The StanByer

Stanley K Iverson

PAUL J. REYNOLDS FELT had Saturday noon. He told his employer that his aunt in Indiana was sick, his uncle was nearly dying and he just had to get out from work to see them. Fortunately he was back at work Monday morning. In column three you can read how sick his relatives were.

MAMMY JAYNE AND HIS CAR were stuck in the mud in a street at the outskirts of the city. Spying a small boy standing nearby, Mammy asked him if he had a telephone at home. The little boy replied in the affirmative and also said he could use it. After tramping through the mud to the house, Mammy walked in and the little boy showed him the telephone—a play telephone!

A PROMINENT YOUNG MOREHEAD business man was accused on the postoffice steps Tuesday night by a pandering neophyte who begged for a nickel. To attend the movies. After the youngster had received the nickel, a companion nearby said, "I want a nickel too, but I wouldn't buy it."

EARL MAT'S FISH AND GAME column is omitted for this week because he is on his vacation.

ASIDE TO MAYWOOD PERRY who wrote a letter to Woody Hinton, printed in this paper: "The StanByer is a bore, not a scoundrel."

CRACKERBARREL COMMENTS

The following resolutions I make for this New Year:

I RESOLVE that I, Woody Hinton, will be a better father and husband, and I will be obedient to my wife and son, and I will try to keep from being late and pay the back installments on my water and gas bills. BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that I will not ever get drunk on holidays, and that I will not take a chew more than once a month or more than one cigar a month unless given one by someone, that I will refrain from taking anything stronger than coffee. And I mean treat—all my customers as brother and sisters and not sell more than two Gals about any other items too numerous to mention.

All this I promise faithfully and sincerely with this provision: That my son, Tommy, will not start buying before five o'clock in the morning.

To you, Maywood Perry, Greetings! I know Dr. Ted, and I would not know you from Adam's ass off. However, I appreciate your many thoughts, and I understand your feelings, but we will always have been kind to people. Happy New Year to you! Warren Shaffer's hospitality is only exceeded by that of his wife's. Four Palmers' of do not go to tins—ling-ling; his back door plays a different tune. When there is too much static on the radio he turns on the door bell. Dr. Ellington broke the handle off his speck. Where did E. D. Patton get that whistle on his car? He will trade automobiles in a minute but he still keeps that whistle.

One of my friends made me remark that New Year's day was weaker than boarding house coffee.

Thanks, Doctor! I hope the ham lasted longer than the gift you gave me. It went like a cabbage head in a rabbit's pen. Up's a moment of silence for my good friend, Eddie Baldrige. One of the best men to his family I have ever known.

WHO'S WHO IN MOREHEAD

DAVE CAUDILL, vice-president of the People's Bank, is a native of Rowan county. He was born on a farm near the place where the Rogers postoffice once stood. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Abel Caudill. He attended Morehead Normal and then studied two different terms at a Commercial Business College in Valparaiso, Indiana, in June, 1935. Caudill began working for the old Bank Morehead as an assistant cashier. After a year here he worked for two years in Nelson county as cashier. Entered Peoples Bank in 1936. Upon the urging of a friend, who wanted to practice law instead of being cashier, he took the job of cashier for the Peoples Bank in 1936 which had been organized the year before. Since then he has held all the offices in the bank except assistant cashier. Caudill has held the office of treasurer in various organizations including 16 years as county treasurer, treasurer for the Odd Fellows and the Jr. O. U. A. M. Mr. Caudill, who is president of the Peoples Bank of Sandy Hook was one of the founders of that institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Caudill will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary December 12. He married Miss Eva Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cooper, here in 1913. They have one daughter, Maxine.

Cause-Bach

Miss Catherine Crouse, niece of Mrs. John C. Caudill, and Prentiss Bach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bach, were married Friday evening at eight o'clock at Fleming's Market, the Presbyterian parsonage by the Rev. John Perry. Miss Crouse is a former Morehead College and Bowling Green State University student. Mr. Bach is a graduate of Breathitt county high school and is an employe at the Allen Meat Market. The young couple are living on Third street and College Boulevard. They have the best wishes of their friends for their future happiness.

