Keen Johnson Popular

Tyler Munford, editor of the Union County Advocate at Morganfield and member of the state legislature, who has been prominently identified with the anti-Chandler faction of the Democratic party, believes that Keen Johnson will have the support of 90 percent of the newspaper editors of Kentucky if he is opposed by former Congressman John Young Brown for the gubernatorial nomination.

In an article in his paper two weeks ago, Mr. Munford said that at the recent mid-winter meeting of the Kentucky Press Association he interviewed editors from Mills Point to the Big Sandy and from the Tennessee line to far northern Kentucky.

There are, of course, Mr. Munford continued, "strong ties existing between Johnson and most members of the press group, but the tremendous sentiment favoring his candidacy as opposed to Brown is significant in that it demonstrates that the Richmond editor is retaining many of the 1935 connections that played an important part in his successful race for Lieutenant Governor.

In a recent poll made by the editor of Capitol Comments, feature column of The Morehead Independent, Keen Johnson led the state by a substantial majority over candidates and prospective candidates.

Somebody Should Be Punished

The disclosures made concerning the borrowings of Martin P. Stanton, senior judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, for the Second Circuit, reveal a shocking lack of taste and an impropriety that is to be condemned in a judge.

Without attempting to impute criminality to the federal judge, it should be apparent to every citizen that it is not conducive to justice for a judge on the circuit to borrow as much as $250,000 through arrangements made by officers of a corporation which has a suit pending before the judge.

The resignation of Judge Stanton should not close this matter. Further investigation should be made, and, if possible, not only the judge but the parties lending him the money should be punished. They are as reprehensible as the jurist.

About Thoroughbreds

Few present day patrons of the turf know the origin and evolution of starting races in Kentucky, cradleground of the sport of kings in the nation. On this score they need no longer remain in ignorance, thanks to the diligence and research made by the editors of the Federal Writers' Project in Kentucky, a branch of the W. P. A.

In the early eighties fields were sent away from primitive barriers by means of a flag or drum. Services of both starter and judge were voluntary. It was during this decade—the date, cannot be definitely fixed—that the first paid or salaried starter entered the picture.

What a far cry is this to the modern, "They're off," with starting stalls, totalisators, photo finishes and radio descriptions of the sport?

Morehead pessimists are wondering what will follow since business is expected to be better in 1939 and improve in 1940.

Thoughts Of Spring

While there is still ample time for several weeks of old-fashioned winter weather over a large part of these tropical United States, all minds are turning to thoughts of spring.

No matter what the next few weeks hold forth, spring is on the way. The red thread in the thermometer stands a little higher. The sun is deserting the southern horizon and enters a little earlier and retires a little later in the evening.

Already there must be a seasonal stirring in those roots and bulbs which make April gay with color. And soon they will be sending upward toward the lengthening sun light those shoots of green which make early spring a time of pleasant surprises.

And when spring comes garden time is just around the corner. Garden catalogues and window displays have already made their appearance by popular demand to aid the suburban and the farmer in laying their plans for planting. And soon the familiar odors of plowing and budding time in the country will clash in the sensitive nostrils of the motorists.

Section 10—Women And Children Southern Economic Conditions--

Child labor is more common in the South than in any other section of the nation, and several Southern States are among those which have the largest proportion of their women in gainful work. Moreover, women and children work under fewer legal safeguards than women and children elsewhere in the nation.

Low industrial wages for men in the South frequently force upon their children as well as their wives a large part of the burden of family support. In agriculture, because of poor land and equipment, entire families must work in order to make their living. The most recent, latest source of comprehensive information on child labor, showed that about three-fourths of all gainfully employed children from 10 to 15 years old worked in the Southern States, although these states contained less than one-third of the country's children under those ages.

Child labor, itself due to low wages for adult workers, is also a source of cheap competing labor, and thus it tends to make wages even lower, hours even longer, and generally to break down labor standards. Child labor, therefore, affects not only the child itself, but the security of adult workers, and thus reacts seriously on the whole community and, indeed, the whole nation.

The South leads the nation in the employment of children in both farm and industrial work. One hundred eight out of every 1,000 children between 10 and 15 years of age were employed in the South, compared to 47 out of every 1,000 children of these ages in the country as a whole. Only Oklahoma and Virginia, of all the Southern States, employ fewer child workers than the average of the country. Child labor legislation in 13 Southern states, as in the United States in general, does not apply to agricultural work, but is directed primarily to industrial and commercial employment. In some instances the coverage of the law is restricted to a few types of industrial establishments, and in other instances the laws themselves contain exemptions which greatly weaken their effectiveness.

Only North and South Carolina have established a basic minimum age of 16 years for employment. Texas has a 15-year minimum age standard, but it applies only to factory and related employment. The remaining 10 states have a minimum age of 14, but in 8 of the 10 states the laws contain exemptions permitting employment below this age.

