SEVEN MONTHS OR SEVEN YEARS?

From a Kentucky town, not long ago, came word of an accident that befell a penniless boy in the local railroad yards. His neck was broken. A newspaper account stated that the youth remained at the depot seven hours before arrangements could be made to remove him to the hospital. Tragedy indeed.

We do not know the circumstances responsible for the delay in this particular case but we do know that it was ONE BOY and ONE TRAGEDY. If our hearts go out to this hapless lad, as surely they must, will the word that 15,000 tragedies (there are that many crippled boys and girls in Kentucky; at our very next step) move us to sympathetic action? Move us to help in a practical way, thousands of "Tyn-Tims" and "crippled Kates" who will serve Kentucky magnificently in the future if we do something about it today?

Seven hours of tortured waiting. Too long! But what about seven months of waiting or, unless we do something it, seven years of waiting for crippled children whose names are being added daily to the lengthening waiting list of the Kentucky Crippled Children Commission.

How can you help? That's easy. Write to the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, Heyburn Building, Louisville, Ky., for details of their membership campaign. Men and women, boys and girls, civic clubs, farm groups, Sunday School classes, "4-H" clubs, women's groups and other organizations, stores, shops and offices, all and more, can help. Write the Society today—a postal card will do!

THE MAGIC OF SUNSHINE

A merry little brook on whose banks I have often dreamed and loafed, is silenced now. The ice and snow have stopped its music. It is cold and still. The dancing waters are frozen up. The life-and sparkle are gone.

And then comes springtime and sunshine! What a transformation! The little brook begins to sing again as it flows over the rocks. It shimmers and shines as it reflects the brilliancy of the sun. Soon flowers bloom on its banks. Children come to wade and shout and play. The sun goes.

Often lives, like the little brook, become frozen up with fear, worry and despair. They lost their music and sparkle. To play the part of the sun and help thaw out those lives—what an adventure that is. To meet negative thinking with the sunshine of hope, cheer, courage and love. To increase the sunny moments of all those who touch our lives. This, too, is working magic!

Obituary

John C. Harris, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Harris of Haldeman, Ky., died at the Kings Daughters Hospital, Ashland, Ky., Thursday morning April 8, at 11:15 o'clock, of double pneumonia.

Misses Fern, Aileen, and Lyda Harris, of Haldeman, and three brothers Willard, Woodrow and Edward of Haldeman. The deceased is also survived by his wife and infant son who was born since his father was taken to the hospital.

John attended the public schools and was graduated from the Haldeman High School in 1929. He was industrious, truthful, dependable and obedient to his parents.

Before the deceased passed this life it is known that he called on the Lord in faith and expressed both a willingness and readiness to go.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Saints Church with the Rev. T. F. Lyons in charge. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Stanley Hall. The Rev. E. H. Kaeze assisted in the services.

Interment was made at the Haldeman cemetery.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. R. H. Kaeze, Pastor of Baptist Church.

Subject: The Scientific Basis of Temperance (Genesis 13:15; 19:23-25; Deut. 32:31-33; Prov. 23:29-32). Golden Text: "At last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder" (Prov. 23:32).

In this lesson we are not to treat the liquor problem from a moral viewpoint it is to be a purely scientific study. In this space we shall have place for only a few quotations from a medical scientist who made a study of alcohol without mention of its moral ruin upon humanity. These quotations constitute our lesson today. Our authority is Dr. Haven Emerson, M. D., in his book Alcohol: Its Effect on Man. He is professor of Public Health Practice in Columbia University.

1. Alcohol is not a stimulant. "Alcohol was formerly regarded as a stimulant by the medical profession and is still commonly so called by the laity. We know this caption to be wrong. Modern methods of study of man and the lower animals prove unquestionably that the effects formerly thought to be evidences of a stimulant are to be evidences of exactly the opposite."
2. On the subject of addiction. "Formation of the alcohol habit involves many factors, social, genetic, and otherwise, outside the scope of the medical sciences; but apart from all these remains the mass of common lay and medical observation that self-control, self-determination, judgment, and discretion are so reduced by frequent or repeated, but not always immoderate, use of alcohol that many users find that they have acquired a habit of dependence upon the drug from which they cannot free themselves... and alcohol addicts are common wherever alcoholic beverages are generally available."

