FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. James Gotsick, an educator/administrator with 23 years of service at Morehead State University, has assumed the role of interim director of the Appalachian Graduate Consortium, headquartered at Pikeville College.

The consortium, a partnership between MSU and Pikeville College, has offered graduate education opportunities to area residents continuously since the mid-1970s.

Announcement of Dr. Gotsick's appointment was made jointly by Dr. John C. Philley, interim vice president for academic affairs at MSU, and Dr. Charles E. Whittle, dean of the college at Pikeville.

Dr. Gotsick succeeds Charles R. Francis, a Pike County educator/administrator who had served as director since 1980.

"We owe a great debt of gratitude to Charles Francis," Dr. Philley said. "His efforts with this program over the past decade have given us a solid foundation upon which we can continue to build," the vice president said.

Dr. Gotsick will be on-site two days a week, with other visits scheduled as needed. He will be at Pikeville College from 2 to 6 p.m. on Wednesdays and from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Thursdays. Assisting him as site coordinator is Dr. Elizabeth Dowdy, a Pikeville College assistant professor of education.

A professor of psychology, Dr. Gotsick has held interim appointments as dean of Graduate and Extended Campus Program and as dean of the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences. He earned two degrees from Pennsylvania State University and the doctorate from Syracuse University. He is a recipient of MSU's most prestigious faculty awards: Distinguished Teacher in 1990 and Distinguished Researcher in 1986.

Information on the consortium or its offerings may be obtained locally by calling (606) 432-9320 or MSU's Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs toll-free at 1-800-262-7474.

MOREHEAD, Ky.- Officers for Morehead State University's Staff Congress have been selected for the 1991-92 academic year.

Teresia Parker, grants specialist in the Office of Research, Grants and Contracts, has been elected to a second one-year term as chair and Ruth Robinson, administrative secretary in Camden-Carroll Library's Office of Library and Instructional Media, will continue as secretary. Robert Carroll, an electrician in the Office of Physical Plant, will serve as vice chair.

Parker, a 1978 graduate of Morehead State, became a University staff member in 1987. She was formerly a medical assistant at the Cave Run Clinic. Daughter of Ronald and Glenna Beach of Crittenden, she is the wife of Linton Parker and has a daughter, Elizabeth, and a stepdaughter, Angela.

Carroll, a former construction worker, has been employed by the University for six years. He is the son of Vaughn and Virginia Carroll of Olive Hill. He and his wife Bonnie have two daughters: Stacy, a sophomore at West Carter High School, and Loretta, a freshman at MSU.

Robinson, a 1983 graduate of the University, is the wife of David Robinson, an MSU staff member. She has worked in the library since 1973. She is the daughter of Elmer and Lillian Crisp of Elliottville.

MSU's Staff Congress was established in 1987 to create a stronger bond with its staff members and promote cooperation among the administration, faculty, students and staff.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.-----Lexington Herald-Leader columnist Merlene Davis will speak at Morehead State University Thursday, Sept. 19, at 12:30 p.m. in the Red Room, Adron Doran University Center.

Davis began working at the Herald-Leader in 1983 with the city and state news department. She has been writing her column for the paper's Lifestyles section since 1987.

Her talk is entitled "You've Got To Throw The Dice."

The columnist's appearance, sponsored by MSU's ad hoc committee on women's studies, is one of a series of programs planned this year which will focus on women's issues, according to Dr. Judy Rogers, dean of undergraduate programs and committee chair.

"Ms. Davis' presentation promises to be practical, down-to-earth and witty," Dr. Rogers said. The hour-long program is free and open to the public.

MSU's series on women's issues also will include a symposium on Women, Technology and Ethics: "Defining the Issues of the 21st Century," slated Nov. 1-2.

PROGRAMMING TO SPAN GENERATIONS

Programming designed to provide interaction and interrelationships among different age groups was the topic for a recent workshop hosted by Morehead State University's Regional Development Services. More than 60 representatives from agencies dealing with seniors, families and youth programs were on hand to discuss how to create new levels of understanding and support among the clients they serve. Conducting the sessions was Dr. Lynn Dillard of Western Carolina University's nationally known Center for Improving Mountain Living. Among the participants were, from left, Quinn Van Nostran, long term care ombudsman; Linda Rogers of Mt. Sterling, Green Thumb program; Sue Christian of Morehead, mentor coordinator for the Retired Senior Volunteer Program; Catherine Riley of Morehead, project coordinator for RSVP, and Dr. Dillard.

'IT WAS THAT BIG'

When two Appalachian writers get together, the conversation promises to be interesting. Swapping stories here with Dr. Stuart S Sprague right, Morehead State University professor of history and author, is James Still, who recently visited MSU's campus as guest of honor at a reception and book signing session for his latest work, "The Wolfpen Articles: A Record of Appalachian Life." Still's writings have earned him acclaim as a major American literary figure.

SEVENTH ANNUAL MOREHEAD STATE REUNION: A Picture Story

OLIVE HILL, Ky.--Students who attended Morehead State Normal School or Morehead State Teachers College during the 1920s and 1930s get together once each year to reminisce about the good old days and discuss the latest happenings in their lives.

This year, marking the seventh annual event, was no different. The group included more than 20 former students and family members who gathered at Carter Caves State Park near Olive Hill.

MSU President C. Nelson Grote attended the day's activities which were coordinated by Hubert Counts of Olive Hill, a former president of the MSU Alumni Association.

Cutlines:

- 1---Among those in attendance were, front row from left, Jessie Allen Harlowe of Lexington, Shirley Counts of Morehead, Jean Counts of Olive Hill, Julia P. Blair of Mt. Dora, Fla., Hazel Calhoun of Grayson and Vivian H. Vaughn of Ashland. Second row from left, Mary Alice Jayne of Morehead, Madeline Wyant of Russell, Margaret Evans of Russell, Helen Fannin of Morehead, Jean Crosthwait of Frankfort and Anna Ridgway of Lexington. Third row from left, James Maggard of Lexington, Hubert Counts of Olive Hill, Ted Crosthwait of Frankfort, Wallace Fannin of Morehead and John Ridgway of Lexington. Back row from left, Bill Counts of Morehead, Henry Evans of Russell, Dr. Don Flatt of Morehead, MSU President C. Nelson Grote, Heman McGuire of Grayson and Max Calhoun of Grayson.
- 2---During the buffet lunch, Bill Redwine, right, MSU director of alumni relations, listened to an interesting story from Hubert Counts of Olive Hill whose wife Jean tried to hide her amusement.
- 3---Sharing memories was the theme of the day's events as was evident when President Grote talked with Julia P. Blair of Mt. Dora, Fla.

MOREHEAD Ky.--More than 1,000 area high school students are expected to visit Morehead State University's campus, Sept. 17-19, for "Meet Morehead State Days."

The activities are designed to inform students of the many opportunities available to them, according to Sandra Barker, admissions counselor. "They will be able to visit the campus, talk with current MSU students and discuss career goals and programs of study," she said.

Following their arrival at about 9:30 a.m., the students will be greeted by MSU President C. Nelson Grote and a representative of the Student Government Association.

Students from East Carter, Morgan County, Mason County and Nicholas County high schools will attend on Tuesday, Sept. 17.

On Wednesday, Sept. 18, Tollesboro, Lewis County, Rowan County, Lawrence County and Menifee County high school students will be on campus.

