Two Jail Breaks Almost Empty Rowan County Jail As Masked Band Saws Bars To Window

Simpson, Caught In Ashland After Saturday Night Escape

ELAM, SWIM ARE GONE

Two jail breaks marked the week end in Morehead, when on Friday night of last week Ottis Fugate and Jay Harmon broke from the local county jail and have not yet been apprehended. On Saturday night, three desperate criminals escaped, through the assistance of a band of masked men, according to those in the jail who refused to leave at the time of the break. Those who escaped were Martin Simpson, colored man, charged with store breaking in the case of the Morehead Liquor Store, Rody Elam, charged with breaking into the I. G. A. store, and David Swim, charged with assault and robbery in the case of Fred Archer. In the latter case, an alleged confederate, Lawrence Bashaw, was released from a similar charge at an examining trial last week.

According to Reb Bradley, Evcoze Stamper, Weaver Dyer and John Watson, who refused to accompany the jail breakers when they left Saturday night, a band of masked men broke into the jail. They first tried to gain entry through the door, but the key they carried would not fit, so they sawed off the bars on the windows and entered. They then broke into the cell block, breaking the lock. They ordered everyone to be quiet, and threatened to shoot them full of holes if they made a noise. Those who refused to go along were told to be quiet and to keep away from the

REVIVAL AT CHURCH OF GOD GREAT SUCCESS

The series of revival meetings at the local Church of God was brought to a close last Sunday night, with the baptism of 23, who were converted during the meeting. It is reported as the most successful meeting ever had in the church, and was under the direction of Rev. Mr. Wiseman of Winchester, Ky.

In addition to those who were received into the church last Sunday, a large number were present from being present at the close of the meeting, due to the inclement weather. In order to accommodate those who were unable last Sunday to be present, they were received into the church at appropriate service this coming Sunday night.

Jack Cecil Writes Home From Texas

Says He Is Enjoying Trips And Texas Weather

The Rowan County News is in receipt of a letter from Jack Cecil, who with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Cecil, have been visiting and touring in Texas for several weeks. Jack is apparently enjoying himself immensely. We are publishing the letter for the purpose of giving our readers a better idea of "how the other half lives."

Hello (Jack) and the News
Down in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and believe me I have been all over it from Brownsville to Del Rio, and over in Mexico in several places. Saw a polo game in Reynosa, Mexico Wednesday last. The Police team from Mexico City, vs. The McAllen Merchants. Went over with the Chamber of Commerce excursion, about 300 cars, visited all the places of interest and in the evening a 6 p. m. dinner at your own expense of 50c. The biggest dinner in the world. Choice of 5 different wild meats, also pork and beef and all the trimmings, these Mexicans can think of including around green chili pepper.

Sewing Exhibit Is An Attractive Feature

Many Out Of Towners View Display On Clothing

The exhibit held in the sewing room at the court house Wednesday, by the sewing units of WPA in Rowan county, under the supervision of Mrs. Ethel Kessler, attracted over two hundred visitors, who registered at the time of their visit. The exhibit, consisting of various articles of wearing apparel for every member of the family, from the tiniest tot to grown men and women, showed some excellent accomplishments by the women who have taken part in the project. Shirts, and overalls, for men and boys, showed excellent workmanship, as did the layette for babies, the little dresses for girls, the house dresses for the older women. Probably an item that attracted as much or more attention than any other was a complete suit for a little boy, including a nicely finished coat, a pair of pants and a shirt.

Among the out of town visitors at the exhibit were Mrs. Marie K. Heaton, District Supervisor, Paints ville, Ky., Miss Opelia Francis, Area Supervisor, Paintsville, Ky., Mrs. Sarah Price, Paintsville, Ky., Mrs. R. C. Munn, Olive Hill, Ky., Miss Margaret McCarthy, Olive Hill, Ky., Miss Edith Flannery, Ashland, Ky., and Mrs. F. T. Howell, Lexington, Ky.

First Semester Ends Jan. 29

Second Semester Enrollment Expected To Show Increase

Final examinations for the second semester at the Morehead State Teachers College will be given throughout the next week, according to a schedule of examinations given out by Dean William H. Vaughan. Practically the entire week will be taken up with tests in preparation for the close of the semester.

