Murray Thorobreds Sweep Eagles From Ranks Of Undefeated

Eagles Claim No Alibi, Except That Better Team Took Their Measure In Contest Won By Murray Thorobreds Last Friday, By Top-heavy Score

Crashing headlong into a 37-0 defeat last Friday, the 1937 edition of the Morehead Eagles ended what looked like a perfect undefeated, untied season, with an overwhelming slaughter, in which the Thorobreds of Murray State Teachers College proved that a Thorobred was better than an Eagle on that day at least.

There are no alibis. Not one of the Eagle squad came back to Morehead with anything but praise for the treatment they had received at Murray. They were unanimous in saying that they had simply met a better team and had been defeated by that team. They do not believe that they were as bad as the score indicated, except on that particular day. Of course, they did not believe that Murray was that much better than they.

But, after all, the games are decided and judged on the score and that was the final score.

To the credit of the team, say that they did not alibi. However they might only have done so and would have been justly censured. It is not only a matter of the score, but also the manner in which the game was played. The Thorobreds appeared to fall so that they had long hard runs and a long drive. Both trips were hard at any time and coming as they did on successive weeks, they undoubtedly robbed the Eagles of some of their punch. In addition to that, they took the trip to Murray on the day before the game, and any one who has even traveled to Murray knows that it is not an easy trip.

It is not our place to furnish alibis to the defeated team. Those are merely some of the reasons why the Eagles looked much worse than they probably were, or Murray looked much better than they really were.

As that as may, Murray soundly trounced the Eagles, pulled their throats out, and did it to the tune of 37 to 0. Morehead simply did not click. They could not get going. Every play they tried was stamped by a team from Murray that was set to upset the Eagles and upset them they did.

It seems to be the consensus of opinion that Murray was really the Eagles with reserves. They have built up through a period of years a reserve strength that gave them the necessary drive to win when they were at their best.

Marzetti, Morehead tackle was outstanding for the Eagles. Stanby added to his scoring honors by being responsible for the Eagles' only touchdown, while Vinson converted for the extra point. From that on it was Murray's game. Their first quarter ended with Murray out in front 14-0. They stayed there only more so until the end of the game. Harry Lowman suffered a slight concussion during the third period, but was able to return home with the squad.

The game closed the Morehead season, which was undoubtedly successful in spite of the loss of the final game. The Eagles won six and lost one. They upset Eastern, 26-0, and defeated Indian, Georgia, Transylvania, and Tennessee Poly.

Probably the outstanding win of the season, outside of Eastern, was the first game. This had been scheduled as a season opener for Cincinnati yesterday afternoon. It was an excellent contest. The Eagles provided the upset punch to win 7-0.

Christmas Seals Now On Sale

Annual Drive For Seal Sale Under Supervision Of Womens Club

Morehead's annual Christmas Seal sale will start immediately. This sale of Christmas Seals is considered to be one of the best seasonal events in this community and has been built, through the efforts of the Morehead Womens Club which has sponsored it for the past four years, into one of the most worthwhile ventures sponsored by the club.

It should not be necessary year after year, to explain the purpose of the Christmas Seal Sale. However, for the benefit of those who may know or who may not know, it may be explained that the sale of Christmas Seals originated with the idea in mind of caring for those suffering from tuberculosis. From a small beginning, it has become through repeated success, a national movement, and one that has never failed to get results.

The Seals are sold at a cent each. One may buy as many as he can see. The funds are used to aid in combating and eradicating tuberculosis.

A few years ago the Morehead Womens Club took over the sponsorship of the sale. Through their earnest effort they not only sold their quotas of seals but exceeded it. Since that time, the drive has been a continuous success.

This year, while the drive is just beginning, it is expected to be even more successful. The drive will begin at once and will be brought to a close on Christmas Day.

Every one uses Christmas Seals on their gifts. It is no extra expense, and it may help someone in need of a good thing. Through their Christmas Seals from members of the Morehead Womens Club.

