"ONE OF KENTUCKY'S GREATER WEEKLIES"

MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 1939

Number 26

The StanByer
Stanley K Iverson

IT'S A PLEASANT SURPRISE to wake up and find that this yearbook of a newspaper which is exactly six and a half years old today, is judged one of the six best all-around weekly newspapers in the State of Kentucky. While I thought we might receive one or two awards, I did not think we would get four.

The Independent, incidentally, was the only newspaper from Eastern Kentucky to be represented in the all-around division. The Independent office is located in the smallest city with a population of only 1,598 (according to the latest figures) compared to 2,551 for Morgantown, 1,204 for Eddyville, 4,742 for Providence and 4,813 for Shelbyville.

The Ohio State University judge pointed out some of the things we had been making and which we will try to remedy. In the Best All-Around newspaper contest, he considered everything, such as neatness in printing, advertisements, correspondence, features, pictures, and general typographic appearance.

The editorial which won our honorable mention was the letter I wrote to my mother for Mother's Day in the form of an editorial. The editorial page from the last twenty-five issues of the Independent received honorable mention. I designed that page so no advertising would appear on it with three columns articles. The average weekly newspaper editorial page is a miscellaneous hodge-podge with no attempt being made to discriminate between free community publicity, handouts and ads.

The front page, which received honorable mention contained three pictures and was fairly well balanced—but did not carry this column or Woody's. Newspapers winning front page prizes usually are balanced line for line. Since I believe that the newspaper page is uninteresting and stereotyped, because it is not dynamic, I try to get a feeling of movement and more life into an information page. This design is a combination of what is called the "Brazo" and "Contrast and Balance" type of making-up. I place a three-column head at the upper right hand side of the page. Then I place heads and their stories in a diagonal line supporting the large three-column head. If you will take a pencil and draw lines through the heads from one corner to the other and parallel lines through the three-column heads, you will find that the intersections mark a head.

Widespread Investigation Made By Grand Jury

Rowan County School Board And Health Unit Is Also Commended

A full inspection of all city and county governmental units, including Morehead State Teachers College, was made by the Rowan county grand jury, according to their report released this week. Charles Jennings was their foreman.

Recommendations were made to the city council that it remedy the sewage system and repair the fire-traps in town. Commendation was given for the paving of College street.

The jury went on record as "commending the wonderful piece of work done by the Rowan County Board of Education in erecting three new stone buildings at Farmers, Elliottville and Haldeman at a cost of $100,000." These buildings were erected in conjunction with the WPA.

The State Highway Department was complimented for the action taken on the road leading from Morehead to Vanceburg; Dr. T. A. E. Evans was commended for his direction of the county health department and the jury declared that the "CCC at Roubidun is a well managed and regulated camp."

S. M. Bradley Files For Representative Of 96th District

S. M. Bradley, well known Rowan county lumberman, today announced his candidacy for state representative from the Bath and Rowan district.

Bradley says in his announcement: "I have been a resident of this district for more than 40 years and I know and realize the needs of the people and have the interest of each and every citizen at heart."

"My voters have heretofore honored me with the office of State Senator for the 31st Kentucky District and to the best of my ability I discharged the duties of this office."

All Day Program Is Planned For Fourth

Circuit Court Ends As Light Calendar Is Cleared Away

Poston Given 15 Years; Two Special Judges Sit On Bench

The Rowan County Circuit Court cleaned up a light calendar of cases Saturday and adjourned after releasing John Poston to $1,000 bail who had been found guilty of rape.

Poston was given fifteen years by the jury Friday. He was released pending action of the court on his motion for a new trial.

Judge Hannah is here this week trying a paving case filed by Drew Evans against the City of Morehead. Evans purchased property from S. M. Bradley's trustee.

Special Judge Kaufmann Here Special Judge Clay Kaufman of Lancaster, Ky., is also here this week trying several cases wherein (Continued on page 8)

Merchants' Awards Will Be Given At 3 P. M. And Automobile At 8 P. M.

Rowan County is going to have one of the outstanding celebrations in Kentucky on the Fourth of July, with plenty of music, fun and amusement for everyone. The American Legion is sponsoring this event and doing everything that good soldiers can do to create an annual Fourth of July celebration.

Mt. Sterling Lawyer Is Candidate For Commonwealth Atty

The day's program for the Fourth opens with a Legion parade at 10 o'clock, followed by a Cracker Eating Contest, a Greasy Pig Contest, and a Mother Calling Contest. The merchant's awards are set for 3 p. m. and the drawing for the automobile at 8 p. m. The day's activities will close with a brilliant display of fireworks.

Sparks Shows Coming Bringing to Morehead one of the largest carnivals ever to play Rowan County, the J. F. Sparks Shows will arrive in Morehead with their big fleet of trucks Sunday. Their mammoth midway will be erected and in readiness for the week's engagement on the Bradley Show Lot.

Sparks' Midway will offer many new and novel rides never before seen in Rowan County—shows that are interesting and educational. One of the outstanding features is Capt. Jack Orr and his congress of strange and unusual people, who present many acts to baffle and bewilder the public.

Among the many thrilling acts to be seen in Orr's Big Top is the world's only lady sword swallower. This charming little woman swallows a series of long and dangerous swords at each performance. Orr's son is the world's fastest knife thrower. He uses Mexican style knives and throws them 20 feet, outlining his beautiful body.

Winning bids in his announcement will be a practice law regularly since 1922 as in 2E. Sherrill, a vote of the district since 1922.

A public wedding will take place Wednesday night. Thursday night closes the big popularity contest in which every one of the voters of Rowan County make this a grand and glorious old fashioned Fourth of July.

Lewis Is Leading Candidate For Judge In 37th

Survey Shows Assistant Attorney General Will Win Nomination

Jesse K. Lewis, Democratic candidate for Circuit Judge in the 37th Judicial District composed of Morgan, Elliott and Carter counties, is the leading candidate in the district for the nomination according to a recent survey. His election is being generally predicted.

