

Democrats Pick Committeemen For Precincts

Lester Hogge Chosen To Lead Democrats As Chairman For Term

Considerable of a fight was worked up throughout the county in the quadrennial election held by the members of the Democratic party last Saturday when, at the call of the State Central Committee each of the precincts in the county held an election for the selection of a man and a woman member of the county committee.

Two candidates were in the field for the election to the office of county chairman, according to reports. Each of the candidates made a fight to elect his committee members in each precinct as on Saturday next, December 13, the precinct committeemen and women met in Morehead to select their county chairman for the coming year.

Apparently Lester Hogge will be the next county executive chairman to hold office for four years, as it is apparent that Mr. Hogge succeeded in electing committees from fourteen precincts, the most by his figures. Mr. Hogge carried Morehead No. 1; Farmers 2; Peary 3; Hogtown 4; Pine Grove 5; Brushy 6; Wagner 7; Farmers 11; McKenzie 12; Dry Creek 14; Plank 15; Hayes 16; Lewis 17; Morehead 18. His opponent carried Morehead 7; Halde-man 8; Cranston 12; Morehead 19; and Morehead 22.

The committeemen have been notified to report on Saturday of this week at the county seat on the chairman. There is a possibility that in view of the fact that Mr. Hogge has won, the committee will vote as a unit and give him the position unanimously.

Mail Christmas Packages Early

Postal Department Requests Early Mailing Of Packages

The following paragraph from Christmas Mailing instructions sent out by the Postal Office Department is self explanatory, and is published to draw the attention of those who intend to mail packages at this season to the friends and relatives in other sections.

During the holiday time the volume of mail increases approximately 200 per cent. It is a physical impossibility to handle this increase efficiently and promptly within a few days. Therefore to assure delivery for their Christmas presents, cards, and letters by Christmas Day the public should SHOP and MAIL early. Do your Christmas shopping so that you can mail your gifts, greetings, and letters to relatives, friends and loved ones at least a week or ten days before Christmas, according to the distance. This will not only them before Christmas Day but will be a great aid to your postal service and to postal employees and enable them to spend the Christmas holiday with their families. Christmas Club Growing Fast

Citizens Bank Sends Out Christmas Savings To Depositors

The Christmas Club is here—it has been tried and it has made good—and the people have taken it into their lives in a big way. Millions of them. Many systematic saving schemes have been tried—and where are they? The Christmas Club idea grows everywhere and every year locally, it is 50 per cent larger than last year and seven times as large as the first year its operation began. The Christmas Club depositors spend the Xmas check in Christmas purchases, 25 per cent of it goes into permanent service Accts., 12 per cent is used to meet taxes, 5 per cent is used to meet interest on mortgages and 1 per cent provided for payment of life insurance premiums. This analysis is interesting and may suggest to our readers new uses for this systematic saving.

It really is a "system" that works and is so simple and so easily kept track of, that it continually interests and challenges the depositors best efforts. No more practical or helpful way of saving has yet been developed, as is attested by its universal popularity.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE ORGANIZED

Morehead State Teachers College Will Start Drive In Stamp Sale

The sale of Christmas Seals is progressing, according to announcements by members of the Morehead Womens Club which is sponsoring the drive. The arrangements and quotas have been completed and expectations at present are that the drive will be even more successful than last year, when the club overran their quota by a considerable extent.

Every citizen of Rowan county is urged to buy his quota of Christmas Seals. Everyone can use a few, and the larger number sold the more benefit goes to the state fund which is fighting the spread of tuberculosis. Christmas Seals are not wasted. They are used by every one to seal their Christmas packages. When you seal your packages, think of the little children, suffering with tuberculosis, who will be helped by your purchases. The sum is so small that no one will miss it, especially as you intend to buy seats of some sort anyway.

When the sponsors or those working call on you, be ready with your smile, even if you can buy only one Seal for a cent. Buy more if you can. Buy as many as you want and remember that every cent you spend is being used for this most worthy cause of all, the health of some little tuberculosis sufferer.

Board Orders Trustees To File Applications For Teachers

The Rowan County Board of Education met Monday in regular session. Prominent among the action of the board was an order issued to the sub-district trustees to file with the county superintendent their choice for the teaching position in their respective schools. Heretofore, the teachers have filed their application with the county superintendent directly, but the new ruling requires the trustee to do it himself.

The Board also ordered the publication of the financial statement for the year 1935-36. James Clay was appointed to negotiate with the (Continued On Page Five)

Rowan Voters Overwhelm Dry Forces In Vote

Wets Carry County By 404 Majority To Stay As It Stands

A wet victory in Rowan county last Saturday in the special local option election guaranteed that for the next three years at least, Rowan county will still have liquor stores and dispensaries. The wets overwhelmed the dries in the contest that came to a climax on that day, piling up a total of 1536 votes for retaining the present system of licensed liquor dispensaries, against a total of 1132 votes for the opposing faction. The victory was in the nature of an overwhelming "slam," considering the comparatively small number of votes cast.

