ROTC HOLDS "LAWN PARTY" AT MSU: A Picture Story

Morehead State University was the site of a recent "Lawn Party" hosted by the Department of Military Science to provide public awareness of the ROTC program.

Cutlines:

- 1---Capt. Joseph H. Pillow, left, showed Brad Withrow, Morehead freshman corrections major, how to fire a LAW (light antitank weapon).
- 2---A popular activity was having your personal I.D.--commonly known as "dog tags"--made. Greg Lueders, seated at left, Milford, Ohio, senior corrections major, and Joey Gardner, Peebles, Ohio, senior, kept the line moving.
- 3---Sometimes holding the weapon is the hardest part as Kyle Bidwell, son of Kevin and Kendra Bidwell of Morehead, learned when receiving instructions from Maj. Ralph E. Shoaf, professor of military science and department chair.
- 4---Rob Conn, Flemingsburg junior corrections major, made the one rope bridge look as easy as pie during the demonstration.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Morehead State University's Department of Human Sciences will host a Personal Enrichment Program (PEP) for high school students of home economics and other related areas on Thursday, Oct. 21, on the campus.

The day's program will include mini-classes in home economics program areas, a luncheon prepared and served by MSU human sciences' students and a discussion period where students may ask questions about university life. The luncheon speaker will be Dr. Judy Rogers, associate vice president of Academic Affairs and dean of Undergraduate Programs.

"Invitations have been sent to more than 80 high schools in Kentucky and Southern Ohio, inviting students and their teachers to spend the day on MSU's campus," said Carolyn Flatt, PEP chair.

Schools from these Kentucky counties have been invited to participate: Bath, Boyd, Boone, Bourbon, Bracken, Breathitt, Campbell, Carroll, Carter, Clark, Elliott, Estill, Fayette, Fleming, Floyd, Gallatin, Grant, Greenup;

Harrison, Jefferson, Johnson, Kenton, Knott, Lawrence, Lee, Letcher, Lewis, Magoffin, Martin, Mason, Menifee, Montgomery, Morgan, Nicholas, Owen, Pendleton, Pike, Powell, Robertson, Rowan and Wolfe.

Also receiving an invitation were students from Adams, Brown, Clermont and Hamilton counties in Ohio.

PEP is designed to provide high school students with an inside look at programs and job opportunities within the field of home economics, while offering them broad information on the total college experience.

Additional information is available from Flatt at (606) 783-2966.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Kentucky Gamma Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, international honor society in the social sciences, has again attained the society's highest ranking--Roll of Distinction.

This designation is accorded to only the top 2 percent of the chapters in the United States.

In making the announcement, Ina Turner Gray, executive director of the International Board of Trustees, also commended the faculty co-sponsors Margaret D. Patton and Lola R. Crosthwaite, associate professors of sociology, for their "exceptional work."

Pi Gamma Mu encourages excellence in the social sciences among undergraduate and graduate students. The chapter's activities encourage intellectual development and leadership and a high standard of conduct.

Founded by Patton in 1969, MSU's chapter has received various awards throughout its history.

HALBERSTAM INTERVIEWS MSU'S HAMILTON

Pulitzer Prize-winning author David Halberstam, left, recently visited the Morehead State University campus to talk with Steve Hamilton, the University's athletic director.

Halberstam was doing a background interview for an upcoming book on the New York Yankees. "October '64" is the working title for Halberstam's book which is expected to be published in June. According to the author, the new work is about the end of the great Yankee era and the beginning of the transformation of baseball from a game into business. Hamilton, whose major league baseball career spanned over a decade of which eight years were with the Yankees, pitched in two World Series with the Yankees.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Morehead State University has announced that Amy Lynn Shaw of Paintsville is among those students receiving a Presidential Scholarship for the fall semester.

Shaw, daughter of John C. and Linda F. Shaw, is a graduate of Paintsville High School. A four-year honor student, she was a member of the Beta Club and All-State Band. She holds a second degree black belt in Shao-Lin karate.

To be eligible for the Presidential Scholarship, applicants must be admitted to MSU as an entering freshman; have a 3.75 grade point average (on a 4.00 scale) based on seven semesters of work; have a composite ACT score of 28, and submit a completed scholarship application to MSU.

The scholarship, valued at $3,000 per year, is renewable for three academic years if a 3.25 g.p.a. is maintained during each of the first two semesters and a minimum cumulative 3.50 g.p.a. for each semester thereafter.

Applications and information on scholarships and grant programs at MSU are available from the Office of Admissions, MSU, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. The toll-free number is 800-262-7474 (in Kentucky) and 800-354-2090 (from adjoining states).

MOREHEAD, Ky.--It's fall, the season of football and the first frost, but for Morehead State University alumni, it's also time for Homecoming festivities.

A number of activities are planned for alumni from all classes for the Oct. 22-23 weekend, according to Bill Redwine, acting director of Alumni Relations and Development. "This year, we are especially proud to be hosting the 50th anniversary of the Class of '43."

Kicking off the activities will be the annual Welcome Reception at the Morehead Holiday Inn on Friday, Oct. 22, which begins at 5:30 p.m. Early arrivals will have the opportunity to meet and greet old acquaintances in addition to making new friends.

Later in the evening, five individuals--representing three athletic sports--will be inducted in the MSU Athletic Hall of Fame. The inductees include: John S. Christopher ('83) of Norwalk, Ohio, and Lawrence A. Marzetti ('39) of Annapolis, Md., football; Ron Gaithright ('70) of Louisville, and Norm Pokley ('67) of Washington, Mich., basketball, and Dr. Nolan Fowler of Cookeville, Tenn., track coach from 1953 to '57.

The Hall of Fame dinner will begin at 7 p.m. in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center (ADUC). Tickets are $12 and must be purchased by Oct. 20.

Saturday's activities begin at 9 a.m. with registration and complimentary coffee and juices in the main lobby, ADUC. Reunions for former cheerleaders and mascots will begin at 10:30 a.m. and Student Government Association presidents at 11 a.m., also in ADUC.