Planning to visit Morehead State on Thursday, Sept. 19, are students from Bath County, Elliott County, Fleming County and Montgomery County high schools.

MSU representatives will be on hand to discuss financial aid, housing, scholarships and the admissions process, Barker said. Also included in the day's agenda is a tour of the four academic colleges and a trip to the University Bookstore.

The campus visitors will be treated to lunch in the Adron Doran University Center, before leaving for their schools at 1:30 p.m.

Additional information is available from MSU's Office of Admissions at (606) 783-2000 or toll free at 1-800-262-7474.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Assessing problems in the neurological and musculoskeletal systems of infants, toddlers and preschool aged children is the subject of a nursing workshop to be held on the Morehead State University campus, Wednesday through Friday, Sept. 25-27.

The "Pediatric Assessment II" program is a two and one-half day session that will focus on the normal and abnormal development of the muscles and nervous systems of small children.

The workshop is sponsored by MSU's Continuing Education Program for nursing and allied health care professionals. The cost is $90 which includes handout materials and refreshment breaks.

Serving as faculty for the session will be Nancy Frodge, nursing instructor at the Maysville Area Vocational School. She is certified by the American Nurses Association in maternal-child health care.

Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the Eagle Dining Room, Adron Doran University Center. The program will end at 11:45 a.m. on Sept. 27.

Participants will be expected to bring a Denver Kit, Reflex Hammer and Tuning Fork to the workshop. Nurses attending the session will receive continuing education units as approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing.

Additional information is available from MSU's Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences at (606) 783-2632.

MOREHEAD, Ky.----WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University's campus, and MSU-TV Channel 12, the campus television station, will join National Public Radio in an exploration of affirmative action.

"The Great Divide: Affirmative Action in America" will delve into the successes, controversies, backlashes and dilemmas that have accompanied the implementation of affirmative action programs in the United States during the past two decades.

The weeklong NPR series will run the week of Sept. 15, with segments airing during "Morning Edition," broadcast weekdays from 6 to 9 a.m.; "All Things Considered," heard weekdays from 5 to 6:30 p.m., and "Weekend Edition," which airs from 8 to 10 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

On Tuesday, Sept. 17, at 7 p.m., WMKY and MSU-TV will air a simulcast, Affirmative Action: A Round Table Discussion. Featured on the panel will be the following MSU personnel:

Porter Dailey, vice president for administration and fiscal services; Dr. Judy Rogers, dean of undergraduate programs; Jack Jones, director of personnel services and affirmative action officer; Jerry Gore, director of minority student affairs, and Dr. Virginia E. Wheelless, director of planning, institutional research and evaluation and special assistant to the president.

Moderator for the program will be John Back, WMKY news and public affairs director. Members of the news media will be invited to ask questions.

NPR will conclude its series on Sunday, Sept. 22, with a live two-hour call-in program at 3 p.m., hosted by Susan Stamburg and Vertamae Grosvenor.

The locally-produced round table discussion may be seen in the Morehead area over Channel 12 on Simmons Cable.

Affirmative action, like few other issues, is a hot spot on the American social policy agenda, according to NPR's Deborah George, editor of the series. "Because of this, NPR has planned a thoughtful series that combines an historical overview with good reporting on the subject.

"This is important because even though affirmative action plans are widespread, many people have vague notions of how they actually work," added George.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--The heat will soon be on at Morehead State University and that could mean some welcome news for area residents needing fill material.

"When the heating system is operating, we have excess ashes which we usually offer to the general public," said Joe Planck, director of physical plant. "The ashes and cinder residue may be used as fill for roads as well as low land areas."

Those receiving the fill materials must adhere to the state's Department of Environmental Protection's regulations. The heat is scheduled to be turned on in October.

Anyone interested in obtaining ashes may call Roger Hilderbrand at the University's power plant at 783-2609, or Planck at 783-2066.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --Morehead State University will host its 12th annual Parents Weekend Friday through Sunday, Sept. 27-29.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for parents to experience the college atmosphere and participate in activities with their son or daughter." said Susette Redwine, University Center programs and special events coordinator.

The activities are very family oriented and should offer something for everyone to enjoy, Redwine added.

PW participants can start Friday night with laughter at 9 p.m. in the Academic-Athletic Center (AAC) with comedian Jeff Dunham and Peanut. Currently recognized as one of the hottest comedy acts in the country, Dunham will throw himself--at least his voice--into the evening's performance. Donations will be accepted at the door to benefit the Student Emergency Loan Fund.

Saturday begins with a continental breakfast at 9:30 a.m. in the Crager Room of the Adron Doran University Center (ADUC) followed by the Parents Association meeting at 10 a.m. All parents are encouraged to attend to ask questions, offer input or suggest projects and elect new officers.

A variety of afternoon activities are available. Among them is a golf scramble at the MSU golf course, located on U.S. 60 East. Slated to begin at noon, play is limited to the first 72 registrants.

Other options include a noon exhibition baseball game at Allen Field or demonstration by the Equestrian Team at Richardson Arena at 1:30 p.m.

Browse into the Claypool-Young Art Building to view the Folk Art and gallery exhibits, open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A Saturday evening fish fry begins at 4 p.m. on the Fields Hall Lawn. Ticket cost for the pre-game activity is $6 per person ($4 for children aged 5-10 and free for children aged 4 and under). In the event of rain, the activity will be held in the Crager Room, ADUC.

Families will show their Eagle spirit at the first home football game of the season at Jayne Stadium when MSU will take on the Pacers of the University of Tennessee-Martin at 7 p.m. Reduced ticket rates are available if purchased by noon on Friday, Sept. 27, at the Athletic Office in the AAC.

A Sunday morning brunch will be available at the Mainstreet Market in ADUC from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The cost is $5.44 per person ($3.24 for children aged 5-10 and free for children aged 4 and under).

An 11 a.m. worship experience, sponsored by the Office of Minority Student Affairs, will be held in Breckinridge Auditorium Sunday morning.

Culminating the three-day weekend will be a tour of Cave Run Lake with boats provided by Scott Creek Marina. Limited space is available for the 90-minute tour that begins promptly at 2 p.m. on Sunday afternoon.

The residence halls and other clubs and organizations will be hosting various open houses, receptions and special programs during the weekend. Parents are encouraged to check with their son or daughter for final schedule times of these activities.

Reservations are recommended for some activities. Additional information may be obtained from Redwine in the Office of Student Activities at (606) 783-2071.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --Daring high wire and trapeze artists, jugglers, illusionists, acrobats and clowns will be on hand, recapturing a little bit of yesterday for oldsters while capturing the imagination of youngsters, when the circus comes to town on Wednesday, Sept. 25.

The internationally-acclaimed Zoppe Circus Europa will bring its special magic to Morehead State University's Academic-Athletic Center as the opening event of the 1991-92 Arts in Morehead Series (AIM). Performance time is 8 p.m.

One of the featured acts of the show are highwire artists, Tino Wallenda and his sister Delilah, the last of the internationally acclaimed "Flying Wallendas."

Single event admissions may be purchased at the door prior to the show at a cost of $6 for adults and $3 for non-MSU students. MSU students with valid I.D. cards will be admitted free.

AIM, a cooperative effort of the MSU and the Morehead/Rowan County Arts Council, is offering a nine-program season this year and, according to AIM program chair Yvonne Baldwin, a season subscription is an incredible bargain for families.

