Ky. Children's Home Makes Its Annual Appeal

Touching Letter From Superintendent Sets Forth Aims Of Institution

The following letter from the superintendent of the Kentucky Children's Home at Lyndon, Ky., needs no explanation, except that it should be of particular interest to citizens of Rowan county, who have profited much in the past through the agency of the Home. Rowan county has had as many orphans per capita as any county in the state and citizens are urged to assist the home in any way possible. The letter follows: Dear Friend:

If you have not renewed your membership in the Kentucky Children's Home Society, may we ask that you give this matter serious thought.

The Kentucky Children's Home Society has never faced a more critical period than right now. Our Home at Lyndon has 330 children in buildings built for 200. We have 2,200 more boys and girls in foster homes throughout the state. Because of a pitifully small staff some of these children can be visited only once a year, not enough to safeguard them. We are forced to refuse admittance to 125 more, scattered all through the state, every one of whom needs our care. Today they are suffering!

If we are to cope with this distressing situation, it is absolutely necessary that we have your assistance at once. If we neglect these unfortunate boys and girls, tomorrow will be too late.

Please mail the enclosed membership blank today.

We assure you of our genuine appreciation of your support in the past, and shall look forward to your help at this time when we are facing this critical situation.

Sincerely yours,
R. L. Messenger, Superintendent.

Mr. Puckett was well known in this city and section, having visited here on numerous occasions. His wife was formerly Miss Jalah Cassity, a sister of Mrs. Lewis.

While no details of his death are available, the message stated that it had occurred very suddenly and was due to heart failure. None of the relatives plan to attend the funeral services.

Members feel that the wild-life belongs to the people of this state and that the entire membership should be interested not only in preserving it, but in increasing it in the future.

Many formal entertainments will be offered at the meeting, and such outstanding men as Dr. James Brown, Director, Division of

Bilascio Injured In Fall From Window

Suffers Serious Injuries While Supervising Work On New Post Office

A serious accident which almost proved fatal, resulted in the injury of Mr. Bilascio, superintendent of construction of the new federal building here on Thursday of last week. Mr. Bilascio, fell from the upper part of a window in the building which is nearing completion and suffered an arm broken in two places, several fractures and a number of cuts and bruises.

The accident occurred while he was directing the work on the building. He lost his hold on the window and pitched several feet to the ground below. He fortunately missed falling into an open sewer whose cover was struck. Workmen stated that, had he gone to the sewer he would undoubtedly have been killed.

Mr. Bilascio was taken to his home in Canton, Ohio immediately following the accident.

Exams Offered For Positions

Two Openings In Post Office Staff Are Ready For Applications To Be Entered

Notices have been posted by the local Post Office of examinations to be held later for two positions in connection with the new post office building which is expected to be completed and ready for occupancy within a few weeks. The position for which examinations will be held are those of charman and fireman-foreman.

Applications for the position of charman must be filed not later than May 26. Applications for the position of fireman-laborer must be filed on or later than May 29. Applications for both positions must be sent to the Manager Sixth U. S. Civil Service District, Post Office Building, Cincinnati, Ohio. The date for the examination will be announced later.

There has been some confusion in the past, as applicants have thought that the date set for the filing of applications was the date set for the examinations. This date physical examination and must rate 85 per cent eligible. The job calls for a pay of 50 cents per hour, and the present vacancy calls for 5 hours work daily.

Talbot Day To Be Celebrated May 31

Friends Of J. Dan Talbot Invited To All Day Celebration At Home In His Honor

Hon. J. Dan Talbot, Commissioner of Finance, whose home is at Bards town in Nelson county, will be the honor guest at a hometown celebration on Monday, May 31, according to announcements sent out from that city recently. Friends of Mr. Talbot who stands high in the state administration, from all sections of Kentucky have been invited to attend the celebration given in his honor by the friends of his hometown.

The celebration will be held on the lawn of "My Old Kentucky Home" just outside of Bardstown. Governor Chandler will head the list of speakers on the program including the noonday lunch, which will be provided by the citizens of Nelson county. Governor J. C. W. Beckham will also be one of the speakers, as well as a number of other celebrities. The program will close with a dance at 8 p. m.