Lewis, who is Assistant Attorney General of Kentucky, is standing for the nomination in the 37th District who believe in and are for the things he is advocating, to become active in his behalf, because, as he says, "the people cannot have just and honest courts unless they themselves bring about the election of men who give a stand for justice and fair dealings."

Lewis comes from one of the oldest and largest pioneer families of Eastern Kentucky. He received his early education in the public schools and Christian Normal Institute of Grayson. He is a graduate of Transylvania College and the University of Kentucky Law School.

Convo Will Feature Newspaper Writer

Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes To Speak Friday On World Politics

Next Friday's convocation will feature Dr. Harry Elmer Barnes, newspaper columnist and authority on world politics, Auburn, N. Y., who is now a special instructor at the University of Kentucky summer school.

Dr. Alfred Leland Crab, professor of education of the George Peabody College, Nashville, Tennessee, will be the chapel speaker July 7. Dr. Crab has many friends on the campus.

Merchants Awards Will Be Given On Tuesday, July 4th

Instead of Saturday; Loretta Pettit Was Winner Of $15

Loretta Pettit was the winner of the $15 cash award given by the Merchants Association Saturday for the Democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney in the Circuit Court district.

Five dollar award winners last Saturday were Wilma Sallee, Edna Motters and Sam Ison, Burke.

Two dollar winners: Mrs. L. V. Dillon, Mrs. Fred Blair, Mrs. Jesse McBrayer, Blanche Wood and Nina Gehardt.

One dollar winners: S. B. Brannan, Mrs. J. W. Hall, Norman Stamper, Easton; Irene Gorman, Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, Sam Stewart, Gilbert White, Mrs. C. Anderson, and Esther McKenzie.

Two delegates from the Morehead chapter of the Future Farmers of America will attend the annual convention at Louisville August 8-10. They have been assigned to the committee which determines the governing rules of the convention.

The public speaking contest will be broadcast over WHAS. Winners of the district meeting contents last April will meet at the convocation and the state champions selected.

Independent Rated Fourth Best All-Around Newspaper In State Contest

Third Best Editorial Page; Honorable Mention For Front Page, Editorial

Competing with the top-notch weekly newspapers of Kentucky, the Morehead Independent was ranked fourth best all-around newspaper out of the state's 215 in the annual Kentucky Press Association contest at Cumberland Falls last Friday.

The Independent also received third place for the best editorial page, honorable mention for the best front page and honorable mention for the best editorial.

Union County Advance is tops. First place in the best all-around newspaper contest was won by the Union County Advocate at Morgantown, second place by the Lyon County Herald, Eddyville, and third place by the Providence Enterprise.

The Shelby Sentinel and the Shelby News, both of Shelbyville, followed the Independent.

Professor Lester Getzole of the School of Journalism of Ohio State University at Columbus was the contest judge. Members of the K. P. A. contest committee included Victor Portman, University of Kentucky journalism professor; Carl Saunders, Kentucky Post; Mr. Simpson, Joe La Gore, Sun-Democrat, Paducah, and Flem Smith, News, Georgetown.

Shows With Editorial Page The Tri-City News, Cumberland, was given the Ben Conize Memorial Cup for the best editorial page. The Lyon County Herald came second and the Independent third.

The Shelby News was awarded the Enoch Grehan Memorial

Plaque for a year for publishing the best editorial. The plaque was established last year by the University of Kentucky. Certificates were awarded the Lyon County Herald and the Paducah Herald. Honorable mention was won by the Pineville Sun, the News-Democrat and the Morehead Independent.

Front Page Awards The Kentucky Post silver trophy for the best front page went to the Shelby Sentinel. Honorable mention was given the Kentucky Standard, the Providence Enterprise and the Independent.

Speakers at the convention included the President, Thomas R. Underwood, Lexington. Herald; Joe T. Lovett, State Commander of the American Legion; Victor Portman and J. W. Brown, secretary of Kentucky Municipal League.

Keen Johnson took the gloves off Saturday afternoon at Shelbyville and in a smart fighting political speech directed a scornful, withering blast of denunciation against John Young Brown, both as a politician and as a man.

John L. Lewis and the CIO and other party leaders whose careers in the past have been marked by boiling tactics and dilatory to the party.

It was an aggressive, combative Richmond editor who addressed a large audience at the Shelby county fairgrounds on the outskirts of Shelbyville as he formed the past year's speaking campaign which his supporters confidently believe will win for him the Democratic nomination for Governor.

The tall, slim lieutenant governor did not quibble with words or pull his oratorical punches. He gave a detailed outline of the program that would guide and be the goal of his administration and scathingly denounced his opponent, John Young Brown, for campaigning on false promises.

Grand Jury Praises Economy At MSTC; Lauds Pres. Babb

Jurors Note Improvements Made On Decreasing Budget

The administration of President H. A. Babb of Morehead State Teachers College was praised this week in a grand jury report submitted to Circuit Judge D. B. Causland.

The jury brought Herbert Hogan, business accountant at Morehead College; Clark Lane, former accountant; Frances Johnson, the registrar's office and W. H. Rice, superintendent of buildings and grounds, before it for questioning concerning the administration of the college.

"We understand that all these improvements have been made upon a decreasing budget," the juror said, "and in view of the fact that the enrollment is larger, the plant is larger and the number of employees larger, it can be seen that the college is being operated more economically than ever before."

"We are convinced that the Morehead State Teachers College is a well equipped plant and that under the administration of H. A. Babb the working men and boys are the first to breakfast where dozens of cooks who use hundreds of pounds of meat, bread, eggs, fruit, flour, etc., first eat their meal. Aops of hay, and grain for the horses and animals. The circus physician treats the ailing, wounded men and horses and the horses and animals. The detective is on duty, the barber sets up his shop, Carpenter, blacksmith, painter, mechanic, baker, butcher, lawyer, bookkeeper, and stenographer."

