FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Ballet Espanol, the Louisville-based Spanish dance company, will appear at Morehead State University at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 10, in Breckinridge Auditorium as part of the 1991-92 Arts in Morehead (AIM) programming.

Admission will be by season ticket or by single event tickets which may be purchased at the door prior to the show at a cost of $6 for adults and $3 for non-MSU students. MSU students with valid I.D. cards will be admitted free.

The dance troupe's program will trace the music and dance of the Spanish culture: classical ballet, regional dances and flamenco, with colorful costumes complimenting the choreography.

"Ballet Espanol has electrified audiences wherever it has performed," said Yvonne Baldwin, director of MSU's Academy of Arts and AIM program chairman.

"Residents of the region will find the company's performance exciting, whether they are interested in dance or in the Spanish culture," she added.

A young company, Ballet Espanol was founded in 1987 by Mara Maldonado, who is its artistic director. Maldonado began her professional dance career with the Jose Antonio Dance Company and has danced with the Teatro de la Zarzuela and the Rafeal de Cordoba Company, both in Madrid. She has appeared throughout the United States and in Puerto Rico with the New York-based Rosario Galan Ballet Espanol.

Still to come on the AIM season are:

Dec. 9, Mr. Jack Daniel's Original Silver Cornet Band with "Hometown Christmas," evoking memories of Christmas from the past and recreating a form of musical Americana that no longer exists, 8 p.m., Button Auditorium.

Feb. 11, The Gunod Rosser Duo, creating an evening of musical magic from the courtly dances of the 18th century to the rags of Scott Joplin on harpsichord and guitar, 8 p.m., Duncan Recital Hall.

March 7, Dance Alive!, described as a high-spirited ballet company of 10 seasoned dancers with an unusual style and recognized for its innovative choreography, 8 p.m., Button Auditorium.

April 2, "60's Rock: When the Music Mattered," a multi-media presentation by Barry Drake celebrating, examining, clarifying and putting into perspective one of the most exciting decades of music history, 8 p.m., Button Auditorium.

April 21, Saffire--The Uppity Blues Women, a blues trio performing original works and the songs of such artists as Ray Charles, Little Richard and Tina Turner, 8 p.m., Duncan Recital Hall.

AIM is a cooperative effort of the University and the Morehead/Rowan County Arts Council. Some of the 1991-92 season programs have been made possible by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts through the Southern Arts Federation, of which the Kentucky Arts Council is a member. FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.-- Approximately 40 sections of the NAMES Project AIDS Memorial Quilt will be on display on the Morehead State University campus, Nov. 10-14.

Opening ceremonies, which are free and open to the public, are scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 10, at 7 p.m. in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center. Thirty-two persons--including MSU students, faculty and staff and community representatives--will assist with the unfolding. The display will remain open until 9 p.m.

"It is hoped that those who view the quilt will become more aware of the illness and realize this is a reality," said Suzette Redwine, coordinator of University Center Programs and Special Events. "We can no longer go on the assumption that this can't or won't happen to someone we know."

According to John Prather, public relations chairman for the Student Government Association, having the quilt on display is a way to educate students about the real world. "AIDS is something that affects everyone--in all walks of life," he said. "Seeing the quilt, they will learn more than they would learn in a classroom setting."

For those unable to attend the Sunday opening, the unfolding ceremony will be repeated each day, Monday through Thursday, at 11 a.m. with eight persons designated to do the unfolding. The display will be available for viewing until 7 p.m. each day. There is no charge for admittance.

Special arrangements will be made for groups who wish to view the quilt at times other than the regular viewing hours, Redwine noted.

PIKEVILLE, Ky.---Morehead State University students taking graduate classes through the Appalachian Graduate Consortium may register in advance for the spring semester Monday through Thursday, Nov. 11-14, in the AGC offices at Pikeville College.

Advance registration by computers linked to MSU's main campus in Morehead will be conducted from 4 to 6:30 p.m. each day. Students who register at this time will be billed later for tuition and fees.

"This is the first time we have offered this service to AGC students," said Dr. James Gotsick, interim director of the consortium.

"In the past, students could only participate in advance registration by mail or by coming to the main campus," Dr. Gotsick said. "Now, they will be able to advance register right here and have greater assurance that the class will not be closed," Dr. Gotsick added.

"Advance registration also provides an opportunity for departments to plan their offerings better. New courses or sections might be added, if the demand warrants them," he said.

