MOREHEAD, Ky.---Fourteen students from Fleming County area schools were winners in the 29th Northeast Kentucky Regional Science Fair held recently at Morehead State University.

Winning fourth place in the overall competition was Fleming County High School sophomore Melanie Story, whose project, "Could the Presence of Heavy metals in the Immediate Environment Inhibit the Growth of Brassica Oleracea and Cladonia Subtenuis," also earned her second place in senior high environmental sciences.

Other FCHS winners included:

Senior Lisa Story, first place in senior high chemistry and the Best Chemistry Project Plaque, for "Vitamin C Analysis: Which Contains the Most."

Teddy Goldy, a senior, first place in senior high mathematics, for "A Statistical Comparison of Blackjack." Sophomore John Masters, fourth place in senior high environmental sciences, for "The Effects of Pesticides on Planarians."

Darren Sundys, a junior, second in senior high earth and space science, for "A Statistical Analysis of Microfossils in the Upper Ordovician" and, in the same category, sophomore Denise Deatley, third place for "Is Our Water Being Fertilized."

Brad Gray, sophomore, second place in senior high biochemistry for "A Two-Year Study of Common Uses from Chemicals on Aquatic Life," and, in the same category, Otha Thurman, third place for "What Variables Effect Enzyme Action."

Sophomore Angie Dillon, third place in senior high behavioral and social sciences, for "Does Age Affect Eye Witness Accounts."

Winners from Simons Middle School were:

Rebecca Vice, seventh grade, first place in junior high microbiology for "Is Bacteria in Our Environmental Waters;" Donnie Berry, an eighth grader, third in junior high zoology with "Feeding High Levels of Energy to Pregnant Ewes," and J. Eric Workman, sixth grade, second place in elementary zoology, for "The Prey of Local Owls."

At Hillsboro Elementary School, Brian Foudray, a sixth grader, won first place in elementary earth and space science and the Best Elementary Project Plaque for "Water Quality in the Licking River Valley--Is It Improving."

A sixth grader at Flemingsburg Elementary School, Jessica Lee James placed third in elementary behavioral science with "What Cigarette Ads Don't Show."

Nearly 500 elementary and secondary students from a 44-county area entered original science projects and exhibits in the competition, according to Ted Pack, MSU instructor of mathematics and coordinator for the fair.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Robann J. Pitts, a junior at Notre Dame Academy High School, took top honors at the 29th Northeast Kentucky Regional Science Fair held recently at Morehead State University.

Her project, "Possible Toxic Effects of Kahn's Effluent on Survival of Aquatic Life," earned Pitts and her teacher, Sister Mary Ethel Parrot, an all-expense paid trip to the International Science and Engineering Fair in Nashville, Tenn., May 10-16.

Pitts not only placed first in the overall competition but also took first place in senior high environmental sciences.

In addition, the school had six more students to earn awards at the fair which drew entries from nearly 500 elementary and secondary students from 44 counties.

Two other schools in Kenton County also produced winning student exhibits.

Other winners from Notre Dame Academy included:

Adrienne Hummel, freshman, first place in senior high physics and Best Physics Project Plaque, for "Temperature Changes During Evaporation of Pure Substances and Mixtures."

Lara Rymarquis, junior, first place in senior high zoology and Best Senior High Zoology Plaque, for "Effects of Electric Discharge on Nitrification in Soil."

Ellen Air, junior, first place in senior high biochemistry for "Salt Tolerance of Cam and C 3 Plants in Various Types of Soils."

Erin Sudbrack, junior, second place in senior high microbiology, for "Leaching of Copper from Chalcopyrite by Thiobacillus Thioparus."

Susan Basch, junior, third place in senior high chemistry, for "Thermal Characteristics of a Binary Hydrate-Solute System."

Amy Lance, freshman, fourth place in senior high botany, for "Gravitropic Responses in T. Offinale and L. Amplexicaule."

Beechwood Elementary School had two winners. Eric Wagner, a fourth grader, earned fourth place in elementary chemistry for "Toothpastes and Stains," while fifth grader Joshua McCoy earned fourth place in elementary microbiology for "The Effect of Chemicals on the 'Daphnia Magna'."

R.C. Hinsdale Elementary School had four student winners. Micah Stamates, a fifth grader, placed fourth in elementary physics with "Magnetism;" while fifth grade Michael French earned third in elementary microbiology for "How Yeast Grows Best." Laura Feldmann, a fourth grader, took third place in elementary zoology with "How Earthworms React to Light," and Nicholas Bisher, also a fourth grader, placed second in elementary botany with "Colonel Pop."

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Several Lexington area students were winners in the recent 29th Northeast Kentucky Regional Science Fair held at Morehead State University.

The Cathedral of Christ The King School had three winners. Eighth grader Sean Dawson took first place in junior high earth and space science and won the Best Junior High Project Plaque for "The Movement of Sunspots."

Also taking honors for Christ The King were: Debby Wagner, seventh grade, second place in junior high microbiology, for "Which Substance Combined with Yeast Will Inflate the Balloon," and John Romand, seventh grade, second place in junior high chemistry, for "Is A Non-Smoking Area Really Smoke Free."

For the Lexington Christian Home School winners were: Johnathan Dehaan, eighth grade, third place in junior high chemistry, for "Electric Seawater," and Ryan Schwartz, fifth grade, first place in elementary chemistry, for "Soda--Caffeine and Kidneys."

Kristina Hogan, a seventh grader at Assembly Christian School, earned first place in junior high zoology, for "Mealworms and Caffeine."

Beaumont Middle School had five winners:

Joey Bramlage, seventh grade, first place in junior high physics, for "Batteries: Which One Lasts the Longest;" Brian Dolecki, eighth grade, fourth place in junior high physics, for "Physics Can Be Slick;" Art Kevin, seventh grade, fourth place in junior high behavioral science, for "Distraction Reaction;" Cathy Agent, eighth grade, third place in junior high behavioral science, for "How Fast Do We Walk," and Tyler Stevens, sixth grade, third place in elementary chemistry, for "Electrical Conductivity of Household Liquids."

Landsdowne Elementary School fourth grader Jeremy Davis took second place in elementary physics with "Flight: Testing Wing--Canard and Tail Designs."

Meadowthorpe Elementary School fourth grader Bonnie Danner earned third place in elementary physics with "Catching Waves."

Millcreek Elementary School fourth grader Matt Cooper placed second in elementary behavioral sciences with "Could You Be an Astronaut."

Stonewall Elementary School fourth grader Megan Dowdy won fourth place in elementary botany with "How Will Household Chemicals in Our Soil Affect Plant Growth."

Nearly 500 students from elementary and secondary schools in a 44-county area entered their original science projects and exhibits in the fair, according to Ted Pack, MSU instructor of mathematics and coordinator of the fair.

The display may be viewed in the gallery, Claypool-Young Art Building, Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. - 4 p.m., and Saturdays, 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. There is no admission charge.

A public reception to honor the artist will be held on Wednesday, April 15, beginning at 7 p.m., in the gallery.

The exhibit will consist of tapestries and works of copper enameling. Included are works that were previously shown in the artist's homeland of Ecuador which incorporate the Andes design as well as pieces she completed during the past year while on the faculty at Morehead State.

Carrasco first came to the U.S. in 1989 when she spent a month in the state as an artist-in-residence under the Partners of America program in which Kentucky is paired with Quito, Ecuador. This year she has been sharing her culture with students at Morehead State as well as others in the region.

She will participate in the Hispanic Culture Awareness Week, April 6-11, at Marshall University, where she will demonstrate weaving techniques and the use of motifs inspired by Indian design.

A descendant of the Incas, Carrasco holds degrees from Central University of Ecuador at Cuenca and served on the faculty at Central University of Ecuador at Quito. She has held workshops/seminars in Belgium, West Germany, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Columbia and Cuba, in addition to her native Ecuador, and has participated in nearly 20 exhibits.

Additional information on obtaining Carrasco as a guest speaker or details of her show are available by calling Dr. Roger H. Jones, MSU international studies program director, at (606) 783-2763.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Involvement in programs on the Morehead State University campus has given two Eastern Kentucky students the opportunity to experience some of the activities involved in the legislative process at the national level.