To prepare for the group's traditional performance at the football game, registration and rehearsal for the Alumni Band will begin at 10 a.m. at Baird Music Hall.

The Class of '43 also will meet on Saturday morning in ADUC, Redwine noted. "We have received numerous inquiries from individuals who were members of this class as well as those who attended during the early '40s," he said.

The annual Homecoming Brunch will be served from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Crager Room, ADUC. The feast will include items suitable for either the breakfast or lunchtime diner, served buffet-style to allow more time for conversation and get-togethers. A special table will be reserved for the '43 class reunion attendees.

Tickets for the brunch, which must be purchased by Oct. 20, are $8 for adults and $4 for children under 12.

The MSU Eagles will take on the Austin Peay Governors in the Homecoming football game which begins at 1:30 p.m. in Jayne Stadium. During halftime ceremonies, the Alumni Band will play and the Homecoming Queen will be crowned.

After the game, there's an all you can eat fish fry in the parking lot behind the Alumni Center. Tables will be arranged for a come and go atmosphere.

In addition to the numerous receptions by Greek organizations and private parties, the campus will be the site of numerous other activities throughout the week.

On Wednesday, Oct. 20, the Student Government Association will sponsor Sawyer Brown and Chris LeDoux in a night of country music. Tickets are on sale now at $17 for reserved and $12 for bleacher seating. Showtime is 8 p.m. in the Academic-Athletic Center.

Beginning on Thursday and running through Saturday (Oct. 21-23), theatre students will present "The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail." The play begins at 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium. Tickets are $6 for adults, $2 for senior citizens, non-MSU students and children, and free to MSU students with a valid I.D. card.

On Friday, Oct. 22, Dr. Maurice Hinson will present a free lecture-recital in Duncan Recital Hall, Baird Music Hall, beginning at 8 p.m. The theme will be "Consider These Creators: Women Composers of Piano Music."

Dr. Hinson, an authority in piano literature, will offer a two-hour workshop beginning at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 23. Interested students and teachers are invited to attend. Reservations for this session are available by calling Dr. Paul Taylor at (606) 783-3405.

Additional information and ticket reservations are available by calling (606) 783-2080.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Prospective students and their parents are invited to attend an "Open House" on the Morehead State University campus on Saturday, Oct. 16.

"This is a special time to introduce students to the campus," said Michelle Richmond, admissions counselor and coordinator of the activity. "Besides learning about college life, there will be an opportunity to ask about specific programs of study."

The program is available to all students--high school and community college--who are interested in continuing their education, Richmond noted.

The morning activity begins at 9 a.m. with registration and refreshments in the third floor lobby of the Adron Doran University Center. Displays of the University's programs will be available for viewing.

Information sessions for parents, "How to Pay for College" and "Academic Opportunities," will run concurrently from 9:15 to 9:45 a.m. with the financial aid program repeated at 11:45 a.m.

University representatives will welcome the group at 10 a.m., followed by visits to the various academic departments at 10:30 a.m. Campus tours begin at 11:30 a.m., concluding the program.

The campus visitors will be guests of the University for the afternoon football game when the MSU Eagles take on the Middle Tennessee Blue Raiders. Kickoff is 1:30 p.m. in Jayne Stadium.

MSU will be hosting two additional "Open House" activities during the spring semester: Feb. 12 and April 2.

Additional information is available by calling MSU's Office of Admissions at (606) 783-2000 or toll free at 1-800-262-7474 (in Kentucky) or 1-800-354-2090 (from adjoining states).

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Turn on the sky-sweeping spotlights and roll out the red carpet. There's a world premiere in the offing at Morehead State University.

On Nov. 12 at 8 p.m., Button Auditorium will be the site for the first performance of "Me 'n Susie," a one-woman show celebrating the achievements of one of Eastern Kentucky's most beloved physicians, Dr. Claire Louise Caudill of Morehead.

Written by Dr. Shirley Gish, MSU associate professor of speech, the production also features Dr. Gish as the phenomenal lady, who with her nurse associate, Susie Halbleib, altered the course of medical treatment in this region.

Dr. Gish has several original scripts to her credit, many of which recount the accomplishments of women of extraordinary talent, and has written as well as produced several videos of these works.

She has received three residency grants for playwriting from the Helene Wurlitzer Foundation in Taos, N.M. Active in the Morehead Theatre Guild, she also maintains an active schedule of oral interpretation and reader's theatre performances, scripting much of the material herself.

~~Directing the production will be Dr. Travis P. Lockhart, MSU associate professor of theatre, with Dr. William J. Layne, MSU associate professor of theatre, as scene designer.~~

Proceeds from a special pre-performance dinner at $50 per plate have been earmarked to support the University's theatre program. Invitations to the pre-show dinner and a post-performance dessert party will be in the mail shortly.

"We are truly excited about the premiere of this production as it gives us an opportunity to pay tribute to an outstanding individual while also raising funds to enhance our theatre program," said MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin.

"Dr. Louise as she is known to so many in this region is an extraordinary woman, who long ago demonstrated an immeasurable commitment to the people of Eastern Kentucky," Dr. Eaglin added. "Her capacity for caring about them and this region is infinite and we believe this production is an accurate reflection of her dedication."

A native of Rowan County, Dr. Caudill earned her medical degree from the University of Louisville School of Medicine in 1947, entering practice at a time when female physicians were few. Accompanied by Halbleib, she set up practice in Morehead in 1948 and 12 years later began a successful crusade to establish what now is a regional medical center that bears her name--St. Claire Medical Center.

In an era before I-64 was completed, Dr. Caudill maintained that expectant mothers and others needing medical services deserved better than a difficult two-hour drive to hospitals in Lexington or Ashland.

Still practicing at 81 years of age, Dr. Caudill has treated three and even four generations of families. When she ceased delivering babies in 1982, it was estimated that she had delivered approximately 8,000 babies, with probably 2,000 of them delivered in homes.