Dr. E. V. Hollis Pays Visit To Morehead

Dr. E. V. Hollis, former head of the department of Education in the Morehead State Teachers College spent several hours here Thursday afternoon, as the guest of Prof. and Mrs. H. C. Hagan and Prof. and Mrs. C. O'Parratt. Prof. Hollis who spent the past year at Columbia University in New York, doing work on his doctorate, is at present making his home in Lawrenceville, while working on his dissertation.

Dr. Hollis was a member of the local faculty for a number of years, serving as head of the department. During his term here he aided materially in building up the department and the college itself.

Asa Adkins, Jr. Goes To Owensboro Paper

Asa Adkins, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Adkins of this city, arrived in Owensboro, Ky., where he will assist in installing and operating the new radio station of the Owensboro Messenger-Inquirer at that city. Mr. Adkins has been for the past year connected with WHAS in Louisville, in the engineering department. He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky.

1937 Agricultural Program Is Mapped

All farms that are participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program have been supervised. Approximately 900 farms were checked for performance, and at least 500 will qualify for payments. This is approximately 125 more than that qualified under the 1936 program.

The county office is clearing up work of tabulating supervisors' reports and it is expected that this office will be in position to handle applications by the end of November.

County Agent Chas. L. Goff attended a meeting at Flemingsburg, Tuesday November 16th held for the purpose of explaining the 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program, to County Agents and County Committees of this section of the state. Educational meetings will be held thru out the County in December to explain the new 1938 program to the local farmers.

High School Gymnasium Is Being Repaired

Work on repairs is now being done on the Morehead Public School gymnasium to get the building in condition for the winter season. New goals are being put on the floor, the floor is being repaired, and the stage at the end of the auditorium being enclosed and strengthened.

Pappy Holbrook, who is coach at the high school, is preparing his schedule of games for the season. Practices have already started, and Pappy looks forward to a season of basketball ball which will have a tendency to make people forget the football season just closed.

With every member of the Junior High team, which closed last year's season with a total of sixteen wins and no defeats, back and ready to go, Pappy believes he should be able to make a fair showing in the basketball season just closed.

The Morehead High school janitor's crew cleaned their slate and signed for new worlds to conquer. They went through the season undefeated, the only apparent reason they failed to win more games was that they could find no one to engage them.

With this material together with what is left from last year's squad they hope to build a team that will be a real contender in this section in school basketball.

The schedule for the season has not yet been completed but will be published at the earliest possible moment. It is expected to include games with outstanding teams in this section of the state.

Old Vikings Taking Places Of Importance In Political Circles

The Vikings of 1937 may not be so much "when it comes to winning" football games, judging by the results of their recent disastrous season in which they won but one game.

But the Vikings of the past seasons, who made history at the Morehead High School a few seasons back, by winning their games in both basketball and football, evidently have failed to get over that winning complex, way or when they have.

The recent election proved that rather conclusively. Three ex-vikings have been elected to county offices by the narrow possible margin, but elected none the less.

Arthur Barber, candidate for Magistrate on the Republican ticket in District No. 10, led up a huge majority in the seven precincts in which he made the race.

Dick Chady, who ran for County Attorney on the Democratic ticket, overcame a Republican lead and went out for the office. Dick's opponent, J. H. McPherson, who was not on the ticket, but whose name was written in on two ballots for the office of Constable in the Fourth District, was elected by the margin of one vote over Frank Thompson, whose name was written on one ballot.

Coming from California, from Florida, from Nebraska, from Michigan and from numerous states as well as from local subscribers, compliments and congratulations on the new News and the enlarged and better paper have continued to pour into our office since the last two issues were published.

From Florida a subscriber writes: "It is by far the best paper I have ever read in this section."

And so on. The management of the News is naturally proud of the compliment. Compliments have been received and can only say in return that they plan on making the paper even better in the future.

Drive For Members On In Red Cross

The annual drive for membership in the American Red Cross is on, and will close on Thanksgiving Day, according to announcement made by Mr. J. W. Vaughn, manager of the district. Mr. Vaughn stated that up to the present there were upward of thirty men in this county who are entitled to membership, as they have reached the age of 65 since the passage of the act, but that only two or three have actually made application for benefit.