Denise Gamble, a 17-year-old at Magoffin County High School, and Joe Reynolds, an 18-year-old at Elliott County High School, recently spent a week in Washington, D.C., where they encouraged the members of the various committees to make education America's Number 1 priority.

The students were selected from programs in Morehead State's Academic Services Center--Gamble from Educational Talent Search and Reynolds from Upward Bound. The trip, sponsored by the Kentucky Association of Educational Opportunity Program Personnel, allowed the high school seniors to attend the National Council of Educational Opportunity Associations' annual policy seminar.

"It was a great opportunity to actually experience how our federal government operates and uses our tax dollars for beneficial programs like E.T.S.," Gamble said.

Daughter of Kermit and Barbara Gamble of Salyersville, Gamble said she hopes "the visit made a positive influence on our congressmen and the result will be continuation of the types of programs which assist students in reaching goals they might not reach otherwise."

After a week of informal activities--and a well planned schedule--Reynolds had only high praise for what he had experienced. "Not only was it educational, but we could tell those making the laws just what was important to students."

While he was not really pleased with some of the methods used to determine which programs would be funded, Reynolds, son of Bill and Mary Ann Reynolds of Sandy Hook, said he enjoyed "seeing how you lobby for your cause, and in our case, it was asking that education be given a higher priority."

The trip to the nation's capital reinforced the students' life goals: Gamble plans to attend college with the goal of becoming a pharmacist, while Reynolds wants to do research with a pharmaceutical company and will shoot for a degree in microbiology.

According to Carolyn Horn, MSU coordinator of Educational Talent Search who accompanied the students to Washington, the experience was two-fold: the students saw first-hand how the legislative system works and they gained valuable insight that will make them better citizens.

EASTERN KENTUCKY STUDENTS VISIT NATION'S CAPITOL

Two high school seniors attending programs at Morehead State University--Denise Gamble of Salyersville and Joe Reynolds of Sandy Hook--recently spent a week in Washington, D.C., where they shared their views about education with the nation's lawmakers. Upon their return to the MSU campus, they shared their experiences of the week. Joining in were, from left, Jennifer Cady, coordinator of Upward Bound; Reynolds, Gamble, and Carolyn Horn, coordinator of Educational Talent Search. The students' all-expense paid trip was sponsored by the Kentucky Association of Educational Opportunity Program Personnel.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Approximately 1,000 students are expected to compete in Morehead State University's Regional Foreign Language Festival on Friday, April 17.

The students will represent 17 senior and junior high schools throughout Eastern Kentucky, according to Mary Jo Netherton, associate professor of French and the festival coordinator.

Scheduled to compete will be high school students from Boyd County, Elliott County, Rowan County, Powell County, Paintsville, Russell, Raceland, Phelps, West Carter, Menifee County, Fairview, Bath County, Paul Blazer and Mason County.

Junior high competitors include Catlettsburg, Summitt and East Carter.

Academic categories of competition will include listening, speaking and writing proficiency; poetry recitation, extemporaneous prose reading and drama in Latin, German, French, Russian and Spanish. Nonacademic events include frameable art, construction models, realia, costumes and chorus.

Serving as judges for the festival will be MSU faculty members and graduates from the sponsoring organization--the Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy--as well as area residents.

Assisting Netherton will be Vandy Trent, departmental secretary; Rhonda Craft, Wurtland senior, and Irene Henderson, Jeffersonville senior, as student directors, and several foreign language students.

MOREHEAD, KY.---Practice! Practice! Practice!

For nearly two months now, the Morehead State University varsity cheerleaders have been clocking extra hours on the practice floor as they prepare for their next competition.

Again this year, the squad has been invited to compete for the national title in Division I at the College Cheerleading Championships in San Antonio, Texas, April 11. Also, two members of the squad--Pam Franklin, Paris senior, and William "Tag" Entwisle, Alexandria, Va., senior, will vie for the national partner stunt title.

In the Universal Cheerleaders Association-sponsored competition, MSU will face opposition from George Mason University, Eastern Kentucky University, Appalachian State University, University of North Carolina-Charlotte and University of North Carolina-Wilmington.

This is the fifth consecutive year that the Morehead State team has been invited to the national competition which MSU won in 1988 and 1991.

"All but one of our squad members have been to San Antonio before and they are beginning to anticipate the excitement of the competition," said Myron Doan, assistant dean of students and squad adviser. "I hope we do well; we have been practicing daily--even during Spring Break. And, since MSU won the partner stunt competition last year, there will be an added pressure for the couple this year," he said.

MSU qualified for the competition by submitting a videotape of a cheer, sideline and fight song, Doan noted.

In the partner stunt competition, Franklin and Entwisle have one minute to perform a precise routine that includes some gymnastics and elite stunts--choreographed to music.

The MSU twosome will compete against couples from George Mason University, Louisiana State University, Memphis State University and Texas University.

April 6, 1992

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Celebration was the key word Friday (April 3) as Morehead State University observed its 70th anniversary as a public institution of higher education.

Founders Day 1992 was a festive time as the University recognized friends, reflected on its past and looked to the future.

Convocation and Awards Ceremony speaker, Dr. John Kleber told his audience that 1992 was an "auspicious time for celebration" and noted that the year marked the quintcentenary anniversary of the discovery of the Americas, the bicentennial of the creation of Kentucky statehood and the founding of MSU.

Dr. Kleber, MSU professor of history and editor-in-chief of The Kentucky Encyclopedia, said:

"The year 1992 should be a celebration of more than the founding of places. It is a celebration of people as well, for the two are intrinsically connected."

In his opening remarks, Dr. Kleber noted that "from time to time, uncommon people come along to accomplish great feats, and after they have passed nothing is ever quite the same."

Columbus was one such person and, according to Dr. Kleber, Frank and Phoebe Button, who founded MSU's predecessor institution nearly 105 years ago, also were "unique individuals who herald change."

Recounting his 36-month odyssey as editor of the first comprehensive reference work on the state, Dr. Kleber talked about his research into people and places that figure in Kentucky's history. "Like Columbus and the Buttons, I have made certain discoveries, and the greatest of these is that our strength lies in our wonderful and diverse people," he said.

Commissioned by the Kentucky Bicentennial Commission, The Kentucky Encyclopedia will go on sale on June 1, Statehood Day for Kentucky. The work is being published by the University Press of Kentucky. The historian also recognized 15 contributors to the work who have MSU connections.

"On June 1, you are all invited to the biggest birthday party the state has ever seen," Dr. Kleber told his listeners. "I hope that many of you will go to Frankfort on that day, enjoy the parade and fireworks. But, most of all, go to celebrate yourself. As I discovered, you are, indeed, the uncommonwealth of Kentucky."

Founders Day

Also during the Convocation, the 1992 Founders Day for University Service Award was presented to Dr. Mary Northcutt Powell, a pioneer in elementary school accreditation and professor emeritus of education.

In accepting the award presented by Dr. Alban Wheeler, faculty representative to the MSU Board of Regents, Dr. Powell said that she "symbolically shared" the honor with all those who had supported her efforts.

She told the nearly 500 faculty, staff, students, alumni and other friends of MSU present in Button Auditorium that she was grateful for the sense of friendliness and nurturing she found at MSU. "I have always felt a sense of pride that I can say, 'Yes, I represent Morehead State University'."

At the noon luncheon following the convocation, the celebration continued as the MSU Foundation recognized its new MSU Fellows and presented "Outstanding Faculty/Staff Fund Raiser" awards to Dr. John R. Duncan, professor of education, and Adrian Swain, curator of MSU's Folk Art Collection.

Dan Lacy, MSU alumnus and vice president for corporate communications at Ashland Oil, Inc., presented MSU President C. Nelson Grote with a check for $75,000 on behalf of the Ashland Oil Foundation. The check represented the second payment of unrestricted funds of a five-year commitment made last year by the AOF, totaling $750,000 and representing the single largest gift in MSU's history.

