FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.-- WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University's campus, was recognized by Public Radio News Directors Incorporated (PRNDI) for excellence in the area of news and public affairs.

Honored with first place awards were Tom Lewis, WMKY news and public affairs director, and Dr. John Modaff, WMKY commentator and MSU associate professor of speech communication.

Lewis took first place in the "Soft Feature" category for his report on the "Strange" Music Festival, an international event held at Carter Caves State Park. "This feature was fun to put together," Lewis said.

Dr. Modaff placed first in the "Commentary" for his essay "Nature, Nurture, and the Children of the Undead," from his weekly series "My Turn."

"An honor like this, from a group like PRNDI, could just about change a guys opinion about cutting CPB," Dr. Modaff said.

"News and public affairs programming is a source of pride at the radio station and a valuable resource for the region," said WMKY general manager, Larry Netherton. "We are honored to receive this recognition at the national level."

The awards were presented at PRNDI's 11th annual conference held in Minneapolis, Minn., in early August.

WMKY, A National Public Radio and Public Radio International affiliate, broadcasts news and information programs, classical music, jazz, and other musical formats from 6 a.m. until midnight seven days a week. Free program guides are available by calling (606) 783-2001.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—For the third straight year, Morehead State University will provide new faculty and professional staff with a firsthand look at the University's service region on Saturday, Sept. 9.

Some 25 newcomers to the campus will be joined by University administrators for a day-long bus tour of Northeastern Kentucky. Providing a narrative overview of the region and its history during the bus trip will be Dr. John Kleber, professor of history and editor of the Kentucky Encyclopedia.

Also Dr. John C. Philley, executive vice president for academic affairs and professor of geoscience, will share information on the geological aspects of the region.

"We have found that actually going out into the region is one of the best ways to help our new employees gain a better understanding and appreciation of MSU's mission and the people we serve," Dr. Philley said. "It gives them a perspective that words alone cannot do."

The group will visit MSU's Ashland Area Extended Campus Center first, where they will hear from JoAnn Bell of the Chamber of Commerce of Boyd and Greenup Counties and Bob Owen of Ashland Inc.

Next will be a tour of "The Mountain HomePlace," a living history farm at Paintsville Lake State Park, with Jim Williams of the Paintsville Tourism and Convention Commission as host.

After lunch at The Carriage House in Paintsville, the group will head to Martin County for a tour of a mountaintop surface mine with Supt. John Stucker of Martiki Coal Company.

Before returning to campus, the new MSU employees will stop at Jenny Wiley State Park for dinner at May Lodge.

Assisting with the tour arrangements as part of an overall new faculty/staff orientation program is Dr. Mac Luckey, MSU professor of philosophy and director of the University's Center for Critical Thinking.

Sept. 6, 1995

MOREHEAD, Ky.—September is Classical Music Month and WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University, will celebrate by making the classics more accessible to local elementary, middle and high school students.

The music outreach project originated as part of a national campaign to increase awareness about and an appreciation for classical music, according to Janean Freeman, WMKY's classical music announcer and producer. She is host of "Afternoon Classics" that airs weekdays from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Freeman will consult with area teachers to develop ideas on how to make classical music more interesting to students at the various grade levels. To support the project, WMKY is making available materials, such as "Classical Music Start-Up Kits," which explain the meaning of classical music terms by providing examples of their applications in well-known works.

"Teachers can use the start-up kits as an introduction to the music and terminology," Freeman said. "Then on specific days, I'll be playing entire works the students may have only heard snippets of in the start-up kits. This should give the students a broader picture of the music, and they'll be able to identify some of the terms they've learned in class."

Freeman plans to produce a two-hour special featuring highlighted works from the project and reactions from the teachers and students who participated in the program. The special will air on Sunday, Sept. 24, at 2 p.m. and be re-broadcast on Saturday, Sept. 30, at 8 p.m.

Area teachers participating in the project are: Dana Copeland, Botts Elementary School (Menifee County); Chris Hedges, Rowan County Senior High School band director, and Sheila Marshall, Farmers Elementary School (Rowan County); Tresa Humphery, Mapleton Elementary School (Montgomery County); and Anna Sparks, Morgan County Middle School, and Tony Sparks, Morgan County Central High School. Also assisting the teachers will be MSU students enrolled in music education classes taught by Dr. Kenneth Sipley, assistant professor of music.

(MORE)

Support materials for the classical music project are being provided by Naxos record company who donated the "start-up kits," reference book "The ABC's of Classical Music" and copies of the audio book "Composers' Letters." National Public Radio will provide classroom handouts and promotional materials.

WMKY will continue to provide education on classical music by adding "Do Re Mi," a half-hour classical music program for children to the program lineup. Stacie Herndon of KOHN in Lubbock, Texas, is the program's producer.