There is still room for more members. It is known that there is law as it affects them. Efforts are being made to give definite information along these lines, but too many people regard the law as complicated and for that reason fail to understand it. They take in too much territory.

This, in the opinion of Mr. Vaughn, is largely due to the fact that they do not know the details of the law as it affects them. Efforts are being made to give definite information along these lines, but too many people regard the law as complicated and for that reason fail to understand it. They take in too much territory.

As a matter of fact, while there are a number of titles in the law, there is only one that affects employees directly at this time. That is, when studying the law all other sections should be disregarded.

Here is a case that may serve to explain it. A man, 64 years old, is in the employ of a company on January 1, 1937. He and his employer each pay into the fund the sum of 1 per cent of his total salary.

He may have paid to the fund for a period of 9 months, on September 9, the day before the man reaches the age of 65. He is entitled to receive from the fund a cash sum equal to 1-1/2 per cent of his total wages during the nine month period. This takes care of the principal part of the interest during the period.

There is really no difficulty in the matter. About all anyone, either employer or employee, must do is pay into the fund regularly each month. The rest is taken care of by the federal government.

THE RED CROSS ROLL-CALL

In the past year Rowan County has been fortunate in having no major disaster to call for the service of the Red Cross.

But because we have not had an emergency to face is no excuse for failing to renew our annual membership in this greatest of all relief agencies.

The usefulness of the Red Cross lies not alone in the services which it renders, but also in the promptness with which they are rendered. Preparedness is its guiding rule.

The Roll-Call is now on. Every home in America should have the emblem in the window.

WHY WORRY?

How many people we all know who spend their lives in worrying about things that never happen. Worrying is the most fruitless of all humps.

Worrying has its roots in fear. Really courageous people do not give way to worry. Most worrying is due to too lively an imagination.

Most worries have an overly strong sense of personal responsibility they have in some way been remiss in their obligations to others.

There are very few things which can happen to anyone that are worst worrying about. To advise people to stop worrying is not to advise them to take no precautions against the future.

Most chronic worries are concerned about their personal health. Many have worried themselves into premature graves.

LABOR AND TOMORROW
Ever since I began to be interested in politics, something called the "Labor Vote" came into every pre-election discussion.

The American Federation of Labor was founded on a non-political basis. No member was asked what his party affiliation was, nor could any of the unions or the Federation itself be voted as a unit.

Organized Labor tested its political power in several local and municipal elections this month. The American Labor Party in New York City proved itself to hold the balance of power.

UNIONS class vs. power
The sudden rise of Labor to political power is due to the success of John L. Lewis in organizing unskilled workers and working groups previously organized on the One Big Union plan.

The danger which may fear from the sudden political rise of Organized Labor is that there is no assurance that the rights and liberties of other than union members will be respected or protected.

ELY CULBERTSON

He Stepped Outside For A Fight—While He Was Gone He Broke The Bank And Won Ten Thousand Dollars.

In the year 1921, a hot-headed young man was swaggering along the boulevards of Paris. His pockets were almost empty, but his heart was flamed with boiling rage. Why? Because he had been robbed of four million dollars. Or at least his family had. Years ago, his father, an American geologist and mining engineer, had gone to Russia, discovered an oil field, and amassed a huge fortune. Then, after the war, the Soviets had confiscated his property, and left him penniless. His son had fled to Paris to save his life, and there he found himself other with their bare fists. A couple of black eyes, a bloody nose—and then they were parted.

