FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Academy of Music will offer instruction in a variety of musical instruments during the spring semester.

Private lessons for adults and children in piano, percussion, voice, brass instruments, woodwind instruments, string instruments and Suzuki piano will be offered through MSU's Department of Music.

Applications are being accepted now for classes scheduled to begin early this month. Students will meet once a week for 14 half-hour sessions.

Instruction will be available on three levels with charges to be based on the proficiency level of each participant.

Students interested in learning to play the piano may choose from group or private lessons. Registration for new students, those who did not participate in MSU's former Academy of Arts, should be completed by Jan. 20.

Registration and additional information on MSU's Academy of Music offerings are available from Sue Fannin, academy coordinator, at (606) 783-2659.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Pianist Alan Hersh will appear in a guest recital at Morehead State University on Thursday, Jan. 14, at 8 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall.

Free and open to the public, Dr. Hersh's campus appearance is sponsored by MSU's Department of Music.

His program will include the "Four Impromptus" by Schubert, "Variations and Fugue on a Theme of Handel" by Brahms, and Chopin's "Funeral March" Sonata.

Currently professor of music at the University of Kentucky, Dr. Hersh is considered one of today's outstanding pianists. He has appeared extensively in recital performances, as a soloist with orchestras and in many chamber music ensembles throughout the U.S.

A former director of the UK School of Music, he is recognized as an articulate speaker and an authority on piano literature and technique. He served as host of The Piano Dynamic, a series of public radio programs about the piano and its music.

A graduate of the Manhattan School of Music, Dr. Hersh received his doctoral degree with high honors from Indiana University where he received an Edward's Fellowship for advanced study.

Additional information is available from MSU's Department of Music at (606) 783-2473.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The gaiety of 19th century Vienna will be recreated when the National Opera Company brings its production of Johann Strauss' classic operetta, "Die Fledermaus" to Morehead State University's Button Auditorium on Sunday, Jan. 17, at 8 p.m. as part of the 1992-93 Arts in Morehead (AIM) series.

First performed in Vienna in 1874, "The Bat", as it is known in English, is a comic opera of mistaken identities and bubbling music, including several of Strauss' trademark waltzes. The performance will be sung in English, as are all National Opera productions.

Admission will be by season ticket or single event tickets which may be purchased at the door prior to the program at $6 for adults and $3 for non-MSU students. MSU students with valid I.D. cards will be admitted free.

The National Opera Company was founded in 1948 by the late A. J. Fletcher who funded a Foundation dedicated to the mission of providing a start toward a career for young singers and of performing opera in a language the audience can understand. Many former NOC singers have appeared in leading roles with major companies in this country and Europe, including Samuel Ramey who appeared on the AIM series in the early 1980s.

The operetta's plot concerns the attempt of Dr. Falke to exact revenge on his old friend, the rich banker Eisenstein who had humiliated Falke some years earlier. As the operetta opens, Eisenstein is discussing with his lawyer a jail-sentence that he must serve. Falke arrives and suggest that they spend Eisenstein's last free night at a ball hosted by Prince Orlofsky.

AIM

Bidding his wife Rosalinda farewell, Eisenstein heads for jail in white tie and tails. Unbeknownst to him, Falke had arranged for Rosalinda and her maid, Adele, to attend Orlofsky's ball.

At Orlofsky's party, Adele arrives in her mistress' ball gown (borrowed without permission), followed by Eisenstein and the prison warden (both posing as someone else), and finally by a mysterious masked Hungarian countess (Rosalinda).

Not recognizing his wife in her disguise, Eisenstein flirts outrageously with her; but before seduction can succeed, Eisenstein must leave to report to jail on time. In the concluding scene at the jail, all deceptions are uncovered as Falke explains the whole affair was engineered by him as a practical joke.

Calling the production "most impressive," the New York Times music critic described NOC as an ensemble whose "singers are trained to act and deliver lines with professional aplomb and timing."

Later this month, AIM will present Silverwood, a flute and guitar duo composed of two MSU music faculty member, Dr. Robert Pritchard and Leo Blair, performing music from the 16th century through the 20th century.

Additional information concerning AIM, which is a cooperative effort of MSU and the Morehead/Rowan County Arts Council is available by calling (606) 783-2602.

Some of the performances this season have been made possible by grants from the National Endowment for the Arts through the Southern Arts Federation of which the Kentucky Arts Council is a member.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University and the Morehead/Rowan County Ministerial Association will join hands to sponsor a candlelight march and community tribute to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on Tuesday, Jan. 19.

The march will begin at 6 p.m. at the Eagle bust on the lawn between Allie Young Hall and Camden-Carroll Library and end at the First Baptist Church on East Main Street. Candles will be provided.

"Unity in the Community" will be the theme for the program at the church which will feature the Rev. Raymond Brown, minister of Lexington's East Second Street Christian Church, as guest speaker.

The MSU Black Gospel Ensemble will perform at the community tribute and also may be heard on Monday, Jan. 18, during the halftime program at the MSU-Austin Peay men's basketball game in Johnson Arena.

"We look forward to joining our friends in the community in paying tribute to Dr. King and his accomplishments," said MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin. "A great leader, Dr. King embraced a philosophy of non-violence as he tried to advance the cause of brotherhood among all people," Dr. Eaglin added.

The state will observe the civil rights leader's birthday on Monday, Jan. 18. There will be no classes or office hours at MSU that day.

Jan. 13, 1993

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Student Government Association will sponsor three sexual awareness activities on the campus next week.

