GOOD INTENTIONS

The world is full of people whose intentions are good but whose acts do not have the benevolent results which those who perform them intend. Indeed, it is probable that more harm is done by well-intentioned people who think they are doing the right thing, than is ever done by others with deliberate intent to do harm. It is no excuse that a person's intentions were good, when the consequences of his actions are evil.

As Dr. Samuel Johnson said, 150 years ago, "Hell is paved with good intentions". He was paraphrasing the words of George Herbert, the great English preacher and poet of the 17th century. Thoughtful men of all time have recognized the danger of giving men whose major equipment is good intent, power over the affairs and lives of others.

That is particularly true in government. Example of the effects of good intentions are to be found in the troubles which beset the whole world today. In the effort to restore order and to improve the conditions of the people, well-intentioned men have taken control of the affairs of nations, with the result that instead of making things better they have become worse. So much worse, indeed, that the whole world seems on the verge of another frightful war.

Mussolini, Hitler and Stalin beyond doubt were full of good intentions when they set up their respective experiments in government. The result has been to deprive their people of their inborn human rights and liberties and reduce them to complete servility.

Wise men in all ages have learned to be wary of the man who prides too much about his good intentions. He is always a good man to keep a watchful eye on.

Trachoma is a disease of the eyes that often results in blindness, but if early treatment is gotten, very little damage is done to the vision. Anyone knowing friends, neighbors or relatives that have this disease are urged to notify them in order that they may be contacted. Anyone having this trouble in the vicinity of Haldeman can contact Miss Kegley and she will get transportation to Morehead for this clinic.

As they left Winchester, the other car driven by a drunken negro woman approached them, coming from the opposite direction. She swayed over to the side of the road, striking the Gearhart car, almost head-on, throwing them off the road and crashing them into a telephone pole.

Officials arrested the woman and her car which was scarcely injured is being held for settlement of the damage.

Both Democratic and Republican friends of Judge Caskey in Morgan county, are deeply gratified at the honor that has been bestowed upon him by Governor Chandler. Morehead College has a large enrollment from Morgan county who are usually proud of the appointment.

He holds to a sound interpretation of the Word of God, and both from the scholastic and the spiritual standpoints is able in his ministry. ## District Tourney Eagles Lose To To Open In City Union College

Morehead High And Breck Are Favored To Win In Meet

On Friday of this week, according to schedule, the District basketball tournament will open at the Morehead Public School gymnasium, to decide the two teams that will represent the local district in the regional held at the college the following week.

While fans have been looking forward to the game Saturday night, which they confidently expect to be played off between the two Morehead teams, Breckinridge Training School and the Morehead High School, there are still possibilities of upsets, as witness the game between the Morehead Eagles and Union College in the K. I. A. C. tournament. Haldeman might prove to be the dark horse of the tournament as might Sandy Hook, upsetting the local coaches. While this is regarded as a more or less remote possibility, it is still within the realm of reason.

Haldeman will meet Breckinridge in the first game of the tournament, while Morehead High will oppose Sandy Hook. Both the local teams are expected to win. The junior tournament will be held at the same time, with juniors from each of the schools in the district competing and with awards being made for the champion junior team. Morehead's high is highly regarded to take the junior championship. They have had the most successful season of any team in this section having won all their games for a perfect record. Some of the teams defeated have been highly touted, notably Cerulo-Kenova which had a perfect record until they met the juniors from Morehead High, when they lost by an overwhelming score.

Consequently Morehead High's juniors are expected to cop. However, Breck seems to have a good little team as well and it is expected again that the two local teams will battle it out.

Breck and Morehead High have not met during the regular season which fact will serve to heighten the interest in the tournament finals.

To Play In S. I. A. A. Tourney At Bowling Green Next Week

Morehead toppled from the throne and from all expectations of laurels Thursday night when they played a listless game at Richmond and dropped before the fighting Union College Bulldogs by a score of 29-26. It was Morehead's first game in the tourney, and while disappointing to the fans, of whom several hundred witnessed the game, it was not so deep a wound as it would have been, had the Eagles not won the regular season's round up in the conference.

