"ONE OF KENTUCKY'S GREATER WEEKLIES"

Volume V. MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JULY 28, 1938. Number 30

The Bystander

Stanley K Iverson

DANA KING, ATHLETIC DIRECTOR at the University of Cincinnati, last year, and at present, manager of the Bengals, professional football team, offers possibilities in the professional field for good boys. S. C. material. He wrote Coach Ellis Johnson this week asking for information on some good boy who graduated from last year's team and who might be interested in playing professional football. He says that he is interested in building up a team to enter the National League, year after next. (I hope we're not talking out of turn, Mr. King.—SK.) King remarked, "I hope you at Cincinnati will be very good last year—and I am sure you have developed some good boys."

SWIMMING AT PARK LAKE Sunday, someone remarked that though it is owned mainly by Flemingsburg residents it seemed to be Morehead day. You should have seen the sun on the boss' wife's back.

IF THE AUDIENCE GETS AS much of a bang out of the play, "Glad Rags," as the cast does at rehearsals, they'll be rolling in the aisles.

A MOREHEAD GAL OF AROUND 20 (we're only guessing) will be a bright tresser, with Kathleen Downing how old she was. Kathleen said, "I'm four."

THE BATH COUNTY COURIER editor, Walter Boyd, has a new recipe for husbands who are tired of canned beans. He says, "one way to bring your wife home from a trip is to send her a copy of the hometown paper with just one item clipped out. It doesn't make any difference what item."

FAMOUS LAST WORDS: "HOW is the political situation up your way?"

A LOCAL SINGLES UNDERTAKER and insurance agent has his Olive Hill girl highly traumatized by Monday night. He discovered she arrived at his home to take him for a ride only ten seconds ahead of time.

ONE OF THE BEST SCENES IN the "Glad Rags" show is the meeting of an English (maybe French) German, for all we know. Count played by Bill Layne and a model called Boots, played by Ella Mae Bogges, who happens to be walking in a business office. Sample herewith:

Count—(Giving Boots the once-over)—say, do you work?

Boots—Not at all, your honor. Count—Fascinating business these Americans have. You're not half bad, you know.

Count—(Warily)—Thanks. That isn't supposed to be a trade-lark, is it?

Count—What? Oh, yes! (ing laughs loudly). You're jesting! You Americans are always jesting. (Getting closer to her.) I'm really not mad, once you see me. I'm just a fool—I don't think I'll live that long.

Count—Your lips are quite fascinating. You know, I've found them useful.

ON THE SPOT: THE PROFESSOR who hit the wet grass at the lawn party last week in an endeavor to win a race.

SEEN THIS WEEK: CAR WITH license number 577-F4 avoiding dog on Main street late Tuesday night. (Good work, Fella!).

ED (HERPAPS WE SHOULD call him Edward) Steiner says he reads this column. During a discussion on the sides of the possibility of organizing a Junior Chamber of Commerce with an age limit of 35, Mr. Steiner (we're calling him "Ed") Steiner said that everything worthwhile accomplished here was by men over 35.

We realize Mr. Steiner was "jesting" and also when he said that after the organization was going it would be necessary to call for the help of some 35- or 38-year-old men. (That couldn't be our gags could it, Mr. Steiner?) Anyway, we still think Junior Chamber of Commerce could do a lot of good.

WE INTENDED TO TELL A HUMOROUS story about Coach Ellis Johnson, two of his football players, Mildred and Kathleen Brink and Leola Caudill, but the coach said he would tell us something much more interesting next week if we don't print it. (We'll see!)

'Glad Rags' Title Of Play To Be Given By Morehead P. T. A.

Production Will Take Place In In Morehead High School Gymnasium Tonight

The Morehead Parent-Teachers Association will present a musical comedy in four acts called "Glad Rags" Thursday evening (tonight) at the high school gymnasium. Before the opening of the play a silver cup will be given to the winner of the baby contest.

The production has a song and dance by twenty children, five to seven years of age, a dancing chorus in style show middle. All parts are being played by Morehead residents.

The cast: Eli Beck, owner of overall factory, the Rev. Buell Kazer; Carrie Boggs, wife of Eli, Mrs. A. F. Ellington; Polly Temple, female friend of Mabel Hackney; Bob Lee, Mrs. Mabel Hackney; Nellie T. Cassidy; Miss Whipple, old maid secretary of Mabel Hackney; Rose Lee, Rue, New York model, Ella Mae Bogges; Tim Andrews, male lead; Hayden Carmichael; Chick Little, newsy press reporter; David Nickell; Count DeChange, a foreign duke; Bill Layne; three old maid stenographers, Mrs. Virgil Wood, Mrs. Mabel Alfrey and Miss Mary Caudill.

Eight new stenographers are: Louise Adams, Mildred and Leola Caudill; Irene Sturgill; Anna Charlotte Holbrook and Veronia Bradley.

Stylish show models will be: beach Covey Bradley; tennis, Martha Lewis; garden, Josephine Fanning; hiking, Isabelle Redwine; horse-racing, Mrs. Mabel Alfrey; and farm, Mrs. Alice Calvert, farmer's wife.

Judge Dissolves Temporary Order

Judge Hannah dissolved temporary restraining order Tuesday which was granted against Mabel Alfrey in circuit court recently. Mr. Proctor obtained an injunction restraining an investigation of the Alfrey case in circuit court. Proctor was taking evidence on a complaint filed by Norman Lewis with the state bar association.

The bar association is now endeavoring to get into the case by taking evidence on the complaint until after trial of Norman Lewis suit against Proctor on the October 26 term of circuit court. Mr. Lewis charges Mr. Proctor with obtaining excessive attorney fees.

Rural School Report Attendance Is High Enrollment Larger

Mabel Alfrey, Attendance Officer

The enrollment in all of the schools during the first weeks has been excellent. This is due to the fact that parents are enrolling the children earlier this year and not keeping them in the home in circuit court. Mr. Lewis charges Mr. Proctor with obtaining excessive attorney fees.

