Honda, Bicycle Figure in Rowan Road Wrecks

Two wheel vehicles - a bicycle and a Honda - figured in accidents near Morehead over the weekend.

Acey Riddle, 62, was treated and released at St. Claire Medical Center after his bicycle ran into a car at six o'clock Saturday afternoon near the east Morehead city limits (Ridburn).

Riddle, sort of a community gin hand, may be seen daily riding his bike on heavily traveled highways in the Morehead area.

State Police said they had long feared that Riddle would be injured.

The State Police blotter reads that Janet Withrow, 22, Haldeman, was driving west... she saw Riddle on the bike, and on the surface of the highway, slowed down... without warning Riddle cut the bike to the right and ran into her car.

Riddle told police: "I didn't see nothing coming and decided to turn off (across) the road... for the life of me I don't know where my car came from."

The eccentric Riddle was released at St. Claire after treatment for lacerations and bruises.

A young man and his girl companion were injured at 11 a.m. Sunday morning when the Honda he was driving left the highway (Ky. 519) immediately south of Clearfield, near the Morgan Fork Bridge.

State Police listed the driver as Paul Levert, 29, Paris, Ky., and the back seat passenger as Wanda Sider, 24, Clearfield. Both were treated at St. Claire.

State Police said the Honda apparently was going too fast and failed to make a curve... It ended up at the foot of a long and steep embankment. Both were thrown from the powered cycle.

Two young men were injured at 3:55 Sunday afternoon about two miles east of Morehead on U. S. 60. State Police reported that Johnny Baxter Glover, 20, RFD 2, for an unknown reason lost control of his car. It swerved to the opposite side of the road. Glover evidently tried to right the vehicle and it re-crossed the highway, went into a ditch and traveled 87 feet before turning over. The car landed with the bottom side up.

A passenger, Leo Glover, 16, RFD 2, was admitted at St. Claire. The driver was released and released.

The condition of Joe Underwood, Jr., Lexington, was listed as "very critical" this morning at Good Samaritan Hospital.

Underwood's automobile passed a semi-trailer about two miles east of Owensboro (State Creek) and then crashed almost head-on into another large truck. The crash was at seven o'clock Tuesday morning. Underwood's car was demolished and he sustained multiple, and perhaps fatal, injuries.

Miss Anderson Crowned Queen Of The Fair

Miss Bonnie Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Anderson, RFD 2, Morehead, is Queen of the first Gateway Regional Fair.

She was crowned Thursday, the judges selecting Miss Anderson over 11 other contestants at the Morehead-finals.

The Morehead Jaycees sponsored the Queen contest.

Miss Anderson received a $200 cash award, plus special prizes, mostly clothing, from Morehead merchants.

Rowan County's Junior Miss, Patty Roark, presented the Queen with a dozen red roses.

Miss Rita Jane Shelton was runner-up and received a $100 prize.

Second runner-up was Miss Linda Trent and her prize was $50 in cash.

The other contestants - Cathy Orsizio, Judy Allen, Sharon Reynolds, Diane Caldwell, Debbie Robinson, Sharon Eldridge, Stefania Tucker and Sue Ferguson.

All of the contestants were from Rowan County, except Jennifer Jones from Olive Hill.

The judges were Miss Janie Olmstead, former Miss Kentucky; Charles Crisp, Ripley, O.; and Joe Avis, Huntington, W. Va.

Morgan County May Issue Bonds For A New Hospital

Morgan County may issue revenue bonds to be amortized by a special tax on a new hospital at West Liberty.

A group of citizens said they hoped to submit an application for one-third of the bonds before the next meeting of the Kentucky Hill-Burton committee. They are hopeful of obtaining other federal funds through special programs such as Appalachia.

The need of a hospital was pinpointed last month when the West Liberty Hospital closed following the accidental death of Dr. H. B. Murray, the owner, in a boating accident on the Kentucky River.

The hospital proposal at West Liberty is spearheaded by Judge James Phipps, State Senator Joe Stacy and Dr. George K. Bellamy.

AFTER 45 YEARS, Mrs. Edna Marie Scott, third from the left, is given a personal tour of the Morehead State University campus by Director of Security Russell Kirk. Mrs. Scott, a resident of Portsmouth, O., attended the Morehead Normal School on the site in 1921, leaving after two terms to become a teacher. With her, from the left, are two neighbors, Mrs. Effie Frye and Mrs. Harry Martin.

M.N.S. Student Returns After 45 Years

In the fall of 1921, an 18-year-old girl, Edna Marie Maguire, of Portsmouth Ohio, enrolled at the Normal School in Morehead, Ky., to learn to become a teacher.

For two terms she attended classes along with a handful of students in the school's one brick building.

Then she left to teach school in the Portsmouth area for two years before marrying a young steel worker and settling down to 43 years of marriage and housekeeping.

A few days ago, at 63 years of age and a widow, Mrs. Edna Marie Scott returned to Morehead to visit the scene of those early Normal School days after an absence of 45 years.

On the site where once stood the tiny, struggling school she attended, sprawled a vibrant and growing Morehead State University, an institution encompassing more than 50 major buildings and "home" during a school year to more than 6,000 students.

All the buildings Mrs. Scott knew as a young girl are gone now, replaced by such impressive structures as the Doran Student House, Fields Hall, the Johnson Camden Library, Mignon Hall Complex and many others, but her memories are still there.

Amazed at the tremendous growth which has taken place at the school over the years, she exclaimed several times during a special tour of the campus in a station wagon driven by Director of Security Russell Kirk, "Why, I'm so turned around I don't have any idea where I am."

"This also is the first time I have ever ridden in a police car, too!" she added with a twinkle in her eye.

Slightly crippled by a stroke suffered following the death of her husband, Mrs. Scott was accompanied by two neighbors, Mrs. Effie Frye and Mrs. Harry Martin, and her son, Oral, a teacher at Lynn, Ky., and a student in the post summer school at the University.

This is the greatest thing that ever happened to Mom, said Oral, a bachelor and with whom Mrs. Scott makes her home in Portsmouth. "She'll never stop talking about it."

More Rowan Countians To Attend College

This fall, the number of young people in Rowan County who will be going to college will be greater than ever.

And, at the same time, for their parents, college costs will be at a peak.

Some families, as a matter of fact, the cost of sending their children to college for four years will turn out to be the largest cash investment they will ever make.