As conference winners, the Eagles were expected to go far in the tourney and possibly be the lark horse that upset the Champs. The play during the first game eliminated all worry over that score, and had at least one good effect. It saved more numerous fans from another of those additional trips to Richmond, most Moreheadians having lost interest in the balance of the tourney.

Union put on a fighting team that took control of the game and forced the issue. The Eagles, got away to a poor point lead in the start of the game held the Bulldogs scoreless for five minutes, Union led by Sullivan, tied the count, and went ahead. At the half the score was 10-9 in favor of Union. In the second half the Eagles took a three point lead but were unable to hold it, the score changing several times. With three minutes to play the Eagles tied it up at 24-24, but Union forged ahead on free throws and a basket. As the game closed Ishmael and Arzen were out on personals and the game was won.

The Eagles need not be ashamed of the game, nor particularly disappointed they will have another shot in the S. I. A. A. Crown next week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Bowling Green, when the best of the conference meet to try their mettle. With the experience of last week, the Eagles should be better prepared for tournament play, and while we are not making prediction, it is certainly the hope of everyone that the boys do themselves justice.

However, win or lose, the Eagles have had a successful season, and one that has put them at the top of the heap in basketball circles in the state.

It is not expected that many fans will accompany the team to Bowling Green as the trip is too long. If the Eagles should go through to the semi-finals, a number of fans may go down on Wednesday to follow the team. Good luck.

Spring Football To Start On March 22

Football And Track Team To Be Developed During Period

While no definite arrangements have been made, the date for the opening of spring football practice at the Morehead State Teachers College has been set, according to Coach Ellis Johnson, who with Len Miller will have charge of the sessions. Coach Johnson said the date of the opening had been set tentatively for March 22.

This will throw it after the state basketball tournament at Lexington and will give the boys who are in the basketball squad as well as candidates for football, a chance to rest up a bit before taking up the grind.

Plans are also in the making for the development of a track team at the college. The team if it develops, will be entered in the S. I. A. A. meet to be held at Danville sometime in May.

At The College Theatre

For Friday, March 5th, Victor McLaglen returns in a stirring action drama with Preston Foster. The story concerns a personal conflict between McLaglen and Foster in a thrilling adventure in the Coast Guard service. Ida Lupino, who recently appeared in "The Gay Desperado," is the sweetheart of Foster and Donald Woods, who eventually sacrifices his life for the ideals of the Coast Guard. The Coast Guard service helped to give the film reality and many scenes of Coast Guard boats help to give the public an authentic and complete insight into the working of the Coast Guard.

For Tuesday, March 9th, a starring drama of the great open spaces with plenty of action and thrills comes in the feature "The Last Show." While the scenes of this show are laid in the West, the whole plot and the performance are such as will appeal with great human interest and a touch of lively comedy to any type of theatre-goer. It depicts the life of an outlaw who returns to his home community after his prison release and tries to conceal his identity from his daughter.

There was nothing much Sparrel could do for the left hand, flattened and punctured, with the white broken bones, hanging by a single string of skin at the wrist. The left eye was struck too hard by the heavy links of the log chain, and was no longer an eye.

Sparrel did well by him with his turpentine and salve and castile soap. When the worst of pain had passed, they carried him out of the bunk in the lumber camp to his own house. A moan came sometimes from his lips out of his control. He would twitch the handless stump of his arm, his teeth grinding, and stare at the blank wall with a bitter eye.

His mother hobbling about on her poor legs, and his sister Hesselie did the weeping.