3. Effects of alcohol upon the brain. (Much the question omitted for lack of space). "Slight distraction or delay is sufficient to permit a difference of a quarter of a mile in the position of a rapidly moving aeroplane between the point of observation of danger and the effective response of the pilot, and of 15 to 30 feet in the position of an automobile traveling at 35 to 30 miles an hour... From the point of view of the psychiatrist, the alcohol presents a greater hazard to motor traffic safety than any other mentally abnormal person."

4. Human behaviour. "Alcohol even in moderate doses in particular to susceptible persons releases them from ordinary social inhibitions and tends to promote a freedom in sexual conduct which would not be otherwise engaged in." "The most successful artificial or drug excitant to sexual excess is alcohol." He quotes another doctor as saying, "Alcohol is the best salesman and procurer known, and is a constant essential stock in trade for the promotion of prostitution." "What can mothers and fathers expect, then, of sons and daughters who drink?"

5. Length of life. Dr. Emerson points to statistics of two leading life insurance companies showing that the death rate of total abstainers is far below that of those who listed themselves as "infrequent users," "temperate users," and "moderate users." He says, "Alcohol in no amount is necessary to life. Alcohol used even by persons believing themselves to be moderate in this habit is undoubtedly a factor in shortening the average length of life."

6. Social drinking. "Of all the physiologically undesirable habits in the use of alcohol, the cocktail before meals in the homes of fashion and the whiskey before breakfast in the homes of alcohol addicts are the worst in their immediate and subsequent effect upon the health of the individual." "Alcohol should never be used at any time by persons carrying responsibility for the safety of the life of others."

DR. COTTON NOE'S BOOKS ARE AVAILABLE NOW

Several people have inquired regarding some of Dr. Noe's books. Dr. Frank B. Miller, Professor of Etymology, has several autographed copies of Dr. Noe's "Valley of Parnassus" available and six copies of "The Legend of the Silver Band."

The Old Harp Singers of Nashville, Tennessee, sit down around the family table and strike up their tunes. As the picture shows, they are not exactly "old". And where are their harps? They lie on the table, we are told. They are the eight copies of the yellowed, "shapenote" song books of a century ago which are called "The Sacred Harp", whence the name of the eight-singer group pictured above. From that antique book come also the tunes which form a goodly part of their unique program of Earl American folk and art music to be given in Morehead, on Monday April 26, at 7:30 p. m., at the College Auditorium under the auspices of Morehead State Teachers College.

Dr. Bach's Book Successful: Reprinting Necessitated

The German grammar which Dr. Emma O. Bach published last fall sold well and a reprint was necessary.
A review of the book by Professor Heller of George Washington University which appeared last fall in the German Quarterly, was highly complimentary.

Political Announcement

TO THE VOTERS OF ROWAN COUNTY:
I desire to take this means of announcing to the voters of Rowan county my intention to make the race for the office of Sheriff of this county, subject to the Republican Primary on August 7, 1937.

I do not deem it necessary to make any long statement as to myself or as to my qualifications as I feel that the voters of this county are well acquainted with me and my past record.

I was a candidate for this office four years ago and although defeated in my attempt to be your sheriff I took my defeat, as should any man in a sportsmanlike manner, held no grievances toward any voter and wished for my successful opponent the greatest of success during his term of office.

I was born and reared in Rowan county, have never lived away, and the people of this county are well acquainted with me and my family, and for this reason I do not feel that anything on this line is necessary.

If I should be honored, at your hands, with the nomination and election to this office I will promise you that it shall be my endeavor to honestly and fearlessly discharge the duties of this office, be ready at all times to respond to any call where needed and give you the best possible service at my command.

It will be my promise to see each voter personally and present my case in person but in the meantime I request each of you to personally investigate me and my qualifications and I assure you that any consideration given to my candidacy will be greatly appreciated.
Very truly yours,
B. F. McBrayer

Patterns of Wolfpen

By Harlan Hatcher

WV Service

In the afternoon she went out through the barnyard, down into the just perceptible green mist in the orchard, across the creek, stepping through the low sound of the water playing among the rocks in the bed, and then the sharp climb up the steep contours of the path. It was good to feel again the muscle pull in her calves and thighs, the thump of her heart, the sweet take of fresh breath, to see the valley begin to spread and drop away, to hear the cattle the sheep, the chickens, rattle below her. Step by climbing step she mounted upward out of the events that had assailed the Wolfpen Hollow, in a year. She felt her soul growing calm, released from the sharp clutch of ever repeated broodings. She lenberger, lumbering, Julia, Sparrel, the place, the place, Sparrel, lumbering, Abrah, Julia, Reuben and the vision of him taking possession of her.