Previous to the election, both sides were predicting a victory, with the general sentiment registering a victory for the wets. Neither side, however, imagined that the voting would be so heavy either way as it turned out to be.

The wets had perfected an organization as the election day approached, that indicated to the wise politicians a wet victory. In the other hand the dries were apparently lacked cohesion to put over their fight, in spite of their best efforts.

Probably the greatest factor in carrying the county for the wets was the provisions of the local option law passed by the 1936 legislature. The "teeth" in the law were so sharp and the provisions of the law so severe that they were held up as a scare heads to home owners.

Many who would originally have voted dry were opposed to the idea that it would be possible to frame them into losing their property. As a result the wets gained many adherents which they might possibly have lost had the law been less severe.

Had the election been held a month ago, there is strong probability that the dries would have carried the county, as it was only in past few weeks that the sentiment against the local option manifested any strength.

Another feature that had considerable bearing on the result of the election, was the strong senti- (Continued On Page Five)

Business Men Hosts; Banquet Big Success

One of the most successful banquets and one of the most unique ever held in this city was held last Friday night in the basement of the Christian Church, at which the business and professional men of Morehead entertained the successful football squads coached by Len Miller and Coach Len Miller.

The banquet was a grand affair held chiefly in honor of Ellis Johnson a Morehead boy, who returned to the city of his birth to make good and to make his home. On the side of course, and equally important, it was held to welcome Coach Len Miller and to fetter the squads which have made Morehead history in the past two or three months.

One hundred and twenty plates were laid and served each business man presenting a plate for a guest. The program was varied from the usual run of banquet programs in that the opening solo was held before the dinner rather than after. With M. S. Bowme acting as toast master, Jack Johnson and Len Miller, the business men to the guests, closing his introduction by presenting W. J. Sample who introduced the members of the M. C. Club present, the members of the athletic committee, the band and the cheerleaders. Mr. Johnson presented Robert Brashear, captain of the varsity, who introduced members of this years squad. Mr. Johnson then presented Coach (Continued On Page Five)

Two Local Stores Are Robbed Sunday Night

I. G. A. Store And Cut Rate Grocery Are Victims Of Burglars

The I. G. A. Store and the Cut Rate Grocery Store, owned by Glennis Fraley and W. T. Garey, respectively, were broken into and robbed on Sunday night, the owners reported to the police Monday morning. The robbers had entered both stores through back windows which had been pried open.

The I. G. A. reported a loss of $8.00 or $10.00 in cash together with a quantity of tobacco and cigarettes to the value of approximately $100.00. The Cut Rate Grocery Store reported a loss of cash and cigarettes of approximately $30.00. The thieves had left finger prints liberally strewn over the window ledges, which are being used in the detection of the culprits. Two suspects are being held in jail, pending the results of the investigation now being conducted.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce J. B. MAUCK for Representative, Rowan, at 11:17 A. M. SLIBERT to the ACTION of the Democratic Primary, August 2, 1937.

TO THE VICTOR THE RESPONSIBILITY

On Saturday of last week, the voters of Rowan county registered their confidence in the pro-moked liquor distribution. They said by their votes that they wanted to give the liquor dealers a chance, that they were satisfied with conditions as they are, rather than to return to the questionable dry situation with which they contended for fourteen years during the prohibition era.

The election Saturday was not a victory for the wets in any sense of the word. It was a victory of those opposed to prohibition as they had experienced it previously. It is unquestionably true that if the proposal to be voted on had been eliminating liquor completely, this county would have voted to eliminate it overwhelmingly.

In the opinion of those who cast their votes Saturday, it was a question as to which was best for their children and their families, the condition that prevails at present, where there is a chance to control or the condition that prevailed during prohibition, where control was apparently impossible. They chose the present condition.

In the minds of the public the wets won. They won an overwhelming victory, considering the small number of votes cast in the election. They received the endorsement of the citizens of Rowan County.

But their victory, overwhelming as it was, is not to be taken lightly by them. And victory of whatever proportions carried with it a weight of responsibility. The wets in this case burdened with the responsibility of demonstrating to the citizens who voted both for and against their cause, that the confidence of the county voters invested in them is not misplaced.

On the liquor dealers of the county depends entirely whether or not their victory is one of permanence. On them depends the future fate of their cause. They can, by their efforts show the people one of two things, first that they propose to aid and assist the law enforcement officers in carrying on the liquor business according to law, or they can by treating their victo lightly, show that they propose to permit some of the things that have been done in the past, continue to be done.

On the attitude of the liquor dealers, on their cooperation with the law enforcement officers, on their regard for the law as it exists, depends the attitude of the citizens of Rowan county three years from now. If their businesses are conducted in a law abiding manner, if they cooperate with the law, they will be safe. If they fail to accept the responsibility they will be doomed.

Now that the election is over it is time for the wets and the dries to get together to curb all law breaking. Drunks should be taken care of as the law provides, regardless of friendship and affiliation. Liquor stores should be required to conform strictly to the law in every way. Louisville has started an excellent movement in their 19 and 9 courts. Morehead could profit by their example.

