FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Singers in Rowan County are invited to audition for The Voices of Eastern Kentucky, a regional chorus sponsored by Morehead State University, that will tour England, Scotland and Wales June 20-July 3.

The 36-member chorus will be selected from MSU's service region, according to Dr. Kenneth Sipley, MSU assistant professor of music who will direct the ensemble.

"We are looking for good voices and individuals who like to sing," Dr. Sipley said. "Professional experience is not required but a willingness to work hard is of utmost importance."

During the audition, applicants will be tested for vocal range, asked to perform a piece of sight reading, deliver a short and simple solo of a folk or hymn tune, and after working with a piano player, sing their vocal part on a simple choral piece.

Auditions are set for Sunday, Jan. 14, 1 to 6 p.m. and Monday, Jan. 15, 9 a.m.-noon and 1 to 6 p.m. in 338 Baird Music Hall. After selections are made, applicants will be notified and sent a rehearsal schedule.

After the choir is chosen, members will have only six months to learn a lot of music, Dr. Sipley said. "This will mean devoting additional time outside the regular practice periods," he said.

Rehearsals will be held one weekend each month from February through May. Prior to the departure date in June, all participants will spend a week on the campus honing their performance skills and making final preparations which will include at least two concerts in the University's service region.

MSU, in cooperation with the Cooperative Center for Study in Britain (CCSB), will arrange for the overseas venture. At least six major concerts will be held with performances scheduled for a number of historical sites such as the Canterbury Cathedral.

Additional information on the auditions is available from Dr. Sipley at (606) 783-2470.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Singers in Martin County are invited to audition for The Voices of Eastern Kentucky, a regional chorus sponsored by Morehead State University, that will tour England, Scotland and Wales June 20-July 3.

The 36-member chorus will be selected from MSU's service region, according to Dr. Kenneth Sipley, MSU assistant professor of music who will direct the ensemble.

"We are looking for good voices and individuals who like to sing," Dr. Sipley said. "Professional experience is not required but a willingness to work hard is of utmost importance."

During the audition, applicants will be tested for vocal range, asked to perform a piece of sight reading, deliver a short and simple solo of a folk or hymn tune, and after working with a piano player, sing their vocal part on a simple choral piece.

Auditions are set for Sunday, Jan. 14, 1 to 6 p.m. and Monday, Jan. 15, 9 a.m.-noon and 1 to 6 p.m. in 338 Baird Music Hall. After selections are made, applicants will be notified and sent a rehearsal schedule.

After the choir is chosen, members will have only six months to learn a lot of music, Dr. Sipley said. "This will mean devoting additional time outside the regular practice periods," he said.

Rehearsals will be held one weekend each month from February through May. Prior to the departure date in June, all participants will spend a week on the campus honing their performance skills and making final preparations which will include at least two concerts in the University's service region.

MSU, in cooperation with the Cooperative Center for Study in Britain (CCSB), will arrange for the overseas venture. At least six major concerts will be held with performances scheduled for a number of historical sites such as the Canterbury Cathedral.

Additional information on the auditions is available from Dr. Sipley at (606) 783-2470.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Tim W. Holbrook of Olive Hill has been named chief photographer at Morehead State University.

He has assumed the position formerly held by Eric Shindelbower who resigned to accept a similar position at Fort Knox.

The chief photographer is responsible for photo coverage of special University events as well as the day-to-day operations of a photo studio, according to Judith Yancy, director of institutional relations.

"We are fortunate to have someone who is not only familiar with the University but has solid photographic skills as well," Yancy said in announcing the appointment.

"By combining his sense of balance and design that is part of his artistic training along with the technical knowledge, we hope to produce photographs that will give us award winning publications as well as document campus happenings for historical purposes."

Holbrook is an honor graduate of Morehead State University where he earned a Bachelor of Arts degree with an area in studio art in 1994. He was named the University's Outstanding Freshman Art Student in 1991, and Outstanding Senior Art Student and Outstanding Undergraduate Student in Art in 1994.

While in college, he completed an internship in the Office of Photographic Services. After earning the undergraduate degree, he worked as a photo technician for more than a year.

A free lance photographer for the past two years, Holbrook was a sports stringer for the Morehead News during 1993-94 and has been published in magazines such as Bluegrass Unlimited. He also has exhibited art works in a number of shows locally and throughout the state.

A graduate of West Carter High School, Holbrook is the son of Mrs. Audrey Holbrook of Olive Hill.

MOREHEAD, Ky.--Floyd County native Patricia Leonard is a high school dropout who after earning her GED diploma is now busy "getting on" with her life. Leonard will graduate with Morehead State University's Winter Commencement class on Dec. 16.

Dropping out of high school with only three months until graduation, she moved to Cleveland, Ohio. While working in a factory there, she met her husband.