At the Pinnacle she passed her hand over her forehead, lifting her head, breathing mountain air into her mouth, feeling exalted by the triumph of glad animal life over the depression of spirit. She wandered around the rock ledges of the Pinnacle, peeping down the abrupt emptiness to the creek and mill below, examining the miracle of columnar stone extracting sustenance from a break in the rock, musing on the timeless heavy flopping of crows wings the effortless sailing on the wind up and down over Wolfpen and Gannon. There were cardinals in the boughs of the pine trees on the edge of the precipice. She sat on the ledge with her feet resting on the last shelf and looked across the valley, yielding to her unworried thoughts.

April and another spring rolling silently into these hills and splitting into Wolfpen. It's a queer gladness all tangled up with a sadness and a longing in a body's heart, when you see the spring coming green again. I reckon it is the seed urge pent up for a winter and break out of its shell. Wanting to feel the earth warm around it, and open itself and say 'Here I am, take me, I shall bear fruit. I wonder if the sweet-corn seeds are like me, thinking of mother's garden as I do of Reuben? Would I dare even to think of it? Corn seed into the warm ground, man seed... woman... planting. To bear his children. With Reuben, in the spring, in a few more days it will be. To be thinking of such things. Always before it seemed like a thought of shame to think of a man in that way. But not with Reuben and not now. Like it was a part of a body's life, beautiful, the best part. Looking to this time, Strong he is and gentle in his strength.

Last spring I sat here and had never seen him. The Mother was making her garden. Then Daddy was excited about his mill, not the thinking of selling land, or lying on Cranesnest Shelf in a year. I will think of my father, Wolfpen without him, Jasper, to carry on now. How does a body go about being sinning to think about things. First you have a place where you feel alone with yourself. Like this. Where the lay of the land is like all the folds in your own soul. They fit right over each other and then you haven't any body any more. The way the sky and the mountains come together in the blue. The str of thoughts rises there in the heart of God. It comes with the airy waves of the mountain tops and the dark blue pockets over the hollows, surging to me, play of His thoughts, for ever beating on this Pinnacle. This cardinal feather fluttering out of the sky almost into my lap, I guess it must be a blood drop from the head of God. The sudden bell note of the cardinal's call from the laurid spray is the music of His voice through these hills. It does not belong to the redbird. Another one sounded it last year, still another the year before. He lends it to each bird, generation following upon them, with His breath as they come into the earth. The Indians heard it, too and they are dead. My grandfathers heard it and my father, and they are dead as the birds are. Now I hear it going on. The feathers flutter in the pine boughs and fit down into the apple orchard in Wolfpen for a season or two and are brushed away. But the bell note sings on forever over these hills in the very breath of God.

Or could it be after all a sigh? A despairing sigh from a bleeding heart before the black plague on hawk's wings, stifles the melody of the song? My father's song stopped by a stone in the hands of wicked men. I will think of him. Yonder is the upper form and the big rocks where a great evil have battered the song from my father's mouth. There floats over Jerusalem's meadow the black shadow from the only cloud in the sky. It seems to lie low, at rest on the rocks at the very spot where they struck him down. And still no trace of them that did it. Why did it have to happen? Or Dug broken up and blinded by a worthless log? Thereupon some-

is no way, no reckoning with destruction and death. Hurrying on somewhere else to strike again, but given no answer to a body's why. To be in the head of God does death dwell? I guess there is no answer to a body's where.

I keep thinking of death. I will not think of death. I will think of how he was struck down between here and Pikeville turned upon him when he rode. Jasper tries to sit on a horse like him but he can't. Jesse seems to be dreaming when he rides. Abrah is fidgety (Daddy) rode upright and easy and don't look at him. And women. I don't keep going straight with a thought. I steal up on one to catch in my hand like it was a moth on a stovepipe, and when I reach out my fingers it flutters away.

