ELECTION SET FOR DECEMBER 5, ARRANGED

Both Sides Girding Loins For Battle Of Ballots In Wet-Dry Contest

Wets and Dries are girding their loins for the big battle of ballots to be staged in this county on Saturday, December 5, when the voters of the county will have an opportunity to decide whether or not this county will continue in the wet column, or will step over into the ranks of the Salina desert and become dry. The local option election will be held on that day according to the announcement published in this issue of the Rowan News.

The election was called at the behest of the dry forces, who in October, circulated a petition to which they obtained the signatures of more than the required number of voters. Previously they had circulated a petition calling for a local option election on September 29, which was thrown out by Circuit Judge D. B. Caudill, on the grounds that the petition was not signed by the proper authority. This reversal in the courts, the dries became more active and filed a petition which was properly gotten up and about which there was no question.

Election officers will be selected within the next few days by the election commission, Mort May, William Lane and Jack Wilson. These officers will not be selected according to the usual custom, but from lists selected by the opposing elements, the wets being given two officers in each precinct and the dries the same number, without regard to political affiliation. There will be four Democratic officers in a precinct, or there may be four Republicans.

The dries held their first mass meeting at the court house on Sunday night of this week, with the largest audience. So far, the wets have held no meetings, and so far as we have been able to learn, do not intend to hold such meetings. It is probable that they will devote their time to preparing the organization, rather than to meetings.

According to the best information available, the results of the election after they have been certified, will be held by the County Board.

Christian Church To Honor Eagles

Will Hold Special Service In Honor Of College Team

President and Mrs. H. A. Babb, Dean and Mrs. W. H. Vaughan, coach and Mrs. Ellis Johnson, coach and Mrs. Len Miller, and the entire football squad of the Morehead State Teachers College, will be special guests of Dr. G. H. Fern and the First Christian Church next Sunday morning. This special guest service is given by Dr. Fern in honor of and in recognition of achievements of "The Eagles" this season.

Coach Ellis Johnson will be special speaker at the Sunday School or Bible School at about 9:45. Coach Johnson will speak to the assembled school at about 10:10 o'clock. The public is invited to this service to hear his remarks on the great adventure of playing the game of life. The special guest service, however, does not come until the preaching service which begins promptly at 10:45 A. M. The guests together with the squad of players will occupy a section of the auditorium which will be roped off for them with the college colors. Dr. Fern's subject for the occasion will be "Kicking the Goal For The Extra Point." Special music will be furnished by the choir. Young men of the church will serve as ushers. A special Thanksgiving offering will be taken at both the Bible School and the preaching service.

Hardluck!

The Alf Caskey family firmly believe they are in the dog house. They are at least in pairs believe that troubles never come and sometimes in droves.

Last week, Everett Caskey, Alf's oldest son, who recently resigned a position under the civil service at the Narcotic farm at Lexington, to resume his work as telegraph operator at Hal' man, was taken to the C and O hospital at Huntington, suffering with hemorrhages. Almost simultaneously Mr. Caskey himself was taken to the hospital at Lexington where he underwent a serious operation. His condition is considered very serious at present.

Morehead Plays Big Part In E. K. E. A. Meet

Ova Haney Elected President Of Association For Next Year

Morehead was more than well represented at the annual meeting of the East Kentucky Education Association held in Ashland last week. Out of the entire teaching force in the county only four teachers failed to attend the meeting.

Morehead also had a prominent part in the program offered at the meeting. Department heads and faculty members of the Morehead State Teachers College served as heads of Departments at E. K. E. A. The glee clubs and choruses from the college furnished a goodly share of the music for the sectional meetings. Morehead was very much in evidence.

One of the most interesting displays at the meeting was that from the East Department of Morehead State Teachers College.

Perhaps the highlight of the meeting in the Morehead viewpoint was the annual Morehead banquet, held at the Henry Clay Hotel on Friday evening. This was the annual gathering of the Morehead club, that timely get-together of the present and past students and graduates. Places were laid for over two hundred who enjoyed a typical Morehead program and reunion.

Not to be forgotten was the election of a Morehead graduate as president of the association for the coming year. The new president replacing David Morris, another Morehead graduate, is C. S. Haney, present county superintendent.

Dr. A. W. Adkins who is recovering in the C. & O. hospital in Huntington is showing marked improvement and it is possible he will be able to return home by Thanksgiving. Dr. Adkins has been ill for several weeks.