The effectiveness of child labor legislation depends upon the provisions for its enforcement. Employment certification and proper inspection are necessary to make such legislation effective. Three of the five states in the country which have not made legal provision for employment certificates are Southern States.

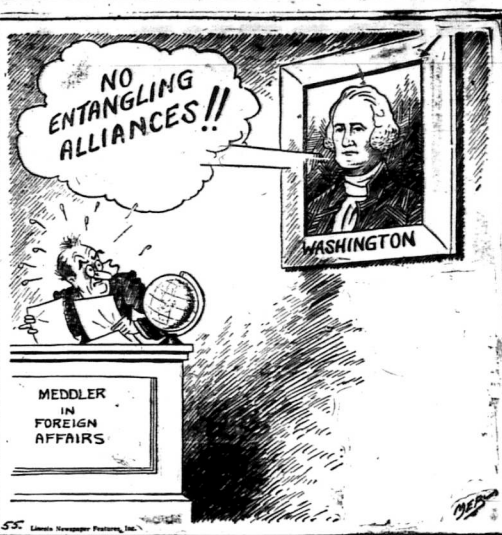

Employment of children affects school attendance. The proportion of children 10 to 15 years of age in the Southern States attending school in 1930 was 90 percent, as compared with 94 percent for the United States as a whole. If consideration were given to the number of days of school attendance, the disparity would appear much greater; the school term generally is shorter in the South than in other sections.

The upper age for compulsory school attendance throughout the rest of the country is generally 16 to 18. However, two Southern States require attendance only to 14, one to 15, and only in two states does the upper age extend above 16 years. All permit exemptions which materially lessen their effectiveness.

In many parts of the South legislation to protect women workers and to establish proper working standards for them has not been developed. This has had far reaching effects on the health, the living conditions, and the general well-being of women and their families.

In a region where workers generally are exploited, women are subjected to an even more intense form of exploitation. Many women work more than 50 hours a week in cotton and other textile mills, and in the shoe, bag, paper box, drug, and similar factories in certain Southern States.

The South has two of the four states in the entire Nation that have enacted no-laws whatever to fix minimum hours for women workers. Only one of the Southern States has established an 8-hour day for women in any industry. Only four Southern States have applied a week as short as 48 hours for women in any industry.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 26TH Lesson subjects and Scripture texts are selected and copyrighted by the International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

PETER IN SAMARIA

LESSON TEXT—Acts 8:14-25. GOLDEN TEXT—Come ye, buy and see, ye know not what ye buy, and milk without money and without price.—Isaiah 55:1.

Commercialism certainly should have no place in the Christian Church. But in an age that will even commercialize a man's love for his mother, it is small wonder that the great holy days of the church—Christmas and Easter—have become the chief objects of profit-seeking purveyors of everything from hats to whisky.

New Year's day, Thanksgiving day, Mother's day, and so on, any day at all, becomes just another opportunity to take a man's money, waste his time, and possibly to destroy his soul. It is high time that intelligent folk make effective protest against such perversion of sacred things. The Scripture lesson for today tells of one who went so far as to try to buy the power of God for money; that he might use it to get gain for himself, failing to realize that the power of God is a gift and to be used only for His glory.

I. Spiritual Power—the Gift of God (v. 14-17). The Holy Spirit, who is the third person of the blessed Trinity had called Philip, a layman, and sent him forth to preach in Samaria. Men and women were converted, and when the church at Jerusalem heard of this, they sent Peter and John to give counsel and help to the converts, through the laying on of hands these received the gift of the Holy Spirit even as we now receive Him the moment we believe in Christ.

What a glorious truth it is that the believer is indwelt by the Holy Spirit (1 Cor. 6:19). Thus even the humblest believer has in him the One who redeems man, gives grace for holy living, and empowers for service. The greatest power in all the world is consequently available to every true and faithful believer. Gone when we are careless for weak and careless living. Gone is every ground for claiming that one cannot serve God. The power and grace are His, and He gives them to his followers as a gift. Christian friend, are you giving the Holy Spirit of God a free rein to fill and use you as he will?

II. Spiritual Power—Not For Sale (v. 18-24). But they are wrong. There are men and women in the world who cannot be bought, and it is even more certain that the best thing that life can give a man has no price tag on them—a mother's love, friendship, fellowship with God, the Holy Spirit's power—these among many others, are not for sale.

Simon, a professed believer, recognized that these followers of Jesus had a great power which he thought to buy for his own business as a magician. He was a very gross and blatant effort to do what many have done in the more skillful and sometimes by church, and are doing today, by under-cover methods. There are strings seek to control the message of the preacher, or who use their financial influence to obtain control of church organization and institutions. Their efforts are doomed to ultimate failure, but the present harm they do to the cause of Christ is appalling. Many a church and pastor would be far better off if they could rise up and say with Peter, "Thy money perish with thee."

