One Man Killed Another Hurt Over Week End

Both Fought By Roadside With Broken Necks: Two Arrests Made

A coroner's inquest and a court of inquiry was held jointly on Monday afternoon by Coroner James Brown and county Judge Chas. E. Jennings, into the apparently violent death of Bernard Whitt, who was found beside the Midland Trail near the Dixie Cottages last Saturday night, and the injury and reported robbery of Fred Archer near Farmers Monday morning.

The court deferred action of the case of Fred Archer, pending report from the veterans hospital in Lexington as to his recovery. In case of his death murder charges would be preferred against the two men being held at present on a charge of robbery and the case held over to the Grand Jury.

The inquiry into the death of Bernard Whitt ran into a blind alley, and officials confess that they are unable to find anything that might be used to build a case. They stated they had no suspicion, but that the circumstances surrounding the boy's death were so peculiar that they intended to investigate fully.

Whitt's body was found Sunday night by a party in a car, driving toward Morehead. Examination showed that the boy's neck was broken. It was found that he had a bruised place on his chin, which looked as if he had been struck. The fingers of the right hand were also bruised and skinned and he had a bruised spot on the front side of his hip.

It developed in the investigation that the boy had been drinking, and was seen about a half hour before he was found, by a number of witnesses. A half hour between the finding of his body and the time he was last seen has not been accounted for and the examining officers have been unable to find anyone who might throw light on the subject.

There is considerable similarity between the cases of Archer and Whitt, except that the case of Archer has developed into an alleged holdup, and if he dies, broken necks and both were found lying beside the highway, but in different ends of the county. In the case of Archer, however, two men have been accused and are now in jail here, while in the case of Whitt, there is nothing to indicate violence other than the two bruises about his head and body.

The investigation in the Whitt case will be continued by the officers, in the hope of at least accounting for the half hour preceding the death of the boy.

Board of Education

The Rowan County Board of Education met at the office of the County Superintendent on Monday of this week in the first regular meeting of the year. Only routine business was transacted, according to the County Superintendent Roy E. Cornette. All members of the board were present at the meeting.

WAL CHRISTIAN DIES AT HIS HOME IN FARMERS

Wal Christian of Farmers died at his home there on December 29, following a week's illness. Mr. Christian contracted pneumonia a week before his death. Funeral services were held on Thursday of last week at the Slaty Point Church with Rev. Moore of the Church of God conducting the services. Burial was made in the Slaty Point cemetery.

Mr. Christian was at the time of his death aged 34 years. He was the nephew of J. C. Christian of this city. He was born and raised in Rowan county. He is survived by his wife and four children. They are Alfred, Barbara Jean, Peggy Lou and Rita.

Social Security Requires Action

Employers Of County Must File Blanks For Employees Under Law

Rowan county is going for the Social Security program in a big way, according to Mrs. Matty Burns, local postmaster. About seventy five employers in Rowan county have filled out the required blanks and no say Mr. Burns, and most of them have received the account numbers for their employees.

There is some discussion as to whether the smaller employers those who employ less than the number set forth in the law will send them to the postmaster, in the mail addressed to local postmaster, without mailing charge. They may fill them out and turn them over to their employer who will send them to the postmaster. But regardless of the method used they must fill out the blanks.

Local employers have cooperated in excellent fashion with the local survey and in turning in the blanks. (Continued On Page Eight)

SEWING PROJECT TO EXHIBIT THEIR WORK

Announcement is being made of an exhibit of the work being done by the Womens Department of the WPA project of the county, to be held in the sewing room at the court house in Morehead on January 13, from 7 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. The exhibit is being held under the supervision of Mrs. Ethel Kesler and will consist of men's and boys, women's and children's clothing that has been made by the various county units of the sewing projects. The clothing made will be distributed to the needy through out the county following a series of exhibits.

Radio Romance Ends In Morehead Marriage

Radio romance descended on Morehead on Sunday, December 27 when two radio stars, who broadcast over WLW were united in marriage here on that date, in the church parlor of the Baptist church with Rev. B. H. Kazee performing the ceremony. The marriage ceremony was the culmination of the romance between "Mollie of the Movies," Miss Gene Byron and Raymond Jones, known to his radio fans as Red Barker. Local people have taken a great interest in the "Mollie of the Movies" programs which come over WLW each week day at 12:45 p. m., as many of them have known that Mr. Jones, who is Red Barker in the program, is a brother-in-law of Rev. B. H. Kazee, local Baptist minister.

Have 20th Birthday

Once more the Rowan County News has passed a milestone, this time the twentieth mile stone of its life. Under the name of The Rowan County News. The present ownership enters upon its twentieth year. In the old series, when the paper was known by other names, it is entering its Forty-Second year. The News has seen many changes in Morehead and Rowan County and has had to part in many instances on an important one, bringing a bout each of these changes. It will see many such changes. It is our earnest hope, will have its part in bringing about the improvements that are bound to come.

Many of these important events have taken place in the past year. It has been our custom in the past to publish a reminder of those more recent events in a Chronological review of the past year. On another page in this issue of the News you will find the more important events of 1936.

APPLICATIONS FOR CCC CAMPS TO BE RECEIVED

David Nickell, commodities clerk of the WPA announced this week that applications for enrollment in the CCC camps will be received during the next few weeks, or until January 20. Applicants must be from needy families on the WPA rolls. Those who are interested should see the commodities clerk at his office in the county garage on the Midland Trail just east of Morehead.

Verna Scaggs Injured In Wreck Saturday

Hit-Run Truck Throws Car In Ditch, Cut Face And Chest

Miss Verna Scaggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Scaggs was seriously, but not dangerously injured about the head and face last Saturday night, when a "hit-and-run" truck collided with her car, turning her into the ditch and over the head and face, and was considerably bruised and shaken. The accident occurred on the Midland Trail east of Morehead, near Hayes Crossing.

According to Miss Scaggs, she was driving alone on her own side of the road, when the truck approached from toward Morehead. Apparently the driver pulled over to her side of the highway smashing into the side of her car and throwing her into the ditch. Her car was overturned, and by the time she was able to extricate herself from the wreck the truck had disappeared in the gathering dusk. The car was considerably damaged, but will be repaired. Miss Scaggs had several stitches taken in a wound behind her ear.