H. L. Roberts Cut In Affray Monday

Suffers Stab Under Left Arm Close To Heart In Making Arrest

H. L. Roberts was seriously injured, when cut with a knife, allegedly in the hands of Mason Scaggs. Scaggs is lodged in the county jail, where he is being held, pending developments in the injuries sustained by Roberts. The affray occurred in the West end of Morehead, near the Ollie Caskey store, according to reports. Scaggs is said to have been drinking and Roberts, it is stated ordered him to go home. Scaggs went as far as the edge of town, where Roberts later found him, while on his way home. An altercation is said to have taken place, in which Roberts attempted to arrest Scaggs and place him in jail. Roberts is said to have used a black jack to subdue Scaggs, who is suffering from various injuries, about his head and face. Scaggs, it is alleged, drew his knife and cut Roberts under the left arm, the blade piercing his side and just missing the heart.

Ladies Of Club Ask For Old Clothes

The ladies of the Rowan County Womens Club began Monday on a house to house visit in their drive for old clothes to assist the needy of the county during the winter months. If the ladies missed anyone who have anything give them, request that you call Mrs. A. F. Ellington, president of the club, who will immediately send for them.

Red Cross Drive Closes Thursday

Quota For County Set At 300 Will Be Passed Say Local Workers

With the annual drive for Red Cross memberships only a week old, the chairman of the drive announces that they are making great progress in securing renewal and new memberships in the organization. The quota for Rowan county was officially set at 300 members, less than half that of previous years. However, the local chairman has promised that Rowan county will over their quota by several hundred, and have guaranteed to turn in 500 memberships or better.

With the progress already made it looks like their promise will be amply met, according to Mrs. N. L. Wells, local chairman. Many county precincts where Red Cross membership is immensely popular have not yet been heard from, although it is known that a large number of memberships have been sold in those sections. Other popular centers are still to be visited. Morehead itself, has not been thoroughly covered in the drive.

Those who are interested in the work of this organization are urged to take out their memberships again this year. The funds derived from the memberships are used in this county for hospitalization of those who are unable to provide for themselves. It is a worthy cause and one that should have the support of every citizen.

REV. KAZEE AT MEETING REPLACED FOR 2 WEEKS

Rev. Wm. H. Crofts, D. D., of Catlettsburg, Ky., will supply the Baptist pulpit in the absence of the Pastor, B. H. Kazee, the next two Sundays. Rev. Kazee is away in a meeting in Salisbury, North Carolina. Dr. Crofts is an Englishman, a former missionary to China and a strong preacher. On the Sunday evening of the 29th he will give a lantern slide lecture on "missions" in China. Pastor Kazee has seen and heard this lecture and states that it is very exceptional good. The public is invited to all the services. Dr. Crofts is now engaged in independent evangelistic work.

Eagles End Season With Win Over Cards

The Eagles of Morehead State Teachers College routed the Cardinals of the University of Louisville from the victory nest here Saturday afternoon by the score of 14 to 7. The final game of the season brought the Eagles to the front for the first time in K. I. A. C. competition of the smallest crowd of the year saw the curtain fall on football at Morehead for 1936 with the most successful season since '28. E. K. E. A. at Ashland cut into the crowd of followers. The game brought together two teams that have made the greatest progress during the season and under new coaches set-ups. The Eagles and Cardinals flew into battle formation and the feathers flew quick and often during the sixty minute period that saw one red bird seriously injured and rushed to a hospital in Louisville. Coach Johnson had to call on his injured Eagles to stem the tide and they performed brilliantly. The first quarter started with a bang and the Cardinals threw a score into the Eagles as they punted up three first downs in succession to drive to Morehead's 37 yard line. The first period ended scoreless and the fans were in an uproar as the teams charged goals. Morehead began to take the edge off the polished Cardinals in second quarter by sheer brute strength. Just before the half ended, Wyant's punt was grounded on Louisville's 10 yard line and the Cardinals kicked a bang to Lowndes who made a beautiful run of 40 yards placing the ball on the enemy 20 yard strip. After two line plays Wyant hurried a pass into the arms of Hammonds and the first down was gained. The third try put the ball over with Reynolds in possession of the situation. Vinson booted the extra point and two plays later the half ended. The lone Louisville score came midway in the third frame. Lamar charging end of the Cardinals blocked Wyant's punt deep in Eagle territory and the Cardinals really opened with a goal drive by mixing running plays with passes. Keeling flung a desperate pass to Emerson on the goal line to tally six for the visitors, and knotted the count with a good kick on the try. The Eagles tore into the birds and Cardin's running attack that was led by Wyant who made a 34 yard jaunt to place the ball in scoring position. Henderson took a toss from Wyant to place the ball on the

Dr. Lloyd Again Makes Record

Over 2,500 Pensions Granted In Month Of Nov. Sets High Face

According to an announcement made by Dr. A. Y. Lloyd, director of the Old Age Pension division, Department of Public Welfare at Frankfort, Ky., more than 2500 additional old age assistance grants have been made for the present month, bringing the total grants allowed up to the present to the amazingly large figure of 6,250. Considering the fact that in the month of November only three weeks were left for the work, 2,500 other grants were made more than good. The grants average about $10.00 each.