The good news continued with announcements by Robert F. Howerton, MSU's director of development, of a new $50,000 endowed scholarship given anonymously and by MSU Foundation President Larry Fannin of the launching of a Dr. C. Nelson and Wilma Grote Endowed Scholarship Fund.

Noting that the Grotes' "warm and gentle ways have endeared them" to the people of the region, Fannin said that the MSU Foundation had committed $5,000 to the fund and that money had been matched by another anonymous donor.

Closing the Founders Day activities was the Alumni Awards Dinner, sponsored by the MSU Alumni Association. Recognized for their accomplishments by induction into the Alumni Hall of Fame were:

Vic Carter, Atlanta television news reporter and a 1978 graduate of MSU; Liz Everman, Louisville television evening news anchor and 1977 graduate, and Glenn D. Leveridge, president and chief executive officer of Liberty National Bank of Lexington and a 1970 graduate, along with MSU's newest alumnus President Grote. The president, who retires June 30, and his wife were recognized moments earlier as honorary alumni.

LAKESIDE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL STUDENTS SPEND 'DAY ON CAMPUS': A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Approximately 55 sixth graders from Lakeside Elementary School visited Morehead State University recently under the auspices of the Ashland Oil Inc. program, "A Day on Campus." Part of AOI's comprehensive effort to create an awareness of education's importance, the program is designed to encourage students to consider making college part of their educational goal and to begin preparing for it scholastically. The students toured campus, making special visits to the various academic departments, and talked with MSU students and administrators before returning to school. They were accompanied by Carole Dickerson, guidance counselor; Laura Sparks and Brenda Thornberry, teachers.

Cutlines:

- 1---First stop of the day was MSU's Academic-Athletic Center for an "official" photograph to mark the day and a welcome by admissions personnel as well as an orientation briefing.
- 2---This model riverboat, part of MSU's Folk Art Collection, always seems to attract the attention of visitors, young and old. Gazing in wonderment here is Jeff Spillman.
- 3---Les Meade, MSU associate professor of biology, holds a stuffed fawn as he talks about some of the items that MSU has on display in its Science Museum. By the looks on their faces, the sixth graders seemed to find his information to be very interesting.

April 7, 1992

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Advance registration for Morehead State University's two summer sessions and the fall 1992 semester will be conducted during the week of April 13-17.

Not only students currently enrolled may register during this period, but also any student interested in attending MSU this summer or fall, according to Gene Ranvier, MSU registrar.

Undergraduate students who have not been admitted previously to MSU will need to initiate that process at the Office of Admissions, 301 Howell-McDowell Administration Building. Prospective graduate students seeking admission will go to the Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs, 701 Ginger Hall.

Course schedules containing trial schedule blanks are now available from the academic departments. Only registrations for graduate students, seniors and juniors will be processed on Monday, April 13. All other student registrations will be handled Tuesday through Friday, April 14-17.

Students will advance register in their major department. Those who have not declared a major will register in the Office of General Studies, 233 Allie Young Hall.

Advance registration for students taking classes at MSU's regional sites also will be processed during this period at the Ashland Area, Big Sandy and Licking Valley Extended Campus Centers as well as at the Appalachian Graduate Consortium Office at Pikeville College.

The hours for handling registration will vary at the different off-campus locations. For additional information on off-campus registration, call MSU's Office of Graduate and Extended Campus Programs toll-free at 1-800-262-7474.

MSU CELEBRATES FOUNDERS DAY: A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Founders Day, celebrated April 3, was a day to recognize those past and present who, over the years, have helped the University fulfill its mission to the region.

The University's 70th anniversary as a state institution of higher education was marked by several activities--a retirees breakfast, the convocation and awards ceremony, a special ribbon cutting and the Alumni Association's awards banquet.

It was a day where participants were told by Dr. John Kleber, MSU professor and editor of The Kentucky Encyclopedia, that they, the people, were the "uncommonwealth of Kentucky." Dr. Mary Northcutt Powell, professor emeritus of education and a pioneer in elementary education accreditation, received the Founders Day Award for University Service.

Later Dan Lacy, MSU alumnus and vice president for communications at Ashland Oil, said that MSU was "the jewel in Kentucky's crown." Lacy's remarks came after he gave MSU President C. Nelson Grote a $75,000 check, the second payment of unrestricted funds in a five-year commitment of $750,000 by the Ashland Oil Foundation.

- 1---At the retirees breakfast, Dr. Roscoe Playforth, standing, former dean of the School of Humanities, suggested that Mrs. Grote, right foreground, receive a retiree pin in recognition of her efforts on behalf of the University. Dr. Grote, who retires on June 30, was presented one by Mrs. Grote, after he had "pinned" this year's retirees. Enjoying the moment were, from left, Dr. Grote, Lillian McGary and Sibbie Playforth.
- 2---What would a birthday be without a birthday card? MSU Student Ambassadors created a giant-sized card, collected hundreds of signatures and presented it at the Convocation and Awards Ceremony. Opening it were Don Hayes of Jackson, left, and Eric Pigman of Maysville.
- 4---MSU President C. Nelson Grote, making the rounds of luncheon tables, greets David Abner of Morehead, who joined the ranks of MSU Fellows. With them are Abner's daughter Pat Dailey, left, and head eagle football coach Cole Proctor.

- 5---Adrian Swain, left, curator of MSU's Folk Art Collection and Dr. John R. Duncan, right, professor of education, were honored by the MSU Foundation and Office of Development as Outstanding Faculty/Staff Fund Raiser Award recipients. Presenting the commemorative plaques was MSU President Grote.
- 6---Founders Day included a ribbon cutting to mark the renaming of the newly remodeled Red Room as the Commonwealth Room. Hanging in the room is a series of 12 Kentucky Bicentennial limited edition prints, the work of MSU alumnus James D. Werline of Amelia, Ohio, left. The prints were purchased for the University by the Student Government Association, whose president Erin Farrell, a Georgetown, Ohio, junior, is shown here talking with the artist.
- 7---Emogene K. Lilly of Louisville, a 1960 MSU graduate, found time during the day's events to browse the showcases of memorabilia in the Adron Doran University Center.
- 8---Inducted into the Alumni Hall of Fame at the Alumni Awards Banquet were, from left, Glenn D. Leveridge, president and chief executive officer of Liberty National Bank of Lexington; Vic Carter, news reporter for WSB-TV in Atlanta, MSU President C. Nelson Grote, and Liz Everman, evening news anchor of WLKY-TV in Louisville. Earlier in the evening the Alumni Association designated Dr. and Mrs. Grote as "honorary alumni."

OHIO ARTIST'S WORK DISPLAYED AT MSU

James D. "Skip" Werline, owner of Werline's Art Studio in Amelia, Ohio, was on hand for the ceremonies when his series of 12 Kentucky Bicentennial limited edition prints were displayed during Morehead State University's recent Founders Day activities. Werline, MSU graduate and Maysville native, was commissioned by the Kentucky Bicentennial Commission to create the works. Werline is head of the Art Department at Southern State Community College near Hillsboro, Ohio. As part of MSU's commemoration of the state's 200th birthday, the Student Government Association purchased the prints to be permanently hung in the Adron Doran University Center's Commonwealth Room.

'PAPER PICKIN' AT MSU

More than 500 high school art students from northern and eastern Kentucky recently attended the High School Art Day, hosted by Morehead State University's Department of Art. Students from Rowan County High School were among the 10 groups participating in the paper sculpture competition. They won the trophy for their "guitar player" made entirely of newspapers and masking tape. It was difficult to ascertain how good a musician he was because no one ever put money in his cup! The RCHS students named their project "Death of a Tree" as a tribute for the large number of newspapers used.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A key player in the Watergate affair and now a Presbyterian minister, Jeb Stuart Magruder will discuss "The Nixon Presidency" at Morehead State University in an open convocation Thursday, April 23.

The convocation is scheduled for 10:20 a.m. in Button Auditorium.

While on the campus, he will speak informally to students and faculty in an afternoon session. Coordinated by Dr. Donald Flatt, MSU professor of history, Magruder's visit is an outgrowth of one of Dr. Flatt's classes: "The Use and Misuse of Presidential Powers."