Comedienne Suzi Landolphi, who has been involved in safe sex education and care and advocacy for people with HIV/AIDS since 1982, will speak at 9:15 p.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 19, in Button Auditorium.

Landolphi's one-woman presentation of "Hot, Sexy and Safer" was presented on more than 200 college campuses last year. The program, which originated as a talk for high school students, is appropriate for all age groups.

By combining humor and compassion through the use of stand-up comedy and dramatic techniques, Landolphi encourages safer sex practices. Her message also touches on other issues such as homophobia, alcohol and drug use and acquaintance rape.

A graduate of Middlebury College with a degree in theater and dance, Landolphi has been recognized by the National Association of Campus Activities (NACA) as Lecturer of the Year in 1991 and 1992 and received the Harry Chapin Humanitarian Award for 1992. A resident of Boston, Mass., she has appeared on ABC's "Home Show," Lifetime's "Attitudes" and was a guest on the Jenny Jones Show.

Assistant Commonwealth Attorney Keith McCormick will talk on "Date Rape: It can Happen on Our Campus" on Wednesday, Jan. 20, at 6 p.m. in the Commonwealth Room, Adron Doran University Center.

McCormick, who was admitted to the Kentucky Bar Association in 1981, is a practicing attorney with an office in Morehead. He has been a member of the state Attorney General's Task Force on Domestic Violence since 1991.

A part-time professor of business law at MSU, he is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and received his J.D. degree from the University of Louisville.

The uncertainty of dating will be explored on Thursday, Jan. 21, at 7 p.m. in the Crager Room, ADUC.

A "Creative Dating Workshop" will be hosted by David D. Coleman, director of student activities at Xavier University. With the use of videotape, slide and imaginative handouts, he will encourage the audience to provide examples that will give dating lives and relationships a fighting chance.

Sexual Awareness

Coleman's program is designed to educate students on their options, encourage creative thoughts and ideas and provide an opportunity for non-threatening dialogue between participants. Interpersonal dating communication, the effect AIDS has on dating, the impact of alcohol on relationships and ending a relationship also will be covered.

All three programs are free and open to the public. Additional information on the sexual awareness activities are available by calling (606) 783-2071.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Arts in Morehead (AIM) will present Silverwood, a guitar and flute duo, on Tuesday, Jan. 26, at 8 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall on the campus of Morehead State University.

Admission will be by season ticket or single event tickets which may be purchased at the door prior to the program at $6 for adults and $3 for non-MSU students. MSU students with valid I.D. cards will be admitted free.

Silverwood's musicians, associate professors of music at MSU, are Dr. Robert Pritchard, flute, and Leo Blair, classical guitar, viola and violin. The pair of musicians formed the ensemble in 1982 for an invitational concert at Eastern Kentucky University.

Silverwood is known for its musical diversification with literature ranging from the 16th century dance idioms to 20th century art forms.

The current president of the local chapter of Lambda Chi music honorary, Dr. Pritchard teaches private flute, theory and conducts the MSU Flute Ensemble. He also is principal flute with the Lexington Philharmonic and holds the Doctor of Musical Arts degree in flute performance from Boston University.

A member of the Lexington Philharmonic and the Huntington (W.Va.) Chamber Orchestra, Blair teaches private violin, viola, classical guitar, and music listening as well as serving as conductor of the MSU Orchestra. He holds the Master of Fine Arts degree from Ohio University with additional study at the University of Kentucky and Vanderbilt University.

Silverwood has appeared throughout the region, including performing for a Tri-State Red Cross Benefit Concert in Huntington, W.Va., and for the National Association of Auctioneers in Lexington.

AIM is a cooperative venture of MSU and the Morehead/Rowan County Arts Council. Additional information on this concert or upcoming AIM programs is available by calling (606) 783-2602.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Fourteen Morehead State University faculty members, including three two-person research teams, will share more than $39,000 in institutional research and creative production grants.

The awards which range from nearly $1,000 to $4,999 were granted on the basis of proposals submitted during the fall semester, according to Dr. John C. Philley, MSU executive vice president for academic affairs and dean of faculty.

Dr. Michelle Boisseau, associate professor of English, was the recipient of a $2,599 MSU Creative Production Grant for a poetry writing project.

Awarded MSU Research Grants were:

Lynn Hall Augsbach, assistant professor of psychology, $4,201 for a project entitled "Adult's Perceptions of Children's Metaphoric and Literal Statements About Dental Health."

Karen Hammons, assistant professor of education, and Dr. Phyllis Oakes, assistant professor of education, $1,090 for a project entitled "Kentucky Primary Program Teacher's Perceived Staff Development Needs for Implementing the Primary Program Critical Attributes and Kentucky Administrators' Perceived Expertise in Providing Leadership for Staff Development to Support Implementation of the Critical Attributes of the Primary Program."

Dr. Hilary Iwu, assistant professor of business education, $4,907 for a project entitled "Microcomputer Competencies Taught in Business Programs at Four-Year Institutions that are not Members of the National Association for Business Teacher Education (NABTE)."

Dennis Karwatka, professor of industrial education and technology, $4,114 for a project entitled "British Technical History and Technical Instruction in Great Britain."

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, professor of psychology, $4,981 for a project entitled "Interactive Effects of Dopamine D1 and D2 Receptor Stimulation on Brain Biochemistry and Behavior."

Dr. Ric Northrup, assistant professor of government, $4,799 for a project entitled "Momentary Subjects, Fragmented Horizons: The Decline of Artisan Culture in Philadelphia, 1785-1825."