WHO'S WHO IN MOREHEAD

THOMAS WOOD HINTON

Thomas "Woody" Hinton is the author of the series of articles on "Uncle Joe" James's trip to Gettysburg.

"Woody," as he is generally known, has been in the paper for himself since June, 1935.

Although a native of Fleming county, just over the line from Rowan, at Butler, he had been selling on the road for quite a few years before settling down in Morehead. Coming to this city the first year of the World's Fair to take his parents to the exposition at Chicago, Woody decided to work here permanently.

He started in business with V. D. "Mike" Flood at the Shady Rest Service Station with whom he had the agreement that he would work until he owned the company and then "Mike" would work for him, but Mike decided to sell out, said Woody.

Hinton was born January 7, 1904, at Butler, Fleming county. He attended Mills county school and later Berea College at Berea for five years. He played tennis and was on the track team when he was 19 years old. He started selling toys in a company at Huntington, W. Va. He sold toys for eleven years, the last two out of New York City.

On April 26, 1935, he married Eliene Newkirk Evans. They have one son, Thomas Evans, who was born last November 5.

"Woody" has been a member of the Morehead city council since January, having been appointed at that time. He says one of his ambitions is to see Morehead obtain a population of 25,000. His hobbies are fishing, hunting and his son, Tommy.

Warrant out for Carnival Operator On Gaming Charge

County Asked To Arrest J. J. Page For Alleged Crime August 2, 1933

Lacking but three weeks to be outside the five year limitation law, J. J. Page, of Richmond, operator of Page's Shows, was charged in county court Monday with "setting up and operating a game of chance and hazard" on or about August 2, 1933. W. C. Hamilton, commonwealth attorney, is bringing the charge. Three warrants, for three different days, were issued for Page's arrest.

If Page can be found he will be brought here early Tuesday for the examination trial before Judge J. E. Pelfrey. Charges cannot be preferred in this state five years after the alleged commission of a crime.

Two accident cases in quarterly court court Tuesday resulted in two hung juries. They were the cases of Emery Fouch of Elliottville versus Salt Lick Roller Mill, and Mrs. Sloner Clark of Halderman versus Allie Workman of Morehead.

The jury stood five to one for the defendant in the first case and five to four in the second. The Salt Lick Roller Mill was charged with negligence in parking a truck on the highway causing accident to Fouch's automobile. The Clark-Workman case concerned damages sought by both parties for an accident at the intersection of Main and Fairbanks last May.

Fouch was represented by Lester Hodge and Dick Clay and the Mill by Judge Riley. Mrs. Clark was represented by Harlan Powers and Allie Workman by Dick Hines.

Other cases decided included: Citizens Bank vs. J. A. Mealy, et al., dismissed.

Ray vs. J. A. Mabry and E. N. Black, dismissed.

Harison and Galtright, Inc., of Louisville, vs. Howard Lewis, of Louisville, and Dixie Grocery Company, judgment for plaintiff.

J. W. Wells vs. Jesse Foster, judgment for plaintiff.

Beulah Lawrie, judgment for plaintiff.

J. Daugherty Wins Jr. Tennis Crown

J. T. Daugherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Daugherty, won the junior singles championship crown of Northern Kentucky at Covington Sunday. The 14-year-old boy, who is sponsored by the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Daugherty defeated the seeded number one player, Joe Hess, of Cincinnati. In the finals he defeated Walter Maloney of Covington 4-2, 6-1 and 6-2.

Next week he will take part in the Blue Grass Open at Lexington which is sponsored by the Lexington Lawn Tennis Association.

Henry Prichard of Morehead recently won the fat man's tournament for central Kentucky at Lexington. His minimum weight is 180 pounds.

Marriage Licenses

July 20—Harold Moats, 22, of Springfield, Ohio, and Dorothy Leach, 21, also of Springfield, Ohio.

July 21—Carl C. Faulkner, 29, Clearfield, and Eunice Rigby, 16, Clearfield.

July 23—Ivan Gregory, 20, of Clearfield and Mildred Louise Elm, 18, Clearfield.

Young Cogswell Boy Died Last Thursday

Forest Lee Ellis, five and a half year old son of George Ellis, Cogswell, died suddenly last Thursday morning.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. T. F. Lyons at the Alfrey cemetery. He is survived by his mother and father and three sisters.

Funeral arrangements were handled by the Lane Funeral home.

Old House Creek

Another perfect attendance day for Old House Creek. Twenty-eight children enrolled and all present. Parents have already become interested. Mrs. Leslie Burnett, Mrs. Jim Boyd, Mrs. Allie Parker, and Mr. Ben Butts have visited the school. Two new sanitary toilets have been built at this school. Gravel and stone walks have been started to improve the school grounds. Mrs. McKinney will tell that she sure has a group of interesting children and parents in her district.

Little Perry

Lyla M. Canfield and Ollie Chick Monday morning 28 had been enrolled in the upper grades at Little Perry and 29 in smaller grades. Not a student was found in either room, but perhaps 29 is the district who had never enrolled.

The teachers say they are going to visit the parents next week and make a check on all (Continued on page 4)

College Prepares To Entertain 300 4-H Boys, Girls Monday

Meeting Theme Here Is "Nature And Outdoors"

By R. L. B.

H. C. Hagan, head of the Agricultural Department of Morehead State Teachers College and chairman of the college committee in charge of preparations outlined the camp program to be given to teaching colleagues at a meeting of the faculty and administrators Monday.

President H. A. Babb named about fifteen faculty members to a committee on housing and feeding of the club group.

The theme of the Morehead meeting is "Nature and Outdoors"; last year it was "Conservation." The name of the Club, 4-H means health, heart, hand, and head, the slogan that guides the members' everyday living.