III. Spiritual Power—for Testimony (v. 25). Peter and John set the Samaritan believers a good example by permitting the Spirit of God to use them to testify and preach the word of the Lord in many villages. The Holy Spirit does "not speak of himself," but guides the believer "in all truth" (John 16:13). And his outstanding mark of a spirit-born and Spirit-filled believer is his desire to speak of and to glorify Christ.

Such a testimony will be "not in words which man's wisdom can devise, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth" (1 Cor. 2:13), and will bear fruit for eternity.

A Common Adversary Much contempt and hatred toward erring humanity would be awarded—and instead compassion would be excited—if we kept constantly in mind the humbling thought that we have the same common adversary! Indeed, such realization would elicit prayer in lieu of caustic criticism.

Being President Of College Is Great Job Says W. & J. Prexy

Washington, Pa. (ACP)—If you would like to know how it feels to be a college president, Dr. Ralph C. Caper, Hutcheson, of Washington and Jefferson College here, has composed his conception of the job. Dr. Hutcheson, who was graduated from Lafayette in 1918, says:

"It is the greatest job in the world. To have constant and permanent contact with the fine and tempered minds of live outstanding faculty, to live among these choice students at the time of their vibrant activity and maturing aspirations, to go to and fro among the achieving alumni of a great college and to work with the kind of men who are trustees here is all that any man could ask for a happy, inspiring life experience."

"But the job has its drawbacks. The college president is likely to starve to death in the midst of plenty. He lives with fine minds, but has no time to listen to them. He lives in a world of books, but cannot read them. He dwells among students whom he hungers to know, but is chained by his responsibilities and they to their dearest consideration of him and their juvenile fear of 'apple shining.' He lives a life of abundant praise, abundant criticism, abundant loyalty, abundant fun, abundant everything. But he is like donkey which starved to death between two stacks of hay."

RETURNS FROM 1939 BURLEY CROP IS IN THE HANDS OF GROWERS NOW

Returns from burley tobacco this year are largely in the hands of the grower, says the annual outlook report of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture. "If growers decide to keep planting in line with last year's average, prices may compare favorably with 1938."

"Shifts to the use of lighter types of tobacco, under operations in Spain, trade restrictions and substitutions of colonial product types of dark tobacco, all combine to paint an unpleasant picture for dark tobacco growers."

Clean Cleaner Cleans Best

A vacuum machine with a dust bag and brushes free from threads and hairs does the best cleaning job. For best service the bag should be emptied often and brushed inside and out twice a month.

Machines that clean not only by suction but also by brushing and agitating the rug are highly efficient in removing dirt. Straight and induces. Increased hatching indicates that the poultry and egg situation will become less favorable from the farmers' standpoint. Strawberry acreage in Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri is larger than last year and increased production may offset improved consumption.

"Farmers of Kentucky can look forward with greater confidence than they could a year ago," says the report. "Factors causing the depression that started in the mid-year of 1937 had spent their force by May of the past year. Almost immediately there was a rebound in industrial activity and except for some hesitation at the time of the international crisis in September, the wheels of industry moved forward rapidly until the end of the year."

suction machines may take longer to clean thoroughly, but may have a lower initial cost. How much dust a machine draws from a rug depends partly on how fast it is pushed back and forth. Most machines clean best if they move at a speed of from 1 to 2 feet a second.

After ten years of study by its scientists, there will be published soon at Brown University a three-volume atlas of the speech peculiarities of New Englanders.

Burley Sales Season Ends At Lexington

The Kentucky burley market ended its shortest sales season in Lexington Saturday. The market originally was scheduled to close last Friday, but farmers who previously were unable to bring in their tobacco were granted additional sale days.

The day's sales approximated 25,000 pounds. Prior to the two special sales this week, the Lexington market—largest loose-leaf center in the world—has sold 75,637,832 pounds of burley for a total of $16,206,824.

an average of $21.46 a hundred pounds. During the 1937-38 sales season a total of 85,248,064 pounds was sold for $20,115,782.43, an average of $23.59.

Puts Big Value On Farm Manure

A ton of farm manure put on tobacco land may be worth $5 to $10, says S. C. Jones of the Kentucky college of agriculture in a leaflet discussing the value, conservation and use of manure. At the Greenville Experiment field manure increased the yield of dark tobacco by 510 pounds to the acre, increased the value per pound by 42 percent, and more than doubled the value of the crop. Manure also increased the returns from corn, wheat, clover and other crops.

More Stock For Whitley County

Whitley county's improvement program has included in little more than a year the importation from other states of 300 mares, the establishment of several herds of milked shorthorns, and the introduction of sheep on many farms. Twenty-seven mares were recently brought in from Oklahoma and previous purchases were made in Virginia, Tennessee and other states. The dual-purpose cattle came from Virginia and Ohio.