Especially is this true in families with two or three college-bound youngsters. For them, the tuition bills alone will probably add up to more than they spent for their home.

Data on the number of college students and the costs involved are based on surveys by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and by others.

They indicate that no less than 4,400 - more than 100 attending colleges throughout the United States, as against only 2,955,000 in 1960.

Rowan County's college contingent will total 350 this semester, it is estimated. This compares with approximately 170

Also included in the program is the academic follow-up portion of the project, featuring the Upward Bound traveling art show and the performance of special one act plays at each participating school in Eastern Kentucky.

The script for the show was written by five students participating in the Upward Bound program with the assistance of three faculty members.

Inspection Of Vehicle Benefits Is Problematical

Kentucky's motor vehicle inspection is a certainty, but a new survey indicated today that proponents have over-emphasized its value in preventing highway accidents.

Kentucky will begin annual inspection Jan. 1, and public safety officials have cited a National Safety Council survey which shows the death toll has been cut about 20 per cent in inspection states.

But a technical report from the National Bureau of Economic Research on "motor accident mortality and compulsory inspection of vehicles" draws far less enthusiastic conclusion.

The authors, Victor Fuchs and Irving Levin of New York City, said their study establishes that the probable saving in lives ranges from five to 10 per cent.

For Kentucky, that would mean as many as 100 people saved last year.

The report, surveying all states during a 1959-61 period, said rather bluntly, "It should be noted that the reduction in mortality alone was probably not sufficient to justify compulsory inspection."

"[Those] who might object that the saving of life is worth any cost should be aware that the choice need not be between saving lives and not saving them, but between alternative programs."

It said the huge cost of inspection perhaps could be used in other, possibly more effective life-saving programs such as stricter licensing, elimination of road hazards and speed enforcement.

The report shield away from anything more than a lukewarm endorsement of inspection.

In simpler form, this is what the survey found:

✓ The highway death rate in states without inspection is not much worse than in states with inspection.

✓ The saving of lives in inspection states is partly due to the fact that such states also try to reduce accidents in other ways which perhaps don't get sufficient credit.

✓ The degree of inspection is more definite in states which have it more than once a year.

✓ States with comparatively low income, such as Kentucky, obtain proportionately more results from inspection.

✓ States with high education also obtain better results from inspection than do lower education states.

The study was weighted mathematically and included a wide variety of factors, such as density of population, weather, and so on.

Mail Subscription Rates - In Kentucky, one year $2.50, two years $4.50, five years $15.00. Outside Kentucky, including postage, one year $3.00, two years $5.50, five years $17.50. Save by renewing for one year.

The City plans the problem of obtaining necessary rights-of-way in the hands of City Attorney Thomas R. Burns and authorized him to employ all necessary assistance.

The project has been approved by the Louisville District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, who will pay the full cost, about $800,000, but the City must obtain the 200 feet rights-of-way from Bridge Street to the west for about 1 1/2 miles near Rockwell Hollow and Gearhart Pond.

About three weeks ago the Louisville Corps sent deed forms etc. to the city. However, they may submit an updated or revised map or detailed plans.

Mayor William H. Layne said, "without the maps, rights-of-way stakes, or detailed information it is impossible to secure the 200 feet deeds because the owners don't know what they are dealing with."

Burns said the Louisville Corps had agreed to send one of their engineers to Morehead to submit the necessary information.

The City will employ a registered engineer, who will confer with the engineer from Louisville. In turn, the City plans to drive stakes the entire distance so that property owners may discuss the new route of the project. The City also plans to have their engineer prepare a map, or segment maps to be examined by property owners along the creek.

It is known that the creek widening project will follow the present path of Triplett, but varies in places. For example, more of the hill will be taken in the area of the old Spoke Factory, and probably more bottom land to the west.

The Louisville Corps has also agreed to pay all costs for lengthening the Morehead and North Fork railroad span in West Morehead.

Burns said he understood that the C&O railroad should give the necessary rights-of-way where they have a turn-around near Bridge Street. A misunderstanding over this held up the project for several weeks, but this apparently has been mutually solved.

"Council this week took the position that the widening is the most important business of the City Hall for many years, and openly said they would spend whatever is necessary to obtain a correct letting as soon as possible."

The City Attorney said he was ready to proceed as soon as the Army engineer and the civil engineer got together and "the stakes are driven."

Snowden And Arnett Win Top Awards

Eck Snowden, Clay City, and Lawrence Arnett, Jr., Morehead, swept the top awards in livestock exhibits at last week's Gateway Regional Fair at Morehead.

Snowden showed both the grand champion and the reserve champion in the beef cattle division. He also had the best senior heifer and the best junior heifer.

Delmar Padgett, Rowan County, showed the senior beef champion, with Chenault James the runner-up.

Just as Snowden took most of the first places for beef cattle, Arnett captured four of the five prizes in the dairy division.

Showing the grand champion and the reserve champion, Arnett had the winner for senior cow and also junior cow. Chenault James, Rowan County, showed the senior dairy champion heifer division for dairy cattle.

Entries were fewer than anticipated. Snowden, Arnett, Padgett and James were the only beef or dairy cattle producers to enter their animals.

Labor Day Traffic

"Motorists in Kentucky will have a big challenge to meet the coming Labor Day weekend," State Public Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern declared today.

"It will be to strive to 'hold the line' in traffic fatalities or, better to improve on the record set last year," the commissioner said in a statement.

Careful driving and allowing ample time for trips will be especially needed, Lovern added.

He pointed out that 10 persons were killed in Kentucky traffic accidents last Labor Day weekend, less than during the same 1965 period. The toll of 10 was the lowest for any 1966 holiday weekend.

So far this year, the state death rate has been running behind last year's when 1,086 persons were killed. Holiday tolls this year, compared with 1966: New Year's 7, 11; Memorial Day 9, 19, and July 4, 19, 22.

However, "we have no cause for complacency, but rather should exert greater efforts to drive safely and allow sufficient time for holiday trips when traffic is heavy," Lovern said.

He warned that motorists should be especially cautious during sudden rain showers, many of which have occurred in Kentucky this summer, making roads slick. National Safety Council figures showed that 16.7 per cent of the nation's fatal accidents in 1966 occurred on wet roads.

Lovern directed his appeal regarding the traffic death count extended from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday, State Police will have all available manpower patrolling roads.

