New Blank Is Introduced By Dr. Lloyd

Sworn Statement Now Required By Public Assistance Department

A new application blank requiring a sworn statement has been inaugurated by Dr. A. Y. Lloyd, Director of Public Assistance, Frankfort. This policy could not be introduced at the beginning of the Pension Project due to the throng who immediately swamped the office for relief. This move was adopted, according to Dr. Lloyd, in an effort to further make the Department more efficient.

This new feature in connection with Old Age Assistance administration in Kentucky is expected to aid materially in cutting down the number of applications filed by ineligible persons. It will also enable the Public Assistance Division to enforce penalties provided for false statements in connection with applications for Old Age Assistance.

Besides containing a sworn statement, the new application form also includes several additional features not found in the old form in use since the beginning of the program in Kentucky. It will require information pertaining to age and residence and an agreement to reimburse the Commonwealth of Kentucky for assistance given.

Another feature of the new policy is that each and every applicant for Old Age Assistance must fill out his application form in the presence of a Notary Public, a Field Worker of the Division of Public Assistance, or some other person authorized by law to acknowledge oaths. The applicant, after answering all of the questions required on the application form, must make a sworn statement that his answers are true and correct to the best of his knowledge and belief, and he must then sign his application in person, using his signature or his mark as it will appear on checks or other legal papers.

Maak Withdraws From Representative Race

Was Running On Democratic Ticket; Favors No Other Candidate In Race

Mr. J. B. Maak has announced that he has decided to withdraw from the race for Representative of the Rowan-Bath District, for the nomination to which office he was running on the Democratic ticket.

Revue Closes Year

The Dance Revue, by the dancing class of Miss Jean Luzader, held at the Public School Gymnasium last Thursday night, marked the close of the year's work by members of the class and proved to be one of the most interesting and entertaining programs ever offered. The small pupils of Miss Luzader, ranging from three to twelve years of age, showed the result of long hours of practice and dancing that would have done credit to professionals.

Miss Linda Lou Clayton and Miss Mary Scott Wendell opened the program with an acrobatic dance and held the large audience spellbound with their art. Bill Batson offered a song and dance act, "Popeye The Sailor Man," that was Popeye in person to the audience. Angelina Frances played a piano solo that was very pleasing. Linda Lou Clayton followed with a delightful song. Johnnie Crosley went into a song and dance act, "Mr. Ghost Goes To Town," and received a round of applause. Mary Scott Wendell offered a treat in the song and dance, "Boo-Hoo."

Has Unique Record In Home Community

Has Voted Entire Life In One Place In Politics

Daniel Boone Smedley has a unique and unequalled record in his voting precinct. Mr. Smedley is the oldest living citizen in the community. But his record has nothing to do with that. He has lived in the precinct in which he votes his entire life.

Fifty eight years ago he began voting, casting his first vote in the precinct in which he now lives. Since that time he has voted every year without missing one election, either primary or general. Thus he has cast many more than 58 votes in the 58 years he has been a voter. Uncle Boone, as he is called, is proud of his record. He believes that he is the only man in Rowan county who has a similar record. He has served numerous times on the election board in his precinct and is still actively interested in politics in the county, state and nation.

FORMER M. S. T. C. MAN GETS PROMOTION

George Rachford, a student at Morehead State Teachers College last year, has accepted a position in the music department in the Dayton High School, Dayton, Kentucky, it was learned here today. He formerly taught at Coldsprings, Kentucky.

While enrolled here, Rachford was a student teacher in the music department.

REV. FERN HANDS IN RESIGNATION

To Become Effective Next Fall; Future Plans Are As Yet Still Indefinite

The resignation of Dr. G. H. Fern, pastor of the First Christian Church was accepted by the Church Board this week. The resignation is to become effective October 15, 1937, the anniversary of his fourth year of service here.

Professor C. O. Peratt, Dr. H. L. Wilson and Mr. Luster E. Blair were named by the board to draft appropriate testimonials as to the services of Dr. Fern.

Dr. Fern came to this Ministry of the First Christian Church here in the fall of 1932 from a college in Missouri, of which he was president. During his residence here, and primarily through his efforts, a Women's Council was organized, and under the leadership of Mrs. Allie Woodard, its present leader, has accomplished much in church circles.

The paying off of the church's indebtedness has been accomplished.

At Last!

At last they've done it! We don't want to say "we told you so" but we know that the "Courier-Journal" would eventually adopt the new style "stream-line leader" which is sweeping the journalistic world throughout the nation.

Yesterday morning it happened, and pardon us if we say that their paper looks a whole lot better as a result.