Dealers Join In Seed Improvement

The work of county agent J. L. Miller to "educate" farmers to use good seed has the cooperation of seed dealers in Madison county, Kentucky. The program, which was launched three years ago, has begun to bear fruit, says Miller.

In December of each year, Miller sees seed dealers and asks them to cooperate by offering only good, clean adapted seeds. Then he begins "to work" on the farmers, urging upon them the wisdom of buying good seed from reliable dealers. Because of the favorable price of red clover seed this spring, the county agent is advising liberal seedings where farmers have treated their land with lime and phosphate. He also believes that more bluegrass should be included in grass mixtures, where the land has been treated.

TOTAL BURLEY SALES AVERAGE LESS THAN PREVIOUS YEAR

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports that average prices for burley tobacco sold this season were considerably lower than last season for lugs and flyings and good to choice tan leaf. The first burley market opened for the season on December 5, and the rest opened on the 6th and 7th. All markets closed for the Christmas holidays on December 22 and reopened January 3. The first market closed for the season on January 17 and the last one on February 17. All markets operated with sales heavy in volume, and most markets reported heavy sales until a short while before each closed for the season. The 1938 crop was marketed in a very short length of time as compared with previous seasons.

Eagles Win Over Holbrook 51-27 In Last Scheduled Tilt

Is Second Time For Morehead Squad To Take Dinosaurs Into Camp

The Eagles finished their cage season Monday night in good style defeating the highly touted Alfred Holbrook squad for the second time, 51 to 27.

The Holbrook lads who had beaten Georgeown, undefeated in KIAC play, played a listless and dispiriting game. Too much basketball last week for the Holbrook Dinosaurs was given as the reason for the Olmstead failure to stop the onrush of the Eagles.

Istmal got his shooting eye back Monday night and turned in 14 points, one more than "Big John" Wiggers. Stiner did not play because of a broken wrist.

Morehead jumped into an 8-2 advantage after four minutes of play and consistently piercing the Holbrook defense was ahead 23-5 at the half. Holbrook scored only one field goal during the first half and with few exceptions, was able to get the ball only after the Eagles had scored.

The lineup:
Morehead (51) (27) Holbrook
Istmal, 14 F Rudloff
Kiser, 9 F 16 James
Wiggers, 13 C S. R. Martin
Horton G 2, Schomburg
G 4, Roush
Substitutions: Morehead—Higginbotham, 2; Walker, 4; Tallent; Williamson; Berr, 3; Kirk, 4; Holbrook—Seagraves, Zimmerman, B. Martin, McNulty.
Referee—Sumner.

Stiner Injured; Out For Rest Of Year

Len Stiner, valuable junior from Williamsburg, and guard on the Eagle basketball team, sprained his wrist Wednesday in a practice session and, according to Doctor G. C. Nickell, College physician, will be out for the rest of the year.

Len was one of the most valuable men on the Eagle team. His passing and steady floor play brought the Eagles through numerous tough spots. His services will be greatly missed.

Jack Kirk and "Unk" Gant may not be able to play Saturday night against Wesleyan because of illness.

COLLEGIATE REVIEW . . .

Just in case you're getting a bit fed up with the bazooka music of that famed Robin Burns from down Arkansas way, you'll be interested in the announcement that has just zoomed out from Philadelphia way. It concerns the new "musical" instrument invented by Temple University's Jimmy Cardigan and which he calls a "hosette." It's made of a 20-foot piece of common garden hose, but no one has done it so scorchingly as Helga Bourse, a German student at Muskingum College. Says she: "They're so silly. They sit around and gab about their dates, who kissed who, and whatever became of Sadie." She says they are after a Mrs. degree, not an A. B. or B. S.

Football Schedule For 1939 Released

Play Eastern October 28 For Homecoming Game

As he released the 1939 football schedule today, Coach Johnson said, "This is one of the toughest schedules that we have ever had. We lose twelve lettermen that will be mighty hard to replace. Such men as Hammonds, Horton and Fair. It will take a lot of hard work to get the freshmen we have coming up to put us back in the shape we were last year."

The 1939 schedule is as follows:
September 23—West Liberty Teachers, here.
September 30—Western, there.
October 6—Murray, there.
October 13—Open.
October 20—Transylvania, there.
October 28—Eastern here (Homecoming).
November 4—Concord, William, here. W. Va., here.
November 11—Holbrook, here.
November 18—Davis-Elkins, here.

ILLIE LACK'S LARNEY

A few weeks ago I said that Wiggins, guard from Pikeville, was one of the sweetest high school basketball players I had seen for a long time. Well, I want to reaffirm that. When Pikeville beat Breck last Saturday night, he scored only 18 of his team's total of 23 points. "Ain't it erful!"