EAGLES TO MEET U. OF MEXICO

Heavy Schedule Of Conference Games Faces Eagles In New Year

The revised basketball schedule of the Morehead State Teachers College appears below. Outstanding in the series, outside of the conference is the game scheduled against the team from the University of Mexico, who will be on tour during the month of February.

The University of Mexico is rated high among the basketball teams of this entire country and Morehead will be fortunate to be able to see them in action against the local college team on February 9. Paste that date in your hat and let nothing keep you away.

DR. G. C. NICKELL HAS X-RAY MACHINE

Dr. G. C. Nickell has recently installed one of the most modern and complete X-Ray machines in the state and Morehead is now equipped to take care of work of that sort as it has never been in the past.

The new X-Ray is installed in the Nickell clinic building on Main Street, and Dr. Nickell is extremely proud of it. Some of the pictures taken with the new machine are excellent proof of its capabilities. In addition to being able to take the usual pictures of bone fractures and dislocations, Dr. Nickell's new X-Ray is equipped with a complete fluoroscopic, with which the physicians of the city will be able to give diagnostic examinations.

ARCHER ATTACKED ROBBED MONDAY

Return Of Watch, Flashlight Leads To Apprehension Of Two

Fred Archer lying in the veterans hospital in Lexington with a broken neck, and with small chance of recovery, according to reports, while Dave Swimm of Farmers and Lawrence Bushaw, of Middletown, who are being held in the county jail here on a charge of assault and robbery, as the result of an investigation growing out of the finding of Archer near the Farmers bridge Monday morning. Archer's watch was found lying on the roadside near the Farmers bridge by Dick Maze. He was taken to Lexington to the veterans hospital following a medical examination which disclosed that his neck was broken. He is at present in a serious condition and reports say that he has small chance of recovery.

Citizens of Farmers say that Swimm and Bushaw were seen with Archer in a car, headed toward Salt Lick just shortly before the body was found. Relatives of the injured man said that his watch and flash light had been stolen. Later it is reported Swimm returned to the scene and picked up in Mr. Sterling where he was about to board a bus, presumably to his home in Ohio. Both men are being held pending the outcome of the injuries to Mr. Archer.

JOHN ADAMS REPORTED OUT OF DANGER

Chief of Police John Adams, who was taken to the Kings Daughters hospital in Ashland—on December 17, is reported as making an excellent recovery with which he was suffering. On Saturday of last week he left recovery from the attack of typhoid fever to the veterans hospital at Huntington, W. Va. where he will remain until the disease is permanently cured.

Mr. Adams, contracted the disease commonly known as rabbit fever, while cleaning rabbits. For several weeks he remained at his home here, until the disease reached a stage that it was deemed advisable to remove him to the hospital.

County Judge Appoints Board Of Supervisors

At the regular session of the Rowan County Court on Monday of this week, County Judge Chas. E. Jennings appointed as member of the Board of Supervisors for the coming year the following members:

- Magisterial District No. 1: Rev. T. P. Lyons.
- Magisterial District No. 2: Virgil Carver, Osgewell.
- Magisterial District No. 3: Russell Jones, Elliottville.
- Magisterial District No. 4: Lep Hinton.

Mrs. Bradley Dies On Dec. 22

First Old Age Assistance Check Arrived On December 24

Mrs. John H. Bradley died at her home near Clearfield on December 22. Mrs. Bradley had been ill for many years, but being a chronic invalid her death came unexpected, following an attack of influenza. Mrs. Bradley was at the time of her death aged 80 years.

Funeral services were conducted by ministers of the Primitive Baptist Church of which she was a member for over 50 years, on Thursday, December 24. Burial was made in the Christian Cemetery near Vale, Ky.

Mrs. Bradley was born in N. C. on October 20, 1856. She came to Kentucky while still a small child and later married John Bradley who survives her. She is also survived by one daughter, Mrs. Rosa Lambert of Christy, Ky., and by three sons, R. G. Bradley, White, Ky., Luke Bradley, Newtonville, Ohio and Alfrey Bradley, Clearfield, Ky.

Mrs. Bradley was an applicant for Old Age Assistance and the Field Workers who had charge of her case tried desperately to get her case tried separately to get approved in time to give her a little enjoyment in life. One of the small tragedies was that her Old Age Assistance check came to her on December 24, the day she was laid to rest.

1937 LICENSE PLATES ARE NOW ON SALE

The sale of license tags for automobiles, has been rather slow, up to the present, according to county clerk Vernon Alfrey. The tags arrived last week and were put on sale on December 29. Up to the present 35 tags have been sold. The old tags on old cars are good until March 1, according to the law passed at the regular session of the legislature last spring, which at the same time reduced the cost of the tags to a flat rate of $5.00. On new cars—the tags are requested to be purchased at once.

Citizens Bank Shows Christmas Club Growth

Many New Subscribers Open Accounts For Ensuring Year

One of the most popular movements of the New Year, is the Christmas Club announced at the Citizens Bank. These folks, and they are just folks around there, tell us that the 1937 Club is starting off with a bang. These Christmas Clubs have shown a steady increase from year to year, proving that it is not only a good system, but one that works.

While next Christmas seems quite a ways off, last Christmas is quite recent and most of us remember how well we could have used some extra money. Start saving now and instead of wishing you could do so and so next December, go ahead and do it with the means provided by this easy systematic savings plan. Not only for Christmas spending, but for many other purposes, this is an ideal way to accumulate funds. Try it.

One Hundred Are Receiving Age Assistance

Rowan County Is Well Up In List Of Counties Getting Help

Rowan county Oldsters have been enjoying for the few months all the advantages of the old people in other counties of the state, according to records from the Division of Old Age Assistance at Frankfort which is under the direction of a Rowan county man, Dr. A. V. Lloyd. Dr. Lloyd stated that in the state there were over 11000 grants approved up to December 15, while in Rowan county approximately 100 grants had been approved.

Contrary to popular opinion the grants have averaged approximately $100 each, which means that each month there is a sum of almost $1,000 coming into Rowan county, who have formerly had to depend on others for their livelihood.

In all there were approximately 500 applications made for Old Age Assistance, which must not be confused with the Old Age Pension, under the recent Social Security Act, which applies only to those who are at present employed.

With this number it may be understood why your papers have not been worked out up to the present. An attempt has been made by all Field Workers to carry out the instructions of the Frankfort office to work on the most needy cases first. Consequently, some of those who were sent in their application first have not had their cases taken up as yet.