Maintaining that the 4-H Club is one of the nation's most potent means for character building, Mr. Hagan cited examples of boys and girls who had, after working as members of the club come out with both spiritual and material profits.

He told of a boy and girl who cared for and took to the national exhibit a 1,000 pound bullock. They came away with a check for $2,500. The girl eye had been the subject of a national exhibit solicitation well-rewarded.

"So far as I know," said Mr. Hagan, "there is no evidence of a 4-H boy or girl eye having been in a circuit court for arraignment."

At present there are about 1,000,000 4-H club members in the United States, Kentucky having 40,000 of them.

Each year the winners of the county contests given by the clubs go to Washington, D. C., where they are entertained and have the opportunity to meet and shake hands with the President. At this time the railroads and business turn Good Samaritan and contribute free transportation.

Visitors will be welcome to the campus to watch the boys and girls.

Chandler Committee Sponsoring Meetings

Four more meetings in behalf of Chandler's campaign are being held this week and next in various parts of Rowan county by the county committee. Speakers are Elijah M. Hodge, Taylor Young and H. G. Downing.

Tonight (Thursday) they will talk at the Halderman school at 7:30 p. m. Special music will be played at each meeting. Others scheduled are Saturday, 7:30 p. m., Elliottville school; Wednesday August 3, 7:30 p. m., Waltz school and Thursday, August 4, 7:30 p. m., Clark school.

State Representative To Speak Monday

Rhodes K. Myers, state representative from Owensboro, and one of the nation's leading attorneys and greatest orators, will speak at the Rowan county courthouse, Morehead, Monday, August 1 at 8 p. m.

Mr. Myers, who is one of Kentucky's leading attorneys and great orators, will speak in behalf of Governor Chandler's campaign for the United States Senate.

Keen Johnson Speaks At Sandy Hook

Keen Johnson, lieutenant governor, spoke at Sandy Hook Tuesday morning to more than 4,000 persons in behalf of Chandler's campaign for the U. S. Senate.

Chas. D. Arnett, secretary of the state, also gave an address.

Mr. Johnson and Mr. Arnett both spoke at 1:30 p. m. that afternoon at West Liberty to an estimated crowd of 3,000.

FSA-OFFERS AID TO PLOUGH-HITS FARMERS

The Farm Security Administration has asked farmers who have been damaged in the recent flood and rains with loans to buy feed, seed and fertilizer, said Clarence W. Cook, county rehabilitation supervisor yesterday.

Mr. Cobb said he would be glad if the farmers would come in and discuss their problems with him. He suggested planning emergency hay crops as one way to offset the losses and provide feed for the winter.

Trail Theatre Award Winner Not Present

Jody Adams would have won ten dollars July 20 if he had been present at the award. His name was called in the second Cash Nite drawing. This week the award was $20.

'Uncle Joe' Reminisces Back Seventy-Five Years - Woody

By "Woody" Hinton

At Gettysburg, Thursday, 3:30 a. m.

"Uncle Joe" "Woody, get up, it's almost daylight."

I answer sleepily, "What's it matter, Uncle Joe? Rebels coming to do and we start out."

"Uncle Joe" "No, I'm hungry as a dog. Let's go to breakfast."

"Breakfast at this time of night?"

"Uncle Joe" "Hurry and get dressed. We can surely get a cup of coffee and some rolls."

"I get up and stall and talk anything to pass the time until breakfast. The mess hall opens at 8 a. m. I finally run out of anything to do and we start out."

"Uncle Joe" "What time is it?"

"My watch says 4:30 a. m."

"Uncle Joe" "Is that this time or John Cecil's time?"

"Frankly, Uncle Joe, I don't know. They are two hours ahead here. We still have not returned yet, but this time is two hours faster."

"Uncle Joe" "Well, set up your watch. We might miss breakfast."

We arrive at the mess hall. Already there are several waiting to get up and eat. I get up and eat my breakfast. Finally I find it's an hour and a half before they open and the first Uncle Joe is going to stand it. At that moment an old negro who seems to be the boss comes out and says to Uncle Joe, "Wait a little while, Boss!"

"Uncle Joe" "Bless your heart, boy, that is what I want worse."

So we are let in and given a pitcher of coffee and rolls. Uncle

College Prepares To Entertain 300 4-H Boys, Girls Monday

Public Invited To Attend Evening Versper Program

Preparations are being completed to welcome three hundred 4-H boys and girls from surrounding counties to the Morehead State Teachers College campus Monday for a week's educational session.

The boys and girls will be quartered on the campus for the duration of their stay, Monday to Friday, inclusive. There will be approximately 300 from each of the following counties:

Bath, Nicholas, Bracken, Mason, Fleming, Robertson, Lewis, Rowan, Montgomery, Greenup, and Carter. This convention of the Northeastern 4-H District is similar to others being held all over the state.

Morehead residents are invited to attend the evening programs on the campus.

Some of the instructors are members of the state department of agriculture who are working in the various methods. The remaining instructors are drawn from the local field.

The instructors will be: Music, Rev. B. H. Kase and M. E. George; forestry and nature, Dr. W. A. Welter; boys handicraft, first year, Chas. L. Goff, R. H. King and H. L. Moore; second year, R. J. Matson, and Sid Alfrey; third year, H. A. Quesinberry, Floyd McDonald and Jesse T. Foy. Art and drawing, Howard and Jesse Collins; water front, Mr. Porter; Joe Thompson and Ernestine Troenney; boys' group interested in vocational agriculture, Doris Van Winkle, and health, Aleene Allen.

Square Meals! Horrors, No! What Would A Dietitian Say?

When meat soars so high that any of us could believe that the cow really jumped over the moon, I get waterings of the mouth as I think of the days of the square meal, an institution that is certainly less common than it used to be.

Scientists talk about atrophy of certain organs, that is, they grow weaker or smaller through long periods of time. I fear our digestive tracts have weakened greatly since the old days, when a square meal three times a day was supposed to be the minimum of what was expected of only one who was up and about.