Did you read about the spitting contest in Maysville a few weeks ago? The affair was managed by Elwood Dillon (no relation to the local Elwood Dillon), who was incarcerated for attempting to "liquorize" city property. The prize-winning expectation was approximately 17 feet.

The teams of the Carter county district have voted to cede the championship to Olive Hill. Thus Olive Hill is assured of a berth in the regional, along with the summer-up, which will probably be Grayson.

This seems to be a queer conception of sportsmanship. It goes against the grain with me. I asked several people their opinion. "Why," they said, "that's lousy." Do you think so?

By the score of the game, one would think that the Morehead-Alfred Holbrook game was fast and furious. However, it was the slowest game I've seen all season. It was a wonder to me how the Eagles could score that many points, as slow as it was.

As usual, the cheering section seemed to be deep in the sessions of sweet silent thought.

Who is going to win the state tournament? I'm picking Western with Morehead as runner-up.

I'm venturing no opinion on the district.

Kentucky May Get Allotment Increase

Money Will Go To Education

Fortieth ranking state in public outlay for educational purposes, Kentucky would receive a large proportion of the $72,500,000 proposed to be made available by the federal government during the next six years under a bill drafted for the House Education Committee.

Introduced by Representative Larrabee, Democrat, Indiana, who is chairman of the committee, the bill was based on a survey of the Nation's educational needs by a special advisory committee appointed by the President.

It provides for appropriations of $2,000,000 for 1940, $12,500,000 for 1941, $14,000,000 for 1942, $18,200,000 for 1943, $18,200,000 for 1944 and $20,000,000 for 1945 for aid to states, in addition to the federal aid already provided. The bulk of the allotment each year would be used for general aid to elementary and secondary education, $540,000,000 of the total being earmarked for this purpose.

In addition, each state would receive aid in the training of teachers for construction of school buildings, for adult educational services, for state department of education administration, for rural literacy services, and for research and planning.

The formula for apportioning the funds to states would take into consideration the census of children between the ages of 5 and 19 years and the ability of each state to carry its educational burden as evidenced by its revenues for school purposes.

Harry W. Peters, Kentucky Superintendent of Public Instruction, estimated at Frankfort that Kentucky would get approximately $144,000 to aid education in 1940 if the education aid bill drafted today was passed by congress.

Peters estimated that by 1945 the bill would provide $4,000,000 for Kentucky.
Peters said an average of about $7 now is spent for each of Ken-

Runyan and McFarland were captured by Earl and Lester Caskey when they betrayed themselves after hiring the Caskey taxi by acting suspiciously.

The navy guarantees a secure future. After 20 years of service on the navy a man may transfer to the Fleet Reserve and draw one-half of his base pay. Moreover, at the end of a total of thirty years of active and reserve duty combined this pay is increased by another $47.25 per month if the man happens to be holding a permanent appointment as a chief petty officer at the time he transfers to the reserve. The only condition attached to this proposition is that you are subject to call to active duty in case of war or national emergency. In every other respect this naval reserve pay, $63.08 or $110 per month is "wheat," and it rolls in every month as long as you live.

"Aunt Susie Shoots The Works" Title Of Play At Haldeman

To Be Presented By P. T. A. March 14; J. Ewing Bassford Bassy Directing

The Haldeman P. T. A. announced this week that on March 14 they will present Fred Caldwell's latest and funniest farce, a play entitled "Aunt Susie Shoots The Works" at the Haldeman Gymnasium. This play is being given by special arrangement with Samuel French, the largest publisher of plays in the world.

During a recent interview with J. Ewing Bassford, who is now busily engaged in rehearsing the 14-scene production of this popular play, the director told something of the difficulty usually encountered in casting a play. "Acting as a woman's job and most girls like to appear on the stage in their home talent entertainments. But when it comes to assembling the maids for a play—well, that is another story.

"Most men are usually so busy with their work or with athletics and then, many of them are too shy to appear in public." This has not been true in this case, however. Everyone in the community is taking keen interest in the production, and has responded enthusiastically when asked to take part.

Don't forget the date of the performance, March 14, and get your tickets early as there is sure to be a record crowd on hand when "Aunt Susie shoots the Works."

A chapel program was given Tuesday, February 14, at the Haldeman gymnasium. The play was sponsored by Miss Evelyn Stinson, sixth grade teacher. Those who took part in the program were as follows:

Billy Hinton, Betty Jo Messer, Gertrude Wilson, Juanita Walsh, Archie Sparks, Geneva Hall, Edward Hanna, Vada Fraley, Medford DeHart, Nellie Stinson, Alice Baker, Beatrice Hill, Gladys Stamper, Dorothy Wilson, Victoria Marr, Fannie Hill.

First, Books we are reading, and second, Books we have read.

Under these headings are mounted thirty-six pockets of paper and the name of each child in the room is written on the pocket assigned to him. The charts have been hung near our bookcases.