Now is an excellent time to start rigid enforcement, with the cooperation of all concerned. The liquor dealers must see the proper way to guarantee a continuation of their support is by putting their shoulder to the wheel of law enforcement without hesitation or reservation.

OVER-LAPPING TAXES

The overlapping of taxes and the taxing power by the state governments and the Federal government seems to be bringing about a situation which calls for correction and many readjustments. Some way should be found to place definite limits upon the fields of taxation occupied by the national government and the state governments respectively.

The Treasury Department has recently made a report on "double taxation" from 1930 to 1935. There are six fields of taxation in which both the Federal and the state governments operate. There are inheritance taxes, individual income taxes, corporation taxes, gasoline taxes, liquor taxes and tobacco taxes. While the Federal government took $2,271,490,000 in taxes from these sources in the fiscal year of 1935, the states also collected over $1,000,000,000 from the same sources.

From all but one of these taxes the Federal government takes more than do all of the states which levy them. The gasoline tax, however, yielded nearly $900,000,000 to the states and only a little over $100,000,000 to the Federal government. Not all of the states impose inheritance and income taxes, but so long as these fields are left open to the states, the temptation is strong to take advantage of these opportunities to increase the state revenue.

The principal source of tax income of the states and their subdivisions is the tax on real estate. This is a field which the Federal government does not touch. It would seem reasonable for the Federal government to keep out of the gasoline tax business and for the states to leave income and inheritance taxes and tobacco taxes to Uncle Sam. There certainly should be some way found to set up a sharp line of demarcation between the taxing authority of the states and that of the central government.

THE SUNDAY

SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kaze, Pastor of Baptist Church.

SUBJECT: The Living Christ Among The Churches Revelation 1:1-18.

GOLDEN TEXT: I am the first and the last: I am he who liveth. Rev. 1:17-18.

The lesson this week is very difficult. You should read the first few chapters of Revelation to get the meaning, especially the first three. John writes of a vision, a spiritual revelation, which came to him in his exile on the Isle of Patmos. He writes to seven Churches of Asia which are chosen because each one represents, in its condition, a period of the history of the church through these centuries. Of course, to John, it was prophecy; to us it is history. Quoting the words of the Lord which were here given him, John sums up the greatness of God: "I am Alpha and Omega (the first and last letters of the Greek Alphabet), the beginning and the ending saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty."

Read the message to each of the seven churches. Ephesus had been faithful in doctrine—a splendid trait—but had forgotten her first love. That was a terrible omission. Smyrna

Obey That Impulse

—by A. B. Chapin

She had been faithful during tribulation. She was commended, but not released. There were other and greater trials to come—marriage, imprisonment. Continue to be faithful! Pergamos, though in a rich, wicked city, had not become corrupted by that wickedness. She had not taken action against teachers of Balaam who were in her midst. For this she was to blame. She had not kept pure from false teachers. Thyatira was commended for patience, toil, faith, love, and growth, but she had allowed a certain Jezebel to continue her vile practices in the very bosom of the church. A heathen element had crept in. It is in our churches to-neither cold nor hot. I will spit thee out of my mouth, because thou sayest I am gotten rich, increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind and naked."

After all, the Lord says, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and sup with him and he with me. Jesus still lives to make the churches live. He has always had a few faithful in the church in every age, and today He is ready to come in if any will open the door. As long as Jesus lives the church may have power.

PICKED AS BEST IN 1936 RACING

William Woodard's 3 year old Granville was voted the outstanding thoroughbred of 1936 in a nation-wide poll conducted by the Turf and Sport Digest. Granville was the winner of $110,295.00 as a 3 year old. He was bred at Claiborne Stud in Bourbon County by his banker owner, and is tops in the all age division. Bold Venture, sensational winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness and conqueror of Granville in both was ranked second because he was retired unsound after a short all-winning campaign of three races. Pompoon, winner of the Belmont Futurity in record time is the best 2 year old colt and H. P. Headley's Apogee is the best baby miss of two in the nation.

The Associated Press All-Kentucky football team had two Morehead Eagles and the All K. I. A. C. had just one. The second team rating means that you also ran and are just one of the boys. Western rates tops in both polls because of their excellent tie-up with daily papers and their good publicity machine on the campus. However the surprising thing to me is that Brashear led the voting in both polls. Not that the Eagle Captain does not deserve it but that he got his drawing power from publicity agents of other schools in Kentucky. You have to be mighty good to rate tops by writers in enemy camps.

The mystery about Western giving up the state K. I. A. C. basketball tournament is solved. The Hilltoppers will host the S. I. A. A. basketball meet in March and as host team will be assured of being in the big tourney. This will be the first time that the S. I. A. A. meet has been given to a Kentucky member.

It will take all the King's horses to pull Wally Simpson off the track that leads to the Crown.

Jose Capablance of Cuba is now warming up for his defense of the world's chess title.