Dr. David Olson, assistant professor of psychology, $982 for a project entitled "Dysphoria and Attachment Style."

Dr. Brian Reeder, assistant professor of biology, $4,951 for a project entitled "Effect of Non-Point Pollution on Primary Producer Structure and Function in Old Woman Creek Estuary."

(MORE)

Research Grants
2-2-2-2-2

Dr. Howard Setser, professor of biology, and Les Meade, associate professor of biology, $2,031 for a project entitled "The Vascular Flora of Rowan County, Kentucky, with Additional Records for Adjacent Counties in Northeastern Kentucky."

Neil Websdale, assistant professor of sociology, and Dr. Byron Johnson, associate professor of sociology, $4,999 for a project entitled "Domestic Violence and Criminal Justice in Kentucky."

Morehead State has been supporting faculty research efforts since 1968-69, soliciting proposals and awarding grants during the academic year and in the summer.

"These institutional awards are designed to recognize and stimulate research and creativity among our faculty," Dr. Philley said. "The encouragement of professional growth through research and creative production is important to an academic community, for it not only enriches the faculty member's horizon, but , in turn, benefits the students taught by those faculty members as well."

The University's Research and Creative Productions Committee is responsible for reviewing proposals and making recommendations to the executive vice president for academic affairs. Chair of the committee is Carole Morella, director of the Office of Research, Grants and Contracts.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Numerous Elderhostel programs are sponsored each year by Morehead State University's Office of Community Services.

Elderhostel, a non-profit educational organization, offers individuals age 60 and over inexpensive, short-term academic programs which are hosted by educational institutions worldwide.

Believe it or not, Benjamin Franklin visited a recent MSU-hosted Elderhostel at Carter Caves State Park, where he sang and talked with the participants.

"The Benjamin Franklin Elderhostel was one of our most enjoyable programs this year," said Rodi Jackson, coordinator of MSU's Elderhostel efforts. "The participants had a delightful time and we hope to bring 'Ben' back next year," she added.

Franklin was portrayed by Tom Spencer, a retired associate professor of secondary education at Ball State University, who began his impersonation of the early American statesman when he began losing hair from the top of his head.

"My barber--a lady--recommended that I let my hair grow and comb it down," Spencer said. "People then began noticing a resemblance to Ben Franklin almost instantly."

In demand all over the country to appear as Franklin, Spencer dons bifocals, waistcoat and knickers for his portrayal of the philosopher and shaves all the hair from the top of his head, dyeing the remainder gray to hide his natural black color.

While thoroughly enjoying his role as Ben, Spencer confesses that singing and playing country music is really his first love. He has won several guitar championships at old-time country music and bluegrass festivals.

During the recent MSU-sponsored Elderhostel, he had the opportunity to "jam" with Jackson and her husband George, who are both accomplished musicians.

"George and I played with him during his appearance at Carter Caves," said Jackson. "The Elderhostel participants just loved being around him," she added.

MSU's next Elderhostel is scheduled for Feb. 14-19 at Carter Caves State Park. Additional information is available by calling (606) 783-2077 or Elderhostel's national headquarters at (617) 426-7788.

SPECIAL TO THE LEDGER INDEPENDENT

MOREHEAD, Ky.---"As we focus on the achievements of blacks throughout history during February, it is equally important that we not lose sight of the need for minority students to be aware of the accomplishments by African-Americans today," said Morehead State University President Ronald G. Eaglin.

Keeping this philosophy in mind, Dr. Eaglin is committed to seeing that there are role models for minority students among the University's faculty and staff.

"It's particularly important that we foster an awareness of the value of cultural diversity on this campus, because many of our students may not have had the opportunity to experience cultures different from their own," Dr. Eaglin said. "We can all learn from one another," he added.

As MSU's black student enrollment continues to increase, minority programming--academic, cultural and social--and the presences of appropriate professional role models remains a high priority on the campus.

This year, MSU gained the talents of two new professionals with the addition of Dr. William J. Mosley as chair of the Department of Elementary, Reading and Special Education and Sarah D. Love as instructor of speech and assistant director of forensics.

Previously the director of Western Illinois University's Center for the Preparation of Educators of Minority Children, Dr. Mosley has an extensive background in special education programs, including those for the disabled, as well as in minority education.

The administrator/educator also developed and directed WIU's Summer Tutoring Program for Minority Junior High Schools, which received national recognition in 1989 from the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE).

While his higher education experience includes teaching at Louisiana State University, Indiana University, University of Texas and the University of Hartford, Dr. Mosley also taught in the public schools of Indiana and Tennessee.

He earned his doctorate from the University of Connecticut, the master's degree from the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh and the bachelor's degree from Fisk University.

He has served as a consultant for public school systems in the midwest, for departments of education in five states and for the U.S. Department of Education as well as the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Active in several professional organizations, Dr. Mosley has written numerous articles for publication and is a frequent presenter at professional meetings.

Love's primary responsibilities will be teaching speech and working with MSU's I.E. team which is ranked fourth in the nation. She came to MSU from the University of Nevada-Las Vegas where she was assistant director of debate and forensics as well as a lecturer. A former adjunct faculty member in the Department of Communication Studies at Governors State University, she has taught at both the college and public school levels.

She holds the M.A. degree in communication studies from Governors State, with an emphasis on rhetorical theory, and the B.S. degree from Illinois State University. While a student, she was a National Forensic Association finalist in prose reading and earned semi-finalist and quarter-finalist spots in other events.