Wild Animal Circus Coming Tomorrow

Richards Bros. Tented City To Unload Here Early In The Morning

Early tomorrow morning, long before dawn, the Richard Bros. Circus will arrive in Morehead to unload and begin the erection of their tented city. Every one knows a circus is a city within itself. Richard Bros. Circus should be called "Richard Bros. Circus City," for they have every artizan of a small city. Imagine yourself placed as Superintendent of this great task of moving this city every day from town to town.

First, the flying squadron, who surveys the show grounds and lays out the markers for the various tents. The dining and horse tents are the first to be erected. Jack Wilson And Grace Ford Accused By Panel In Charity Fund Case

Saturday an indictment against Jack Wilson, editor of the Rowan County News, and Grace Ford, his sister and business associate, charging them with obtaining money under false pretenses, was returned by the grand jury as they completed the docket assigned to them.

Wilson is Rowan County campaign chairman for John Y. Brown and also Eighth District publicity chairman for Brown.

The indictment charges that Wilson and Mrs. Ford "did willfully and feloniously obtain from another money, the subject of larceny, by false pretense, statements and articles, with the intention to commit fraud, committed in the manner and form as follows, to wit:

That on November 10, 1938, the Rowan County News, owned and operated by Jack Wilson and Grace Ford, printed an article in their paper, the Rowan County News, in which they solicited funds for Mary Lambert, and set up a fund for her, and said fund was to be expended on her hospital bill.

"That because of said articles various persons contributed money and other things of value, and that but for which representation the contributors would not have made any contribution and that Jack Wilson and Grace Ford has made no payment from the funds received."

The case is to be brought before the October term of court.

Five Escape From Wreck Uninjured

Morehead Residents Involved In Blowout Accident Near Winchester

Five Morehead residents Tuesday narrowly escaped injury when a blowout turned their two-wheeler sedan into a spin on a wet road six miles from Winchester, causing the car to overturn and crash against telephone poles.

Warren (Junior) Flannery, 17-year-old driver of the car, told Deputy Sheriff Leo Cruse that he was driving four other persons to Lexington to see a sick relative when the accident occurred.

Listed as passengers in the car were Otis Reynolds, 30; Arlie Reynolds, 24; Mrs. Sarah Reynolds, 48; and Donald Flannery, 16.

They told Deputy Cruse that they were en route to St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington, to see Mrs. Reynolds' son, Ezra, 17, who they said was in a serious condition.

CRACKERBARREL COMMENTS

By Woody Blanton
YE OLDE Crackerbarrel in the last person in the world to pin any bouquets on himself, the fact is, I don't go to church as often as I should, and I say "Dad jimmint!" in a minute when I am made angry. But I have not done anything for two days. I understand that the first, second, third and fourth degrees, she is simply exhausted.

Friday Is Last Day

C. Vernon Altrey, county clerk, warned business men today that Friday is the last day to obtain occupational licenses. After that day a twenty percent penalty will be added.

Did You Know That...

The onion is a member of the lily family.
The life expectancy of a parrot is 60 years, equal to that of a man.
Under normal conditions, the whale may be expected to reach 500 years of age.
Among the birds, the eagle, swan and crow are the longest lived. Their estimated length of life is 100 years.
The longevity of the carp and pike normally is 150 years, while the salmon is said to live as long as 200 years. The shark reaches a mercantile mark.

It's A Good Idea— Mr. Sterling merchants are eyeing the success of the Morehead Merchants Every Saturday Award plan. Realizing that something must be done during the hot summer months to stimulate business, the Mt. Sterling Advocate heralds the actions of merchants acting as a group to entice more trade into their city.

Morehead merchants have been accurate records of their sales say that the extra traffic has definitely increased their business. The Mt. Sterling Advocate editorial follows: "As we approach the hot summer months business in most lines show a decline. People generally become vacation-minded, and spending drops to a low ebb."

"However, there is never a time nor a season when there is not a certain amount of business to be had, and those willing to make the effort are sure to be rewarded, at least to a certain extent." "At a recent meeting of the directors of the Board of Trade it was suggested that Mt. Sterling business concerns unite and do something along this line. A committee was appointed to look into the feasibility of local merchants contributing $1.00 to $2.00 a week to be placed in a general fund and be given away at a drawing to be held each Saturday. Under this plan tickets would be given away to all persons making cash purchases or making payment on accounts which would entitle them to a certain number of chances on the money to be given away."

"This plan has been successfully worked in Mt. Sterling in years past and is now being worked in Paris, Morehead and other places where the merchants are elated over results being obtained." "We believe it would be profitable for our various business interests to take some concerted action along this line, and thus help keep Mt. Sterling advertised to the outside world as the best business city to the square foot in the South."

"Remember, 'in union there is strength,' and if we are to forge ahead we must do so as a unit, not as individuals or private business enterprises. Trade goes only where it is invited and special inducements offered."

Dust Of Conqueror Seven centuries ago, the name of Genghis Khan struck terror into the hearts of kings, statesmen and generals throughout Eastern Europe; and even the western part of the continent was not free of apprehension as to what the great Mongol chieftain had next. Before his career of blood and fire was finished, Genghis Khan had conquered North China and Manchuria, and had driven southward as far as the banks of the Indus and had laid waste much of Eastern Europe. His borders marched westward far enough to leave a Mongol strain in the "Aryan" bloodstream of Central Europe—where there has been a recent renascence of the ideals, if one may call them ideals, of Genghis Khan. And what of the conqueror, himself? Just the other day, a silver casket, containing the dust of Genghis Khan, was removed from its tomb at Etshinuro, Mongolia, to be reinterred in a secretly prepared mausoleum, somewhere in far western China. The reason for moving the Mongol emperor's casket was obvious: The Mongolians and Chinese feared that his tomb would be captured by Japanese invaders. So a new wave of conquest disturbed the rest of the great conqueror of seven centuries ago. When the dust of Genghis Khan was carried through the same pass in the Great Wall through which his hordes stormed 700 years ago, Chinese and Mongol dignitaries and Buddhist priests joined in doing homage to his memory. If any of these men of the East saw the rite as a symbol of the futility of conquest, the kept their thoughts to themselves. That is an Oriental habit. Westerners do not so retreat. Might it not be well to call to the attention of the world's peoples that would-be masters of the world the present status of China's primitive neighbor known as Mongolia?