SIXTH MONTH PERIOD ENDS

December 30 marked the end of the sixth month period for the rural school teacher. Only one more month for children to stay in school. This last month is an important factor in the child's life. His success or failure depends on how much he attends school this last month. No teacher wants to see a child fail and have to take the same work over, but this is what is bound to happen if the children are kept out of school.

Bradley-Reynolds

Corine Bradley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley, and Paul J. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Reynolds, were married in Grayson Saturday night at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Reynolds is employed at the Highland Tank Garage. The bride is a graduate of Morehead high school. Charles Flood, of Morehead, witnessed the ceremony.

Unidentified Person Expected To Enter Legal Business

Someone must be seriously considering entering the legal business. The Citizens Bank was robbed of a money public seal stamp either Monday night or Tuesday morning. Nothing else was taken.

Fish And Game Club To Propagate Wild Turkeys

The Licking Valley Fish and Game club is going to make an effort to start the propagation of wild turkeys in this section of the state, according to a decision at the regular meeting Tuesday night. The club voted to ask the state department for a number of wild turkeys.

Roger Barber, wildlife student, has offered to help start the turkeys here if the club is able to obtain some of the birds from the state conservation department.

Barber spoke of Wild Turkey Production in Kentucky. He stated that it would take 100,000 square acres or a three-mile square territory for their production.

He cited four essentials for wildlife production of any kind: 1. Census taking of area of birds. 2. Measure productivity. 3. Diagnosis-testing theories on small scale. 4. Control of factors on large scale, that is, find out what's wrong and correct it.

Crowded Basketball Season Will Keep Fans In Dither

The basketball season in Morehead has arrived. The two high school teams will see action this week. Brock played the alumni Tuesday night. Friday night they expect a fairly difficult game with Olive Hill here. Olive Hill defeated the Vikings in a pre-Christmas game.

Federal Old-Age Insurance System Starts Second Year

Sixty Thousand Numbers Are Issued In Ashland District

More than 100,000 new applications for the federal office of the Social Security Board are entitled to join today in celebrating the second anniversary of the establishment of the Federal old-age insurance system.

This statement was made by James A. Chaney, manager of the Ashland field office, in summarizing progress made in this area and in the country as a whole since the start of the program which went into effect on January 1, 1937.

"In the nation as a whole," said Chaney, "more than 42,000,000 wage earners have applied for old-age insurance accounts. Our own office, since it was opened on January 15, 1937, has issued more than 60,000 numbers for the residents of the counties we serve. In addition, it is estimated that more than 40,000 special security numbers were issued by post offices in their 18 counties before we began to type numbers in our office in the Second National Bank Building."

"Any worker who desires to see the status of his old-age security record for 1937 may get this information by applying on post cards which we will supply," Mr. Chaney added.

City Increases Business

City Clerk Roy Holbrook stated that both water and gas customers of the city have increased. He reported a jump from 135 in 1937 to 235 in 1938 of gas consumers and of 320 to 350 of water consumers.

He summed up account for the increase of water users. The gas system started in October, 1936, with eleven customers.

A variety store proprietor estimated an increase of business of ten percent and his December business was more than the corresponding month in '37. He said that the Haldean restaurant raised the Christmas business by the Preston Jones.

One liquor store reported twenty-five percent increase in sales which he attributed to a change in location. Another said December business was better than the same the hotel reported last six months in more higher than the first six months.

One of the great reports showed a 25 percent decrease although the last three months of '38 were better than the corresponding months of '37. A second said that the year's total was 20 percent off. A third gave many figures for the year. The year's total was 20 percent better in 1938 than 1937 but he had no exact figures yet. One service station proprietor reported an increase of 15 percent. Another gasoline distributor reported an increase but was unable to give any figure.

Farm Income Is Down Eleven Percent

With the close of 1938 came two realizations with respect to the farm problems: first, a further strengthening of the community of interest between agriculture and industry, and second, that no experiment yet tried to help the farmer has been an unqualified success.