General admission tickets for the premiere of "Me 'n Susie" will be $10 each and reservations are encouraged. Performance tickets may be reserved by calling the MSU Theatre Box Office at (606) 783-2170.

Members of the steering committee planning the special activities surrounding the premiere include: Bonnie Eaglin, chair; Sharon Jackson, Troy Burgess, Jean Serey, Ellie Reser, Dr. Lockhart, Dr. Judy Rogers, Lois Anne Holley, Bobbie Caudill, Merl Allen, Susette Redwine, Jennifer Crickard and Dr. Eaglin.

Graduating from medical school in the 1940s, she began practicing medicine in Eastern Kentucky at a time when there were few female physicians even on the national scene.

Maintaining a limited practice today, she has treated three and four generations of families and has delivered about 8,000 babies in Eastern Kentucky.

Her efforts to improve health care for the region resulted in a regional medical center that bears her name, St. Claire Medical Center.

"She" is Dr. Claire Louise Caudill of Morehead, known to many who love her as simply Dr. Louise, and now she's the subject of a one-woman show which will have its premiere at Morehead State University on Nov. 12.

The production is entitled "Me 'n Susie."

How about a feature on how the playwright created a script about someone so well known and of whom just about everyone has a story of how Dr. Louise helped their family?

The playwright, who also will appear as Dr. Louise, is Dr. Shirley Gish, MSU associate professor of speech. Dr. Gish has been awarded three residency grants for playwriting by the Helene Wurlitzer Foundation in Taos, N.M.

Dr. Gish may be contacted by calling her office at (606) 783-2714 or by leaving a message at her home at (606) 784-7419.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.--WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University's campus, will launch its Fall Fund Drive on Saturday, Oct 23, and continue the effort through Friday, Oct. 29.

"This year we are doing things a little differently," said Ron Mace, WMKY promotion and development director.

"We are taking our fund drive to the streets to create more awareness for the need to generate funds. We also are staging two pre-fund drive events compatible with our commitment to the campus and communities we serve," Mace added.

The awareness campaign for the fund drive begins Tuesday, Oct. 19, with a 7:30 p.m. folk concert featuring Rob McNurland in Breckinridge Auditorium. The event is free and open to the public.

"From the awareness campaign, we'll move right into the actual on-air portion of the fund drive," Mace said. "We are participating in National Public Radio's 'Coordinated On-Air Fund Drive' this year and we plan to take some of our shows out of the studio and put them in the public eye," he added.

On Saturday, Oct. 23, "Car Talk," which airs at 10 a.m., will be locally hosted by a WMKY staff member at Trademore Tire, Inc., the show's principal local underwriter. Later that day, "Bluegrass Diversion," will be broadcast live at 12:10 p.m. from the rear lawn of the Academic-Athletic Center as part of the MSU Alumni Association's 1993 Homecoming festivities.

WMKY's local classical showcase, "Afternoon Classics," with Janean Freeman, will air live from various remote locations throughout the week from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

"Jazzline" with host Paul Hitchcock, another locally-produced program which airs weeknights at 10 o'clock, will broadcast a live concert from Button Auditorium. The concert, sponsored by the Student Government Association, will feature original jazz, rock and blues works by recent MSU graduate Rob Elliott. The event, which begins at 9 p.m., on Monday, Oct. 25, is free and open to the public. "Jazzline" will join the show in progress at 10 p.m.

WMKY Fall Drive

We have three goals for this fund drive," Mace said. "First, we need to enhance awareness of the programming that we offer. Our second objective is to increase awareness among our listeners as to the cost of running our operation, which should lead to our third goal of turning our many listeners into actual contributors," he added.

"Public radio is not free," Mace said. "The operational costs to our licensee and increasing programming costs make it important that virtually every WMKY listener back us financially."

Additional information on WMKY's Fall Fund Drive or events surrounding the drive is available by calling Mace at (606) 783-2001.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The movement of women into influential leadership roles for the 21st century will be explored in a special symposium to be held at Morehead State University's Adron Doran University Center on Nov. 4-6.

Coordinated by a steering committee from MSU's ad hoc committee on women's studies, the 1993 Wilma E. Grote Symposium for the Advancement of Women has drawn presenters from all over the United States, from North Dakota to Georgia and from Texas to New York.

"Women are moving into spheres of greater influence in politics, business and other areas of society," said Sharon Jackson, symposium chair.

"While it may not be happening as rapidly as we would like, it is happening. We believe that this symposium and others like it will aid this process by providing forums through which we can share ideas and encourage others to fulfill their potential," Jackson said.

Among the topics and their relation to women to be examined are leadership strategies, spirituality, "Womenergy," mentoring, politics, assertiveness and education.

The symposium will open with workshop sessions on Thursday, Nov. 4, beginning at 2 p.m. with registration starting at noon.

Featured speakers will be Dr. Patricia Hill Collins, black feminist author/educator; Dr. Shirley Gish, educator/playwright/actress, and Dr. Ann E. Kleine-Kracht, humor educator.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Registrations are being accepted now for all age groups to attend a cheerleading clinic conducted by Morehead State University's varsity cheerleading squad on Saturday, Dec. 4, on the campus.

The session will run from 9:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. in Wetherby Gymnasium.

The clinic is designed to help cheerleaders improve their skills and enhance their abilities in the activity, according to Myron Doan, dean of students and MSU cheer coach.

"The instruction will be suitable for elementary, junior high and high school cheerleaders," Doan said. "Enrollment is available for members of a squad or individuals who want to sharpen their abilities."

Gymnastics, partner stunts, pyramids, sidelines, cheers and dance routines are to be covered during the day-long session.

The cost is $25 per person which includes private instruction, lunch and tickets to the MSU-Thomas More College basketball game where the clinic participants will be included in the halftime show.

MSU's varsity cheerleading squad has received four national titles in Division I at the UCA college cheerleading championships. They were named Number 1 in 1988, 1991, 1992 and 1993.