Realizing not only the symmetry and up-to-the minute appearance it lends to the page, but the comparative ease of writing them, The Rowan County News adopted the new style last October, immediately after the introduction of its new hottype machine.

All of which proves what? That The Rowan County News is awake not only to news value, but is "on its toes" in other departments—ready to give you every particle of value for your subscription price.

Election Held In Rural Communities

Committeemen Selected For Year For Rowan County; Is Board Of Directors

Election meetings for electing Community Committeemen for the four districts or communities of the Rowan County Agricultural Conservation Association were held last week. Committeemen elected for the Brushy District were P. L. Alderman, Chairman; Henry Eldridge, Vice-Chairman; George Hall and W. A. Caudill, alternate. District were, Eddie M. Perkins, Chairman; J. C. Terrell, vice-chairman; T. L. Dehart and George H. Ebling, alternate. Committeemen for Elliottville District were John Caudill, chairman, Lewis H. Fraley, vice chairman; Allie Porter and E. F. Withrow, alternate. Committeemen for Pine Grove Community are George Brown, chairman; W. F. Wells, vice-chairman; R. C. Bradley and R. A. Decker, alternate.

The four community committee chairmen make up the board of directors for the Association and the County Committee will consist of three of the board of directors elected by the board. The board of directors will meet on July 30th for the purpose of electing the county committee and complete the county organization for the fiscal year beginning July 1st.

Allie Holbrook Is Now Owner Of Dixie Grill

The Dixie Grill, local restaurant, recently transferred ownership from Jack West to Allie Holbrook, alumnus of Morehead State Teachers College and football coach of Prichard High School, Grayson, Kentucky.

Holbrook will be remembered here as a star performer on both the gridiron and hardwood.

He formerly was in the athletic department at Soldier, Kentucky.

Joe Rice In Race For County Jailer

Democratic Candidate Has Made Race On One Previous Occasion

In this issue appears the announcement of Joe Rice as a candidate for the office of Jailer of Rowan county, subject to the action of the Democratic voters at the primary on August 7, 1937. Mr. Rice is well known to the voters of Rowan county having spent his entire life in this county and having previously made the race for jailer.

Mr. Rice expects to make a strong campaign until the primary and hopes to see all the voters of the county during that period. He will appreciate your support and influence.

VOTERS MUST REGISTER BY JULY TENTH

Citizens of Rowan County who wish to vote in the primary on August 7 or at the general election in November, who are not registered, are required to do so by July 10.

Voters who are living in a different precinct from the one where they registered for the last election are required to get a transfer in order to vote in the new precinct.

Morehead Graduate Given Appointment

Robert "Bush-Hog" Brashear To Attend West Point; Was Star Football Player

Robert "Bush-Hog" Brashear has been made the recipient of an appointment to West Point Military Academy to become effective this fall. It was learned here today.

"Bush-Hog" is a graduate of M. S. T. C. with this year's class and was an outstanding member of the juvenile league football machine playing in a backfield position. He was recently awarded the "gold watch" a tradition given this year by the "M" club. This gift is made on the basis of scholarship, character and athletic prowess.

According to all available information Brashear will be eligible for the Army team after a year's stay at West Point.

Aunt Of L. H. Horton Dies At Oberlin

Prof. L. H. Horton received word Saturday of the death of his aunt, C. La Verne Beardsley at Oberlin, Ohio. Miss Beardsley had not been well for sometime, but was not considered seriously ill. Her death was due to heart failure. Mr. Horton was unable to attend the funeral, which was held on Monday.

Hamm Homecoming To Be June 27

Annual Event To Include Various Programs; Large Crowd Expected To Attend

The Hamm family's yearly "Homecoming" is to be held in Wallingford, Kentucky, Sunday, June 27, with dancing and slideing to be included among the festivities.

Rev. Paul C. Gillespie of Flemingsburg, Ky., and Rev. H. M. Reeder of Carter County, are including many exceptions and limitations. Heffer-Vinson Show To Be Here Tonight

The Heffer-Vinson players, composed of over fifty troopers, are to present "Jimmie's in Town" this evening at 8:00 P. M. in their huge tent theatre, located on the Bradley lot, Hargis Avenue.

Jimmie Heffer, "The South's most favored comedian," is the feature of the evening.

Music is to be furnished by an eight piece orchestra—"Heffer's Rhythm Boys."

A group of beautiful and talented girls, gorgeously costumed, comprises the show.

BUDGE MYERS IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Local Accident Victim Has Punctured Lung; Pneumonia Is Feared

Budge Myers, injured last week in a collision on U. S. Route 60 near the Driscoll House, shows no improvement according to news received today. His sister, Ferrol, is at his bedside at the St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington. Information from here late yesterday morning states that one of his lungs is punctured and that he has developed pneumonia. His injuries were at first reported to be minor, but an examination at the hospital, it was found that he had suffered a broken hip and broken pelvis bone.