Season tickets for all nine events are available at $30 for an individual, while families--no matter what their size--may subscribe to the season for $50. Season subscriptions as well as individual event tickets will be available at the door on performance night.

The Zoppe Circus Europa, a family circus which has been entertaining audiences since 1842, has been described as "one of the true legends among circus families." Alberto Zoppe, who comes from a long line of circus performers, and his wife Sandra produce the show which has delighted millions over the years. In 1992, the Zoppe Circus Europa will celebrate its 150th anniversary.

The 1991-92 AIM season also will include:

Oct. 16, North Carolina Shakespeare Festival's production of "As You Like It," 8 p.m., Button Auditorium. The North Carolina troupe, a frequent AIM performer, was here last season with "The Comedy of Errors."

Oct. 24, "Tales for a Dark Night," a one-man show with Scott Keely and featuring tales of vampires and night creatures told by stage candlelight, 8 p.m. Breckinridge Auditorium. It is not recommended for young children.

(MORE)

Nov. 10, Ballet Espanol, tracing the music and dance of the Spanish culture, 2 p.m., Breckinridge Auditorium.

Dec. 9, Mr. Jack Daniel's Original Silver Cornet Band with "Hometown Christmas," evoking memories of Christmas from the past and recreating a form of musical Americana that no longer exists, 8 p.m., Button Auditorium.

Feb. 11, The Gunod Rosser Duo, creating an evening of musical magic from the courtly dances of the 18th century to the rags of Scott Joplin on harpsichord and guitar, 8 p.m., Duncan Recital Hall.

March 7, Dance Alive!, described as a high-spirited ballet company of 10 seasoned dancers with an unusual style and recognized for its innovative choreography, 8 p.m., Button Auditorium.

April 2, "60's Rock: When the Music Mattered," a multi-media presentation by Barry Drake celebrating, examining, clarifying and putting into perspective one of the most exciting decades of music history, 8 p.m., Button Auditorium.

April 21, Saffire--The Uppity Blues Women, a blues trio performing original works and the songs of such artists as Ray Charles, Little Richard and Tina Turner, 8 p.m., Duncan Recital Hall.

Season ticket subscriptions are available now from Arts Council members and from MSU's Academy of Arts, located in 206 Rader Hall. Series subscriptions also may be ordered by writing AIM, P.O. Box 950, Morehead, KY 40351, or by calling (606) 783-2659.

Supporting memberships, a portion of which is tax deductible, are available for those people who wish to encourage similar quality programming in the future as well as support other community arts programs. The categories are:

Contributor at $75.

Patron at $125.

Benefactor at $150.

Some of the 1991-92 season programs have been made possible by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts through the Southern Arts Foundation, of which the Kentucky Arts Council is a member.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --Morehead State University's Water Testing Laboratory has been designated the Principal Microbiology Laboratory for the entire state of Kentucky.

Since the Commonwealth of Kentucky is considered a "primacy state"--one that is of primary concern to the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA)--it must provide certification for all its state laboratories and oversee the operation and maintenance of drinking-water testing laboratories. It is also required to have a State Microbiology Laboratory capable of analyzing every contaminant included in the drinking-water regulations.

According to Dr. Ted Pass, director of the University's Water Testing Lab, MSU's laboratory has proven to be the only one in the state that meets the requirements set forth by the USEPA. It is also the only lab in the state that has the capabilities of identifying waterborne pathogens, thus allowing state workers to determine the cause of water related disease outbreaks.

"We will be operating under federal jurisdiction to assist the Division of Water in analyzing water samples from all over the state and helping communities identify problems in their water systems. We were certified by the USEPA in February and our contract with the state of Kentucky began in April," said Dr. Pass.

By agreement, the federal government provided the state with money to run the Principal Microbiology Lab and the state provided money for Morehead State to purchase some new equipment to bring the lab up to USEPA standards.

According to Rita Wright, laboratory manager, the MSU water testing lab is one of 30 laboratories in the state which test and analyze water samples. The only other university-operated laboratory in the state is Western Kentucky University.

"Normally, our lab tests water samples for approximately 60 public and private water systems monthly. In the last year the lab has analyzed a total of 3,041 samples in nearly 47 counties," said Wright. "Duties from the state will be above and beyond what the lab already does," Wright added.

The University laboratory provides practical experience for students majoring in biology and environmental sciences by training them to become water analysts and gives them the opportunity to become certified.

Participation in several projects have resulted in regional and national honors for MSU's lab. An ongoing project with the University of Louisville's Kidney Disease Program involves the study and evaluation of water used for the preparation of dialysate--the solution used for people on hemodialysis.

The project, which involves nearly 50 dialysis clinics in five states, has already resulted in the publication of five articles in scientific journals.

Hach, a company that manufactures equipment, chemicals and supplies for water testing labs, recently chose Morehead State as one of six independent labs nationwide to test its products for EPA approval.

Additional information on the water testing process may be obtained from the MSU Water Testing Laboratory at (606) 783-2961.

MOREHEAD, KY 40351-1689

Sept. 13, 1991
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky. --Fall enrollment at Morehead State University is up for the sixth straight year, according to preliminary figures released today.

MSU's fall headcount enrollment is 8,750 as compared with 8,622 in fall 1990, representing a 1.5 percent increase.

The number of students taking a full load of classes (12 or more credit hours) also grew with 6,648 enrolled full-time, up 1 percent over that figure for fall 1990.

Fall enrollment not only has continued to shatter University records, but for MSU President C. Nelson Grote it means a personal record in his professional career has remained unbroken.

"In 21 years as head of institutions of higher education, I have seen enrollment growth every year," Dr. Grote noted. Since he became president at MSU in 1987, the University's enrollment has grown by 35 percent.

This fall's modest increase, according to the president, is an indication that enrollment at MSU has begun to stabilize. "I think that over the next few years, we'll see growth in increments of 1 to 3 percent per year, rather than the dramatic growth of the past," he said.

Housing statistics for this fall also have MSU officials smiling. With the addition of 215 new spaces this fall, campus housing is at 98 percent of standard capacity for the first time in several years, rather than at expanded capacity.

"This means the 3,706 students living in campus housing have a greatly improved living and learning environment," said Mike Mincey, vice president for Student Life and dean of students.

"I'm sure the crowded conditions in recent years may have influenced some students to commute or seek alternative housing off-campus," Mincey said. "Our return to standard occupancy housing also will generate renewed interest for University housing in the future," he added.

The following is a comparison of the 1991 and 1990 fall enrollment by class at this time; however the class breakdown figures will change as additional information is added to the data base.

CLASS	PRELIMINARY FALL 1991	FINAL FALL 1990
Freshman	3,083	2,953
Sophomore	1,380	1,557
Junior	1,266	1,252
Senior	1,479	1,321
Graduate	1,542	1,539
TOTAL	8,750	8,622

The 1991 figure not only includes freshmen, but also new students who transferred to MSU this fall, who are yet to be classified.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--The works of four Morehead State University Department of Art faculty members will be on display Sept. 25 through Nov. 1 in the gallery, Claypool Young Art Building on the MSU campus.

A reception, which is free and open to the public, will be held on Wednesday Sept. 25, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the gallery.

The exhibit, entitled "The D'Lemon's Dilemma," will include a variety of mixed media, sculpture, paintings and drawings. Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., weekdays and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturdays.