Additional information and registration is available from Doan at (606) 783-2014, weekdays, or 784-8014, evenings and weekends.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---"The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail," based on events in the life of the nineteenth century American writer Henry David Thoreau, will be presented by Morehead State University theatre students Thursday through Saturday, Oct. 21-23.

Showtime is 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium. Seating is general admission on a first come, first serve basis. Tickets are $6 for adults, $2 for senior citizens, high school students and children, and free to MSU students with a valid I.D. card.

The play, written by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee, opens with Thoreau's imprisonment for refusing to pay taxes, continues with (American poet Ralph Waldo) Emerson's visit, and ends with the "thinker's" release from jail, according to Dr. Travis Lockhart, director of theatre and who will direct this production.

Cast in the lead roles are: Derek Scott Mudd, Lebanon Junction senior, as Thoreau; Jerett Gieseler, Morehead senior, as Emerson; Matt Johnson, Georgetown sophomore, as John Thoreau; Dwayne A. Gillespie, Sterling, Va., senior, as Bailey, and Jessica Hester, Louisville senior, as Lydian Emerson.

Dr. William J. Layne, associate professor of theatre, will be the technical and scenic director; Hester also will be assistant director and costume designer; Jamie Phillips, Greenfield, Ohio, will be the lighting designer, and Elizabeth Harris, Olive Hill senior, will be properties designer.

The production stage manager will be Will Ingham, Naples, Fla., senior, with Denise Marie Vulhop, Dayton junior, as assistant stage manager. George David McKee, Flemingsburg graduate student, is publicity director. He will be assisted by Steve J. Ross, Jr., Maysville senior.

NEWS RELEASE

Oct. 14, 1993

PUBLIC UNIVERSITIES IMPACT ON STATE
COUNTED IN BILLIONS OF DOLLARS,
ACCORDING TO NEW STUDY

(Frankfort, KY) -- A study by three University of Kentucky economists released today reveals that the state's eight public universities have an economic impact on the state each year in the billions of dollars.

Furthermore the studies showed that the state's investment in higher education also makes it possible for Kentuckians to earn more money in their lifetime than they would have without an opportunity to attend college.

Details of the study were released in a news conference today sponsored by the Kentucky Advocates for Higher Education, an independent group of business, industrial and civic leaders from throughout the state who are committed to the advancement of higher education.

UK economists Charles F. Haywood, Mark C. Berger and Dan A. Black said their two studies show that Kentucky's eight public universities have substantial "multiplier effects," making for higher levels of income and employment than would exist without them in the state.

Haywood, director of the UK Center for Business and Economic Research, used data from the 1991-92 fiscal year for his study, the latest data available.

He said that it showed that for every dollar Kentuckians put into support of higher education in that year, they received back $3.40 of total spending in the Kentucky economy.

In the 1991-92 fiscal year, the $672 million of state appropriations to the public institutions stimulated $2.29 billion in total public and private spending in Kentucky, Haywood said.

The Haywood study also shows that in fiscal year 1991-92 total employment in Kentucky was 67,862 greater than it would otherwise have been without the state's support of the public universities.

"Wages and salaries throughout the state were $1.56 billion greater than would have been in the absence of state support for the public universities and community colleges," Haywood said.

The Berger-Black study which Haywood called "unique... and innovative," is an effort to estimate the "human capital" value of public higher education in Kentucky.

Berger and Black, using 1990 U. S. Census data, said they found that higher education substantially increases a person's life-time earnings.

For example, the economists said, a 30-year-old male in Kentucky would be predicted to earn $16,500 a year with a high school diploma compared to $26,100 a year with a bachelor's degree.

Just one year of higher education for all the people attending a Kentucky public university or college added $8.52 billion to their "human capital value," which is their collective lifetime earnings. For this, said Berger and Black, the state invested only $672 million.

For all the people going to college in Kentucky for four years, state support came to $2.54 billion. But the "pay-back" to all these people and the state was $32.7 billion.

J. Dan Lacy, chairman of the Advocates, said that the new studies were being released as the kick-off to a public information program to help tell Kentuckians about the value they receive from increased support of higher education.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Education majors at Morehead State University have the opportunity to learn more about Kentucky's education reform by student teaching in England.

For the third straight year, MSU is participating in an exchange program for student teachers that is designed to promote child-centered education.

The educational concept, adopted by the state through KERA in 1990, has been in operation in many British schools since the early 1970s, according to Dr. Joe Elliott, professor of education and child psychologist at Sunderland University in Sunderland, England.

Elementary and secondary education majors who have met the criteria for student teaching can be interviewed to go to Sunderland for one semester and practice in public schools, according to Shirley Blair, director of student teaching at MSU.

In exchange, student teachers from Sunderland come to Morehead's campus for one semester to practice their techniques in public schools here.

The exchange program, initiated by Blair and the dean of Sunderland University, since 1990 has provided students an enriched cultural and professional opportunity.

"It's a great experience for students to travel and see how the teaching process differs," Blair said. "It's also a bargain deal for them because housing is exchanged and they pay for only travel and food."

Dr. Elliott, who recently visited MSU, said teaching style is crucial to the development of young students.

"We're teaching prospective teachers to explore creative ideas, to be enthusiastic and participative, because the roles of teachers here are changing. Teachers no longer get students to memorize, but help them learn the principles underlying the action," he said.

Dr. Elliott summarized child-centered education by quoting a French philosopher: "A child is not a vessel to be filled, but a fire to be lit."

Blair said she would like to have more students participate in the exchange program. Only two students went to Sunderland this semester. One student will teach elementary education and the other student will teach high school there.

The student teachers are monitored and an assessment is forwarded regarding their performance. They will have a lot of information to share with their peers when they travel home at the end of the semester, Blair said.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Two Morehead State University students are participating in an educational consortium with the University of Sunderland in Sunderland, England, according to Shirley Blair, director of student teaching.