Vikings Down Louisa; Meet Bath County Next

Rowan County High's Football Vikings surprised Louisa 13-0 Friday night on Rowan County's rain-soaked athletic field.

After a series of key fumbles by both teams the first half, Rowan County settled down to demonstrate a strong offensive punch in the second half with Ronnie Skaggs and Wade Hutton leading the offensive charge.

In the second half Rowan County's first scoring drive began on their own 30 yard line and when fullback, Skaggs broke off tackle and galloped into the end zone for a 19 yard touchdown. Offensive blocking by Pat McManus and Larry Kegley paved the way for Skaggs' score. The extra point was scored by halfback Hutton.

Near the end of the third quarter,

Mike Mayhew, senior guard, recovered a Louisa fumble on the Louisa 15 yard line. From there sophomore quarterback, Danny Phillips, in his first varsity start showed excellent playmaking in the Viking's second scoring effort. With Dion Williams and Hutton carrying the ball to the 5 yard line, Skaggs again bullied over for his second touchdown.

Excellent defensive line play from John White, Ray Bentley, Mayhew, and David Roberts held the opponents scoreless.

Coach Paul Ousley's Vikings will play Bath County at the Rowan County High Athletic Field this Friday night at 8 p. m.

Reservists From Area Return From Camp

Army reservists of Company I returned Saturday from Fort Jackson, South Carolina, after two weeks of Army life. The soldiers had the mission of training newly-inducted soldiers... a mission the 100th Division would have if called up for an extended period of time. This active duty training climaxed another Army reserve year for the citizen-soldiers of the Morehead-based unit.

The soldiers return now to civilian life as plans are formed for monthly drills, more Army training and military preparedness.

The Company I soldiers have unpacked their duffle bags. But the soldiers they trained at Fort Jackson will use the skills they learned for some time. Many of those who attended classes taught by the 100th Division people will go on to Viet Nam.

Company I is commanded by Lt. Robert Gosssett. It meets during the year at the USAR Training Center, Morehead.

All Stars in Pony League Banquet Guests

Last Wednesday night a banquet was held at Morehead in honor of this year's Pony League All Stars and their Managers. A game with the Lexington All Stars could not be scheduled, therefore a banquet was held in its place.

Curtis Duke Adams presided as Master of Ceremonies. Leston Stewart, Morehead State University's new head baseball coach, was the guest speaker. He talked about next year's plans for youth baseball in Rowan County. Dave Abner the Recreation Commissioner of Morehead, recognized some of the All Stars for their outstanding playing this summer. Steve Martin was voted most valuable player and Jim Tom Holbrook was voted best sportsman. Billy Fouch had the best batting average and Pat Reid had the best pitching record.

Ted Trent was recognized for coaching the Braves who have won the Pony League Championship for the last two years. He was also recognized for the great help he had given to the young boys in Rowan County.

Wood, Dog Ticks Plentiful This Year

This is the season the American wood tick, also known as the dog tick, can be a particular nuisance.

This pest, kin to the red spider or chigger, is a big pest of dogs. But he can also attack any warm-blooded animal, including man, says Dr. Rudy Scheibner.

"The tick is a common carrier of Rocky Mountain spotted fever, a very dangerous disease, tularemia and others," he notes.

Best way to avoid them: Stay out of woods and fields if possible. If not, be treated clothing or spray repellents. These give some protection.

Removal of the ticks from legs and arms can be a problem. If any part of the tick's head remains in the bite area, a secondary infection can result.

Spray recreational areas of other frequently used wooded or field areas with one of the following insecticides: DDT, Toxaphene, Chlordane, Dieldrin or Lendane. Follow label instructions for safety, mixing and application.

Dust applications are better in brushy areas than sprays.

Check area extension offices in the counties for more detailed information.

in the local area who were going to college in 1960.

How much they will have to pay will depend upon where they are going. The range is wide.

The average outlay, just for tuition and registration fees, is about $2,100 at a private college, according to government figures. At a publicly-supported institution, they average a little more than $1,000 at the present time.

If half of the 350 local students go to the private colleges and the other half to public ones, the annual cost will be approximately $542,000.

But that's not the whole story. There are also the outlays for books and supplies, for clothes, for board and lodging, for transportation and many more.

Taking everything into consideration, the total cost for a year at a private college is given as $3,200, on average, and at a public college, $1,600.

For a family that will be providing three children with four-year college educations, close to $38,400 will be needed if they go to private institutions and about $21,600 at publicly-supported colleges, the government report shows.

Thanks to rising incomes in Rowan County, more local families are now able to handle the financial burden of children at college.

It found that costs of inspection ranged from 50 cents to $2.

In Kentucky the maximum cost will be $2.50, and is likely to be also the standard cost. Dunlap Elliott, director of motor vehicle inspection, acknowledged that is probably the highest of any inspection states.

Kentucky Constitution Week Proclaimed

As part of a national observance, Governor Edward T. Breathitt has proclaimed September 17-23 as Constitution Week in Kentucky. He has also proclaimed September 17 as Citizenship Day in the state.

The Governor urged all citizens to observe the special week "with appropriate ceremonies and activities in their churches and schools, and in other suitable places, to the end that our citizens, whether they be naturalized or natural born, may have a better understanding of the Constitution and of the rights and responsibilities of United States Citizenship."

For Agnes Moorehead Boredom's No Problem

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD Correspondent

pushing 60, the red-haired actress lives in Sigmund Romberg's old Beverly Hills home, a large Mediterranean house with three bedrooms and a spacious studio.

"The studio has a very special use. Miss Moorehead coaches drama students there during the summer, an extension of her winter class of about 30 pupils she conducts elsewhere in Hollywood."

She charges fees for individual instruction and a flat fee for group classes to cover expenses and staff salaries. But it's a wonder she finds the time.

When her ABC-TV series is shooting she arises at 5 a.m. to be at the studio (Screen Gems) at 6 for makeup and hair dressing. Most of the time she's on the set until 7:30 in the evening.

Live-in help is a necessity. "I haven't time to cook and keep house," she says in her peppery voice. "But that doesn't mean I'm not a good cook, especially when it comes to creative dishes."

Likes Space

Miss Moorehead has decorated her home in Italian mode with a few Venetian antiques sprinkled throughout. The drawing room is a colorful combination of most green and coral furniture, draperies and carpeting. The dining room is blue.

"My own room is lavender, naturally," she says. "It's my favorite color, so there's a touch of lavender in every room in the house."