On Monday, February 1, the second semester opens. According to advance reservations, the enrollment will again show an increase after a slight falling off in the past two semesters. The college authorities are preparing to take care of any excess over the capacity of the dormitories, in private homes throughout the city. And any one having such rooms which they desire to rent during the coming term should get in touch with college authorities without delay.

It is apparent now that the two new buildings, the new science hall and the men's new dormitory will not be ready by the beginning of the second semester as was expected and it is thought that, however it is delayed, it is beyond that time. However it is the hope of the college that the new buildings will be ready for occupancy within the next two weeks or a month after the opening of the semester.

Plans have already been made for the opening of the second semester, with registration on Monday and classes opening on the following day. The usual system will prevail in registration.

ARE HELD IN JAIL FOR CHILD DESERTION

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ed Rose are being held in the county jail at present, and are awaiting examination of their child desertion. The charge has grown out of the fact that the couple have apparently deserted their children and left them with Dr. Dot Banks, who is unable to support them. They will probably be held over to await the action of the grand jury.

Morehead Listens In

While Washington sat in the rain and took an active personal part in the second inauguration of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, citizens of Morehead and the rest of the world sat at home out of the rain and enjoyed every thrill that those in the immediate neighborhood of the national capital enjoyed with the exception of seeing it with their own eyes. Morehead attended the inauguration, heard the oath of office administered to both Vice President John Nance Garner and President Roosevelt, heard the inspiring inaugural address by the president, and watched the parade down Pennsylvania Avenue. And enjoyed it fully as much as if they had been present, without any of the inconveniences.

And when Kentucky's delegation swept by the reviewing stand, every Kentuckian felt that he had a personal part and a personal interest in the ceremony that gave the United States another president.

Eastern To Play Eagles Saturday

Feature Game Of Week To Be Played On Local Court

Morehead and Murray remained the only two unbeaten Kentucky basketball teams in the west as a result of Monday night's games, when the Eagles nosed out Centre 41-39, while Eastern, previously undefeated was falling before the onslaught of Berea 53-26. Morehead now lead in the state with eight victories to seven for Murray, in the general standing, while in the state itself, they have possession of the top round with five wins and no defeats, against five wins and one defeat for Eastern. Murray has not yet opened her state campaign, meeting Western this week.

Morehead has an excellent opportunity to topple from the head of the list, as they play Louisville this Wednesday at Louisville. Louisville after losing consistently last week proved the heaviest of Western, previously undefeated, in the outstanding upset of the week.

Morehead winds up the week here Saturday night, in a game that has become traditional against Eastern. A win over Eastern marks a successful season for Morehead. Eastern, identically would rather defeat Morehead than any other team on its schedule. Added to this is the unquestioned desire of Eastern to get revenge for the 197-138 falling of their football team last year at Ellis Johnson's pupils, and you have the ideal set-up for a battle that should pack the gymnasium to overflow.

Plans Are Being Made For President's Ball

Date For Annual Event Has Not Yet Been Decided

While plans are being formulated to hold the annual Presidents birth day ball no definite arrangements have been made as yet. It is hoped to be able to hold the ball at a somewhat later date than January 30, the day when the ball is actually set, as at that time, the college is enjoying its annual siege of semester examinations and those who are not taking exams will be away at their various homes. The following week is marked by social activities at the college which would interfere with the ball. However it is expected that a committee will get together in the near future set a date. The funds will go as usual to the fight against infantile paralysis and the Warm Springs Foundation.

TO GIVE SERIES OF BOOK REVIEWS SUNDAYS

A new arrangement at the Morehead State Teachers College of the college members of the faculty of the college, to hold a series of book reviews each Sunday afternoon at the college library building, to which various members will alternate in discuss and review of current books, both of fiction and non-fiction variety.

Last Sunday afternoon at the first of the series of meetings Dr. R. D. Jewell reviewed the non-fiction book "Is College Worth While" The volume is by Tunst. These meetings are open to the public and all who are interested are invited to attend.