Myers and Ivan Reynolds, local man, were enroute to Pittsburg, Pa., with a load of stone when the accident occurred. Johnson, a C. & O. train engineer who registered conspicuously after hope had been practically abandoned, is recovering nicely, reports state.

Public Warned Against Frauds

Fake Insurance Agencies To Be Prosecuted By Post Office Department

A nation-wide drive against fraudulent mutual benefit insurance organization which have conducted their schemes through the United States mail, was launched by Postmaster Jas. A. Farley, early this week.

These "fake" societies have specialized in life protection schemes.

Officials reaching the Post Office Department indicates that there are approximately one hundred such fraudulent enterprises now being operated in various sections of the country, which are costing the American public hundreds of thousands of dollars annually.

The promoters of these so-called "not for profit" mutual benefit societies, associations and clubs, in order to circumvent existing laws, avoid the use of the word "insurance" and call it "protection." Instead of "policy" they use the word "certificate" and rather than referring to a "premium" they call it "voluntary contribution." They further mislead their victims by selecting confidence inspiring name such as "National Aid Society" and "Southern Life Club of Physicians' Guaranty Union" or other name similar to well known legitimate life insurance companies.

The promoters take advantage of the fact that very few people read their certificates, particularly the fine print on the inside containing many exceptions and limitations. Members are not informed, but beneficiaries soon find out, when in the fine print wholly nullify any liability of society. They stress the fact that no medical examination is required, and especially appeal (Continued On Page Two)

Says Workers Should Be Named Without Reazord To Any Politics

COURT SET OUT ROADS Wants Department To Come Out Into The Open Concerning Matter

The following article from County Judge Charles E. Jennings is self-explanatory. The article which Judge Jennings took exception appeared in the Issue of The Rowan County News last week and was an article sent out from the Department of Public Highways to every paper in Kentucky, so far as we know. The News made no comment at that time, and makes none now, since this paper is not involved in the discussion. We are, in conformity with our long established custom of giving every one a chance to express his opinions, carrying the article submitted by Judge Jennings.

Morehead, Ky. June 22, 1937

To the Rowan County News, Morehead, Kentucky.

To the Citizens and Taxpayers of Rowan County: Several statements have appeared in the local papers relative to the Rural Highway Program in Rowan County for the year beginning April 1, 1937 and ending March 31, 1937, among numerous inquiries have been made concerning the work to be done, who superintends the employment of men and teams used on the work.

In last week's issue of the Rowan County News the following item appeared "Rowan Road Program Is Still Unreached" or "The County Is State Which Has Failed To Reach Agreement."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Written each week by Rev. B. H. Kaser, Pastor of Baptist Church.

Subject: Faith Tested and Triumphed. Hebrews 11:3-10, 17-22. Golden Text: "These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth." Heb. 11:13.

We pause this week to look back over the journey we have made through the book of Genesis this quarter.

God is the beginning. "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. That is too far back for us to speculate. The book of Hebrews sums up the work of the characters that follow God as recorded in Genesis. All their accomplishments are by faith. The record of these great characters is the record of God working in human life. God has always worked through men and women since Adam was created. This is his method still.

The great characters of Genesis through whom God wrought were tested and tried, but their triumph was sure. By keeping close to God they overcame. They had to acknowledge that their defeats were always due to their failure to lay hold on what God had provided for their strength.

THE TEST OF ENVIRONMENT A man is tested by his surroundings. Noah was. He stood alone in the midst of a godless generation and declared the message of the Lord. They laughed and made fun of him, but he kept on building an ark, by which he and his family were saved. It is hard to stand alone and be laughed at. By faith in God it can be done. Abraham had to meet "the great Chaldees" who was not a country friendly to God. He never let the wickedness and worldliness of his neighbors break his communion with God. Joseph was tested by environment at all points. In every case he could take his stand, both in the lowly places and in places of high distinction.

THE TEST OF TROUBLE. God's people are tested by trouble. Abraham was. His history is that he turned his back on all that was materially valuable to him with nothing in view save an abiding conviction that God was directing him. No wonder then, that we refer to him as the "Father of the Faithful." His faith comforted him, assured him, and drove him on to do great things for God. Jacob was in trouble. True, he brought the bulk of it upon himself, but he had trouble all the way. At Bethel he found a great spiritual experience that led him on toward God. A great promise was made him, and his faith laid hold. Faith turned every trouble into blessing in the end, and proved that all things "work together for good to them that love God." Joseph must have felt the test of trouble. Often he was in trouble where you and I might have despaired. There is no record that his faith ever faltered, and the result was victory every time. These men bring us to the challenging text: "Have faith in God."

he is entitled under the existing law, and at the same time protect the taxpayers of the State from being called upon to provide for these persons not needy, or who are ineligible for other reasons. The cooperation of all respectable citizens in every community is earnestly solicited in the administration of the McCarthy-Ramey Old Age Assistance Act."