After starting a family, Leonard quit her job to stay home with the children. In 1977, she moved back to Floyd County and as a divorced parent of 10 children ended up on welfare.

For some of its aid programs, the Department for Social Insurance now requires participants to seek their GED diplomas. She earned hers in 1993 at MSU's Adult Learning Center. The ALC offers adults the opportunity to learn to read, improve their basic education skills, prepare for the GED test or prepare for admission to a postsecondary institution.

While at the ALC, Leonard was recruited into MSU's Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) program by Dorothy Walter, the JTPA coordinator. "I was there looking for people who were interested in coming to MSU for a college education and she was very eager," Walter said.

Leonard enrolled in a two-year degree program at MSU, taking classes in criminology and sociology. "I was very determined to go back to school so I could be independent," Leonard said.

Through JTPA, Leonard was identified by the Green Thumb program as a potential participant. Federally funded under Title V, the Older Americans Act, Green Thumb provides part-time employment and training opportunities for people who are 55 years old or older and economically disadvantaged. The job experience must be with a nonprofit corporation.

Since Leonard was already on campus, Green Thumb placed her with the Office of Community Development and Continuing Education where she serves as Walter's administrative assistant, working 20 hours a week.

A soon-to-be graduate, Leonard would like a job working with young people, possibly in a children's home setting. "It feels good to be off welfare and getting on with my life," she said.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Judge Elijah M. Hogge, a distinguished former jurist and dedicated public servant, will be the recipient of an honorary doctorate at Morehead State University's Winter Commencement on Saturday, Dec. 16.

Judge Hogge will receive the honorary Doctor of Public Service degree during the ceremonies which are scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m. in the Academic-Athletic Center.

Approximately 550 undergraduate and graduate students are candidates for degrees to be conferred that day by MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin. The student speaker will be Aaron Boyd Wagner of Wheelersburg, Ohio, who will receive the Bachelor of Science degree with honors.

"Judge Hogge has devoted his life to serving the citizens not only of Eastern Kentucky but also of the commonwealth in one form or another," said Dr. Eaglin. "He is to be commended for his exemplary commitment to public service and we are proud to honor that dedication with this degree," he added.

A native of Morehead and a 1937 graduate of MSU, Judge Hogge formerly sat on Kentucky Court of Appeals. Named to the court in August 1976, he later was elected to a full six-year term on the state's second highest court. He served three and a half years as the court's chief judge pro-tem.

Judge Hogge holds the distinction of being Kentucky's first Secretary of Transportation and the first Secretary of Public Protection and Regulation, serving in the administration of then-Gov. Wendell Ford. He was a member of Gov. Ford's inner circle of advisers which created the cabinet system of state agencies which remains in place today.

Earning the Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from Washington and Lee University, Judge Hogge began his career in Rowan County as an attorney. A World War II Navy veteran, he spent over a decade as commonwealth attorney for the 21st district which includes Bath, Menifee, Montgomery and Rowan counties.

Judge Hogge and his wife Norma live in Frankfort where he serves as legal adviser to the Kentucky Racing Commission and other state agencies. He also is treasurer and a board member of the Northeast Kentucky Hospital Foundation, which established St. Claire Medical Center.

Wagner, the student speaker, is a dean's list student, who majored in environmental science with a geology option in the College of Science and Technology.

During summer 1995, Wagner worked as an environmental technician with Lockheed Martin Energy Systems and the previous summer as a lab technician for Martin Marietta Energy Systems. He plans a career in environmental, engineering or field related areas.

The recipient of the 1992 Academic Achievement Award given by Phi Kappa Phi interdisciplinary honor society, Wagner also has been nominated for inclusion in "Who's Who Among American College and University Students."

A graduate of Wheelersburg High School, he is the son of Sharon Wagner of Wheelersburg and William Wagner of Jackson, Ohio. Wagner is married to the former Shelley Jividen of Wheelersburg.

Once the degrees have been conferred, the new alumni will be inducted into the MSU Alumni Association by its president-elect, H. Jack Webb of Ashland.

Dr. Glenn Rogers, professor of English and the 1994-95 Distinguished Teacher Award recipient, will be the grand marshal, assisted by Dr. Frances Helphinstine, professor of English.

Student marshals will be Michael Melton of Hazard, representing Graduate and Extended Campus Programs; Pamela Riley of Morehead, College of Science and Technology; Tina Hamilton of Wellington, College of Business; Amy Bond of Olive Hill, College of Education and Behavioral Sciences, and Joey Roberts of Farmers, Caudill College of Humanities.

A reception for graduates and their families, sponsored by the MSU Alumni Association, will be hosted by Dr. and Mrs. Eaglin immediately following the ceremony.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---More than 7,500 individuals have earned a GED diploma since the Kentucky Educational Television began funding Morehead State University as the statewide headquarters for the GED ON TV Program more than 10 years ago.