The artists include Kurt J. Coleman, assistant professor, along with Yuko Fuchigami, William E. Keith and Carrie Lyn Peterson, lecturers.

A Louisville native, Coleman worked for the North Carolina Arts Council where he was an assistant to the visual arts director before joining MSU's staff in August. A participant of the Black Scholars Program at Penn State University in 1980, he earned an M.F.A. degree from the Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills, Mich., and a B.F.A. degree from the Art Academy of Cincinnati.

Fuchigami comes to MSU from Japan by way of the Savannah College of Art and Design where she received an M.F.A. degree in painting in May. She holds a B.F.A. degree in painting from the Aichi Prefectural Fine Art University and a B.S. degree in biology from Kyushu University.

Another graduate of the Savannah College of Art and Design where he received an M.F.A. in painting, Keith has been owner/publisher of "In Art" magazine in Houston, Texas. He earned a B.F.A. from Memphis College of Art. A published writer, he has exhibited in numerous shows in the states as well as overseas.

Peterson also attended the Savannah College of Art and Design where she received an M.F.A. degree in photography earlier this year. A frequent presenter of photographic workshops, she was a former instructor at the University of Maine at Augusta. She earned a B.A. in radio/television broadcasting from Westminister College in New Wilmington, Pa.

MOREHEAD Ky. --Morehead State University will present the beauty, art and culture of Taiwan, the Republic of China, in a special performance on Wednesday, Oct. 2, beginning at 7 p.m. in Button Auditorium.

Coordinated by a University-wide committee, the appearance of the Chinese Youth Goodwill Mission from Taipei will be an addition to the Arts in Morehead (AIM) 1991-92 season. The performance is free and open to the public.

A reception, sponsored by MSU's Student Government Association, offering the public an opportunity to meet the visitors will follow in Button Drill Room.

Other special programs to enhance the cultural exchange are planned prior to the Mission's arrival and during their stay.

"We are very fortunate that Morehead State University is one of the group's stops during its 1991 tour," said MSU President C. Nelson Grote. "The Goodwill Mission's visit offers us a unique opportunity not only to glimpse a different culture but also for our students to share a bit of Eastern Kentucky's customs with our guests."

The Goodwill Mission Program, now in its 18th year, was designed to provide a cross cultural exchange through performance and friendship. The 18 young performers visiting North America this year are students attending colleges and universities in Taiwan. They were selected by a strict competitive process.

The program includes opera, dance, music, folk and social customs and forms of martial arts, performed with the magic and splendor that has long been a part of the Chinese tradition.

The group, composed of 9 males and 9 females, uses special lighting effects and costume changes to create a spectacular performance which promises to awe young and old alike.

While visiting MSU, the Chinese students will share their culture with students in the public schools as well. On Tuesday, Oct. 1, they will preview their performance at the Rowan County Middle School at 9:30 a.m.

The MSU campus will prepare for the Mission's arrival by introducing Chinese art to the public. An exhibit will be on display in the third floor lobby, Adron Doran University Center, Sept. 25 through Oct. 8.

Dr. Bill Booth, professor of art, will lecture on Chinese art on Monday, Sept. 30, in the Red Room, ADUC. His talk is free and open to the public.

On Tuesday, Oct. 1, the Cosmopolitan Club will continue this cultural exploration with the presentation of a typical food--egg rolls. The group will pass out this sample of traditional Chinese fare on the second floor of the University Center from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Chinese students attending the University of Kentucky will give calligraphy demonstrations on Tuesday, Oct. 2, in the University Center.

Fields Hall, on the campus of Morehead (KY) State University, opened its doors as a residence hall in 1927, five years after MSU became a state institution. Today, following a $3 million renovation project, it is one of two vintage residence halls which have been redesigned to offer students contemporary campus housing based on the cluster living concept. MSU is a regional university meeting the educational needs of Eastern Kentucky and providing outreach services to its service area.

PIKEVILLE, Ky.--Morehead State University representatives will host an information night in Pikeville on Tuesday, Oct. 1, to inform prospective students and their parents of the opportunities available on the campus.

The "Meet Morehead State" program will begin at 7 p.m. at the Landmark Inn.

"Because it may be inconvenient for students to visit the campus, we want to provide information at a location that is accessible to them," said Sandra Barker, admissions counselor. "This is a perfect opportunity to talk with a variety of persons--current students and faculty--and ask specific questions about the programs MSU offers and career possibilities available in various fields."

The evening's activities will follow an informal format beginning with registration and a videotape of campus life. Information about admissions, academic programs, student life, scholarships, campus housing and athletics will be provided.

MSU officials are including a special session on student financial aid and paying for college, Barker said.

Additional information is available from MSU's Office of Admissions, (606) 783-2000, or toll free at 1-800-262-7474 in Kentucky and 1-800-354-2090 from adjoining states.

SLADE, Ky.--Expanding the knowledge base of nurses regarding patient education is the focus of a workshop to be held at the Natural Bridge State Park in Slade on Tuesday, Sept. 24.

The "Creativity in Patient Teaching" program is a one half day session that will discuss legal and ethical issues that may impact patient education, characteristics of adult learners, and related teaching tools and strategies.

The workshop, sponsored by Morehead State University's Continuing Education Program for nursing and allied health care professionals, will begin with registration at 12:30 p.m. with class to start at 1 p.m. The cost is $24 which includes handout materials and refreshment breaks.

Serving as faculty for the session will be Kathy Nelson, director of nursing at Clark County Medical Center in Winchester.

Nurses attending the session will receive continuing education units as approved by the Kentucky Board of Nursing.

Additional information is available from MSU's Department of Nursing and Allied Health Sciences at (606) 783-2632.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's newly established Institute for Correctional Research and Training has begun implementing programs to train area correctional facility personnel.

In addition to this service role, the institute also will provide faculty members and students opportunities for research within the field of criminology.

Housed within MSU's Department of Sociology, Social Work and Corrections, it was established through appropriations by the 1990 general assembly.

The institute's mission is to assist local prisons in training and educating personnel, while providing a rich learning environment through supervised internships and research projects for students, according to Dr. David Rudy, department chair.

"The original idea was to serve as a liaison with facilities like the new Eastern Kentucky Correctional Complex (EKCC) in Morgan County and to conduct research that will lead to academic and scholastic publications and promote Morehead State's reputation in the field of criminology," said Dr. Rudy.

Currently, the institute is conducting a Leadership Development Series at the Federal Correctional Institution in Ashland.

MSU faculty presenting workshops for the series are Dr. Byron Johnson, institute director; Ted Marshall, professor of social work, and Mike Seelig, associate professor of social work. The first session was held last month and others are scheduled for Sept. 26 and Oct. 25.

Besides his role as director, Dr. Johnson will teach courses in criminology and corrections. A criminologist, he has a background in prison systems and an interest in conducting research in this field.

According to Dr. Johnson, the institute will utilize the research skills of other criminologists in the department, including assistant professors of sociology Dr. Karl Kunkel and Dr. Neil Websdale.

"We would like to work with local probation and parole units as well as the prisons," said Dr. Johnson. "Our first priority is to let area prison systems know MSU is here to help in whatever way possible. We are interested in conducting various research projects and have already submitted two federal grant proposals that hopefully will generate some external funding."

