Mrs. James Goins of Frankfort Leaves her Home to Live With Al Bowling.

From the Frankfort Capital we learn that Mrs. James Goins who is about 38 years old and who had lived to all appearances happily with her husband who is an excellent gentleman and who for eighteen years had been in the employ of J. E. Miles & son, skipped with Al Bowling who a number of years ago was sent to the penitentiary for killing Marshall Gill for a period of 21 years and who a few months ago was pardoned by Governor Bradley.

Mrs. Goins had told her husband that she was going to make a visit to Indiana and while he was on duty at the J. E. Miles & Son, she packed all her possessions and left. Mr. Goins was surprised on his return to find his wife had left without telling him good-bye, but supposed she had gone to Indiana.

Mrs. Goins first met Bowling in the penitentiary while teaching a Sunday school class, was captured by him and when pardoned he boarded at the Goins home. His attention to Mrs. Goins excited talk and Bowling finally left the house. He returned later and signified his intention to again become a boarder at the house but left. Mrs. Goins' whereabouts was not known until Mr. Goins received the following letter:

Morehead, Ky., Sept. 12, 1896.

Mr. Jas. Goins, Frankfort, Ky:

DEAR SIR—According to promise I write you. I heard from the party we were talking of and her leave is final; you need not expect her back at any time. I have no advice to offer. I think you are a sensible man and will not care for anyone that cares nothing for you.

I remain very respectfully,

A. M. BOWLING,

P. S.—If you want to know anything else, write me here at Morehead.