With over five hundred cases to be worked, it would be impossible to finish them all at once. Some have been worked out to the earliest possible moment, as they really are, and the attempt has been made to work out those who need assistance worst, first.

Field Workers are anxious to get the cases worked out at the earliest possible moment, as they really are, and as well as those who have applied. However, if the applicants would realize it, they only delay in their case by trying the Field Workers with inquiries about when they will get to work on their part.

Young Depp's Invited To Frankfort Dinner

Asked To Attend Dinner And Dance Honoring Jackson, Chandler

The Young Democratic Clubs of Kentucky are holding their annual Jackson Day Dinner and dance at the New Capital Hotel in Frankfort on Friday night of this week, according to announcements from that city. All members of the local clubs are invited to attend. The dinner and dance will serve a twofold purpose, first of honoring one of the founders of Democracy, Andrew Jackson, and second of honoring Governor A. B. Chandler.

Those who wish to attend are requested to phone or write for reservations to the dinner, as the rooming will accommodate but 200 guests. Those who wish to attend the dance need not make reservations. Tickets to the banquet and dance are $2.00, while tickets to the dance alone are $1.00.

You are requested to pass this invitation along to your Democratic friends.

Eli Tyree Dies Here

Eli Tyree, aged 81 years, one of Morehead's most loved and respected citizens died at his home here Tuesday, following an illness of several months duration. As we go to press we have been unable to obtain details of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Tyree has been a long time citizen of Morehead, and was a familiar figure on the streets of the city. Those who wish to attend the funeral and see his upright character and his honest dealings.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY IS OFFERED

A few years ago Robert Ingalls offered to the world a beautiful poem, crowned with fallacies, expressed in sonorous terms, entitled "Opportunity" and ending with these words:

"Condemned to failure, penury and woe.
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore.
I answer not, and I return no more."

Beautiful, poetic words. Mr. Ingalls was referred to "Opportunity" which he claimed knocked but once on each man's door, and if unheeded returned no more to that particular individual.

Nowadays, we know better. Opportunity is ever knocking, never ceases to knock. In Morehead right now it is knocking. Community opportunity returns yearly, and with each new year, comes new and additional opportunities.

It is well to pause at least yearly and take stock of what we have obtained during the past year. True, we have not gathered unto ourselves all the blessings and advantages that we had hoped for at the beginning of the previous year. True in many, in the majority of instances we have failed, and looking back we may be more or less disappointed that our efforts have not been more successful.

It is still true however that we profit by our failures, and the failures of last year may be the stepping stones of the coming year.

The world is greeting a new year, that The Rowan County News hopes will be a year of real opportunity to Morehead, rather than a year of disappointments. There is no question but that the opportunity is here, in this community, if we are ready to grasp them.

Morehead during the coming year should cultivate a greater and clearer community spirit. Community interests are paramount if this city would go beyond the stage of suaddling clothes. The News would like to see, during the coming year, the organization of a Commercial Club or Chamber of Commerce. True, we have expressed this wish before, and we still do not have such an organization. But in our opinion such a group is the most important step in the direction of grasping opportunities that present themselves.

During the past year on two occasions, Morehead has shown that they can unite on matters of moment. At the time of the inauguration of President Harvey A. Babb, as president of the Morehead State Teachers College, the entire community united in a plan to decorate the city and cooperated in publishing a Special Inaugural Edition of the Rowan County News. Late last fall, the entire community again united and honored the football squad of the Morehead State Teachers College.

These two events are straws which show which way the wind blows. Petty jealousies and bickerings can be laid aside in the interest of the community. During the coming year, Morehead will have an opportunity to do this more consistently and continuously, and as a community should unquestionably do so. A united front will accomplish much for Morehead.

Business opportunities go begging here. Business places that wish to locate in this city are unable to find locations. There are in Morehead no vacant business blocks, a fact that citizens may point to with pride. But there is an opportunity for wide awake property owners on business streets to build business blocks, modern structures. There will be no lack of opportunity to rent them. The News knows of at least four modern well financed companies that are anxious to locate businesses in Morehead, but are unable to find suitable locations for their businesses. Here lies a real opportunity for those who have the taste and the finances to build.

Morehead is ideally located for a number of business enterprises with a territory from which to draw that is unequalled in Kentucky. Business men have an opportunity to reach out with their trade territory to these surrounding counties, an opportunity that has been sadly neglected in the past.

Opportunity knocks but once. Nothing was ever farther from the truth. Morehead's opportunity knocks daily and yearly. It is up to Morehead's business men to grasp the thousands of opportunities that present themselves during the year.

ONE IMPORTANT RESOLUTION

Most New Year's resolutions don't survive the second January. But there are a few resolutions that all of us should make and keep. One of them could well be "I'll do my part to protect my property and the lives of my loved ones from fire."

During the past year, the fire loss has tended to rise. Part of the increase is doubtless due to increases in property values. But the principal factor is human indifference, human carelessness and human ignorance.

The refusal of millions of citizens to do anything to prevent fire might be understood if the job required a lot of money. But it doesn't it is expensive, of course, to rebuild a deficient home in accordance with the best fire-resistant standards. But a large proportion of the most potent and ordinary hazards can be completely eliminated without spending a cent.

For example, there is an excellent chance that your attic and basement are jammed with old magazines and newspapers, discarded clothes and broken down furniture. Thousands of fires have started in such trash—every one of those fires could have been prevented had property owners simply avoided such worthless accumulations.

It is also probable that somewhere about your home you have stored kerosene, gasoline or other inflammables in improper containers, or near heating equipment. Here is another major cause of fire that can be eliminated in five minutes.

Patterns of Wolfpen

"Mother, do you think I should marry Reuben?"

Well, Cynthia, you're going to school next week.

Yes, and I wouldn't miss that for anything hard. But there is next year.

And Julia continued, he hasn't so much as asked you.

He said he would come back, and Mother, it just screamed out that very first day. That's him.

Yes, but he may have interested down the river where he lives and you musn't unless he has told you?

Can't you tell a body things in any way but words, Mother?

"Why, yes, I reckon so, Cynthia only a body could be mistaken, you know. Plenty folk mistake you, you know. And it comes by nature for Reuben Warren to be nice to people."

That afternoon we sat on the gray stone by the sycamore and he laid his hand over mine in the white-haired moss, and then he took it away again but it was still there, and "That's how you know when it's true."