"When a child finds a book he wishes to read, he writes the name of it on a slip of paper and inserts it in the pocket marked with his name on Chart I. After the book is read and a report is made on an interesting portion of the story read to the class, the slip is transferred from Chart I to Chart II. This makes a permanent record of the number of books each child has read."

COLLEGIATE REVIEW

Mrs. Margaret O'Connell Banning, Delta, Miss., wrote an expert article this week about the first woman ever to deliver a University of Kentucky commencement address. She discussed "The Responsibility of the Educated" at the annual mid-winter graduation in Memorial Hall Monday.

Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the university awarded degrees to 101 members of the graduating class. "If we are to avoid revolution," Mrs. Banning declared, "we must rely on the utmost efforts of the educated." She said those who are educated deserve leadership because they are trained for it. "Our first great job," she said, "is to control our own lives. We are busy in fact, and not the shell or container of a democracy with a lot of mobbishness rattling around within."

"Nothing will make it a good democracy," she continued, "except the educated people of the country educating themselves as actually educated people."

Defects in the results of education, outlined by Mrs. Banning, are that hundreds of thousands of young people find no work to which they can fit their education and "educated" people who by virtue of their studies and collected information, have real knowledge about the faults of society, are unable to put their knowledge and information at the disposal of the great masses of people.

She predicted that another drawback of education is that it has become mixed up with class lines and class prejudice. "I get up and see students so that educated people are educated people no matter what their occupations may be," she said, "would get us started on a new alignment of society to which we must come before we are through with our present difficulties."

"In no other civilized country are students of superior ability trained so poorly as in the United States," Carlton College's Dr. C. N. Smiley believes something should be done for the two-thirds of our best minds which are going to waste.

"The nation-born inhabitant of a country's metropolis is apt to be narrow and limited. He is thus to recognize the contribution of the local regions of the land."

Mrs. Margaret Banning, Michigan State College, writes that the city leaders are the world's worst class.

The college or university teacher is not a member of a learned community, and an officer of an educational institution. He is a member of the school of commerce at the University of Alabama. When he came upon the scene, he would get as excited as one of his mid-term examinations.

last week, the student wrote "I don't know the answer to this one, but I do know a good joke that can write in its place." Whereupon he scrawled off a 150-word yard and at its conclusion wrote: "I think this ought to be worth some credit, don't you? God bless you if you do, and God bless me if you don't!"

Best quotation of the week comes from football's famed Whizzer White, just arrived in England to attend Oxford University on a Rhodes Scholarship. "I guess I'm going to study law. But I'm a funny guy, and I'm gonna wait until I get there before deciding. I think I'll like it over here, because I'm just a country boy and I'm not very used to modern conveniences anyway."

Albion University students have a new rating for their professors—h. p. h. (harumphs per hour). They're giving their leather medals to Professor Ross Stagner, for his record of 107 h. p. h. and sixteen sniffs in one one-hour lecture.

Rural Teachers Scatter When Vacation Comes

Mrs. Dorothy Ellis, who taught the Mt. Hope School the past year is spending her vacation in Florida with her mother. Her son, Jack, accompanied her. According to letters received from them they are enjoying the sunshine and warm days down there. Mrs. Ellis writes she didn't know there could be so much difference in temperature in such a short distance.

The following rural teachers have enrolled in school at the Morehead College:

- Mary Olive Bogges, Mr. Ed Cornwell, Florence and Virginia Dawson, Robert Pennington, Muri Gregory, Ruby A. Rusey, Lulu Higgins, Thelma Kinsack, Alene McKenzie, Davis Ellis, Thelma Fraley, Kathleen and Dorothy Turner, Ruby Hodge, Beattie Burchfield, Mrs. John Caudill, C. H. McBrayer, Asa Crosswhite, Virginia Vencil, Mayne Lowe, Darlene Williams, Luther Bradley and Leiland Hodge.

Other teachers and how they are spending their time off are as follows:

- Lottie McBrayer is employed by Earl McBrayer on the Economy store.
- Leo Ball is again in the insurance business.
- John Caudill is engaged in early spring farming.

Verna Skaggs is now teaching in Lawrence county. Nola Cooper Satterfield has joined her husband in Louisville and plans to attend college there. S. W. Caudill is working on a farm.

William Skaggs is at his work, farming.

Ray Hodge has entered school at Richmond.

Doris Bate is now our assistant certifying agent.

Ernest Brown is working in a lawn mower mill in Muncie, Ind.

Ira Skaggs is a daily visitor, bringing in the gossip of the day.

Lyla Messer Caudill is still dealing in real estate.

Mrs. Ollie Clark has joined her husband in Ashland where Mr. Clark is working.

Mrs. Erna Crabtree and Dorothy Jones and Olive Goodman are planning on entering school at mid-semester.

Ma Mesrows has joined her husband at Fullerton but expects to return and enter the summer session at the College.