Otis James, drunkenness, $100 and costs; in jail; Bill Conley, assault, no guilty; Ellis Roberts, operating a car while drunk, no guilty; Wm. Stevens, selling moonshine, no guilty; Ed Johnson, selling moonshine $50 and costs; John Phillips, operating a barber shop without a license, first day next term; Everett Owens, murder Milzie Fultz, set for Monday; E. A. Lumsden, unlawful conversion of property, for Friday. The jury is now being empaneled for Jerry Dye charged with the murder of Willie Bailey.

P. O. Warning (Continued from Page One) to "those persons who, because of advanced age or physical infirmity, can obtain any form of life protection.

People of sixty to eighty-five years of age are led to believe that, for a monthly contribution of one dollar to one dollar and a half, their beneficiaries will receive sums ranging from one thousand to five thousand dollars. It is difficult to estimate the total amount filched from the public each year by this class of promoters, but the National Aid Society alone costs the public over two millions of dollars.

Mauk Withdraws (Continued from Page one) vided with him. He recently resigned temporarily from his work as Courier-Journal carrier, for a short time and expects to spend the time in taking a vacation which he has certainly earned. Mr. Mauk has carried the Courier-Journal for a number of years and has built up a reputation of dependability that has never been equalled in this section. His friends will all be glad to have him return to his duties as carrier of the Courier.

Mr. Mauk did not withdraw in favor of any particular candidate.

Fern Resigns (Continued from Page One) within the past year, and the debts on both the church and the parsonage considerably reduced, the latter recently being repaired and painted.

In 1936 Dr. Fern was elected superintendent of the Bible School, in addition to his other work, its rising attendance reaching a climax last Sunday, at which time a "high" attendance mark was set.

Dr. and Mrs. Fern have not yet announced their plans after October 15, but they plan, indefinitely, to possibly take care of business interests in Fleming County, Ohio and Missouri.

Their son, Kenneth, receives his Bachelors degree from Morehead in the August graduating exercises.

HERE'S WHY FIRESTONE ALWAYS GIVES YOU SO MUCH

More for your Money

Higher Quality Raw Materials! More Efficient Manufacturing! Lower Distribution Costs! These All Combine to Give You Extra Values at No Extra Cost!

FROM the day of its introduction, the Firestone Standard Tire has more than lived up to its name by setting a new high standard of tire values. Hundreds of thousands of car owners have already bought it because they saw in it more value for their money.

"How does Firestone do it? How can they build so many extra value features into Firestone Standard Tires and yet sell them at such low prices?" The answer is simple—Firestone controls better quality rubber and cotton supplies at their source, keeps manufacturing costs low by efficient factory methods and sells in such huge volume that distribution costs are held to a minimum. That is why Firestone has been able to give you such extra value features as Gum-Dipping, two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread and eight extra pounds of rubber to every 100 pounds of cord, at no extra cost to you.

Make no mistake about this! The Firestone Standard Tire gives you the blowout protection of Firestone's patented Gum-Dipping process. Its scientifically designed tread gives greater non-skid protection and longer wear. And those two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread guard against punctures.

Before you buy ANY tire at ANY price, see today's top tire value—the Firestone Standard Tire. Don't let your life with thin, worn tires on your Fourth of July trip. Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with a set of new Firestone Standard Tires.

5-Minute Biographies

Author of "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

Clyde Beatty has one of the most dangerous jobs in the world. He looks into the jaws of death, not once, but twice a day. The life insurance companies realize that he may be ripped to pieces at any time by savage claws; so they refuse to perform in the circus who can't get an insurance policy.

He told me he had sometimes thought of quitting the lion and tiger business; but he says that if he had to punch a cane-clock in a factory or some other job it would kill him. And if he's got to die, he'd rather be gored to death than bored to death.

Clyde Beatty has spent half his thrilling and exciting lifetime fifteen years of it—under the big top. As a kid back in Chillicothe, Ohio, he was crazy about the circus.

One exciting day the Barnum and Bailey circus came to town. A laundryman stuck up a poster in his window. A glamorous picture in yellow and purple and red, showing a heroic lion trainer bravely cracking his whip over a careful of roaring, snarling cats from Africa. Beatty rushed inside and begged the owner of the laundry to give him the poster, after the circus left town. "The laundryman said 'Yes, I'll give it to you if you'll run errands for me for a week." He agreed to this.