Heggie Dent of Russell, Kentucky is Morehead's best sport writing friend on any daily paper in Kentucky. The fact is he is about the only one that gives the Eagles plenty of space.

Alford Holbrook five did not test the real strength of the Eagles last night. The Ontonians have already been defeated by average teams in Kentucky by big scores. The first game might set a scoring record for the Eagles, go lets be on hand anyway.

The basketball clinic is coming to Morehead late this year as most colleges in the state have already had Dase Keer and his worthy pupils.

The athletic Bowl will be full New Year's day, but the old Rose Bowl will have plenty of thorns by that time and an Eastern team that has the poorest record of any team that has ever played in the event. The announcement of Pittsburg as the team at last week's big game on the coast brought on a boo for ten minutes and sent the sport scribes on the coast into their biggest battle.

Lum and Abner of the 'Jotten Down Store' will really have a horse in the 1937 Kentucky Derby. Last year they tried desperately to buy one on the Derby Eve but had to be contented with First Entry in the third race that day. Their derby horse will be purchased in a few days and listeners in on their radio program will hear plenty about said horse between now and May.

The Brecks are in the 500 column in tgo games and the Vikings are cruising at 1000. Haldeman has yet to play a game.

The big game on January 1st will be in New Orleans, and the apparent snub of the two Southern teams in the Rose Bowl affair has given the Sugar Bowl much added sweetness that will take a lot of the fragrance from the Roses on the Pacific. Don Harrison is the paid agent of Pittsburg that landed the so called big game for the Panthers. It takes a good man to do that with Pitt's former Rose Bowl record a public slaughter. Washington picked the softest spot for a win at the cost of the prestige built up in past such game.

ment in the rural precincts in favor of leaving things as they were. The rural precincts stated that conditions were so much better in the county districts since the present law went into effect that they favored leaving things as they were. Ministers are said to have walked in and voted "NO", stating that they were now able to hold church in their rural communities, without being disturbed, which, they said they could not have done during prohibition days. Whatever the reason, the rural precincts with the Kenzie voted wet by big majorities.

Morehead No. 1, Haldeman and McKenzie were the only three precincts in the county that registered dry sentiments. Morehead No. 1 went dry by 69 majority as did Haldeman. McKenzie gave the dries a majority of 14 votes. Hogtown was neither wet nor dry having a tie at 60 each.

The following is the vote by precincts in the wet and dry election:

Eagles Meet Holbrook Here

First Game Of Season Expected To Drop Into Local Net Tonight

Wednesday night the Morehead Eagles tried their wings for the first time this season, meeting Holbrook College of Manchester, Ohio on the local floor. The game was in progress as we went to press. Holbrook was badly beaten by Georgetown College on Monday night of this week, so the prospects are good that the Eagles will take their measure.

Since the close of the football season the Eagles have been drilling on fundamentals and teamwork under the direction of Coaches Johnson and Miller. They have some good material left over from last year's squad and with the addition of the freshmen from last year ought to round out a fairly well balanced organization. Lawrence Carter All-K. I. A. C. forward is the only left over from the good varsity team of last year and is expected to lead the Eagles through a successful season. The Eagles will not come forth in new logs but it is very likely that they will be sporting new silks before the end of the season. The opener should attract a large crowd for Johnson has always played basketball and is expected to put a team of that type on the floor. The school band used Earl King King's fighting song for the first time during an athletic contest. The song is comparable to the famous 'On On U. O. K.'

The official ball was tossed at seven-thirty to set the Eagles flying on 1936-37 basketball season.

The Morehead State Teachers College Concert Band

The first annual Eastern Kentucky Student Band Clinic was held at the Morehead State Teachers' College Saturday, December 5. The clinic, sponsored by the school's department of music, under the direction of Lewis H. Horton, head of the department and M. E. George, band director, is the first of its kind ever to be held in this section.

The purpose of the clinic is to guide and encourage musical activities in surrounding localities. The Morehead music, being the center of musical interest in Eastern Kentucky, is assuming the leadership in this cause. The members of the music department have been instrumental in organizing secondary school music groups, and now Morehead wishes to stimulate, foster, and aid the new organizations as much as possible.

In accordance with this, a full day was planned for the visiting bands. Members met in the assembly in the morning of the day to receive special announcements as to the procedure.

After this, several instructors of the music staff gave lectures and demonstrations on their respective instruments to all students interested in them.

Participants in this year's Paul Young trombone, Joseph Marshall, cornet; Thomas Paul, clarinet; Creed Grumbles, French horn and alto; Thomas Kaffer, baritone; and Ralph Schwartz, percussion.

Sectional rehearsal for the massed band concert was held, and following was the final rehearsal in the main auditorium under M. E. George.