Love is active in the Speech Communication Association and its Black Caucus as well as in the American Forensic Association, the National Forensics Association and Women in Communication.

MSU is not only interested in recruiting minority students, but also--perhaps more importantly--in the retention of these students with the ultimate goal of graduation.

In an effort to provide an environment in which minority students can succeed, MSU staffs its Office of Minority Student Affairs with a full-time director (Jerry Gore, a Maysville native) and a minority student recruiter (Peggy Overly, a Ewing native). A minority retention specialist (Carlos Edwards, a Cincinnati area native) also is included among MSU's academic counselors.

On the academic side, MSU has implemented a program which may help minority students in the future: the Minority Teacher Education Program (MTEP) which encourages blacks to consider teaching as a career.

High school students identified by their teachers or counselors as potential participants in the program are brought to the campus throughout the year to hear about the teaching program first hand from minority educators, to participate in motivational workshops and to spend a week at MSU during the summer.

Once enrolled at MSU, the students will receive the academic support needed to successfully complete the teacher education program, according to Ernestine Winfield, MTEP coordinator. Now in its fifth year, MTEP, funded in part by the Kentucky Council on Higher Education, primarily targets schools in Jefferson and Fayette counties. The program's first graduate, Rodney Gill, is now teaching in the Jefferson County school system.

Through its Office of Minority Student Affairs, MSU offers a diversity of programs and activities designed to foster pride in the black cultural heritage, with speakers ranging from successful alumni to black feminist Dr. Patricia Hill Collins and noted sports sociologist Dr. Harry Edwards.

Special--Blacks

In addition to observing Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday annually, MSU also celebrates Black Awareness Week in March and Black History Month each February. This year's candlelight march and tributes to Dr. King emphasized the theme, "Unity in the Community" and were co-sponsored by the Morehead/Rowan County Ministerial Association. The guest speaker was the Rev. Raymond Brown, minister of Lexington's East Second Street Christian Church.

Although students are encouraged to be involved in all aspects of campus life, including student government, there are activities offered specifically for the black student: two historically black Greek sororities, four fraternities, as well as The Brotherhood which is a co-ed social organizations and LaDies, a women's group. There is also the Black Gospel Ensemble which is celebrating its 25th anniversary and the Black Student Coalition.

Additionally, minority student affairs sponsors a Little Brother-Little Sister program, an academic and social peer counseling program giving upperclassmen the opportunity to help new students succeed.

New for fall 1992 was a special orientation workshop for new and returning minority students and their parents. Other activities so far have included workshops on "Academic Survival" and "Rights and Responsibilities as a Student" and attending the fourth annual Roots and Heritage Festival in Lexington.

Also, according to Gore, the Office of Minority Student Affairs will utilize a minority mentoring program matching prospective students with alumni. Another new initiative this year is the recruitment of black graduate students.

LOVE WORKS WITH SPEECH STUDENTS

Sarah D. Love, left, who joined Morehead State University's faculty this past fall, not only teaches speech in the classroom but also serves as assistant director of the school's forensics program helping to coach the I.E. team. Here Love helps senior Rachel Craft with research for a presentation.

MT. STERLING, Ky.--For those planning to open a business, Morehead State University's Small Business Development Center in cooperation with the Mt. Sterling National Bank will offer two seminars on Monday, Feb. 1.

A "Pre-Business Orientation" offering will begin at 3 p.m. It will include the how to's, do's and don'ts of going into business along with the pitfalls, legal structures and prerequisites for a successful small business. Questions to ask when buying an already established business and simple bookkeeping systems also will be discussed.

"How to Prepare a Business Loan" is the title of the evening program, scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. Requirements and procedures for preparing a loan package including steps for completing the appropriate documentation for a bank, private investor or Small Business Administration, will be covered.

Both sessions will be held at the Mt. Sterling National Bank, 30 W. Main Street in Mt. Sterling. There is no charge for attendance.

Because of limited seating, reservations are necessary. Arrangements will be made for the disabled when requested in advance. The training programs, partially funded by the U.S. Small Business Administration, are open to all individuals without regard to race, color, sex, creed or national origin.

The seminars are co-sponsored by MSU's College of Business, the Kentucky Cabinet for Economic Development Small Business Division, Buffalo Trace and Gateway Area Development Districts, Morehead-Rowan County and Mt. Sterling-Montgomery County Chambers of Commerce, and the Mt. Sterling-Montgomery County Branch of the Lexington SCORE Chapter.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Whether you're looking for special works by talented area artists, collector coins or maybe a craft item, Morehead State University's Charity Auction on Friday, Feb. 5, might be a good place to shop.

The auction, sponsored by the MSU Foundation and the Department of Communications, will be held in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center, beginning at 7 p.m. Proceeds will go to the Don Holloway Memorial Scholarship Fund.

"We believe the variety of items offers something that will appeal to every taste," said Harlen Hamm, MSU professor of speech and chair of the auction's organizational committee. "At the same time, your purchases will help college students further their education," he said.

Among the works to be auctioned are oil, acrylic and watercolor paintings, along with limited edition prints, collector coins and crafts, according to Hamm. "We also have some special items of interest, such as celebrity memorabilia," he said. An autographed picture of Perry Como and Alan Alda's personal script from the Emmy-winning former series, "M.A.S.H." also are scheduled for the auction block.

All items will be displayed at least two hours prior to the start of bidding. Steve Lewis of Morehead will be the auctioneer.