Dr. Johnson previously taught at Memphis State University in Tenn., and University of Dayton in Ohio. He received a Ph.D. in criminology from Florida State University in Tallahassee and holds two master's degrees; a psychology degree from Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro, Tenn., and a criminal justice degree from University of Tennessee at Chattanooga.

His varied professional experience includes working as a probation/parole officer, a counselor in the Federal Correctional Institution in Tallahassee, and as a participant in internships and graduate research projects to various prison systems.

Dr. Rudy credits MSU President C. Nelson Grote for securing the funding for the institute. "I wrote a concept paper for the project, but Dr. Grote was the one who went to Frankfort and lobbied to have the idea funded in the state legislature's budget," Dr. Rudy stated.

Additional information may be obtained from the Institute for Correctional Research and Training at (606) 783-2253.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --Morehead State University's Student Government Association will present "An Evening with Sinbad" Friday, Oct. 4, at 9:30 p.m. in the Academic Athletic Complex, as part of the 1991 Homecoming activities.

There will be a limited number of reserved seats for the performance when purchased on a first come, first serve basis. Cost is $5 for MSU full-time students and $10 for the general public. Active alumni may contact the Alumni Association for a special discount.

Tickets are on sale now at the Peoples Store in Morehead, the MSU Ashland Extended Campus Center in Ashland, the MSU Licking Valley Extended Campus Center in West Liberty and the Office of Student Activities on campus.

Sinbad has completed his fourth season on the NBC sitcom "It's A Different World." He will co-star in the Paramount production of "Necessary Roughness" scheduled for release this month. His most recent role is that of official spokesperson for Reebok's Black Top basketball shoes.

This will be the comedian's second appearance on Morehead State's campus. He first entertained students in 1985 after winning the finals on the television program Star Search.

MORHEAD. Ky. --A Morehead State University staff member has been invited to share his knowledge with the people of Quito, Ecuador.

William DeBord, director of the Eastern Kentucky Health and Science Information Network (EKHSIN), housed in MSU s Camden-Carroll Library, will depart Sept. 26 for the South American nation where he will hold two workshops to provide information on the library network.

The invitation was extended through the coordinated efforts of the U.S. Embassy, Ecuadorian National Council of Science and Technology and the System for Information and Documentation and Technical Information (SIDET).

To prepare for the trip, DeBord has been reading books on the country and making arrangements to fulfill the medical requirements. While he has traveled overseas in the past--to Europe, Mexico and Canada--the challenge of this trip will be the language.

"My scheduled guide does not speak English, only Spanish," said DeBord whose language background is French.

DeBord believes it was the result of the "luck of the draw" that provided him this opportunity. When he enrolled in the University of Kentucky three years ago to work on his master's degree, little did he know that one of his classmates would become a lifelong friend.

Today that classmate, Jorge Sosa of Ecuador, is the bibliographic expert with SIDET. It was through his efforts that this invitation was extended.

The workshops in Ecuador will give DeBord an opportunity to discuss the workings of EKHSIN, a consortium of seven hospitals plus the Allied Health Education Center and MSU. The network, now in its 14th year, is member supported and is currently in the process of implementing a $65,000 grant from the National Library of Medicine.

Many of the topics to be discussed in Ecuador will be drawn from DeBord's daily routine--online searching, electronic interlibrary loan, databases and staff training. Current members of the EKHSIN network are Humana Hospital - Louisa, Highlands Regional Medical Center in Prestonsburg, Meadowview Regional Hospital in Maysville, Our Lady of Bellefonte Hospital in Ashland, Our Lady of the Way Hospital in Martin, Pikeville Methodist Hospital in Pikeville, and St. Claire Medical Center in Morehead.

Because of the similarities of the two regions, DeBord expects to be very much at home in Ecuador. "Both cultures are family-oriented, deeply religious, heavily into the folk arts and crafts, stories and folk music. "The arts and crafts common to the Appalachian people are much like those made by the Ecuadorian people," the Ashland native said.

"The majority of the people are not financially well off, but take great pride in their culture, history and region. And there are many geographical similarities," he noted.

Prior to joining the MSU staff last year, DeBord worked as an information specialist for the Ohio Valley Appalachian Regional Geriatric Educational Center at Sanders-Brown Research on Aging at the UK Medical Center.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University will hold its annual Career Information Day on Wednesday, Oct. 2, in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center.

Company representatives will meet with potential employees from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

This is a good opportunity for MSU students and alumni to learn more about a company and see what career opportunities might be open, according to Steve Swim, assistant director of Career Planning and Placement and coordinator of the day's activities.

Scheduled to participate in the information day are employers from the private business sector, government agencies and financial institutions as well as representatives from graduate schools in the surrounding states, Swim said.

"This is an excellent time for freshmen through graduate students to ask questions about what it takes to enter the job market," he said.

Additional information about the Career Information Day is available from Swim at (606) 783-2233.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's Regional Development Services has announced the appointment of two VISTA Literacy Project volunteers: Jim and Linda Bailey, a husband and wife team from Sardinia, Ohio.

The Baileys, both certified literacy instructors, will teach adult literacy in Rowan County.

The couple, who have raised four children, decided to become VISTA volunteers because it was a way of helping others. "It offered us a good chance to do what we wanted to do--help others who want to learn," Jim said.

Their last assignment was teaching adult literacy in Hazard. "I would go back to Perry County in a heartbeat," Jim said. "Those people wanted to learn 24 hours a day."

"There is a tremendous satisfaction in helping someone to read," said Linda. "Most of the people we taught had quit school to go to work.

"We care, sometimes I think we care too much," Linda added.

A former heavy equipment operator and blueprint reader, Jim served as regional supervisor for the National Farmers Organization of Ohio. He is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati where he earned a bachelor's degree in radio-television.

Linda previously worked for Mac Tools in Georgetown, Ohio, where she was a machine operator, quality control technician and welder. She attended the University of Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

Additional information on the VISTA program is available from MSU's Adult Learning Center at (606) 783-2871 or Regional Development Services at (606) 783-2077.

MOREHEAD, Ky. --If advance reservations are any indication, Morehead State University's 1991 Homecoming Weekend may be one of the biggest in recent years, according to Bill Redwine director of Alumni Relations.

Scheduled Friday through Sunday, Oct. 4-6, the weekend brings crowds that roar and fun galore as MSU celebrates Homecoming with all the traditional events, from the Welcome Back Alumni Reception and the Athletic Hall of Fame Banquet to the football game and crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

"With reservations for the Hall of Fame dinner already exceeding last year's, we are expecting the biggest turnout for Homecoming in recent years," Redwine said.

Activities will begin with a Faculty/Staff Coffee in the Alumni Center Friday, Oct. 4, from 8:30 to 11 a.m. There will be a Welcome Reception for alumni and friends of the University Friday evening from 5 to 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

Five individuals will be inducted into the MSU Athletic Hall of Fame at a dinner to be held in the Crager Room of the Adron Doran University Center (ADUC) at 7 p.m. Tickets are $10 per person and must be purchased in advance through the Office of Alumni Relations.

The inductees will include football greats Larry Workman and E. TeBay Rose, basketball stars Donna Stephens and the late Henderson Thompson and baseball's Jody Hamilton.

Homecoming registration will be held on Saturday, Oct. 5, at 9 a.m. in the main lobby of ADUC. Complimentary coffee and juices will be served.

Many mid-morning activities are scheduled. At 10 a.m. alumni band members will register and rehearse in Baird Music Hall for their appearance at the football game. At the same time, the alumni soccer game will be held in Jayne Stadium.