After a luncheon in the college cafeteria where the members of the various bands were introduced to each other, a picture of the loving group was a short concert group will be made. Following and a concert by the M. S. T. C. Band. Immediately following this the massed band played under the direction of the visiting includes: Virginia Harpham, concertmaster; William Toran, J. M. Mannish, Alton Payne, Virginia Caswell, violins; Christine Thaw, viola; Evelyn Harpham, Miss Amy Irene Moore, Marion Louise Oppenheimer, cello; Leo Oppenheimer, string bass; Thomas Paul, Marvin E. George, clarinet; Kathleen Shinkle, oboe; Creed Grumbles, horn; Joe Marshall, Thomas Keifer, cornet Paul Young, trombone; and Ralph Schwartz, percussion.

M. E. GEORGE

Forest Ranger To Speak Here Tuesday

H. N. Wheeler, who will speak on the subject of Forest Protection at the Rowan County Courthouse, on December 15 at 7:30 P. M., is a Forester of long experience according to Forest Supervisor R. F. Hemingway at whose invitation he is visiting Morehead. Mr. Wheeler entered the U. S. Forest service in 1905 as Ranger in the Gunnison National Forest in Colorado, was promoted to Supervisor at Fort Collins and was for fifteen years in charge of various National Forests in Colorado and California. He was then called to wider fields, first in the Denver District office, and later to conduct campaigns for Forest Conservation on a nationwide scale.

Before entering the Forestry profession, Mr. Wheeler, who carries a M. A. degree from the University of Colorado, was engaged nine years. In his talk next Tuesday, Mr. Wheeler will tell the story of recent progress in forestry and give a detailed appraisal of the handicaps, such as human carelessness and unconcerned, under which State and Federal Forestry Departments are laboring. The talk will be illustrated by colored slides.

to effect on January 1, said Robert M. Watt, president of the company. Every community served by the Kentucky Power and Light Company in the affected area has been estimated that the total saving to all communities affected will amount to $375,000. Morehead consumers will save.

The reductions will be embodied in uniform rate structures using a simplified block-rate plan, with all communities grouped, on the basis of population, into four classification.

All domestic rates are of the 7c per kw-hr type with varying quantities of kilowatt-hours in the minimum charge for the different classes. Included also are "full residential service" rates of 2 cents per kw-hr for electric range use and 1 cent per kw-hr for "off-peak" water heater service in connection with range operation.

"We will continue to cooperate with the Public Service Commission, as we believe this orderly program will, in the affected area, our customers the best and cheapest electric service possible.

"Frankly, however, the success of the rate-reduction program depends on a constantly increasing amount of electric service business. The price reductions should greatly enlarge the demand for service. Then, as the volume of our service grows, further reductions in rates can be expected," Mr. Watt declared.

Banquet

By that time the ice was broken, the food had arrived and the banqueters settled down to a banquet table that for one did not run short, even though some enjoyed seconds and several third helpings. The dinner was thoroughly enjoyed and a good 90 minutes was occupied in guaranteeing that the guests and their hosts did not depart with an empty feeling.

The after-dinner program was short and spicy, with very few speeches and those of only a few minutes duration. Another unique feature of the business men's banquet was the fact that none of the honor guests were called upon to pay for their dinner by talking.

The final and climaxing feature of the after-dinner session was a twenty minute monologue by Rev. E. H. Kazer, who proved himself to be a royal entertainer and who provoked whirlwinds of laughter during the entire time.

The business men have received numerous compliments on the success of their first annual banquet and have promised to make the affair an annual event.

The dinner was served by the women of the Christian Church who are being deluged with congratulations on the success of their work.

Patterns of Wolfpen

By Harlan Hatcher
Copyright by the Shobe-Merrill Co.
WNC Service

He had had enough experience in the changing world to foresee that the loveliness of Wolfpen could not survive the wave of development which would one day sweep over it. He was sorry.

He stood by the kitchen window, smelling the scent of poplars and pine trees on the light breeze from the hollow. Cynthia found him there for a minute alone. The note books and the deeds were tied in a bundle on the table by the compass, ready for the journey. In the corner were the pins, the chain and the staff.

"I guess it's all finished. He smiled.

"I hate to see you go, she said."

"I'm sorry I can't make the job last any longer. It just seemed to go down."

"July seemed a long way off in April," Cynthia said.

"And September seems a long way off from July."

It will be different tomorrow, when you are gone, she said.

"It's been a good place to be in, and it will be a good place to come back to," he said. "But I suppose you'll soon be busy over at the Institution."

"I reckon so, will you have any more to do here at our place?"

"It doesn't look like it now."

"Then you won't be coming back?"

"I'll be coming back," answered. "It may be September and it may be spring and it may not be so sure. But I'll be coming back."

The spirit of the place changed abruptly after Reuben went away. Jesse and Abrah went deep in the maple woods and the ill-tended crops hid themselves in the Wolfpen. Cynthia found the way very long and the work like a stone when it was done for Shellenberger and Mullens.

Those two seem to fill up the whole valley and take possession of the place now that Reuben is gone. And when I try to remember what he said before he went it seems like we didn't say anything at all, but it didn't appear that way then. It may not be so sure, but I'll be coming back. I'll be so glad when September comes, only if it weren't for mother. She does a little tired and perked like Reuben said. Six weeks yet. It is a right long time."