Special Session Of Legislature Pass Jailer-Sheriff Repeal Bill Before Adjournment Saturday

Is Found Dead

McKinley Ratliff

Presumably Suffers With Heart Attack

Friday

McKinley Ratliff suddenly passed away Wednesday, January 13, 1937. Mr. Ratliff was 36 years, 1 month and 3 days old. He was born in Fleming County near Ryan. He was married to Mrs. Hollie Manning, April 9, 1907 at Flemingsburg and to this union was born one son Loran Leman. They moved to West Morehead November 1936. At the time of his death he was employed at Mr. Perry Hollands saw mill at Brady. He was a kind man ready to help any one he could. He leaves to mourn his departure his wife and 5 year old son Loran Leman, one step-daughter, Mary Frances Salyer, two sisters, Mrs. Dora Latham, Knightstown, Ind., and Mrs. Fannie Stacy, Ashland, Ky., his father and mother and one brother Harlan of Muses Mills, and a host of friends. Prayer services were held at his home Friday by the Rev. Wiseman of the Church of God. Interment was made in the old home cemetery at Muses Mills. Funeral services were conducted at the grave by Rev. Wiseman.

Among those out of town who attended the funeral were his nieces Mrs. Woodson Hall and husband of Bluebank and Mrs. Vesta Jessie and husband of Plummers Landing, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Belle Ratliff of Plummers Landing.

Flu Takes Toll In Morehead

Many Have Been Suffering From Malady This Month

Morehead in common with the rest of the world is in the throes of an epidemic of influenza with entire families suffering from attacks of the disease. It is the worst epidemic since the rainy days of 1918-1919 when the world war was in its height and when the disease was newly imported from Europe. There is one difference, however. At that time the doctors were uninitiated in care of the disease and had not developed a treatment for it. At this time, with years of experience, they are more able to cope with it than they were at that time and consequently there is less fatality.

Dr. Everett Blair is one of the victims at present. While he is convalescing, he has been very seriously ill. Dr. G. C. Nickell was also ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Luster Blair are both confined to their homes with attacks of flu, although they are at present showing improvement. The entire family of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Ambury have been ill. Miss Katherine Braun, head of the Geography department at the Morehead State Teachers College, has been suffering with a very serious case of pneumonia, but at present showing marked improvement to regain her health.

BILLY JO ROBINSON TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Little Miss Billy Jo Robinson, a 4-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oval Robinson was taken to the hospital in Huntington Wednesday afternoon, suffering with an infected ear. It was feared a mastoid operation would be necessary.

Nickell Introduces Measure To Give Sheriff Salary Boost

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILLS

With the adjournment of the 1937 edition of the special session of the Kentucky Legislature, Senator Clarence E. Nickell, Dean of men at the Morehead State Teachers College returned to assume his duties here on Saturday night. The special session called 'twe in December by Governor Chandler, accomplished the passage of 24 out of 28 bills put in the special call by the governor. Among the bills passed affecting Rowan County were the repeal of the sheriff-jailer bill passed by the 1932 session of the legislature which combined the offices of sheriff and jailer. The repeal which goes into effect immediately leaves things as they have been in the past, with the jailer being elected in each county as formerly.

The bill of 1932 combined the offices of sheriff and jailer. Another bill of interest to the sheriff of Rowan county is a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Nickell, doing away with county patronage and giving that work in to the hands of the sheriff, who is required to patrol the county highways under the new law, signed by Governor Chandler on Monday of this week, and to receive an increase in salary of $1,500 per year for his work. The law carried the emergency clause and goes into effect at once. Legally, according to Senator Nickell, the law has the effect of relieving the county patrol men of their jobs and of putting the law enforcement work all under the control of the chief law-enforcement officer of the county, the county sheriff.

With the removal of the state real estate tax, the sheriffs of the counties have suffered considerable cut in income, making the office in some instances just a bare existence. It was to remedy this evil that the bill was introduced. It was the thought of Senator Nickell, also that the enforcement of the law would be best accomplished by placing the responsibility entirely upon the officers elected by the people for that purpose, the sheriffs of the counties and their deputies.

