
MANY VIEW OHIO RIVER

The Ohio river attracted scores of sight-seers to its banks on Sunday, thousands of people visiting the stream during the day. A large number waded across the river at the sand bar just below Portsmouth.

Another point at which the river may be waded is at Sciotoville. Many old rocks and landmarks that have not been visible for twenty years could be seen Sunday. Indian head rock, directly opposite Portsmouth, was one of the points of interest, many pictures being taken of the big boulder.