Dr. Lloyd has set a goal of 7,500 to be completed and approved by January 1. With 6,250 grants already approved, there is no doubt but that the quota will be exceeded by that time and is more likely to reach 10,000 according to Dr. Lloyd.

The record being set by the Old Age Assistance Division under the direction of Dr. Lloyd is one of efficiency and hard work, and one that redounds to the credit of the Morehead young man, who took over an entirely new setup, organized it out of nothing, with no previous experience and has so far exceeded all hope of the best informed social workers in the state. It is a record of which the entire state should be proud, and in which Morehead should take particular pride.

C. B. Daugherty Brings In Gas Well Monday

Will Operate Plant With Product Of Own Producer

C. B. Daugherty, owner and manager of the Morehead Ice and Coal Company, after several hours of worry over the non-productiveness of the recent drilled gas well on his property, is wearing that smile that never comes off at present. The cause of Mr. Daugherty's smile is simple. The gas well, after wavering between a decision some what like that of Mr. Coolidge when he "did not choose to run," and one like that of Al Smith when he did but the people did not want him, finally made up its mind and came out like Franklin D. Roosevelt in a wave that couldn't be stopped.

Mr. Daugherty has a producing gas well on his property now. Last week when called on for a report of his progress, Mr. Daugherty stated that he had a good water well. His well, according to the drillers is in one of the steadiest producing sands. It is somewhat deeper than the well brought in by E. D. Patton a few weeks ago. The drillers say that while its volume may not be as great as other wells, it is likely to be a steady producer for many years.

If the well pans out as is expected, Mr. Daugherty plans on using his product in operating his ice plant. N. L. Wells started drilling on his property adjoining that of Mr. Daugherty on Wednesday of this week. He hopes to bring in a well there that will furnish him with gas to operate the new furnace recently installed in his home.

Is Reported Better

Mrs. J. C. Wells has been very seriously ill for the past three weeks, but seems to be recovering and it is thought she will be out of danger before long. Mrs. Wells is past eighty years old.

House Is Robbed Of Valuables

Thief Offered-Chance To Return Stolen Goods With No Questions

The home of Mrs. Mollie Raymond was robbed on Tuesday of last week, while members of the family were in Cynthia attending the funeral of an uncle of Mr. Raymond. The theft was discovered on their return home, when Mrs. Raymond noticed that a sack of eggs which had been in the refrigerator when she left, was sitting beside the door on their return. Investigation showed that the thief had taken a number of old coins and various articles of jewelry, valuable chiefly for its associations. Mrs. Raymond stated that she knew the one who had entered the home and that she was only waiting to give him an opportunity to return the goods. If he does not return it within a short time, she intends to take action to regain her property.

MOREHEAD MEN PLAN BANQUET FOR COACHES

Ellis Johnson To Be Guest Of Honor At Feed On Dec. 4

Morehead's business and professional men are planning a surprise banquet in honor of Ellis Johnson, Morehead's Own to be held in the basement of the Christian Church on the night of Friday, December 4. Ellis Johnson will be the guest of honor at the evening, Christmas Warming banquet. Other guests of only slightly less prominence will be Assistant Coach Len Miller and the members of both the varsity and freshmen football squads.

Mr. Johnson has every year in Morehead advertised in a Morehead Boy's come home. This is the occasion when the business men of Morehead have decided to kill, not the fatted calf, but the fatted turkey. The occasion is not in any other way similar to the Bible parable. Ellis has not come home after feeding on husks, nor is he the prodigal son. He has come home to give as he has received. The football team they have had in years and to a welcoming reception this is sincere and general.

It is with that thought in mind that the plans for the banquet which it to be held at the home of the hearts and homes of the members of the football squads and Mr. Miller are to be made just as welcome and just as much at home as Mr. Johnson.

Tickets will be sold to everyone who wishes to participate in this affair. They will be sold in pairs at $1.00 each. Each business or professional man is expected to provide a ticket for himself and at least one member of the squad. Tickets will be on sale at the Eagles Nest, the Dixie Grill and the Kennard Hardware Store. Other tickets will be in the hands of the ticket committee.

Every business and professional man is not only welcome but is urged to buy tickets and attend this banquet. It is a Morehead banquet, given by the men of Morehead to one of Morehead's sons, and to the men who helped him make a record. Consequently it should not be necessary to issue special invitations to anyone to attend the function.

