Stanley K Iverson

THE PUBLIC'S CROSBY CAN be a nuisance sometimes—just ask Bob Byers. Last week while guarding a house for Dr. I. M. Garred on the lot across from the Science building, numerous passerby would stop and tell him they were worried because it looked as though the house wasn't going to have any doors and windows. Finally, after several persons in succession had queried him, Bob got down from the roof mounting to his assistant, "Blame them! I'm going down to cut in a window so everybody will be satisfied."

CURT HUTCHINSON, WHO HAS been doing business on Second since the flood, (first) advised that his house being built on College Street is going to be the best looking one in town. Any challenges?

LEE E. C. HAGGAN'S FAVORITE story about his dog which lies down and pretends he'd rather be a dead pup instead of a Republican is this story about J. L. Holbrook concerning a dead pup. J. L.'s pup recently went to the Happy Hunting Grounds for Canines. J. L.'s wife told him on the day of the death of the dog that she was putting the pup in a box in the back of his car and J. L. could buy the pup on his way to Huntington that day. Later on the day J. L. arrived in Huntington, down in the loop a salesman got in the car with J. L. but before he got down he drew a short breath and said, "There's a something smells..." J. L. replied, "Hell-O! I forgot. I've got a dead pup in the back of the car. I forgot all about burying him on the way up."

TREASURER ELMY SHANNON commented to his friends after the election that although Kern Johnson's name, Miss Johnson advised that it was a happy ending.

DEAR WOODS—TALKING about elections, you wouldn't shoot any chance, would you, or would you? After all we must preserve the dignity of the office.

Mrs. Emma Tolliver ordered her own monument four days before she was drowned in our recent flood. She told the salesman that she did not feel like she was going to live but just a few more days.

Mark Logan has some old bill-of-sale made for negro slaves owned by his ancestors. He has promised to bring me one. From what I have heard they run something like this: I sell to John Doe (1) "Nigger" for the sum of $500.00 to be paid one day after date. I guarantee this "Nigger" whose name is "Sam" to be sound and in good shape. I will copy this bill-of-sale when Mark brings it in.

By-the-way he has a brother who works on the high seas that chews snuff. He was here on a visit last week and used my telephone talking to a local girl thirty-five minutes. First thing we know we will have a land-lubber right here in Morehead. (Get off my back Iverson, who can consecrate with a Norwegian hanging on his back?)

Charge Craney Boy With Making Entry Into Post Office

Wm. Bishop, Postmaster, Lies In Wait For Culprits In Store

Edward Law, Craney, was placed in the county jail Sunday on a charge of breaking and entering the store of Wm. Bishop, postmaster, at Craney. Law is being held for an examining trial, pending the arrival of the postal inspector assigned to this district. Bishop's store contains the post-office.

Law was released on $500 bond Tuesday morning. Bishop told county officials that he had been missing money from his store for sometime. He had put a padlock on the front door but found it undisturbed. Then he discovered the entrance was being made by a rear window.

Saturday afternoon he told friends he was going to Blaine to visit a sick brother. Instead he padlocked the front door and went in the building by the rear window to lay in wait for the visitors.

Some time later, Law, he alleges, opened the window and crawled in while a companion stood guard outside. Bishop seized Law but was unable to identify that day. Later on the day J. L. arrived in Huntington, down in the loop a salesman got in the car with J. L. but before he got down he drew a short breath and said, "There's a something smells..." J. L. replied, "Hell-O! CAPITOL COMMENTS...

By David H. Fowler

On January 19, we announced a poll among the readers of the papers who run Capitol Comments. On February 29 we published the results of this poll. The astounding thing to the poll-taker here at Frankfort is that the poll was 97.2 percent accurate as far back as February. I know that the people who are readers of this column are citizens whose opinion coincides with that of most Kentuckians, and the results of the election which agree with the poll, verifies our belief.

Students of music and art in the seventh grade of the public schools, may be without text books on the subject, because of a peculiar situation.

Many of the schools in the State do not have facilities to teach music and art and as a result, should not, and some do not teach these subjects, but high powered book salesmen get them to take these books as the State pays for them. The State, on the money it has, is furnishing all books to students up through the seventh grade. If they didn't have to furnish these music and art books they could supply many of the books for the eighth grade pupils.

The law requires that the books have to be furnished to the grades in sequence, that is all the books have to be supplied to each grade before they can start buying for another grade. The Superintendent of Public Instruction wants a ruling on this, as the money spent on art and music books that are not used, could furnish many books to the eighth grade students.

Some farmers have already suffered losses on their tobacco crops from thieves stealing from their barns. Many of the farmers are sleeping in tents near their barns in order to guard their crop and all farmers should watch their tobacco to prevent losses which made an enormous total last year.

YOUTHS ESCAPE DEATH IN HIGHWAY MISHAP

Three Pike county youths narrowly escaped death Saturday evening when the Plymouth sport roadster in which they were riding overturned on the West Liberty road five miles southeast of Morehead.

The boys, all about 18 years old, were enroute to Maysville. First aid was given by Dr. G. C. Nickell. Absorbed seven stitches being required to close a wound in one boy's head.