SECOND SEMESTER OPENS AT MOREHEAD HIGH

The first semester at the Morehead High school closed on Friday of last week, the second semester starting on Monday of this week. Monday classes for the final semester were organized and students were enrolled. No classes were held on that day, the entire time being taken up with enrollment of students.

A. & P. TO HOLD ANNUAL MGR. SALE

Special Prices To Feature Event In Progress This Week

Manager's Week is being celebrated in all A & P stores this week, January 18 to 23. The celebration this year is the third of this annual event. It differs from the former sales in that the manager is permitted to select his own sales program in line with the desires and needs of his customers.

G. Crawford, manager of the local A. & P. stores is participating with other managers in this drive. Manager's week is the greatest food selling event of the year, according to H. A. Moody, Sales Manager of the Cincinnati store of the A. & P. Tea Company of which the local stores are a part. The policy of the company to give the best possible prices consistent with quality and permitting the managers to suggest their own sales programs during Manager's Week has met with such enthusiastic acceptance that it will continue to be an annual affair, he said.

AS AN EXPERT SEES THE FUTURE

Col. Leonard Ayres, of the Cleveland Trust Company is perhaps the most widely known of American economists. His annual forecast and review of the economic situation is regarded with respect everywhere, because of the accuracy with which he has been able to predict the trend of events.

In his forecast for 1937, Col. Ayres points out that in many ways economic recovery is still far from complete. The volumes of new public utility construction, new factory building, new commercial building, new railroad equipment and new corporate financing are all below those of the lowest year of the depression of 1921. We have still a long way to climb to get back to conditions formerly considered normal.

Col. Ayres emphasizes the point that business has become more dependable upon politics than ever before. We are moving toward a system of managed economies, which he describes as one in which the government undertakes to control the fundamental conditions under which business operates. This is something so new in American experience that we have not yet got used to it. But Col. Ayres predicts that we shall be living under such a system for many years to come.

The November election was a sweeping endorsement of managed economies, and an expression of simple faith that government can not only overcome depressions but prevent them from occurring.

That faith will last, Col. Ayres remarks, for the duration of prosperity. But if prosperity develops into a business boom it is doomed to be followed by another depression.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kazer, Pastor of Baptist Church.

SUBJECT Two Miracles of Mercy John 5:29, 46-48.

GOLDEN TEXT—"The same work that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me." John 5:36.

While all the works of Jesus were done with a view to helping people in their needs, his miracles were done to confirm his teaching and to convince the people that he had been sent as the Messiah by the Father above. So, we find him yielding to special cases of need along his path.

One of the men in our lesson today was the healing of the impotent man by the pool of Bethesda. In the porch around the pool lay many who were afflicted, awaiting the stirring of the healing waters. It was said that an angel stirred the waters and that whosoever stepped down first after the waters were stirred could be healed of whatever disease he had. Here was a poor man who had lain there many years. He had been afflicted for thirty-eight years. He was unable to step down into the waters alone, and had no help. Jesus commanded him to arise, take up his bed and walk.

This he did, purely on the faith that Jesus had said. The people saw him walking, carrying his bed, and falsely accused him of breaking the law by carrying his bed on the Sabbath. For this they arraigned Jesus, and he was excluded from the city on account of his being a party to the so-called sin.

Here is an illustration of Jesus coming along to a world trying to save itself by obedience to certain moral laws. The master finds the world just as he finds this man—unable to step into the healing waters alone, and having no help.

(No hope and "without God in the world"). He bridges the chasm of what man cannot do, and does for him the miracle necessary to cleanse and save his soul and life.

Not by what the man could do, but by what he believed. Thus do we all walk in the strength of our Lord and Saviour.

The other miracle is the famous feeding of the five thousand (really many more). I have not space to detail the miracle here, but read it. Here was a people who had hung on to the message of the Master. They were away from home for a good purpose, and hungry.