A FAIR ANALYSIS Of The Situation IS ALL WE ASK

Citizens Of Rowan County

THINK

Before Voting On Local Option

Those who are trying to push this local option down the throats of Rowan County don't tell you anything about the law—they won't compare present day conditions with those when the bootlegger and moonshiner flourished—they won't tell you that Rowan County's corner docket is less than half as large as it formerly was—they won't tell you that according to Sheriff of Rowan County and the Chief-of-Police of Morehead that conditions are better today than they ever have been—they will not say anything about the decrease in alcoholic deaths—they won't tell you that merchants in every county adjoining Rowan are hoping that local option will go in effect here so they can get the dollars from this county, nor that it will take thousands of dollars of revenue from Morehead and Rowan County. ALL THEY WILL TELL YOU THAT IT IS A MORAL ISSUE.

Reproduced below is the most significant feature of the local option law. Read this, and challenge them to show that the enforcement of local option is different.

Penalties Under Local Option Law

Rowan County Property Owners Can Be "Framed" And All Possessions Sold According To Law

The local option law enacted by the General Assembly of 1936 provides the most extreme penalties of any criminal law ever to be enacted in Kentucky.

It is the first law ever enacted in this State under which a violator forfeits all of his property to the State and under which an informer gets 10% of the confiscated property.

Here is what the Louisville Times has to say of the Local Option Law in a news story of September 15th, 1936:

"The State local option law is more stringent than the once famed Volstead Act. Possession of liquor in dry territory is regarded as prima facie evidence of guilt.

All the lands stock and holdings of a person found guilty of violating the local option law may be confiscated by the State and the proceeds of its sale turned over to the jury fund. If the confiscation is the result of information furnished by the authorities by a neighbor or other citizen, the informer gets 10 per cent of the proceeds as a reward. If a public official fails to act on information from an informer he is subject to indictment of malfeasance."

The law is calculated to encourage "rackets" of a most vicious character. It would be quite possible for unscrupulous persons, or "racketeers" to "plant" a small quantity of liquor in the business house, store, automobile, or home of an innocent person in "local option" county and then furnish information to the authorities which would result in arrest and conviction subjecting the victim's property to forfeiture and sale.

Many people in "dry" communities are being induced to vote for local option in the belief that the law is the same one which was in effect prior to State Prohibition. Such is not the case. The present law defines intoxicating liquor as any beverage containing more than 1% of alcohol by volume and under its provisions the sale of whiskey, even for medical purposes is prohibited.

But today the thought of his saw, which he had just bought over from the river on a mule's back, filled the place of a more quiet contemplation. He took Reuben and the boys down to the mill to look over the plan for the cleaver saw.

"You have seen them work?" he asked of Reuben.

"Yes. Many of them," Reuben said. Sparrel pride in his improvement was stimulated by the days of absence from it in the woods. He told Reuben of the earlier Pattern mills and of their gradual transformation into this modern power unit. Reuben listened with the attention of one who found in the recreation of earlier modes of life an enthralling realization of the continuity of the generations and the growth of a culture.

The sight of the old water wheel and of the two small rough stones which Saul had hewn effected him for his own people had moved about too often to accumulate these intimate reminders of a family tradition.

"There is something about a mill wheel that I like, he said. But steam is quicker and works in dry weather. Sparrel said.

They examined the new saw and the shaft that turned the millstones.

"Why don't you put in a separate one for the saw?" Reuben said. It would be simpler. Then you could just shift the belt over to its wheel and be ready to saw. And it ought to be smaller than the one for the mill because the saw should turn faster. He sketched his idea for the mill, complete from the smaller pulley to the location of the saw and the shuttle for the logs.

That's it, Sparrel said. That's it to a T. And I've got just the block of wood in the shop here. Although it was the Sabbath, they went to the shop and Sparrel asked with his pencil the dimensions for the new pulley.

They talked it over and over for a long time, adding nothing to it, but savoring it to the full by making and exchanging words about it.

Then the boys proposed that they go on into Dry Creek Hollow where Shellenberger and Mullens had gone and see where the lumbering operations were to begin.

Reuben excused himself with the plea that he wanted to go over his notes on the last lines of the survey and check them against the facts to see where he was going before the party proceeded on Monday. He went back toward the house, leisurely, thinking of this place into which he had come of the native refinement of the people who lived here, and of the fair-skinned girl who had weeks ago made him welcome under conditions so embarrassing to herself.