Pioneer Keeps Busy One of those teasers which cause unending arguments is the question: Who built the first car buggy? Was the first American-made commercially-successful motor vehicle put together by Edgar L. Apperson and his brother Elmer, or by Charles B. Duryea? Some historians of the industry say that the Appersons, Elmer and Alexander, and William B. E. Olds, Henry Ford and others followed the lead of Duryea, but other chroniclers have their own choices, with dates and facts back of them.

Whether or not the question will ever be settled to the satisfaction of everybody is not of vital importance, at least in the opinion of Edgar L. Apperson, one of the few survivors of that early group of mechanics and industrialists who put engines into carriages and made them run. A dispatch from Detroit says that Mr. Apperson retains a keen interest in automobiles and still is active in a consultative capacity. He is credited with the invention of many devices which have contributed to the development of the enormous automotive industry. His name has been prominently one of the first niches in the automobile hall of fame, if such an institution is ever established.

Chestnuts Revived It is comforting to know that the checking of the chestnut blight is now virtually a fact, and that the reestablishment of a tree which has been the glory of many an eastern forest is in prospect. Two factors have been at work in its restoration; and what appears to be a third has just materialized. From the forest of blighted trees, heavy sprung out sprouts which seem to enjoy an immunity to the disease. It may be that the blight runs a course, now almost done. Meanwhile, experiments have produced 18 hybrid, disease-resistant varieties of chestnuts which are grown with success. And now a new experiment, based on a theory that tannin is a natural tree anti-septic, shows promise in its first trials. An amateur has tried feeding tannin to the life stream of affected trees, and reports a cure in a matter of a few weeks. Together, the thinking and energy that have gone into the matter may work a renaissance of an economically important and handsome member of our forest family.

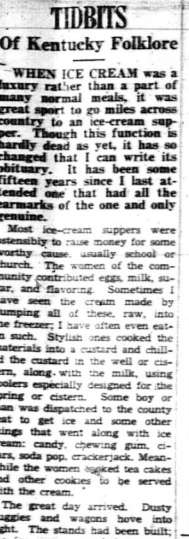

Strong Yet Lissome Without stopping to think, we spread butter on bread, shoot oil into salad dressing, pour cream into coffee and fry bacon with eggs. There is a reason for these habits of mankind, so deep-seated and sound as to require no explanation and strength energy. Science has gone to much trouble to dig this subject for us and emerges, from deep study with the observation that most persons do not need to be told to eat fat, that they like the flavor instinctively and because of experience and habit with fat in it has of staying power than a meal without it. Fat, we are told, gives more energy than proteins or carbohydrates, than meat or bread or potatoes, for fat contains a higher proportion of carbon and hydrogen, is comparatively drier and much more digestible, leaving little waste. Furthermore, a meal with fat, however little, gives a feeling of greater and more lasting satisfaction because it leaves the stomach more slowly than proteins, starches and sugars.

Without fat, food results in premature hunger, lowered energy and reduced capacity to work, as was proved in European countries which suffered privations during the World War. "All of this is most interesting and good to know, but it makes things more difficult for the worried fat person in his painful efforts to adhere to a stinky diet designed to reduce weight."

The Emphasis Is On Livestock That meeting of sheep men at the Agricultural Experiment Station to propose practical amendments to the Act of 1916 raises an issue in the primary and election campaign that will interest candidates for Commissioner of Agriculture as well as for Governor. The former is the statutory enforcement officer. Politically, this is known as the "dog law" and that conception is responsible for the lax enforcement, although the bill was prepared by sheep men, applies to all domestic livestock, including poultry, and says in its first section that it shall be known "as an act to promote and protect livestock industry." If legislators can neither predict nor command by what title anything shall be known and the law appeared no more enforceable than the prohibition against custom and sentiment, the stipulation was far sighted. The movement halted as progressive movements usually do after obtaining "a law for it"; but farm agents had been introduced in a few counties only two years before and agricultural demonstration, through co-operation of the Federal department and the State Experiment Station, had just begun to supersede the old "Farmers Institutes."

The sheep industry has grown relatively in importance and spread all over the state. The Shelby county incident and the meeting at Lexington are timely to admonish aspiring politicians that they are dealing with the welfare of a great industry, not merely the unpleasant duty of collecting a dollar from the owner of a dog. When 200 sheep are killed in one county, and a special officer there collects licenses on more than 600 dogs previously "overlooked" it can be seen how sheep killers instead of the sheep have been protected. When the law is enforced, it is the sheep that will be exterminated, not the sheep-killing dogs that will be exterminated. One of them can destroy a flock in a night.