Students and social studies teachers from schools in MSU's 22-county service region have been invited to attend the convocation.

"With Mr. Magruder's campus appearance, we have a superb opportunity to make our nation's history, especially the Watergate era, become more real to our students," said Dr. Charles Holt, interim chair of the Department of Geography, Government and History.

In 1972, Magruder, as deputy campaign director for the committee for the re-election of the president, figured prominently in the Watergate scandal which resulted in President Richard Nixon's resignation. Magruder pleaded guilty to a conspiracy to obstruct justice and to wiretapping the Democratic National Committee headquarters. Sentenced to a prison term of ten months to four years, he was released after serving seven months.

Now serving as senior minister at Lexington's First Presbyterian Church, Magruder leads a 900-plus congregation. Ordained in 1981 after receiving a master's of divinity degree from Princeton Theological Seminary, he has served as associate pastor at the First Presbyterian Church in Burlingame, Calif., and as executive minister of the First Community Church, Columbus, Ohio.

He is the author of "An American Life: One Man's Road to Watergate" and "From Power to Peace." Currently he is working on a third book dealing with ethics and values in America today.

Magruder also holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from Williams College and an M.B.A. degree from the University of Chicago.

Magruder's visit to MSU is jointly sponsored by the Department of Geography, Government and History, College of Arts and Sciences, Academy of Arts and the Division of Student Life.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Lula Bowling of Pikeville has been appointed as a counselor for the Commonwealth Educational Opportunity Center, located in Prestonsburg.

Bowling will serve a three-county area under the federally-funded program designed to help adults identify and attain post-secondary goals.

One of four such counselors based at centers in Eastern Kentucky, she is responsible for Floyd, Pike and Martin counties. Her main office is located at the MSU-Big Sandy Extended Campus Center in Prestonsburg.

Among the services she provides are educational and career counseling, information on college or vocational school programs available in Kentucky and assistance in applying for financial aid for these programs.

"We don't limit our focus to adults interested in a university degree, but also are working with those seeking vocational-technical training or a community college degree," Bowling said.

Although generally available on the last two days of the month at the Big Sandy center, Bowling rotates her time among various sites in her service counties.

"We are a service business," she said, "and, in order to serve, we go where we are needed by people and when we are needed."

Bowling may be reached by leaving messages at the Big Sandy Extended Campus Center toll-free at 1-800-648-5372 or by leaving a message at her Pikeville number, (606) 437-7243.

Bowling previously was associated with TRIO Programs at Alice Lloyd College and Pikeville College. She holds undergraduate degrees from Alice Lloyd and Berea College as well as a master's degree in counseling from Morehead State University.

She is active in various civic organizations including Rotary and the Pike County Chamber of Commerce.

MOREHEAD, KY.---Morehead State University's varsity cheerleaders are Number 1, again! Also, two members of the squad--Pam Franklin, Paris senior, and William "Tag" Entwisle, Alexandria, Va., senior, placed third in the national partner stunt competition.

The MSU squad won the national title in Division I at the College Cheerleading Championships in San Antonio, Texas, April 11, in the Universal Cheerleaders Association-sponsored competition.

This is the fifth consecutive year that the Morehead State team has been invited to the national competition which MSU won in 1988 and 1991.

MSU faced opposition from George Mason University, Eastern Kentucky University, Appalachian State University, University of North Carolina-Charlotte and University of North Carolina-Wilmington.

"The competition was stiff but our squad held up under the pressure," said Myron Doan, assistant dean of students and squad adviser. "We couldn't be happier and, for some of our students who are seniors, this is the last time they will participate in this type of competition."

In the partner stunt competition, Franklin and Entwisle competed against couples from George Mason University, Louisiana State University and Memphis State University.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A Morehead State University professor of history has been awarded a Summer Seminar for College Teachers stipend, valued at $4,000, by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Dr. Stuart S. Sprague is one of 36 historians nationwide selected for NEH-sponsored history seminars. He will study at the University of Kansas in Lawrence with David M. Katzman, professor of American studies and history.

The seminar, which runs from June 8 to July 31, is entitled "The Growth of African-American Urban Communities."

A member of the MSU faculty since 1968, Dr. Sprague also hopes to explore two other related topics, "African-Americans of Eastern Kentucky" and "The Migration of Kentucky's African-Americans To Kansas."

"This is indeed an honor for Dr. Sprague and MSU," said Dr. John C. Philley, MSU interim vice president for academic affairs. "These NEH awards are highly coveted by scholars across the nation, making the competition extremely rigorous," he said.

Dr. Sprague has written numerous articles for professional journals and magazines on Appalachian history and is considered one of the pioneers in this field. He is the author of eight books, including several designed as genealogical research tools.

Last fall he received a $5,000 MSU Research Grant to study "African-Americans of Eastern Kentucky and Maysville 1864-1875," a collaborative project with Jerry Gore, MSU's minority student affairs director.

The recipient of MSU's 1985 Distinguished Researcher Award, Dr. Sprague holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Yale University and a doctorate from New York University.

Dr. Sprague is a member of the Southern Historical Association, Kentucky Historical Society and a charter member of the Society of Historians of the Early American Republic.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. Judy Oaks, associate professor of health education at Morehead State University, will conduct a daylong workshop on Children and Death on Friday, April 24, at the Adron Doran University Center.

Sponsored by MSU's Regional Development Services and the Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, the workshop begins at 9 a.m.

The workshop is aimed at anyone who wants to be more sensitive to the needs of children who have experienced a loss. "It will be of particular interest to teachers, counselors, ministers, school administrators, youth leaders, funeral directors and parents," Dr. Oaks said.

Among the issues to be discussed are responses to different types of death, helping children through the mourning process and resources available.

Registrations are being accepted now by Regional Development Services, 203 Downing Hall, and will be accepted the day of the workshop. There is a $45 registration fee for participants, but MSU students will not be charged a fee.

Certified by the Association of Death Educators and Counselors, Dr. Oaks is director of the Center for Personal Recovery in Berea. She is the co-author of "Dying and Death from a Health and Sociological Perspective" and has numerous publications and presentations to her credit. She also serves as a consultant in the development of support services for the bereaved to hospitals, churches, hospices and funeral homes nationwide.

Additional information on the workshop is available by calling (606) 783-2077.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. Dan Butterworth, assistant professor of English at Morehead State University, will present a reading from his recently released book, "Waiting for Rain: A Farmer's Story," at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 30, in Room 111 of Claypool-Young Art Building.

A book signing and reception will follow Dr. Butterworth's presentation at 8:30 p.m. in the Alumni Center. Both events are free and open to the public. The evening is sponsored by MSU's Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy.

Published by Algonquin Press, "Waiting for Rain" is a nonfiction work in the tradition of James Agee and John McFee paying tribute to a North Carolina farmer and his struggle to hang on to the vanishing American dream of the family farm.

Dr. Butterworth, originally from Seattle, Wash., lived in North Carolina for eight years, receiving his M.A. and Ph. D. degrees in English from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

He spent the summer of 1986 with the family of Archie Clare, accompanying Archie on his daily routine through the drought-stricken farmland and listening to him recount his life and toil on the land.

Annie Dillard, author of the Pulitzer Prize-winning "Pilgrim at Tinker Creek," described the book as "the powerful, true story of a fascinating man...a lively American classic."

Kirkus Review praised Dr. Butterworth's ability to make readers "feel the heat on the highway and hear the dry corn rustle, and mourn the loss of a way of life."

April 14, 1992

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University has received assurance from the U.S. Department of Education that it has met the goals for second year funding of its Commonwealth Educational Opportunity Centers, according to Dail Howard, coordinator for the project.

The program, funded for three-years at a total of more than $782,000, was launched last year to help disadvantaged adults to identify and attain post-secondary goals.

It serves 20 Eastern Kentucky counties with centers located at MSU, at the MSU-Big Sandy Extended Campus Center in Prestonsburg, at the MSU-Ashland Area Extended Campus Center and at MSU-Licking Valley Extended Campus Center in West Liberty.