What does a single girl want with a huge home?

"Miss Moorehead explained she'd lived in small apartments most of her life. But she moved into her present house many years ago and enjoys living in spacious surroundings."

She also takes a dip in the pool during the warm summer days and puts around the garden, giving outrageous instructions to the gardener.

She also entertains house guests from time to time, including her mother who visits frequently from Miss Moorehead's native Wisconsin.

Her regular family consists, however, of a poodle named Duse, and an English bulldog who answers to Sister Cluny, from the role Agnes played in "The Straining Nun."

Despite her busy schedule of holding drama classes and keeping her nose to the grindstone on the weekly series, Miss Moorehead finds time to live a little socially. She frequently goes to parties with such friends as Debbie Reynolds and Harry Karl, or to the home of Jonathan Winters and his wife.

She has dinner as well but refuses to divulge the names of her excoits at fancy restaurants in Beverly Hills.

On weekends she likes to visit Janet Gaynor and her husband, in Palm Springs. Then again, she may dash off to San Francisco on a shopping spree.

"I lead a conservative sort of life," Miss Moorehead concludes. "Nothing exciting about it, really."

Bluegrass May Soon Grow In Vietnam

Governor Edward T. Breathitt says a 50-pound bag of Kentucky Bluegrass seed is being sent to a Salyersville soldier serving in South Vietnam.

Warrant Officer Russell Preston of the 9th Infantry Division wrote the governor, asking for grass seed and specifically requesting, "Not the ordinary, run-of-the-mill grass seed common to the other 49 states, but the grass seed of the exceptional state -- that is to say, suh, Kentucky Bluegrass seed."

In his letter, Preston said his unit is situated in the Mekong Delta with 80 acres of tents spread across "the barest of ground."

"Not one blade of grass, not one tree, brush or shrub breaks the barrenness. It is indeed a bleak prospect to face month after month," Preston wrote.

Preston said that "if a small amount of Bluegrass seed could be sent," he would soon it around the division's headquarters and his own tent area. He indicated that a sign proclaiming "Governor Breathitt's Bluegrass" would be placed on the lawn for all to see.

Breathitt said the seed is being supplied through the Kentucky Seedsmen's Association and estimated that the 50 pounds "should add considerable greenery to the area."

Vaccination Rule
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Evidence of successful smallpox vaccination is not necessary for travelers returning to the United States from Mexico, according to the California State Automobile Association.

The U.S. Public Health Service said this applies only to persons who have visited no other countries than the United States and Mexico for 14 days prior to their border crossing.

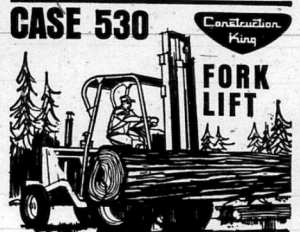

Tourists who make side trips to Central American nations may still be required to present vaccination certificates at the border.

'Little White House'
Attracts Tourists
WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (UPI) — Franklin D. Roosevelt's Little White House hasn't changed much since he died there April 12, 1945. Now, however, it belongs to the government and thousands of tourists walk through the simple, paneled mansion each year.

It was Roosevelt's favorite place, a rustic home on beautiful Pine Mountain. Roosevelt memorabilia — ship models, books, riding quirts — adorn every room, and in the entry way, just to the left of the door, stands the sole reminder of his affliction, a wheelchair.

BEING READY FOR OCCUPANCY this fall for the first time is Alumni Tower, a 10-story men's residence hall, which will house 384 male students. Built at a cost of $2,670,000 it also contains a cafeteria which will seat 500. It is the fifth new men's dormitory in a quadrangle near the eastern end of the campus.

OCCUPIED FOR THE FIRST TIME in early June with summer school students was this new apartment building for married students. It has 40 one-bedroom units and was built at a cost of $740,000.

Morehead State University Prepares For Fall Opening

These pictures illustrate the tremendous expansion program nearing the halfway completion point at Morehead State University.

Virtually complete or ready for use this fall are three dormitories, a married student apartment building, a spacious health education building and a 17-unit faculty housing complex. These represent a total cost of more than $7,000,000.

The fall semester opens Monday, September 11. Under construction and with scheduled completion dates falling in 1968 is a modern, three-story Art Building, a nine-story Professional Education Graduate Studies Building, a two-story addition to Baird Music Hall and a four-story addition to the science and mathematics building.

Another $4,300,000 expansion phase is represented by the planned enlargement of the Doran Student House and the construction of two more dormitories - one for women and one for men. Work on these three projects is expected to begin in the fall of 1968.

THIS NEW 132-MAN DORMITORY, costing $425,000, will be occupied next week by members of the University's athletic teams. Located on a hillside overlooking the Breathitt Sports Center, the two-story, tri-level facility includes 33 complete units for four men each.

RAPIDLY NEARING COMPLETION on Wilson Avenue is this complex of 17 faculty houses. Each house has three bedrooms, bath, living room, dining area, kitchen complete with electric stove and refrigerator, and a carport. All of the units are expected to be occupied by early September.

To be occupied for the first time this fall, it will house 300 co-eds in 75 air-conditioned suites and was built at a cost of $1,540,000.

Vacation Club Takes Whack At Travel Cost

By MARSHA DUBROW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Passenger No. 41 on the Trinidad-New York flight was all green — from head to tail.

But no one seemed to mind the presence of the 6-foot stuffed alligator. Its fellow passengers were too busy talking, singing and having a birthday bash, to notice the reptilian souvenir.

This was not an ordinary commercial flight, but an airborne social club returning from one of a continuing series of resort hops.

The Society of Sky Roamers, Ltd. is a group of semi-retirees who don't have the time or, in some cases, the money to be full-fledged ones. The New York club founded early this year is one of about 20 independent air-travel organizations which have taken wing from Boston, Washington, Chicago, Los Angeles, Terre Haute, Oklahoma City and elsewhere across the nation.

"Since Sky Roamers is a private non-profit, non-stock corporation, it can offer its members extensive 1st class travel for 50 to 60 per cent less than coach-class cost. Our round-trip ticket for Miami is $59, Montego Bay, $84," says Membership Director Paul James, a 31-year-old veteran of three airlines. "Group packages at luxury hotels are always available, but not compulsory," he added.