"You are a strange girl my dear child, and I reckon you ought to know if it's that way with you. But I wouldn't have any bright spot your heart for this world."

"I guess I oughtn't to lied to Doug though."

I reckon that was just the thing you ought to say to him, Julia said.

I wouldn't want to make Doug feel bad. He works awful hard at the place and he is banking so much on his crop of sene. I did promise him I'd go look at his sene before I go.

You ought to do that, and I must send Sarah some of the purple dahlias and some wheat loaf.

And on this they began to read just their inner lives to the new intimacies born of Cynthia's confession.

It was in the afternoon at the end of August that Cynthia went down to say good-bye to Sarah, Mason and Doug. It was the first time in many weeks that she had sat at the Finemare and ridden out of Wolfpen. It was a joyous thing to feel horse muscle flow under her hands and connect with her spirit to hear the soft plopping of quick hoofs against the sand. It was tonic to efface the thought of what she would see when she peered into the hollow at Dry Creek filled with new men whom Sparrel called ruff-raff and was troubled about.

She waved to Jesse in the meadow where he had been furiously tossing hay and was sitting now under a haystack with the book open on his knees. "I reckon Jesse sure means business whether he pitches hay or reads the law. I'm right glad he'll be over there too, even if he don't come for a week or two."

Sparrel was outside his shop leaning against the shade by the door, looking to nowhere out of Wolfpen with puzzlement on his face. It slipped off as Cynthia came into the mill-yard and he spoke kindly to her and patted the rump of the Finemare.

You two make a fine-looking outfit if I do say it myself.

Cynthia, seeing a remnant of her Daddy Sparrel in his eyes and voice, thought, He ought to have more pleasure out of all this business than he's getting, but he lets other men's troubles be his own because they are on his land, when he ought to let Shellenberger and his black man run on to suit themselves, and be happy up Wolf pen with his own place.

She smiled to him, and waved back as she took the ford over Gannon.

She smiled to him, with her own sense of pleasure as she heard Abrah's voice pitched high saying "No. It won't go that way. Here Watch me."

She dreaded the thought of looking up the hollow where the trees had been cut. As she came into the road beyond the shadow of the Pinnacle where Dry Creek would burst into view, she played a game with herself and the Finemare. We'll see if we can go without either of us looking over there to the slaughter pens, she said aloud. It was a difficult game to play. She fixed her eyes on the Finemare's ears for many paces. Then she looked off to the bright, sun-tinged green on the timbered ridges to the north, and down into the cool dark pockets in the hollow where the shadows lay. The Finemare held her neck straight down the road between the patches of rank horse-weeds as high as her back. It's not fair for me, Finemare, because you couldn't see over along here even if you were sed to. But I just naturally face that over there because I sit sideways, and I have to stretch my neck to look the other way. It's funny the you try not to look at something you don't want to see and all the time feel it peeling at your eyes so hard you can't hardly keep them off it. She looked at a great white ball of cloud, trying to decide whether to have it be a dragon straining for its prey, or a fair host of angles draping a veil of luminous wings over the unmoiled hills. Then she decided they were just ordinary clouds with nothing to do but go riding in the sky in the afternoon.

So she restated Dry Creek while they passed the rank horse-weeds and the cane-brake shooting pale yellow poles high above her, and came to the open meadow. There she suddenly felt the lure of ugliness rushing across the open space and reaching for her eyes, as though a barrier had fallen. She resisted with an effort. She felt the smell of wood smoke in her nose and on her tongue. Still she did not look and the mare was absorbed in the animated manipulation of her own legs. I reckon you've understand it. But that isn't all he couldn't understand; he didn't even know how the wind blew. And there are thousands of things we accept on faith, which we think we understand, but really don't understand. How very little, we may believe a great deal.

But what are we to believe? That Jesus died for our sins and that God holds them against us no more if we accept this truth on faith. Whether we ever believe it or not, Jesus died for us just the same. But if we believe it, and with God agree that Jesus shall henceforth and forever be responsible for our sins, immediately the debt is wiped out, for Jesus has already paid it. If the desire comes to our hearts to see God, that is the Spirit calling. Follow Him and do His bidding. He will lead you to faith in Christ and to the birth from above. Then you will be able to get the idea of the Kingdom of Heaven and know the reality of the Spirit's presence and power to save, cleanse, and make alive in to God.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kasee, Pastor of Baptist Church.

Subject: "New Life in Christ." John 3:1-17.

Golden Text: "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." John 3:3.

This quarter we are studying the Gospel according to John, which was written as John says, to tell us how to believe in Jesus and be saved. The lesson for this week is the very heart of the Gospel.

Nicodemus, an inquirer into the way of life, approaches Jesus indicating a desire to discuss eternal things with him. Jesus immediately replies: "Except a man be born again he cannot see the kingdom of God." The Greek word for "see" which is used here in the original language of the New Testament is "idein," from which we get the word "idea." Then, it would read, "Except a man be born from above, he cannot get the idea of the Kingdom of God." And that is what Jesus is saying to Nicodemus: "You can't talk about these things until you have been born of the Spirit, for unless a man is born of the Spirit (or from above) he can't understand spiritual things."

If there is one fundamental truth in the Bible, this is it. Spiritual life is a secret order, limited to those who have been partakers of the Spirit of God. It is true that the Spirit comes to a lost man, and through the preaching of the Word and the interpretation thereof by the Spirit, the lost man is made able to see the truth about his sin and above the Saviour. And by this quickening power of the Spirit and the enlightenment which follows, the lost man is able to understand in by choice to the birth of God, but not by his own ability. This is the only time man is what we call "free moral agent." He is made so by the Spirit's help and power. In this enlightened state, and this enabled state, he may exercise his will toward God, just as Adam did against God while in the same enlightened state. But never without the aid of the Spirit. Thus, the birth is from above.

But it is something a man cannot understand until he comes into it. He can believe, but not understand. This is a case where instead of "seeing is believing," as the world has it, "believing is seeing" in the spiritual realm. He who believes may understand. Nicodemus could not understand it. But that isn't all he couldn't understand; he didn't even know how the wind blew. And there are thousands of things we accept on faith, which we think we understand, but really don't understand. How very little, we may believe a great deal.