Reuben marrying me. Married? It's a strange word. Wife. From a girl, Jesse seems to be dreaming with her mother and father and mothers as a girl sister, to wife and the love of a man, married and in a house with him, together in the same bed. With Reuben. Husband he will be. Children Julia and Reuben, or ought he to be called Reuben? To leave Wolfpen and go away with him the way Mother life Sato and came here with Sparrel Pattern and Granny Louverna from Virginia with Saul. His eyes when he told of the house in the orchard on the hill above the river. I could be forever in the look in his eyes. Maybe I could marry in Mother's dress, with a little making over, for he was taller than I and prettier. Reuben says no, but she really was. How the days go since he went away. Planning all the time, fixed our clothes and quilts and blankets, too good to use, to keep for keepsakes, no not too good for Reuben to use.

That day Jesse went away and I cried and Daddy came and grabbed me and Reuben wouldn't get me. I wonder what he aimed to do then, and if he would have done it if it hadn't happened to him. He is a fine boy and I could nearly love him for the proud way he went into himself and never said another word to me. I hope he marries Judy and has a good family. I couldn't ever have Daug.

May 12 Is Date Set For Play

"Streamline Sue" To Be Given By Seniors Of Breckinridge

"Streamlined Sue" by Eugene G. Hafer, will be presented May 12 by the Breckinridge Senior Class. The play will be given in the Training School Auditorium. Practice has begun, with the following cast: Lucille Babson, an attractive small-town girl of nineteen — Frances Flood. Jenny Groves, a plain, good hearted woman of thirty-five — Lena Hamm. Ben Crump, the much imposed on mayor of Pine Grove — Billy Hodge.

Charlie Boone, a handsome, well bred man of twenty-three, with a hot temper — Bruce Rawlings. Clarence Elliott, his friend, with a fondness for climbing trees, rather nervous, and girl-shy — Harold Allen.

"Streamlined Sue" is Sue Gray, a good natured belligerent little savage. As Nancy Brent, she is a sweet demure girl of nineteen — Dorothy Gault.

Mrs. Corneil Cobb, a would-be aristocrat, president of the Women's Club — Frances Peratt. Jonathan Boone, a conceivably and dignified banker of forty. Willard Keeton. Oscar Schultz, a crude small-town Romeo — Billy Ramey. Bunny Barrels, a pretty but embarrassing visitor — Virginia Lee Nickel.

When Charlie Boone arrives in the village of Pine Grove, he little suspects that Uncle David has sent him with the purpose of creating a match between him and Sue Gray. He meets Sue, a belligerent little miss in overalls who is known as "Streamlined Sue", and hostilities promptly begin. About this time a new teacher, Nancy Brent, is expected to arrive. Jonathan Boone, village banker, and Mrs. Cobb join forces to create a match between her and Charlie, and thus teach the "barbarian Sue" a lesson. Charlie falls easily for Nancy, and a cyclonic courtship develops. What happens when Charlie finds he has been making love to the "Streamlined Sue" brings the play to a side-splitting climax.

Dr. J. D. Falls Conducting New Experiment On Checks

Dr. J. D. Falls, head of the personnel department, is conducting research work, with the aid of his students in regard to the system of N. Y. A. checks. With the help of two representatives from each class, one group will give constructive criticisms of the methods now in operation; the other group will give destructive criticism and report will be compiled, under the supervision of Dr. Falls. This report will be sent to headquarters at Louisville. The results of this work and the report will be published at a later date in the Trail Blazer.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste
Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove waste matter, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.
Burning, gritty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance. Headaches, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up at night, swelling, stiffness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.
In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something you rarely know. Use Doan's Pills. A multiple mode of gradual poisoning recommended should still wear out your kidneys.

U. Of K. Swim Contest Postponement Made

Future Date Is As Yet Still Unknown

Morehead's Mermen were forced to forgo postponement of their match with University of Kentucky's Independents booked for Monday evening, April 12. Spring vacation was given as the cause.

In postponing the meet, no future date was set, but it is understood that the U. of K. lads will appear here between April 19, and 26.