Students who have not been admitted to MSU should initiate that process prior to advance registration.

Classes for MSU's spring semester begin Monday, Jan. 13.

Information on advance registration and the spring schedule may be obtained by calling the consortium office locally at (606) 432-9320 or MSU's Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs toll-free at 1-800-262-7474.

Advance registration by computers linked to the University's Morehead campus will be conducted from 4 to 6 p.m. each day, with advisers in business and education available to assist students.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Playwright Jo Carson will present a reading from her works at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 13, in Breckinridge Auditorium on the campus of Morehead State University.

This appearance by the author of "Day Trips," "The Bear Facts" and other plays is an extra on the Arts In Morehead (AIM) series this year. The event is free and open to the public.

A native of Johnson City, Tenn., Carson is known as a writer whose Appalachian roots can easily be seen in her writings and performances. Her plays which have been produced across the United States from New York City to Los Angeles have won praise from audiences and critics, who describe her work as "alternately side-splitting funny and heart-rending dark."

"Day Trips," which explores three generations of love, duty and madness, was a critic's choice in the Los Angeles Times and Drama-logic. Published by Dramatists Play Services, it will be included in Heineman Books' American Plays.

Her play about Harlan County in the 1930s, "Preacher With A Horse To Ride," was a finalist in the prestigious TCG/CBS playwriting awards. Carson recently completed a work about Davy Crockett commissioned with support of the Rockefeller Foundation, "The Bear Facts."

Carson describes herself as a "companion to a medium-size black dog, a source of apples to a horse of a different color, the black peg half of a cribbage tournament of several years durations, and the owner of an old green Volvo." She also notes, "I write plays."

Carson also writes fiction, poetry, essays and children's books. A collection of her monologues, "Stories I Ain't Told Nobody Yet," was published by Orchard Books in 1989. Her other credits include acting, a guest appearance on NPR's Mountain Stage and as a commentator for NPR's All Things Considered.

In addition to her AIM performance, Carson will give a presentation to an oral interpretation class on Tuesday, Nov. 12, and conduct a workshop on improvisation at noon Wednesday, Nov. 13, in Kibbey Theater.

Serving as co-sponsors with AIM for Carson's visit to MSU are the Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy and MSU's Regional Development Services.

Additional information is available by calling Dr. Michelle Boisseau, at (606) 783-2201.

Coordinated by MSU's ad hoc committee on women's studies, this year's session drew nearly 100 participants from all over the United States. Named for the wife of MSU President C. Nelson Grote, the annual symposium on women's issues will emphasize different topics each year. Next year's theme will be "The Family: A World Perspective." FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's tutoring program, part of the University's Office of Academic Services, is now certified by the College Reading and Learning Association, a national association for reading and learning center personnel.

After three years at Level I certification, the tutoring program will be eligible for certification at Level II.

Certification by this agency means that MSU's Learning Lab meets specific standards of quality as determined by a national panel of people who work in this field, according to Dr. Dan Connell, director of MSU's Office of Academic Services.

Areas examined by the CRLA include tutor selection, training, and evaluation of the training program as well as student-user evaluations of tutors and the Learning Lab.

"Credit for this achievement goes to Belva Sammons, coordinator of Special Services, and Marjorie Thomas, learning specialist, who were assisted by Debra Reed, an Academic Services Center counselor," Dr. Connell said.

"These staff members not only developed our tutor training manual and handbook but also the evaluation programs to aid us in maintaining standards of quality," he added.

Approximately 19 students work in the Learning Lab as peer tutors, representing 15 major areas, according to Sammons. "They must go through a minimum of 10 hours of specialized training. They must have at least a 3.0 grade point average and not less than a B in the course they will be tutoring," she explained.

Last year 865 students used the services of a Learning Lab tutor.

Tutors are available in math, business, psychology, English, chemistry, biology, French, sociology, elementary education, accounting, computers, physics, music theory, Spanish, writing and study skills.

The lab is staffed from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. until noon on Fridays.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's president emeritus, Dr. Adron Doran, will be honored in an upcoming edition of KET's "Distinguished Kentuckian" series.

Scheduled to air at 10 p.m. Friday, Nov. 29, the program will highlight Dr. Doran's work in education, politics and religion through a conversation between the man whom many regard as a modern Renaissance figure and Dr. John Kleber, MSU professor of history.

The program will be repeated at 4 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 30.