Surplus problems this year are largely confined to wheat, cotton, corn and some small crops. The livestock cycle is on an up-trend, but the supply is still small and prices are satisfactory.

Continued control of prices, acreage restrictions, and land conservation practices, with variations of recent procedure will undoubtedly continue for several years.

Jurors Should Lay Aside Sympathies

Two killings have been committed in this county within the last two months.

This condition, of course, is not confined to this territory. The Paintsville Herald in commenting editorially upon a similar situation in its community recognizes the fact that question of staying the hand of the killer is a big problem.

"Within the past two months three men have lost their lives through violence and six persons have been wounded on the outskirts of Paintsville where there is no police protection. Murders in the rural districts of Johnson county have had an alarming increase within the past few years. This is a record of homicide which the peace-loving people of this county are not proud.

"This increase of homicide in our midst is alarming, but with what methods we should pursue to stay the hand of the murderer is a question which is agitating the minds of more fertile brains than ours.

"It would seem that the best method to pursue would be a harsher method of the courts in dealing with the criminal and the murderer who would slay his fellow man. The courts alone cannot remedy this condition. They must have the backing of the populace and men and women who would not be afraid of too sympathetic to mete out the death penalty to a cold-blooded killer.

"Slick-tongued lawyers and so-called sister methods used in arguments before juries have made it almost impossible to secure a verdict commensurate with the crime committed.

Why Carry A Gun?

From the way guns are brandished in this vicinity a stranger might get the impression that you weren't a so-called "he-man" without one. Indeed, it's a violation of the law to carry a pistol without a permit.

It's fairly difficult to kill without a gun. It won't be long before some politician comes along with a pension plan for everybody; he'll get all the votes.

It's getting so nowadays that a bargain is not a bargain unless you can buy it on credit. A good product, plus a fair price, and advertising—equals the road to success.

Permanent prosperity in this country must eventually rest upon prosperous agriculture.

The reason most of us fail to get rich is because we fail to work intelligently or persistently.

When people decide not to do something it is fairly easy to find plausible excuses. Most business men usually believe that collections are not what they should be.

PETER COMMENDED AND REBUKED

"What think ye of Christ?" This question, which was asked by Jesus himself (Matt. 22, 42), is the touchstone that tries men, and churches, organizations and movements.

"I. A Crucial Question (v. 13-16). With His crucifixion now only six months away our Lord in preparation for it is about to make a more definite claim to Messianicship than ever before.

"First, it is a general query, 'Whom do men say that I am?' The answer (v. 14) indicates that the disciples were not sure concerning Christ was a very high one. He had made an impression on the people of His time, and this being increased from 19 to 12 ounces, a key-word fighter must be touched by anyone except a physician, who shall be at that ringside at all times; after a knockdown the fight shall not continue until the referee has counted nine, even though both fighters are ready.

"They're sneezing down on collegiate boxing ever more now. In addition, the restrictions on application, etc. the glove weight is being increased from 19 to 12 ounces, a key-word fighter must be touched by anyone except a physician, who shall be at that ringside at all times; after a knockdown the fight shall not continue until the referee has counted nine, even though both fighters are ready.

"The giving of the keys, and the authority to bind or loose have been variously interpreted. It would be better to clear, however, that this was not intended to be any personal power to be used by Peter, and quite evidently not to be transferred by him to others. It was rather the authority to admit men into the kingdom of God, and that He is to be sealed to the true.

"II. A Divine Revelation, (vv. 17-20). Peter had been ready to be tempted by the Holy Spirit, and therefore made a confession of Christ which was not conceived in the mind of a man but was a conviction of the Spirit of God (cf. I Cor. 12:3).

"Upon Peter's confession, which was thus really a divine revelation to the Father and the Son, the Church is established; Christ Himself being the chief cornerstone (Eph. 2:20).

