes a man and himself and can choose a vocation of his own liking, one who has mastered through education; he will then realize that every day he was in school was worth that much money to him. Think then how valuable is the time spent in school dollars when he stays out of school for several days each year. As a precaution against this waste let's all get together and make this a school year with school attendance as nearly perfect as possible. The attendance Officer and Teacher will be glad to talk to you any time about your problem and will cooperate with you in every possible way. It is advisable to let the teacher know the cause of the absence, because she must report to the Attendance Officer the exact cause of the absence.

Since the Teacher, Employer, Parent, and Attendance Officer, must obey the Rules and Regulations of the State Board of Education concerning Compulsory School

Laws, some of them are given below.

Penalty For Violation By Parent: Any parent, guardian, or custodian who has charge or control of a child between the ages of seven and sixteen shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not to exceed ten dollars ($10) and costs for the first offense, and not to exceed twenty dollars ($20) and costs for each subsequent offense.

Penalty For Violation By Employer: Any person, corporation, firm, or all of the provisions of this act relating to Compulsory Attendance or employs or suffers or permits any child to be employed in violation thereof is guilty of a misdemeanor and conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than two hundred ($200), or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than sixty (60) days or both such fines and imprisonment.

Penalty For Violation by School Officer Or Teacher: Any principal or teacher, or other school officer who shall willfully fail to comply with the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and conviction thereof shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) nor more than fifty dollars ($50) and in addition thereof shall be removed from office and have his certificate revoked.

Penalty For Violation By Attendance Officer: Any Attendance officer or assistant or other officer who willfully fails to comply with the provisions of this act shall be fined not less than twenty-five dollars ($25) nor more than fifty dollars ($50) and in addition thereof shall be removed from office and his certificate revoked.

After reading these regulations you can see that the Attendance Officer, Employer, Teacher and Parent are placed in a very unpleasant position. They are all subject to fines if they fail to comply with the laws. The teacher must report these absences or else she is subject to a fine. You will help her in explaining the cause of the absence if there must be one, by writing a letter explaining the cause. If it is a just cause such as sickness or death, then the case will be dealt with justly. If not the case will have to be investigated. Let's make it a year of perfect attendance and then you can watch the progress of your child, the progress of your school, and the progress of all schools in the county. Let's make our county top the state in Attendance this year, by having the co-operation of every citizen in the county.

Coney Island Has Many Attractions

The pomp and splendor of the Orient will be depicted in the brilliant fireworks spectacle, "India", or "A Night in the Orient," which will be presented as a free attraction at Coney Island, Cincinnati. "America's finest amusement park" every night, including Saturdays and Sundays, from August 28 to September 6, inclusive.

Coney Island is this season celebrating its fifteenth anniversary, and "India" is its golden jubilee treat to its patrons. A special feature will be "Golden Wedding Night," Tuesday September 1st. All couples who were married in 1886, the year Coney opened, and are this year celebrating their golden wedding anniversaries, are invited to be guests of the management. They are asked to send their names, addresses, and dates of their marriage to Judge Otis R. Hess, Court House, Cincinnati, in order that admission tickets and reserve seats may be sent them. Judge Hess is chairman of the committee in charge of "Golden Wedding Night."

"India" is a brilliantly spectacular pageant, featuring a cast of 500 people, and in addition, elephants, horses and other animal actors. Before a background which represents the ancient city of Delhi, with its composite Hindu, Mohammedan and modern architecture, will be re-created the Durbar of Delhi, a religious pageant in which natives and officials of all India take part.

During the action of the drama, heralds are seen to traverse the city sounding the announcement that the festival is about to begin. Elephants bearing the Royal Princess of India and her retinue, summoned in the Oriental splendor that is India's, arrive, and the pageant is on. Throngs of natives, the Viceroy, representatives of the King, British soldiers and officials, priests and merchants all take part in the division of the Durbar. The English regiments from a striking contrast to the bright-hued turbans and var-colored cloaks of the natives, who are seen carrying fantastic banners which represent their provinces. The pageant is a most picturesque and magnificent affair, bearing the resemblance of the Durbar of the Princess and the English officials, performers from the various provinces perform their feats of skill.

As the masses depart for their homes, the sound of mutiny rises, and the subsequent battle between the natives and the British soldiers sees the entire city set on fire, amid the roar of artillery and the destruction of buildings.

Coney Island, in addition, will offer its usual galaxy of attractions, including the roller ride on the Island Queen; swimming, dancing in Monte Gardens, and the many rides and fun devices.

DEMOCRATS MEET

did not know of any such agreement, that Congressmen Vinton had no right to interfere with Rowan county affairs, that he had been in touch with Tom Logan over the telephone that morning and that Mr. Logan had told him to go ahead with the election of officers and that they were going ahead.

Miss Lucille Caudill then took the floor and interpreted the letter Senator Arnett had read according to her ideas of what it meant. She stated that the letter meant simply that Mr. Logan wanted the election held and added that by-laws should be ignored when necessary.

Mr. Paul Brown of Lexington, who accompanied Senator Arnett to Morehead as a representative of the Young Democrats of Kentucky explained that when a president resigned the vice-president assumed the duties of his office until the next regular election of officers on December 28. Since Mr. Flood had been vice president at the time of the resignation of Mr. Rice as president, he became his successor and the only vacancy was the office of vice president.

Speaking about the purpose of the club, Mr. Arnett asked what the new club intended to do about dues. Mr. Clay stated that "we intend to form a club to be called the Young People's Democratic Club of Rowan County, we will have no dues and we do not want to affiliate with the State organization or any other organization."

Senator Arnett, then withdrew from the meeting and a number of others who preferred to have affiliations with the state club withdrew also.

Mr. Clay was elected president of the new club, Leland Hall first president, Frank Laughlin, second vice-president, Luther Flick secretary, and Arthur Caudill treasurer.

Both clubs have pledged their support to the entire Democratic ticket in November.

in Land or Roosevelt. The ballots are secret ballots, so you need not sign your name unless you want to. Simply put an "X" before the name of your choice, fill in with your address and mail or bring it to the Rowan County News office.

OLD AGE PENSION

mation obtained at the meeting was to the effect that those persons owning property, who make application for pensions will probably be delayed somewhat in receiving attention, as the lien and forms have not yet been completed and the legal technicalities have not been thoroughly worked out.

The division of public assistance ask that those who have applied for pensions be considerate for the time being, as they realize the infinite detail that has to be worked out to put the work into effect. All this takes time, which is the reason no definite date of distribution of pension checks has been set.

When Weak, Nervous
"I can't say enough for Cardui. I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. H. Caldwell, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed to me I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."