Each center has a full-time counselor who serves multiple counties, providing interested residents with information on educational programs and financial aid programs available, Howard said.

"We want to help adults obtain post-secondary educational goals, whether these be a community college degree, vocational-technical training or a university degree," Howard added. "Participants must either have graduated from high school or have attained a GED.

"MSU is not alone in this endeavor," Howard said. "This is a cooperative effort in that we are working with community colleges, vocational-technical schools, human services agencies and other governmental agencies," he added.

In addition to directing the project, Howard also serves in Carter County as a counselor. He spends Thursdays from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Learning Center in Olive Hill.

A native of Elliott County, Howard has an extensive background as a social services administrator in Northeast Kentucky, having worked with Pathways, Inc., with the Elliott County Fiscal Court, Northeast Kentucky Legal Services, FIVCO Area Development District, Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program and Kentucky's Manpower Services.

Howard earned a B.S. degree from Morehead State and his Master of Education degree with emphasis on community and vocational counseling from the University of Louisville.

Additional information on the centers' programs may be obtained by calling (606) 783-2063 or 1-800-262-7474 toll-free and asking for extension 2063.

SANDY HOOK ELEMENTARY SCHOOL STUDENTS SPEND 'DAY ON CAMPUS': A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Approximately 25 fourth, fifth and sixth graders from Sandy Hook Elementary School visited Morehead State University recently under the auspices of the Ashland Oil Inc. program, "A Day on Campus." Part of AOI's comprehensive effort to create an awareness of education's importance, the program is designed to encourage students to consider making college part of their educational goal and to begin preparing for it scholastically. The students toured campus, making special visits to the various academic departments, and talked with MSU students and administrators before returning to school. They were accompanied by Carole Dickerson, guidance counselor, and Lorene Burton, teacher.

- 1---First stop of the day was MSU's Academic-Athletic Center for an "official" photograph to mark the day and a welcome by admissions personnel as well as an orientation briefing.
- 2---Reflecting on one of the exhibits in MSU's Science Museum are Teisha Whitt, left, and Jonda Daghan.
- 3---A natural wool wall hanging created by MSU's Fulbright Scholar-in-Residence Victoria Carrasco of Ecuador caught the attention of Joey Hargraves during his visit to the gallery in Claypool-Young Art Building.
- 4---Joe Porter, left, and Derik Griffith seem to be in deep discussion as they view several pieces from MSU's Folk Art Collection.
- 5---The students also had an opportunity to tour the studios of MSU's Office of Television Production, where they watched a show being taped for playback later. Here John Higginbotham, standing, coordinator, explains to the youngsters how a log of programs is maintained.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Derrickson Agricultural Complex will be the site of the Intercollegiate National Championship Horse Show on Saturday and Sunday, May 2-3.

This is the first time MSU has been the host location for the show which is drawing approximately 300 riders from more than 150 colleges and universities nationwide, according to Tammy McMillan, MSU instructor of horsemanship.

Three MSU students are eligible to compete this year. They are Kimberlee Banks of Virginia Beach, Va., Christina Salyers of West Union, Ohio, and Lisa Smith of Cashiers, N.C.

Among the judges for the event will be Michael Page, who has represented the United States in Olympics equestrian competition, as Hunter Seat Equitation judge. Midway College is co-hosting the event with MSU and will be representing Region VI in both individual classes and hunter seat and western teams.

The competition will begin at 9 a. m. both days and the awards ceremony is slated for 4 p.m. on Sunday.

"We encourage anyone interested in good horsemanship to join us at Richardson Arena for the event," McMillan said. "There is no admission fee and the participants represent some of the best collegiate riders in the country."

Additional information is available by contacting McMillan at (606) 783-2800.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University Theatre students will conclude the spring semester with "The Apple Tree," April 30-May 2, in Button Auditorium.

The performance begins at 8 o'clock each evening. Tickets are $5 for adults, $2 for high school students and senior citizens and free to MSU students with a valid I.D. card.

The three one-act musicals, each based on a story by a different author, is entirely a student production, according to Dr. Travis Lockhart, coordinator of theatre.

The Apple Tree was written by Terry Bock and Sheldon Harnick and is based on stories by Mark Twain, Frank R. Stockton and Jules Feiffer. The three works are:

"The Diary of Adam and Eve," the story of the first two people on earth, which will be directed by Rick Carlson, Bartlett, Ill., senior, with Mary Whidden, Morehead sophomore, as stage manager.

A mythical rock and roll barbarian kingdom is the setting for "The Lady or the Tiger." Jamie Phillips, Greenfield, Ohio, junior, is the director, with Kerry Townsend, Louisville sophomore, as stage manager.

A chimney sweep becomes a movie star in "Passionella." It will be directed by Se Layne, Morehead senior, with Denise Vulhop, Dayton freshman, as stage manager.

Frank Santorelli, Cincinnati, Ohio, senior, is production stage manager; John Buford, Owensboro senior, is vocal coach; Craig Swatt, Fairdale sophomore, is conductor/music director, with Lisa Santorelli as choreographer.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will recognize scholastic achievement by students and faculty during its eighth annual Academic Awards Week, April 27-May 3.

Throughout the week, the colleges and various departments will recognize outstanding endeavors by their students. Capping off the activities will be the annual Academic Awards Convocation at 2 p.m. on Sunday, May 3, in Button Auditorium.

Awards for excellence will be presented by many of the University's academic departments to their outstanding graduate and undergraduate students at the convocation.

In addition, students maintaining perfect grade point averages and graduating seniors in the Academic Honors Program will be recognized, along with the winner of the A. Frank Gallaher Memorial Music Performance Competition, Scott Franklin, who will perform.

The recipients of the University's most prestigious faculty honors--Distinguished Teacher, Distinguished Researcher and Distinguished Creative Productions awards--also will be announced.

Established by the Alumni Association, the Distinguished Teacher Award recognizes an educator, selected by the faculty, as one whose contributions to the student educational experience are truly outstanding.

Created by the MSU Research and Creative Productions Committee, the Distinguished Researcher and Distinguished Creative Productions awards are designed to recognize special achievements in research and creative productivity.

Dr. John C. Philley, interim vice president for academic affairs, will present the faculty awards. Outstanding student awards will be presented by Dr. Marc D. Glasser, dean of graduate and extended campus programs, and Dr. Judy Rogers, dean of undergraduate programs.

Kimberly Newberry, a senior from Independence, will be the awards convocation speaker. Active in the Academic Honors Program since her freshman year, Newberry holds an Honors Program Scholarship, a Presidential Scholarship and a Governor's Scholar Award.

The daughter of David and Sandra Newberry, she is pursuing a double major in elementary education and Spanish. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi honor society, Sigma Delta Pi Spanish honorary and the Spanish Club.

Dr. George M. Luckey Jr., Academic Honors Program director and professor of philosophy, will preside at the convocation and MSU President C. Nelson Grote will congratulate the honorees. A reception will follow.

Other events are scheduled throughout the week in the Adron Doran University Center to honor outstanding achievements, including a noon luncheon on Monday, April 27, hosted by the Research and Creative Productions Committee to recognize faculty and staff research and creative production efforts.

Students in the College of Business will be honored at a 7 a.m. breakfast Monday, April 27. A luncheon for students in the College of Arts and Sciences is scheduled at 11:30 a.m. on Tuesday, April 28. The College of Education and Behavioral Sciences will hold a recognition breakfast at 7 a.m. Wednesday, April 29, while the College of Applied Sciences and Technology will honor its students at an 11:30 a.m. luncheon on Thursday, April 30.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University and the Rowan County School system have joined resources to fund a Summer Enrichment Program for youths of Rowan County.

The summer program will run June 15-July 10 on the MSU campus. Classes will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Friday. There will be no class on July 3, when the University will be closed in observance of Independence Day.

The cost is $30 per child, not to exceed $90 per family, with enrollment based on first come, first served basis.

There will be 11 different class offerings for children ages 5 to 15, according to Lester Breeding, MSU coordinator of Clinical/Field Experiences and Admissions to the Teacher Education Program. "Topics to be covered will range from animal science to sports and math," he said.