A partial list of artists donating works includes Yvonne Baldwin, Chris Barker, Bill and Louise Booth, Linda Brewer, Kozy Hamilton, the late Cliff Johnson, Connie Reeves, Helen Price Stacy, James D. Werline and Raymond White.

Additional information is available from Hamm at (606) 783-2712.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Registrations are still being accepted for the 12-week Lambers CPA Review course sponsored by Morehead State University's Department of Accounting and Economics.

Available on the main campus as well as at the University's extended campus centers in Prestonsburg and Ashland, the class begins Feb. 9.

The review will prepare those enrolled for the May 1993 certified public accountant examination, according to Dr. L.K. Williams, MSU associate professor of accounting and coordinator for the video review course.

The $975 cost of the program includes videotape checkouts for at home class make-ups, textbooks, an intensive review two weeks prior to the actual CPA exam and an unconditional repeat of the course.

Also covered in the registration fee is PassWare, an IBM compatible software program to supplement out-of-class study.

Established in 1966, the Lambers CPA Review has a 78 percent pass rate and is considered by many to be the nation's number one video review in the field, Dr. Williams said.

Advance registration is encouraged. Additional information on the registration procedure is available by calling Dr. Williams at (606) 783-2911 or Joe Pitts, vice president of marketing for The Resource Network, toll-free at 1-800-239-8833.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Robert Franzini, professor of art at Morehead State University, is among the 41 artists from 15 states and Canada with works in the "Southern Printmakers 92" traveling exhibition on display now through Feb. 13 on the MSU campus.

Franzini's piece is an aquatint of a composition with four figures. The exhibition may be seen in the gallery, Claypool-Young Art Building, from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m., weekdays. There is no admission charge.

The show, juried by well known American printmaker Lee Chesney, features original prints by members of the Southern Graphics Council who are involved in the print media. It is a diverse exhibit, including black and white as well as color works and computer graphics.

"The display reflects the vitality of printmaking activity in the southeast," Franzini said.

A native of Palo Alto, Calif., Franzini has been a faculty member at MSU since 1980 where he teaches printmaking and drawing. A nationally and internationally noted artist, he has been the recipient of numerous awards including the University's first Distinguished Creative Production Award last year.

Franzini earned M.F.A. and M.A. degrees in printmaking from the University of Iowa and received a bachelor's degree in studio art from Stanford University.

The traveling show, which has been shown already at the University of North Alabama and Montgomery College, will continue its journey until 1994. After MSU, it's bound for Jacksonville, Fla.

Additional information on the printmakers exhibit is available from Franzini at (606) 783-2771.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The endeavors in art and history by two Morehead State University faculty members have been recognized by Governor Brereton C. Jones.

Tom Sternal, MSU Department of Art chair, is the recipient of a Governor's Award in the Arts in the community division. The award, sponsored by the Kentucky Arts Council, will be presented during the council's 1993 State Arts Conference in Owensboro in late February.

Dr. John E. Kleber, professor of history and editor-in-chief of the "Kentucky Encyclopedia," was given the Governor's Outstanding Kentuckian Award by Gov. Jones earlier this month at the Governor's Mansion.

"Morehead State is pleased to see these two talented faculty members honored for their efforts," said MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin. "This recognition by the Commonwealth not only enhances their individual reputations but also brings distinction to the University as well."

Sternal was nominated for the award as a result of his work in promoting the folk art of Eastern Kentucky, for assisting in establishing MSU's Folk Art Collection and for helping develop a marketing program for the area's folk artists.

Dr. Kleber was recognized for achievements and meritorious service to the state, specifically for editing the "Kentucky Encyclopedia" for the state's bicentennial celebration. Now in its second printing, the volume took three years to prepare and became available on June 1, 1992, the 200th anniversary of Kentucky's entry into the union.

A member of the MSU art faculty since 1984, Sternal holds Master of Arts and Master of Fine Arts degrees with concentrations in sculpture from the University of Montana.

Specializing in monumental sculptures which he describes as "abstract and environmentally site-oriented," Sternal received the 1991 Al Smith Artist Award from the Kentucky Arts Council. His works may be seen on college campuses and other public sites throughout Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Arkansas, Montana and other states.

Sternal has had solo and joint exhibits nationwide and in South Korea where he was a Senior Fulbright-Hayes Grant recipient. He also held a Norwegian government residency grant in Oslo.

Dr. Kleber, who joined MSU's faculty in 1968, gained recognition among the state's historical scholars for his earlier work in editing the papers of Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby.

A former member of the Kentucky Oral History Commission, Dr. Kleber also headed MSU's Honors Program for 15 years. He also is a 1982 recipient of the University's Distinguished Teacher Award. Currently he is working on a history of Clark County.

A native of Louisville, Dr. Kleber graduated summa cum laude from Bellarmine College and earned his master's and doctoral degrees from the University of Kentucky with additional graduate study conducted at the University of California-Irvine.

PRESTONSBURG, Ky.---Morehead State University's Big Sandy Extended Campus Center is launching a campaign to raise $15,000 of which $10,000 is earmarked for a special student aid program and the remainder for instructional equipment needs.

"While state funds and student fees do much to offset the Big Sandy Center's operating costs, there are other areas that need funding to ensure a quality educational experience for our students," said MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin.

"We can only address those needs with help from private donors, individuals and businesses who benefit from the educational opportunities that our Big Sandy Center offers the region's citizens," Dr. Eaglin added.

"Many of us already have seen the difference that the physical presence of MSU through its extended campus center has meant to people here," said Gary Frazier, assistant superintendent of the Floyd County Schools who chairs the center's advisory committee.