A gathering of past SGA presidents will take place at 10:30 a.m. in the Eagle Dining Room, ADUC. The alumni baseball game, to be played on Allen Field, will begin at 11 a.m.

A Homecoming brunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Crager Room, ADUC. Tickets are $7 for adults and $3 for children under 12 and must be ordered in advance.

Activities scheduled at 11 30 a.m. include a cheerleader reunion in the Eagle Meeting Room and a Greek alumni reception in the Red Room, both in ADUC.

This year's Homecoming football game pits the MSU Eagles against the Liberty University Flames. The kick-off is 1:30 p.m. in Jayne Stadium with the Homecoming Queen coronation at halftime. A special ticket price of $5 for reserved seats and $3 for general admission is available if purchased in advance through the Office of Alumni Relations.

The annual post-game fish fry, which is free and open to the public, will be held behind the Alumni Center in the parking lot.

As part of the Homecoming activities the Student Government Association will sponsor "An Evening With Sinbad" on Friday, Oct. 4, at 9:30 p.m. in the Academic-Athletic Center. Ticket cost is $5 for MSU full-time students with a valid I.D. and $10 for the general public. A limited number of reserved seats will be available on a first come, first serve basis for the comedian's performance.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--It's a day of traveling, visiting and learning it's Morehead State University Small Business Development Center's fourth annual "Pre-Business Orientation on Tour" on Tuesday, Oct. 1.

The one-day bus tour will include on-site visits to several businesses--in Bath, Fleming, Mason and Rowan Counties--with lectures between stops.

The cost is $10 which includes handout materials and pre-registration is required. Senior citizens and students will pay $5. Arrangements will be made for the handicapped when requested in advance.

The day's activities will begin with registration at 8:45 a.m. at 109 Downing Hall. Participants will board the bus at 9:30 a.m. for the tour which includes six scheduled stops before returning to the campus at 4 p.m. Each person is responsible for their lunch.

During the tour, discussion will focus on numerous aspects of opening a business, including the "how to's" of going into business in Kentucky, failures/pitfalls to avoid, importance of a business plan, legal structures and break-even analysis, according to Ernest Begley, SBDC general manager and tour guide.

The workshop is co-sponsored by MSU's College of Business, East Kentucky Small Business Development Center, the Kentucky Cabinet for Economic Development Small Business Division, Morehead/Rowan County Chamber of Commerce, Mt. Sterling/Montgomery County Chamber of Commerce, Buffalo Trace Area Development District and Gateway Area Development District.

Additional information is available by calling SBDC at (606) 783-2895. The Small Business Development Center is administered through MSU's College of Business.

HAZARD, Ky.--Morehead State University representatives will host an information night in Hazard on Thursday, Oct. 3, to inform prospective students and their parents of the opportunities available on the campus.

The "Meet Morehead State" program will begin at 7 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

"Because it may be inconvenient for students to visit the campus, we want to provide information at a location that is accessible to them," said Sandra Barker, admissions counselor. "This is a perfect opportunity to talk with a variety of persons--current students and faculty--and ask specific questions about the programs MSU offers and career possibilities available in various fields."

The evening's activities will follow an informal format beginning with registration and a videotape of campus life. Information about admissions, academic programs, student life, scholarships, campus housing and athletics will be provided.

MSU officials are including a special session on student financial aid and paying for college, Barker said.

Additional information is available from MSU's Office of Admissions, (606) 783-2000, or toll free at 1-800-262-7474 in Kentucky and 1-800-354-2090 from adjoining states.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky. -- Out of print since 1987, "Eastern Kentucky: A Pictorial History," a visual chronicle of 49 Eastern Kentucky counties from pioneer days to the present, is available again.

The volume is described by its author, Dr. Stuart S. Sprague, as a "visual feast, offering a fresh look at a region that all too often is seen as just a series of stereotypes."

Recognized as an Appalachian scholar, Dr. Sprague is a professor of history at Morehead State University, where he began teaching in 1968.

Now in its second printing, the book was published originally in 1986 by Donning Publishing Co., Norfolk, Va. The pictorial history may be purchased from the MSU Bookstore for $29.95, plus tax. Copies will be shipped to purchasers desiring them at a cost of $35 which includes tax as well as shipping and handling charges.

The nearly 500 photographs were taken primarily between 1884 and the 1940s. Many of them are either from the author's own postcard collection or the Clayton Collection of circa 1915 photos. Dr. Sprague also gathered additional photographs from the National Archives and Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., as well as from various Kentucky repositories.

A graduate of Yale and New York universities, Dr. Sprague is the author of eight books, including several designed as genealogical research tools.

Book orders, accompanied with payment, may be sent to the MSU Bookstore, Morehead State University, 100 University Boulevard, Morehead, KY 40351-1689.

Telephone orders also will be accepted on approved credit cards. The telephone number is (606) 783-2081.

Recognized as an Appalachian scholar, Dr. Sprague is a professor of history at Morehead State University, where he began teaching in 1968.

Among the book's highlights are a sketch of Ashland's Aldine Hotel done by a Civil War soldier and a postcard print of the Boyd County courthouse.

"One can gain a better appreciation of the historical base for Boyd County's economy through some of these photographs," said Dr. Sprague. His book provides glimpses of the steamboats on the Big Sandy and Ohio Rivers as well as the railroads bringing coal and iron to Boyd County, which created a transportation network supporting Catlettsburg's timber trade and Ashland's iron industry.

Recognized as an Appalachian scholar, Dr. Sprague is a professor of history at Morehead State University, where he began teaching in 1968.

Among the highlights are two duotone pages displaying the photographic artistry of Marian Post Wolcott. Although she was in Eastern Kentucky for less than a month in 1940, her human interest photographs are considered classics, Dr. Sprague noted.

Other Breathitt County memories include school scenes from Big Rock and Fugate, a funeral, a Frozen Creek granny and grandchild, a mailman on Morris Fork and the Jackson swinging bridge.

Also featured are views of the old Imperial Hotel, the courthouse, an early photograph of Lees Collegiate Institute and two photographs taken for the 1904 World's Fair in St. Louis.

Now in its second printing, the book was published originally in 1986 by Donning Publishing Co., Norfolk, Va. The pictorial history may be purchased from the MSU Bookstore for $29.95, plus tax. Carter County is one of the counties prominently featured in this volume.

A "bird's eye" view photograph of Olive Hill--one of the earliest known--taken just a few years after the railroad reached the town and a postcard view of Grayson's 1898 High School are among the many Carter County highlights.

The volume also features an 1875 map of the Tygart Valley Iron Company's land in Olive Hill, a photograph of an 11-foot thick fire brick clay bed and a postcard depicting the General Refractory Company's brickworks.

Among the visual highlights of Grayson are photographs of the Bagley Memorial Methodist Church and a view of the Courthouse just after completion in 1907.

Other photographs from Carter County's past include the Mount Savage Furnace, Hitchins School around 1930 and 1884 shots of Olive Hill and the clay mines.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky. -- Out of print since 1987, "Eastern Kentucky: A Pictorial History," a visual chronicle of 49 Eastern Kentucky counties from pioneer days to the present, is available again.

The volume is described by its author, Dr. Stuart S. Sprague, as a "visual feast, offering a fresh look at a region that all too often is seen as just a series of stereotypes."