He had said little to her, and she had said perhaps even less to him. But her few words were adequate symbols for revealing to him a dream-touched soul who clothed the commonplace with the radiance of poetry. He had seen this in her face, in the bend of her arm, in the play of her eyes and mouth when she looked at him. He had sensed it in the natural ease of manner which she carried in the presence of these men, and in the slight deference with which she greeted him. He thought of Julia, with her grace and quiet competence as the beautiful portent of the future years of Cynthia. And so thinking, he came through the backyard gate. His eyes were on the house, trying to see through it the kind of men whose foresight and energy had built it in this removed place.

Julia had just come to the porch on her way to her flower-beds. You are back early, Reuben.

Yes, I wanted to have a look at the last lines we ran yesterday. The others all went to Dry Creek. He sat at the table plotting the lines and sketching in the creeks they had crossed and the trees at the corners. Then he journeyed in his mind over the course he had run, contracting it again to the scale of the map and thinking how coolly the mind can get turned about, and be unhappy until its map and the one on paper coincide. He examined the yellowing deeds and drew lightly the course for the next day.

It was part of the fun to try to determine the lines first from old deeds, and then plot it as they actually were on the ground. Sometimes they would coincide.

Cynthia came into the kitchen. She was surprised to find herself looking immediately into his eyes. Oh, Excuse me, she said.

Not at all. Surveying? And on Sunday? There are so many things to be surveyed here. You have to use every day and Sundays too.

It's a good day for surveying. It's too good to be long indoors. I have finished, anyway. I was trying to get yesterday straight in my mind, and projecting tomorrow.

Cynthia stood by the table looking at him and at his map, with an artless and unconfused silence, mere becoming than speech. She had a way of lifting her head and offering a simple smile that flashed delicate over her face and into her eyes, and became radiant under the coil of rich dark hair.

In this isolated privacy he felt that he was seeing her for the first time. He thought quickly over the weeks he had been here. Always there had been other people, putting strains on relationship simply because they were physically present. When he had seen her and been affected by her, the consciousness of Sparrel, or Julia, or the brothers, or the other men, had been there, too, and there was no telling what part of the completed affect was provoked by the graceful and sensitive young girl. Now, Julia was in the garden, beyond this new area, and all the men were far away on Dry Creek, leaving this moment to Cynthia.

Do you like it up here? she asked. But even before she spoke, she felt now irrelevant to the rich and powerful undertone of feeling between them was the convention that nothing really exists until it has been dragged forth from its privacy and trimmed, distorted and then sewn up into words.

Annual Football Banquet Monday

Public Invited To Attend Event In Honor Of Eagle Squad

The annual football banquet tendered by the Morehead State Teachers College to the Eagle football squad, will be held next Monday at the College Cafeteria. The banquet this year will take on an added significance as a victory banquet, celebrating the first winning season enjoyed by an Eagle squad in many years.

The banquet will begin promptly at 6:00 p. m. tickets will be sold to all those who wish to attend, by members of the Nivatoris Club of Allie Young Hall. Decorations are in charge of the girls of Fields Hall. Music will be furnished by the Kings Jesters orchestra.

Following the banquet a short program of toasts will keep the assembled guests a few moments. Short talks will be made by President H. A. Babh, Coaches Ellis Johnson and Len Miller and by Robert Brasher, captain of the team for 1936. The address of the evening will be given by Dr. E. D. Blair, a member of the "M" club. The annual football banquet has come to be an institution at Morehead, even during the dark years of defeat. This year, in a sense it is more in the nature of a victory dinner, since the season just completed has been the most successful ever enjoyed by a Morehead team, with the victory over Eastern the highlight of the entire series. Only once before as the old stand pipe at the college attests, in the year 1928, have the Eagles succeeded in taking the measure of their first and most ancient rivals for football honors. In that year they defeated Eastern by an 10-0 score. Since that time lean years have been upon the Morehead Birds. So when they gather round the festal board Monday night, the Eagles and their friends will celebrate more than anything else, the victory over Eastern.

Tickets will be on sale to all those who wish to attend and the people of the town are particularly invited to take part in the affair.

Eagles — Cards

The Cardinals' kick was good. The Cardinals' kick was good.

Captain Robert "Bush Hog" Brasher did not start the game but his playing was a glowing finale to four years of good football for Morehead. The Cardinals ceased to ramble when the Big Eagle went as usual the best on the field and so ended the football career of one of the best tacklers of all time in Kentucky College football. Wyant's spectacular playing was almost matched by Lovman's daring deeds and Reynolds showed the fans what to expect from him next season. Vinson's booting was perfect and the blocking backs had a hard time with the fast charging Cardinals. Morehead's line had to face the best line of the campaign but came out with honors about evenly divided. Keeling was best for the Cardinals and his threats were numerous and always triple. Lowe and Emerson also played stellar ball.