Cynthia, preparing things to bear to the Masons, riding down Wolf pen and Gannon Creek with them in the Flaemare, kept thinking over and over, "worrying and registering are what you can't help. But you can't make things a bit different. But a body can't hardly see why things in the world can be the way they sometimes are. Seems year that just hangs around Dry like there has been a plague in this Creek Hollow waiting to reach out and do everybody an ill turn. Like the hills couldn't have all the fine trees cut down without cutting down people, too. Only why need it be poor Doug if it had to be somebody, it might have been but a body oughtn't to say that I don't reckon; it being the Lord's business and not any mortal's. But a body can't hardly help thinking, I'm downright sorry about Doug. The selfish thoughts that keep bobbing up; bend glad I told Doug I didn't love him to marry him or anything before this happened to him. I wouldn't ever have him and he sure would have had it in his own mind that I wouldn't just because he was maimed so bad. But that's not so because if I would have had him before it wouldn't make a difference now. That's a selfish way of thinking that to be finding something to be glad for yourself for: It's an awful pity. It's the man and the lumbering and the bad reaching in. Like the trees were a family avenging itself for a huge done to it.

She lifted her eyes from the road for one instance to see the dam at Dry Creek and the growing mountain of logs in the barren hollow waiting for the rains.

December was dreary and full of heaviness. It was as if the sorrow for Doug Mason had taken visible form over the house. Day after day the thick clouds lay on the hills.

The bodies of the trees were cold and black with the damp, the upper branches abscond in the low clouds. The wood-smoke from the chimney was pushed back into the yard with the smell of the wet woodlot and the rotting leaves. At the barn the corn-rib smelled of damp cobs and the mice, and the amniotic odor from the stable sky. They are happy and wondering where after all their journey they will light. They might fall right on the warm nose of a fox sticking his head out of a hole under a rock in the woods. I would flatter down into the plume of a clean smell it's not snow, it's pine-cone on the hill where the nearly a rain, the sun hasn't been over for days and days, and I never saw the place so dreary. And Mother no place where I can see her, and Jesse over at town, and poor Doug. He talked about it being lonesome down there. It never was lonesome here before. The sorry troubles take hold of you like a bur and when I think of him getting mangled that way under that man's old log truck I have to shudder for it hurts so. It cuts a body to the heart not to be able to do hardly anything for him and Sarah, and it's so dark and dreary in December I can't even remember hardly how it was in the spring. And Daddy nearly every day down to see about him, and when I ask him how Doug is, always saying, "Poorly Cynthia, he's getting well, but he's in bad shape. And he's that proud he won't let anybody see him only slide bumping each other down the loom and wove a white instead of looking at their journey through the orchard I could get my mind on something else. I'll think about the look on Reuben when he went away, the shine in his eyes, the. They were trying days, and they trailed one another through the gloom. Then Jesse came one warm week-end when the wind blew into the hollows and pressed the rain from the clouds, driving them from before the sun. The darkness lifted for a moment, the grass looked up wondering and the birds sang. Jesse was happy. He filled the house with his enthusiasm and wood-will. He talked about the law and the lawsuits pending next term of court, of the people and the activity of Pikeville, feeling himself no longer a spectator but a part of it. He described the new brick jail to be built on the lower corner of the courthouse square, the new Baptist church by the Infirmary, the general store the George Brothers were putting up, the stone side-walks being laid all through the town and the talk about evening lighting up the streets at night. He could see all his progress from Tandy Morgan's office.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. B. Kasae, Pastor of Baptist Church.

SUBJECT: Life Here And Hereafter Through Christ. Luke 1:1-15. Golden Text: "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." John 14:6.

Death is the only opposite of life. They who do not live in godly perfection, that is, with God's full knowledge of how to live, tend toward death. Selfish man cannot live in this perfection. Thus, the imperfect, the self nature of the Christian dies daily, and the bodies of all men are dying all the time. The only hope for perfect life, then, is in Jesus Christ, who does not make us live within ourselves, but rather in him. The old self dies as the law demands, but Jesus lives in us forever more. The body dies as sin has decreed, but the resurrected Christ brings life out of death and gives to the body eternal existence. So, when by the birth of God in us, the new birth, we are made alive spiritually unto God, and when by the resurrection we are made alive forever in body, we shall then be saved from death forever. This is already guaranteed in the experience of every Christian, by the death and resurrection of Christ.