When a fellow is genuinely hungry and has used about all his store of energy, dainty things are entirely out of place. They will do well enough for a topping-off course, but for the first few minutes of the actual meal, bread, hog's jowl, turnip greens, or green beans, sauerkraut, with plenty of meat. Fried peas, good as they are, belong later in the course; green-apple pies in season help out during the last few minutes of the meal.

Square meals are usually made up of grub or victuals. It would be bad manners to speak of square meals in the presence of home economy experts. The purpose of a square meal, no matter what may be the purpose of a luncheon or a dinner or a tea, is to fill satisfaction. If it can accomplish that purpose, what matter whether it is altogether dainty or in accordance with science?

Chandler Only Qualified Man In U. S. Senatorial Race

Time has slowly dwindled away until there is but nine days left before the August 6 primary. To the Democrats of this county a major campaign is under way—a campaign of national importance. Now is the time for all voters to make their choice as to whom they want to elect as United States Senator from Kentucky.

As you probably know, The Morehead Independent suggests Governor A. B. "Happy" Chandler as the man for the job because of his commendable past record. We offer to Rowan countyans a few of the reasons why they should support Mr. Chandler: He gave us better schools. He eliminated the sales tax. He is for the war veterans. He is progressive and active. He gave us a higher school per capita. He is for labor and labor organizations. He gave us modern state institutions. He improved and built rural highways. He ratified the child labor amendment. He gave us an employment compensation law. He organized an efficient highway patrol system. He reduced licenses on farm trucks and automobiles. He enacted a minimum wage law for women and children. He gave us the lowest land taxes in the history of the State. He caused a real labor department in the State to be created. He is the only governor that ever kept all campaign promises. He outlawed the sale of prison-made goods, the output of which threw many men out of work. And with all this he cut the state debt down to a mere bagatelle that will be paid off in the next few months. This is but a few of the things that "Happy" has done for Kentucky. One could go on indefinitely, naming various other benefits that are the result of his administration—so many that they could not be enumerated easily.

Picture, if you will, voting public, the hard work and tough fight that Chandler has had to reach the top. Has he reclined in an easy chair and left state jobs to underlings? No! Then compare this picture to that of his most prominent opponent's flabby profile and notice that blank space of 26 years, the time he has been in the Senate. The only person in Kentucky that Senator Barkley ever helped was himself. Governor Chandler is a leader that leads; not a figurehead.—TMRH

In Brief—Do Your Winter Fire Prevention Now!

Now is the time to get ready for winter comfort, while the heating plant is out of service. Many a December fire has been prevented in August.

Your furnace should be thoroughly examined by an expert, cleaned, and necessary repairs made. Flues, chimneys and fireplaces should be given similar attention. All this work should be done in a first-class masonry-short-cuts don't pay.

Another excellent plan is to go on a still hunt through the house for debris. Litter in the basement—rickety furniture you stored away in the attic and forgot—greasy rags and waste in the garage—accumulations of junk in drawers and cupboards—get rid of it now. Such accumulations are fire's favorite breeding places.

Next inspect lamps, electric cords and other equipment which is used little this time of year. They will have to carry their heaviest loads during the winter months—and any defect may result in a disastrous fire. And again, call in an expert—it's the cheapest in the long run. Amateur electrical repairs are often worse than no repairs at all.

When the work is finished, you'll have a more comfortable home as well as a safer home. It's no sport to have your heating plant break down when you need it most—because of neglect and inattention. And no one enjoys awakening in the middle of the night to hear the crackle of unchecked fire.

In brief—do your winter fire preventing now!—Industrial News Review.

Chicagoan Protests Statement By Columnist In Independent

Mr. William Shaw in Chicago objects to a statement made in our column, "Behind the Scenes in Business," written by John Craddock of New York City.

Craddock said in his column in the Morehead Independent's June 16 issue that when the leaders of the electric power industry met the previous week in Atlantic City, it was revealed that at the end of 1937 Americans were using 700,000 additional washing machines and 600,000 additional vacuum cleaners.

Mr. Shaw who says he works of the electric power industry and for household appliance manufacturers asks that Mr. Craddock's statement be corrected with an article to the effect that actually 1,600,000 washing machines and 1,700,000 electrical vacuum cleaners were installed in 1937.

The item originated out of Atlantic City, was picked up by Craddock, printed in the Morehead Independent, clipped by a clipping bureau in Kansas City, Mo., sent to William Shaw in Chicago and returned to us.

A Norm Between State Medicine And The Individualistic Theory

The Courier-Journal states editorially that from one point of view "preventive medicine through our health departments has been socialized as a matter of public policy" although professional men as a rule abhor anything "socialized."

The Louisville newspaper rightly maintains that "between the strictly individualistic theory that everybody must look after his health, hygiene and sanitation and what has been called "state medicine," there may be a few tentative measures which can be taken without surrendering professional standards or ethical principles, as the distance we have gone in that direction in the last century indicates.

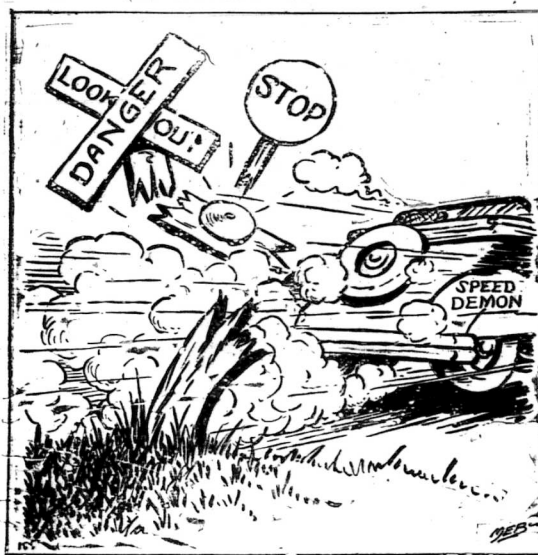

Let us hope that such measures be taken.—

Educators Say Interpretive College Instructors Needed

A trend in teaching similar to that in journalism—toward interpretation rather than the mere recital of facts, was revealed at the opening session on July 13 of the annual Institute of Administrative Officers of Higher Education at the University of Chicago, according to the Christian Science Monitor.