Chairing the drive for the advisory committee is Tim Hites of Prestonsburg. Other members of the fund raising subcommittee are: Pat Burchett of Paintsville, Linda Hueseman of Salyersville, Carlos Cassady of Inez, and Dr. Margaret Lewis, center director.

"We are looking to Big Sandy area residents to assist us in making a quality education readily accessible," said Hites.

The Big Sandy ECC serves students from Pike, Floyd, Martin, Magoffin, Johnson, Lawrence, Perry and Knott counties.

The $10,000 for the Regional Campus Awards will be matched on a dollar for dollar basis through a grant to MSU from the Ashland Oil Foundation, Inc., according to Dr. Lewis.

Big Sandy Campaign
2-2-2-2-2

"Last fall we awarded grants of $300 to 27 area students," said Dr. Lewis. "Designed to help adults ease back into the classroom, the one-time award covers tuition, books and other miscellaneous expenses for their first class," she added.

"Many of our students are nontraditional--with families and jobs--who are coming back to school to earn college degrees so they can become more employable or to upgrade their existing job skills," she said.

Instructional equipment needs, according to Dr. Lewis, are varied, but among the most critical are audio-visual aids, computer hardware and software and other technology for classrooms.

"There is just so much new technology out there that could help us to deliver a quality education to our students if we were able to obtain it," said Dr. Lewis. "Our job of preparing these students for the marketplace would be greatly enhanced by having state-of-the-art equipment," she said.

While MSU has offered graduate work in Prestonsburg since the 1960s, upper division undergraduate work to complement existing coursework at community colleges and other schools was only added in 1986. The interest in these programs resulted in the Council on Higher Education designating the regional class site as an extended campus center.

With 38 courses offered this fall, enrollment at the Big Sandy ECC increased by 22 percent over the same period last year.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University's 64-member Symphony Band will be heard in concert at the Kentucky Music Educators Association conference at 12:30 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 5, at the Hyatt Regency in Louisville.

The MSU ensemble, which will be the only collegiate band performing at KMEA, was invited to appear on the basis of an audition tape and letters of recommendation, according to Dr. Christopher Gallaher, MSU Department of Music chair.

"Having an opportunity to showcase the talents of our students before nearly every band director and music educator in the state is a real plus for our music program and the University as well," said Dr. Frank Tracz, MSU director of bands. "The band members are really excited about this concert and have put in a lot of extra hours rehearsing on Saturdays and during the holiday break," he added.

The concert program selected by Dr. Tracz and his assistant, Dr. Larry Blocher, MSU associate professor of music, includes "Lord of the Rings" by de Mij, two melodies by Percy Grainger, Phillips' "Concertpiece for Bassoon and Wind Ensemble" and the finale from Kalinnikov's "Symphony in D Minor."

In addition, this performance will mark the regional premiere of a new work by Stephen Melillo, entitled "Stormworks".

On Thursday, Feb. 4, the MSU Symphony Band will present a sneak preview of Friday's program in a free, public concert at 8 p.m. in the new auditorium at Louisville's Male High School.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will welcome prospective students and their parents to the campus for an "Open House" on Saturday, Jan. 30.

The program is available to all students--high school or community college--who are interested in attending college, according to Michelle Richmond, admissions counselor and coordinator of the activity.

"This is a special time to give students an opportunity to ask questions about specific programs while getting an overview of University life and academic offerings," Richmond said.

The activity begins at noon with registration and welcoming remarks by University administrators in Button Auditorium. Participants will visit departments according to specific interests.

Campus tours will begin at 2 p.m.

The campus visitors will be guests of the University for the basketball game later that day when the MSU Eagles will take on Missouri-Kansas City. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m. in Johnson Arena.

Another "Open House" activity is scheduled for April 3.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University's campus, will sponsor its fourth annual Bluegrass Festival on Friday, Feb. 5, at 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium.

"We are delighted to have Ralph Stanley and the Clinch Mountain Boys, who were the featured act for the first festival, return this year," said Ron Mace, WMKY promotion and development director.

"At that time we had no idea that our show would become an annual event. However, we are pleased to welcome back Ralph and to offer Bluegrass fans the opportunity to hear a performance by one of the originators of the genre," Mace said.

Also appearing will be the Bluegrass Cardinals, who have received critical acclaim in the industry for their flawless vocal harmonies.

A half-dozen overseas tours over the past decade have taken the Bluegrass Cardinals into a number of European Countries and six countries in the Mid-East. The group has performed in more than 40 states in the U.S. and four provinces in Canada.

Organized in early 1974 in California by banjo player and Kentucky native Don Parmley, his son David (then 15-years-old), and Randy Graham, the group moved its base to Virginia two years later. The first in the bluegrass idiom to record a song in what now is the highly popular a cappella quartet style, the Bluegrass Cardinals also are known for original song material and strong, out-front vocals with a full format of traditional instruments, including fiddle, five-string banjo, mandolin, guitar and bass.

Some of the group's most requested songs are "Thirty-two Acres," "Are You Missing Me?," "Where Rainbows Touchdown" and "(Lord) Don't Give Up on Me."

General admission tickets will be $8 for adults and $4 for all students; however college students must present a valid I.D. card. Children under six years of age will be admitted free.

Tickets will be available at the door beginning at 6:30 p.m. the day of the festival. Information on advance sale ticket outlets may be obtained by calling Mace at (606) 783-2001, weekdays between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

MSU PAYS TRIBUTE TO DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING JR.