Children were likely crying and fretful; all were tired, yet eager to hear. Jesus takes the smallest supply one could have had, the lunch carried by a little boy, and divided it among the thousands. It was entirely sufficient, with twelve baskets of that which remained after all were fed. If a man seeks the important things about God, and inconsiderates himself in the doing of it, it is likely that God will supply his less important needs, even though it requires a miracle to do. It is like Jesus to have compassion on all men. Any of these two miracles of mercy come in for a testimony of his great interest.

But there was something deeper in the needs of man which Jesus could not supply with his living, but rather must accomplish it by dying. The miracles of the living Christ were to lead men to see the miracle of the dying Christ. Just as he helps men to live by living, he must also teach them to die by dying; and the law demands that we die. So in Christ we may do so, by faith in his death. This is our greatest need, to die to sin, and then to live unto God in a new life.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank the people in and around West Morehead for the kindness and help during our sad bereavement. We thank the churchboys for the floral offering, and Rev. Wiseman for his presence and consoling words.

THEB's getting to be a lot of them these days—the funny folk and the kind of stuff they read.

Some of the old ones are just kept busy all the time, reading the funny novels and magazines, so as to find out if they are fit for the young people to look at.

I heard about a girl that was asked at a Sunday school meeting if she ever read this here sex literature that is so common now.

"No," she says, "all that stuff that comes out here is too dirty for me. You see, Mama and Papa and two uncles and three aunts have to go and read it first, and by the time it gets to me it's just naturally all wore out and soiled, so I pass it up."

I wish I might have some way to measure the influence of these want-ads.

Wouldn't it be interesting to know how many purchases, how many phone-calls, how many visits, how many movements, are brought about by these little ads?

I know you would be astonished if such a measurement could be made.

Patterns of Wolfpen

By Marlan Hatcher

WVU Service

She got easily into the saddle. "Good-bye, Doug." "Good-bye, Cynthia."

He went back to the seng patch stopping to look at the pile of birds and then, hearing again the peculiar liquid chirping of the redbirds biting into his 'seng berries, he added three more to the heap.

Cynthia booted the mare with her heel and hurried from Sarah and Doug, the birds and the fallen trees back to Wolfpen through the ruins of the visit she had planned.

The final days were busy ones for Cynthia, but without visible evidence of her inward excitement at the thought of being away from home. Julia was always near her with kind words and suggestions for the packing. She would lay a garment on the bed, saying, "Do you suppose you might need this, Cynthia?"

"Maybe I'd better take it along. A dody never knows."

They fingered the articles and looked affectionately at each other during the long silences. Then three days before the time for Cynthia to leave, Abram came home early from the camp looking pale and weak, but declaring he was all right when Cynthia and then Julia asked him if he felt sick. "You look pale son," Julia insisted. He ate little for supper, leaving the table before the others to lie in the cool in the porch. Sparrel went out to him. "What's the matter with you, son?"

"I guess I just got my stomach riled a little at the camp." "When did it begin to hurt?" "It's felt funny for a day or so."

Sparrel gave his some of his remedies and after a few nights with very sick and refusing food.

Then Julia, who had looked tired for many weeks and had been up and down for two nights with Abram, fell sick in the third night and had to lie in her bed pale and without strength.

On Monday at the hour set for half a year for Cynthia to ride away from Wolfpen, she sat by Julia and was startled to see how large her eyes were under the pale skin of her forehead and how weak she had grown from her sickness.

"You must go, now dear, as we planned. I'll be all right now," she said in a low voice. "I've never been sick to amount to anything."

But Cynthia sat by her bed, saying, Abram's name better. I wouldn't go off today, and you sick. A few days' won't make a sight of difference. Thinking I wonder how sick she is and why it come on so sudden right now. It must be the spread over the trees of the sick-ness in the place of it wouldn't begin down there in Dry Creek and fasten on Abram and come up here. It won't make a bit of difference if I'm a little spell late. She looks so pale under her dark hair, and hardly any gray. It's been a hard summer. She looks tired. I'd rather see her lie a time and get well than go over to the Insettu tion right at the start. I guess she'll rest a while. I'll see Jesse."

She left Julia in a weak sleep, and long fingers of one hand lying delicately along the sheet. She found Jesse by the drying kiln spreading apples in the sun.