Recognized as an Appalachian scholar, Dr. Sprague is a professor of history at Morehead State University, where he began teaching in 1968.

In fact the oldest photograph in the book is a Civil War view of the covered bridge linking Camp Nelson and Garrard County. Other vintage photographs include views of "Pleasant Retreat," Gov William Owsley's home and Camp Dick Robinson. The Bradley Kincaid birthplace, Lancaster Public High School in 1913 and the courthouse circle also are featured.

Now in its second printing, the book was published originally in 1986 by Donning Publishing Co., Norfolk, Va. The pictorial history may be purchased from the MSU Bookstore for $29.95, plus tax. Copies will be shipped to purchasers desiring them at a cost of $35 which includes tax as well as shipping and handling charges.

The nearly 500 photographs were taken primarily between 1884 and the 1940s. Many of them are either from the author's own postcard collection or the Clayton Collection of circa 1915 photos. Dr. Sprague also gathered additional photographs from the National Archives and Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., as well as from various Kentucky repositories.

Eastern Kentucky University is featured with views of the 1930 marching band, the Jackson-Clay Country Club, the Keen Johnson Student Union, the inauguration of President Robert Martin in 1960 and the hog rifle being turned over to Martin By Dr. Adron Doran, MSU's president.

Other photographs depicting Richmond's past include the old colored school, a view of downtown circa 1900, the Glyndon Hotel, the courthouse in the 1930s, the post office and a midcentury street scene photograph from Begley's Drug Store up toward the Glyndon.

Now in its second printing, the book was published originally in 1986 by Donning Publishing Co., Norfolk, Va. The pictorial history may be purchased from the MSU Bookstore for $29.95, plus tax. Copies will be shipped to purchasers desiring them at a cost of $35 which includes tax as well as shipping and handling charges.

The nearly 500 photographs were taken primarily between 1884 and the 1940s. Many of them are either from the author's own postcard collection or the Clayton Collection of circa 1915 photos. Dr. Sprague also gathered additional photographs from the National Archives and Library of Congress in Washington, D.C., as well as from various Kentucky repositories.

A graduate of Yale and New York universities, Dr. Sprague is the author of eight books, including several designed as genealogical research tools.

Book orders, accompanied with payment, may be sent to the MSU Bookstore, Morehead State University, 100 University Boulevard, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. Telephone orders also will be accepted on approved credit cards. The telephone number is (606) 783-2081.

ASHLAND, Ky. - Morehead State University's Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs will host an information session at Ashland Community College on Thursday, Oct. 3.

The program will be held in Room A106 from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The session is designed to bring information on MSU's offerings to those students who have completed sufficient community college coursework and are considering enrolling in a four year program, according to Dr. Marc Glasser, dean of MSU's Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs.

"Students will be able to explore the options of transferring to Morehead State's campus or taking classes at an extended campus center and information also will be available on graduate programs," Dr. Glasser said.

MSU offers classes at the MSU Ashland Extended Campus Center, MSU Licking Valley Extended Campus Center in West Liberty, and Big Sandy Extended Campus Center in Prestonsburg as well at its regional sites in Jackson, Maysville, Mt. Sterling, Prestonsburg and Whitesburg. Graduate course work also is offered through the Appalachian Graduate Consortium in Pikeville.

On hand for the event will be representatives from admissions, the graduate and extended campus programs offices, and financial aid, plus faculty members from education, business and the baccalaureate nursing programs.

Similar sessions will be held at Hazard Community College, Oct. 9; Southeast Community College in Whitesburg, Oct. 15; Maysville Community College, Oct. 17, and Prestonsburg Community College, Oct. 23.

Additional information is available from MSU's Graduate and Extended Campus Programs at (606) 783-2039.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University employees have succeeded in demonstrating that they care about their institution, by exceeding a fund raising challenge given last spring.

When Ashland Oil Foundation pledged $750,000 to MSU over a five year period, half of that commitment was in the form of a challenge grant to be matched by the University each year.

At that time, MSU President C. Nelson Grote announced that the first $75,000 would be raised on campus. "We as a University community need to demonstrate that we are willing to help ourselves before we ask others to help us," Dr. Grote said.

The campus-wide campaign, "Excellence In All That We Do," resulted in nearly $80,000 being raised in a six week period through the efforts of a committee headed by Dr. John R. Duncan, professor of education, and supported by Robert F. Howerton, director of development.

The committee of volunteer solicitors included active and retired faculty and staff members.

"All members of our MSU family should be proud of how they have shown their support to the University," Dr. Grote said. "Our alumni and other friends will be impressed that we who work here are as committed to MSU's mission as we ask those outside the campus environment to be."

The campus contributions were designated for the University's Progress Fund, endowment funds, departmental operating funds, library uses, athletics and other University programs.

Expressing his appreciation to those who helped make it a success, Dr. Duncan noted that the campaign elicited a greater response from the campus family as compared to others recently. "My colleagues realized the importance of meeting this challenge, which directly benefits them.

"We have a great need for private gifts at Morehead State and because we have stepped forward to help meet that need, others will follow our example," said Howerton. "I am proud of my fellow staff members and faculty friends who came forward to support this effort which benefits our students and programs."

Ashland Oil's gift represented the largest private contribution in MSU's history and, with the University match, its value could exceed $1 million over the life of the gift.

The funds from Ashland Oil will be used for faculty/staff development, equipment, scholarships and faculty research. A portion also will be earmarked for MSU's efforts to enhance educational reform in its service region.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University has received approval to add two clinical education sites to its Radiologic Technology Program, bringing the total number of clinical centers to 12.

The Joint Review Committee on Education in Radiologic Technology (JRCERT) has recognized Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington and HCA King's Daughters Memorial Hospital in Frankfort as affiliates with MSU's program.

Students in the 24-month long program spend half their time in the classroom and the remainder gaining "hands-on" experience at various hospital affiliates, according to Andrew Woodward, clinical program coordinator.

"The addition of Good Samaritan Hospital will provide students with a true urban experience. Students will perform the same kind of services at Good Samaritan that they provide in other more rural settings, but they will have the opportunity to experience a different environment and to work with a different type of patient population," said Woodward.

HCA King's Daughters Memorial Hospital in Frankfort, operated by the Hospital Corporation of America, represents an urban state capital environment in which students will have an excellent opportunity for growth in their clinical experience, noted Woodward.

Other clinical education centers associated with MSU's Radiologic Technology Program include: Hazard Appalachian Regional Hospital, Highlands Regional Hospital in Prestonsburg, Humana Hospital-Lake Cumberland in Somerset, Humana Hospital-Louisa, Mary Chiles Hospital in Mt. Sterling, Meadowview Regional Hospital in Maysville, Methodist Hospital in Pikeville, Morgan County Appalachian Regional Hospital in West Liberty, Pattie A. Clay Hospital in Richmond and St. Claire Medical Center in Morehead.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Student Government Association will present "1964: As The Beatles" in a free concert on Thursday, Oct. 10, in the Academic-Athletic Center at 7 30 p.m.

The group is back by popular demand according to Susette Redwine, University programs and special events coordinator. "A dance floor will be set up in front of the stage to accommodate dancing during the concert," added Redwine.

1964 has been featured on numerous nationally televised programs such as Entertainment Tonight, PM Magazine, the USA Network, the Nashville Network and scores of other local television and radio programs.