Hunting Season Opens Here Soon

Hunting license can be secured for $1.00 at the County Clerk's office in the courthouse. Non-resident hunting license is $10.50. Present land owners, tenants and members of their families may hunt on their own land or leasehold does not convey a right to hunt without landowner's permission. Landowner's permission does not convey a right to hunt without without license. A hunting license license.

The game laws of the Commonwealth were made for the purpose of preserving the game for hunters and all hunters should abide by them. James Brown, Director of the Department of Conservation Division of Game states that this county will be patrolled this season and that no mercy will be given to violators. Quail cannot be sold or bought but rabbits can be brought to market.

The two teams were about evenly matched and the game was terrific with inspiring effects on both sides. Pierson, left tackle of the Cardinals was injured in the knee after a good fighting game in the line and was rushed to a hospital immediately. Both teams were lucky to get off with what they did for it was tough going from the start.

Morehead Eagles Perch On Top Round Of Teams' Standings

From Bottom To Top Is Record Made By Squad This Season

Morehead State Teachers College went to the head of the class in K. L. A. C. and Kentucky College football last Saturday when they won their last game of the season by besting the University of Louisville 14 to 7 in a hard fought tilt. The Eagles started at the bottom this year and ended on top with no chance for any team to displace them for a year.

The Eagles, playing their first year under new coaches, Ellis Johnson and Len Miller have a record of four wins, one defeat and two ties. The lone loss came in the first game when luck fell on the Thorobreds of Murray and two ties, one with Georgetown and one with Union.

The Western Hilltoppers handed the Maroons of Eastern their second defeat after a terrific struggle at Richmond. The score was 7 to 0, and Bud Rome's Rankin's outfit on the second round of the K. L. A. C. ladder with six wins and two losses.

Georgetown College found Friday the 12th no jinx and chalked up its first victory by defeating Dick Bacon's Bull Dogs of Union College, 19 to 0. The Tigers were very highly rated at the start of the season and their offense Saturday clicked for the first time this season. The Wildcats of the University of Kentucky outscratched the Tigers of Clemson College on Bluegrass soil by the shortest of margins to bring joy to thousands of Kentucky hysterical fans in McCall Stadium. The final score was 7 to 6 and Kentucky's sixth win in nine starts.

The Colonels, of Centre were manhandled by Davidson in North Carolina to the tune of 27 to 0 and the Murray Thorobreds ran wild to win the largest score of any Kentucky team Saturday in downing Tennessee Poly.

Eastern and Kentucky have won the most games, six each. The Eagles head the loss column with Union at two each, Chet Wynne's Wildcats lead the scoring parade with 173 points and Ellis Johnson's Eagles have the best defense, with only 31 points against them. The pay-off box of percentage is topped by Morehead State Teachers College with 800, a figure that cannot be topped regardless of the outcome of the remaining games of Kentucky College teams.

The complete records of Kentucky College teams for the season to date, follow.

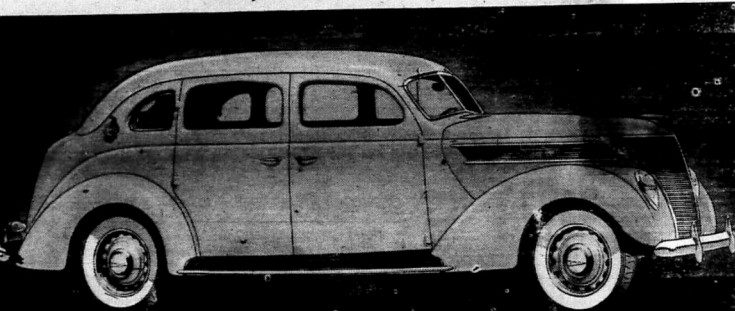

Team	W	L	T	Op	Pct
MOREHEAD	12	4	0	31	80.0
Eastern	6	2	0	115	40.0

Five games are scheduled for this week-end, two of them K. L. A. C. contests. In the far western end of the Commonwealth, the battle of Purchase will get under way with Murray and Western. Union enters the fray at Barboursville and Centre will make a home stand against Southwestern. Baldwin-Wallace will tear into Louisville and Georgetown, travels to Indiana to meet Hanover. The University of Kentucky and Transy will be polishing off for turkey tilts with Tennessee and Georgetown.