CAREY 100 PERCENT ATTENDANCE

One school is boasting 100 percent attendance. The Carey school district worked very hard this month for the goal of perfect attendance. The first month last year a 100 percent attendance was reported. This school is small, the enrollment being 100 pupils, but nevertheless the pupils and teacher have a school that is a pleasure to visit, says Mrs. Mabel Atkey, Rowan County attendance officer.

Tobacco Program Changed By Four AAA Amendments

Passed by Congress And Signed By The President

Farmers may sell without penalty all the tobacco they produce on their tobacco-acreage allotments whenever marketing quotas may be in effect in the future, says M. D. Royle, chairman of the State Agricultural Adjustment committee. This is a change in the tobacco marketing quota provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, made by one of four amendments passed by Congress and signed by the President.

Formerly farmers had both acreage allotments and marketing quotas in a fixed number of pounds, and sometimes, even though the acreage allotment was increased, the quotas remained the same. The amendments provide that the marketing quotas be based on the actual production of tobacco on their acreage allotments.

The three other amendments to the Farm Act tobacco provisions change the date for fixing tobacco marketing quotas, provide that a second referendum on buying and selling tobacco be held, and put the penalty for excess marketing on a flat rate per pound instead of a percentage of the gross price.

The amendment which makes the market quota the actual production of a farmer's tobacco allotment also provides for an increase in the allotment for small farms. For farms that have a normal production of less than 2,200 pounds for fire-cured and less than 2,400 pounds for other (Continued on page 2)

Red Cross Spending Of $31,154 For Flood Relief In Rowan County

More than thirty-one thousand dollars has been given to flood-ravaged families by the American National Red Cross in Rowan county since the disaster of July 5, according to an announcement by W. H. Rice, chairman of the public advisory committee.

Six members composed the committee, including one from Clearfield and one from Haldeman, which passed on all the cases submitted by the Red Cross workers.

A total of 694 families registered for aid, six short of the total predicted the week following the flood. Of this number 624 received some type of assistance. Administrative Costs Not Included The Red Cross gave $31,154.77 to aid rehabilitation in this county. Administrative costs were not included in this figure. Attorney General Rules Voting For Carl Jones Invalid

J. B. Rose Given Certificate Of Nomination On Democratic Ticket

J. B. Rose was given the certificate of nomination on the Democratic ticket for the circuit court clerk's office by the election commissioners last week, after they had received a ruling from Attorney General E. A. Tamm, in which that Rose was the only candidate properly filed.

Carl Jones, a write-in candidate, received more votes but since he did not file his name as the only candidate seeking the office referred to who had properly filed his petition and application to have his name placed upon the primary ballot.

Meredith's letter to the commissioners reads as follows: "Under a statement of fact which did not fully present the situation, General Heitfield, under date of August 9, 1939, wrote an opinion which was concurred in by me, to the effect that Carl Jones, if received a greater number of votes than J. B. Rose, which had been cast in the manner provided by the statutes was entitled to the Democratic nomination to the office of Circuit Clerk of Rowan County."

"Since that opinion was written it has developed that General Heitfield was not in possession of all of the facts and that J. B. Rose was the only candidate seeking the office referred to who had properly filed his petition and application to have his name placed upon the primary ballot."

"This being true, Mr. Rose was entitled to the certificate of nomination before the primary was held since the provisions of section 1556-4 of Kentucky Statutes (which followed)."

"Since Mr. Rose was entitled to the certificate of nomination before the primary was held, and since he was voted upon and all votes cast in that race were a nullity. "Therefore, your board, in making your canvass and certifications, should ignore the vote and make no certifications whatever of the votes which were cast in that race."

NYA Youths Help Schools Clean Up

Boys Deliver Equipment, Haul Trash, Paint, Scrub, Disinfect

One of the most profitable projects the county has ever had is the N. Y. A., said an announcement issued at the Rowan Board of Education's office this week. The Board sponsors the project.

The N. Y. A. youths, under the supervision of Charles E. Jennings since July 12, made a special effort to clean up the schools damaged by the July flood, ready for the annual opening.

Some of the work accomplished by the boys included: Six toilets built, four repaired, cleaned and disinfected, eight dug and boxed, 4,100 square feet of floors sited, 5,180 square feet of flooded floors and sidewalks cleaned, nine window panes replaced, two window sashes replaced, eight window sashes delivered, four primary reading tables delivered.

Four teachers desks, eight single seats, 14 double seats and 165 square feet of blackboard delivered. One well cleaned out, 5,196 square feet of painting done, weeds cut and bushes and trash removed from more than four acres and a half acres of playground, 2,577 board feet salvaged from buildings and delivered to New Home school and Haldeman for repair, 900 board feet.

"There can be no estimate, says the report," of the help that these boys and their supervisor are rendering to the schools of Rowan County."

Merchants Group Discusses Phone Service With M'Nish

General Manager Sends Repair Man, Chief Operator To Check On Service

A committee from the Merchants Club and Kelley McNish, general manager of the Ashland Home Telephone Co., discussed ways and means to improve the local telephone service at a meeting here last Tuesday.