As May 31 is a holiday, a large crowd is expected to attend the celebration. In view of the fact that it should be impossible to extend a personal invitation to all of Mr. Talbot's friends, the committee in charge has asked that every friend of his throughout the state may be notified of this invitation.

Bee's Shows To Open Monday

Prominent Showman Has Built Up Reputation In Past Eight Years

One of the best "Harbingers of Spring" in Morehead has come to be the arrival of the F. H. Bee Shows in this city. This year Mr. Bee will bring his Dime Circus to Morehead the week beginning Monday 24 and will remain for the entire week. The show will be found on the Bradley lot on Mill Street.

Mr. Bee has been making Morehead for the past eight years, and the fact that he is returning year after year with a bigger and better attraction, indicates that he has given complete satisfaction. This year Mr. Bee is showing under the auspices of the Policemen and Firemen of the city.

WILLIAM BRAGG DIES AT HOME NEAR SHARKEY

Wm. H. Bragg died at his home near Sharkey on Saturday, May 15, following a long illness. Burial was in the Sileston Cemetery. Mr. Bragg was one of the old citizens of Rowan County. He was born in West Virginia on March 4, 1868. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jennie Bragg and by seven children. Mr. Bragg was one of the number in Rowan who was receiving Old Age Assistance.

Seniors Draw Crowds

Breckinridge Training School's seniors presented "Streamline Sue" Wednesday evening, May 12, to a packed auditorium. The show will be drawn at 8 o'clock, and from then on the auditorium was convulsed with laughter, for the play was a hilarious fast-moving comedy.

Each player had an equally interesting role, whether sour, sweet or humorous. Dorothy Caudill as "Streamline Sue" over-acted terror of Pine Grove, acted her part with smoothness unusual in a juvenile.

Frances Flood had the role of Lucille Babson, a dour and pretty neighbor of Jenny Graves, whose living room served as the scene of the action and dialogue. Jenny Graves was represented aptly and characteristically by Lena Hamly. Ben Crump, played by Billy Hogge, was the harassed mayor of

West Liberty Set To Welcome Mrs. Roosevelt

Plans Completed To Entertain Largest Crowd Ever Gathered In This Section

The following cordial invitation has been received from the committee on arrangements for the dedicatory program Monday, May 24, when, with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt as their guest, the people of Morgan county will dedicate the new public school building at West Liberty.

It is my pleasure on behalf of the Morgan County Board of Education and the faculty of the West Liberty High School to extend an invitation through the medium of the Rowan County News to all of the citizens who read or have access to your paper to be present at the dedication of our new W. F. A. high school building, Monday, May 24th between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and 2:00 p. m. Mrs. Roosevelt acceptance to appear on the dedicatory program has been received.

It is hoped that the program with the other celebrities will probably draw one of the largest crowds to ever assemble in Eastern Kentucky. West Liberty is making every effort possible to receive twenty or twenty-five thousand people to her neighbors and cordially inviting them to assist in entertaining their most notable guest, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the First Lady of the Land.

Plans being made are the most extensive and complete that have ever been made for and similar occasion in this section. A program that will include Mrs. Roosevelt, Governor A. B. Chandler, H. W. Peters, State Superintendent, F. D. Peterson, State W. Y. Director, George E. Goodman, State WPA director, Senator Alben W. Barkley and M. M. Logan, Congressman Fred M. Vinson, as well as a number of other notables, has been arranged.

The Morehead State Teachers College Band will provide the music for the occasion.

With the program planned and with the presence of Mrs. Roosevelt guaranteed, West Liberty is undoubtedly the Mecca for Kentucky citizens on Monday next. It is seldom that Kentucky has the opportunity to honor the first lady of the land, and this is particularly true of Eastern Kentucky. It will be an opportunity that few people will want to miss to see and greet and hear a woman as popular as Mrs. Roosevelt is with the entire nation.