The day of the college teacher who knows only one subject is passing, educational experts agreed. The greatest need, they held is for the interpretive scholar, with the widest possible training in several subjects. The trend in colleges, they said, is toward synthesis of knowledge.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON...

LESSON FOR JULY 31

SAMSON: STRENGTH AND WEAKNESS

LESSON TEXT—Judges 14:5, 6, 15:11-14; 16:15-21.

GOLDEN TEXT—Be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.—Ephesians 6:10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Wasted His Strength.

JUNIOR TOPIC—How Strong Was Samson?

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Who Is Strong?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Physical Strength and Moral Weakness.

There is no more tragic individual among the sons of men than the one who entered upon life with every promise of success, who has lived for a time in favor with God and with man, and then because of moral failure is set aside by God, shunned by man, and ends life as a disappointment and failure. "And yet such disastrous circumstances of what should have been great and victorious careers lie all about us, and nowhere with such frequency and inexcusableness as among those whom God has called to preach, evangelize and teach His Word. The saddest tragedy in all the world is a man who once knew the power of the Holy Spirit, who has lived for a time in favor with God and with man, and then because of moral failure is set aside by God, shunned by man, and ends life as a disappointment and failure."

The story of the life of Samson brings us the picture of God's patient and gracious dealing with those who have committed the inexcusable law of cause and effect in the moral realm as well as the certainty that the wages of sin are not repented of and forsaken is death.

Physical Strength and Favor With God (4:5, 6).

Samson had the distinction (given to only one other Old Testament character) of having his birth announced beforehand. He was to be a Nazirite and was to "begin to deliver Israel out of the hand of the Philistines"—a commission which he kept him from ever finishing. God gave him the marvelous heritage of a strong and healthy body many intermedicate measures which can be taken without surrendering professional standards or ethical principles, as the distance we have gone in that direction in the last century indicates.

Let us hope that such measures be taken.—

of one of the many deeds of Samson, done as an expression of his uncontrolled sensual nature. Read the entire chapter and it will be evident that here a man who while occasionally responding to God's leading, is gradually descending the downward path of moral and spiritual decadence. The Scripture is absolutely honest in relating the facts as they are—and here it is not at all an attractive picture. It never is, although the world tries to make it appear to be. A learned audience of university people laughed with evident appreciation at the statement of a professor that "vice is always more interesting than virtue" little realizing that they thus bore testimony to their own attitude toward sin. If the liquor advertisements were honest enough to picture the agony of a drunkard dying of delirium tremens they would present the real truth, but they would sell no " booze." HE Failure, Darkness, and the Death.—(16:15-21). Delilah finally betrayed the foolish Samson who apparently had become so sure of himself that he dared to venture anything. The man who was to be strong for God is now in prison, shorn of his strength, blinded by his enemies, and finally he kills himself even as he slays his enemies (16:23-31). Thus he

People and Spots in the Late News

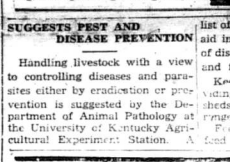

FIRST AT GETTYSBURG ... Alvin F. Tolman (left) of Manatee, Fla., 90-year-old survivor of historic conflict, was greeted by James R. McConahie, Gettysburg National Park superintendent, as he arrived for celebration of 75th anniversary of battle by vets of blue and gray.

WHO WOULDN'T? ... Fashion experts murmured "Oh's" and "Ah's" when lovely Betty Lorraine appeared on Miami, Fla., beach in white elastic swim suit, circular-striped straw hat and cork-soled shoes.

BACKYARD CHEMISTRY ... Soil dignitaries of Freeport Sulphur company reported home gardeners, taking tip from big-scale farming, are going scientific this year, testing and adjusting soil for alkalinity-acidity with chemical kits.

DEFENDS BREAD BASKET ... Rallying hundreds of New Jersey housewives against taxes which "raise cost of living," Mrs. Ada Taylor Sackett, founder of Emergency Consumers Tax Council, says women's fight on all tax legislation "threatening necessities of life shows signs of spreading through nation."

BOMBINGS STIR BRITISH ... Rumbblings of discontent with Premier Chamberlain's "do-nothing policy" swelled throughout England as two more British ships were bombed in Spanish government ports. Photo shows older "English Tanker" after rebel bombing at Alicante.

MIDDIES TRIUMPH ON HUDSON ... Getting new marks, Navy crew (below) flashed to victory in four-mile Intercollegiate Rowing Association regatta at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., as pursuing California, Washington and Columbia eights also shattered record.

SUGGESTS PEST AND DISEASE PREVENTION ... Handling livestock with a view to controlling diseases and parasites either by eradication or prevention is suggested by the Department of Animal Pathology at the University of Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

list of precautions follows that will aid in preventing the introduction of diseases and parasites into herds and flocks on the farm.
Keep animals healthy by providing clean and sanitary barns, sheds, houses, lots, pastures and ranges.
Feed them enough of the proper food and supply plenty of fresh clean water, common salt and fresh air.

Clean barns, sheds houses and small lots or ranges at regular intervals.
In infested areas, keep livestock protected against certain diseases, such as hog cholera, chickpox, and blackleg, by vaccination.
Do not visit farms when disease is known to exist.
Place herds under supervision of qualified practicing veterinarians or state or federal livestock sanitary officials for the eradication of such diseases as tuberculosis, Bang's disease, pullorum disease and foot-and-mouth disease.
Make every effort to obtain disease free stock for breeding and feeding purposes.
When making additions to the herds and flocks on the farm, keep the new animals separate from the others for two to six weeks, to be sure they have no disease or parasites.