Morehead State University and the Morehead community joined hands to honor the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. with a candlelight march which began on campus and ended at the First Baptist Church, followed by a program, "Unity in the Community." The Rev. Raymond Brown, minister of Lexington's East Second Street Christian Church, was the guest speaker and MSU's Black Gospel Ensemble performed. Carrying a portrait of the slain civil rights advocate and leading the more than 300 marchers were young Emily Bausch of Morehead, left, and Hyacinth Hammonds of Maysville, followed by Carlos Edwards, MSU minority retention specialist. Prior to the march, participants heard comments from MSU President Ronald Eaglin, SGA President Chando Mapoma and others. The event was co-sponsored by the University and the Morehead/Rowan County Ministerial Association.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---What would you pay for an autographed picture of Perry Como? What about a print by MSU alumnus James D. "Skip" Werline who created 12 limited edition prints in honor of the state's 200th birthday last year?

These are among the items to be sold during Morehead State University's Charity Auction on Friday, Feb. 5, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center.

Sponsored by the MSU Foundation and the Department of Communications, the auction will offer a variety of art works and hand crafted items. Proceeds will go to the Don Holloway Memorial Scholarship Fund.

"We owe a great debt to the artists, local craftspersons and businesses who have donated items for the sale," said Bob Howerton, MSU Foundation executive vice president. "Buyers are in for a treat regarding the quality of work to be sold."

According to Harlen Hamm, professor of speech and chair of the auction's organizational committee, the items range from original paintings, crafts and antiques to celebrity memorabilia.

The sale items will be available for viewing from 5 to 7 p.m. Steve Lewis of Morehead will be the auctioneer.

Among the artists and craftsmen donating works are Yvonne Baldwin, Chris Barker, Bill and Louise Booth, Linda Brewer, Kozy Hamilton, the late Cliff Johnson, Connie Reeves, Helen Price Stacy, Raymond White and Werline.

Additional information is available from Howerton at (606) 783-2033 or Hamm at (606) 783-2712.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PIKEVILLE, Ky.---Jim Pruitt, a Pikeville attorney, has been elected chairman of the newly-formed advisory committee to the Appalachian Graduate Consortium, a partnership between Morehead State University and Pikeville College.

Based at Pikeville College, the consortium has offered graduate work to area residents since the mid-1970s.

Jointly appointed by MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin and Dr. William H. Owens, president of Pikeville College, the advisory committee is composed of business and education leaders from the region.

Jim Brown, assistant vice president and Marrowbone branch manager with the Pikeville National Bank, was elected as vice chairman during the committee's organizational meeting held here recently. Dr. Margaret Lewis, director of the MSU-Big Sandy Extended Campus Center who also serves as consortium director, will serve as secretary of the advisory group.

Other members of the committee are: Marcheta Blackburn, senior vice president, First National Bank, Pikeville; Blanche Branham, principal of Millard Elementary School; James Hawkins, principal of Elkhorn City High School; Anne Keene, instructional supervisor for Pikeville Independent Schools; Jerry Meade, principal of Shelby Valley High School;

Nina Conley Reynolds, microbiology supervisor, Methodist Hospital of Kentucky; Thomas Swartz, principal of Pikeville High School; Ronald Thompson, supervisor of instruction, Pike County Schools, and Frank Welch, principal of Belfry High School.

Serving as ex-officio members will be Dr. Charles E. Whittle, dean of the college, Pikeville College; Dr. Elizabeth Dowdy, coordinator of the consortium; Dr. Marc D. Glasser, MSU dean of graduate and extended campus programs, and Dr. Lewis.

The advisory committee will assist the consortium director in assessing the region's graduate education needs and advise in the development of programs to meet those needs.

In giving the committee its charge, Dr. Eaglin stressed the importance of the Pikeville College-MSU partnership in not only supporting educational programs, but also in the economic development of the area.

In his remarks, Dr. Owens urged the committee members to continue exploring new ways of strengthening the partnership for the betterment of the region.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Eastern Kentucky Health/Science Information Network (EKHSIN) has released its 1992-93 edition of the "Bluegrass Medical Libraries Union List of Serials."

EKHSIN is a Morehead State University-based consortium which provides medical library services to seven hospitals in Eastern Kentucky. EKHSIN also is a member of the Bluegrass Medical Libraries Consortium which serves 35 member hospitals in central Kentucky.

The Union's serial list, published annually by EKHSIN as a service to both consortia, serves as a locator and resource sharing tool, providing rapid access to the journal holdings of nearly 50 health science libraries.

More than 1,000 individual journal titles are included in the latest list. Last year, the list became available on computer diskette through Procite bibliographic software.

According to William J. DeBord, EKHSIN coordinator, the software allows for extremely rapid and accurate searching through the 1,018 titles listed. "Each year the network strives to improve the content and overall look of the list," DeBord said. "The finished product this year is the best yet and we think it will be well received by the consortia membership."

MOREHEAD, Ky.---February is Black History Month and Morehead State University will launch its monthlong celebration with a videoconference, "Beyond the Dream V: The Writers, The Stories, The Legacy," on Wednesday, Feb. 3.

The live, interactive satellite broadcast will begin at 1 p.m. in the Eagle Dining Room, Adron Doran University Center (ADUC).

The program, produced by Black Issues in Higher Education, will feature noted authors and educators who will discuss the role of literature in understanding African American culture and life experiences.