This twelve-year-old kid already had some roaring, snapping, snarling friends of his own. Or at least, he made believe they were. He had five dogs which he had trained to sit up and beg, roll over and walk around on their hind legs. And every so often he would stick up his circus poster and put on a wild animal act for the kids in the neighborhood.

Then one summer when the big caravan chugged out of town, Clyde Beatty was aboard, his heart palpitating with excitement. For three days, his desperate parents, searched frantically. His mother spent nights of sweeping before a letter came saying he had a job of cleaning out the cages with the circus. He was only fifteen and he was getting five dollars and a chance to live in Paradise.

In the ten years time, this youngster from Chillicothe, Ohio had outstripped every lion-trainer in history. He put on an act so daring, so foolhardy that even circus men said it couldn't be done. And then when they saw him actually do it, they said he was a lunatic and that his life wasn't worth a plugged nickel. He put forty snarling, spitting lions and tigers into the same cage, cracked his whip and made them do their stuff. Forty lions and tigers bristling with hate and snarling with rage. No wonder the act created a sensation even among circus people, for lions and tigers are mortal enemies—they fight on sight. And more than on one occasion Beatty found himself in a cage of fighting, roaring, murderous jungle cats.

Yet strangely enough, Clyde Beatty says that lions and tigers are not the most dangerous animals to control. He's tried them all—lions and tigers, leopards, bears, hyenas, and elephants. And he says that the hardest trick of all is to make a tiger ride on an elephant's back. In fact, he himself was nearly killed by an elephant one day, just because he had been to the tiger's cage and the elephant caught the hated scent of the tiger.

You've heard, haven't you that animal trainers control the animals by looking them straight in the eye? Clyde Beatty told me that that is a lot of nonsense. The average lion wouldn't give a hoot even if Mac West looked his in the eye. He says the only reason he watches his animals is to find out what they're up to and what they're doing next.

Beatty says no trainer has ever actually stuck his head in a lion's mouth. It looks that way. He says: "I've known some pretty reckless animal trainers, but I've never heard of one crazy enough to stick his head into the mouth of a lion. Besides lions have halitosis so bad that even their best friends would have to wear gasmasks."

There's another popular idea—that lion-trainers use red-hot poker to control enraged animals. But Beatty says that if you want to commit suicide, just enter the cage of a lion or tiger that has been burned with a red-hot poker. His harmless weapons are a kitchen chair, a whip and a revolver filled with blank cartridges.

Clyde Beatty says he's tried working with tame animals—animal born in captivity, and he preferred wild ones any time. Tame animals are just like spoiled children—they've been pampered and petted until they refuse to do anything. The question he has been asked most often is this: can a lion lick a tiger or will the tiger lick the lion? Frankly, he doesn't know. He's been in the big cage dozens of times with lions and tigers fighting all around him, but the lions always gang up and tigers fight alone. When one lion starts fighting all the lions in sight come to his aid—especially if the lions are brothers. Lions are just like boys—they can't see a scrap without mixing up in it. But a tiger has no race consciousness—he will sit up on his pedestal and actually yawn while some other tiger is being killed.

One of the most amusing stunts Clyde Beatty does in the Big Cage is to make a bear turn a complete somersault—the only trick of its kind in the world. He discovered it by accident. Beatty was in the cage one day when the bear came tearing at him, teeth bared, claws tense, and murder in his eye. This bear was so sudden so fierce, that Beatty did the first thing that flashed to his mind. He hauled off and smashed the bear on the nose, and as nothing else is so painful to a bear as a poke on the nose, and as Beatty's fist landed, the bear went over in a heap and turned a complete somersault. That is what gave Beatty the idea. And to day all he has to do to make the bear flip is to tap him gently on the nose with his whip.

Clyde Beatty knows his wild animals of the jungle and plain—knows them better than any other man living. Yet he says his favorite animal is the dog.

Historical Role Is Cozy Feature

Handsome Fred MacMurray, who has played roles as a newspaperman, Texas Ranger, band leader, society boy, engineer and what not, comes to the screen as a dashing Virginia cavalier in "Maid of Salem," a tender romance of Seventeenth Century America, in which he is co-starring with Claudette Colbert and which begins on Sunday at the Cozy Theatre.

MacMurray plays the role of Roger Coveeman, a fugitive from Virginia, when he had dared question the king's prerogative. He takes refuge in old Salem, in the Massachusetts Colony. Fear of arrest makes it necessary for him to hide in his uncle's home and it is there that he meets the beautiful Puritan maiden and the romance begins.