SPAIN CHIEF BUYER OF CUBAN TOBACCO
Spain has resumed its former position as leading market for Cuban tobacco. Exports of Cuban tobacco to Spain during May were valued at $241,021 and consisted of 1,543,977 pounds of filler tobacco, valued at $204,695, and 566,725 cigars, valued at $36,326, statistics show.
With the exception of filler tobacco, exports of all items from Cuba were smaller in volume during May, 1938, than in the preceding month, as well as May a year ago. Excluding the trade with Spain, exports of filler tobacco also recorded a decline. Average prices of all exported tobacco products were lower during May.

And LOUISVILLE Has Some Attractions, Too!

When business or pleasure brings you to Louisville, fill your trip to the brim by seeing as much of the city as possible. Here are just a few suggestions:

Plan to— See Churchill Downs—and the Louisville and Portland Canal—and the Memorial Auditorium—and the U. S. Coast Guard Station—the only one on any river!
Drive leisurely through Louisville's many parks, said to be the most beautiful in America!
See a leading brand of automobile being assembled on a "production line"—go through a big cigarette factory—take a moonlight excursion trip up the Ohio!

And when you're in the Brown Hotel itself, there's still a lot to do! Dine and dance in the Brown Hotel's smart Bluegrass Room—the brightest "spot" in town! ... Eat the fine food in the Brown Grill—and in the Coffee Shop! ... Go through Radio Station WAVE, up on our fifteenth floor! ... In other words, make it a weekend you'll talk about for a long time! We'll gladly help you plan it!

All too often, Beer is just the decoy ... yet, all too often, Beer gets the blame!

Beer is an honest drink ... mild, wholesome, refreshing. "There is nothing more promising to combat the evil of too much alcohol than the opportunity of drinking good beer."
And we brewers are with you 100% in every honest effort to improve conditions under which beer is sold. We are against sales to minors, or after legal hours; we are against use of beer licenses as screens for selling illicit liquor or for operating illicit resorts.
We offer our cooperation ... and we invite yours!
Existing laws can curb these evils ... help us by demanding their strict enforcement.
Restrict your own patronage to legal, respectable retail outlets.

pupils. The enrollment here is much larger than last year.

Mrs. Click has already interested the children in attendance by giving each child an individual card containing blanks for the entire 22 weeks of school. Each week the child places his star in the space if he has neither been tardy nor absent. Mrs. Click says this method worked better last year than any other method she has tried to keep up attendance.

Mrs. Caudill is working out, in her room, a citizenship unit. There are several citizenship rules the children must obey. Badges have been ordered and will be given to the children who are good citizens.

It is very interesting to watch the boys and girls in this school play ball during the recess and noon period. They can easily be heard on U. S. 80, so engrossed are they in rooting for their respective sides. A good spirit of citizenship is carried out on the ball ground. All take their turn in playing whether they make no cuts or all out.

BRADLEY

Olive Goodman, Teacher

On July 25th, forty-five children had been enrolled, 39 were present and the six out of school were sick. Two were found who had as yet not enrolled. Plans are being made in this school to improve the building and grounds. There will be new wire shades and curtains, and other inside equipment added. Stone and gravel walks will be laid about the yard. The grass has already been cut and much improvement is under way.

SCHOOL NOTES

The Big Brushy school is making a good start. Mr. William Skaggs, teacher, reports the first week as having perfect attendance with every child in the district enrolled and having only one child tardy. Quite a record. Mr. Skaggs also reported that an attendance contest has already been started between the boys and girls.

The Upper Lick Fork School will organize its P-T. A. Friday of this week. Many parents are expected to be there for this first meeting. Prof. Haggon, Supr. Corbett, Prof. Carl Wade, and Mabel Alfrey have been invited to be present at this meeting.

The enrollment at Big Brushy is 38; Upper Lick Fork, 37, and Waltz 29. Each week we are trying to give the number in the schools as they report.

FARMERS

Mayo and Hutton Higgins of the United States Navy are on a month's visit at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Higgins.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Higgins visited at the home of Mr. Higgins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Higgins, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfrey, Mrs. C. V. Alfrey and daughter, Virginia, visited in Lexington Saturday.

BLUESTONE

Miss Myrtle Purvis of Lockland, Ohio, is spending a few weeks in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Warren, of Bluestone.

William Gilkison took a group of boys and girls to the North Fort tent meeting Saturday night, where Rev. Worley Hall is preaching.

About twenty persons from Bluestone spent Sunday in Winchester at a large convention.

Mrs. Chester Williams, of Cincinnati is visiting her mother, Mrs. Blanche Gilkison, who is very ill.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Brew Evans, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Green, of Sappington, Misses Josephine Alfrey and Novel Hanes spent the week-end in Lexington.

Miss Evelyn Evans attended the horse show in Lexington Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henderson, of Frankfort, are visitors in Morehead today. Mrs. Henderson before her marriage was Miss Saddle Waters, a graduate of the Morehead College and a very talented and popular young lady.

Mr. Dudley Caudill was on the program at the Bankers' Meeting at West University, Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caudill, of Paintville, are spending their vacation with Mrs. Caudill's mother, Mrs. E. W. McKinney.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caudill and Mrs. and Mrs. Arlie Caudill are camping a few days at Kinrossnick.

Miss Virginia Conroy attended the show in Lexington Saturday.

Miss Olive Adams returned Monday to Los Angeles, Calif. Miss Adams has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Adams.

Misses Jess and Gladys Allen returned Monday from a visit to Louisville with Miss Aveline Bradley.

Mrs. W. H. Rice and sons Billy and Lucian Harvey, are visiting with Mrs. H. L. Meizer in Lexington. Little Billy will be at the Good Samaritan Hospital for several days for a tonsil operation.