Single members pay a $130 initiation fee and $85 yearly dues. Family membership, which includes all unmarried children living in a household, costs $165 for the initiation fee and $70 yearly dues.

Most of the members — photographers, teachers, doctors, secretaries, copywriters, clerks, etc. — are between 25 and 45 and single. Family membership comprises about one-third of the group.

Sky Roamers owns one former Eastern Airlines DC-7B and flies it to a different destination almost every weekend. The plane and its crew are owned by all Civil Aeronautics Board and Federal Aviation ruling and standards. The pilot Capt. Charles Fisher, has logged 30 years of professional flying. President and co-pilot Jack Plumly has been a commercial pilot for 22 years.

The club's itinerary includes such outings as Las Vegas on Thanksgiving, San Juan on Christmas, Los Angeles for New Year's and the Snow Bowl and New Orleans for Mardi Gras. Other listed weekend trips take in Montego Bay, Expo in Montreal, Vall, Colorado, for snow-skiing and Acapulco for water skiing. Although the emphasis is on weekend vacations, three 10-day trips to Europe are planned.

The schedule is planned from a consensus of members and each season may take as many as a few trips as the wants. Since there are 300 members and the plane seats 90 passengers, reservations are on a first-come basis.

State Fair Sets New High Attendance

Attendance at the 1967 Kentucky State Fair probably set for a new record. Fair officials predict that once the final audit has been prepared, figures will show that more than one-half million persons passed through the Fair's turnstiles. This compares with 489,000 persons for the 1966 State Fair, the existing all-time high mark for attendance. Attendance records are not kept on a day-to-day basis and the exact number of fairgoers will not be known until the final bookkeeping is done, the officials explained.

Total entries in all departments at the Fair exceeded 35,000. Of the figure, the livestock entries totaled more than 7,000 head.

In opening the Fair, Governor Edward T. Breathitt described it as "the biggest and best ever" and he pointed to a number of first established this year. These are:

The first year for publishing a State Fair daily newspaper to let fairgoers know what is going on each day.

New communications awards, presented for the first time to newspapers, magazines, radio and television stations for excellence in professional accomplishment.

The first year for a woodland exhibit, sponsored by the U. S. Forest Service and the State Departments of Natural Resources and Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The Crafts-in-Action exhibit, a brand new display which featured skilled crafts men at work turning out traditional Kentucky products such as woven rugs, quilts, hand-made candles, wood carvings, pottery and metal work.

The 10 day Fair ended Sunday.

Up To New Tricks . . .

These Termites

Termites, eternal enemies of the homeowner, recently went a bit out of character, says Dr. Rudy Scheibner, U. K. Cooperative Extension Service entomologist.

He says a specimen of a rhubarb plant sent in from a home garden showed termite damage. "This proved again what we knew for a long while. Termites attack wood first—but occasionally they will attack a wide variety of living plants such as corn, rhubarb, turnips, cabbage, carrots, squash and melons for example. Many flowers with a woody stem are occasionally attractive to termites, especially those in greenhouses where wooden benches are old."

Dr. Scheibner admits to "quite a problem" with the vegetable-loving termites. "We can't use soil insecticides on root crops. We suggest that you might pound sap-pine stakes into the ground, to attract the termites. Pull the stakes up after a few weeks and dunk them in hot water to kill the termites. Be sure to treat the stakes, and keep them, outside the house or other buildings."

He admits ruefully: "I've never tried this method of termite control so I don't know if it will work. I can't guarantee success, but we do hope it will help."

"Good hunting," he says.

Mrs. Callihan, 72, Claimed

Mrs. Ross Callihan, 72, Olive Hill, well known in Rowan County with many close relatives at Morehead, passed away on Sunday of last week in an Ashland hospital.

Funeral services were conducted at Limestone Pentecostal Church in Carter County last Wednesday.

Four of her five surviving sisters and one of three surviving brothers lived at Morehead. They are - Mrs. Nancy Cline, Mrs. Bertie Blinn, Mrs. Emmer Cline, Mrs. Minnie Dean, and Arthur Creech, Christy Creek.

Her husband, Marion Callihan, died Dec. 4, 1959.

Dallia Nickell Claimed

Mrs. James L. [Dallia] Nickell, who could properly be termed among the best known, and loved, women in Morehead's history, died Saturday at St. Claire Medical Center.

She was 82 years of age, being born in Jackson County, Kentucky Jan. 24, 1885.

The end was not unexpected as Mrs. Nickell had been in failing health for many months.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Lane Funeral Home. The remains were then taken to Lee cemetery for interment by the side of her husband, James L. Nickell, Morehead businessman, who passed away June 8, 1963.

Rev. G. C. Banks, a lifelong friend, conducted the funeral.

Mrs. Nickell was a charter and active member of the Morehead chapter of the Order of Eastern Star and that fraternal organization rendered the graveside rites.

She was the daughter of the late Cornelius and Elizabeth Early Moore.

On April 1, 1902 she married James L. Nickell, who became one of the most active and successful businessmen in this area.

Immediate survivors are a daughter, Elizabeth Nickell of Morehead; a grandson, Jimmy Williams, Morehead; three granddaughters, Dee, Leslie Lynn, and Sandra Stewart, all of Morehead; and two brothers - Grant Moore, Middletown, O., and Harlan Moore, Roseburg, Oregon.

Mrs. Nickell resided on 2nd Street.

Throughout her adult life she was one of the community's most active women in social and civic groups and endeavors.

Most people fondly knew her as 'Dallia' or 'Aunt Dallia'.

THE OFFICIALS of our government have told soup makers that from now on they will have to put chicken in chicken soup and turkey in turkey soup. It does make it taste better. Our government is always ready to serve us and then a lot of people are always wanting to criticize our government for wanting to help us even make soup. Don't do that.

THAT WOMAN who knows a lot about psychology made a big speech and she truthfully said that women lie lots more than men do. Us men won't hardly lie when necessary, but we have always believed that women didn't care a bit to lie a little dab or a big dab if necessary or not. We appreciate that woman speaker a giving us the facts on this matter. She claims that it is almost impossible to tell when a woman is telling a lie. No doubt it just comes naturally for her. Of course we don't believe that women lie. We believe that they are absolutely a body of truth and have been wrongfully accused. And we have known that men were the George Washington type. They'll all tell you they cut the cherry tree down if you ask them. Our readers have no Credibility Gap.