The committee, composed of William Lane, J. R. Wendel, Harry Goldberg, Woody Hinton and Mrs. J. R. Wendel, informed McNish of the many complaints voiced about the city concerning the service, citing specific incidents of serious inconvenience.

McNish expressed himself as being anxious to make any adjustments possible to improve the service, and promised he would make a thorough investigation to find the cause of the trouble.

Extra Service Man Called A service man was sent here Sunday for the purpose of inspecting the equipment and making repairs where needed. Mrs. F. R. Miller, chief local operator, and J. R. Miller, chief local operator, are cooperating with her fully to perfect the service, and they were glad to correct any difficulties which were reported to them.

New Directory Coming McNish announced that a new directory will be published about two weeks. He told the committee that service could be improved considerably if subscribers would stop the habit of calling by numbers instead of by names.

He requested the committee to report back within ten days whether or not any improvement had been noted in the service.

Solving Housing Problem Certain things seem to be true about the much-discussed housing situation. It is true that home building in the United States has not kept pace with the increasing number of families, and that a high proportion of homes are out of date and should be replaced with new dwellings.

SEAS' BRANCH

A report is given below from the practical teachers at the Seas Branch School.

"Practic teaching in the rural school has helped me in many ways. It is a situation most of us will face when we go out to teach a school of our own."

"I have learned about organizing the work, making a program for more than one grade, how you would handle three grades, discipline problems, and being able to work without very much equipment."

"This experience is really worth while because you're doing just about what you will have to do in your own school."

"The kind of experience at the rural school is what the practical teachers really need when they ask for training. They can then carry what they have learned back and use it in their own schools. I have learned how to keep others busy while teaching another grade. I have learned how to carry out a unit in the country school. I have learned how to make out a program for a rural school and how to group the children. I am thankful for the above opportunity and feel that because of this experience the past month, that I will be better able to serve the community in which I am to teach."

UPPER LICK FORK
Robert Pennington, teacher

Upper Lick Fork School opened Monday, July 24th, with 35 children present. The crowd of last year has four new faces in its midst. Three new young, tender facts are forcing their way into the school room activities, and the fourth is a fourth grade pupil that moved into Upper Lick District from Oak Grove.

The old students are giving the new students a friendly welcome in all the playground activities.

Many of the patrons have visited our school. We extend a hearty welcome to those who have not visited us and hope they will do so in the very near future.

Pictures, pamphlets, rock collections and several new games give the children plenty to enjoy themselves with at leisure periods.

The excessive rainfall Monday afternoon caused the creek to come up around the house the night before. We all waded out through the swift water. Several pupils were washed down. The only loss was a pair of shoes. Elvies Reeves let go after washing for about 15 to 20 feet. Elvies was brought to safety by Cillie Reeves and Johnson Watson.

Our well was under water again Monday. We under hope it will be cleared so we may not lose any time from our work getting water from the neighbor's wells.

POPLAR GROVE SCHOOL

C. H. McBrayer, teacher

The enrollment has reached 43 for the first month, with most all of them coming regularly.

We have cleaned the school yard of brush and weeds, making it a much better place in which to play games.

We are thankful to Dan McGill, Bill Justice and Lee Quinberry for coming out and cleaning the well and making a new cover for it. This surely was appreciated by the school as well as we appreciate the interest they are taking in our school work.

There have been several visitors at the school this month and we are glad to have had them with us. We invite the parents who haven't been with us yet to visit.

Due to the interest of the parents, plus our own enthusiasm, we are looking forward to having a real school here this year.

Following is a list of those who have come every day this month: Carl Fultz, Talanage Philz, Ralph Boyce, William Sloan, Gless Smith, Ervin, Ray and Cecil Thornberry, Denny Rowe, Beal, Charles Jr., and Phoebe Dillon, George A. Fultz, Marvin and Norma Smith, Louise.

Red Cross Expresses Appreciation For Aid During Stay in City

President H. A. Babb received a letter from Helen J. Moses, assistant director of the Northeastern Kentucky Red Cross Relief, Washington, D. C., early this week expressing her appreciation for the cooperation of the College during the flood emergency period.

Miss Moses wrote in part: "From the very beginning it would have been impossible to build care of the many needs of homes, and suffering from shock and hysteria, had it not been for you and the fine faculty members of the college."

"Also, from a cost factor, it saved us from unnecessary expenditure making it possible for the relief fund to be used for relief purposes rather than for overhead expenditures."

A note of appreciation was received by the Morehead Independent from Miss Moses' associate, M. R. Reddy, director, who wrote:

"It was a pleasure to note the tone of publicity which seemed to build community morale. Without this both our emergency and rehabilitation programs would have been most difficult."

"Personally I was for nine years a news reporter; I have been in disaster relief work for twenty-one years, and I know how important constructive publicity is in any rehabilitation program."

He was determined to make the World's Fair in New York but his funds were exhausted before he reached Upper Tygart so he let his wife, Aggie, her aunt take charge of everything. When I last heard from them they were limiting him to two five-cent hot-dogs a day. Boy I bet he will be glad to get back to those gas tanks.