—Courier Journal. TIDBITS Of Kentucky Folklore WHEN ICE CREAM was a luxury rather than a part of many normal meals, it was great sport to go miles across country to an ice-cream supper. Though this function is hardly dead as yet, it has so changed that it can write its obituary. It has been some fifteen years since I last attended one that had all the earmarks of the one and only genuine. Most ice-cream suppers were ostensibly to raise money for some worthy cause, usually school or church. The wares of the community contributed eggs, milk, sugar, and flavoring. Sometimes I have seen the cream made by dumping all of the cream into the freezer; I have often even eaten such. Stylish ones cooked the materials into a custard and chilled the custard in the red or silver tenn, along with the milk, using coolers especially designed for the spring or summer. One boy or girl was dispatched to the country seat to get ice and some other things that went along with ice cream: candy, chewing gum, cigars, soda pop, crackerjack, Meigs, while the women sipped tea cakes and other cookies to be served with the cream. One few times. The great day arrived. Dusty buggies and wagons were out on sight. The stands had been built. The ice cream was being manufactured in frezzer by other things were laid out, beyond the reach of bad boys, in the stands. Often a baker stood a few yards away from the stand, and the crowd to what could be bought. One such boy that I know of had the fine cigar that others could buy merely by stepping up. Much-enticed boys and men ran the stands. I always wanted to be one of these, but actually became one a few times. It increased one's social standing considerably among the smaller boys. Soda pop used to come in heavy bottles with a queer stopper. It almost hurt the hand to press down on the stopper; to hit down suddenly caused an explosion of colored water and sugar and flavoring on his Sunday-go-to-meeting shirt. "The ice cream was the big thing of the course. It was served in masses of cream, and each one when I was selling cream, a boy ate three scoops in rapid succession and begged off without paying for the last one. My dignity has not yet recovered from that affront. Boys who had a few extra dimes treated their girls, and one poor fellow, who was stingy or too poor to spend any thing. We fellows who ran the stands felt ashamed of them and sometimes hid them away. Candy was just candy then, nothing fancy. Sticky candy was the kind most often sold. We had whole boxes of it in paper sacks, and sold it with considerable profiting, though (because of our lack of any money more than a nickel for a bottle of soda) we were not in great goods. In each package was a prize, often kept indefinitely, some fifty cents or a small balloon, worth about five cents a hundred. The numerous things we sold were just at the end of the stand. The numerous things we sold were just at the end of the stand. The numerous things we sold were just at the end of the stand. To learn more about flower arrangement, Hopkins county farm women demonstrated how to arrange varieties of them for different occasions. THIS WEEK FOUR YEARS AGO Dr. and Mrs. Roy E. Graves entertained at their home with an informal buffet dinner. Miss Elda Franklin, daughter of J. W. Franklin, was fatally burned when a can of kerosene exploded in her hand. Mrs. G. H. Fern gave a silver tea set at her home for the benefit of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Christian church. Dr. H. Van Antwerp, farmer, was named the new cashier of the Morehead Citizens Bank, replacing Mr. A. H. Perkins, who had resigned. The Flemingsburg baseball team defeated the Morehead Pirates 9 to 5. It was announced that Don Farber would manage the Morehead team this year.

HISTORY PROFESSOR REVIEWS INTERNATIONAL CRISIS By Earl King Seiff The spotlight of foreign news has shifted this past week from Europe to the Far East. Border incidents in this area, in fact, even war itself, seems to attract comparatively little attention; however, recent developments in the form of a Japanese ultimatum to all foreign warships, including the United States Navy, and the British destroyer Thetis, have again brought the Sino-Japanese question to our attention. The repercussions of this last effort on the part of Japan to make the "Orient for the Orientals" may touch off the spark for bigger fire-works. But what is really behind this last move? Was it for the object of strengthening the position of Japan in relation to Haigun? Would it mean the Japanese position around Canton more tenable? Or was it meant as a challenge to the British supremacy in Hong Kong? It is my belief that this last suggestion holds the key to the answer. Neville Chamberlain, according to latest radio reports, has been asked to personally step into the picture in his somewhat dubious role of arbitrator. It appears that the Japanese, however, do not stand much chance at this bluffing game since they have been unable to include in their ultimatum warship in their recent demands. Again, it may be a very plausible able means whereby Japan may be left to use this crisis as a pre- text for withdrawal from her untenable position in her war with China. If this could be done without "loss of face," so to speak, Japan would welcome any opportunity of this nature. We may expect the United States and England to stand pat in the Far East verbally and unless some unforeseen action develops by one of the totalitarian states in Europe, this recent affair will only serve to put Japan further in the financial hole. On the other hand, look for the closest of relations between Russia and England to materialize. BRADLEY DISAPPOINTED Dr. R. D. Judd, a close associate of Ernest Bradley, who has returned from a trip to the New York's World Fair, tells this one on the roadster Mr. Bradley. He says that Mr. Bradley had received letters inviting him to see the fair and one from the class Queen Mary. Mr. Bradley is supposed to have been very disappointed when he reached the twenty-third street depot. Instead of meeting the Queen Mary, Queen Mary, he saw only a huge ship.

Artman Speaks To Students Second Time This Year

Editor Of Character And Training On Campus

Dr. J. M. Artman, editor of the magazine, Character and Citizenship, Chicago, has been on the campus Thursday and Friday addressing the students in convocation Friday morning.

"Save our democracy in one way only, that is by living," he concluded in his talk on "Quality Persons as the Goal in Citizenship Education."

Dr. Artman cited Jane Addams as an example of a quality person. He had worked with her in Chicago. He said she thought things out in common good, as labor problems, economic conditions, etc.

Terrell Addresses Men's Club

Dr. R. F. Terrell spoke to the Morehead Men's Club Wednesday night telling why the South has come to be called by some the national economic problem number one.

Dr. Terrell said that the economic conditions of the South were brought on by the lack of foresight in protecting the natural resources. He cited as examples the forests and soil.

Summer Brings Mildew Problem

Watch for mildew during warm, muggy spells in summertime.

Watch for mildew during warm, muggy spells in summertime. When humidity is high, mildew may appear in a few hours on clothing in closets, on shower curtains and other household textiles on floors, furniture, leather bags or shoes, which are poorly ventilated.

Mildew is a fungus growth, explains home-demonstration experts at the Kentucky College of Agriculture. Characteristic mildew spots are gray, green, yellow, or black, and vary in size from a pin point to a cent.

Summer Brings Mildew Problem

On leather bags or shoes a growth of mildew can be brushed off if found promptly and the article can be washed. Cloth hangings of books contain 50 per cent or more of starch and gum and are a favorable place for mildew fungi to flourish.

TO THE VOTERS OF ROWAN AND BATH COUNTIES:

I wish to take this means to announce my candidacy for the office of Representative for the 96th Legislative District of Kentucky, composed of the counties of Rowan and Bath.