ALFREY SUCCEEDING

Robert Alfrey, 1936 graduate of this institution and instructor in Manual Arts at Rockhill, S. Caro., is making a success in his first teaching position.

At a tournament held in Spartansburg, S. Caro., Robert's boys took five prizes. There were thirty other schools represented.

Pine Grove and suitor of Jenny Graves.

Ernest Rawlings as Charlie Boone, played the part of a small town Beau Brummel with ease and dexterity.

Harold Allen was the frightened young doctor, Clarence Elliot, who climbed trees every time "Streamline Sue" heaved in sight. Frances Pratt played the part of Mrs. Cornelia Cobb, village society matron and team-mate of Jonathan Boone, banker acted by Willard Keeton. They sought to match Sue and Charlie, but the tables were turned on them by Ben Crump.

Oscar Shultz, gymdover lover and wise-cracker, was played by Bill Ramsey.

Bunny Bartels, pretty upstart Sue's plans, was Virginia Zell.

The play was ably Miss Juanita Minick.

THE HENDENBURG CATASTROPHE

The fate of the great Zeppelin airship "Hindenburg" is a catastrophe in more ways than one. It is hard to imagine a more shocking death than that which overtook the victims of blazing hydrogen gas when the airship caught fire just as it was ending its first triumphant overseas flight of the 1937 season. In the face of that dramatic tragedy few will remember that this was the first occasion, in all the long history of rigid lighter-than-air craft that a single passenger had lost his life. Zeppelins have been wrecked, but they had heretofore been only military or naval aircraft. The hundreds of successful flights across the Atlantic and Pacific and around the world were unmarked by serious accidents.

It is quite probable that this accident will put an end, for a long time, to projects which seemed to be making headway, for a revival of Zeppelin construction in the United States, either by Government or private capital. That is unfortunate, for the destruction of the "Hindenburg" does not by any means prove the lighter-than-air ship is unsafe. All it proves is that hydrogen, that highly inflammable gas, is unsafe. Everybody knew that, but the Germans could not use the safe gas, helium, which has almost as great a lifting power as hydrogen, because helium is produced in quantities only in the United States and the Federal government has commandeered the entire supply. The Zeppelin company had been negotiating with our government to obtain the privilege of using helium, in exchange for its expert technical knowledge of airship construction and navigation.

Our three military aircraft which met with disaster, the "Akron," "Macon" and "Shenandoah" failed because of structural defects. They did not take fire. The German-built "Los Angeles" which our navy got as a prize of war, is still in good flying condition, and is fitted with helium.

We have the safe gas for air ships, Germany, by reason of long experience, has superior technical skill in their construction and operation. It is a pity that the "Hindenburg" catastrophe should have occurred just at the time when it seemed possible that the two nations might have joined their efforts to build and operate a great flying fleet all over the world. Now, human nature being what it is, it seems likely we of America will be "sour" on that type of aircraft for a long time to come.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. E. H. Kasee, Pastor of Baptist Church.
Subject: Conquering appetite with greed. Gen. 25:27-34; 27:41-45.

Golden Text: "And every man that starveth for the mastery is temperate in all things." (1 Cor. 9:25.)

The lesson for this week is the famous story about Jacob and Esau. We have not time here to go into all that is involved as to God's decree about the two boys, as is recorded in other parts of the Scripture. That they are children of destiny is evident from Scripture teaching.

But here is the story of a son who had all the birth right advantages coming to him. This meant not only falling heir to rich material possessions and rights, but to a spiritual blessing which was indeed precious. In a sense, the whole family is at fault, Isaac, the father, had an in-temperate appetite for "venison" which might have had its effect on his son because he doubtless frequently over indulged himself. The mother, Rebekah, used unfair advantages to benefit the son she loved most. Jacob was willing to take the unfair advantage offered, and Esau was a glutton who would sell out precious blessings for his appetite's sake.

Read the story, and let us draw some lessons from it.