There are secret meetings in the grove, where he teaches her the graceful measures of the gambol, and tells her of his love. Unknown to either, they are observed and after he leaves, when the Puritan witch scold of 1682 breaks off, she is accused of having dealings with the devil.

When she tells her impetuous uncle that it was not the devil but a handsome young man with whom she danced in the woods, they insist upon her naming him. This she refuses to do, and she is condemned to die.

She is saved from the scaffold when MacMurray returns and awakens the fear-stricken populace to the folly of the hysteria which seized them. Many characters of old Salem are re-created in "Maid of Salem," and the entire village, as it existed in 1682 was built from old maps for authenticity.

CHAPTER FIVE

"See if we care!" yelled Spud. I bet gaggin' me for some time. Brockwell I shore read yore walkin' papers. As for Joe, well, I alius knew he was a good man. He shore demonstrated it today.

Rooney's wrinkled face creased into a grin and he gnawed a piece twanged. I've lived a long time, and I've allus found that the wolf with the longest howl packs his tail the lowest. Slim, how are yers? And he stepped over to deliberately wring Slim's hand.

No longer in doubt as to how the feeling was running in the Wild Horse, just now Sarg Brockwell herded Leo through the door ahead of him. When they were gone, Jigger Starbuck hesitated a moment before leaving.

Remember, Blue, the law swings just as wide a loop for yuh as anybody else.

Aw hell! snorted Dakota. Al-lus prattin' about yore gal-blasted law. Who's broakin' it anyhow? Just remember yourself, Starbuck—yuh may be sheriff, but yuh ain't Gawd Almighty. An that self-same loop yuh speak of would fit yore shootin' as well as mine. C'mon, Slim, Joe, Spud, 'th buyin' a drink.

Ten minutes later, Slim Loyale and Dakota Blue rode north out of Panicle. A survey of the street showed that Sarg and Leo Brockwell had evidently pulled out ahead of them. Jigger Starbuck stood in the doorway of his office, his face expressionless, his eyes cold.

For several miles Slim and Dakota rode in silence. Slim was thoughtful, his eyes steadily upon the trail ahead. "Finally he shifted in his saddle and looked up."

Dakota, just what were yuh doin' at with those remarks yuh made to Starbuck? he asked.

Dakota grunted. Just prospectin' some an' seein' if I couldn't turn up a little pay dirt.

What kind of pay dirt. Look at it this way. Yuh an' me know yuh were framed. Well, some body did that fram, if they did one they'll try an' do it again. It might have been Starbuck, and it might have been Brockwell. Then again, it might have been somebody else.

Whenever it was had some reason for doin' it. It might have been just to find a goat an' cover up his own tracks. Then again, they might have been schemin' deeper. Whatever the reason was, I'll pay us to find out a match as we can.

One this shore, yuh gotta figger on standin' for a lot of insults until that crowd of yores is finished. Didn't yuh take notice how quick Starbuck jumped at the conclusion that yuh were in trouble, the see and he staid his hid in the Wild Horse. It looked kinda funny to me.

Jigger Starbuck has been sheriff in these parts a long time, Dakota. An' all in all, he's been a pretty fair sheriff.

Yeah, he has been. Lately though he seems to be slippin'. Yuh notice the Vasco stage is bein' held up pretty regular. An' the Dot H Dot is still losin' cattle. I'm plain convinced that the Circle L would have been losin' 'em too, only I've kept the boys ridin' steady an' keep 'in a close watch.

I didn't tell yuh that the month before last, some stevedore took a shot at me one day, while I was ridin' along Nigger Ridge on the way home from our Jerico Valley range. Well he did. An' if I hadn't happened to lean forward just then to knock a horse-fly off'n my broncho's neck, I'd a' been a good 12-jun right now. I tell yuh, Slim, some'n's movin' around this range that's got me on the lookout, plumb continual'.

Slim nodded. That was kinda barefaced, back in Spud's place. Lookin' back at it now, it shore had all the earmarks of a frame-up.

Yuh used yore haid, Dakota. Dakota grunted and rolled a cigarette. We're up against somethin' we gotta watch, Slim. Don't let anybody devil yuh into makin' a play with yore guns, leastwate no until yore parole is up.

It's tough, said Slim. A little barely. I'm touchy as hell now. I did a lot of thinkin' back there at Jarlino, an' it didn't sweeten me none. My pride is plum ragged an' sassy to scratch. But yuh got the right idee, Dakota. I'll remember that.

An hour later the two riders drew rein before the Circle L ranch house. At sight of it, Slim's throat thickened. Home! And yet, it was not the home that it had been. For it was empty now—devoid of that presence that had been Bart Loyale, Slim's father.