Mrs. Leonard Miller and Ellis Johnson will leave Friday for a visit of several weeks with their parents Mrs. Miller will go to Hindman, and Mr. Johnson will visit at Williams, W. Va.

EVERYBODY INVITED

Of Rowan County and the Eighth Congressional District:
IT IS TO YOUR INTEREST, THE INTEREST OF YOUR COMMUNITY, COUNTY AND DISTRICT TO NOMINATE ON AUGUST 6 AND RE-ELECT IN NOVEMBER

Joe B. BATES

FOR

CONGRESS

For many years Joe Bates has been actively identified in Democratic final elections in Kentucky and in practically every State and National race he has been called upon to lead the fight for his party in the Eighth district. This duty he has always performed well and with credit and honor to his party.

Although Mr. Bates served only a few days as our Representative while Congress was in session, being elected to fill the place of Fred M. Vinson who resigned to accept a Federal judgeship, he was in a position to vote on a great many of the important measures passed at the last session. His record is open to the public—it will show that every vote he cast was favorable to the people of the Eighth district.

The Eighth District has been fortunate for many years in being represented by Fred Vinson, whose service to his people was second to no Congressman in the United States. Judge Vinson and Joe Bates have been life long friends and in every election in which Mr. Vinson was a candidate Mr. Bates assisted him in piling up the magnificent majorities that Fred Vinson received.

Joe Bates pledges himself to the people of this district to follow in the illustrious foot-steps of Fred Vinson and to adopt the policies and principles that Fred Vinson maintained for so many years to all his constituents including farmers and ex-servicemen and their families, and furthermore, Joe Bates is the only candidate for Congress in this district who has the endorsement of organized labor. He proved himself a friend to the laboring man during the time he served in the last session of Congress and in return has been honored by their endorsement.

The next session of Congress will, no doubt, have many important measures before it, concerning the farmers of the Eighth district—principally those growing tobacco. Mr. Bates has already shown that he is interested in the welfare and well-being of the farmers, who comprise the greatest portion of this district and intends to cast his ballot at Washington for any legislation that will be to their interest and against any measure that would be detrimental to agriculture in these twenty counties. He fully understands the needs of the farmers, owning and operating a farm himself in Greenup county.

You will always find Mr. Bates' office open to his constituents and you will find, as have many others who have contacted him on matters relative to the Federal government, able and willing to assist you in any manner possible.

Jamison Reminisces At Gettysburg

River and he jumped off but the enemy got him. "They stripped me and gave me a dirty Rebel uniform that had lice so large they had room on their backs to carry the Confederate States flag. They laugh and have good chat. I look at each of them. Here are two old, very old men, meeting probably for the last time. To them it seems only yesterday when they were boys facing danger, even death, for a cause that made the greatest nation in the world. Few of us realize what it was really all about. We should bow our heads in prayer to the 1,403 comrades besides the other thousands who have been silenced by death.

We leave Bill who promises he will come and see us before he leaves but he knows and Uncle Joe knows that it was goodbye. It was much easier to say, "So long, Joe, have a good time," and "Goodbye, Bill! See you before I leave."

Back to the tent. We rest and listen to the old gentleman across the street whom I find out to be Capt. George Bailey of the First Massachusetts, at Needham, Mass. Harry, his attendant, is fixing water for him to wash.

Uncle George: "What's that Harry? Ah! Water. Is it hot or cold?"

Harry: "It's hot."

Uncle George: "Let me feel of it. Well, it's not hot enough. I want hot water."

Crash—Bang!

Uncle George: "What was that? Harry: "Your pipe fell in the wash basin."

Uncle George: "Well, it sounded like a Rebel shell."

(To be concluded next week with the dedication of the Eternal Peace Monument. Any comments on this article should be sent directly to William A. Jamison, at the Midland Trail Hotel, Morehead, Ky.)

VOTE FOR
Thomas Burchett
DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Thomas Burchett, a native son of the Eighth District, was born and reared on a farm in Carter County and knows the needs of the farmers.

He taught school for a number of years and worked his way through the University of Kentucky where he was graduated with a Bachelor of Laws degree.

He is a World War Veteran with a battle field record and an active member of the American Legion. He will continue to work and fight for the veterans, their widows and orphans. As an active practicing lawyer of the Boyd County Bar for the past seventeen years, he has served his county two terms as County Attorney and declined to run for a third term. He is taking no sides in the Senatorial fight. He can unite the party and win in November.

He will support the President and fight to bring back better times and conditions in his district and the nation. His slogan, "More jobs, work and better times."

He is able, clean, fair, honest and is making his race upon his own merits and solicits your investigation of his record as a private citizen and public official.

PRECEDING CHAPTERS
Wade Rawlins, a novelist, who is roughing it on the Pacific Coast, is stranded when his rickety old car falls into a ravine. At the Kilbourne home he is taken for a tramp and as Mrs. Kilbourne has a habit of taking in tramps, he is engaged as chauffeur before he can explain matters. The family is so unusual, he decides to stay for the copy it will furnish. At the dinner party Minerva Harlan, the senator's daughter thinks he is a guest and to his horror as well as the Kilbournes' he cannot escape taking her to dinner. He makes a great impression on the senator, also.