The Eagles dropped the first dual meet to the Independents 41 to 34, but since then have improved and are eager to have another try. Too, it was the initial meet of the season for the Blue and Gold and they might have been a trifle nervous. As it was, the wins were even, but the Blue Grass boys pulled a way in the place and show positions to supply the margin of victory. Coach Len Miller, anxious to get his tennis team underway, has asked that all candidates report to him at the tennis courts Monday afternoon, April 19, at four o'clock. It is not definitely known as yet whether or not there will be any intercollegiate matches. It is hoped that a few with some of the nearby colleges can be arranged, but regardless there will be an elimination tournament to determine the single and double championship.

If the matches with other colleges are arranged, it will be the first time in Morehead's history that tennis has been anything more than an intramural sport.

Lack of good water helps to reduce livestock profits on many farms. Where at all possible, water should be piped from springs, streams or wells to concrete tanks, so that a clean, fresh supply will be available at all times.

Perry To Meet Carter In Finals

Annual Inter-Mural Tournament Goes To Final Play In Next Game

Perry County clipped the high-flying lads from Floyd 23 to 24 in two overtime periods to win the right to oppose Carter in the finals of the County Tournament to be held in the college gymnasium sometime next week.

Carter barely eased by Rowan in the opening fracas, and was hard pressed to eke out a decision over a scrapping outfit from Letcher to make its way to the seeded spot of finalist.

First Round Winners

Letcher got off to a flying start in the lid-lifter of the tourney sending Knott to an ignominious 40 to 5 defeat. Carter slipped by Rowan, conceded to have the cream of the quints by the pre-tournament dopsters, on a one point margin, and thus turned in the major upset of the elimination. Greenup took it on the chin 16 to 10 from a hard-fighting, inexperienced Floyd aggregation; Perry walloped Elliot 35 to 11; and Morgan bowled to Boyd 39 to 10 to end the initial round of play.

Perry Is Good

In the second round Carter squeezed out a 11 to 9 victory over Letcher to worm its way to the finals. Perry, little regarded at the start, rapidly established itself as a contender for the crown by lashing Boyd to the mast to the tune of 17 to 10. To prove that their two former victories were not flukes, Perry scrambled Floyd under a 23 to 24 score in two heated overtimes, and thus skyrocketed to the last round.

Campus Club Challenges
The Campus Club claims to have the best hardwood aggregation on the campus, and to prove it are throwing down a challenge to the winner of the County Tournament:

BRECK CRAFTSMEN RECEIVE HONOR

Receive Charter From National Headquarters: Black President

The Breckinridge Craftsmen Club was organized in 1935. Its chief purpose was to recognize talented craftsmen in the senior high school and it has been recognized lately at a national meeting.

In 1934 the American Vocational Association appointed a special committee to study the possibilities of developing an organization for boys interested in Industrial Arts. The committee recommended the immediate formation of local clubs to be known as the Future Craftsmen of America. A provisional constitution was written by the committee, certain statements of purpose and philosophy were formulated and suggestions for organizing local clubs were written in order that there should be uniform understanding concerning the organization.

The national organization meeting was held in Detroit, Michigan, in November, 1936. There they elected officers and gave out a statement of principles and suggestions for local clubs. Under this national set-up the Craftsmen Club became the Breckinridge Chapter of the Future Craftsmen of America, holding the first charter granted in the state of Kentucky and the United States.

The members are: J. G. Black, president; Bruce Rawlings, secretary-treasurer; Clinton Tatum, Walter Carr, Bob Fraley, Harold Allen, J. T. Mays, Faculty Sponsor.

ers must add an equal amount and pay the total of 2 per cent to the Collector each month.

Mr. Ourbacker stressed that the Unemployment Compensation phase of the Social Security Act is administered by the State of Kentucky and that therefore the Ashland office which is a Federal office has no jurisdiction in this field.

While the plan of monthly benefits is generally known, there seems to be little information about lumps-sums and death benefit payments the Social Security office stated. These should be claimed immediately upon death or upon reaching the sixty-fifth birthday. The proper procedure is for the claimant to contact the nearest office of the Board, which in the case of the residents of this vicinity would be the Ashland office. The amount of the payment will depend on the amount of wages that has been reported to the account since January 1, 1937, the return being $3.50 on each $100 of wages. Mr. Ourbacker said that he wished to emphatically state that it was unnecessary to employ anyone to file a claim as his office was anxious to be of service in this respect.