"How is she?" Jesse asked, whispering it.

"Asleep now." "She didn't sleep any last night?" "No. She looks pretty sick, Jesse."

"Yes, she's kind of worn out. I reckon you're not going this morning."

"I reckon not."

"Sorry?" "Some, maybe, and because Mother is sick."

Don't you think I should go to Lucy's or Jen's and get one of them to come in?"

No, Jess. They've got their own children and work to attend to, and well, I wouldn't want them to anyway. Cynthia said "Where do you aim to go?"

"In about two weeks now. I calculate to get my share of the stuff in. "Have you read your book?"

"I finished it up and read some of it over."

She felt suddenly unhappy inside and depression squeezed at her spirit. There were so many things she had planned to talk about so she could carry through them into the day bright with the sunshine of Jesse's understanding.

And there was Reuben far away in some distant county, and the uncertainty of Julia's sudden illness, and confusion everywhere to be attacked, ordered and subdued. But she could not get at out between them at the kiln, whether because Jesse was farther away after these months or because she hadn't touched the right notes to bring them together she didn't quite know.

"I thought I'd get some of the books from the upper hollow. Jesse said, 'Is Abram getting up today?"

"He better not get, Daddy says." He picked up the long, narrow bean sacks. "If I don't go, I won't get a thing done, he said and started away."

Then he halted, looked around at her again, and returned a step or two.

"Was there something you wanted to be asked carefully?"

"No there wasn't anything Jesse?" "I'm sorry you can't go today, Cynthia. Maybe it won't be long. Don't you get sick."

It was unexpected and clothed in a depth of genuine feeling which warmed the coldness she had felt creeping over her. She might even yet say the things in her heart. But he was going on now. She watched him away and then went back into the yard. There's a sight of things to do without thinking about yourself. Cynthia Pattern, and making out to yourself that you're wanting somebody to sympathize with you.

It was in the second week of September that Julia Pattern died.

She lay in the room which Sparrel had built for her when he brought her as a bride to Wolfpen. She lay on the sheets which she had made with her own hands by the fireplace as the children grew through the winters, on the bed where three generations of Pattern women had laid before her.

Sparrel was broken. He sat by Julia's side on the chair he had made for her when they were young. He spoke no word and no tear fell.

The boys in stunned and complete silence wandered out between the house and the barn.

Cynthia was deathstruck. For the first time she was seeing death invade her own family. She had never thought of her mother as a part of the mutabilities. She was as permanent and timeless as Wolfpen. Mothers and fathers did not suddenly die and leave the house, the garden and the family. Only grandfathers and grandmothers were carried up to Cranestee shelf. There could be no Wolfpen, no Pattern household without Julia's gentle words and silent competence in all things.

FLU TAKING TOLL ON CAMPUS; MANY ARE ILL

The "flu" is taking its toll of campus folk, according to the number of people in the hospital and those confined in their rooms. Miss Smith, dean of Fields Hall, is strictly laughing in their rooms, victims to its attack.

Marvin Anderson, James Sawyer, Byron Whit, and Morris Caudill are in the hospital, suffering from the same illness, but are reported to be doing very well.

Miss Haskins issues these means of staving off the disease: drink lots of water, keep the body properly eliminated, and eat plenty of fruit.

Quickest Way to Ease a COLD

1 Take 1 Bayer Aspirin tablet with a full glass of water. 2 If throat is sore, dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin tablets in 1/2 glass of water.

The modern way to ease a cold is this: Two Bayer Aspirin tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Repeat, if necessary, in two hours. If you also have a sore throat as a result of the cold, dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin tablets in 1/2 glass of water and gargle with this twice. The Bayer Aspirin you take internally will act to combat fever, aches, pains which usually accompany a cold. The gargle will provide almost instant relief from soreness and rawness of your throat. Your doctor, we feel sure, will approve this modern way. Ask your druggist for genuine Bayer Aspirin by its full name — not by the name "aspirin" alone.