THE MEDICARE PROGRAMS are becoming so alluring over in their ferrin countries that the law is having to take a hand in keeping patients away. One man was given a stiff jail sentence for being sick so much. This man would go into a hospital with a disease of his choice and would be put bed for curing. After the doctors would decide that he was well from his disease he would be discharged. The man would take him another bad disease and go to him a different hospital and be put to bed and be served with good meals and cares. He was a real live with the pleasures of nurses and doctors a doing all his chores. This man traveled to many different hospitals with his diseases. He finally got caught a sponging off the country's Medicare program and was jailed. Of course no American would think doing such a thing. They are too onery.

MEASLES ERADICATION - The State Department of Health predicts that measles will be eradicated in Kentucky by the end of 1967.

Morehead - Rowan County PUBLIC LIBRARY

Main Street, Morehead

The highlight of the past two weeks for the library was the visit of Miss Margaret Willis, Director of the Kentucky Department of Libraries. She [accompanied by her mother] had attended Field Day at Smile and taken part in the program before they came by the library. They were complimentary about the progress of our library program.

Miss Willis was pleased that the library had been able to use some of the Neighborhood Youth Corps workers from various parts of the county. She wants us to serve the county as a whole—not just Morehead. That is the reason we took the bookmobile and attended Field Day.

Several women from the Morehead Woman's Club have volunteered to be in charge of the Story Hour on Wednesday afternoons at 2:00 o'clock.

Wanda Sloan, an OGO worker, will help Frankie Calvert on the bookmobile until her six months employment term expires on January 1, 1968.

The bookmobile will follow this schedule next week:

Tuesday - Flemingsburg Road, Smile and Sharkey;

Wednesday - Farmers, Sharkey Road, Lower Licking River and Moore Flat Road;

Thursday - West U. S. 60, Farmers and Bluestone Communities.

Women's Medical News

BY LOUISE CHASE
Women's Medical News Service

Between 1954 and 1964 the percentage of doctors who smoked cigarettes fell from 50 percent to less than 30 percent.

According to a report made by the U. S. Public Health Service at the recent meeting in Atlantic City of the American Medical Association, "Many physicians stopped smoking because they know that the death rate for cigarette smokers in comparison to that of non-smokers is 70 percent higher from all causes; 500 percent higher from chronic bronchitis and emphysema; and 1,000 percent higher from lung cancer."

While the experts were cutting down, young people continued to smoke more heavily than ever. A study of almost 500 young people, aged about 21, showed that five and a half years after an initial examination, 10 percent of the habits almost twice as many were smoking as had smoked. In addition, almost nine out of 10 of those who smoked in 1959 continued to do so in 1965. Most of those who said in 1959 that they had discontinued smoking had resumed by 1965.

Nearly three out of four boys and three out of five girls who thought in 1959 that they might become smokers did indeed begin smoking. Consumption of cigarettes increased by more than four packs a week for both boys and girls. The cause of another doctor of Public Health, attitudes about smoking are established before the mid-teens, so education about the risks of smoking should begin in about the fifth or sixth grade.

PHYSICIANS DEBATE PILLS FOR COEDS

Debate continues over whether unmarried coeds should be given the pill by college health service physicians. Here's how the question, "Should a college coed give the pill to an unmarried coed who requests it?" was answered at the recent American Medical Association meeting here.

Dr. James L. Vathis, Oklahoma City: "This came up in one of my post-graduate groups. One of the physicians happened to be a college physician. The question of another doctor of the group happened to be a student in that school. The latter said, 'You give my daughter the pill and I'll break your neck.'"

"I said, 'If you don't give my daughter the pill if she requests it, I'll break your neck.' I personally feel if she's in college and she requests it, she should get it. Talk to her about it, yes, but if she really has a need for it, give it."

ANY FOOD MAY CAUSE ALLERGY IN TODDLERS

The commonly held notion that no child is allergic to such foods as lamb, peas, rice and white potatoes is false. Any food may cause an allergic reaction. These were reported by Dr. Frederic Speer, of the University of Kansas Pediatric Allergy Clinic last week.

In a study of 267 food-allergic children under two years of age, Dr. Speer found that milk was the most common offender, followed by citrus fruits; the pea family; beans, soybeans and soybean formulas; peanuts and peas; eggs; and wheat. Others, in order, were corn, oat, tomatoes, rice, oats and beef. "Allergy to goods is not always absolute," he said. "Tolerance to a food drops sharply in cold weather when a child eats excessive amounts of a food, and when he has an infection."

These Termites

Termites, eternal enemies of the home owner, recently went a bit out of character, says Dr. Rudy Scheibner, U. K. Cooperative Extension Service entomologist.

He says a specimen of a rhubarb plant sent in from a home garden showed termite damage.

"This proved again what we knew for a long while. Termites attack wood first—but occasionally they will attack a wide variety of living plants such as corn, rhubarb, turnips, cabbage, carrots, squash and melons for example. Many flowers with a woody stem are occasionally attractive to termites, especially those in greenhouses where wooden benches are old."

Dr. Scheibner admits to "quite a problem" with the vegetable-loving termites. "We can't use soil insecticides on root crops. We suggest that you might pound sap-pine stakes into the ground, to attract the termites. Pull the stakes up after a few weeks and dunk them in hot water to kill the termites. Be sure to treat the stakes, and keep them, outside the house or other buildings."

He admits ruefully: "I've never tried this method of termite control so I don't know if it will work. I can't guarantee success, but we do hope it will help."

"Good hunting," he says.

Clennie's mother is Mrs. Nashville, Ky.

THE OFFICIALS of our government have told us that from now on they will have to put chicken in chicken soup and turkey in turkey soup. It does make it taste better. Our government is always ready to serve us and then a lot of people are always wanting to criticize our government for wanting to help us ever make soup. Don't do that.

THAT WOMAN what knows a lot about psychology made a big speech and she truthfully said that women lie lots more than men do. Us men won't hardly lie when necessary, but we have always believed that women didn't care a bit to lie a little dab or a big dab if necessary or not. We appreciate that woman speaker a glimpse at the facts on this matter. She claims that it is almost impossible to tell when a woman is telling a lie. No doubt it just comes naturally for them. Of course we don't believe that women lie. We believe that they are absolutely a body of truth and have been wrongfully accused. And we have known that men were the George Washington type. They'll all tell you they cut the tree down if you ask them. Our readers have no Credibility Gap.