"Note that Christ calls it 'my church.' It is His Body, and He as the head rules over it. The gates of Hades, that is, the wicked powers of the world, while they may seemingly have great power against the Church, shall not ultimately prevail against it.

"The giving of the keys, and the authority to bind or loose have been variously interpreted. It would be better to clear, however, that this was not intended to be any personal power to be used by Peter, and quite evidently not to be transferred by him to others. It was rather the authority to admit men into the kingdom of God, and that He is to be sealed to the true.

"III. The Shadow of the Cross (vv. 21-25). The shadow of Christ casts its shadow over the little group as Jesus begins to show His disciples (v. 21) what he is to suffer in the service of the world. The city of Jerusalem exalted to heaven by its opportunities and privileges is to be the place where He is to be sealed to the true.

"Where roses ought to bloom, sin has often planted thorns." Peter in an outbreak of affectionately folly tries to hinder Christ from going to the cross, and becomes for the moment the servant of man. He "meant well," but it is not enough to have good intentions.

"The cross of Christ calls for the cross of the Christian (v. 24). Note well that this word is not referred to little acts of so-called 'self-denial,' but rather to the denial of one's self. It means that self-will is set aside and God's will becomes paramount in the life (v. 24).

"It means the abandonment of self-interest and desires, the losing of life for Christ's sake. Thus only do we find the real fulfillment of life (v. 25).

Billie Black's BLARNEY

Last week I commented on the story in the Falmouth papers which said that Judd and Taum were Breckinridge's chief threats. The statement that they are the chief threats is not the funny part, as it appeared in this column, but the same with which they were tagged, Judd, "Red Lefty." For the benefit of those who may have missed it, I'll repeat it here.

"I saw 'Kentucky' in Meysville the other day and it surely is a swell show. Of the beautiful women, fast horses, and good liquor combination. The horse was glorified; women idealized, and liquor held out in the cold. (I don't mean in the lexicon either). Seriously, I don't believe there was a mint julep in the picture, which really is rare for a Hollywood crowd.

"I picked the bowl games correctly but my heart wasn't in that Rose Bowl prediction. I really wanted Duke to win, but that California boy ver BIG. Tennessee did to Oklahoma just what everybody should have expected them to. Score 17 to 0.

"Duke beat Pitt 7-0; Carnegie Tech beat Pitt 20-10; T. C. U. whipped Carnegie Tech 15-7, which indicates, in my opinion, that T. C. U. should have gone to the Rose Bowl.

"Texas Tech, the surprising Lone Star State school which has been far in football since it was established in 1923.

"They're sneezing down on collegiate boxing ever more now. In addition, the restrictions on application, etc. the glove weight is being increased from 19 to 12 ounces, a key-word fighter must be touched by anyone except a physician, who shall be at that ringside at all times; after a knockdown the fight shall not continue until the referee has counted nine, even though both fighters are ready.

"The giving of the keys, and the authority to bind or loose have been variously interpreted. It would be better to clear, however, that this was not intended to be any personal power to be used by Peter, and quite evidently not to be transferred by him to others. It was rather the authority to admit men into the kingdom of God, and that He is to be sealed to the true.

While we're on the subject, what has happened to boxing at the College? In 1937 the team made a good showing in the Huntington Golden Gloves Tournament, but since then we've heard very little of the sport. It seemed popular enough at the time.

"As long as we're hunting for missing sports, we might inquire about swimming. Here we are, with one of the most beautiful pools in this section, constructed at a considerable cost and no team to represent the college in inter-collegiate circles. This seems to be a sad neglect of wonderful opportunities in this field of sport.

"That was a great game between Manual and New Britain last Saturday. The Yankees scored first but Manual retaliated with three flashes of speed and power, and were leading 21 to 6 at the half. Then in that near-disastrous third quarter New Britain shoved across two touchdowns to bring out 21-20.

"Late in the fourth period Manual put the game on ice with a long pass into the end zone for another mariner.