There was a group of punchers at the corral, and as Slim dismounted, one by one they came forward to shake Slim's hand. Their voiced greetings were short, terse, but sincere.

The Circle L employed five men besides Dakota Blue, the foreman. There was Roy O'Brien, short, barrel-bodied, red-headed; a fighting square-shooting explosive little Irishman, Steve Owens and Charley Quinn, were inseparable pals, fun-loving, rollicking boys, both same to the core and very faithful to their hire.

Stony Sheard was a middle-aged puncher, silent, still-featured, gruff and unsmiling, who had probably been closer to old Bart Loyale than any of the other punchers. The fifth of the group was Oscar Ison, a big, lumbering Swede with a shock of unruly tow hair. Oscar was the cook, and a better one never stirred a pot of beans.

Beyond a quiet hello boys Slim said nothing, and the punchers were wordless in their emotions. Slim went directly to the ranch house alone.

Dakota Blue turned to the rest pretty badly cut up. Slim is, he said gruffly, fit's home now, an' Bart ain't here to meet him. Don't speak of the Old Man to him unless Slim brings up the proposition first.

Roy O'Brien's eyes were all squinted up. The pore laddy, he muttered. Shore on me heart aches for him. He's a fine lad, Slim is, an' he'll be after carryin' on man-size. Dakota nodded. Sarg an' Leo Brockwell tried to stir up trouble.

Elizabeth Berger In Great Drama

For Friday June 25th the College brings to the screen a great drama of a high type featuring Elizabeth Berger. The story, which gives a very faint idea of the intense human interest imparted by Miss Berger's artistry, tells of "Gaby", the girl wife of an orchestra leader. She falls in love at first sight with a famous violinist, a friend of her husband. They become ardently in love and decide to go to the husband and tell him the truth about it, but the husband falls seriously ill, and the girl wife keeps silent and nurses him devotedly. The violinist is on an American tour. He is unable to keep away from the girl and when he returns to her, she is so exhausted with the strain of caring for her husband and the suspense of her secret that she is bewildered and throws herself in the river. Miss Berger is the center of the whole picture. Her acting is a masterpiece.

For Friday, July 2nd, Janet Gayer and Fredric Marsh will appear in a great picture of great stars entitled "A Star is Born."

Judge Jennings
these funds.
Commissioner Williams and Engineer Phelps are still working with the thirteen counties in which there is discussion and anticipate agreement in the near future.
The above statement is misleading and has caused numerous inquiries to be made at my office as to why the Rowan Fiscal Court failed to make any agreement with the Rural Highway Department.

The Rowan Fiscal Court by an order made and entered in the month of March 1937, by a numerical vote set out the exact roads to be worked and provided for the type of work to be done. Which order is on record in the county Court Clerk's Office at Morehead, Ky.

Thereafter the Rural Highway Department through Mr. Butch Warren advised the Fiscal Court that we would not participate in the Flood Relief Fund and requested that the sum of $13,000.00 available from the Rural Highway Fund be used on all the roads like was done last year. This request was rejected upon the grounds that the work was not done under proper or competent supervision; that same was largely a waste of money and that the Fiscal Court had already selected the roads to be worked and that no change would be made by the Court, with the exception that the sum of $2000.00 which was left over from last year's program could be used insofar as the Fiscal Court was concerned on all the roads that could be profitably worked with a tractor and grader.

One of the chief objectives of the Court in selecting only two roads to be worked under this year's program was that same would be done under contract as we believed and that better and more efficient work would be done, and that in some small measure political preference would infringe the employment of workers be lessened. In other words both Republicans and Democrats would be used in fairly proportioned numbers to do this work. Last year approximately 100 persons were employed in this county and my best information is that not more than 10 Republicans were employed.

It is my contention that the workers should be fairly proportioned with regard to their politics. The Rowan Fiscal Court has had absolutely nothing to do with the employment of any person on the rural highway work.

I herewith give you exact copies of my correspondence with the Rural Highway Department in my attempt to find out who in this county was directly responsible and you can see from the answer received that the department did not want the people in Rowan County to know who was handling the employment of men and teams for this work in our county. We all are sure that we know who it is, but I wanted the department to put this in writing, be frank and open about it so that the taxpayers can see how the program is handled and so that the persons responsible could be blamed or given credit whichever they were entitled to receive.

Morehead, Ky.
Mr. Cecil T. Williams,
Commissioner of Rural Highways
Frankfort, Kentucky.

Dear Sir:
The Rowan County Fiscal Court wishes to make some very important changes in the road projects to be considered for work on the program in this county for the new year beginning April 1st, 1937.