"The future of classical music rests with younger generations," Herndon said. "The programs are designed to be fun, first and foremost, and are paced with young attention spans in mind."

WMKY, an affiliate of National Public Radio and Public Radio International, features news and information programs, classical music, jazz, and other musical genres, broadcasting from 6 a.m. to midnight, seven days a week. Free program guides are available by calling (606) 783-2001.

ASHLAND, Ky.---Morehead State University's Ashland Small Business Development Center and Kentucky Power Company will sponsor a Clean Air Act seminar in mid-Sept.

The seminar, set for Tuesday, Sept. 19, from 6 to 8 p.m. and repeated Wednesday, Sept. 20, from 9 to 11 a.m., will be held in the auditorium at Kentucky Power, located at 1701 Central Avenue in Ashland.

Presented by the Kentucky Business Environmental Assistance Program (KBEAP), the seminar is designed for those businesses that are affected by the new air quality regulations. This includes user of spray paint, vapor degreasers and electroplate chrome and those that manufacture organic chemicals and resins, distribute gasoline and sterilize equipment with ethylene oxide.

Industrial representatives attending the sessions will learn about EPA regulations, hazardous air pollutants, the Clean Air Act, and how KBEAP can assist your business with current and upcoming air quality regulations.

In addition to providing educational opportunities, KBEAP offers support on air quality issues. On-site technical assistance is available to businesses that employ no more than 100 persons. Provided free of charge is help in completing air quality permit applications and surveys, assessments of compliance with air quality regulations, and recommendations to reduce or eliminate air pollution from the facility. Additional information is available from KBEAP by calling 1-800-562-2327.

The MSU/Ashland Small Business Development Center is partially funded by U.S. Small Business Administration. All training programs, sponsored by the SBA, are available to individuals without regard to race, color, sex, creed, or national origin.

The seminar is free and open to the public. Pre-registration is necessary due to limited seating. Additional information and registration are available by calling the SBDC office at (606)329-8011. Additional sponsors of the seminar include Chamber of Commerce of Boyd and Greenup Counties.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will host its 16th annual Family Weekend Friday through Sunday, Sept. 22-24, on the campus.

The activities have been planned for family and friends of the student body, according to Susette Redwine, University Center programs and special events coordinator. "We want parents to share some of the experiences of college life that their sons and daughters are enjoying," she said. "In addition to becoming familiar with the campus, there are a multitude of fun things to do together."

Kicking off the weekend will be a night of magic and illusion with Craig Karges on Friday, Sept. 22. Described as a mentalist and a psychic magician, Karges will demonstrate illusion and psychic happenings using total audience participation. From his "Magic of the Mind" show, he will make tables "walk" and link rings into a chain.

A favorite performer on college campuses nationwide, Karges was named campus entertainer of the year for five consecutive years. He has been featured on The Tonight Show with Jay Leno and CNN's Larry King Live as well as numerous appearances on The Nashville Network and Lifetime Television.

The show, which is appropriate for the entire family, will begin at 9 p.m. in Button Auditorium. There is no admission fee but donations to benefit the Student Emergency Loan Fund will be accepted at the door. The program is sponsored by the Student Government Association.

Weekend guests will be invited to a continental breakfast on Saturday, Sept. 23, beginning at 8:30 a.m. in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center. At 9:30 a.m., the MSU Family Association will hold its annual business meeting which will include election and installation of new officers for the Family Advisory Committee. All parents of MSU students automatically become members of the association and are encouraged to attend to provide input or ask questions.

The Parents Weekend Golf Scramble gets underway at 11:30 a.m. at the University Golf Course. This is a nine-hole, best ball tournament with a shotgun start.

Pre-registration is required as play is limited to the first 72 registrants. There is a $2.50 per person tournament fee. A limited number of carts will be available at $9.50 each.

A number of opportunities are available for the afternoon explorer, whether it's watching an equestrian demonstration, viewing an art exhibit or taking a walking tour of the campus.

Family Weekend
2-2-2-2-2

On display in the Kentucky Folk Art Center will be "Sacred Space: Photographs from the Mississippi Delta" by Tom Rankin. In this exhibit of black and white prints, the photographer features rural cotton fields, outdoor baptisms and thriving tabernacles. The center is open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturdays. There is no admission charge.

The KFAC also will be the site of musical entertainment and "Dinner on the Grounds" on Friday evening, Sept. 22. The public is invited to participate in the festivities which begin at 5:30 p.m.

The MSU Equestrian Team will present a riding demonstration on Saturday afternoon in the Richardson Indoor Arena at the University Farm. Admission is free to the performance that begins at 2:30 p.m.