The panel will include:

*Houston A. Baker Jr., president of the Modern Language Association, Director of the Center for the Study of Black Literature and Culture at the University of Pennsylvania, and literary critic;

*Nikki Giovanni, who wrote "Sacred Cows...and Other Edibles," "Those Who Ride the Night Winds," "Vacation Time," and "Cotton Candy On a Rainy Day";

*Marita Golden, author of "And, Do Remember Me," "Long Distance Life," "A Woman's Place," and "Migrations of the Heart," and,

*Terry McMillan whose works include "Waiting to Exhale," "Disappearing Acts," "Mama," and "Breaking Ice: An Anthology of Contemporary African American Fiction."

Black History Month activities at MSU are sponsored by the Office of Minority Student Affairs and the Black Student Coalition. A variety of programs, which are free and open to the public, have been scheduled.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays during February, movies and plays depicting African American experiences will be shown from noon until 4:30 p.m. in 304 Allie Young Hall.

On Friday, Feb. 5, faculty, staff and students will be the presenters at a Poetry Spotlight. Sponsored by Phi Beta Sigma fraternity, the readings will begin at 7 p.m. in the Commonwealth Room, ADUC.

African American students at MSU will observe Kwanzaa, Feb. 1-7, with a number of activities that spring from the African culture, according to Jerry Gore, Minority Student Affairs director. "This celebration originally was a rejoicing for a good harvest season and has been handed down over centuries," he said. "Our students want to create unity among all African Americans on campus; they want to join in the uplifting of the race which we hope will spread throughout our nation."

The Black History Month observance will continue with a viewing of Cora Dunsmore's "Black Collectibles in America" on Feb. 15-16; "Night Games" on Feb. 16; a Greek Unity Dinner on Feb. 17; Angela Bates, president of the Nicodemus Group Inc., will speak on Feb. 17; Lip Service Game on Feb. 18; Fred Smith, music producer from San Diego, Calif., will host a three day music workshop, Feb. 19-21, and Don Bogle, will present "The Image of Blacks in Films" on Feb. 24.

Additional information on Black History Month activities is available from MSU's Office of Minority Student Affairs at (606) 783-2668.

Jan. 29, 1993
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

ASHLAND, Ky.---Morehead State University's Ashland Area Extended Campus Center has begun a campaign to raise $20,000, with half of the funds designated for a special student aid program and half for instructional equipment needs.

"Although state funds and student fees do much to offset the Ashland Area Center's operating costs, there are still many other areas that need funding to ensure a quality educational experience for our students," said MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin.

"Those needs can only be addressed with help from private donors, individuals and businesses who benefit from the additional educational opportunities offered the area's citizenry by our extended campus center," Dr. Eaglin added.

"Those of us who live and work in the Ashland area can speak first hand to the difference that the physical presence of MSU through its extended campus center already has made here," said Gerald Porter, an ARMCO Steel Company executive and chair of the center's advisory committee.

Heading up the fund raising drive for the advisory committee is H. Jack Webb, director of pupil personnel for the Greenup County schools and MSU Alumni Association vice president. Assisting him will be W. Stu Taylor, plant manager for Kentucky Electric Steel; Dr. Roland Burns, director of the Ashland Area ECC, and Porter.

"We've already begun soliciting the nearly 4,000 MSU alumni and friends who live in the area the center serves," Webb said. "We hope that they will respond generously to this effort to make a quality education readily accessible to others," he added.

The Ashland Area ECC primarily serves the people of Boyd, Carter and Greenup counties.

The $10,000 earmarked for the Regional Campus Awards program will be matched on a dollar for dollar basis through a grant to MSU from the Ashland Oil Foundation, Inc., according to Dr. Burns.

Grants of $300 each were award to 15 students in the fall of 1992 and 16 students this semester, Dr. Burns said. "Designed to help adults ease back into the classroom, the one-time award covers tuition, books and other miscellaneous expenses for their first class," he added.

"With the majority of our students being non-traditional, the average student age is 34 1/2. Many of these, including a growing number of displaced industry workers, are returning to school to earn college degrees so that they can become more employable or to upgrade their existing job skills," Dr. Burns said.

With 31 courses offered at the center this past fall, 442 students were enrolled, representing a 43 percent increase over the 309 students taking classes the previous fall.

Instructional equipment needs, according to the director, are varied; but among the most critical are computer software programs and audio-visual aids ranging from basic wall maps to a large screen video projector.

"As technology advances, the methods of delivering a quality education change along with those advances and we need to have state-of-the-art equipment if we are to prepare students for tomorrow's marketplace," Dr. Burns said.

While Morehead State has offered graduate work in Ashland for nearly three decades, upper division undergraduate work to complement existing programs at community colleges and other schools was only added in 1986. The interest in these programs resulted in the Council on Higher Education designating the regional class site as an extended campus center in 1989.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---An Owenton juvenile was a victim of an alleged freak accident Saturday (Jan. 30) while at Morehead State University for an open house for prospective students.

At about 12:30 p.m., the youth and three classmates got into the victim's vehicle which was parked in a campus parking lot. According to the incident report, a .38 caliber pistol allegedly belonging to one of the victim's parents slid from under the front seat into the back.

One of the youths picked it up and, in passing it to the front, the pistol accidentally discharged with the bullet passing through the driver's seat and lodging in the back of the victim, the report said.

A bystander alerted the MSU Office of Public Safety that he had seen youths get into a vehicle, heard what sounded like a gunshot and one of the youths say, "You've shot me."

The young men drove themselves to St. Claire Medical Center and the hospital notified MSU Public Safety who investigated the incident.

Hospitalized overnight for observation, the victim was discharged today (Jan. 31).