I have been a resident of this District for more than 40 years, and I know and realize the needs of the people and have the interest of each and every citizen of the District at heart. The voters have heretofore honored me with the office of State Senator for the 31st Kentucky District, and to the best of my ability I discharged the duties of this office.

I feel that my past experience in public life qualifies me to render you a real service and now again after my time and efforts in your behalf.

As the campaign progresses I will discuss fully my position on any of the vital issues before the voters of the District.

Your support and influence will be greatly appreciated.

Respectfully, S. M. BRADLEY

We are authorized to announce VAN Y. GREENE OF Mt. Lak, Ky., as a candidate for the office of State Representative from the Bath-Rowan district, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, August 5, 1939.

Division Of Fish And Game's Report For Month Released

Violators Punished And Numerous Confiscations Are Made

History was made in the state of Kentucky during the month of May when the conservation officers of the Division of Game and Fish made 197 arrests for violation of the Game and Fish laws as compared to 89 arrests made during the month of April. A total of 1,256 licenses were checked by the officers which was a small number compared to 1,973 in April, due to closed fishing in May.

The seizure of contraband for the month of May was probably the largest in the history of the division.

The officers seized 67 illegal nets; 43 fishing baskets; one gun; 431 trot lines; 116 poles and lines; 93 fish traps; 15 gigs; one fall trap; 47 throw lines; 8 row boats; one 2-cylinder motor boat and 3 inboard motors and boats; 560 pounds of fish; 2 spears; 9 fish boxes; one snail line; 3 seines; 12 mussel traps; 5 mites; 500 pounds of mussel shells; two red foxes; one steel trap; one fish dam; 2 swis; one grab hook, and two gallons of gasoline. These seizures were made by 32 conservation officers in every section of the state and should give the sportsman a rough idea as to just how much violation of the game and fish laws is being committed.

Powell Borworth, Superintendent of the Conservation Officers, in commending the work of the officers, stated: "Never has such work been done in Kentucky. This has not been accomplished by happenstance, but by well thought out planning. Even more work has been accomplished these first three weeks of June. Enough contraband was destroyed and fish saved during the month of May to help provide excellent sport for several years."

Borworth, in his letter to the wardens praising their work, also said: "You can arrest and warn violators, be vigilant night and day, but you cannot get convictions if the sentiment of the community is against them. Every violator who is let off becomes bolder and more defiant in his offenses. This has a tendency to make your work less effective, takes away your authority and lessens your value as a warden."

Widespread Investigation of County Made by Grand Jury

Rowan County School Board And Health Unit Is Also Commended

Hon. D. B. Caswell, Judge Rowan Circuit Court, Your Honor:

For our final report we wish to state that—

We have been in session six days and have diligently inquired into every matter that has been brought before us that was worthy of inquiry. We have returned the bills whenever the evidence warranted same.

We have examined approximately 125 witnesses. Noting the County Judge, County Clerk, County Treasurer, County Sheriff and chief deputy, Morehead Police Force, City Clerk, County School Superintendent, Morehead State Teachers College, Accountant, Acting Registrar and the Superintendent of the Buildings and Grounds of the College.

We have personally inspected the County Court House, County Jail and Jailers residence, County school property, some of the roads and streets, and the Police Station and City Jail.

We find that since 1934 actual reduction has been made in the commission of major crimes in Rowan County and we feel that competent prosecution and speedy trials in the Circuit Court has been largely responsible for this worthy and commendable record.

From the records and evidence we are convinced that Hon. D. B. Caswell has been and is an honest and faithful worker. That chancery and circuit courts has not and cannot grow to a state presided over by him.

That Hon. W. C. Hamilton, Commonwealth's Attorney is a very competent prosecutor and an independent worker.

That J. W. McKinney, Circuit Court Clerk, has kept the records of the Circuit Court in an excellent condition, and that his reputation for efficiency, honesty and service is excelled by none and equalled by few.

That the County Judge, Fiscal Court, County Attorney, County Clerk, County Sheriff, Jailor and Tax Commissioner are fully discharging the duties of their various offices, with whatever slight exceptions which are included in this report as recommendations hereinafter set forth.

From evidence and observation we further ascertained that all work done by the Rural Highway Department in this county could be greatly improved upon and that more work as well as all WPA work could be carried on much more efficiently and with far greater economy if handled in a more business-like manner.

We further ascertained that the work on and awarding of contracts for all projects, whether road building or other public improvement, could be done in a more efficient manner if a monthly payroll of approximately $18,000.00 distributed among some 500 men and all women in this county by the Works Progress Administration and that there has been a great deal of worthwhile work done in this county. However, we are convinced those responsible for bringing workers into this county from other counties to do the work that residents here are competent to perform, unless a like number of workers in the same wage class from this county are placed in counties.

We find that there is a change of the County Certifying Agent's office from ———— were inefficient here in the discharge of their duties and did not cooperate with the County Judge and or Fiscal Court. That the work was beyond question carried on more upon a basis of political influence rather than with the interest of the poor and needy. The Fiscal Court is to be criticized for permitting this to have ever returned and it is to be commended for having refused to pay any more of the money for this type of service.

Members of all political parties pay taxes! There should be no discrimination between them and more upon a basis of political influence rather than with the interest of the poor and needy. The Fiscal Court is to be criticized for permitting this to have ever returned and it is to be commended for having refused to pay any more of the money for this type of service.

Members of all political parties pay taxes! There should be no discrimination between them and more upon a basis of political influence rather than with the interest of the poor and needy. The Fiscal Court is to be criticized for permitting this to have ever returned and it is to be commended for having refused to pay any more of the money for this type of service.

Court and Jailor that the room at the west corner of the Courthouse, adjoining the present men's toilet, be vacated and that same be better equipped than the present toilet and that an outside entrance be made to the new toilet and that a main entrance be permitted to same. The present Jailor nor any person can keep the present men's toilet in a first class sanitary condition.