But what are we to believe? That Jesus died for our sins and that God holds them against us no more if we accept this truth on faith. Whether we ever believe it or not, Jesus died for us just the same. But if we believe it, and with God agree that Jesus shall henceforth and forever be responsible for our sins, immediately the debt is wiped out, for Jesus has already paid it. If the desire comes to our hearts to see God, that is the Spirit calling. Follow Him and do His bidding. He will lead you to faith in Christ and to the birth from above. Then you will be able to get the idea of the Kingdom of Heaven and know the reality of the Spirit's presence and power to save, cleanse, and make alive in to God.

The House of Hazards

By Mac Arthur

Designed in Sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. Size 6 requires 3 yards of 35 inch material together with 44 yards of braid for trimming.

TOE'S PATENT STITCH

Pattern 8886: If you looked through all the fashion books in existence you wouldn't find a neater, sweeter model than this! Your little daughter will adore it! It will be the envy of her friends. And it's so easy to make a minimum of time is required to put the pieces together. The panels snug the waist and flare the skirt in the cutt manner you can imagine. It slips through wash day almost unnoticed and ironing is no bother at all.

The panties give practicability. They can be made in matching material or if you have an odd remnant handy use it—the rest will be just as gratifying. Vivid silks or taffeta will fit into the holiday setting perfectly although bright cottons have their recommending points too.

HOW LONG CAN A THREE-QUARTER WIFE HOLD HER HUSBAND?

YOU have to work at marriage to make a success of it. Men may be selfish, unsympathetic, but that's the way they're made and you might as well realize it. When your back aches and your nerves scream, don't take it out on your husband. He can't possibly know how you feel. For three generations one woman has told another how to "smile through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Tuning from method to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age." Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and go "smiling through."

SECOND GRADE HAS INTERESTED CHILDREN

On entering the second grade room at Haldeman I thought I had never seen such eager faces, such interested children, and what a good time they were having. I wondered what it was all about, when upon entering I found that just a number class was in progress. I wish I could know that there is such interest in arithmetic classes all over the county as there was in this room. Every child had work book before him. Every child was ready for a response. Hands went up for the answer to the problems. In fact they could hardly keep their seats. It was just real interest, not one child trying to beat another. But the answer is that the teacher knew how to put out a class in number work. There were no tired looking children or disinterested children in this group. If there had been only a few children, it would have been easy perhaps to hold their attention, but in this room there were forty four children and they were all in this same class. There was a book case also in this room with seventy-five books. Also a picture of George Washington, a fountain, a pencil sharpener, coat rack, fern and other flowers, a calendar, the room beautifully decorated, and a Christmas tree beside the built in fire place. They were looking forward to Santa, to a program they were going to give at the P. T. A. meeting, and to the Christmas Vacation.

Mabel Kelly is the teacher.

HALF DAY VACATION FOR BEST DECORATED ROOM

The student body at Haldeman took a vote on what room was the best decorated during the holidays. The fourth grade room taught by Miss Ella Mae Rogness was voted as being the most beautiful and best decorated. This was quite an honor and shows that the teacher and children have pride in their room. The appearance of a school room does much toward fanning the interest of the children. A bare room, especially toward Christmas deprives the child of much of the spirit of happiness he should have. The class and their teacher were given a half holiday as a tribute for their accomplishment.

CAROL GIVEN FIRST CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The Carrol School had a very nice program on Wednesday before Christmas. The room was beautifully decorated and a large crowd

FIRST GRADE AT HALDEMAN IS DOING GOOD

The First Grade room at Haldeman includes those pupils who were held over from last year. This year they are having first class care and Miss Cline is doing everything possible to help these children in order that they might carry second grade work next year. During the reading period the children all took part. They are capable and healthy looking children. They are only about two who have any trouble in attendance. A store project had been built and is giving much practical education in number work. This grade also has a bookcase with many supplements. The bulletin board had work done by the children displayed. An attendance chart holds a conspicuous place and each of the children present get a red star and the children absent receive a black star. Other articles in the room which are of use are a pencil sharpener, fountain, fern, and books, etc. The room at this time was decorated with Christmas decorations. The attitude of the teacher and pupils is very complimentary and in talking with the children I found them very responsive. They pledged themselves to go out and try to encourage those who are out of school in order that they might have high attendance this month.

FARMERS

The teachers of Farmers School and P. T. A. added much pleasure and happiness to the children and parents of the community by presenting a beautifully illustrated Christmas program, representing the birth of Christ at the school December 24, and by playing Santa Claus and distributing gifts among every one.

The President of P. T. A. wishes to thank every one who so generously contributed and donated in making fun sponsored by the P. T. A. thereby making dozens of little boys and girls happier on Christmas morning.

Eagles Defeat Holbrook

Smith Stars As Locals Win 38-24 In Go At Manchester

Red Smith, breaking into the limelight for the first time, took the lead both offensively and defensively in the basketball game against Alfred Holbrook at Manchester, Ohio on Tuesday night. Smith while he was not high point, led the offense so brilliantly that the outcome was never in doubt and shone defensively as well. In addition to feeding the ball to Carter and Armen, Smith gathered to himself four points on two field goals.

Moghead had the game under complete control from the opening whistle until the final gun, winning handsly 38 to 24. At the close of the first half the score stood 19 with Morehead leading. The Dinosaurs were unable to get through the defense and failed to make good a number of chances, as the rush Eagles broke up play after play.

With the score 18-8 Coach Ellis Johnson slipped in his second string, allowing the Dinosaurs their only chance to score. Had the variety string been left in there is little doubt the score would have doubled.

Carter, while apparently off his game, came through to score ten points, while Armen was garnering nine. Holbrook cashed in on six of thirteen free throws, while the Eagles took twelve out of sixteen.

Coach Johnson is fairly well satisfied with the development of his team, and feels that a number of the kinks have already been worked out. However, he plans on working his squad to get them ironed out for the opening of the conference season tonight at Georgetown.

The Tigers from Georgetown tipped Holbrook by about the same score as the Eagles in their season's past encounter before Christmas. Holbrook is the only team of tonight's contestants have met, and if judged on that basis, it should be a toss-up. However Georgetown may have a slight edge, due to the fact that they have a number of conference tests already under their belts, while the Eagles are going into play for the first time. The game will be played at Georgetown on Saturday night as the Freshmen open their season against the college freshmen from Union College. The freshmen game will serve as a preliminary to the varsity tussle between Union and Morehead in the second conference tilt in the week. Union is rated strong this year, and Coach Bacon always puts out a contender.