The Eagle volleyball team will be playing on its home court during the weekend. On Friday, Sept. 22, competition will begin at 7 p.m. when the team takes on Tennessee Tech. Tennessee State will be the opponent in a match that begins at noon on Saturday, followed by MSU vs. Middle Tennessee State at 4 p.m. All games will be played in Wetherby Gymnasium. There is no admission charge.

An all-you-can-eat pre-game tailgate party will begin at 5 p.m. at the Academic-Athletic Center (AAC). Tickets, which may be purchased at the event, are $5 for adults, $3 for children 5-10 years and free for youths four and under.

Rounding out the day's events will be the football game when the MSU Eagles take on the University of Tennessee-Martin Skyhawks in Jayne Stadium. Kickoff gets underway at 7 p.m.

Students may purchase tickets to the game for their parents and other family members at a reduced rate of $5 for reserved seating and $3 general admission when purchased by noon on Friday, Sept. 22. No phone or mail orders will be accepted. Students will need to stop by the Athletic Office in the AAC to make their purchases.

Area churches have invited campus visitors to attend the local services on Sunday, Sept. 24.

Throughout the weekend, residence halls and student organizations are planning a number of receptions and special activities. Parents should check with their son or daughter for a complete listing of events.

While lodging is available at local inns and campgrounds, some parents may wish to enjoy the total college experience and spend a night in a residence hall. Check with your son or daughter so arrangements may be made with the hall's director.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—College students from across the state will be attending the Kentucky Honors Roundtable fall conference on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 29 and 30, on the Morehead State University campus.

Hosted by MSU's Academic Honors Program, the roundtable is a state-wide association composed of honors programs from several institutions. Expected to attend are students from Murray State University, Eastern Kentucky University, the University of Louisville, Campbellsville College, Kentucky State University and Western Kentucky University.

During the conference, honors students and faculty mentors will present papers and participate in panel discussions on research conducted by honors classes across the state. Concurrent sessions are scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday, Sept. 30, in the Adron Doran University Center.

Topics for discussion will include contemporary, social, political and scientific issues and problems of importance to today's student, according to Dr. Mac Luckey, MSU Academic Honors Program director. "These students are highly motivated and very concerned about excelling." MSU's program currently has 115 members.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—A Nobel Prize nominee and a frequent lecturer on the study of the universe, Dr. Henry "Fritz" Schaefer III, will speak on the Morehead State University campus on Monday, Sept. 18.

The lecture, which is free and open to the public, will begin at 6:30 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall. His topic will be "Stephen Hawking, The Big Bang and God."

Earlier in the day, Dr. Schaefer will present a seminar for science students and faculty members on the "The 3rd Age of Quantum Chemistry". The session is set for 4:10 p.m. in Lappin Hall.

Dr. Schaefer is professor of quantum chemistry and director of the Center for Computational Quantum Chemistry at the University of Georgia. His campus visit is sponsored by the MSU Christian Faculty-Staff Fellowship.

A prolific researcher and writer, the professor has published nearly 700 articles in his field. He has been recognized with numerous awards and served a number of fellowships.

Included in "Who's Who in America" and "Who's Who in the World," Dr. Schaefer was cited as the third most quoted chemist in the world according to "Science Watch" in 1992.

He has had teaching positions at various locations including the University of California at Berkeley, University of Paris-Orsay campus, and University of Buenos Aires in Argentina. He currently serves on the editorial board for several publications including Journal of Molecular Structure, Advances in Quantum Chemistry and John Wiley & Sons Programme in Theoretical Chemistry and editor-in-chief for Molecular Physics.

Additional information is available by calling Dr. Wade Cain, associate professor of chemistry, at (606) 783-2910.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Department of Music will present a "Requiem for the Trees" at its annual Fall Faculty Showcase Recital on Thursday, Sept. 21, at 8 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall.

Proceeds from the recital will go toward restoring the campus to its original state before the May 18 storm when tornado-like winds took down almost every tree between Button and Allie Young Hall in the heart of the campus, according to Dr. Christopher Gallaher, department chair.

"There is no way we can replace those 200-year old trees but it's our hope we can put new growth back in its place and allow the aesthetic scene to be returned," Dr. Gallaher said.

The idea for the "requiem" originated when other music faculty voiced their concern for the campus. "After talking with President (Ron) Eaglin--and after learning the costs involved to purchase 'mature' trees to replace the ones we lost--the concept gained support," he said. "We hope significant contributions are forthcoming."

Fifteen faculty members will participate in the evening's program which it is hoped will generate dollars for the trees. The musical selections will follow the tree theme and include such works as Bertoli's Sonata I subtitled "The Oak" and the old standard "Willow Weep for Me."