The whole object of God is life. But God's man, whom he created in his own image and glory, sinned and turned away from the worship of and dependence on God to the worship of and dependence on self.

Thus man made his own gods, being shut out from the knowledge of the true God, and idolatry himself. This is a vicious cycle of death from which man could not free himself. But God, through the revelation in Jesus Christ, who has like man but was at the same time God, attracted man from the worship of self to the worship of God. Thus that self in all its deathward tendencies must die, and God is to begin in the new birth to live in man. Thus man is drawn back to the life in God.

So, Jesus is the approach to God. He is the "way, the truth, and the life" and the only way any man will ever get to God. To refuse Jesus is eternal death.

This life begins here in the body, when the soul, through repentance and faith, accepts Jesus as the necessary death for self and the new life which one must have to live on forever. But this is only the beginning for in the Scriptures for this lesson the Saviour is telling his troubled disciples of His going to another place. And He assures them that in His Father's house are many abiding places. Furthermore, he assures them He is coming back some day to take them where He is, that they may abide with Him forever more. Yes, eternal life is no temporary matter. God is not the author of imperfection. When he says eternal life He means unending, limitless, glorious life with Him who is the life itself.

Those who put their hearts on Christ and in faith that He knows the way, move on toward God, they have chosen the right and only way to the abundant life. Those who refuse Jesus have turned down the only way. God pity them!

The first tract of land was decided to be common usage for some time, the area in question is technically the Cumberland Purchase Unit.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste
Your kidneys help to keep you well. If they are weak, waste matter from the blood, if your kidneys get functionally disordered, and fail to remove waste matter, there may be poisoning of the whole system and resulting, usually or too frequent, urinary tract infections, such as cystitis, pyelitis, or even kidney disease.

Doan's Pills are a combination of natural, medicinal herbs, which act directly on the kidneys, to cleanse, strengthen, and help them to do their normal work, so that you can get rid of acid and poisonous waste.

In each case it is better to rely on a medicine that has been scientifically tested than on something less favorably known. Doan's Pills, a standard of great quality, are available at all drug stores.

Social Security Board requires that after the initial investigation has been completed and the grants approved that a re-investigation must be made every 90 days. This will gradually be done and within a relatively short space of time all of the Old Age Assistance records will be brought completely up to date. Unlike most public records, those dealing with Old Age Assistance grants must be kept up to date in order to be of value. The conditions under which recipients of Old Age Assistance live change. Such changes include health, ability to earn money, support from children and living arrangements. None of the Old Age Assistance records are more than six months old and therefore will be renewed in accordance with the requirements of the Federal Government as the condition of the recipient is changed. As a result of the procedure in Federal Government as the condition of the recipient is changed. As a result of the regular procedure in carrying out the provisions of the Social Security Act, without loss of time or effort on the part of the field workers, these records will be continuously renewed. The records, giving the name and application number of each applicant totaling more than 90,000 were saved and therefore it is not necessary for those who had not been investigated to again apply. The most important thing for these applicants to do is to inform the Division of Public Assistance if they have permanently changed their residence and address as a result of the flood. During the month of February this office will have mailed out by the end of the month 21,789 checks for Old Age Assistance, the largest number ever to go out in one month. The total assistance actually sent out to the old people of the state during the month of February will amount to almost a quarter of a million dollars. During the entire month these checks have been sent to the District Superiors to make delivery when thousands of people were in temporary quarters. Every means of conveyance has been used in getting these checks to the recipients, many through necessity, being delivered by boat.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kase, Pastor of Baptist Church.

SUBJECT: Life Here and Hereafter from Christ Jesus 14:1-15. Golden Text: "I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me." John 14:6.