Shellenberger filled up the valley with his presence and his lumbering operations. The old grist-mill was converted into a sawmill. One chance in a generation will well established by precedent, but two, and not only in a generation but in a single year, threatened the stability of a man's customs. Spar-rel was too engrossed in the mechanical details of rigging up the saw, ripping out boards for the camp to be sensitive to it. But to Cynthia it was all new and disturbing.

Some times she watched the smoke curl up through the laurel bushes on the Pinnacle and the bright whirling saw bite into the body of a yellow log which had lived in these hills longer than all her people. She would listen tensely to the saw making its first noisy attack and then settling into steady, ravenous scream as it sliced off a piece from its side. A shiver would pass through her spine. The tree-trunk became a living thing suffering mutilation, and she wondered whether the screaming came from the evulsion of the curious saw teeth, or from the hurt tree in its cry of pain.

At the beginning of this year she would have spoken her thoughts to Sparrel. Now she was silent about them while the operations went on at the mill and in Dry Creek. She followed the progress of the work by gazing in her imagination through fragments of talk let fall by the menfolk at the table on the porch, and by the glimpses she had of it as she went about the place.

The mountain men were coming to Wolfpen and Dry Creek with their tools and their dogs, and the cabin in the squeeze and hollow where farming was already growing precarious, hearing the rumor that there was cash to be had for chopping timber on Sparrel Tatten's place. They came away the flat at the mouth of Dry Creek and erected sheds for the men and sheds for the mules and a black smith shop. Their axes and axes clanged at the blows of the trees through the hollow and up the hillsides, spreading relentlessly like a grim disease. A few sharp slashes of an axe, the thin swish-swash of a saw, then a shout from the men, a slow stream of water, and the lion in the foresting to an explosion away to a whisper in the limbs waving through the air to the ground. Over and over through the weeks, the attack, the cry of surrender, the crash and sigh of the fall, spreading up the hollow.

The heavy timbered spot called Barton had caught possums, which always lay so silent and black in the mornings under the Pinnacle, became a thick group of men in a settlement to themselves. And yet not to themselves, for they seemed to press in upon Wolfpen itself to swarm in a multitude beyond their appointed place even through they kept to their hollow and the crowd of their axes could not be heard over the hubbub of the leaves in the trees by the house became a cry of panic spreading through all the timber.

Then there was always Shellenberger bringing back the disturbance from Dry Creek, for he still has a voice and made no mention of the money for his keep which Cynthia carefully received on a piece of paper. There was Sparrel losing imperceptibly his first pleasure in the steam mill, the saw, his lands and the new blacksmith shop, fashioning shoes for the mules and half shoes for the oxen, sharpening tools and mending chains, neglecting his medicines and his books. Cynthia missed his tall figure from the hollows speaking in low tones to his mule and resting her when she came to the field with cold water from his filtered water.

Abrah was now working for Shellenberger. Jasper was silent. Jesse was more than ever absorbed in his own plans. Julia was at Reuben's farm far off down the river. Another world it was no use making believe that the corn and sweet potatoes were the same as in other years, or that Julia's hullo-buck-deer, or that the proud Tatten deer, or that the lumbering was related over the ridge. Dry Creek pressed ruble-ly in.

KENTUCKY GARDEN

The College of Agriculture at Lexington estimates Kentucky's soybean crop at approximately 35,000 acres. Nearly 5,000 acres were grown in the United States.

Soybeans have many things to commend them. An annual legume they fit well with crop rotation, raise excellent hay, furnish good silage, have few diseases and pests, are resistant to the ginch bug, are heavy producers of seed and of value for meal and oil. Of all known vegetable soybeans rank among the flat in protein content.

Not the part of the soybean which is contained with the oil, but the part of the soybean which is the seed, is the part which is the most valuable. It is the seed which is the most valuable, and it is the seed which is the most valuable. It is the seed which is the most valuable, and it is the seed which is the most valuable.

Soybeans have the "ground" in such excellent condition for growing that serious losses from that source are almost sure to occur unless following harvesting of the beans. It is largely because of the danger of soil erosion following soybeans that the crop should be considered primarily an emergency crop in Kentucky.

THE FARM AND HOME

Hollandaise Sauce: Put two egg yolks and a tablespoon of lemon juice into a pan over hot water. Have ready half a cup of butter and mix it slowly a little at a time into the egg and lemon mixture. Stir constantly until the mixture thickens.

Percentages of dressed meat in hogs: 100 to 150-pound hog, 72 to 78 percent; 150 to 200-pound hog, 75 to 77 percent; 200 to 250-pound hog, 77 to 80 percent; 250 to 300-pound hog, 80 to 82 percent; 300 to 400-pound hog, 82 to 85 percent.

Hogs usually bring the best price among the Burley tobacco grades. However, in recent years there has been little difference in prices of trash, lugs and bright leaf. Flying leaf has the best grades, and red leaf 60 to 70 percent.