Scheduled to perform are: Larry Keenan and Dr. Earle Louder, professors; Leo Blair, Dr. Jon Burgess, Jay Flippin, Robert Pritchard and Dr. John Viton, associate professors; and Suanne Blair, Michael Acord, Dr. Andrew Glendening, Curtis Hammond, Dr. Ricky Little, Roma Prindle, Dr. Jennifer Schuler and Gordon Towell, assistant professors.

Also assisting with the performance will be Mary Ellen McNeill, staff accompanist, and Donald Sorah of East Stone Gap, Va., graduate assistant.

"The showcase typically highlights talents of faculty with proceeds going toward scholarships," Dr. Gallaher said. "For this particular occasion, we are providing an opportunity for others to help in a way that will benefit all our students not just those in the Department of Music."

Advanced reservations for the performance may be made by calling the department at (606) 783-2473. There is no set price for admission, but all contributions--which are tax deductible--will be accepted, Dr. Gallaher added.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---A $54 million "wish list" of capital construction and equipment requests for 1996-98 biennium was ratified Friday (Sept. 8) by Morehead State University's Board of Regents.

The request contains 33 proposed projects to be funded through several sources, including federal, state and University funds. The list was given earlier to the Council on Higher Education which will submit its recommendations to the governor's office in November.

Top priority on the list is $14 million for the renovation of Breckinridge Hall which includes installation of distance learning classrooms and studios as well as consolidating and modernizing classrooms, laboratories and other space for several academic programs within the Department of Communications.

The project scope also includes renovation of spaces vacated in other facilities as a result of the consolidation.

The regents also ratified the University's 1996-98 biennial state operating request. MSU is asking for $37.4 million in state funding for 1996-97 and $45.2 million for the second year. The request is based on 80 percent formula funding for both years.

In other business, the board endorsed a position paper of the Kentucky Advocates for Higher Education which encourages the 1995 gubernatorial candidates to recognize the importance of higher education to the state's residents and to make a commitment to improved state general fund support.

The Advocates, a statewide group of business and professional leaders, are seeking endorsements of the position paper by governing boards of higher education institutions, chambers of commerce, professional groups and other civic organizations statewide. The candidates will be asked to incorporate the paper into their campaign platforms.

In remarks later to the board, MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin warned that, if the state doesn't support higher education and students can't, there would need to be major fundamental changes in higher education.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Preliminary figures for Morehead State University's fall 1995 enrollment show 8,341 students enrolled, a decrease of 4.1 percent from the final fall 1994 figure of 8,697.

Noting that the figure was still preliminary, Dr. John C. Philley, MSU executive vice president for academic affairs, said that the University had anticipated a decline in enrollment this fall and had budgeted for only 8,400 students.

"On the other hand, our preliminary figures show that the number of first time freshmen enrolling has remained relatively stable with 1,135 new freshmen. Last year's figure was 1,136," Dr. Philley said. "This is extremely encouraging, since it appears that we are seeing a reversal in the decline of first time freshmen" he added.

Also off-campus enrollment hit a new high this fall with 2,000 students as compared with 1,959 last fall, for a 2.1 increase, according to the preliminary report.

"The increasing cost of higher education, especially for students in the area we serve is a probable factor for the decline," said Dr. Philley.

MOREHEAD, Ky.— Morehead State University will be the site of the "Educational Gateway to the Information Age: Multimedia Fair Use Guidelines" teleconference on Thursday, Sept. 21.

Sponsored by MSU's Office of Information Technology, the live satellite broadcast will begin at 1 p.m. in the Eagle Dining Room, Adron Doran University Center.

The teleconference is designed to discuss the copyright issues educators face when creating multimedia presentations for their courses and how the copyright laws apply to materials posted on the Internet.

Faculty, administrators, library staff, media specialists and legal assistants are invited to find out what the guidelines will say about intellectual property, attribution, citation, and creative integrity.

The teleconference will focus primarily on three subject areas: the educational fair use guidelines for multimedia now being developed, what the guidelines will say about fair use in various learning environments, and what will constitute fair use for material made available on the Internet.

The keynote speakers will be Bruce Lehman, assistant secretary of the U.S. Department of Commerce and commissioner of patents and trademarks, and Mary Beth Peters, register of copyrights at the U.S. Copyright Office. Panel members will include Ivan Bender, copyright attorney and legal consultant representing the Consortium of College and University Media Centers; Frank Connolly, computer science and information systems, The American University, and Joann Stevens, vice president, copyright and new technology, Association of American Publishers.

MOREHEAD, Ky.-- Morehead State University has announced that William Wesley Wright of West Liberty is among those students receiving a Presidential Scholarship and an Alumni Award for the fall semester.