Death is the only opposite of life. Those who do not live in godly perfection, that is, with God's full knowledge of how to live, tend toward death. Selfish man cannot live in this perfection. Thus, the imperfect, the self-nature of the Christian dies daily, and the bodies of all men are dying all the time. The only hope for perfect life, then, is in Jesus Christ, who does not make us live within ourselves, but rather in him. The old self dies as the law demands, but Jesus lives in us forever more. The body dies as sin has decreed, but the resurrected Christ brings life out of death and gives to the body eternal existence. So, when by the birth of God in us, the new birth, we are made alive spiritually unto God, and when by the resurrection we are made alive forever in body, we shall not be saved from death forever. This is already guaranteed in the experience of every Christian, by the death and resurrection of Christ.

The whole object of God is life, but God's man, whom he created in his own image and glory adorned and turned away from the worship of and dependence on God to the worship of and dependence on self. Thus man made his own gods, being shut out from the knowledge of the true God, and idolatry himself. This is a vicious cycle of death from which man could not free himself. But God, through the revelation in Jesus Christ, who was like man but was at the same time God, attracted man from the worship of self to the worship of God. Thus that self in all its deathward tendencies died, and God is to begin in the new birth to live in man. Thus man is drawn back to the life in God.

So, Jesus is the approach to God. He is the "way, the truth and the life" and the only way any man will ever get to God. To refuse Jesus is eternal death.

This life begins here in the body, when the soul, through repentance and faith, accepts Jesus as the necessary death for self and the only life which one must have to live on forever. But this is only the beginning for in the Scriptures for this lesson the Saviour is telling his troubled disciples of His going to another place. And He assures them that in his Father's house are many abiding places. Furthermore, he assures them He is coming back some day to take them where He is, that they may abide with Him forever more. Yes, eternal life is no temporary matter. God is not the author of imperfection. When he says eternal life He means unending, limitless, glorious life with Him who is the life itself.

Those who put their hands in Christ and in faith that He knows the way, move on toward God, they have chosen the right and only way to the abundant life. Those who refuse Jesus have turned down the only way. God pity them!

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste
Your kidneys help to keep you well by excreting waste matter from the body. If they fail to do this functionally, you will feel generally unwell and fall into a state of nervousness. You may be suffering from the whole system and body-aches.

Burning, stinging or too frequent urinating may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

Do not neglect recurring backache, persistent headache, vertigo or dizziness, yellowing of the skin, swelling under the eye-feet swell, nervous, all other ailments.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has been carefully tested and proven than on something less favorably known. Doan's Pills are the most reliable of all such remedies.

Do you know about ELECTRIC COOKERY

IT GIVES you meals that are more savory and healthful because all nourishing juices and tasty flavors are retained in cooking.

It saves you much time and work in preparing meals because automatic controls relieve you of constant watching as foods cook. You can go away for hours and find your dinner ready to serve when you return.

It is economical because all heat is used to cook... because meats and vegetables are cooked in their own juices and do not shrink... because electricity for cooking is only 2c per kWh.

It is very clean because heat is produced without fuel, flame, fumes, smoke, smudge.

It is unusually cool in summer because the range is heavily insulated to retain oven heat... because surface "burners" apply heat directly against bottom of cooking utensils.

Whenever you say, we'll be glad to tell you the whole wonderful story of electric cookery... and how you can enjoy its many advantages as you pay for your electric range on easy terms... Why not tomorrow?

Don't put up with useless PAIN

Get rid of it

When functional pains of muscular strain are severe, take CALDOY. If it doesn't benefit you, consult a physician. Don't neglect your pains. Cause sleeplessness, loss of appetite, wear out your resistance.

Get a bottle of CALDOY and see whether it will help you, or thousands of women here and it helped them.

Keeps away certain pains. Control side effects. Whole body relaxes. No need to get into struggle from the bad day.

How well I have succeeded in this can only be judged by the degree of your support to me in my campaign for Sheriff.

I have no promise to make with the exception that if nominated and elected as your next Sheriff I shall do all that is in my power to make you the very best Sheriff that this county has ever had. I shall be subject to call for official duties day or night and assure you that whenever and wherever it is my official duty to go that I shall be found ready and willing to answer the call.

Respectfully I solicit your support and influence in the coming election.
