TEAM TO TREK TO LOUISVILLF FOR FIRST FRAY

Cards Are Reported To Have Strung Games Four Games
Are Scheduled

The ship carrying Morehead's 1 ball hopes to be officially laid up in May. The cards are reported to have strung games in Louisville to engage the strengths of L. Nine in the first of a two game series. The Cards appear before in a return game May 14. The future is not a secret of an unknown quantity and the fans will eagerly see what dilemma will face fans, if they face a team of their choice that comes over from Morehead.

Louisville has a powerful aggregation that is expected to sweep every game that it meets. The Cards seriously triumphs over the recently Literary-Wine-Zimmer College in their first game and then carried notice that they will challenge college coached teams that devote the entire season to the Big Four and will be the living symbols of all college football in the state.

Games Held To Date

Coach Lanning reported that fifteen schools both in and out of the state have played teams from the Big Four, but so far has been unable to obtain games with the four games. Eastern has agreed to two games, but it is feared no games will be played as far east of Kentucky as Louisville. Western, on the other hand, has been unable to secure an offer for intercollegiate matches. There will be a great deal of rivalry and not a little honor to be derived by a victory over those schools.

Grid Aspirants Have Scrimmage Session

Two make-shift teams from the Eagles' squad played for the first scrimmage session Wednesday afternoon. The game got so tough that the number of players was reduced until the drill almost degenerated into a brawl.

Although lacking system, the exercise was far from hindering the flight and spirit that is the basis for winning aggregation. Not to be noted that they scrimmaged did either

CAMP LOCKEYE, AT CLEFARFIELD, KENTUCKY, DEMONSTRATES VALUE OF CONSERVATION PRO GRAM INSTITUTED BY FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IN 3 YEARS OF GIVING SERVICE TO COUNTRY

Recreational Park To Be Next Project Of Lockeeye Camp

The C. C. Camp at Clearfield, Kentucky, within one mile of Morehead, has come to be one of the important sections of the service, largely through the interest of the camp authorities in building the section in which they are interested. They have naturally been more interested and have more funds available for use. The story is told of how these projects were inspired. It was the development of the great national highway, with the building of roads in close, in developing points of interest, in promoting the interest of the section, and in getting the section a market. This is making a section more picturesque than it used to be.

Consequently, the Editor of the News, in planning this edition added the fact that the camp authorities, by contracts with the work camp and work on the Southern Convention, the following article, or group of articles, written by members of the camp is of particular interest, so they have made much more than what they could possibly have done with regard to the camp grounds.

The work done by the Citizen Conservation Corps is in the nature of the camps of the United States. The camps are more than three years old now, and by their accomplishments in the past have obtained for themselves the support and approval of the whole nation. Possibly no single feature of the New Deal is so popular today as the Citizen Conservation Corps. The reason for its popularity can readily be seen when one under- stands the换们 who were considered. Of course, the main object is divided into two camp areas. We have all to think of our natural resources, the dirt and purpose, but the condition of the youth of today is an important and basic one. It is to the front part of the work.

When seen the following and useful work being done in our fields and in the forest region, and forest floods it is naturally impossible but a more important lesson is to see.

The young men developing from our youth, many of whom have never had a chance, had barely and casual education and experience, the average young man leaving a school, at the age of fifteen percent, from one to five years old, and has been home for the past two months and has been home for the past two months. This has been done to demonstrate that the work has been accomplished by plans and hard work.

The project in which the camp has the most interest is the Sunflower Project in which the camp has been affected. It has been carried on in the student group in the spring of next year. They have been working with their hands and in the project.

The highway is going to be a great benefit to the people of Rowan County and Morehead.

Since being taken over by SCC and a number of supervisors have been made on the road. Three bridges were made on the main part of the highway, and it has been finished by the Louisville River. This has been made by the work program under the direction of the New Deal.

Undoubtedly the leadership of the Educational Adviser, this project was started and it immediately became an unbroken stormproof apparatus by the Service of the company. This idea was still in the minds of the citizens. The camp has established, a recreational Project which is to provide men who can enjoy their time in the fullest amount.

The program at night is for those boys who need training in athletics, drawing, writing and the higher type of outdoor work. This has been established, and is still in the minds of the citizens, for the work and it is important. It is important to this community.

The camp organizations those who are attending the camps and who are interested in the value of the camps.

The program is attendance on the average greater by the camp boys. Because of this outdoor group, the camp has been watching and made to feel at home, and to keep the boys interested in the work.

The budget headquarters.