MSU's KET Student Services Office develops and maintains the support system for each GED ON TV enrollee. The program provides a service to those adults who are not able to attend traditional GED or literacy classes because of transportation, child care problems, work schedules, or the need for privacy.

"This program is designed to allow high school dropouts who are 18 years of age or older to participate in a GED preparation course study at home," said Sharon Jackson, project director KET-GED program.

Each potential GED ON TV enrollee is interviewed, screened, and advised on an academic course of study based on the student's skills. After the students are pretested and enrolled, the students study 43 instructional GED programs, complete lessons in three accompanying workbooks, and receive encouragement with frequent individualized follow-up from the MSU program staff.

MSU offers five separate sessions per year to complete the five- and-a-half-month course. The program enrolls between 1,100 and 1,400 adults in GED study. In addition, 3,000-5,000 adults who call, but cannot enroll, are referred to local adult education programs each year.

The GED ON TV program is a supplement to existing adult education programs. "It is succeeding in improving the educational level of Kentucky's adults and the program has tremendous growth potential in this state as well as the nation," Jackson said. The KET GED ON TV program has been a model for more than 32 states which are now using the program series, she noted.

"MSU was notably involved in research and practices in adult education when KET came to MSU to get the program off the ground," said Jackson.

GED

Since its inception, there have been more than 63,530 individual callers yielding 44,820 adults being referred to local adult education programs, 18,700 enrolled in GED and more than 1,200 enrolled in Basic Skills.

Statistics from the MSU program has continued to make Jackson more enthusiastic. The GED exam passing percentage for GED ON TV students is above the success rate in the state and the nation overall. The U.S. Department of Labor reports that since the GED, these 7,500 graduates are putting an additional average of $36,856,144 annually into the state's economy. Compared to high school dropouts, the amount is $4,980.56 more annually in earnings for each GED recipient.

And even with this good news, Jackson does not believe her work is done. "Kentucky has more than 1,000,000 adults without a high school diploma and the existing adult education programs are serving only 3 to 4 percent of these adults each year," she said.

Anyone interested in earning a GED or desiring additional information on the KET-GED ON TV program by calling 1-800-538-4433.

'THANKS, PARTNER'

During the 30th anniversary celebration of the establishment of the Kentucky Educational Development Corporation, Frank Hamilton, right, former Johnson County school superintendent, received the first annual President's Educational Partnership Award for his extraordinary support of the partnership's concept in education. Presenting the award was Morehead State University President Ronald G. Eaglin, center, as Jack Moreland, the 1995-96 chair of KEDC's board of directors, applauded. Hamilton, who served as director of Boards and Commissions in the administration of Gov. Brereton C. Jones, was KEDC board chair for 1993-94. The oldest and largest of the state's educational cooperatives, KEDC is comprised of 53 public school districts in partnership with MSU. It provides technology and professional development support for its member districts across the state.

MOREHEAD, Ky.—A Bullitt County student was among those selected as a peer adviser for the 1995 fall semester at Morehead State University.

David Tramaine Thompson, son of Joseph W. Thompson Sr. and Jean R. Thompson of Shepherdsville, is a junior special education major. He serves on the West Mignon Hall council.

Peer advisers are selected by an application process and must meet qualifications established by the Student Government Association. To be considered, students must be enrolled full-time and have completed 62 or more hours at MSU. They also must be in good academic standing and exhibit leadership skills.

As a peer adviser, students serve as role models, referring freshmen to proper MSU faculty or staff for assistance when necessary, according to Paula Dailey, MSU coordinator of freshman advising and general studies. They must complete a three-day training session which includes solutions to problems that normally arise on a campus, communication skills and a review of university requirements and opportunities. The peer adviser also assists with the MSU 101 class, "Discovering University Life."

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Office of Purchasing has moved from Howell-McDowell Administration Building on the main campus to the Support Services Complex, the former Cowden building, located at 606 West Main Street.

Office hours remain the same, 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and mail will be picked up and delivered to campus twice daily, according to Charlotte Dowdy, MSU director of purchasing.

"With computer, telephone and fax capabilities, our staff will be able to provide the same services to the campus from our new location as before," Dowdy said.

"Purchase orders are routinely faxed to vendors and walk-through purchase orders now may either be picked up or faxed to the requesting department," she added.

Many of the forms formerly distributed by purchasing now will be available from the Office of Accounting and Budgetary Control in 202 Howell-McDowell. However, Personal Service Contract and Purchase Requisition Attachment forms will still need to be obtained from purchasing.

"One distinct advantage to our new quarters is that visitor parking is readily available in front of the complex," Dowdy noted.

Purchasing's telephone number remains unchanged, (606) 783-2018. The fax number also has not changed. It is (606) 783-2798.