As a special feature between halves the physical education department plans on staging a two round boxing contest between batters yet to be selected from the varsity boxing team. Boxing as a college sport in the physical ed department is comparatively new here, and the go should prove to be an attraction of the first water.

Breck Noses Out Ollice Hill Friday

Breckinridge High rallied in the last minute of play Friday night to take a 20-17 decision from Olive Hill. The game was fast and interesting all the way and was played before a large crowd.

Breckinridge jumped into an 8-1 first-period advantage with some nice close-in passing, but the Comet came back in the second to shut them out and tied the count at 8-8. Olive Hill could not penetrate the Breck defense for a crisp shot, and threw away half their scoring opportunities with bad passes and slow ball-handling which resulted in jump balls.

Breck started sitting through the Comet defense again in the third and pulled ahead 10-10 going into the final. Rose and Bizzari narrowed the count with field goals and Mobley tied the score with a long one. McClave dropped in a free throw to gain a lead for his team but Pritchard hit a long one and Croswaite made a rebound to settle the game.

Pritchard, with five field goals, paced the winning attack. Red Rose with three, named the Comet scorers.

At The Christian Church

"My Hopes for the New Year" was the subject of the young people's meeting at the Christian Church next Sunday night beginning at 8:15 o'clock. Elijah Hogge is the leader and a splendid program has been prepared.

Last spring the young people had charge of the night services and they proved unusually popular. The meeting on Sunday night will be the first of the series for this spring. The services begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock, so as to make it possible for every one to attend. This season an urgent invitation is extended to every one to attend. The older and married people are urged to come and enjoy the service and lend their presence to boosting the crowd. This will be the only Sunday night services.

A drive is on in the Bible school for larger attendance and for large and regular attendance at the morning preaching hour. Dr. Fern's subject Sunday morning will be "What Will You Do With Jesus?" The members and friends of the church are urged to make 1937 a church year.

Vikings Drop One To Soldier Five

Roy Holbrook's keen little Vikings dropped a near-breaker to Soldier last Friday night, when they met the Panthers on the local floor. Lack of a freeing play was largely responsible for the Vikings loss, as they led the visitors 15-13 in the middle of the final period. The Kings had developed a crisp shooting combination that put them out in front, but their inability to break up the long shot barrage launched by Soldier in a last period desperate drive, cost them the game 23-21.

The Kings showed superiority all the way through the game, taking the ball and working it down under the basket, for crisp shots, while holding an air tight defense against the invaders. They piled up what looked like a lead that would insure victory in the first three periods. However, when the visitors took a long range shot, the Kings, with their lack of experience were lost.

In the last period the Kings were out-scored 10-2, with Soldier dropping in four shots from their long range guns to first tie the score at 21 all and then to go ahead in the closing seconds of the game with a beauty that failed to touch the rim.

The Kings are a coming team. They started the season without a prayer and almost without following. The entire squad was completely green, with hardly a player who had ever felt a basketball. At the opening of the season what few fans the Vikings enjoyed, would have been satisfied with one win in the season. However, that has been changed. The Kings are showing development that has already won them friends among the basketball fans of the community, and are showing a fight that will land them near the top when the season closes.

In the Soldier game all they lacked of victory was the knowledge of proper defense for long shots and a freeze play. Naturally they could not acquire all the fine points of the game in the short time they have been working together. That will undoubtedly be altered in the next few weeks and the Kings will set sale, possibly for another good season in basketball.

It has been several years, since the Vikings made basketball history in this section, and fans are beginning to take heart and see behind the squad, that, though inexperienced and young, is showing a fight that will help them to go places and do things.

The following address was delivered by County Health Doctor, Dr. T. A. E. Evans before the high school at Elliottsville, Ky.

The address will be of interest to school readers over the county. Fellow Students:

Perhaps you wonder why I address you as fellow students. It is because that I believe that no matter how old a person may be he is conscious of it or not, unless of course his mind has atrophied. Therefore he is a student. Because I have lived a bit longer than you, I think that I may have learned a little more, which is only natural. Therefore I am in position to tell you of some of the problems that lay before you and some of the pitfalls you may avoid by taking a little thought. Foresight can never take the place of foresight, as many of us have learned to our sorrow. This question that I often put to the students is, "What is it that money cannot buy?" Well, some of you say "Health." No money can get you well when you are sick and can help to place you in position that you can take care of your health. Another says "Happiness." No money can buy any of the things that you desire and then you are happy. The thing that money cannot buy is "Lost Opportunities" especially while you are young.

The mill will never grind with water that has passed Ponce De Leon in his quest for the spirit of youth realized that fact. He knew that youth once gone could never be bought again. Money will not purchase his return.

We often hear of the fast young man or woman. The term is very significant. We apply it generally to one who is breaking away from and commanding the sentiment of the community, displays an uncommon haste in learning vicious habits and becoming acquainted with depraved men. It is a term of reproach and counted by those who are void of understanding. We love to see a fast sailing ship. It is creditable for a ship to be fast, and will have large freight and more passengers will crowd her deck. It is creditable for a horse to be a fast racer, it will increase his value and lead his owner to guard him with great care. But with a fast young man or woman, it is not so. Nobody sees a high value on them on account of their fast proclivities. A young man is fast because he is on the downgrade.

In the first place, we have committed to us in bodily organs and in our mental equipments, a powerful singular, complex, but wise and efficient and as compared with the agencies of nature in its adaptations to the work of life surpassing the human frame in itself. Considering the wonderful complications of the body, the offices that it adopts itself to that to which men may train it: The eye, the ear, the tongue, the hand, above all what incloses, Life, a mind and power to develop thought, and to arrange knowledge, which in our time and in our community may be acquired easily. The vibrations and adoptions which men may command, by which through the power of knowledge or thought opportunities by natural laws they too are controlled by us.

Some young men were talking about matrimony. By actual count all of them said that flappers were alright to flirt with but when they should marry, they wanted wives who know something about practical things; who knew the difference between beef and mutton rather than the difference between face cream and carmine and knew more about brooms than about jazz and dancing, cheek to cheek.

And then with a lordly air they told their own sisters about the conflagration, the girls said, well that is your side, now here's ours. The girls of today are willing to run the broom and cook the beans, to make a real home for a real man but they don't intend to do it merely as an accommodation for street corner loafers and cigarette puff-puffs. God send us men and we will do our part. The world is suffering for want of genuine, original, strong, true, pure, Godlike manhood and womanhood.