President of MSU from 1954 to 1977, Dr. Doran saw the University grow with enrollment increasing from 700 to nearly 7,500. Nationally recognized as an educator, Dr. Doran represented the National Education Association to the Democratic Party platform committee in 1964 and was appointed by President Lyndon Johnson to the National Advisory Council on Education Professions Development.

A member of the Appalachian Commission's advisory committee on Education, he participated in two White House Conferences on Education.

But education isn't the only field that Dr. Doran left his mark upon. He has been a minister since his late teens, coached high school basketball, served as Speaker of the House of the Kentucky General Assembly, won a world championship in amateur walking horse competition and edited a daily newspaper.

A minister in the Church of Christ since 1928, Dr. Doran in his retirement spends much of his time in researching, writing and lecturing on the history of the American Restoration Movement.

Among his numerous state and national awards is the Horatio Alger Award, given by the Association of American Schools and Colleges in 1971.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's fifth annual Appalachian Christmas Arts and Crafts Market will be held Saturday, Dec. 7, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Laughlin Health Building.

More than 100 exhibitors from across the region, including several Kentucky Guild Artists, are expected. Many of the artists will demonstrate their handicrafts during the day.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's final fall 1991 enrollment tally shows even greater growth than the preliminary figures announced in September.

The 8,812 headcount figure recently reported to the Kentucky Council on Higher Education (CHE) represents a 2.2 percent increase over last fall's final figure of 8,622.

(The figure reported earlier as preliminary headcount was 8,750.)

One area where the growth rate has been phenomenal is in the number of students enrolled at the University's off-campus locations, according to MSU President C. Nelson Grote.

University records show that MSU's off-campus enrollment has more than doubled since 1986, going from 1,012 students served off-campus that fall to the current 2,110.

"We've made a commitment to serving location-bound students through our regional sites and more and more of those students are taking advantage of these opportunities" the president said.

"We've continued to break existing records in every category, headcount, full-time, full-time equivalency and credit hours," said Dr. Grote. "Since the 1986 fall semester, MSU's headcount enrollment has grown nearly 50 percent," he added.

MOREHEAD, KY.--Morehead State University's Camden-Carroll Library will hold a used book sale on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 6-7, in Laughlin Health Building.

The sale, which is open to the public, will run from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday.

Prices for the items will range from 25 cents for ordinary paperbacks to $5 or more for "coffee table" type books. Most hardback books will be marked in the $2-$3 range, while many textbooks will be priced at $1.

For the past year, the library has been removing slightly used multiple copies and out-of-date editions from the shelves, according to Clara Keyes, CCL librarian.

"The University has given us permission to sell these as surplus items," she said.

There will be several thousand books, periodicals, and audio/visual materials for sale, Keyes noted. "Proceeds will be used to supplement the library materials budget with special emphasis on replacing lost or damaged items which are still in demand," she said.

The library staff also is looking for groups or individuals interested in volunteering to assist with the sale. Additional information is available from Keyes at (606) 783-2829 or Elsie Pritchard at (606) 783-2827.

Nov. 26, 1991

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Mr. Jack Daniel's Original Silver Cornet Band will help usher in the holiday season with a "Hometown Christmas" at 8 p.m. Monday, Dec. 9, in Button Auditorium, as part of the Arts in Morehead (AIM) programming.

Admission will be by season ticket or by single event tickets which may be purchased at the door prior to the show at a cost of $6 for adults and $3 for non-MSU students. MSU students with valid I.D. cards will be admitted free.

Evoking memories of Christmases from the past and recreating a form of musical Americana that no longer exists, the 12-piece band will present a varied program of carols and other holiday songs.

"The Silver Cornet Band's performance is one for the whole family to enjoy," said Yvonne Baldwin, AIM program chair. "We all probably have special memories from past Christmases and this concert is designed to bring back those magical recollections."

The first Silver Cornet Band was bankrolled in 1892 by Jack Daniels in Lynchburg, where it played for "political rallies, saloon openings, parades, funerals, picnics and at regular concert appearances in the gazebo bandstand in the courthouse square." The musical repertoire of the time ranged from the raucous to the reverent, from music hall to battlefield and from the popular to the patriotic.

As urbanization and other forms of entertainment came along, small town bands such as the Silver Cornet Band all but disappeared. Recreated some 80 years later by Dave Fulmer, Mr. Jack Daniel's Original Silver Cornet Band is now on its 30th U.S. tour.