ASSEMBLY OF COLLEGE LEADERS MEET TUESDAY

The Morehead chapter of the American Association of University Professors held its January meeting in the faculty dining room maters. Dr. R. L. Hoke, professor Wednesday evening. After routine of psychology, had charge of the program, taking for his subject, "Why We Have Colleges." Dr. Hoke pointed out that different types of education are needed as a result of social orders, and that we should develop individual thinking maintained by a happy medium between complete socialization and individualism. After a round-table discussion the meeting adjourned.

Eagles Lead In State Standings

Murray And Eagles Tied In General Stand

The undefeated list in Kentucky intercollegiate basketball circles was cut to two Monday night as eight to topple Morehead's Eagles tonight (Wednesday) from the top of the K. I. A. C. here when they assumed undisputed sway for the moment, when Eastern went under as the result of their 33-26 defeat at the hands of the Mountaineers of Berea College Monday night.

Murray added four victories to slip into tie with Morehead for first place in the general standings. Morehead won two games. Each team has won seven contests. Eastern captured a pair to run its string to five straight and retain the leadership in the K. I. A. C. standings.

Louisville's win over Western astonished Kentucky net fans inasmuch as the Cardinals had been able to defeat only Hanover College and had dropped four K. I. A. C. tests.

Kentucky Loses Second
Kentucky lost its second game to Michigan State at East Lansing Thursday night 24-23, but the Ruppman came back to vanquish Akron 32-22 at Cincinnati Saturday night.

Murray's four wins were on the road at the expense of out-of-the-State foes. The Thoroughbreds defeated West Tennessee Teachers 35-30, Morehead 47-28, Mississippi College 33-30 and the Delta State Teachers 52-31.

Morehead experienced trouble in winning over Kentucky Wesleyan 35-30 Monday and over Transylvania 35-29 on Friday. Eastern edged out Louisville 28-25 Wednesday but won handily over Georgetown 39-26 Friday. Georgetown copped two games, beating Centre 37-33 Tuesday and edging out Union College in an overtime test Saturday, 40-39.

Western Won Two
Western won two games before losing to Louisville, beating Berea 49-25 Monday and Middle Tennessee Teachers 48-28 Wednesday. Centre lost to Union 41-33 but defeated Wesleyan 33-31 in K. I. A. C. In other games last week Union bowed to Marshall College 56-35, Louisville beat Hanover 33-24 and Wesleyan topped Transylvania 28-19.

Louisville Hosts To Eagles Wednesday

Will Try To Trip Locals For First Game

University of Louisville Cardinals, coming up for air after their upset of Western last week, are all set to topple Morehead's Eagles tonight (Wednesday) from the top of the K. I. A. C. here when they assumed undisputed sway for the moment, when Eastern went under as the result of their 33-26 defeat at the hands of the Mountaineers of Berea College Monday night.

Louisville, playing at home is a dangerous combination, and the Eagles will not have the easiest sailing to maintain their unblemished record of no defeats.

Western last week was sailing along with four K. I. A. C. victories under their belts and seemed headed for that coocean dream, an undefeated season, when the Bipes up and upset all the dope to take their measure.

The Eagles, apparently have had easy sledding, a trifle too easy and may be suffering a bit from that ban of all coaches, over-confidence. There is little question in the mind of any Eagle fan, that when the boys are right, they are the quality of the state. But any team is bound to have a few poor games in their system and this may be one of them. Dope in basketball is about as unreliable as dope can be. The hope gives Morehead a decided edge in the Louisville game. The question is will the Cardinals upset it again? The Eagles will know after tonight.

PARENTS ARE GUESTS AT CAMARGO GAME

The Vikings entertain the parents of the squad tonight (Wednesday) when the fathers and mothers of the squad members will be guests of the team in their go against Camargo High School. Camargo is coached by former Morehead College graduate and basketball star, John Francis, and has built up considerable reputation during the season. On Saturday night, the Vikings met Catlettsburg there.

Morehead Hopes For Swim Team

Team May Be Slower Than Last Year

Coach Downing issued the call Wednesday for men interested in swimming to report to the Senft Natatorium for practice. In reply to his request eight answered the call, four of them veterans from last year. The veterans are Morris, speedster and diving champion. Last year Morris took all comers on the low board and defeated them with room to spare. The only one capable of holding him in sight was Langdon Hay of the University of Kentucky.

