GOOD WORK IS DONE

Ringing Resolutions Are Adopted Final Day of Session

The Fayette County Teachers' Institute closed Friday with the interest and enthusiasm at their height. The morning session opened with a vocal solo by Rev. Mr. Wilson Stewart. Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart made the opening address on the subject, "The Child," showing the importance of recognizing the various interests of the child and directing them toward their highest development.

Miss Emily Owing favored the institute with a delightful vocal solo. Dr. J. A. Handy, of Versailles, advocated a plan that each school secure a one-acre plot for school garden purposes.

Dr. Thomas Holloway spoke on the subject of "Sanitation." After this address the institute paid a very high tribute to Kentucky women, declaring that Kentucky had given a million women to the Union. Dr. Stucky was kind enough to say that he would be glad in the spread of his views on cleanliness as a preventative of disease.

R. S. Endick presented the Children's Home Society work, requesting the teachers to observe one day during Thanksgiving week contributions to the orphanage of the home.

Mrs. Wilson Stewart spoke on "School Board." Much interest was manifested by the teachers, and Mrs. Stewart was bombarded with questions at the close of her lecture. The institute closed with the reading and adoption of the resolutions. Superintendent Faulconer asked if there were any amendments. Upon extending the floor, Belle McCubbing offered a resolution providing that Mrs. Wilson Stewart be chosen as a member of the board of the Fayette County Institute for life. The motion carried unanimously.

All praised Superintendent G. Faulconer's management of the Institute.

Superintendent Bennie Higgins, of Garrard County; Superintendent Turley, of Hardin County, and Superintendent Lanier, of Oldham County, were among the visitors.

The Resolutions.

Resolutions adopted by the Fayette County Institute in its closing session were:

1. First—Resolved, that we extend our hearty appreciation to Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart for the able instruction received during the week and for the inspiration she has given us the entire year. After seeing and knowing Mrs. Stewart, we understand the enthusiasm exhibited in her county and feel confident that her direction will be of the utmost benefit to the school district to which she is assigned.

2. Second—Resolved, that we express our approval and thanks to Mr. T. J. Contos, for his efforts in behalf of improvement and the conditions of our rural problems.

3. Third—Resolved, that our thanks are due to those who have contributed so much for our instruction and enjoyment, and it is hoped that their enjoyment has been enhanced by their unselfish endeavors in enriching our minds from the fruits of knowledge. Names: Dr. McKee, Mr. Crossfield, Messrs. W. I. Martin, W. C. T. Nee, F. C. Bogue, Miss E. Eubank, C. H. Lewis, Mr. Linda Neville, Dr. T. C. Holloway, and Dr. A. Stucky.

The vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. M. A. Coody and Miss Catherine Christian of the class in domestic science for their enjoyable lunch and reception accorded the teachers by the Sotter High School. Also to Mrs. Sallie Johnson Burgin for her beautiful hospitality enjoyed by the institute on Thursday afternoon.

1. Fifth—Resolved, that we express regret in the death of our friend, Miss Margaret Gilchrist, whose absence is very much felt by her coworkers.

2. Sixth—Resolved, that for the enjoyable music furnished the institute, a vote of thanks be extended to Miss Hulls, Miss Susan, Miss E. J. Maro, Miss Isabella Higginson, and Miss Emily Owens.

3. Seventh—Resolved, that for the continued efforts in securing for the teachers the best that is attainable in everything cultural and educational. Every teacher, patron and even the whole county pays a debt of thanks to the institute for all the work they do. In honor of this work, the institute's session was closed with music and a vote of thanks to all.

Therefore, we, as a body of teachers, offer our appreciation and support to the beloved superintendent, Mrs. Annie G. Faulconer.