Wright, son of William D. and Cheryl Wright, is a graduate of Morgan County High School. A Robert C. Byrd scholarship recipient, he was a member of the Academic Team where he qualified for the Regional Governor's Cup in social studies and math during the 1994 season. He also was a member of the National Honor Society and the football and tennis teams.

He also received the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Scholar/Athlete Award, United States Army Reserve National Scholar/Athlete Award and the DAR Good Citizenship Award.

To be eligible for the Presidential Scholarship, applicants must be admitted to MSU as an entering freshman; have a 3.75 grade point average (on a 4.00 scale) based on seven semesters of work; have a composite ACT score of 28, and submit a completed scholarship application to MSU.

The scholarship, valued at $3,600 per year, is renewable for three academic years if a 3.25 g.p.a. is maintained during each of the first two semesters and a minimum cumulative 3.50 g.p.a. for each semester thereafter.

To be eligible for an Alumni Award, at least one of the applicant's parents must be an MSU alumnus and an active member of the MSU Alumni Association. The student must be admitted as an entering freshman or transfer student; have an Admissions Index of at least 500; transfer students must have a 3.00 grade point average (on a 4.00 scale) for the equivalent of at least one full term, and submit a completed scholarship application to MSU.

The scholarship, valued at $750 per year, is renewable for three academic years if a 2.75 g.p.a. is maintained during each of the first two semesters and a minimum cumulative 3.00 g.p.a. for each semester thereafter.

Applications and information on scholarships and grant programs at MSU are available from the Office of Admissions, MSU, Morehead, KY 40351-1689. The toll free number is 800-585-MSU1 (6781).

Do youngsters like classical music? Apparently, the answer is yes when they have an opportunity to learn about it. That's what Janean Freeman of WMKY 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University, has discovered through an outreach project with six Eastern Kentucky schools.

She is willing to share with you and your viewers what she has discovered from this project. Even more appealing as far as visuals are concerned would be some of the reactions from the young students.

Ms. Freeman is classical music announcer and producer for WMKY. Should you wish to explore the possibility of a fun feature on this project, please call her at (606) 783-2001.

By the way, September is Classical Music Month.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Tom Sternal, chair of Morehead State University's Department of Art and director of exhibitions, recently installed his sculpture piece "Bench Form 94-3" in the Pennsylvania State Museum at Harrisburg, Pa.

The work is made of Vermont white marble selected personally by the artist. Sternal was one of four sculptors whose pieces have been installed in the museum's new collection of monumental outdoor sculpture. The four artists also were honored at a reception there earlier this month.

He received the 1992 Al Smith Award for sculpture from the Kentucky Arts Council and the Governor's Award for the Arts in 1993 for his efforts in starting MSU's Folk Art Collection. Sternal's work is in more than 35 public collections and numerous prestigious private collections throughout the country.

Other pieces by Sternal are currently featured in the Spring/Summer 1995 Exhibition at the Grounds For Sculpture Museum in New Jersey, one of the premier exhibition sites in the United States for monumental sculpture.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Department of Music will present a guest recital by the Rusty White Trio on Thursday, Sept. 28, at 8 p.m. in Duncan Recital Hall.

The recital, which is free and open to the public, will feature the jazz music of Rusty White, Peter Bouffard and Tom Larson.

An associate professor of double bass and jazz performance at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, White is a former faculty member of MSU where he was involved in the jazz and theory programs.

White earned a Master of Music degree from North Texas State University and a Bachelor of Music degree from the College Conservatory of Music in Cincinnati. He studied with some of the most prominent figures in the music field such as Jamey Aebersold, Bill Dobbins, Dan Haerle and Rich Matteson. As a performer, he has worked with many well-known jazz artists such as Gene Bertoncini, Fred Hersch, Jay McShann and Cal Collins.

Bouffard is a member of the faculty at the University of Nebraska School of Music as well as in the Lincoln Public Schools. He teaches applied guitar, has directed large and small jazz ensembles and taught courses in jazz improvisation and jazz history.

Since 1987, Bouffard has been director of jazz studies at the University of Maine Summer Youth Music School. He holds an A.S. degree in jazz and contemporary music and a B.M.Ed. from the University of Maine and an M.M. degree in jazz education from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

An active guitarist and arranger, Bouffard has performed with a number of well-known artists including Marian McPartland, Marvin Stamm, Robin Eubanks, Jay McShann and Steve Allen.

A pianist and composer, Larson holds a B.M. degree in composition from the Berklee School of Music and an M.M. with jazz emphasis from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. While he was a graduate student at UNL, he served as director of the School of Music's Jazz Ensemble.

Larson is the owner of STUDIO Q, a regional recording studio located in Lincoln. He has written scores for the PBS series "NOVA: The American Experience" and the upcoming mini-series "In Search of the Oregon Trail."