10,000 TEXAS BOB WHITE QUAIL WILL BE RELEASED IN MARCH

For the past twenty years there has been a good deal of criticism from the sportsmen and especially the quail hunter in regard to the purchasing of the "Mexican Quail" by the division of game and fish.

Each year the division purchases all available native Bob White Quail as that species is limited to approximately five thousand birds per year, the additional birds must be purchased elsewhere. So the division supplies this deficit with Texas Bob White imported from the high plateau land of Northern Mexico.

The Texas Bob White is found in Texas, New Mexico and the northern part of Mexico and is exactly like the native Bob White with the exceptions that due to the climate in that section of the country it does not require as many feathers and due to the food that it gets there, its feathers are of a different shade. When brought to Kentucky the bird, after moult, takes on additional feathers and becomes the exact color of the native bird.

The bird which has come to criticism to the division by the bird hunters is known as the Mexican quail or blue quail. This bird is found from central Arizona to Western Texas, north to Southern Colorado and over most of the Panhandle of Texas, east nearly to central Texas and south to the valley of Mexico. The Mexican quail has a small top-not, is smaller than the Bob White and is noted for its resistance to disease and its flying. It cannot be pointed by dogs and will not rise in flight which makes shooting almost impossible.

In receiving shipments of the Texas Bob-White in past years some of the Mexican Quail have been brought in by oversight and it is for that reason that some of the birds have been found in Kentucky. The division now checks all birds carefully before being received and in that way all available native species of birds are eliminated. Major James Brown, director of the division of game and fish, has purchased approximately 10,000 of the Texas Bob-White quail to be released the latter part of March or the first of April by the division, by the sportsmen and game clubs in Kentucky.

Quail Hatchery At Ashland Making Good Progress

The State Fish hatchery located at Ashland is also becoming known as a quail hatchery and is making real progress along that line.

Major James Brown, director of the division of game and fish, stated that approximately 400 quail were hatched at Ashland last year and that the number should be more than doubled this year.

The hatchery has 1,000 birds on hand at present. A large number of these birds are known as the northern Bob White quail and are native to the northern part of the quail country in the United States. These birds are almost a third larger than the native quail and will be used as breed stock at the hatchery this spring. The hatchery contains an incubator which will hold 2,500 quail eggs.

The Texas College of Arts and Industries has the largest privately assembled geological collection in the south. Ohio's five state universities have formed an inter-university council to coordinate the educational activities and programs of the schools.

Western Reserve University has started a drive for a fund to honor the memory of Norman D. Baker, World War secretary of war.

By Earl May

The news article on this page about "Mexican Quail" is of especial interest to hunters and is suggested that all sportsmen read it. This article clarifies the State Conservation Department's ideas about the release of the quail and with the approval of Rowan court sportsmen.

Remember that during the next few weeks this quail will receive its quota of quail for release. Make a few notes of the most desirable places you know for a pack to be planted and turn them in to Jack Helwig who is chairman of the quail releasing committee. The more requests for quail the chances are that we will get more than the quota that asks for ten on Sunday morning by a few of our more ardent sportsmen, this trial had a two fold purpose, one to try out the dogs and the other to take motion pictures of the event. The picture of "Bird Hunting in Rowan County" recently completed and it is going to be a dandy. Every reel shows improvement and the real reel proved to have some marvelous shots of dogs on point. One feature of the last reel taken is a nervous five dogs on point at once.

The nervous tension of a dog on point is something that few of us have taken the time to notice in the field but now that the dogs can't get away we can take time to really observe the terrible strain a dog is under when on point.

The old masters have been out already and has drawn blood. Roy Canby caught a nice English-bred hen this past weekend. Professor Hagan, the other master, tried his luck but with less success.

AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS

Western breeders have been contacted to furnish high-grade calves to Warren county 4-H club members.

Murray Hagan has modernized the water system on his Darroch county farm.

O. T. Whitlow of Barren county last month built a stock barn according to plans he received from the Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Behind The Scenes In Business . . .

By John Craddock

BUSINESS: Retail merchants are predicting a very bright year for rural area during January and February. A sales volume with the department of commerce and said that retail business is expected to increase from December to January. Undoubtedly the increase from December is cash income of farmers was a contributing factor, as well as the year-on-year decline in factory and employment payrolls.

With industry decentralizing away from the big cities, purchasing power of factory workers has a stronger influence on rural retail business. The more the observers of the economy are forced to a slight decline on retail prices and other factors, products will be sold at a lower price. The last fall for removal of compulsory crop restrictions, planters already are preparing more acreage for tobacco.