First, parents ought to set before their children a sense of what is vital and what is not. I once had a man say to me: "We never make our children go to church. We know lots of people who have been turned against church for this very reason. Besides, I think my children ought to choose in such matters for themselves." That sounds reasonable if you don't take the time to think it through. But I believe God gave my children a father to guide them in what is valuable and what is not. If my boy doesn't want to go to school (which he often does not) do I let him choose in the matter? Certainly not. I know what is best for him so I make him go. Usually it is not difficult, but I can't leave it to him. I must insist on his attending church, because he is not old enough to choose for himself, and God gave me to him to guide him. Parents are mainly responsible for what their children become.

Second, where there are parents deceiving each other, as was the case between Isaac and Rebekah, isn't it likely that the children will not be frank and honest with each other?
Third, society needs to learn that where each of us is striving for personal advantage over the other, the result will be sorrow and distress upon all. It applies in the family, community, and nation. No man can take an unfair, personal advantage without bringing sorrow upon someone else as well as himself.
Fourth, Rebekah committed the sin of "doing evil that good may come." We wonder if this course is ever justified. What do you think? Certainly God has fairer and better

Old Age Assistance

has not yet been announced. The position of charman requires no written examination, but the applicant must report for a lord for rents, and for other necessities of these recipients of old age assistance, thereby increasing the amount of money circulating in the community.

Over the entire State, 24,887 eligible, needy, aged Kentuckians received $248,400.30 during the month of April making the average grant approximately $10.00 per recipient. At the present time, Kentucky ranks thirty-first among the other States in number of recipients of old age assistance in proportion to the population over sixty-five years of age. This shows remarkable progress when it is considered that in both August and September of 1936, Kentucky ranked at the bottom of the list of States. In the latest report from the Social Security Board, Kentucky ranks a better state than New York, Connecticut, Florida, Vermont, Alabama, New Jersey, and others that have had old age assistance laws much longer than this State. Governor Chandler is being anxious that every eligible old person in Kentucky receive a grant of assistance, but has insisted upon thorough investigation in compliance with the law. The steady progress of the old age assistance program in Kentucky in contrast to many other States, amply demonstrates the wisdom of this policy.

According to a statement of Dr. Lloyd, the number of aged recipients of this assistance will total 30,000 for May and will reach a peak of 40,000 by August 1, 1937. We also pointed out that the proportion of dentals because of ineligibility is increasing rapidly inasmuch as the most destitute cases were given priority in the early months of the program.

Much Money Returned To Counties Taxed

Approximately 65 cents out of every dollar expended from the state treasury in the first nine months of the fiscal year was returned to the various counties for support of essential local public agencies.

Expenditures under the state budget totaling $12,251,588.96 within the period from July 1, 1936 to March 31, 1937. Of that sum $11,690,924.52 was spent to finance varied governmental activities in the counties.

The largest single sum distributed from the state treasury was the $9,133,826.98 which was divided among the counties for support of the public schools. The school fund is distributed on the basis of $11.98 for each child of school age in the several counties of the state. This distribution represents the most generous support of public schools in history of the commonwealth.

A sum of $465,809.31 was divided among the counties for purchase of free school books.

County health units received from the state treasury for their maintenance the sum of $143,504.00.

Money paid from the state treasury for Old Age Assistance totaled $759,861.00 supplementing a similar sum in Federal money. Counties have been relieved of making appropriations for pauper claims as results.

DO YOU KNOW?

EGYPT AND THE PYRAMIDS
In ancient Egypt they had a belief that garlic made men strong. Along with onions, it was fed to the pyramid builders.

WE WOULD LIKE YOU TO KNOW
We have our doubts about the value of garlic, but we do know that there is nothing like a good Garage and Service Station to hold up your car and keep it in good running order.

Don't put up with useless PAIN

Get rid of it
When functional pains of construction are severe, take CARDOL. If it doesn't benefit you, consult a physician. Don't neglect such pains. They depress the tone of the nerves, cause sleeplessness, loss of appetite, wear out your resistance. Get a bottle of Cardol and see whether it will help you, as thousands of men have said it helped them. Besides easing certain pains, Cardol aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from the food they eat.