Kathleen Thomas, a Morehead senior and Ron Hopkins, a Louisville senior, left recently for Great Britain where they will spend the fall semester student teaching in primary and secondary schools. Blair said the 12-week practicum will help fulfill requirements necessary for the students to obtain their Kentucky teaching certificates.

Blair said the exchange program will be a significant experience for the prospective teachers because the British infant/primary school system served as a model for Kentucky's Education Reform Act (KERA), prior to its adoption in 1990.

"We want the students to see how the process differs, and that in itself provides educational enrichment," Blair said. Student teachers will learn more about child-centered assessment, teaching whole language and thematic units.

The program offers a cultural enrichment that is easy on student budgets, Blair emphasized. Participants exchange housing costs and pay for only travel and food.

The students said they were excited about the unique teaching experience. Both agreed that it will help enhance their ability to communicate and understand cultural differences.

"My purpose for going is KERA," Thomas said. "I want the experience to learn and adapt to the way school is taught there." She will teach in a primary school.

When asked if they were nervous about going, Hopkins replied with a grin: "I think the only person who is nervous is my mother!"

This is the third year MSU has participated in the exchange program with the University of Sunderland.

Four students from Sunderland will come to Morehead this spring semester and will be placed in primary schools here for eight weeks.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The Pi Kappa Phi fraternity at Morehead State University raised $1,500 for its philanthropy PUSH (People Understanding Severely Handicapped) America during the 1992-93 academic year.

For its efforts, the MSU chapter has been named to the Red Rose Club for doubling last year's contribution and the PUSH Academy Club for raising more than $1,000.

"Undergraduate students raise funds to support the many projects and programs sponsored by PUSH America, including the donation of adaptive equipment for the disabled," said Stephen Penrose, Maysville sophomore, who is chair of the fraternity's fund raising activities and coordinator of the PUSH America project. Through "partnership grants," donations range from specially designed personal computers to the construction of fully-accessible playgrounds, he added.

"We could not have had so successful a year were it not for the support we received from the students and faculty at MSU," Penrose said.

Student members of Pi Kappa Phi also work with communities and corporations to assist with PUSH America's educational programs that range from the "Kids on the Block" traveling puppet show for elementary school children to the "Journey of Hope" cross country bicycle trip.

Officers for the MSU chapter of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity are: G. Russ Boyd, Jr., Paintsville senior, president, and Matt Preston, McDermott, Ohio, junior, vice president.

JAYNE STADIUM PLAQUE UNVEILED AT RECEPTION

A new, permanent plaque tracing the history of the name of Morehead State University's Jayne Stadium recently was unveiled at a reception honoring the Jayne family. Participating in the ceremony were, from left, Mrs. Bonnie Eaglin, MSU President Ron Eaglin, Mrs. Nola J. Rogers of Owingsville and Mrs. Phyllis J. Bradley of Morehead. Mrs. Rogers is a daughter of the stadium namesake, the late W. L. Jayne, and Mrs. Bradley is a grandchild. The plaque has been installed near one of the front gates of the stadium.

JAYNE STADIUM

This is the second facility to bear the honorable name of the late William LeGrande Jayne, a native of Boyd County, who devoted his adult life to educating the people of Eastern Kentucky, first in the public schools and, finally, as head of the rural school and extension department of Morehead State Teachers College, now Morehead State University. At the time of his death in 1930 Professor Jayne was eulogized as "a man of the mountains and a mountain of a man in the eyes of the people." The institution's first stadium was named Jayne Memorial Stadium in his honor by the Board of Regents in 1931. That recognition was reaffirmed in 1964 with the construction of the new facility identified as Jayne Stadium.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Department of Music will host the 34th annual Choral Festival for High School Singers, Nov. 8-9, in Duncan Recital Hall.

On Monday, Nov. 8, at 8 p.m., the University's Concert Choir and Chamber Singers, both directed by James Ross Beane, MSU associate professor of music and festival director, will share the stage.

The Chamber Singers will perform motets and madrigals by Byrd, Bateson, Weelkes, and Bennet, and "Three Shakespeare Songs" by David Reznick. Selections from Johannes Brahms' "Liebeslieder Walzer, op. 52," also are on the program. For the Liebeslieder, the singers will be accompanied by duo pianists Larry Keenan, MSU professor of music, and Jo-Anne Keenan, MSU instructor of music.

The Concert Choir's program includes choruses by Haydn and di Lasso. The choir will also perform "A Day for Dancing" by Lloyd Pfautsch, with an instrumental ensemble.

Instrumentalists performing with the choir are Kenneth Meeker, a Russellville, Ohio, junior on flute; Kathy Hunt, a Louisville sophomore, on oboe; Mary Ellen Wiederwohl, a Brandenburg freshman on bassoon; and percussionists J.J. Pipitone, a senior from Rochester, N.Y., and Brett Ballard, a graduate student from Salt Lick. The accompanist is Bettsy Hensley, a Maysville junior.

On Tuesday, Nov. 9, at 7 p.m., a 300-voice chorus composed of high school students from schools in Kentucky and Ohio will be conducted by John Dickson, professor of conducting at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville. The choir will be accompanied by a brass choir and MSU associate professor Jay Flippin.

The chorus will sing: "Te Deum" by John Rutter; "Arise, Your Light Has Come" by David Danner; "Cantate Domino" by Hassler; "If Ye Love Me, Keep My Commandments" by Tallis; folk songs arranged by Hoddinott, Wilberg and Mulholland, and an African chorus, "Betelehemu," arranged by Jonathan Crutchfield.

Both concerts are free and open to the public.

(MORE)

Concert Choir and/or Chamber Singers members are listed by hometown:

MOREHEAD, Ky.---General admission tickets for the premiere of "Me 'n Susie" are now on sale at Morehead State University's Office of Student Activities, located on the second floor of Adron Doran University Center.