Salt alone may be used for tooth powder. Salt makes the gums firm. Soda alone may be used. Soda cleans the teeth and sweetens the mouth by neutralizing acids. Equal parts of salt and soda may be used. A cow in milk requires at least 12 gallons of water daily. It should be fresh, clean water, and if the will appreciate it by drinking more and giving more milk. Water is very important in the care of all livestock.

Pickled pigs' feet: Remove the feet from well-scraped feet, soak in cold water overnight, and then cook in enough water to cover until soft, which will be about

THE BRUSHY SCHOOL DOING BIG THINGS

The Big Brushy school has the smallest children to have the biggest way of doing things of any school I have ever seen. The enrollment is not so large, but there is nothing the teacher and children are afraid of trying. Just now they are working on Christmas toys. The children are making their own gifts for the school during the free period. They are also decorating their room with decorations which they have made. There are many work books, sets of them to use following up the class work. On November 18, my visit here was a very pleasant visit. It was near noon and the smaller children were sent out in the sunshine, while the language class was in progress. I have one of the best lessons I have ever seen taught. The adjective and other parts of speech were taken up by one and explained and used in sentences until no child would forget that part of the work. There was a large sand table made up by the children, which was an Indian project, in which out. Tables and chairs had been supplied for the younger children. ## THANKS WOMEN'S CLUB FOR GOOD WORK DONE

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Rowan County Women's Club for the good work they have done for the children who need help. It is a sad thing to school, but can't be helped. I don't have the winter clothes which he must have to travel the long distance from his home to school. They think are absolutely in need. Mrs. Ethel Ellington, president of the Club was very kind to send our letter to the club. I know that this Club helped the children winter, hot soup was served to the children who were in need of nourishing food and milk was also furnished at the same time. It seems a pleasure for them to do this. I am sure that the parents of the children will always remember the women of this club who were so faithful to the children of our school that year. This year when we were called upon for help in order to keep some of these youngsters in school, I knew they would hours. Add salt, water during cooking. When soft, remove from kettle and split. Put in washpan and cover with hot cleaner. Spices may be added, if desired.

CARE REQUIRED IN WASHING WOOLENS

To care properly for winter clothing requires frequent brushing and cleaning. As wool and silk garments can be washed, the home economist of the Department of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture makes the following suggestions:

Both washing and rinsing should be done in lukewarm water, as hot water injures the fibers. A made into suds before any garments are added to the water. Squeeze and wring the garment in the suds, without rubbing, or keep it in action and two or three rinsing, using all of the water of the same temperature. The garment should not be twisted or allowed to soak in the water. Squeeze it out lightly by hand or put it through a wringer.

Drying best done at room temperature on a coat hanger, or is a printed material, a third towel may be placed inside the garment in case the colors should run. Pressing should be done before the garment is thoroughly dry, using cheese cloth over silk, woollen and a thin mull over woollen.

If the garment is of knitted material, it is well to take length and width measurements before wetting and spreading it on a surface, towels, to spread on a flat surface and stretch to measure them. It is then possible to smooth with the hands until the original shape is obtained, and the garment may be left to dry without pressing.

ROSEDALE SCHOOL HAS VERY FEW STUDENTS

The pupils of the Rosedale school are few, since only about eight farm houses are represented. The school Mr. Proctor has ordered posters and pictures from the list of free details given out by the Superintendent and is making good use of them as well as making the house hot soup served to his children instead of the usual cold lunch. November 20, the children decided they would rather have a molasses candy making and so they went to work and made the candy. This helped break the routine and made enjoyment for the children even though it wasn't quite so nourishing for the children. The health work for the children has been finished, and other units have been in progress. One of the pupils, Frances Caudill, has a radio in school all the interesting news she hears over the radio. This takes place during the morning exercises and is proving very helpful. The children who have a perfect attendance record for the fifth month are June Caudill, Wayne Caudill, Cleo Templeman, Francis Caudill, Ava Templeman, Ruby Templeman.

OUR GRATITUDE IS DUE JUDGE JENNINGS

It seems that the school children have a great many people to thank this year. I am sure that there is not a needy child in the county who has not received help from the WPA through Judge Jennings. Hundreds of children in the county would have been out of school had it not been for the help received from his office. There are so many children in the county who need help that only a certain number of any article could be had. The clothing had to be limited. Only those children were furnished clothing who were absolutely in need. The sewing centers made the clothing ready to wear. This has been a great help to the mother who otherwise would have had to do her household duties to make the clothes. Thousands of garments have been made and given out and the attendance has been fine in most places this year, due to this help. There are a few items of winter clothing that cannot be furnished from his office, but Judge Jennings says that he is able to furnish the parents should be able to furnish the other half. I don't think there is a father or mother in the county who would ask for help if it was not needed. The parents should now respond by sending the children every day to school the rest of the school year. This will show that help is appreciated. My attitude work has been made possible because of his help, the teacher's work has been made possible and children's hearts have been made happier from the help given from his office. We thank you Judge Jennings, for your assistance in promoting the education of children in this county and also the work of the WPA and N.Y.A. sewing centers who have been so faithfully worked for us.