Ball, Kelly, and Jackson, all distance men, round out the foursome. Ball and Jackson will be unable to practice until after the golden glove journey at Huntington, W. Va., the last of the month.

Two Stars Gone
Casper Borst, elongated Indian and one of the best distance men in the south last year, failed to return to school. He will be greatly missed in the backstroke and freestyle.

Joe Hofstetter, soft-spoken West Virginian, a speedster of Morris' type, did not return to school because of financial troubles. He, coupled with Morris and Borst, rounded out one of the most feared trios in the state. It was these three that accounted for the majority of points in the Intercollegiate meet held at Richmond last spring.

The new comers are Bell, Watson, and Radjumas. Of these Radjumas looks like the pick, but what may develop remains to be seen.

Possible Opponents

This year the opponents for the Morehead mermen may not be limited to the state alone. Marshall if they have a team, and some of the outstanding teams from Indiana are being considered as likely rivals.

Within the state, the Eagles will meet Eastern, U. of K., Louisville, Western, and any other school that boost a team.

Eagle Edge Out Centre 41-39

Take Lead 20-6 In First Ten Minutes But Let Down

A photographic finish marked the eighth basketball encounter of the Eagles here Monday night, when a whicker of snorts and whistles might have altered the final decision. The Eagles nosed out Centre in a hair-raising finish in a game marked by brilliant play by both teams, inspired by listlessness of the first water. The final score was 41-39 in favor of the Eagles.

The evening's attraction was preceded by a preliminary between two local fives, as through some misunderstanding the Centre yearlings failed to appear for the scheduled contest.

And then the fire works. The Eagles opened a barrage of shots that piled up 8 points in the first minute, before Centre got the feel of the court. At three minutes they led twelve to four, as Carter and Aphzen dropped in criss after flashy fastwork. But the brilliant star of the basketball firmament was neither Carter nor Arzen on Monday night. It was Ishmael, who tallied for a total of seventeen points to make high scoring his specialty.

Morehead at the close of the first ten minutes led 20 to 6 and let down. Centre, quick to take advantage of the opportunity poured in enough baskets to bring their count to 20-14, while the Eagles were 10-12. The score at the half was 25 to 10 with the Eagles leading. Coach Johnson had made two substitutions in the first half.

Beginning the second half, the Eagles failed to get started, missing numerous shots by hurrying their shots. Centre led by Fitzpatrick and Cooper refused to falter and tied the count in the first ten minutes and went ahead 29-26. Ishmael came through with a free throw to break the ice for Morehead and followed it with a crisp tie and take the lead which they refused to relinquish. However the Camargo High School, Camargo is coached by former Morehead College graduate and basketball star, John Francis, and has built up considerable reputation during the season. On Saturday night, the Vikings met Catlettsburg there.

Little Kings Win From Junior Team From Elliott

Both the Vikings and their Little brothers took the measure of Sandy Hook last Saturday night at the local high school gymnasium, the Kingsletts winning their battle by the score of 20-1, while the Kings themselves turned in a 33-11 result.

Two Stars Gone

Outstanding for Morehead was Lloyd Brown, son of James Brown, who accounted for eight of the Vikings points. Crisp, a midget featured for Sandy Hook copped honors for the visitors. The game marked the final game of the first semester, and the beginning of the development of a new team for the Vikings. This semester two new men will be eligible for play, Charles Tatum, who got grown, even his brother Bub of former Viking fame, and Milton Davis, elongated son of Mr. and Mrs. Paxton Davis. Both men have had considerable experience and should add considerably to the strength of the Vikings for the balance of the season.

DR. HOLTZCLAW GIVEN WRITING ASSIGNMENT

Dr. G. B. Holtzclaw, head of the history department, has recently been selected by the president of the Kentucky Academy of Social Science to edit a series of articles on social service subjects. These articles are to be released to leading Kentucky newspapers every week during the coming spring and summer.