Mr. Ourbacker said he wished to caution employers that Treasury regulations requires them to file a Form 28-3 on each employee who reaches 65 years of age or who dies within 15 days after that employee's 65 birthday or his death.

All persons having any questions or problems are urged to communicate with the Social Security Board Office in Ashland for assistance. k0sek-G0dobag setgeralncient

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC TRIO ATTEND MEET

Miss Troemel Accompanies Girls To Lexington

Saturday, April 10, delegates of the local Women's Athletic Association met with representatives of Georgetown, Centre, Transylvania, Ashbury, University of Louisville and the host delegation of the University of Kentucky.

A luncheon was held at the University Commons after 12:00 registration. Mrs. ... dean of women of the university, spoke to the assemblage of approximately fifty girls.

A business session was held in the Women's Building from two o'clock till four. Miss Jane Welton, president of the university club, acted as temporary president. It was unanimously voted upon to organize a federation of all U. A. A. or women's groups in Kentucky colleges. After appointing Jane Haydon, Morehead; Maisey Ford, Centre; and Eleanor Sneed, of the University of Kentucky on the nominating committee the following officers were elected.

President, Jane Welch, U. of K.; vice-president, Mary Phillips, Georgetown; secretary-treasurer, Mary Brashaw, U. of Louisville. Morehead was selected as the meeting place next year. Before the business session closed, a constitution was adopted and the point systems of various clubs and sport tournaments were discussed.

Tea was served at four o'clock ending the days activities for the group.

Mary Ruth Cassity, Jane Haydon, Esther Blackburn and Juanita Fort were the delegates sent.

Miss Ernestine Troemel, club sponsor, also attended the meeting.

WOMEN SWIMMERS ENTERED IN MEET

Results Are Not Yet Known: Ricketts Good

The Morehead Women's Swimming team participated in the annual National Intercollegiate Telegraphic Swimming Meet held between March 15 and April 15. For the time this is published the results are not known.

However, the time of Elizabeth Ricketts, elongated tomato blonde, in the 100 yard breast crawl compares very favorably with the winning time in that event last year.

In this type of meet a college may choose to swim with another college, the results being sent to their opponent or to the regional sponsor. The regional sponsor then compares the records for all the colleges in its district and sends a copy of the results to each participant.

The Morehead team is composed of three members: Elizabeth Ricketts, manager, Katherine Jackson, and Linda Lee Eaton. Ricketts and Jackson swim the crawl and back crawl and Eaton, the breast.

These meets have evolved from a genuine interest in and appreciation of proficiency in swimming among university and college men throughout the country. As planned and originated, they give women an opportunity to compete with other university women within the walls of trial competition.

The records were as follows:
40 yd. crawl Jackson 27.12 sec.
40 yd. breast Eaton 37.13 sec.
40 yd. back crawl Ricketts 33.13 sec.
100 yd. crawl Ricketts 1:24.15 sec.
100 yd. breast Eaton 1:49.35 sec.
100 yd. breast crawl Ricketts 1:52 and 9-10 sec.

Tom Watkins, retired Government Gauger, who spent over 40 years supervising American distilleries, says:

"Nowhere did I find more rigid standards of scientific accuracy than at Glenmore"

"I've been assigned to a good many distilleries at one time or another. What I remember best is Glenmore. I like their way of making their popular priced Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey—Mint Springs. They use the same grains, same process, same experienced men—as in making their most costly whiskeys."

Tom Watkins' judgment is sound—Glenmore was one of only seven distilleries permitted by the Government to make medicinal whiskey throughout Prohibition.

FRANCIS WECKESSER BEAUTY WINNER

Francis Weckesser, freshman from Mt. Sterling, was judged the most beautiful girl on the Morehead College campus.

Her picture indicates, Miss Weckesser is a striking brunette. Her shining brown eyes and ready smile has won the hearts of the campus.

"Fancy," as her friends call her, is unique inasmuch as the males as well as females count her a very charming girl.

Francis was chosen from a group of 15 girls whose pictures were submitted to George Petty, illustrator for Esquire.

Morehead Graduate Returns As Professor At College

T. U. Fann, a graduate of Morehead and who received his masters degree at the University of Kentucky, has been employed at Morehead to teach the following classes: Rural Sociology, American Foreign Relations, Historical Psychology and Curriculum Construction. One hundred and ten students have enrolled in the first two subjects. The latter two classes were those taken over from the previous semester.