THE MEDICARE PROGRAMS are becoming so alluring over in them ferrin countries that the law is having to take a hand in keeping patients away. One man was given a stiff jail sentence for being so much. This man would go into a hospital with a disease of his choice and would be put to bed for curing. After the doctors would decide that he was well from his disease he would be discharged. The man would take him another bad disease and go to him a different hospital and be put to bed and be served with good meals and cares. He was living a real life with the pleasures of nurses and doctors a doing all his different hospitals with his diseases. He finally got caught a traveling off'n the country's Medicare program and was jailed. Of course no American would think of doing such a thing. They are too greedy.

Women's Medical News

BY LOUISE CHASE
Women's Medical News Service

Between 1954 and 1964 the percentage of doctors who smoked cigarettes fell from 30 percent to less than 30 percent. According to a report made by the U. S. Public Health Service at the recent meeting in Atlantic City of the American Medical Association, "Many physicians stopped smoking because they know that the death rate for cigarette smokers in comparison to that of non-smokers is 70 percent higher from all causes; 500 percent higher from chronic bronchitis and emphysema; and 1,000 percent higher from lung cancer."

While the experts were cutting down though, young people continued to smoke more heavily than ever. A study of almost 500 young people, aged about 21, showed that five and a half years after an initial examination of their smoking habits almost two-thirds of them were as many as smoking. In addition, almost nine out of 10 of those who smoked in 1959 continued to do so in 1965. Most of those who said in 1959 that they had discontinued smoking had resumed by 1965.

Nearly three out of four boys and three out of five girls who thought in 1959 that they might become smokers did indeed begin smoking. Consumption of cigarettes increased by more than four packs a week for both boys and girls.

According to Eva J. Salber, M. D., C. C. of Harvard's School of Public Health, attitudes about smoking are established before the mid-twenties, so education about the effects of smoking should begin in about the fifth or sixth grade.

PHYSICIANS DEBATE PILLS FOR COEDS

Debate continues over whether unmarried coeds should be given the pill by college health services. Here's the question: Should a college M. D. give the pill to an unmarried coed who requests it? It was answered at the recent American Medical Association meeting here.

Dr. James L. Mathis, Oklahoma City: "I came up with one of my post-graduate groups. One of the physicians happened to be a college physician. The daughter of another doctor in the group happened to be a resident in that school. The latter said, 'You give my daughter the pill and I'll break your neck.'"

"I said, 'If you don't give my daughter the pill if she requests it, I'll break your neck.' I personally feel if she should get it. Talk to her about it, yes, but if she really has a need for it—give it!"

ANY FOOD MAY CAUSE ALLERGY IN TODDLERS

The common belief that not all children are allergic to such foods as lamb, peas, rice and white potatoes is false. Any food may cause allergy. These views were reported by Dr. Frederick Speer of the University of Kansas Pediatric Allergy Clinic at a recent meeting of the American Medical Association.

In a study of 267 food-allergic children under two years of age, Dr. Speer found that milk was the most common offender, followed by citrus fruits, the peas, wheat, soybeans and soybean formulas, peanuts and peas; eggs; and chocolate. Others, in order, were corn, wheat, tomatoes, rice, oats and beef. "Allergy to foods is not always absolute," the physician noted. Tolerance to a food drops sharply in a weanling when a child eats excessive amounts of a food, and when he has an infection.

Morehead Minister Speaks To Over 14,000

H. Ray Battels, presiding minister of the Morehead congregation of Jehovah's witnesses addressed some 14,000 of Jehovah's witnesses gathered for the "Disciple-making" District Assembly at Evansville, Indiana's Robert Municipal Stadium last week. Battels addressed the group Friday evening on the subject, "Return Evil for Evil to No One."

Battels was ordained for the ministry in 1957.

Miss Gullet Becomes Bride Of Mr. Stepp

In a double ring ceremony Saturday, Aug. 19, at the First Christian Church of Morehead, Miss Sylvia Lee Gullett of Farmers became the bride of Mr. George Edward Stepp of Russell. Reverend Alvin G. Busby officiated.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mr. Victor Ramsey, Portage, Ind., organist, and Mr. Gary Holcomb, Morehead State University, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length sheath gown of white organza over taffeta. The bodice, with a crescent neckline, and the above-elbow sleeves were fashioned of peau d'ange lace. A detachable chapel train extending from a back bow was trimmed with a panel of peau d'ange lace. Her shoulder-length triple-tier veil of illusion was caught to a head-dress of pearls and organza roses. She carried a cascade of ivory and miniature carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Isabelle Caste, Olive Hill, the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Alice Clark and Miss Brenda Schweingruber, both of Louisville, wore identical dresses, the bodices fashioned of gold brocade satin with above the elbow sleeves and scoop necklines, and the sheath skirts of yellow crepe, with detachable trains caught to back bows. They wore circular veils of illusion caught to large satin bows and carried bouquets of daisies.

Mr. Dave Saxton of Morehead was best man. Ushers were Mr. Scott Russell, Corbin, Mr. Garry Taylor, Pikeville; Mrs. Ron McEwen, Louisville; and Mr. Bob Rasor, Lexington.

Mrs. Stepp is a graduate of Morehead State University where she is now employed. Mr. Stepp is a senior student majoring in political science at Morehead State.

After a trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Stepp will reside in Morehead.

New in Fall Furniture Ideas and Materials

By DUSTON HARVEY
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — "Mad mod" has been muted in fully furnished line, allowing metal and plastic and much of the simplicity as disposable paper mod — still bright and occasional floral, but less strident and with softened lines. "Furniture colors follow women's fashions, and right now browns and whites, and blacks and whites, are the hottest colors," explained a seller at the Western Merchandise Market.

With moods toned down, interest centered on unusual materials and ideas as major manufacturers showed off their furniture styles during the Mar's 1967 Home Furnishings Market.

"There's much more use of metal — especially shining chrome — out where it can be seen," said designer Richard Miller. "It used to be found only in office furniture, but there's a lot of it now in home furnishings."

The "peek-through" look in glass and plastic tables featured many with chrome bases.

Much Plastic
Plastics were much in evidence, being used — according to a seller — "on every thing and in every way." Plastic fabrics went into rugs and drapes and provided covers for upholstered tables. "They're being used now in the entire range of home furnishings," the sales representative said.