In addition, the group recently completed eight Beatles tunes for the sound track to the motion picture "Concrete Angel."

The performers Mark Benson as John Lennon, Gary Grimes as Paul McCartney, Tom Work as George Harrison and Greg George as Ringo Starr--have spent years researching the "Fab Four."

Through the vintage costumes, haircuts, mannerisms and sound, the group has created an authentic and endearing tribute to the Beatles.

The musicians will present nearly 100 minutes of the Beatles' songs from a repertoire of more than 50 of their smash hits.

PAINTSVILLE, Ky. -Morehead State University representatives will host an information night in Paintsville on Tuesday, Oct. 8, to inform prospective students and their parents of the opportunities available on the campus.

The "Meet Morehead State" program will begin at 7 p.m. at the Carriage House.

"Because it may be inconvenient for students to visit the campus, we want to provide information at a location that is accessible to them," said Sandra Barker, admissions counselor. "This is a perfect opportunity to talk with a variety of persons--current students and faculty--and ask specific questions about the programs MSU offers and career possibilities available in various fields."

The evening's activities will follow an informal format beginning with registration and a videotape of campus life. Information about admissions, academic programs, student life, scholarships, campus housing and athletics will be provided.

MSU officials are including a special session on student financial aid and paying for college, Barker said.

Additional information is available from MSU's Office of Admissions, (606) 783-2000, or toll free at 1-800-262-7474 in Kentucky and 1-800-354-2090 from adjoining states.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Inscape, Morehead State University's student literary/art magazine, is sponsoring a contest for student writers.

First place awards of $50 each and second place awards of $25 each will be presented to winners in each of these categories: poetry, fiction and black/white art.

Only MSU students are eligible to enter, but they may be full or part time students taking classes either on campus or at any of the University's regional sites, according to Dr. Michelle Boisseau, associate professor of English and magazine adviser.

The deadline for the writing competitions is noon Wednesday, Oct. 23, and copies of the submission requirements may be obtained at 103 Combs Building. Additional information on the literary contest may be obtained by writing Dr. Michelle Boisseau, Morehead State University, UPO 779, or by calling her at (606) 783-2201 or the department at (606) 783-2185.

Artists desiring to enter the black and white art competition may contact Robert Franzini professor of art, by writing him at Morehead State University, UPO 981 or calling him at (606) 783-2771 or (606) 783-2766.

Any students interested in joining the Inscape staff are welcome to attend the weekly meetings, held each Wednesday at 3 p.m., in Faculty House 3, behind the Combs Building.

MSU'S RV ELDERHOSTEL PROGRAM: A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Regional Development Services is conducting its first "RV Elderhostel," a special program for those who enjoy touring the country in recreational vehicles. More than two dozen RV enthusiasts are spending the week at "The Outpost" at Cave Run Lake hearing about the area's forestry from Evelyn Whitt of the U.S. Forestry Service; learning about the white-tail deer from Dr. Roland Burns, MSU professor of geography and active conservationist; observing the area's wildlife with Fred Busroe, associate professor of biology, and gaining a perspective on geological features of Appalachia from Dr. John C. Philley, interim vice president for academic affairs and certified professional geologist.

The group visited MSU's Folk Art Collection and made several field trips, including one to Cascade Box Canyon. Also on tap today is a visit to the Morgan County Sorghum Festival. RDS Director George Eyster is the coordinator for MSU's Elderhostel program.

Cutlines:

- 1---The special RV Elderhostel drew participants from all over the United States. Taking time to get acquainted here are, Lola Larson from Encinitas, Calif., Esther Peterson of Mason City, Iowa, Eric Larson of Encinitas, Virginia L. Wagner of McGaheysville, Va., and Merrill "Pete" Peterson of Mason City.
- 2---Elderhostel participants listened intently as Dr. John C. Philley, MSU's interim vice president for academic affairs and certified professional geologist, explained some of the special geological features of the Appalachian mountains and especially of this region.

THE BEATLES ARE BACK AT MSU!

The Student Government Association at Morehead State University will sponsor "1964. As The Beatles" in a free concert on Thursday, Oct. 10, at 7 30 p.m. in the Academic Athletic Center. Brought back by popular demand, the musicians will present nearly 100 minutes of the Beatles songs from a repertoire of more than 50 of their smash hits. The performers have spent years researching the "Fab Four" and have incorporated vintage costumes, haircuts, mannerisms and authentic sound in an endearing tribute to the Beatles. Additional information is available from the Office of Student Activities at (606) 783-2071.

HAZARD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs will host an information session at Hazard Community College on Wednesday, Oct. 9.

The program will be held in the Lobby Area from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The session is designed to bring information on MSU's offerings to those students who have completed sufficient community college coursework and are considering enrolling in a four year program, according to Dr. Marc Glasser, dean of MSU's Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs.

"Students will be able to explore the options of transferring to Morehead State's campus or taking classes at an extended campus center and information also will be available on graduate programs," Dr. Glasser said.

MSU offers classes at regional sites in Jackson, Whitesburg, Maysville, Mt. Sterling and Prestonsburg as well the MSU Ashland Extended Campus Center, MSU Licking Valley Extended Campus Center in West Liberty, and Big Sandy Extended Campus Center in Prestonsburg. Graduate course work also is offered through the Appalachian Graduate Consortium in Pikeville.

On hand for the event will be representatives from admissions, the graduate and extended campus programs offices, and financial aid, plus faculty members from education, business and the baccalaureate nursing programs.

Similar sessions will be held at Southeast Community College in Whitesburg, Oct. 15; Maysville Community College, Oct. 17, and Prestonsburg Community College, Oct. 23.

Additional information is available from MSU's Graduate and Extended Campus Programs at (606) 783-2039.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.-- Morehead State University's Office of Admissions has scheduled four "Open House" activities to introduce prospective students and their parents to the University.

The first Open House will be held on Saturday, Oct. 12, according to Michelle Richmond, admissions counselor and coordinator of the event.

"The activity is designed to give students and their parents an opportunity to visit the campus, find out what the University has to offer and talk with various faculty and staff members about MSU's programs," Richmond said.

Registration for the Open House will begin at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the Adron Doran University Center (ADUC). Refreshments will be available in the Crager Room and participants may browse through displays set up on the second and third floors showcasing various programs--academic, athletic, housing and financial aid--available at Morehead State.

The group will be welcomed by MSU President C. Nelson Grote as well as faculty members and Student Government Association representatives.

Other activities on the day's agenda include time to visit academic areas, where a faculty member will be available to speak to students and parents about specific program requirements, and tours will be conducted to give the participants a thorough look at the campus.

"In the past, attendance has ranged from local families to people from as far away as the state of Michigan. For many, it's the first time they've visited a college campus," said Richmond.

Another Open House is scheduled for Nov. 16 with two activities planned for the spring semester, Feb. 15 and April 4.

Additional information is available from the Office of Admissions at (606) 783-2000 or toll free in Kentucky at 1-800-262-7474 or 1-800-354-2090 from adjoining states.

MEET MSU DAY

These Fleming County High School students were among the approximately 1,000 students from area high school who visited Morehead State University's campus during "Meet Morehead State Days" recently. The special visit gave the students an opportunity to talk with representatives from financial aid, housing, and admissions as well as with faculty members who provided information on academic programs. Also on hand to share their perspectives were current MSU students. Before beginning their tour of campus, the students posed for an official photograph.