When the arrogant young American came back to the gambling table, he was speaking. He had broken the bank. His stake had won, not only once, but while he was fighting, his winnings had kept on mounting by geometrical progression until his five dollars had been boosted into ten thousand.
That fight changed the whole course of his life—and it also affected several million Americans. How? Do you play bridge? Do you play the Culbertson system? Well, there would probably have been no Culbertson system, if it hadn't been for that fat fight, for when Ely Culbertson walked into the gambling club, he intended to join the White Russian army, run his bagmen through a few Bolsheviks and fight for the return of his property. But now with ten thousand dollars in his pocket, he forgot all about war, took the first ship to America rushed to Washington, sued the Soviet Government for four million dollars, and intended to become a novelist or a professor of economics.
That was in 1921. Culbertson was a miserable card player then, but now he takes in half a million dollars a year or ten thousand dollars a week out of the game of contract bridge. However, that's not all profit by a long shot. He spends thirty thousand dollars a year in merely answering the countless questions that are constantly fired at him by bridge fans from all over the world. His assistants answer every question without charge.
Culbertson, whose name is almost a synonym for contract bridge, was brought up by a pious Scotch Presbyterian father who taught him that all gambling was sinful and that cards were a sinister device of the devil.

When he came to America in 1922, he tried to get a job teaching philosophy and sociology; but he couldn't manage for his brother. Then he tried selling coal, and he failed at that.
Then he tried selling coffee, and he failed at that.
Finally, he gave private lessons in French literature to a group of Socialists in New York and acted as concert manager for his brother, who is a violinist.
It never occurred to him to try to teach bridge then. He was only a poor card player, but a very stubborn one. He asked so many questions and held so many post-mortem examinations that no one wanted to play with him. He read books about bridge, but they didn't help much, so he started to write a book himself. As the years went by he wrote five books about bridge, but they were worthless, and he knew it, so he tore up the manuscripts before they were ever put in type. The books that he has written since then have been translated into a dozen languages and almost a million copies have been sold. One of his books has even been put into Braille so that the blind can improve their bridge games.
Culbertson first came to America in 1910. His Russian mother sent him here then because she wanted him to study at Yale. But he failed in his entrance examinations—failed because he didn't know enough English.
Think of it! He was an American citizen. He knew American history, backwards and forwards. He spoke Russian, German, French, Spanish and Italian; but he couldn't get by in English. So he turned his back on Yale, drifted up to Canada, and got a job acting as a time-keeper for a gang of laborers who were building a railroad. With every oratory, he told them they were being cheated and underpaid, and robbed by the company stores. He stirred up trouble, organized a strike, and got himself kicked out of the company's employ.

He then walked two hundred miles to the nearest town, and beat his way to the pacific coast, traveling with hoboes, stealing rides on freight trains and begging for food at kitchen doors.
It is quite probable that some of the women out west who now play the Culbertson system, have handed out sandwiches and hot coffee to Ely Culbertson at their back door.
Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hunt of Hamilton, Ohio, were Sunday guests of her parents, Rev. and Mrs. T. F. Lyons.

The early frosts of this year finished the fall canning and preserving with a bang so we can make mince meat earlier than usual. However, it's a good idea to let it ripen a few weeks before using, so it's just a wave it ready for cold weather dinners.
Modern mince meat is a far cry from the concoction of our grand mother's. The old recipe called for a few raisins and spices to furnish flavor, but the important ingredients were meat, apples, suet and boiled cider. Some of them added a generous amount of "spirts" too, but the use of this ingredient was optional just as it is today.
Some of the present recipes omit meat entirely and list nuts, candied fruits, dried fruits, preserves and fruit juices with a careful seasoning of sugar and spices as the material for mince meat.
For the sake of tradition and because it adds to the mixture, some of us like to add meat to our mince meat, so here's a recipe—meaty, fruity and spicy.
If you like the taste of old-fashioned parched corn meal but shy from your meal by the box, spread it in a shallow pan and put in a moderate oven for fifteen or twenty minutes. Stir occasionally and watch to prevent browning too much.
No Christmas tree will have more gaudy colors than the current issue of compact and boudoir accessories. Now that the coronation colors have disappeared from the fashion picture and the King has thrown himself comfortably on the furred seat, new compacts of tal-lens, combined with tapestry, leather, metals and mesh-chains are now showing up in a line of Red colors, cardinal red, burgundy, green pearl to emulate the jewels that one who is Kingly is supposed to wear. The new compacts range in shape from round ones trimmed with tapestry and justly termed Marie Antoinette to those of more modern motif rectangular in shape and named Barclay Square.