CHAPTER TEN

It was unusually quiet at the Kilbourne breakfast table the next morning. Even Marian was silent. The dinner had been so fantastic—even for one in their house—that none of them felt equal to talking about it. Grosvenor entered, his head held higher than usual, staring straight ahead and carrying a tray. He did not look at anyone, he did not speak. "Have you taken to walking in your sleep, Grosvenor?" asked Jerry. He moved calmly on, as if he had not spoken. Mrs. Kilbourne asked kindly if something had disturbed him. He stopped for the moment. "I believe, madam, it is customary to notify the butler when there are guests in the house." "But we're not guests," said Mrs. Kilbourne, reassuringly. "You followed him. One by one the family followed him. Mr. Kilbourne had reached the door when it opened and Grosvenor, minus the tray, came to. His eyes looked wild. He was so angry that he seemed to be speaking only by a great effort of the will. "It's Rawlins!" he gasped. "Sitting up in bed—telling me where to put the tray in the most condescending manner, saying he wanted the newspaper, please." Mr. Kilbourne did not stand haven't forgotten that we live here, have you?" "I was not speaking of the family, madam. I mean the real guest—who phoned down an order for this breakfast a few minutes ago." "Guest? Who?" asked Mrs. Kilbourne. "Now let me see if I can guess," said Mrs. Kilbourne. "I thought of Aunt Sophia last month, didn't you Henry?" "It was a man and he said he was in the blue room," said Grosvenor. "Did he say he wanted his eggs and everything cold?" asked Marian. "The dear child in right," said her mother. "Whoever he is, he may be hungry. He wouldn't have asked for breakfast if he wasn't, now would he? Take it right up, Grosvenor!"

on formality. He flung open the door and slammed it behind him when he had entered the room. "Good morning," said Rawlins, pleasantly. "Won't you come in?" "I am in. What I want to know is what the blazes you are in here for? Isn't it enough that last night you made sport of us all—and probably ruined me in the bargain? Well, it's more than enough for me. Now you get out of that bed, get into your clothes and get out."

Then the conjectures began. Marian said it was probably someone who had a hang-over from the party. Kane said he was sure everyone had left. Jerry said it was probably that mine of a Minerva Harlan and she'd disguised her voice to sound like a man. Mr. Kilbourne said he intended to find out who had had the effrontery to sleep, uninvited and unannounced in his house. He rose from the table and went up to the stairs. "You've won me over—you and your daughter," said Wade now, but he held out his hands in a supplicating gesture before Wade. "You've won me over—you and your daughter," said Wade now, but he held out his hands in a supplicating gesture before Wade.

Wade took the phone. He thanked her for asking him to meet her at the club, but he hadn't his golf sticks with him—his visit to the Kilbournes was made on such short notice it might be called impromptu. "Oh, it is most kind of your father to say he will lend me his and I would enjoy having another talk with him, but I really don't know whether or not I can make it. I think Mr. Kilbourne has other plans for me—I may be leaving town today."

"I can't tell her that. She's determined to speak to you. You'll have to talk to her." "Wade took the phone. at least he seemed to know the dramatic value of a pause, its effectiveness in suspense, in leading up to a climax. He put his arm around his wife and turned her face up to his. "Emily," he said, "I want to go on record as saying your theory on regards tramps is vindicated brilliantly."

"Then, it's all right," asked Jerry in a trembling voice. "You're not throwing Wade out?" "Whatever put that crazy notion in your head, daughter? Right? Why, everything is as right as rain. Wade stays right here. If the blue room doesn't suit him, he can have my room. If that isn't quite to his liking, I'll build a room especially for him, according to his specifications."

Marian let out a low whistle. "I knew he would be a wow," she said. "Glad you see it, even at this late hour, Dad, I'm going up right now and turn hand-springs for him." "You stay away. He's going to the club to meet the senator and play golf with Minerva."

"Right as rain—isn't it?" said Jerry bitterly. But she said it under her breath, as she hurriedly left the room. (To be continued)

Excessive rain and blight damaged the first potato crop in Clay county.

The Issue
 Cold, case-hardened figures, compiled over a period of years reveal:
THAT Kentucky has not received the benefits, due her from the Federal Government, in proportion to the revenue paid by the State.
THAT Kentucky has been grossly discriminated against by Federal legislation.
THAT the farmer, the laborer, the veteran and all of the people of the State, have been the victims of these discriminations.
THAT those benefits due Kentucky have either been swapped off to other States in return for personal favors, or
THE SENIOR SENATOR FROM KENTUCKY LACKS ABILITY AND PERSONALITY TO GET FOR KENTUCKY THAT WHICH IS KENTUCKY'S.

Achievement—Or Ruin?
 Today Kentucky stands at the top of the states in modern business-like government. Her reorganization Act is the envy of every other state; the progress made under "Happy" Chandler has attracted nation-wide admiration and approval: Better schools, modern institutions, fine state and rural highways; a pay-as-you-go financial set-up and a HUGE STATE DEBT that is almost a THING OF THE PAST.
DO YOU INTEND THAT THESE THINGS SHALL BE UNDONE AND THE FUTURE OF KENTUCKY MADE UNCERTAIN...

More Issue
BARKLEY has delivered himself into the hands of Tom Rhea, the man who bolted the Democratic Party in 1935, and Selden Glenn, head of the Bipartisan combine, and Ruby Laffoon, the sales tax governor.
 This group ran Kentucky into virtual bankruptcy; ruined the State's credit; shamefully neglected State institutions and failed to heed the needs of the people. THIS GROUP, ousted in 1935, is attempting to regain control of Kentucky.
KENTUCKY'S BLACK SHAME has been blotted out by "Happy" Chandler's honest, courageous, business-like administration.
DO YOU WANT TOM RHEA, SELDEN GLENN AND RUBY LAFFOON BACK IN POWER TO WRECK THE FINEST STATE GOVERNMENTAL STRUCTURE EVER BUILT?

Know The Facts
BARKLEY never aided in writing the Old Age Pension Bill. He did not write any part of the Agricultural Adjustment Act. He has nothing to do with whether or not the farmer shall receive a "Cut-out" check.
IF HE HAS BEEN RESPONSIBLE FOR ANY OF THESE THINGS ASK HIM TO QUOTE THE SECTION OF THE CONGRESSIONAL RECORD IN PROOF.
 Barkley did forget the farmer and the Old Folk on certain pieces of legislation as the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD will show. He voted against low interest rates and a moratorium for farmers and against a Federal increase for Old Age Pensioners.