Reservations for the Friday, Nov. 12, performance may be made by calling (606) 783-2071 and tickets should be picked up by 4 p.m. at the Student Activities Office the day of the production. General admission tickets to the performance are $10 each. Show time is 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium.

Written and performed by Dr. Shirley Gish, MSU associate professor of speech, "Me 'n Susie" is an original one-woman show celebrating the lives of Dr. C. Louise Caudill and her nurse associate Susie Halbleib.

Dr. Louise and Susie, as they are known in the region, dramatically changed the course of health care in Eastern Kentucky.

The production, a benefit for MSU's Theatre Program, is directed by Dr. Travis Lockhart, MSU associate professor of theatre, with Dr. William J. Layne, MSU associate professor of theatre, as scene designer.

In addition, proceeds from a $50 per plate special pre-performance dinner have been earmarked to support the Theatre Program. Invitations to the pre-show dinner and a post-performance dessert party are already in the mail and have a Nov. 5 deadline for responding. Information on the dinner may be obtained by calling Shirley Parker at the MSU Foundation at (606) 783-2374.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Building upon diversity, preserving women's stories and creativity will be the topics addressed by the featured speakers at the 1993 Wilma E. Grote Symposium for the Advancement of Women at Morehead State University.

This year's symposium, the third, is scheduled Thursday through Saturday, Nov. 4-6, in the Adron Doran University Center. Its focus is "Women: Moving Toward Influence and Leadership in the 21st Century."

Keynote speakers include Dr. Shirley Gish, an MSU associate professor of speech and writer; Dr. Patricia Hill Collins, black feminist author and a member of the University of Cincinnati faculty, and Dr. Ann E. Kleine-Kracht, humor educator and nursing faculty member at Bellarmine College.

Dr. Gish will be the speaker for a general session on Friday, Nov. 5, at 9 a.m., when she will discuss "Let's Keep Talking: Preserving Women's Stories." Dr. Gish, who holds the Ph.D. degree from the University of Arizona, has several original scripts to her credit, many of which recount the accomplishments of extraordinarily talented women.

Using her latest work, a one-woman show on the life of Dr. Claire Louise Caudill, as a backdrop, Dr. Gish will share the process used to collect and prepare an oral biography. She is the recipient of three residency grants for playwriting from the Helene Wurlitzer Foundation in Taos, N.M.

Dr. Collins, an associate professor in UC's departments of African-American Studies and Sociology, will be the speaker for symposium banquet slated for 6 p.m. Friday, Nov. 5. Her topic will be "Building Unity from Diversity: Challenges of Leadership in Changing Times."

Holding the Ph.D. degree from Brandeis University, she has written numerous articles for various professional journals, contributed to other publications and served as a consultant for a number of institutions, businesses and community organizations. Her third book, "Fighting Words: Knowledge, Power and the Challenge of Black Feminist Thought," is scheduled to be published by the University of Minnesota Press next year.

Symposium Speakers

Dr. Kleine-Kracht, a former dean of the School of Nursing at Bellarmine College, has been in private practice as a nurse family therapist for 17 years. She will speak on "Leadership and Creativity" at the closing banquet at noon Saturday, Nov. 6.

Dr. Kleine-Kracht, who earned the Doctor of Nursing Science from Indiana University, is a member of the National Speakers Association, the American Nurses Association and the American Holistic Nurses Association. She frequently consults and conducts workshops for corporations and community organizations. She is known for presenting her message with a touch of humor.

The symposium will open with workshop sessions on Thursday, Nov. 4, beginning at 2 p.m. Registration starts at noon. Coordinated by a steering committee from MSU's ad hoc committee on women's studies, the symposium has drawn presenters from all over the United States.

Among the topics to be examined in relation to women are leadership strategies, spirituality, "Womenergy," mentoring, politics, assertiveness and education.

The registration fee, including meal functions, for those registering by Oct. 29 will be $70 for all three days or $40 for a single day. The registration cost after Oct. 29 and at the door will be $90 for all sessions or $55 per day.

Students may attend all sessions—except meals—at no charge, but must register in advance. Those wanting to attend the meal functions will be charged $10 per day.

A special registration fee of $35 for the entire symposium or $20 per day will be available to MSU faculty and staff members who register by Oct. 29. After that, they will be assessed a $45 fee.

Registrations, with checks payable to Morehead State University, may be mailed to the Women's Symposium, Morehead State University, 201 Ginger Hall, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. Reservations also may be faxed to (606) 783-2678.

Additional information or registration forms may be obtained by calling MSU at (606) 783-2004.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.—WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University's campus, was among the top winners of this year's Kentucky Associated Press statewide competition for broadcast media.

Overall, WMKY earned three first place awards, three second place awards and an honorable mention in the competition.

"I'm very proud of the accomplishments of our staff," said Larry Netherton, WMKY general manager. "These awards acknowledge the talent and dedication of our professional staff, while recognizing the achievements of our students and volunteers who continue to make significant contributions to WMKY's programming."

Individual staff members cited were Chuck Mraz, sports and special events director; Tom Lewis, news and public affairs director, Dave Daugherty, a former graduate assistant at the station, and Dr. John Modaff, MSU assistant professor of speech and a faculty volunteer at WMKY.

Lewis won first place in the enterprise/investigative category for his local follow-up to an ABC-TV report alleging improprieties by a major grocery store chain.

"I felt the ABC piece needed balance," Lewis said. "The people of Rowan County had the right to know the truth. The only effective way this could be accomplished was with a comparison of all county grocery stores over an extended period of time," Lewis said.

Lewis also earned second place in the best reporter category, second place in documentary category for a "Focus on the Region" show on Lees College, and an honorable mention for a feature on model trains.

The WMKY sports department received first and second place awards for its weekly series, "Sidelines." A feature by Daugherty on an area karate school took first place, while another feature on major league baseball tryout camps by Mraz picked up a second place award. The judges took note of Mraz's pacing and delivery.

"Although these awards represent only two individual features, I believe they are indicative of the work ethic present in our professional and student staff on a daily basis," Mraz said.