We recommend, insist and urge that the Fiscal Court immediately after July 1, 1939, provide a salary for certain positions concerning the construction of the new jailer's residence and that the steps also be built to said building. We further insist that the building be moved into said residence not later than August 1, 1939. This will save the taxpayers approximately $25 per month on the Jailor's salary.

We have requested that the County Treasurer write the Attorney-General of Kentucky relative to certain questions concerning the advertisement of the County Financial Statement, and we urge that not later than 60 days after the adjournment of the Grand Jury that the officials responsible for having this statement published carry out the law in this connection.

We further recommend that the sale of soft drinks and food upon the Courthouse Square be prohibited except by religious or charitable organizations.

We further recommend that the Courthouse be painted on the inside as soon as the County is financially able to have same done. The County Jailor has greatly improved the appearance of the public lawn and it is to be commended especially for this work.

We thank the Jailor and Sheriff for ready and willing co-operation with this Grand Jury.

SPECIAL
We find that there are approximately 1200 persons in the South Addition to Morehead and in West Morehead that have no convenient outlet to U. S. No. 50 Highway, and harder than the County Court has dedicated a certain road as a county road in that section which road is described as follows:

Beginning at the corner of Y. Y. Blair lawn, running through the South Addition and extending as far as to connect with the County road running through West Morehead and crossing the C. & O. Railroad about 300 West of the

DR. J. E. COTTON, M.D., who spoke in chapel Friday, June 16, may return to Morehead campus and teach during the summer semester next year.

Spoke Friday crossing the river is approximately 1/2 mile in length and is 30 feet in width.

We urge and insist that the C. & O. Railway immediately provide a suitable crossing where said road passes over the tracks of its railway.

We further urge and recommend that some action be taken by either or both the City of Morehead and Rowan County to provide a safe bridge across the east fork of Triplett Creek near the Old Captain Base property.

MOREHEAD STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE
In order to make a full and true report of the conditions at the Morehead State Teachers College we made a very thorough and extensive investigation of this institution. We went upon the grounds and through the buildings. We had before us Mr. Herbert Hagan, Accountant for the College, Mr. Clark Lane, former Accountant, Miss Frances Abrams of the Registrar's Office, and Mr. W. E. Rice, Superintendent of the Buildings and Grounds. All of these witnesses were questioned by us and their records examined.

We report as follows: That the State appropriations for the College for the maintenance

Baby Chicks
Hatching Eggs
See us for more information and operation has been as follows:

Year	Amount
1937-38	$238,982.00
1938-39	238,721.00
1939-40	260,134.00
1940-41	291,250.00
1941-42	248,275.00
1942-43	196,659.00
1943-44	174,905.00
1944-45	194,400.00
1945-46	194,400.00
1946-47	180,000.00
1947-48	190,000.00
1948-49	194,000.00
1949-50	194,000.00

All buildings built prior to 1934 were paid by special appropriations for that purpose and large sums were received by the College in addition to above sums shown.

Since that time there has been built three new buildings, the new boys dormitory, Science building and a plant to supply the College with heat, light and water. The money for these buildings was obtained from the Federal Government under the P.W.A. The cost of these buildings was $691,900.00, of which sum $255,000.00 was for the payment of the remainder in the sum of $436,900.

to be paid over a 25 year period. We find that the college has already paid off $41,000.00 of these bonds. The payments of the principal and interest on these bonds amount to $28,232.80.

Subject to such reduction as may be made on interest payments by reason of payments on principal.

The payments on these bonds must now come from the state appropriation for maintenance and operation, and after deducting the payments on bonds, principal and interest there remains the sum of $13,574.08 for maintenance and operation, which is the smallest sum in the history of the College that has been available for that purpose.

Added maintenance and operation costs of the three new buildings mentioned above amounts to approximately $8,000 annually this sum is also to come out of this decreased appropriation.

The value of the entire plant is fixed at $2,614,232.70. The records show that for the first semester of the school year 1938-39, 471 college students were enrolled; during the semester just closed 1,020 college students were enrolled. During the past three years, every semester has shown an increased enrollment over the corresponding semester of the previous year. For the first term of the present summer session, 826 college students have enrolled.

A Commerce Department, in which two teachers are employed was added to the college last year. During the past three years, the College has developed athletic teams that have attracted national attention.

More Farmers In State Subscribe To Weekly Newspaper

That Kentucky farmers are on their toes and more than keeping pace with the news of a rapidly moving world in their own communities as well as in national and world affairs, is disclosed today by a survey made by The National Fertilizer Association of the leading habits of more than 22,000 farmers. The survey reports that 54 percent or more than five out of ten of the State's farmers take a weekly newspaper.

The State's above the national results of the National Fertilizer Association's poll, which revealed that in 25 states 33 percent of the farmers take a weekly paper.

The National Fertilizer Association survey was conducted to determine farming practices in the use of fertilizer and to learn the sources of information which farmers use and rely upon. Six hundred and fifty men asked 22,000 farmers in 25 states 25 questions in total relative to agriculture.

However, according to a recent study of contents of papers farmers read, general news although demanded, does not take the place of neighborhood and personal news which is of prime interest to farmer readers. Weekly newspapers, with their facilities for gathering and printing intimate local news, fill this requirement and therefore hold an increasing popularity among rural readers.

4-H Clubber's Pay With Strawberries

Members of the Kiwanis club spring received payment for 4-H club members a year ago. Their reward came in the form of gallons of big red berries. Through the aid of the Kiwanis' husbands of farms in Bell county this year produced strawberries for home use and also to sell.

At Hazard, Perry county 4-H club members who received plants last year from the Hazard Planter and business men, made a large strawberry exhibit, and then distributed 50 gallons of berries among the sponsors of the strawberry project. More than 100 farm boys and girls in the county were helped to start strawberry growing.