Now youth is not the best time of life just as the blossomtime period is not the best season of the tree. When the tree bears fruit it is the most glorious. We admire the blossoms be we live on the fruit. And when we begin to do things worthy of ourselves, when we become a blessing to others and not something pretty, to be admired, then it is that life yields the greatest satisfaction. But youth is the best time to prepare for the best time. Work hard, live clean, sleep well, enjoy wholesome fun and sport, and you will develop the vigor to enjoy the best time of life with zest.

It was back in the early '90's, if I remember correctly that ascarage of diphtheria struck the little town I lived in. When the destruction waves had subsided there were many empty desks in our school room and the whole town was in mourning. We had the customary big stove in the center of the room and my desk was the closest by. It used to get pretty hot and I never will forget the frightful odor of asafoetida intermingled with camphor that pervaded every nook and corner of that room. Mothers tied little bags of asafoetida or camphor about the necks of their children in the thought and hope that such would protect their loved ones against evil and contagious diseases. Since that time, medicine has made tremendous advances. We know much more about germs and microbes need no longer resort to primitive and absurd methods with the hope of immunizing their children against infections and contagious disease.

SPOTS ON CLOTHES SIMPLE TO REMOVE

Winter garments sometimes have spots and stains that can be removed without cleaning the garment all over, points out the home-economics department of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky.

Warm water will remove most of the spots on winter clothes. For grease spots, carbon tetrachloride may be used. Obtainable at drug stores, it is non-inflammable and may be used indoors if care is exercised. Place the garment over a bath towel and sponge the spot, using light strokes from the outer edge toward the center of the spot.

Absorbents such as chalk, maizena, fuller's earth or cornmeal are simple to use and inexpensive. They do not affect color or fiber. Spread over a spot or over every part of the dress that comes in contact with the body and absorbent. Leave on overnight, and then brush off thoroughly. Repeat as often as necessary.

THE FARM AND HOME

Some persons sleep better when they eat lightly just before going to bed. Try a bowl of hot milk and bread or crackers or warm porridge, however, is of double value, and may keep one awake.

Cracks in the plaster are usually due to the settling of the foundation of the house, poor structural framing, poor lathing and lumber shrinkage. Better construction throughout the house is the way to prevent plaster cracking.

Instead of taking a chilled lamb to the fire, wrap it up well in a blanket or with sacks. It is difficult to keep a lamb from developing pneumonia after it has been by the fire for several hours. If a lamb can be induced to nurse at will usually recovers rapidly.

Selecting a dozen or more good hens and mating them to a male bird of high production blood is a good way to improve the flock. The hens should show laying ability, be of medium size, and of good type and color, and free from defects of all kinds.

A light covering of manure will help keep the ground warm. WHY BE WITHOUT PROPER BARNYARDS when we can supply you so reasonably with the kind you like? Rowan County News.

help protect strawberry plants throughout the winter. Straw or hay may be put on top of the manure for further protection, and then raked off in early spring, leaving the manure for fertilizer.

Eggs Benedict recipe: Toast slices of bread. Place on each piece of toast a thin slice of cooked ham or crisp-cooked bacon, and on top of this a poached egg. Cover with hot Hollandaise sauce and serve at once.

GOOD TIME TO PUT TOBACCO ON LAWN

Now is the time to put tobacco stalks or stems on the lawn for best results, according to N. R. Elliott of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky. Either stalks or stems, if they are fresh, will supply an abundance of plant food that will benefit the grass. This plant food is in a form that is readily usable by the plant without danger of injury.

In addition, the stalks or stems will furnish a certain amount of protection to the sod during the cold weather, Mr. Elliott adds. Stalks should be spaced from 4 to 6 inches apart and arranged in an orderly fashion so as to bring them in contact with the sod. Stems should be scattered, taking precaution that they do not smother the grass. It is not necessary to crush the stalks before they are placed on the lawn, as winter rains and alternating freezes and thawing temperatures will liberate the plant food.

While tobacco is an excellent fertilizer for the lawn, Prof. Elliott thinks it should not be used to the exclusion of good fertilizers. In fact, if a lawn fertilizer was used in the late fall it will not be necessary to use the tobacco this winter, but it should be used in the winter of 1937 instead of fertilizer.

Tobacco can be left on lawns until the middle of March, when it should be removed and the lawn raked. The grass may have made some growth before the tobacco is removed but that will do no harm.

Grass seed can be sown before the tobacco is removed from the lawn. Mulch around trees helps to preserve moisture. Straw, weeds, old hay, manure or other materials may be used. Warm trees are set late in the fall, which may be injurious to the roots of young trees.

Milk production is almost certain to be reduced if cows are compelled to drink ice water. The animals will not drink enough to supply body demands and hold the normal milk flow. Milk is 87 per cent water, and reduction of the amount of water is directly reflected in the supply of milk.

As winter advances, rabbits become greater pests and do extensive injury to young trees. Mice also are a problem. A comparatively easy solution is that of wrapping the trunks of young trees with old newspapers. Trash about the trunk should be raked back.

Two parts of bottled linseed oil and one part turpentine make a furniture polish for plain oil finish or for varnished or oiled furniture. Put on with a soft rag and polish off with a clean cloth, rubbing with the grain of the wood until thoroughly dry.

Now is a good time to apply fine, well-rotted manure to the garden plot. It may be used at the rate of 8 to 10 tons to the acre, unless the soil already is highly fertile. If it is evenly scattered, rain will work it into the soil, ready for early spring plowing.

Though almost every child likes milk as such, for variety part of the daily allowance may well be used in preparing food. For cold weather, there are milk and vegetable soups, dilute cocoa, cereal cooked in milk, and not milk toast.

Clear thinking is the basis of clear writing. When the first is lacking the reader often has to exercise his imagination to determine what the writer is trying to say. The following sentences is taken from the advertisement of a furniture store.

"Forty dollars is the remarkably low price of this table which when extended will seat 12 people, with four legs, or 14 with six legs."

The writer was referring to the legs of the table, but it sounds as though he were trying to sell a table to a family of centipedes.

The word "each" is properly used with the singular pronoun and verb. Right: "Each of the passengers has his (or her) own stateroom." Wrong: "Each of the passengers have their own stateroom."