Classes will be taught on a theme basis, providing opportunities for participants to enjoy "fun" as well as learning activities. For example, while a student is participating in baseball or some other sport, he will also have the opportunity to learn statistics about the game.

"This will provide the youngster the opportunity to hone his math skills while doing something he enjoys," Breeding said.

MSU students enrolled in classes during Summer I or II will have the opportunity to observe the students and teachers who are involved in the program.

Additional information on the Summer Enrichment Program is available from Billie Jean Clayton, Rowan County assistant superintendent of schools, at (606) 784-7892 or Breeding at 783-2256.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Scott M. Franklin, a Morehead State University senior majoring in music education, has been selected as the winner of the fifth annual A. Frank Gallaher Memorial Music Performance Competition.

The award includes a $1,000 cash prize and the privilege of performing at the MSU Academic Awards Convocation on Sunday, May 3.

Franklin, the son of Rebecca J. Franklin of Indianapolis, Ind., is a clarinet student of Michael Acord, MSU assistant professor of music.

For the Gallaher Competition, Franklin performed Rossini's "Introduction, Theme and Variations." He will repeat that work for the convocation.

A finalist in the University of Kentucky School of Music's Mozart Bicentennial Festival Concerto Competition, Franklin is the 1991 recipient of MSU's Sigma Alpha Iota Scholarship and has received other academic and music scholarships as well.

Selected for two consecutive years to the Kentucky All-Collegiate Band, Franklin is a 1989 graduate of Perry Meridian High School in Indianapolis, where he received the "Outstanding Senior Musician" award.

Named for the late Ashland businessman, the Gallaher Memorial Music Performance Competition was endowed in 1987 by the family and friends, according to Dr. Christopher Gallaher, chair of MSU's Department of Music.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Meeting in a special session on April 17, Morehead State University's Board of Regents raised admissions standards, approved the 1992-93 fee schedule and heard plans for reducing the 1992-93 operating budget by $5.8 million.

The proposed budget cuts which affect both personnel and programs are being made across all divisions of the University, ranging from athletics and the administration to academic affairs. "Every facet of the University has been examined and re-examined," MSU President C. Nelson Grote said.

Using what officials termed a "conservative" enrollment projection of 8,400 students, the University has developed a preliminary operating budget of $56.9 million which includes funding to continue MSU's dental and health insurance benefits to employees.

MSU's personnel budget will be reduced by $2.8 million, operating expenses by $1.7 million and capital projects by $563,000. According to the proposal, 65.75 positions will be eliminated. While 11.5 faculty positions are included, Dr. John C. Philley, vice president for academic affairs, told the regents that number translated into nearly 25 temporary faculty members employed on a year-to-year basis.

MSU's institutional scholarship program will be reduced from the current $2.2 million to $1.9 million. "This will still allow us to meet our renewal commitment to returning students and provide $500,000 for new students and $48,000 for transfer students," Mike Mincey, vice president for student life, said.

The university advancement budget, which includes athletics, will be cut by $423,000 by eliminating eight jobs, reducing the number of scholarships in football and men's basketball and eliminating men's soccer, a non-conference sport.

The fee schedule approved by the regents does not include increases in residence hall rentals, the student health fee, or meal plans. The board was told that if the Council on Higher Education should further increase the 1992-93 tuition rates, MSU will re-evaluate its $30 per semester increase in the student activity and services fee. The parking fee was set at $35 per year for faculty/staff and students.

The newly-approved admissions standards call for an admissions index of 400 for unconditional admission to MSU, up from 380 this past year. To be admitted conditionally, students must have a minimum admissions index of 350 with an ACT composite of 14. The admissions index is calculated by combining grade point averages and ACT scores.

In other business, the board ratified a contract agreement with Dr. Ronald G. Eaglin, who assumes the MSU presidency July 1, which set his salary at $115,000 for the year. The president-elect was present at the board meeting and said he was there as an "observer."

The regents also adopted a resolution commending former board member Walter Carr of Morehead for "his time, energy and dedication" given the board since his appointment in 1984.

Carr was succeeded on the board by Louis "Sonny" Jones of Frankfort, who was appointed earlier this month by Gov. Brereton Jones. Jones and William Cofield, who was reappointed at the same time, were sworn in at the meeting. They will serve until June 30 when all university boards will be reconstituted under a new law. Gov. Jones, who is not related to Louis Jones, is required to reappoint at least one half of the board membership.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Tom Loften, a Morehead State University senior from Ashland, was the overall winner in the MSU HPER CLub's Fun Run/Walk held in conjunction with Wellness Week earlier this month.

The event drew approximately 115 participants, including MSU students, faculty and staff members as well as area residents.

Loften completed the three-mile course with a time of 18:47. Second and third place overall went to Morehead junior Tom Martin, 20:55, and Georgetown sophomore Clay Conner, 21:22, respectively.

Morehead freshman Michelle Taylor was the number one female runner with a time of 28:48. Second and third places were earned by Romina Carrasco of Morehead, 28:56, and Drift freshman Alicia Allen, 29:18, respectively.

Pat Needham of Morehead earned the top spot in the walking division with a time of 39:33, followed by Charleston, W.Va., freshman Tawnya White with 42:20 and Mt. Sterling junior Tia Gatewood with 44:18.

MSU's ROTC Program entered a team, which ran as a unit singing and stepping in cadence. It placed eighth.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Noted black feminist Dr. Patricia Hill Collins will speak at Morehead State University on Friday, May 1, at 12:40 p.m. in Breckinridge Auditorium.

The campus visit by the associate professor of African-American Studies at the University of Cincinnati was rescheduled from an earlier announced date. It is co-sponsored by MSU's ad hoc committee on women's studies and Office of Minority Student Affairs. Dr. Collins' topic will be "The Challenge of Black Feminist Thought."

Following her lecture, which is free and open to the public, a reception will be held in the Commonwealth Room, Adron Doran University Center.

Dr. Collins is the author of the book, "Black Feminist Thought: Knowledge, Consciousness, and the Politics of Empowerment," published in 1990 and co-edited "Race, Class and Gender: An Anthology," published in 1991.

She has written numerous articles for various professional journals, contributed chapters to other publications and serves on the editorial boards of several journals in her field.

She has been a consultant to the Girl Scouts of America, Proctor and Gamble Company and for other educational agencies. She is a former special assistant to the president of Tufts University, where she also served as director of the African American Center.

Joining UC's faculty in 1988, Dr. Collins earned her A.B. degree cum laude from Brandeis University, an M.A.T. degree in social science education at Harvard University, and the Ph.D. degree from Brandeis.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The efforts of Morehead State University President C. Nelson Grote on behalf of higher education at the international, national and state level were recognized recently by the Kentucky Council on Higher Education.

At its April 20 meeting, the CHE adopted a resolution of appreciation to Dr. Grote, who retires June 30 as MSU's 11th president.

Noting that under his leadership MSU had led all the state's public universities in enrollment growth, the resolution cited the emphasis that Dr. Grote had placed on the need to increase the educational attainment levels of Eastern Kentucky.

The CHE also commended him for taking a leading role in the economic development initiatives of the region.

Signed by Joe Bill Campbell, CHE chairman, and Gary S. Cox, executive director, the resolution expressed the membership's gratitude for "the understanding and solid stability" President Grote had fostered between MSU and the Council, and the "positive example of cooperation, warm relationships and mutual respect he has given to all of us over these five years of his administration."

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Department of Home Economics will host a Personal Enrichment Program (PEP) for high school students of home economics on Friday, May 1.

The day will include presentations by MSU faculty and students, mini-classes, special entertainment and other activities, according to Carolyn Flatt, assistant professor of home economics and chair of the PEP activities.

"Invitations have been sent to more than 150 high schools in Kentucky and Ohio, inviting students and their teachers to spend a day on the MSU campus with the Department of Home Economics," Flatt said.

Dr. Charles Derrickson, dean of the College of Applied Sciences and Technology, will be the speaker for a luncheon which will be prepared and served by MSU's home economics students and faculty.