Additional information is available by calling MSU's Department of Music at (606) 783-2473.

SPECIAL TO THE LOUISVILLE DEFENDER CAREER EDUCATION SUPPLEMENT

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Two African-Americans have joined the ranks of the executive/administrative staff at Morehead State University this fall.

They are Dr. Lemuel Berry Jr., dean of the Caudill College of Humanities, and Francene L. Botts, director of Human Resources.

Dr. Berry, who had been dean of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences at Virginia State University since 1990, also holds faculty rank as professor of music.

"An able administrator, Dr. Berry has experience in developing and implementing innovative academic and outreach programs," said Dr. John C. Philley, MSU's executive vice president for academic affairs. "A musician and educator, he also has done considerable work in the areas of recruitment, retention and marketing," Dr. Philley added.

Prior to his service at VSU, Dr. Berry was chair of the Department of Music at Memphis State University. Previously, he served concurrently as chair of the Department of Music and Fine Arts at Mercy College and coordinator of curriculum for the Westchester Conservatory of Music and Humphrey School of Dance.

A former dean of the School of Music at Alabama State University, he has headed music and/or humanities programs at Langston (Okla.) and Fayetteville (N.C.) State University. Dr. Berry also taught in the Iowa public schools.

Dr. Berry earned his B.A. degree from Livingstone College, holds the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Iowa and did further study at the University of Saarlandes and the University of Koln in Germany.

He has written more than 50 articles which have appeared in professional periodicals and books and is the author of two reference works as well as numerous successful grant proposals. While at VSU, he organized a Community Fine Arts School of which he served as executive director.

The founder and executive director of the International Association of African and African-American Studies, he is a member of a number of professional organizations, including Kappa Delta Pi and the Mid-South Educational Research Association.

(MORE)

Botts, who assumed her MSU post in July, had been director of affirmative action programs at Oklahoma State University since December 1992.

In announcing her appointment, Porter Dailey, MSU's vice president for administration and fiscal services, said:

"Ms. Botts has a solid background in developing and implementing affirmative action programs and experience in other areas of personnel issues. She will provide the much-needed expertise not only to keep MSU's hiring policies in line with accepted procedures, but also assist us in developing programs to improve the workplace for current employees."

A native of Lexington, Botts previously served with the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General Corps in a variety of roles including, legal assistance attorney, trial defense counsel and administrative law/magistrate court prosecutor at Fort Sill, Okla., and Fort Lewis, Wash.

MOREHEAD, Ky.----A Northeast Kentucky Gubernatorial Forum with candidates Larry Forgy and Paul Patton will be held at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 18, in the Adron Doran University Center at Morehead State University.

The forum, sponsored by the Morehead-Rowan County Chamber of Commerce, the Morehead Woman's Club and MSU, is an opportunity for residents of the region to hear the candidates plans for Northeast Kentucky, according to Randy Newsome, executive director of the chamber.

"We hope to see a good representation from all the counties in this region," said Newsome. "This is the first time in a number of years that we have hosted both candidates in this type of format here in our region. It's important for all of us to hear how they feel about issues which affect us, our families and Northeast Kentucky."

Serving as moderator for the event will be Keith Kappes, MSU's vice president for University Advancement. During the forum, the gubernatorial candidates will air their views and respond to questions solicited in advance from community leaders and other concerned citizens.

Parking will be available at MSU's commuter lot adjacent to the central utility plant on the U.S. 60 bypass. Shuttle service to and from the University Center will be available.

Forgy, the Republican candidate, currently practices law with the firm of Frost and Jacobs in Lexington. A former vice president of business affairs and treasurer of the University of Kentucky, he also has served on the Council for Higher Education. During former Gov. Louie B. Nunn's administration, he was the state's budget director and director of debt management.

Patton, the Democrat candidate, currently is the state's lieutenant governor. A former coal company operator, Patton served two terms as Pike County Judge-Executive and was deputy state transportation secretary during former Gov. John Y. Brown's administration. A founding member of Leadership Kentucky, he is the author of a book, "Kentucky's Approach to Economic Growth."

Additional information on the Northeast Kentucky Gubernatorial Forum is available by calling the chamber office at (606) 784-6221.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—The Voices of Eastern Kentucky, a regional chorus sponsored by Morehead State University, will be heard in England, Scotland and Wales during the summer of 1996.

In cooperation with the Cooperative Center for Study in Britain (CCSB), MSU will coordinate the activities for the special musical ensemble that will tour June 20-July 3. At least six major concerts will be given in such historical sites as the Canterbury Cathedral and the Coventry Cathedral in England as well as stops in health care facilities and a number of impromptu performances.