40th Anniversary of Diesel Power

(1) Diesel engine tractor, first ever to harness diesel power for field use. (2) B. C. Hancock, President, Caterpillar Tractor Company, world's largest builder Diesel engines. (3) New 10-car Diesel driven Beaver Zephyr. (4) Plowing with a Caterpillar tractor, one of hundreds of "Dieselized" farm jobs handled at low cost. (5) 48-foot cruiser powered by twin Diesel engines.

Diesel power is 40 years old in the United States. More than 300 of the country's leading engineers and industrialists met at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, recently to celebrate the anniversary—and to honor the memory of Dr. Rudolf Diesel, inventor.

Diesels are internal combustion engines, but differ from gasoline engines, in that they operate on cheap low grade fuel oil which is fired by the heat of compression rather than by electric ignition.

Modern lightweight zephyr type trains, capable of sustaining speeds of 100 miles per hour or more, are diesel powered.

A small diesel powered passenger car has been driven from Los Angeles to New York on $7.83 total fuel cost. A 32-passenger bus has made the same trip East to West on less than $25.00 fuel cost.

Trans-Atlantic liners, ferries, tug boats, large and small yachts, fishing vessels, freighters, naval craft, and others employ diesel power to extend operating ranges and to lower fuel cost.

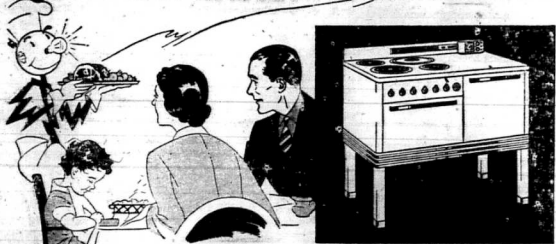

Nearly 100 American manufacturers are building these economical "power giants" in units of from 10 to 20,000 horsepower.

One of these, Caterpillar Tractor Company, Florida, Illinois, has in five years become the world's largest producer of diesel power; employing a continuous assembly line for the purpose, the only one in the country. Caterpillar alone has built nearly 1,500,000 horsepower, represented by more than 21,000 diesel engines. On countless farms, in trackless mountains, at Alaska mining claims, in city pumping stations and lighting plants, in hundreds of mobile and stationary power jobs, these are working dependably, characteristically free from breakdown, at one-fifth normal internal combustion engine fuel cost.

With American production this year 21 times greater than the 1922 output, the future of Diesel power is brilliant indeed according to Charles F. Kettering, Captain Edward V. Rickenbacker, B. C. Hancock and other well informed experts who addressed the anniversary meeting.

USE ELECTRIC COOKERY which retains valuable food elements

Mrs. HOMEFOLKS, . . .

When you prepare meals the modern electric way, you cook vegetables and meats in their own juices in closed utensils, using little or no water.

This method retains all nourishing mineral elements usually lost in old-fashioned cooking. It retains all the appetizing flavors too—keeps in cooking odors—and prevents food shrinkage. That's why meals cooked electrically are better.

Of course electric cookery has many other advantages—such as cleanliness, coolness, economy. And if you'll stop at our store, or send word, we'll appreciate the opportunity to tell you the whole story.

We sell the Westinghouse and Hotpoint Ranges. Other standard makes are sold by local dealers.

Cooper At Cozy

A gripping drama of intrigue, romance and adventure, "The General Died at Dawn," which comes to the Cozy Theatre Sunday and Monday, brings Gary Cooper to the screen in another colorful soldier-of-fortune role.

With modern China as its background the plot of "The General Died at Dawn," revolves around the awakening of China to the oppressions of her predatory warlords and the beginnings of a spirit of resistance. Cooper, as the champion of the downtrodden, leads the ranks of the new movement. Flaying opposite him is beautiful Madeleine Carroll in the role of the lure held out by a war-lord to lead Cooper to destruction.

Two Big Features

For Friday, Jan. 8th, the College brings to the screen the celebrated Bing Crosby in his musical comedy romance, titled "Pennies from Heaven."

The story is written around its theme song which is also the "Pennies From Heaven." It has for its motivation Bing Crosby, a happy-go-lucky fellow, going around accompanied by Edith Fellows, singing his way in a harmless manner. It is whimsical yarn as demonstrated by his hit titled "Rhythm on the Range." It has a light dramatic counterpoint supplied county by health officer, who continually trails the couple, fearful that the ner-do-well troubador is incapable of coping for his little companion.

Sunday, Jan. 10th, Charles Laughton comes to the college in Rembrandt. The story takes up the life of Rembrandt at the height of his fame, rich, reckless, spendthrift. Loved by his charming wife Saskia, who is both model and mother of his son, he is full of inspiration. Death claims Saskia and the stricken Rembrandt shuts himself in with his work. He unweaving of this work brings amazement to the audience and indignation to the officers-for it is a jumble of shadows with scarcely a face recognizable. Rembrandt goes down to poverty and his house is sold. Geertje, his famous housekeeper, sells her jewels and struggles for him and his boy, hoping some day to be his wife. He can find no inspiration until one day he notices a girl named Hendrickje, the last of his servants. He falls in love with her and becomes inspired and happy. But they are denounced to the elders of the church and the girl is publicly excommunicated. The law prevents her from marrying him. Finally Hendrickje "employs" Rembrandt to paint her and shares with him the money his paintings earn. Finally death claims her also and the poverty-stricken Rembrandt faces the future serenely.

(Continued From Page Six) ing from sails to steam, some ships were going around the horn. The seas were rough and treacherous. This large ship was being towed and the captain who was towing the flagship signaled back to the admiral. Unless the wind and sea abated, I cannot see how you through the straits and admiral read it the second time and said some poetry:

Give him this: "As long as you have wood and coal, steam ahead or God will damn your soul." That means that when you feel tired and worn and want to give up just remember the old admiral and steam ahead.

Social Security

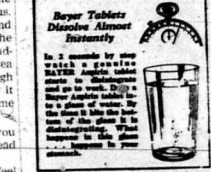

(Continued From Page One) said Mrs. Burns. Possibly twenty-five employers in the county have not yet filled out the blanks for his employees. Those who have not already done so are urged to do so at once. Even if you employ but one helper and do not come under the operation of the law so far as the number of employees is concerned, you are required to fill out the blanks.

Many Receive Pensions

with the result that instead of the 6,000 grants he set up as a quota by the December holidays, his staff had granted over 11,000 approvals. With the work that far in advance of the schedule mapped out, there is little doubt but that every application will be worked out in a comparatively short time.