"There were two players on the field who, had they both been on one side, would have really made their coach happy. They were Dorsett, of New Britain and Sidebottom, Manual. Dorsett was the sparkplug of the Yankee outfit and Sidebottom was ditto for Manual. Those two boys are real ball players and proved it that afternoon.

"New Britain, whose lineup was studied with tongue and teeth, names actually sent in two men named Harris and O'Brien. Shuree and it's this Irish in 'm.

"Query question: Why is a quarterback? Send your answer in less than fifty words, to me, in care of this column, together with two tops from Ford cars and an old shaving brush, before the second Tuesday of next week. The winner will receive a handsome opaque burned out lamp bulb attractively wrapped in cellophane. Be sure to scribble all over the paper because we don't care what you write, anyway. In case of a tie duplicate prizes will be awarded.

"Lyon county farmers report paying returns from raising hogs on clean ground and from vaccinating against cholera.

FARMERS CONSERVE IN BULLET POINT

Agricultural conservation practices in Bullitt county, Kentucky, in 1938, as reported by County Agent J. R. McCord:

Eighty-seven farmers used 14,528 pounds of 45 percent super-phosphate. Seventy-three farmers used 14,529 pounds of 23 percent super-phosphate. Sixty-one farmers used 2,344 of manure.

Two hundred farmers used 25,740 pounds of ground limestone. One hundred and sixty-six farmers sowed 13,516 pounds of alfalfa seed on 915 acres.

Six hundred and eighty-eight farmers sowed 169,818 pounds of lespezea seed on 11,877 acres. Two hundred farmers used 1,078 acres of green manure crops. Approximately 5,000 acres of open grass pastures were seeded to clover and legumes.

SHEEP MAKE HANDY FARM MEAT SUPPLY

Lambs and sheep are so easily dressed that it is possible to have the good fresh meat off on the farm. Handy-weight lamb carcasses of 25 to 45 pounds yield comparatively small cuts, all of which are tender. Any surplus that cannot be used fresh or shared with a neighbor may be canned.

Although a slaughtered lamb should have a fair covering of fat over the legs, shoulders, and back, a high degree of finish is not essential for a lamb that is to be dressed for home use. The meat of ewes over 12 months of age and wethers over 18 months is called 'mutton.' It is usually less tender than that of the young lambs but is entirely suitable for family use and many prefer its more mature flavor.

Contrary to common opinion, the fell or thin papirlike membrane covering the lamb carcass does not affect the flavor. It serves the useful purpose of preventing the meat from drying out during storage and when it is being roasted.

Several Pike county farmers have started small flocks of sheep, based on their experience with this kind of livestock.

More than a quarter of a million pounds in breckinridge counties in 1938.

COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

MOREHEAD HIGH SCHOOL

The Home Economics club had a Christmas party for the new members. They enjoyed a program of readings, Christmas cards and games. Refreshments were served by Irene Fraley, Edna Seaga, Katherine Ingram and Ruth Johnson. Thirty-six members and visitors were present.

The first grade room of the Morehead consolidated school celebrated the pre-Christmas days in a most unselfish manner. Everyone brought gifts of food for our charity basket. We enjoyed being Old Santa's helpers most of all. We made toys of wood, cradles, toy furniture, lamps, boards, A. B. C. blocks, trucks, and games. Toys were also made of socks, stockings, sponges, rubber, cloth and old cloth. These toys were given to those children whom we felt old Santa would not visit.

Each child made a Christmas card to give to their parents. We want to tell Santa that we liked the treat he gave us.

The fourth grade has two new pupils, Wanda Barford and Helen Dorothy Reffett. Most of the pupils have perfect attendance records for the last month. Only two are habitually absent. We are making geography booklets of all the countries we have visited. We are glad to have five new books for our library, given to us by the school. We use them as supplementary readers.

We are very sorry that Mrs. Ellington, our principal, is confined to her bed with the flu and hope she will soon be well and back at her work.

The following children in the fifth grade have not missed a day of school this year:

Cova Marshall, Alene Caudill, Madeline Dawson, Dorothy Gearhart and Ralph Christie.