WASHINGTON: For each man, woman and child in America, there are 1.4 head of livestock and 1.2 chickens. Altogether, the livestock population, excluding goats, adds up to 124,777,000 heads and is worth $4,333,875,000. This is equivalent to about one-fifth of the national debt. The 66,421,000 heads of cattle and calves outnumber horses and pigs 4 to 1, while the latter outnumber the mules and mules 10 to 1. Sheep and lambs total 13,762,000, hogs 49,911,000. Males are the most valuable, worth on the average 1114 a head. Cows and lambs, valued at $5.73 a head, are the least precious. Chickens are reported to be worth 79 cents each. In reporting its annual inventory of farm animals last week, the department of agriculture noted the prediction that demand for some farm products next spring would improve.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR: Office desks with linoleum tops; the boss can feel perfectly free to put his feet up . . . A new material that will be a combination fireplace, stove and air conditioner and will burn wood, oil, coal or gas . . . A new refrigerator that will be airtight and impervious to air, gas and fluids . . . A new plastic made from a corn-waste which up to now has been used as a cattle feed, which will be used by Corn Products Refining Company for producing high-grade paper, plastics, and a coating for paper.

A nice polish that when applied automatically gives a shine, requiring no "buffing."

PAY OR PLAY: Labor news, characterized of late by spirited battles of workers to obtain objectives from employers, took on a bright aspect last week as one major industry spring a pleasant surprise on its workers.

Aluminum Company of America announced a new "streamlined" vacation for its 11,000 hourly employees which permits any worker with two years' service' add at least 1,200 hours in the preceding 52 weeks to make a week's vacation with pay; take two weeks' extra pay, if he'd rather have the money. Ten-year employees get two weeks. Vacation pay is based on the average week's pay over the past year. Employees required to take time off because of sickness or enforced layoff are given their vacations at once, automatically. Vacation periods are arranged between employer and employee.

A BUSY BODY She was a Miss Busy Body who lived on our street. She always had scandal to tell everyone she would meet. She would talk about her neighbors or any one she might know.

She told her story in the most scandalous way. Then she said, "Don't tell anyone I told you so."

If she were confronted with a story she had just told, she would squint, twist, scoff and scold.

"Not a word of it I sure did say."

If I told that story I'm sure it was not that way.

I wish no harm to anyone; I love my neighbors and my neighbors love me. Then she would rush on her way and say

J. B. Holtzclaw To Preside At Berea

Dr. J. B. Holtzclaw, political science instructor, will hold the third annual meeting of the Kentucky Academy of Social Sciences Friday, February 24, at Berea. The Academy, of which he is president, has chosen the topic "Economic and Social Problems of the South" for discussion during the annual session.

Several members of the faculty are planning to attend.

Speakers on the program include Dr. Clarence N. Wilson of Tulane University; Mr. Mark E. Ehringer, vice president and general manager of the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times; and Mr. Earl Mabey, farm security administrator for Kentucky.

Chandler Raises Fund For Negro

Allows $1,600 For Education Of Alfred M. Carroll

Governor A. B. Chandler approved $1,600 from his emergency fund last week to supplement the depleted appropriation to assist Kentucky negroes studying courses not available in Kentucky Negro schools.

The emergency appropriation made it possible for Alfred M. Carroll, 27-year-old Louisville negro, who made application for entrance to the University, to continue his studies at the Howard University law school, Washington, D. C.

Howard made application in Lexington shortly after December 12, 1938, when he learned that Missouri could not exclude Lloyd Gaines, St. Louis negro, from the University of Missouri law school.

Governor Chandler, in making the appropriation, said that President H. B. Ahwood of the Kentucky State College for Negroes told him that Carroll preferred to stay at Howard University if the state would furnish his tuition.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

"As young democrats in the world's greatest republic, you have a two-fold task, as I interpret conditions. You have to fit together the broken pieces of our shattered civilization; and you have to bring to bear on every phase of civilized life the influence of learning on scholarship."

University of Alabama's Dr. Gen. Lang charts a course of responsibility for today's citizens.

"Youth must make up its mind to participate in public life. To purify and dignify public office and public administration. It cannot afford to be cynical and aloof in this juncture of our civilization. Too much depends on intelligent cooperation and good will." President C. S. Dykstra, University of Wisconsin, urges youth to take its part in public life.

Tom Young Speaks On Chapel Program

Illustrates Talk With Different Games

"What Do You Do When You're Not Eating, Sleeping or Working" was the title of Mr. Tom Young's address in the Breckinridge chapel Wednesday morning, February 15.

Mr. Young, of the College art department, and art director of the training school, divided his spare time into three groups, collections, games and arts.

He said these things should occupy your spare time if they do not already.

Mr. Young, an ardent collector of everything from stamps to insects, rocks and woods, told of his collections.

Chinese checkers a popular game at the present, is really a very old game called "Halmer," Mr. Young declared.

He illustrated his talk with different games.

The primary use of producing arts by the artist is the joy gotten out of it, not for pecuniary reasons.

A true artist dances for the pleasure he receives from dancing, and a painter paints not for commercial reasons, but for the joy he receives.