AT THE COZY THEATRE

Edward Everett Horton and the famous "Pixilated Sister" are zoomed to popularity in "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," are together in one of the gayest comedies to hit the screen in many months in "Let's Make a Million," which arrives at the Cozy Theatre next Sunday, April 18.

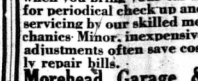

The story is a familiar one of thousands of American families. It deals with the bonus recently given to veterans of the World War and what one man did with his. The man in the picture is Horton. He wanted to use to bolster up his business and to use the surplus to get married. The charming Charlotte Wynders plays the role of his sweetheart.

But the famous pixilated pair, Margaret Seddon and Margaret McWade, have some ideas on the subject and despite all the risks that make the picture famous to get their way. The almost do, but after a series of hilarious goings-on, which bring the whole local American Legion in to the picture, together with a pair of stock swindlers and a "deadhead" oil well, Horton finds himself richer than he ever thought he could be.

It's all great fun, provided in large measure by J. M. Kernigan, Irving Bacon, Purnell Pratt, and that villain of villains, Porter Hall up to no good again, and getting it where he generally gets it, to the delight of the audience which witnessed the opening show.

Lily Pons To Sing With Orchestra

Popular Soprano Returns To Air April 14

With the exception of two or three guest-star appearances, the voice of Lily Pons has not been heard over the air for nearly a year.

Making movies and doing concert trips between years engagements, "That Girl From Paris" has had a busy year. No other singer has appeared who can remotely approach the tiny French star's beautiful coloratura and Miss Pons' popularity increases every day.

Despite many other radio offers she has been content to wait until Miss Pons' current Chesterfield series was concluded, thus opening the way for a return to the air waves under the direction of Andre Kostelanetz.

The combination of Miss Pons and the Kostelanetz orchestra has always been a favorite one with millions of radio listeners, and general opinion seems to be that the new series of broadcasts will prove to be something worth waiting for.

To sing more of the "popular songs"

While Miss Pons has no opera aspirations with which she has thrilled millions of listeners, there are reliable reports that she plans to render many of the lighter variety of songs in her own individual style. The success of her latest movie "That Girl From Paris," wherein Miss Pons actually sang the Blue Danube to the swing tempo of a dance band proved that the flute-like tones of what critics call "the voice of the century" are as versatile as the Chesterfield orchestra which has been with her so often on the air.

Andre Kostelanetz will continue to present the Chesterfield Chorus which is being referred to as the finest vocal group on the air. These talented singers had much to do with the Chesterfield hour being voted the most popular all around musical program in a recent nationwide poll. Their specialty is in the brilliant and original arrangement of harmony, rather than the type of song selected for they have featured simple folk songs along with many popular classics from the best composers.

Wednesday night at 9 o'clock, New York Time is a favorite musical period on all Columbia Stations and Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company deserves a good round of applause for the high Chesterfield standard of entertainment week after week.

On account of the meeting of the Kentucky Educational Association there will be no show on Friday, April 16, or on Sunday April 18.

For Monday, April 19, the feature is "Racketeers in Exile" and features George Bancroft and Evelyn Venable.

Bancroft, head of a gangster mob, is frightened out of his territory when a racket of evangelism on the heat. He takes his aids with him to his home town, and while addressing the citizens at a strawberry festival, conceives the idea of making a racket of evangelism. Inevitably he falls for his own line, and almost loses his life conducting an expose of gangster activities.

REVELLERS TO GIVE "MELLERDRAMMER"

The Revellers met Wednesday evening, April 7, at 6:30 to hold dryouts for two plays which they are to present in the middle of May. The exact date has not been definitely decided upon but it will be announced later.

Club sponsor, Devije Fencl's popularized version of that familiar story "Little Red Riding Hood" will be given as the curtain raiser. Margaret Roberson will portray the little girl with Lighton Mock supporting her as "Handsome Harry". Kenneth Fern will play the dual role of sheep in wolf's clothing and granddama.

A novelty play copied after the old fashion, blood-curdling, hair-raising melodramas will be presented at the same performance. This play is being presented because the trend at the present is the revival of the type entertainment that was so popular in the gay nineties.