FARM & AGRICULTURAL NEWS

SHOULD TAKE CARE IN TAKING SOIL SAMPLES

During the course of a year many soil samples are sent to the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington for analysis without sufficient information being given about how the samples were taken. Unless a sample is properly taken, points out Prof. George Roberts, it may not fairly represent the land, and the analysis may be misleading, by being either better or poorer than the land it was intended to represent. No sample should be sent without first obtaining from the Experiment Station directions for taking samples. These directions are given in extension Circular 272.

Analyses are not particularly helpful in making recommendations for fertilizing tobacco, according to Prof. Roberts. It is better to tell how the land has been managed for the last five years, including cropping and the use of manure, lime and fertilizers, and give an estimate of its productivity in terms of how much corn it will produce in an average season.

The chief value of the test is to show the need of the soil for lime and phosphorus, to be used as a basis for improving the soil through the proper use of legumes, grass, clover, and farm manure. Extension Circular 272 gives a discussion of these practices.

Many county agents have equipment for making lime and phosphorus tests.

CONSIDERS THE FARM OUTLOOK OPTIMISTIC

Returning from Washington, where they assisted the department of Agriculture in writing an outlook report, E. A. Johnson and Miss Ida C. Hagman of the Kentucky College of Agriculture were optimistic regarding farm prospects for 1937.

The anticipated 10 per cent increase in the national income for 1937, as compared to 1936, following about a 13 percent increase in 1936 over 1935, offers encouragement. Mr. Johnson said. This is the basis for the strong market situation which is expected to continue through the coming year.

He went on to say that improved demand and short supplies of most farm products will serve to hold prices up during the first half of next year. He expects an advance in livestock prices.

In the latter half of next year, prices will be readjusted in line with supplies from the new crops, but Mr. Johnson believed the desire to rebuild depleted stocks of feed supplies will tend to hold prices steady throughout the year. Livestock prices, he said, will hold to a high level longer than feed prices.

HAVE GUESTS EAT TURKEY DAY HASH

As soon as Thanksgiving is over, the homemaker has a problem as to what to do with left-over, common by made into hash. Miss Laura Eason, of the University of Kentucky home economics department, suggests that guests be invited and that among other things broiled tomatoes and scalloped oysters, and a turkey loaf be served. Cut tomatoes in three-fourth inch slices, saute in butter and top with scalloped oysters. Arrange on a large tray on curly endive and garnish with stuffed olives. To make 3 or 4 a 1 1/2 p.e.d. oysters, first clean them by allowing cold water to run over them and removing any particles of shell. Place a layer of oysters, until there are two or three layers. Season each layer with better, salt and pepper. Cover with milk so that all dry crumbs are absorbed and bake in a moderate oven about 30 minutes. The top should be a golden brown.

The turkey loaf ingredients are as follows:
3 cups cold chopped left-over turkey.
1 1/2 cup fine bread crumbs.
2 tablespoons butter, 1 cup milk or stock.
1 teaspoon chopped parsley.
1/2 teaspoon onion juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 eggs.
Mix seasonings and crumbs with turkey. Mix thoroughly with a well-oiled mold set in a pan of hot water and bake about 45 minutes. Turn out on a chop plate and garnish with parsley. The outer edge may be surrounded with glazed whole carrots and buttered peas if desired.

THE FARM AND HOME

Dairy farmers know that the lack of protein in clean, bright non-ferme milk and butter. Protein legume hay can be compensated for by adding a little soybean meal, soybean meal to the ration. Protein is said to be relatively cheap in these feeds at present prices.

Fats are the most concentrated body fuels and contain more energy than sweets and starches. For this reason, children need butter every day, in addition to a point to a quart of milk. Both can be used in soups or other dishes.

Protein and leaching are said to account for two-fifths of the annual loss of humus from the soil, crops accounting for little more than a fourth. Nature requires 400 to 1,000 years to make an inch of topsoil which may be lost in a year on steep, cultivated land.

New Actress Hailed In Years Most Important Cinema Girls' Dormitory

One of the most important cinema events in years will take place Friday and Saturday at the Cozy Theatre when an exciting new personality, Simone Simon pronounced See-MOAN See-MOAN, makes her debut in the Twentieth Century-Fox production, "Girls' Dormitory."

If no milk is available, a dry mash containing animal protein is necessary for high egg production, especially in winter, when egg prices are high. Many farmers make a fifth of a mash a good grade of tankage, by weight.

Baked squash recipe: Use six medium sized pieces of winter squash, a teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of butter. Bake in a hot oven until tender, add seasoning and serve. Cheese sprinkled over the top as soon as taken from the oven gives a delightful flavor.

Warm, dry quarters and plenty of drinking water help to reduce the feed bill for any kind of livestock. Careful feeding in clean troughs and other extra attention pay big dividends, especially feeds are high prices.