The 1937 program probably would be similar to the present one. It now seems likely, he said, that there will be somewhat less emphasis placed on the diversion of food and feed crops and somewhat more stress put on soil building and soil conservation practices. It is probable that the 1937 program will specifically provide for payments for tobacco diversion as in 1936.

According to records at Washington, farmers of Kentucky participated in this year's program to a larger percentage than did farmers in most of the other states in the east-central region. A total of about 125,000 Kentucky farms came under the provisions of the Agricultural Conservation program, with nearly 240,000 acres benefiting. These farms represent about an 85 percent of the productive capacity of the crop land in the state.

In the case of burley tobacco, considerably more than 90 percent of the tobacco farmers will receive acreage to soil conserving crops. In the case of burley tobacco, considerably more than 90 percent of the tobacco farmers will receive acreage to soil conserving crops. In the case of burley tobacco, considerably more than 90 percent of the tobacco farmers will receive approximately $10,000,000 in benefit payments in this year's program.

Time Out For A "Pick-Me-Up"

By Mabel Love

FRUIT juices are important to the doctors and dietitians, and Betty Furness, charming M-G-M star featured in life screen success "The All-American Champ," thoroughly enjoys wild them.

When feeling fagged after long hours before the camera, Miss Furness has found that a glass of pineapple juice provides a remarkably quick-acting energy restorer. The vitamin content of the juice is a big help in keeping her fit, too, she says.

As a "pick-me-up" or an appetizer she likes the chilled juice, but she also suggests the following recipe for a delicious beverage for chilly evenings:

Muddled Pineapple Juice
1 inch of stem cinnamon whole cloves
1 teaspoon ground allspice
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 quart named Hawaiian pineapple juice pinch of salt

The spices in a small piece of cheesecloth, add them to the pineapple juice and bring to the boiling point. Add salt. Serve hot with cracked ice and cheese. 4 to 6 servings.

Know Your Language

By C. L. Bushnell
School of English International Correspondence School

"FATHER" and "father" are often used indiscriminately, even by writers of recognized standing. There is, however, a distinction. "father" denotes a greater distance between two points, as "Syracuse is farther from New York than Philadelphia is." "Father" is properly used in the sense of "more in advance" or "additional," as "A further difficulty is certain to be encountered."

In verbs with the prefix "re," the prefix itself signifies "again," "back," "anew." To say, therefore, "He returned back to his original starting place" is what grammarians call a pleonasm—the use of more than the necessary number of words. The sentence should read simply, "He returned to his original starting place."

Melodrama At College

For Friday, Dec. 13th the College brings to the screen a gripping comedy melodrama entitled "Wanted: Jane Turner." Clara Stuart and Lee Tracy play the parts of postal inspectors who are trying to trap the gangsters who are responsible for a murder in connection with a mail truck hold-up. A letter containing $10,000 is sent to Guyloffe, the gangster leader by his henchmen. This letter is to be received by a woman named Jane Turner and another woman by the same name receives it and gets involved in the crime. She had written to an old friend for a loan and

Pepper Is Cozy Comedy Feature

"If Jane Withers is a sample of what a movie career does for children, a law should be passed forcing all youngsters to have theatrical experience as part of their regular schooling."

Thus spoke Irvin S. Cobb, the noted author, humorist and actor, between scenes during production of "Pepper," new Twentieth Century Fox coming to the Cozy Friday and Saturday in which Cobb and Slim Summerville head the cast supporting Jane.

"I have yet to know a sweeter, more well-bred, gentle, considerate and wholly natural little girl," said Cobb. "I first met her while I was visiting in Hollywood, and my granddaughter, Elizabeth insisted on dragging me to the stage where she heard Jane was working. At that time, I realized what an amazingly fine actress the child was, but seeing her all day nearly every day during the filming of "Pepper" have realized how far more important things about her."

"In the first place, the minute she steps out of camera range, she quits acting. Of course she's as full of harmless mischief as any kid, but she's the most thoughtful, courteous little creature you can conceive of. And I don't mean just about obeying her mother, or seeing that I get a cool drink of water between scenes, but about running errands for her waitress, or serving my chauffeur, or sharing her own with the extra children on the set. There's not a trace of anything small in her makeup. She's completely unaffected, healthy, child, and at the same time a small little trouser who knows everybody's dialogue better than they do, and is quick in prompting those who aren't blessed with perfect memories. And she will always be a top-notch actress. She's a great little comedienne, and if she doesn't like playing ingenues when she grows up, she can always be another Patsy Kelly."

asked him to address the letter "General Delivery." Lee Tracy, knowing that the gangster needs the money hires him to Miss Blake's apartment to trap him. When he arrives he climbs in the window instead of coming through the door and he catches Miss Blake off her guard. He attempts to kill her but is stopped by Tracy who arrives. In the end Miss Blake and Tracy are married.

"Winter" came to the College Sunday Dec. 15th. Winter set is a masterfully conceived and powerful human drama which tells its story in forceful, direct style. The story centers around the life