Schools in the following Kentucky counties have been invited to attend: Bath, Boone, Bourbon, Boyd, Bracken, Breathitt, Campbell, Carroll, Carter, Clark, Elliott, Estill, Fayette, Fleming, Floyd, Franklin, Grant, Greenup, Hart, Harrison, Jefferson, Johnson, Kenton, Knott, Lawrence, Lee, Letcher, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Mason, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan, Nicholas, Owen, Pendleton, Perry, Pike, Powell, Robertson, Rowan and Wolfe.

Also, receiving an invitation to participate were schools in these Ohio communities: Amelia, Batavia, Bethel, Chesapeake, Cincinnati, Coal Grove, Dayton, Deer Park, Fayetteville, Felicity, Franklin Furnace, Georgetown, Goshen, Greenfield, Hillsboro, Ironton, Leesburg, Lockland, Loveland, Lucasville, Lynchburg, Manchester, McDermott, Milford, Minford, Mt. Orab, Mowrystown, New Boston, New Richmond, North Bend, Oak Hill, Peebles, Portsmouth, Proctorville, Ripley, Sardinia, Seaman, South Point, West Portsmouth, West Union, Wheelersburg and Willow Wood.

PEP is designed to provide high school students with an inside look at programs and job opportunities within the home economics field, while offering them broad information on the total college experience.

Additional information is available from Flatt at (606) 783-2595.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The "Kentucky Bicentennial" will be the theme for Morehead State University's 16th annual Appalachian Celebration, slated June 21-27 on the MSU campus.

The celebration, a weeklong series of events sponsored by MSU's Regional Development Services, is designed to appeal to those who are interested in gaining a deeper understanding of Appalachia and its people.

Activities begin with an opening reception at Adron Doran University Center on Sunday, June 21, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. The fifth annual "Appalachian Treasure Award" will be presented at this time and there will be music by the White Horse String Band.

The week will include an exploration of traditional music and dance, as well as Appalshop films, plays, workshops, exhibits and special demonstrations.

The Jesse Stuart Symposium and a "Celebration of the Appalachian Woman" luncheon also are scheduled during the celebration.

Coinciding with the Appalachian Celebration will be an Elderhostel program, a national project which provides college learning experiences for senior citizens, with classes scheduled each morning of the celebration week.

Another high point of the celebration is the Arts and Crafts Market, where regional folk artists and craftspersons sell their handmade and homespun works. The Arts and Crafts Market, one of the celebration's most popular events, draws more than 100 exhibitors and several thousand visitors each year. The event is scheduled Saturday, June 27, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Laughlin Health Building.

RUSSELL HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS SPEND 'DAY ON CAMPUS': A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Approximately 33 ninth graders from Russell High School visited Morehead State University recently under the auspices of the Ashland Oil Inc. program, "A Day on Campus." Part of AOI's comprehensive effort to create an awareness of education's importance, the program is designed to encourage students to consider making college part of their educational goal and to begin preparing for it scholastically. The students toured campus, making special visits to the various academic departments, and talked with MSU students and administrators before returning to school. They were accompanied by Lois Neal, teacher.

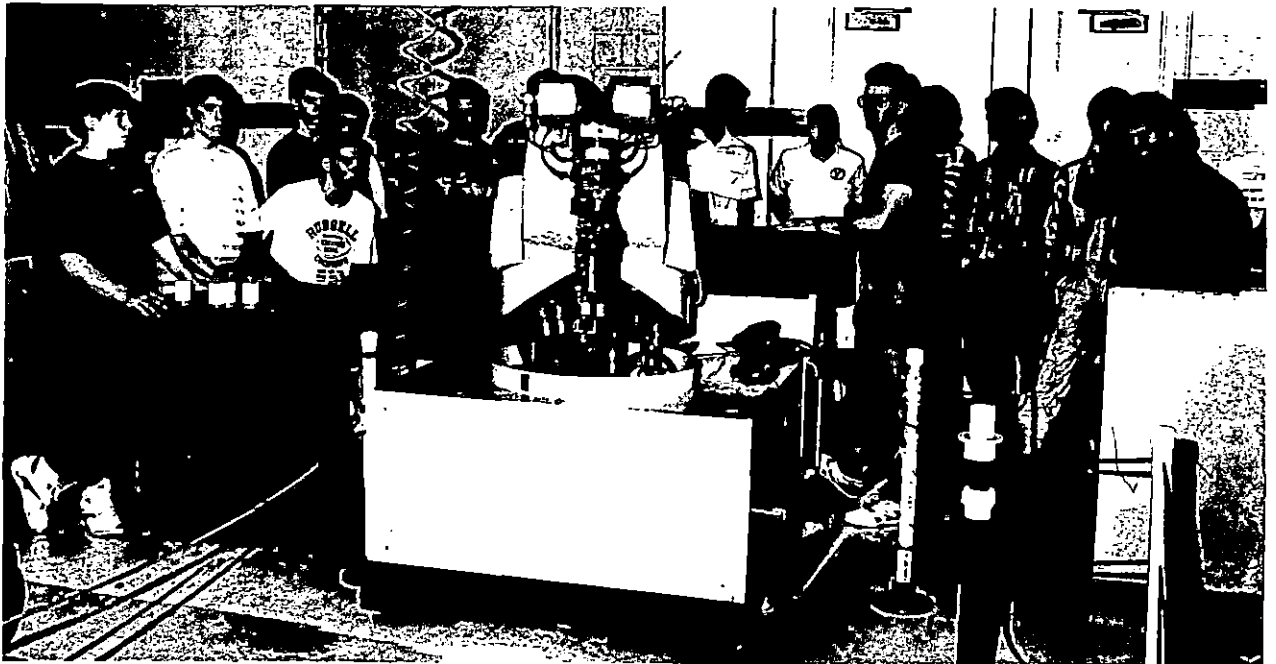

Cutlines:

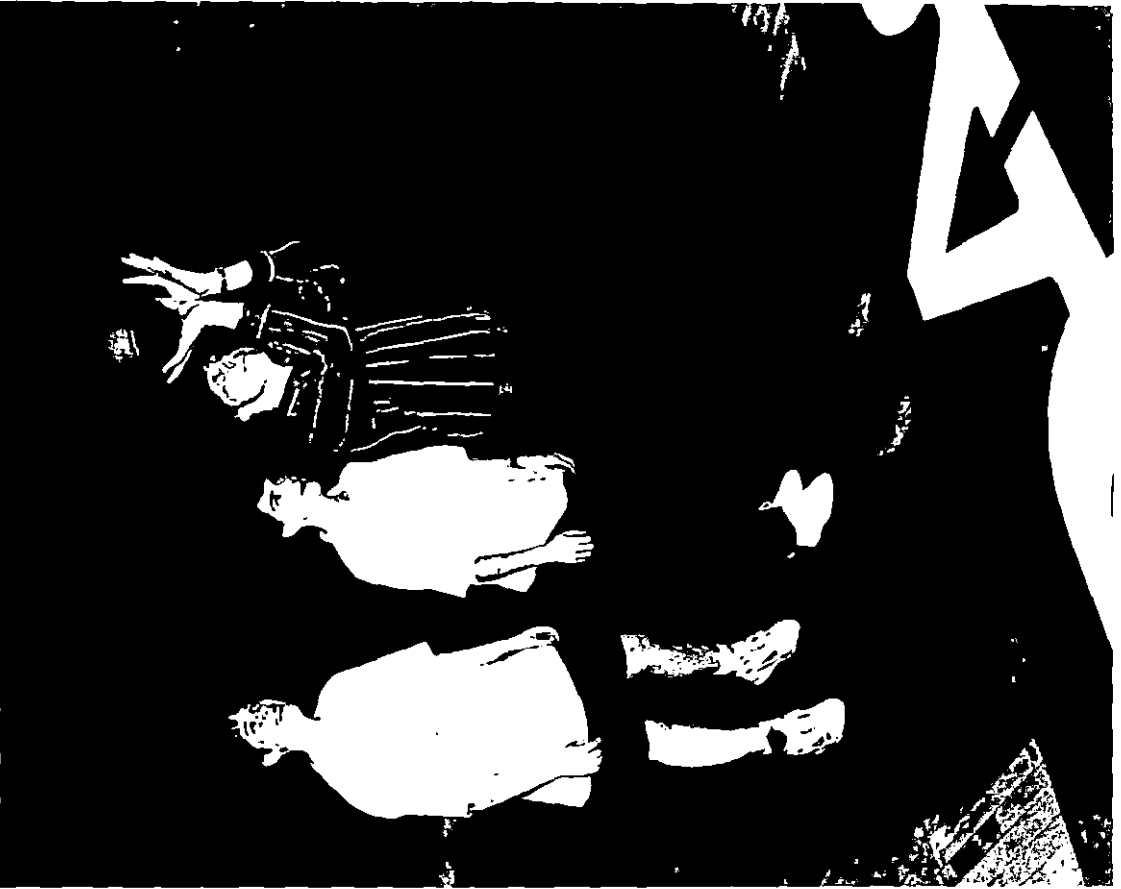

- 1---First stop of the day was MSU's Academic-Athletic Center for an "official" photograph to mark the day and a welcome by admissions personnel as well as an orientation briefing.
- 2---Learning a little bit about what industrial robots can do during their visit to MSU's Robotics Lab was a group of RHS students. Explaining this particular process is Travis Blanton, standing at machine, an industrial education and technology major from Salyersville.
- 3---A trip to the studios of MSU's Office of TV Productions is always a highlight for Day on Campus visitors. Producer T.C. Young, standing at far right, discusses what goes on in the control room while Bryan Walker, Covington senior, continues working at the control board.

Jeb Stuart Magruder, a prominent player in the Watergate scandal of the early 1970s, recently spoke at Morehead State University in a formal, public convocation setting and, later, informally with students from various social sciences-related classes. Discussing what he described as a decline in the moral fiber of the United States, Magruder, now a Presbyterian minister in Lexington, called the American public apathetic. Prior to entering Button Auditorium for the convocation, Magruder, center, talked with Dr. Charles Holt, left, interim chair of MSU's Department of Geography, Government and History, and Dr. Donald Flatt, MSU professor of history. Magruder's campus appearance was an outgrowth of a class, "The Use and Misuse of Presidential Powers," taught by Dr. Flatt this semester.

RETIRING FACULTY MEMBERS HONORED

Morehead State University's Department of Geography, Government and History recently recognized two faculty members who plan to retire this year and another colleague who retired last year. Discussing plans for the future at a dinner in their honor were, from left, Dr. Jack Bizzel, professor of government; James Robinson, assistant professor of geography, who retired last year, and Dr. Gary C. Cox, professor of geography. Dr. Bizzel and Dr. Cox, who will retire this year, have been on the faculty since 1966 and 1970, respectively. Robinson had been teaching since 1965.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Kentucky's beautiful flowering dogwoods, like their counterparts in the eastern and southeastern United States, are under attack by a devastating fungus.

Signs of the fungus, discula destructiva, have already shown up in Kentucky, according to Dr. David M. Brumagen, professor of biological and environmental sciences at Morehead State University.

The disease has done extensive damage in many southeastern states and is expected to rise dramatically in Kentucky in the near future, said Dr. Brumagen, who just returned from a workshop on the fungus which is wiping out flowering dogwoods across more than a dozen states.

Dr. Brumagen is studying the prevalence of the disease in Eastern Kentucky and is looking for sightings of diseased plants.

Symptoms include:

* Lower limb die-back where upper limbs are leafing and blooming, but bottom limbs are without foliage or blossom.

*Leaves will have tan spots ringed in purple. The flowers also will show brown spots, especially during excessively wet periods.

*Larger, well-established trees with the disease will begin to have dense new branches at the base.

"These branchings would resemble the basal sucker growth of wind damaged tobacco plants," Dr. Brumagen explained.

Anyone noticing any of these symptoms on the dogwoods should contact Dr. Brumagen at (606) 783-2959.

"I am particularly interested in hearing from individuals in Eastern Kentucky counties who suspect there might be something wrong with their dogwoods, whether in a residential or forest setting," the scientist said.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Fourth in the nation. That's how Morehead State University's Individual Events (IE) team closed out its season at the National Forensic Association's National IE Tournament.

Earning fourth place this year, the MSU team equaled its highest ranking which was earned in 1983. Last year the team came back from nationals in 8th place, while in 1990 MSU held the 10th spot.

Competing with 102 other universities and colleges in the event held April 16-20 in Mankato, Minn., MSU also brought home a national champion with Brian Gardner's first place win in informative speaking. Gardner, a junior from Louisville, was a quarterfinalist in persuasion as well.

MSU has not had an individual national champion since 1983 and that first place also was earned in informative speaking.

"In addition to equaling the school's 1983 ranking, the team set a new record with the number of entrants advancing to the quarterfinal rounds," said Jan Caldwell, MSU assistant professor of speech and IE team coach. "That really shows the total strength of this team," she added.

"We are all so very proud of these students and their coaches," said MSU President C. Nelson Grote. "Their hard work and dedication continue to reflect the tradition of excellence for which Morehead State is known," Dr. Grote added.

Not only is the MSU IE team in the nation's top five, but for 16 consecutive years it has held the top spot in the Kentucky Forensic Association's IE competition and holds the title of 1992 Overall Sweepstakes Champions for the state.

Assisting Caldwell in coaching the MSU team were Edward Smith, MSU instructor in speech, and Aaron Smith, graduate student from Peoria, Ill.

In individual achievements, April Erdmann, Eldorado, Ohio, junior earned sixth place in persuasive speaking, while advancing to the semifinal rounds in after dinner speaking and informative speaking.

In addition, several other team members advanced to quarterfinal rounds. They were:

Rachel Craft, Morehead junior, prose, informative speaking, rhetorical criticism and, combined with Amy Darnell, Lebanon, Ohio, senior, dramatic duo. Darnell also was a quarterfinalist in after dinner speaking.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A school system superintendent, a teacher of children with behavioral disorders and a graduate student have been recognized for their professional achievements by the Morehead State University Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa.

Kenneth E. Bland, Rowan County Schools superintendent, received the 1992 Outstanding Administrator Award.

Pamela A. Eklund, who is responsible for Rowan County's self-contained class for children with behavioral disorders, was the recipient of the Outstanding Teacher Award.

Stacy A. Evans of Sandy Hook, who is pursuing an M.A. degree in English, was named the Outstanding Graduate Student.

In his current post since December 1987, Bland began his career as a classroom teacher and coach in 1961 in the Rowan County schools. He also has been a principal and assistant superintendent for the county system.

Receiving his baccalaureate and master's degrees from MSU, Bland went on to earn his Rank I certification in educational administration from Eastern Kentucky University.

Praising Bland, a colleague said that he "surrounds himself with the best administrative staff he can find and involves them in the decision making process."

Eklund, this year's Outstanding Teacher, earned her B.A. degree from the University of Northern Iowa and M.A. degree from Northeast Missouri State University. Her classroom is located at Clearfield Elementary School. One of her co-workers commented that "it is amazing to see the improvement in self-respect these children demonstrate after only a few weeks in her class."

Completing undergraduate work in English and business at Transylvania University, Evans is a May candidate for his master's degree in English at MSU. His specialty is in Irish studies. In nominating him for the award, an MSU English faculty member said that "his scholarly excellence, technical expertise and outstanding service" made Evans a prime candidate for the honor.

Chairing the awards committee was Clyde I. James, MSU's manager of the University Center. The awards were presented by Dr. Mary Anne Pollock, PDK president and MSU associate professor of ^{Education} ~~English~~.

Also PDK, the professional fraternity for educators, presented four students with scholarship awards of $150 each. The recipients were Sheila Muncy, a Catlettsburg junior majoring in elementary education K-4; Kim Simpson, a Louisville junior majoring in elementary education 5-8; Samantha Dunaway, a Bellevue senior majoring in secondary education with concentrations in English and Spanish, and Melissa Hamilton, a Georgetown senior majoring in elementary education K-4.

Chairing the scholarship awards committee was Sharla Fasko, a psychologist with the Rowan County schools.