"We are very excited about this proposed venture," said Pauline Ramey, the University's representative to the CCSB. "The educational opportunity is truly amazing while the concert locations are once-in-a-lifetime experiences."

Directing the ensemble will be Dr. Kenneth Sipley, MSU assistant professor of music. "We are sorting through the pile of music now and making decisions on which works will be performed," he said.

The 36-member choir will be selected by audition sometime in mid-January, Dr. Sipley noted. Once the choir members are determined, rehearsals will be held one weekend each month from February through May. In June, all participants will spend a week on the campus, fine-tuning their performances and giving "preview" concerts in the immediate area.

"We are seeking applicants from our service region who enjoy performing," he said. "Talent is what we are looking for and age will not be a factor."

Dr. Sipley encourages high school students who have been accepted for the All-State Chorus, college students, music teachers and others who have choral experience to audition.

Anyone wishing additional information or would like to audition may contact Dr. Sipley at (606) 783-2470. His address is BM 340, Morehead State University, Morehead, KY 40351-1689.

MSU is a member of the CCSB, a consortium of 17 colleges and universities with member and affiliate schools from Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Idaho. The group organizes special programs to English-speaking countries with classes taught by faculty from member schools. Students may receive undergraduate and graduate credit for participating in some programs.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Employers representing a variety of professions will be talking with students during Morehead State University's Career Information Day on Tuesday, Oct. 3.

The annual event, sponsored by MSU's Office of Career Planning and Placement and Office of Minority Student Affairs, will be held in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Among those companies already scheduled to participate include representatives from social services, publishing companies, government agencies, media outlets, armed forces, financial institutions, the hospitality industry and graduate schools, according to Bev Tadlock, interim director of Career Planning and Placement.

"There will be a diverse group of employers on hand to talk with students," Tadlock said. "Some organizations will be looking for new employees while others will be discussing their company's co-ops and internships."

The day's agenda will follow a come-and-go atmosphere and pre-registration is not required. "Those who are actively seeking employment may use this opportunity to get their resumes into the hands of potential employers," Tadlock said.

Additional information on the day's activities or current job opportunities is available from the Office of Career Planning and Placement at (606) 783-2233. In addition, the office provides a number of services such as a weekly job bulletin which may be picked up in 321 Allie Young Hall. MSU students also may receive assistance with resume writing and polishing their interviewing skills by making an appointment.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Inscape, Morehead State University's student literary/art magazine, is sponsoring a contest for writers and artists.

Prizes of $50 and $25 will be awarded to first and second place winners as well as an honorable mention in each of these categories: poetry, fiction, creative nonfiction and black and white art.

Only MSU students are eligible to enter, but they may be full or part-time students enrolled on MSU's campus or any of the regional sites.

The deadline for submissions is 3 p.m. Monday, Oct. 16, according to Dr. Lynne Taetzsch, assistant professor of English and faculty adviser to Inscape. Winning entries will be published in the magazine during the spring semester.

All writing entries must follow the submission guidelines for prose which are available at 103 Combs Building, where manuscripts are to be dropped off.

Artists seeking to enter the black and white art competition may contact Gary or Lisa Mesa-Gaido at 208 Claypool-Young Art Building, or by calling (606) 783-5157 for guidelines for art submissions.

Students interested in joining the Inscape staff are welcome to attend the meetings held each Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in Faculty House 5, behind Combs Building.

Additional information is available by calling Dr. Taetzsch at (606) 783-2136 or 784-6905.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Chuck Mraz, sports and assistant news director at WMKY-FM 90.3, public radio from Morehead State University, has again been hired by the Ohio Valley Conference to voice and produce one of its programs.

For the second consecutive year, Mraz will produce "The Ohio Valley Conference Report" which is heard on 12 radio stations throughout Kentucky, Tennessee, and Missouri. Tom Lewis, WMKY news and public affairs director, serves as assistant producer of the show.

The five-minute OVC Report features a round-up of each week's football and basketball highlights along with previews of upcoming conference action, soundbites from coaches, and information about OVC teams, such as statistics and playing schedules.

"The OVC Report benefits all who are involved," Mraz said. "It's an important opportunity for establishing and maintaining meaningful connections between WMKY and other radio sports departments, as well as collegiate athletic departments."

WMKY, an affiliate of National Public Radio (NPR) and Public Radio International (PRI), features news and information programs, classical music, jazz, and other musical genres. WMKY broadcasts from 6 a.m. until midnight, seven days a week. Free program guides are available by calling (606) 783-2001.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Jason A. Otto of West Chester, Ohio, a senior at Morehead State University, has received a $1,000 scholarship from the Sigma Phi Epsilon Educational Foundation.