Good Results From Northwestern Ewes

A survey made by County Agent Floyd McDonald showed that Montgomery county farmers got exceptional results from using northwestern ewes this season. Almost without exception, he found that farmers who obtained good western stock produced good lambs and fleeces. Keller Hill, for instance, had more than 11 pounds of wool per ewe, and some 194 good lambs from 75 ewes. McDonald believes many farmers will be in the market for western ewes this year.

After eight years as a 4-H club member, Charles Coward of Taylor county last month sold 15 registered gilts and other livestock.

A hot choler epidemic in part of Union county handicapped producers, but was promptly checked.

In view of the fact that the enrollment is larger, the plant is larger and the number of employees larger, it can be seen that the College is being operated more economically than ever before.

We are convinced that the Morehead State Teachers College is a well equipped plant and that under the administration of H. A. Bubb, College President, it has made rapid progress.

We wish to thank President Bubb, Mr. Morris (Chairman), Miss Abrams, Mr. Lane, Mr. Hogan for the co-operation given us in making this investigation and inspection.

We wish to especially thank Mr. W. H. Rice, Supt. of the Building and Grounds for his cooperation and courtesy shown us. We feel that he is to be highly commended for the excellent work that he has done for the College.

CITY OF MOREHEAD

The evidence and records show conclusively that the Mayor and Members of the City Council are men well qualified to administer the affairs of the City and that same is being done in a very business-like way in a majority of the cases.

We do recommend that the City at once remedy the following unsanitary conditions:

That a sanitary sewer for the extreme East End of Morehead be provided. We are returning an ordinance in this matter as we are informed steps are now being taken to relieve this unsanitary condition.

That wherever residences and business houses are reasonably near sanitary sewer lines that all out-door toilets be immediately removed. This has been recommended many times by the County Health Department.

We find that no proper or adequate provision has been made for the disposal of water which is evidently running out from under Main Street and under the property of John H. West and very near the building owned by Bays Jewelry Shop, owned by the Women's Club. This should be remedied immediately.

We find that there are several old buildings that are, not harbors land fire-types in Morehead, especially on Railroad Street. These buildings in their present condition can be of no great value to the owners and cannot be profitably operated for many legitimate purposes. Something should be done about this matter.

We are informed that the section of the old Flemmingburg road lying within the City limits is badly in need of repairs. This would be desired to be completed as soon as possible.

We do very especially commend the City Council for the economical and business-like methods employed in the paving of Collier Street. This new strip of pavement is 1,200 feet long and we find that almost $1,000 was saved by the shrewd property owners on this one project. This job was indeed capably handled.

Many complaints have been made concerning the City Jail, and we are firmly convinced that these complaints are well founded, and we now recommend that a new jail or an addition be built and that same be made and kept sanitary and be properly equipped. That not more than a total of 4 prisoners be placed in the cells now existing and that the bunks or beds be provided with mattresses and that every toilet be carried out to make and keep the present jail clean, sanitary and with sufficient ventilation and light.

We have carefully inquired into the following charges against Capt. W. E. Proctor and the City Police Force and could have written page after page of evidence and statements offered by witnesses. We have, however, and so suggest that projects be prepared and submitted to WPA and NYA for an addition or annex to the present school buildings.

We find that it is necessary that plans now be made for additional classroom space at the Morehead Consolidated School and we suggest that projects be prepared and submitted to WPA and NYA for an addition or annex to the present school buildings.

We recommend that the toilets at Morehead Consolidated School be given additional study and attention. The present condition is not to be commended.

We find that during the period covered in this report that the Board has provided for the school system new equipment such as seats, blackboards, stoves and other much needed school furniture and equipment in the approximate cost of $23,000.

That the increased value of school property during this period

Earl Dean And Howard Hadden Win First Law Case

Earl Dean and Howard Hadden, graduates of Morehead State Teachers College and more recently graduates of the University of Kentucky Law School, won their first law case during the last month.

According to an account featured in the Lexington Leader, the young attorneys represented a man who was suing for two hundred and fifty dollars. The court awarded the plaintiff the grand sum of one dollar. Dean and Hadden split a fifty cent fee.

has been approximately $15,000. Further during this period there has been paid almost $15,000.00 on all indebtedness carried over from previous administrations.

Teachers salaries have been increased from $55.10 pay at top grade in 1934 for a teacher with a degree and 4 years experience of $82.30 plus the opportunity of earning an annual maximum bonus of $17.50 for extraordinary educational activities.

Vocational training for boys and girls has been provided, such as classes in Agriculture, Manual Training, Home Economics, and Typing and bookkeeping.

Teachers during this period have been paid on time as well as all other current expenses. The Board is living within its budget and is following the "pay as you go" plan.

We find that no debts have been created by the present Board.

We have had complaints relative to a $2.00 school poll tax. Have investigated the matter and find that due to judgments on old debts levied and incurred that the Board has by the creditors-plaintiffs been forced to request this sum.

It appears from the records and evidence that the administration of the County School System under Earl R. Corbett as Superintendent has been well managed and we heartily commend Earl R. Corbett and the Members of the Board of Education.

CCC

The CCC Camp at Bodorus is a well managed and supervised camp. We have no way of estimating the value that the CCC has been and will be to Bowen County. The work already done by way of road building, prevention of extensive and damaging forest fires, conservation work, and character training of the youths has all been well worth while.

COUNTY HEALTH UNIT

It appears that the County Health Unit under the management and direction of Dr. T. A. E. Evans is doing good work.

COUNTY AGENT

It appears that County Agent Charles L. Galt and his co-workers are quite efficient and are doing the good work for and with the farmers of this county.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

We commend the State Highway Department for the action taken in completing the construction of the Morehead-Vancouver Road. This is a much needed road.

We are informed that the Department is doing well at one location that portion of the Bodorus Sandy Hook Road lying within Bowen County. This is a badly needed road. We commend the Department for starting this much needed improvement.

In connection with the Morehead-Vancouver Road we commend the County Judge, County Attorney and Fiscal Court for their untiring efforts in helping to raise construction of this road to be started.

Respectfully submitted,
E. E. Egan.