When Mr. Jack Daniel outfitted the first band by ordering the instruments from a Sears and Roebuck catalog, it cost him $227.70. In 1978, the cost of re-equipping the musicians came to slightly more than $30,000.

Still to come on the AIM season are:

Feb. 11, The Gunod Rosser Duo, creating an evening of musical magic from the courtly dances of the 18th century to the rags of Scott Joplin on harpsichord and guitar, 8 p.m., Duncan Recital Hall.

March 7, Dance Alive!, described as a high-spirited ballet company of 10 seasoned dancers with an unusual style and recognized for its innovative choreography, 8 p.m., Button Auditorium.

April 2, "60's Rock: When the Music Mattered," a multi-media presentation by Barry Drake celebrating, examining, clarifying and putting into perspective one of the most exciting decades of music history, 8 p.m., Button Auditorium.

April 21, Saffire--The Uppity Blues Women, a blues trio performing original works and the songs of such artists as Ray Charles, Little Richard and Tina Turner, 8 p.m., Duncan Recital Hall.

AIM is a cooperative effort of the University and the Morehead/Rowan County Arts Council. Some of the 1991-92 season programs have been made possible by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts through the Southern Arts Federation, of which the Kentucky Arts Council is a member. Nov. 26, 1991

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Presidential Search Committee plans to publicly release the names of the candidates that it will recommend next month to the Board of Regents.

Wayne Martin, search committee chair, told the board at its meeting Friday (Nov. 22) that the committee anticipates bringing forward four to seven names following its meeting on Dec. 13. The names will be released only after the candidates and the board have been notified, he said.

Updating the board on the search for a successor to President C. Nelson Grote, Martin said that the committee was continuing to make progress toward identifying those candidates whose names would be presented to the board.

On a motion by Helen Pennington of West Liberty, the board voted to ask the search committee to "strongly consider" expanding the list to 10 names. Martin said that he would take the request to the committee.

The regents expect to interview candidates in late January and name Dr. Grote's successor in early March. His retirement is effective June 30, 1992.

At the morning meeting, the board also received the final fall enrollment figures which show MSU's headcount at 8,812 students, a 2.2 percent increase from last fall.

The 1990-91 audit report conducted by Kelley, Galloway and Company of Ashland was accepted by the board as was the quarterly financial report for the period ending Sept. 30.

Addressing the state's projected revenue shortfall, Dr. Grote said that steps had been taken to deal with MSU's $1.4 million share in the current budget.

(MORE)

He also said the University was developing contingency plans to reduce the next fiscal year's budget base if sufficient funds are not appropriated in the 1992-94 biennium to replace those lost this year.

The regents also declared seven University-owned building as surplus and issued, according to state statutes, the order to dispose of property. One structure, located behind Lappin Hall, will be razed to make room for the addition to MSU's science building. The other six will be demolished in order to straighten the west campus roadway from Battson Avenue to Fifth Street as called for in the Campus Master Plan.

In other actions, the board approved revisions to several personnel policies affecting faculty, approved sabbatical leaves for five faculty members contingent upon the availability of funding and approved the awarding of degrees at winter commencement on Dec. 14.

The regents also approved naming the University's tennis courts after George A. Sadler, who served as men's tennis coach from 1968 until retirement in 1983, compiling a record of 181-41. He later returned on a part-time basis for two years as women's tennis coach.

A.B.COMBS ELEMENTARY SCHOOL STUDENTS SPEND 'DAY ON CAMPUS': A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Approximately 20 seventh and eighth grade students from A.B. Combs Elementary School visited Morehead State University recently under the auspices of the Ashland Oil Inc. program, "A Day on Campus." Part of AOI's comprehensive effort to create an awareness of education's importance, the program is designed to encourage students to consider making college part of their educational goal and to begin preparing for it scholastically. The students toured campus, making special visits to the various academic departments, and talked with MSU students and administrators before returning to school. They were accompanied by their counselor Michaelle Sandlin and Julie Gutsell, speech pathologist.

Cutlines:

- 1---Adrian Swain, standing far left, the curator of MSU's Folk Art Collection took time to answer the students' questions about the collection and what constitutes "folk art."
- 2---One of the most popular stops for students in the "Day on Campus" program is at the University's TV productions studios in Ginger Hall. Here Jamie Long gains some hands-on experiences in operating a tv floor camera.
- 3---Jimmy Sizemore toured MSU's faculty art show and found himself pondering the significance of this acrylic work, "A Place To Fly," by Dixon Ferrell, associate professor of art.