Otto, president of MSU's Kentucky Zeta Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, is majoring in government and psychology and has a 4.0 cumulative grade point average. The son of Mrs. Lynn Muller of West Chester and Robert Otto of Lebanon, Ohio, he plans a career in international law and diplomacy.

Otto is one of 15 students nationwide who received this award through national competition. Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity is represented on 274 campuses with more than 15,000 undergraduate members, all of whom were eligible to apply. Applicants were judged on academic achievement, campus and fraternity leadership and financial need.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon Educational Foundation will provide more than $150,000 this year for scholarships, loans and leadership training. The foundation is an important force in the development and fulfillment of scholarship, leadership, citizenship and personnel potential for members of the fraternity.

MSU STUDENTS TEACHING IN ENGLAND

Five Morehead State University seniors are doing their student teaching in Sunderland, England, this semester. Before departing the campus earlier this month, they received a final briefing from Shirley Blair, MSU director of student teaching, and Jerry Franklin, assistant professor of education and the students' visiting supervisor who along with his wife Robin will join the students in November. On hand for the send-off were, front row from left, Patrick May of Raccoon, an English and history major; Dan Hamilton of Morehead, an education major with an emphasis on the primary grades, and Robin Franklin. Back row from left, Blair; Toby L. Lewis of Cocks Creek, an education major with an emphasis on middle school; Bill B. Bates of Blackey, industrial education major; Jill Ogden of Flatwoods, an education major with an emphasis on the primary grades, and Franklin. The students will spend 12 weeks teaching in England and return to the campus in mid-December.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.—More than 300 high school students from across the state have registered to attend Morehead State University's second annual Mathematics, Physics and Advanced Technology Exploration Day on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. in the Adron Doran University Center.

Scheduled to attend are students from Sheldon Clark, Elkhorn City, Fairview, Belfry, Lewis County, Johnson Central, Rowan County, Bath County, Wolfe County, Pendleton and Dayton high schools.

The day originated because MSU was looking for ways to show its appreciation to the dedicated teachers in the area by offering them some help in getting students excited about the fields of math, physics and technology, according to Joyce Saxon, MSU assistant professor of mathematics and coordinator of the activities.

"Throughout the day, students will be involved in exciting and meaningful learning events," she said. "Competition will be by the team approach with prizes being awarded to the winners. Free software and educational videotapes will be given to each school."

In addition to exploring technology, participants will have an opportunity to visit with individuals who are using mathematics in the work force and discuss what is projected for the field in the future.

The activities are being sponsored by MSU's Department of Mathematics, Department of Physical Sciences and Department of Industrial Education and Technology.

Additional information is available by calling (606) 783-2930 or Saxon at 783-2923.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. Paul Taylor, associate professor of music at Morehead State University, used some ingenuity which in turn earned a notice in a national magazine.

Earlier this year, Dr. Taylor presented a teacher-training workshop to area music teachers in Ashland. During the session, he shared some success stories in recruiting and retaining advanced music students.

Several individuals, including members of the community and MSU college students, accompanied Dr. Taylor and performed for the program attendees. Additional music students, including children, were seen on videotape describing their reasons for playing music and obstacles that sometimes affect their practice time.

The program was funded by a matching grant from the American Music Teacher's Association which was awarded to the Ashland Area Music Teacher's Association.

The idea received favorable marks and "The American Music Teacher" included it in their local association news in the August/September 1995 issue.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---WMKY 90.3 F.M., public radio from Morehead State University's campus, will make some significant program changes to its fall programming lineup in October.

WMKY will join public radio stations around the country in moving up the starting time of National Public Radio's "All Things Considered" as well as offer the two-hour expanded version of the program, according to Wendy Nelson, WMKY's program and production director. "The earlier start time will allow listeners to get a jump on the news of the day in NPR's signature in-depth style. There also will be much more of WMKY's local and regional news and sports coverage throughout the show," she said.

Another major change will see the classical music program "Bob & Bill" moving to the morning lineup, leading off seven hours of classical music. Co-hosts Bob Christiansen and Bill Morelock, known for their accessible style in presenting the classics, may be heard from 9 to 11 a.m.

In other programming notes:

The "World Cafe" makes its return to WMKY. Featuring adult alternative artists like Shawn Colvin, Joan Osborne and Crashtest Dummies, the show airs Sunday through Friday, 8-11 p.m.

"As It Happens," the evening news program from the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, has been expanded to 90 minutes beginning at 6:30 p.m. each weeknight.

"Do Re Mi," a classical music program for children, airs Sunday afternoons at 2:30 p.m.

"Focus on the Region, WMKY's weekly public affairs program, moves to Saturdays at 6 p.m., following "Weekend All Things Considered."

Nelson said further changes will occur in January when WMKY will add local and regional newscasts throughout the day, following National Public Radio news from Washington, D.C.
