Historical Information: The Office of President at Morehead State University dates back to the founding of Morehead Normal School in the fall of 1887 when Frank C. Button and his mother Phebe Button served as administrators and teachers of the school. With the addition of more teachers and staff the administrator's title became 'Principal' in 1900. The job title remained until 1923 when Morehead State Normal School was established and the title of 'President' became the official designation of the college's highest executive officer.

Scope and Content: Collection consists of the office files retained by the Office of the President of Morehead State University from 1977 to 1987, which includes some materials from 1953 to 2000. The collection contains correspondence and memorandums from the President's office to divisions and departments within the University and letters received by the President from faculty, staff, alumni and students. The collection includes reports and correspondence from local and campus organizations, State and Federal politicians, business leaders and officials from other State agencies and schools of higher education.