We are badly dissatisfied with the way the work was carried on here last year and desire, different management for this new year's work.

The work was of very little practical value and was not under capable management. Furthermore, we are not willing to be blamed with the employment of the persons working on the Rural Highway Program in this county and we want to know who does the selection of the employees and how it is done so that we may publicly state this to the taxpayers of this county.

In other words we do not expect or intend to be the "goat" this year. Yours for a better understanding Chas. E. Jennings, Judge.
P. S. We also appreciate at least knowing that there is an engineer over the projects who will at least make some effort to, in some small way supervise the work and would once during the year meet with the Fiscal Court and try to explain and help work out some of the problems.

Answer of Mr. Williams is as follows:

Frankfort, Ky.
March 25, 1937
Hon. Chas. E. Jennings, Judge
County of Rowan
Morehead, Kentucky.

My Dear Judge:
I regret very much to learn from your letter of March 20th that the Rural Highway work in your County last year, did not meet with your approval. Our information has been that this work was very capably done and the people were generally pleased with the program.

I am in hopes your county will take advantage of Federal Flood relief funds available and match it with Rural Highway funds as part of your program for this year. This will give Rowan County double your allotment. Another advantage is the Highway Department will take the roads on which this money is used, over for maintenance.

This matter will be discussed with you soon by our engineers.
Very truly yours,
Cecil T. Williams, Commissioner of Rural Highways.

The Rowan Fiscal Court has done all that is in its power to get work done on the roads, however we will not agree for the work to be done like last year. We cannot help it if the Rural Highway Department will not start work in this county. They have the authority to begin work. They could have started work insofar as the Fiscal Court is concerned the next day after we made the agreement, which is dated March 31st, 1937.

A Chewy New Nut Brown Custard

With Brazil Nuts As a Basic Ingredient, Four Variations of Flavor Are Possible.

THOSE who tire of preparing the same popular desserts in the same old way will welcome this custard innovation. Chopped Brazil nuts are included in the batter. So are stiffly beaten egg whites which rise during baking to form a delicious chewy Brown Spongettes.
Four distinct and varied variations in flavor are achieved by simple substitution of ingredients as indicated in the recipes.
Brazil Nut Spongettes may be served in the custard cups in which they are baked or turned out on serving plates. Custard made as directed is firm enough to hold its mold.

Three Simple Variations
Butterscotch Brazil Nut Spongettes: One cup of brown sugar and two extra tablespoons of milk may replace the granulated sugar, lemon juice and rind.
Sherry Brazil Nut Spongettes: Two tablespoons of sherry may replace the lemon juice and rind.
Chocolate Brazil Nut Spongettes:

- | Brazil Nut Spongettes | |
|------------------------|---------------------------|
| 2 tablespoons butter | 3 tablespoons lemon juice |
| 2-3 cup sugar | 3 tablespoons salt |
| 2 eggs | 3-4 cup chopped Brazil |
| 1-2 teaspoon red fruit | 1 cup milk |

Melt butter, stir in sugar and salt and the well beaten egg whites. Add lemon juice and rind and stir in the flour mixed with the nuts. Add the milk and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into six greased custard cups and bake in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven, 375 degrees F., forty-five minutes.

Notes: One and a half ounces of chocolate may be melted with one and a quarter cups of milk to replace the lemon juice and rind.

Hints to Gardeners

By Gilbert Bensley
Flower Expert
Ferry Seed Institute

Reaping Flower Profits

FLOWER growing by the amateur gardener is a pastime which pays excellent dividends. Growers have found that by picking annual flowers often and regularly they actually increase the total yield from the garden over the length of the season.

This is true of annuals because they have but one season in which to produce seed and they keep constantly at the job of bearing flowers until cold weather calls halt. Two healthy, 20-foot rows of Zinnia will provide fresh bouquets regularly from July until late fall, if new blooms are picked every three or four days.

Regular picking is not the sole means of increasing bloom, of course. Experience has shown that more abundant flowering may be induced by decreasing the amount and frequency of watering just as the flowers come into bloom.

The term "nicking flowers" is used here in a general sense, meaning gathering or reaping. In the exact sense of the word, most flowers should not be picked or plucked. They should be cut—with a sharp knife, never with scissors.

There are a few exceptions. Sweet peas, pansies, violas and nasturtiums may be picked. Sweet peas should be broken from the plant where the flower stem springs from between the arms of the axil or "Y". With the other three, follow the stem as near to the base of the plant as possible, and break it off.

When using a knife in gathering flowers, make a diagonal cut. This enables the flowers to take up water better and live longer indoors.