Warm, young, refreshing and vital, with distinct magnetic appeal and rare, strange beauty, Miss Simone is being acclaimed the most important discovery in recent screen history. Herbert Marshall and Ruth Chatterton are starred with her, in an exceptional cast that features Constance Collier, J. Edward Bromberg, Dixie Dunbar, John Qualen and Shirley Deane.

The film opens in an exclusive boarding school, Herbert Marshall is the director of the school, Ruth Chatterton, Constance Collier, J. Edward Bromberg, are important members of the faculty.

The students are all young girls in their late teens, and all are daughters of wealthy families, sent to the school to complete their education.

Beyond walls barred to men, the girls are taught and schooled in everything, except what the rules forbid—life and love.

It is but a short time before graduation, Simone, a remarkably beautiful girl, is about to leave the surroundings she has known for years—and the man she has youthfully loved almost as long, Herbert

Marshall. On a dare, Simone asks Marshall to dance with her at a school social event. He refuses the girl and, ashamed at the rebuff, she runs off, to return just as a searching party is setting out to look for her.

Ruth Chatterton is also in love with Marshall, but she conceals her affection behind an appearance of friendly cooperation.

One of the teachers discovers a romantic love note, evidently written by one of the girls, she brings the note to Marshall, demanding that the girl be reprimanded at once. Behind the words of the letter Marshall sees that the girl was evidently creating a fictitious character in her mind.

Simone is discovered to be the author of the note. Hailed before the faculty, she admits writing it, but denies that the contents of the note are true.

Ruth Chatterton takes her aside and Simone reveals that she wrote the note, in a girlish mood, to Marshall, and that she is in love with the teacher.

When Marshall is informed of Simone's statement, he realizes that he, too, loves the young girl. In their romance, they find temporary happiness, but Simone overhears a conversation that makes her believe Marshall is really in love with Miss Chatterton.

come. If it is impossible for the children to come during this month then another school will be chosen. It will be left with the teacher as to how the children will get to the show.

This should be a big event for town-ers who cannot get into town very often to see a show. It will be nice for the parents to come along with the children, but of course they will not be given a free ticket.

For the fifth month, the attendance will be based on the percentage of increase. The highest attendance will not be considered so much as will the increase of attendance for the fifth month over the fourth month.

This is based on an attendance basis. Those who want to see the show, should also make an effort to come to school regularly.

Children will be exempt in case of sickness. As far as the show in concern, if a child is sick he will not be hindered from seeing the show.

For the fourth month, the schools reporting the highest attendance will be given the choice of coming to the show first. They can come either on Friday night or Sunday afternoon.

Musical Drama College Feature
Nine Martini, world famous singing star of radio, opera and films comes to the College Theatre Friday, in Pickford-Lasky's sparkling romance, "The Gay Desperado." An original story by Leo Birpinky, "The Gay Desperado" is laid below the Rio Grande, with picturesque natural backgrounds for its settings.

"A WOMAN REBELS" COMES TO THE COLLEGE SUNDAY
A moving romance denied fulfillment because of a previous unfortunate love affair which must be kept secret motivates the new Katherine Hepburn film, "A Woman Rebels."
In the role of an enthusiastic English girl who rebels against the conventions of her society, Miss Hepburn fights for freedom, which she attains, but not ending the ordeal of disillusion and heartbreak. She is alone in her struggles except for the sympathy of Herbert Marshall, as her co-star. Rather than lose his respect, she keeps the truth about an error in her early life from him and sacrifices the security of his comforting love for years.

Nancy Ward spent the week-end in Lexington.

Local Opinion

Court Clerk until the next regular meeting of the Rowan Fiscal Court when they will be approved and spread on the order book.
Thus, even though the county should be voted dry, the liquor stores will be allowed by law to run until the court has been officially approved by the fiscal court and the order made. This is usually a period of some two or three months, as the regular meetings of the fiscal court are held quarterly.

So far as we have been able to learn there has been, thus far no great amount of excitement stirred up. The affair seems to be running even more quietly than the average election which may mean several things. It may mean for example that the people are not interested, which would be an ideal situation for the dries, as it is certain that those who are supporting the dry cause will come out to vote without being urged. It may mean that the people have already made up their minds which is more likely, and that their plans are already laid. That would be an advantage to the wets. It may mean that the vote will be equal, which would react in favor of the dries, for the same reason that the dries will vote regardless. Or it may mean that there is a large silent vote, which would react in favor of the wets.

Be that as it may, there is one certain fact, that is that the election will be held on Saturday, December 5 and that shortly thereafter, Rowan county citizens will know whether or not the county is in the column or whether it is still wet.