The children on the honor roll this month in the fifth grade are: Blanche Barker, Mildred Lewis, Audrey Hall, Develt Gibson, Cova Marshall, Dorothy Gearhart, Phyllis Rice, Lorraine Harmon, Anna Dawson, Robert Wright, Clyde Day, Leo Ward, Richard Maxey, Jerry Dye, Claude Christian, Herbert Sorrell and David Craycraft.

The fifth grade children are all sorry that Herbert Sorrell is ill. This is the first time he has been absent this year.

The fifth grade children made Christmas cards for their parents. They also made a Christmas basket to send to a needy family who Santa could not visit this year.

The seventh grade returned from the holiday vacation eager for work. There were only two absent. They were Edna Seaga, Edgar Royce and Pearlant Wiloughby. They have made many interesting plans for the year.

A very interesting program was given by the seventh grade boys and girls December 19. The program was prepared by the program committee consisting of Jess Hall, Leslie Brown, Jr., Arnold Martin, J. D. Hicks and Homer McBrayer.

The following sixth grade pupils have perfect attendance for the past month:

The sale of the annuals will close February first.

Mrs. Ellington, principal, is coaching the play, details of the play will be published later. Watch for the date and go back to Blue Berry Corners on the first day of school with us.

Every child in grades five and six had perfect attendance excluding Wilbert May, son of Mrs. Warren May, of Bath county, and Betty Rose, son of J. B. Rose, of Bluestone, for the month of December. This is a record which the children in this room from the home district are very proud. The following pupils are on the honor roll for December:

Audrey Evans, Miriam Johnson, Louise Alley, J. W. Ingram, and Richard Hutton.

The fifth and sixth grades desire to report to the one of their outstanding pupils and harmonica players has withdrawn—Richard Hutton has moved to Lexington. We will miss him.

The Farmers P.-T. A. will hold its next regular meeting Friday afternoon at 2:30. A large attendance is expected as a result of an attendance drive which will be started at this meeting. The organization also will make plans for a winter "house warming" which will be announced to the public at a later date.

Letter To Crackerbarrel Commentator

Ashland, Ky. December 28, 1938

Mr. Woody Hinton, Editor of Crackerbarrel Comment, Morehead, Kentucky.

Dear Commentator and Commentator: Woody, I am a new reader of The Independent and though I do not like the name Independent I do like to read the paper. I sure do get a kick out of anything concerning such characters as old Tom Honaker, Jolly Ray, Laylow Bradley, etc. Who we know them and are away from home these many years do get a real belly laugh, and naturally we often wonder if they are still living and what they are doing to keep alive. How well I remember how untiring Laylow Bradley was when he was teaching me to swim one day down at the old Birch hole and didn't Roy Brown pull me out of Triplett one day when it was up and we were having our fun riding the waves. You know one can never forget a fellow who saved his life.

Now I would like to know how the big Swede rivey Iverson got into our town. I never knew they were allowed to stay 'all night, much less take up permanent quarters, and then to make matter worse, they put him up as headliner in the propaganda sheet so he must have something. But I bet the natives still watch him out of the corner of their eye regardless. I will mark him for second place on the score sheet and demand that Crackerbarrel and I comment be given its proper place in the paper, beginning immediately.

Now for third place I will name Mr. Earl May, not of course for the splendid articles he writes nor for me to pinch him, but I'm just partial to folks who are willing to devote some time to the work of conservation and I think the Independent should be commended by the Sportmen's Club for the space which is allotted to them each week and I would like for you to ask Mr. May if he gets any of the various state conservation magazines which are published monthly. I think they should begin to stir up the folks on a feeding program for the quail, pheasants and rabbits. Tell them how to do it and the need, etc. etc. Your reader-friend, MAYWOOD PERRY.

Transfer Of Deeds

April 11, 1930—Mr. and Mrs. George Williams to Melvin Burton, 100 acres on North Fork of Triplett for $400.

July 17, 1937—Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Johnson to Mrs. Howard White, Clearfield, lot on J. M. Lane farm for $35.