Dr. Modaff, the volunteer producer of "Focus on Education" which airs the third Tuesday of the month at 7:30 p.m., was the first place winner in the documentary competition. The judges praised his use of music and noted that his topic was well conceived, well executed and highly interesting.

According to the producer, it was the people he interviewed which made the piece a success. "Focus on Education" works because the people of this region are willing to talk openly about advances and innovation in education," Dr. Modaff said.

The AP awards were presented earlier this month at the Kentucky Broadcasters Association fall conference in Lexington.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Arts in Morehead (AIM) will present an evening of family entertainment featuring the Wood and Strings Puppet Theatre on Wednesday, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m. in Button Auditorium at Morehead State University.

Two productions are scheduled that evening: "An Ire-ish Tale," the story of two poor peasants who have been granted three wishes, and "Out of the Mist...a Dragon," a magical tale of an ill-fated pair of Japanese lovers.

AIM is a cooperative effort of MSU and the Morehead/Rowan County Arts Council.

General admission tickets will be available at the door on the evening of the performance at $6 for adults and $3 for non-MSU students and children. MSU students with valid I.D. cards will be admitted free.

"The performance is scheduled to begin 30 minutes earlier than traditional AIM productions in order to encourage families to attend," said Thom Yancy, AIM program chair. "Although the stories are simplistic in nature, the visual effects are breath-takingly stunning," he added.

During its visit to the MSU campus, Wood and Strings Puppet Theatre will present two performances for area primary school children and a master class for MSU theatre and art students.

While an "Ire-ish Tale" is full of detailed masks, colorful costumes and endearing puppets, "Out of the Mist" is a journey around the world of traditional folk puppetry, according to Wood and Strings artistic director Clarissa Lega.

The show uses reproductions of carved masks of Native Americans on the Northwest Coast, Punch and Judy from Europe and the rarely seen shadow puppets of Indonesia. However, the main characters are reproductions of the exquisite classical style of Japanese puppetry known as Bunraku.

"They become very lifelike after you start posturing them," said Lega, who carefully researched the Bunraku movement. The two male Bunraku puppets stand four feet tall and the young princess is three feet six inches.

Each Bunraku figure features jet-black hair, alabaster white skin, exaggerated eyes and richly detailed kimonos. The puppeteers are dressed in traditional black, complete with black hoods that cover the face. Sometimes it takes as many as three puppeteers to operate a single puppet.

Lega and Leon Fuller, her husband, created Wood and Strings Puppet Theatre, a professional touring company which is part of the Tennessee Arts Commission's Touring Arts Program and the Visiting Artists Program of the Southern Arts Federation.

The company operates on a year-round schedule with three or four puppeteers, three productions and a host of many different types of puppets. One of the most requested artists associated with Tennessee's "Art on the Road" program, Wood and Strings tours regionally throughout the Southeast.

Additional information on the Nov. 3 performance or a group rate on tickets are available by calling (606) 783-2602.

AIM's next presentation, the popular musical "Cotton Patch Gospel," is scheduled for April 18.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Morehead State University students will hold a rally and scroll signing on Wednesday, Nov. 3, to protest the proposed tuition increase for the next school year.

The activity, sponsored by the Student Government Association's Student Advocates for Higher Education (S.A.F.E.) committee, will take place on the lawn of Fields Hall from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m.

According to Tonia Rice, Mt. Sterling freshman and committee chair, all the state regional universities have planned a rally for the same day. "We want to get the word out," she said. "I have talked with numerous students who were unaware that there was discussion of an increase in tuition."

The student signatures will be presented to members of the Council on Higher Education who are expected to vote on the proposed increase at a Nov. 8 meeting in Lexington.

"We are looking at a 5 to 14 percent increase for 1994-95," Rice noted.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Ray A. Young Bear, Native American prose and poetry writer, will read from his work at Morehead State University on Monday, Nov. 8, in 111 Claypool-Young Art Building at 8 p.m.

The event, which is free and open to the public, will be followed by a 9 p.m. reception in honor of the writer in the Alumni Center.

Young Bear is a lifetime resident of the Mesquakie (Red Earth) Tribal Settlement in central rural Iowa. He has been an active contributor to the field and the study of Native American writing for nearly two decades.

His work has appeared in many of the nation's foremost literary journals and anthologies, including American Poetry Review, The Georgia Review, The Kenyon Review, and "The Harper Anthology of 20th Century Native American Poetry."

Young Bear's books include "The Invisible Musician," and "Black Eagle Child: The Facepaint Narratives." The latter was described in the New York Time Book Review section as "a dizzying recreation in poetry and prose of the author's life." Kirkus Review called it "a milestone in Native American literature."

The reading is sponsored by MSU's Office of Student Life and the Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy. Additional information is available by calling Dr. Michelle Boisseau, associate professor of English, at (606) 783-2201 or 783-2185.

Friday, Nov. 19, 8 p.m., Memorial Hall, University of Kentucky, contact (606) 257-4900.

The concert program will feature chamber music by Danzi, Klughardt, Bozza, Ligeti and Dahl.

Members of the MSU Department of Music's resident faculty woodwind quintet include Dr. Robert Pritchard, flute; Dr. John Viton, oboe; Michael Acord, clarinet; Dr. Jennifer Schuler, bassoon, and L. Curtis Hammond, horn.

An associate professor, Dr. Pritchard earned the D.M.A. degree from Boston University and has been a member of the MSU music faculty since 1972. He has played principal flute with the Lexington Philharmonic since 1980 and is a charter member of the Kentucky Governor's School for the Arts in Louisville, where he taught for two summers. While serving in the U.S. Air Force as principal flute of the 564th Tactical Air Command Band at Langley Air Force Base, he also was principal flute of the Peninsula Symphony in Newport News, Va.