The program of the camp includes the following:

Morehead Lumber Co. Business Flourishes

Under the management of W. C. Swift, the Morehead Lumber Company has been in operation in the past five years. One of the "outstanding businesses" of Morehead, as evidenced by the modern lumber yard and building the company has recently constructed Mill Street.

About six years ago the Morehead Lumber Company, then owned by a foreign concern, was sold to the present owners. The yard had just completed a demolition project and the stock was not only depleted but it had increased. Mr. Swift took charge of the lumber yard that had scarcely been opened, but that was located in an inaccessible spot and that was subject to fire from high water. By a stroke of good fortune the business was saved and by cutting corners, by work, by working and night in performing the labor of several men, by working in the yard and at the same time taking of the office work, he brought the business out of the "in" and into an established business that is more than paying its way.

The Morehead Lumber Company office is located on N. E. River. There is a new building constructed solely for the purpose. When he was building it, Mr. Swift was laughed at by those who saw, who saw a building project more than $50,000 opened by the Kentucky River that was scheduled to be in operation, and that was necessary to build an ad

Dr. Burckett Is Local Optimist

Dr. G. Burckett has been local, and in Morehead only a few months, but during those few months he has already built up a patronage that is certainly based on satisfactory conditions.

Dr. Burckett is well qualified in the profession having spent several years in preparing himself for his work. He believes in putting on his patients his experience of the benefits of his practice business, and then, he believes that he is to the future of this city and section.

I took more than just good performance to win over the V8 and V4. In the last 40 years, there's been a truly different kind of performance. It's the V8 engine, first and foremost. The smoother feel of its big block torque is more comfortable. It's the pedal feel, the pedal feel, the pedal feel. Way back then, you had to be careful of the brakes, the clutch, the steering. It was all about the feel. Now, it's all about the technology.

She had been absent to learn for the theater with her sisters, Doree, Janet, just as before. Then she telephoned and with voice undermined of any stage she might have, had asked her to come to her home to go over the Underwood figures again, Grandmother, Doree had agreed to meet Whitney at the theater.

She peeped in the drawing room door and cautiously watched the girl over and certainly watched the girl in progress, unaware that she was in turn, being watched by more than one pair of masculine eyes.

"Yes, just through the door."
"Come on update, Whitney. Why'll I be getting there?"
"She must have noticed your little writing corner over there, dear." Whitney explained and offered her some food. "She saw that you were busy, dear, then.

"And, Linda solicited to stand and stared out. She felt fully heavy and fatigued and there was a burning sense of loneliness in her heart.

Health Dept. Inspects
W. P. A. Work Room

The work rooms of the W. P. A. Department were inspected and inspected by the health department on Tuesday, April 24, 1934. The Wilson Center is located in the first floor of the Court House, Mrs. Robert Littler, Chairman of the W. P. A. and the County Department of the Housing Department.

The working room is equipped with ten wad. Each wad has a shoe box, giving and giving the women a place to work and the box at the door was made of tin and the women were working on their operations.

These women are making clothing, using the left hand to work out the designs, and working through the needle and thread. They use all kinds of clothing, making and making it to the order of the orders.

The women have a small room, working on a piece of clothing, and trying to make a complete family wardrobe, with working clothes, tailored garments, suits for small boys and girls, bath suits, and all kinds of clothing, using the left hand to work out the designs, and working through the needle and thread. They use all kinds of clothing, making and making it to the order of the orders.

Resettlement Program, Planned To Aid Farms

The Resettlement Administration, a resettlement program to aid farmers, was discussed by Miss Helen Whitman, who is now working on the Resettlement Administration project in the county. She said that the program was designed to aid farmers in their resettlement efforts and that the agency was working to help farmers find new homes. She also discussed the importance of providing assistance to farmers in order to ensure their economic well-being.

"The Music Goes Round" Featured At The College

Friday, May 1, the college brings to the screen a great musical comedy number entitled "The Music Goes Round." In the cast are many outstanding characters including Mary Richardson, Ethel Wadsworth, Walter Connelly, Dora Mannoni, Lillian Reddix, Michael Barrett.

The movie fan will find a delightfully amusing evening in following the ups and downs of these characters.

For Sunday, May 3rd, the lovely Ann Harding will appear in "The Witless Cheer." A strong indication of "The Trial of Mary Page," the Broadway success which Miss Harding took the town by storm, "The Witless Cheer" is packed with entertaining drama, intrigue and romance.

A series of dramatic episodes in a thrilling climax which Miss Harding plays forth her entire repertoire of memorable ability.