Among the more exotic items on display were disposable popovers, buffalo hide chairs, chaise lounges with built-in side tables, convertible poker tables and doe-eyed cocktail cubes.

The paper rugs, which came with matching paper drapes, included one for "paint by numbers" enthusiasts and another with a ready to work crossword puzzle.

The "pop-up" was a third bed stored beneath a pair of bunks. With the push of a lever, it jumped into sleeping position. A series of removable attachments converted a dining room table into a fold-downed poker table.

"Everyone stops to look at the exotic stuff — especially the expensive items," Miller said. "But what's moving is the clean-lined, contemporary furniture."

Also moving — and in large quantities — were the traditional, non-contemporary, "mod" designs which have dominated furniture stores for years. Early American, French Provincial and other standbys filled several floors of the vast show as usual.

Live-Lineum
LONDON (UPI) — Lineum that glows in the dark is the newest product of a Scottish company. It was designed for use in hospitals and would help eliminate the need for night lights.

Called "Pathfinder," the floor covering looks like normal vinyl sheeting but when subjected to ultra violet light it glows with a blue-white fluorescence. Britain's biggest linoleum makers, Nairn Williamson Ltd. of Kirkcaldy in Fife, showed the "night light" flooring at a recent hospital equipment exhibition in London.

390 in Rowan Gain Food Stamp Approval

Rowan County had 390 persons on the food stamp program in July, the second month of operation.

They received $3,308 worth of federal food coupons in July.

The number of Rowan county participants is expected to grow steadily now that food stamps have replaced commodities.

The number of food stamp recipients in area counties, and the value [in dollars] of the stamps issued during July are — Elliott 613, $3,848; Floyd 4,725, $27,964; Johnson 2,538, $10,970; Maggoffin 2,927, $19,252; Menfee 380, $2,285; Montgomery 588, $3,788; Powell 455, $3,082; Wolfe 1,217, $7,080; Morgan 1,406, $8,656.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service reported that 146,178 needy Kentuckians in 115 counties received food aid during July through its commodity distribution and food stamp programs.

This was 115 persons less than the number receiving aid in the two programs during June.

In Kentucky, 52 counties offer low-income families food stamp assistance, while 63 counties take part in the commodity distribution program.

Russell H. James of Atlanta, Southeast District Director of consumer food programs, pointed out that there have been two important changes in food stamp program regulations within the past few weeks that will allow more families to take part.

Effective August 1, the minimum purchase requirement for families in the lowest income category was reduced to 50 cents per person per month, James noted.

The second major change, he said, is a special half-price offer available to all families that enter the food stamp program after August 1, and to families that dropped out of the program before June 1, and re-entered after August 1.

Under this provision, the new food stamp families are only required to put up half of their normal purchase requirement the first 30 days they take part in the program.

"In this way," James noted "families entering the food stamp program for the first time will have a chance to catch up on their back bills before putting up the full purchase requirement required under food stamp regulations."

The amount families are required to swap for their food coupons is based on individual circumstances and depends upon total income and the number of persons in the family. It approximates the amount families would usually be expected to spend on food. When the family sets up its purchase requirement, it receives USDA food coupons worth more than the amount they swap, resulting in a boost in food buying power.

Food coupons are then used just like cash at any grocery store in the county or city that is authorized by the Consumer and Marketing Service to accept them. Any bona fide food retailer serving customers in a food stamp area may be authorized by applying to the Consumer and Marketing Service.

Hydroplanes To Race In State

Racing in Kentucky, a sport usually conceded to the state's gleaming and pampered horseflesh, will be given over to hydroplaning in Newport, Sept. 17. Hydroplanes of seven classes will represent around 80 entries from a dozen states when the Governor's Cup Regatta gets under way at noon. This will be the fourth annual unfolment of the event which comprises a series of five-mile races along a 1 2/3-mile course on the Ohio River.

Entries range from the 48-cubic-inch to the his seven-liter craft, but will compete only in their own class. Cash prizes and trophies will be awarded, with the Governor's Cup Trophy going to the entrant coming closest to the world's record for his class.

Oil Technician Develops Hi-Fi Speaker System

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International

A Houston electrical engineer and physicist uses negative feedback, a n. comparatively small high fidelity loudspeaker systems to produce an extraordinarily low and distortion free bass.

The negative feedback principle with loudspeakers was not exactly new when L.W. Erath, 49, by profession a designer of instruments for the oil industry, first started to use it as a means of getting his speaker system sound out of smaller systems.

Speaker textbooks mentioned, however, that the best way to get the feedback was to put a microphone in front of each speaker. A microphone good enough to monitor a fine speaker system was prohibitively expensive.

Feedback, as Erath uses it, is a sampling of the portion of the output of an amplifier or loudspeaker and comparing it with the input signal to determine whether the two are identical.

If they are not identical, an error signal is developed which is fed back into the input of the amplifier. The corrective signal forces the output of the loudspeaker to be identical to the input, thereby reducing distortion.

"What I discovered was a simple and practical means of determining loudspeaker performance so feedback can be applied to it," Erath said. "In other words, I use a network of coils, resistors and other components which is placed in series with the speaker."

"This network develops a feedback voltage from currents flowing in the loudspeaker. These currents contain elements which are proportional to the deficiencies of the speaker."

"Therefore this feedback voltage represents the performance of the loudspeaker and can be compared with the input signal to the amplifier to determine the corrective signal."

"The reason this is practical is because the loudspeakers which we use are carefully designed by me to eliminate unnecessary vibration."

Four Models
Erath produced the first speaker system that satisfied him in 1963. He has since designed four speaker models, which he calls LW-1A, 2A, 3A and 4A. Each model has 40 watts per channel amplifier and a preamplifier-control center.

The low frequencies into the mid-range frequencies are exceptionally clean and the instruments in an orchestra are sharply separated.

Pire wires instead of the normal two are required to connect an LW-1 speaker to an LW-2 amplifier. Erath had hoped that when people bought his speakers, they also would buy his amplifiers.

He had not reckoned with people who liked his speakers but were happy with the amplifiers they already had. So Erath had to design kits so other make amplifiers can be modified to operate with his speakers.

The kit costs $5 and Erath recommends that dealers charge an additional $5 for attaching it to the amplifier.

Erath still is technical director for a Houston company that designs and makes instruments for the oil industry, but he now has a plant employing 15 persons that turns out his speaker systems and amplifiers.

His preamplifier-control centers will go into production this fall.