Earning his M.M. and D.M.A. degrees from Yale University, Dr. Viton, an assistant professor, has been at MSU since 1988. The primary teachers he studied with include Ronald Roseman, Robert Bloom and John Bentley. A former faculty member at Columbus (Ga.) College, he served as principal oboe for the Columbus Symphony. He has participated in the Bach Aria Festival, the Yale Summer School of Music and Art and the Festival Internationale d'Evian in Evian, France.

An MSU alumnus, Acord earned a M.M. degree in clarinet performance from Michigan State University, studying with Elsa Ludwig-Verdehr. He also was a student of William Bigham, MSU professor emeritus of music, and Stanley Hasty. Formerly the principal clarinet for the Eastman Wind Ensemble and the Midland-Odessa (Texas) Symphony, the assistant professor currently is principal flute for the Lexington Philharmonic. He is a frequent soloist and chamber performer in the central Kentucky area.

Dr. Schuler, an assistant professor, holds the D.M.A. degree from the State University of New York-Stony Brook. The principal second bassoon of the Lexington Philharmonic, she joined the MSU faculty in 1991 and teaches, in addition to bassoon, music history and literature and music theory as well as coaching chamber music. She has performed in summer music festivals at Waterloo, Norfolk, Chautauqua and Buffalo.

Hammond, also an assistant professor, joined the MSU faculty this fall. He earned the M.M. degree with the Artist Diploma at the Cleveland Institute of Music and has completed his coursework toward the D.M.A. degree at Florida State University. He has performed in the Cleveland Orchestra, Ohio Chamber Orchestra, Florida Orchestra and the National Repertory Orchestra.

Earlier this year, the quintet also performed at the 1993 College Music Society Convention held at Ohio State University.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's resident faculty woodwinds quintet, the Baird Winds, will appear in concert at 8 p.m. in Memorial Hall at the University of Kentucky on Friday, Nov. 19.

The performance is one of a series of free, public concerts to be given during a statewide tour that week. The program will feature chamber music by Danzi, Klughardt, Bozza, Ligeti and Dahl.

Members of the MSU Department of Music's resident faculty woodwind quintet include Dr. Robert Pritchard, flute; Dr. John Viton, oboe; Michael Acord, clarinet; Dr. Jennifer Schuler, bassoon, and L. Curtis Hammond, horn.

An associate professor, Dr. Pritchard earned the D.M.A. degree from Boston University and has been a member of the MSU music faculty since 1972. He has played principal flute with the Lexington Philharmonic since 1980 and is a charter member of the Kentucky Governor's School for the Arts in Louisville, where he taught for two summers. While serving in the U.S. Air Force as principal flute of the 564th Tactical Air Command Band at Langley Air Force Base, he also was principal flute of the Peninsula Symphony in Newport News, Va.

Earning his M.M. and D.M.A. degrees from Yale University, Dr. Viton, an assistant professor, has been at MSU since 1988. The primary teachers he studied with include Ronald Roseman, Robert Bloom and John Bentley. A former faculty member at Columbus (Ga.) College, he served as principal oboe for the Columbus Symphony. He has participated in the Bach Aria Festival, the Yale Summer School of Music and Art and the Festival Internationale d'Evian in Evian, France.

An MSU alumnus, Acord earned a M.M. degree in clarinet performance from Michigan State University, studying with Elsa Ludwig-Verdehr. He also was a student of William Bigham, MSU professor emeritus of music, and Stanley Hasty. Formerly the principal clarinet for the Eastman Wind Ensemble and the Midland-Odessa (Texas) Symphony, the assistant professor currently is principal flute for the Lexington Philharmonic. He is a frequent soloist and chamber performer in the central Kentucky area.

Dr. Schuler, an assistant professor, holds the D.M.A. degree from the State University of New York-Stony Brook. The principal second bassoon of the Lexington Philharmonic, she joined the MSU faculty in 1991 and teaches, in addition to bassoon, music history and literature and music theory as well as coaching chamber music. She has performed in summer music festivals at Waterloo, Norfolk, Chautauqua and Buffalo.

Hammond, also an assistant professor, joined the MSU faculty this fall. He earned the M.M. degree with the Artist Diploma at the Cleveland Institute of Music and has completed his coursework toward the D.M.A. degree at Florida State University. He has performed in the Cleveland Orchestra, Ohio Chamber Orchestra, Florida Orchestra and the National Repertory Orchestra.

Earlier this year, the quintet also performed at the 1993 College Music Society Convention held at Ohio State University.

Additional information on the concert is available by calling (606) 257-4900.

HOMEcoming AT MSU: A Picture Story

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Alumni and friends of Morehead State University were among the campus visitors to take part in the annual Homecoming celebration (Oct. 22-23).

From the Faculty and Staff Coffee to the Fish Fry, activities for the weekend included time for lots of hugs, remembering and joyful companionship as the reminiscing continued throughout the weekend.

Reunions were held for former cheerleaders and mascots, Student Government Association presidents and the Class of '43.

Cutlines:

- 1---At the faculty and staff coffee, Doug Snedegar and Patty Crank, staff members in MSU's Office of Publications and Printing Services, moved through the serving line.
- 2---Sharing jokes was the order of the day at the Welcome Reception for these alumni. They are, from left, John Collis ('49) of Morehead, Ann ('61) and Doug ('62) Hayes of Inez, and Arlie Whitaker ('56) of Dupont, Ind.
- 3---The Athletic Hall of Fame banquet was the setting for inductions ceremonies for five individuals who influenced sports at MSU. Honored were, from left, Dr. Nolan Fowler of Cookeville, Tenn., track coach from 1953 to '57; Lawrence Marzetti ('39) of Annapolis, Md., football; Norm Pokley ('67) of Washington, Mich., basketball; John Christopher ('83) of Norwalk, Ohio, football, and Ron Gaithright ('70) of Louisville, basketball.
- 4---Martha and Clyde ('38) Smith of Dunedin, Fla., were among those attending the fish fry. The Smiths are former residents of Morehead where Clyde retired as an agent for State Farm Insurance.