The new mailing address will be Office of Purchasing, Morehead State University, Support Services Complex, Morehead, KY 40351-1689.

SPECIAL TO THE MOREHEAD NEWS "GOOD NEWS" EDITION

Designation of the original campus as a Historic District, professional accreditation for the College of Business and national honors for the Marching Percussion are but a few of the good things that happened to Morehead State University during 1995.

Nine buildings, dating from 1926 to 1932 and constructed in a crescent at the center of campus, were placed on the National Register of Historic Places by the U.S. Department of the Interior and Kentucky Heritage Council.

MSU's 12-acre Historic District includes the President's Home, Senff Natatorium, Button Auditorium, Fields Hall, Camden-Carroll Library, Allie Young Hall, Rader Hall, Thompson Hall and Breckinridge Hall. The buildings, constructed of brick with limestone appointments, are representative of a late 19th and 20th century style known as Collegiate Gothic.

Professional accreditation into the 21st century for the College of Business came from the Association of Collegiate Business Schools and Programs (ACBSP). The action, which extends through 2002, covers all business programs offered by the college, making MSU one of 175 universities and colleges nationwide whose business programs earned ACBSP accreditation.

The Marching Percussion took top honors in the National Marching Forum of the Percussive Arts Society International Convention with first place overall, plus best bass drums and best pit. This was the third time that MSU's ensemble captured the top spot in this competition.

In another national competition, the MSU varsity cheerleaders brought home their 5th consecutive Division I title from the National College Cheerleading Championships, winning the competition six out of the last eight times. They will be defending their title again in early 1996.

MSU gave a helping hand to the community with an economic development project to bring jobs to the area by providing Austin Apparel-Spring, Inc., with space in the former Cowden Manufacturing building acquired earlier by the University. The move gave the garment manufacturing company a jump start on its full-scale plant which is expected to open after the first of the year.

(MORE)

The year brought a number of new administrators to the campus. While Dr. Gerald DeMoss, a longtime faculty member, became the dean of the College of Science and Technology following a national search, similar searches brought three new college deans to MSU. Heading up the Caudill College of Humanities now is Dr. Lemuel Berry Jr., who had been dean of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences at Virginia State University. Tapped for the top spot in the College of Education and Behavioral Sciences was Dr. Harold "Bud" Harty, former dean at Fort Valley (Ga.) State College. Dr. Michael R. Carroll, a Louisville native who was heading the College of Business Administration at the University of Nebraska-Omaha, returned to his home state as dean of the College of Business.

Among the other newcomers was Francene L. Botts, another Kentucky native, who was selected as director of Human Resources. She previously was director of affirmative action at Oklahoma State University.

Throughout the year, MSU recognized the accomplishments of many individuals from the region as well as from the campus. Honorary doctoral degrees were presented to Sister Mary Jeannette Wess, whose vision and leadership made St. Claire Medical Center a model for quality patient care, and to Judge Elijah M. Hogge, a dedicated public servant and former member of the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

During the 1995 Founders Day activities, Sherman Arnett, retired administrator/educator and former state legislator, and the late Harlen Hamm, professor of speech, were honored as recipients of the Founders Day Award for University Service. Also recognized as the Most Valuable Giver was Chakeres Theatres, Inc., for its gift to the MSU Foundation of the Trail Theatre building. Other FD award recipients were Resvie Wheeler of West Liberty, Volunteer Fund Raiser of the Year; Dr. James Smallwood and Robert Hayes, associate professors of industrial education, Outstanding Faculty Fund Raisers, and Dr. Jonell Tobin, director of MSU's Licking Valley Extended Campus Center, as Outstanding Staff Fund Raiser. Inducted into the Alumni Hall of Fame that day for their accomplishments were Arye Ellington Dethmers, corporate executive; Dr. J. David Richardson, surgeon/medical educator, and Dr. Carol S. Rivers, medical education publisher/consultant.

Fund raising flourished during the year as well. For the period of July 1, 1994, to June 30, 1995, private giving reached an all-time high of $1.7 million for an 8 percent increase over the previous time frame. A new state-of-the-art computer dialing system utilized in telephone giving campaigns played a role in that boost.

(MORE)

Additionally, MSU's Spring Gala, "As Time Goes By," set its own fund raising record bringing in $40,000 to enhance programs in the Caudill College of Humanities, nearly doubling the previous year's net.

Among the academic highlights were continuing accreditation status for the veterinary technology program through 1997 and for the radiologic technology program through 2000. This was also the year that MSU began requiring MSU 101: Discovering University Life to be taken by all first-time freshmen. The course is designed to enhance the new student's chance of success in college.

For Dr. Judy Rogers, MSU's associate vice president for academic affairs, 1995 meant selection for the prestigious American Council on Education (ACE) Fellows program. She became one of 33 fellows nationwide who are serving administrative internships at various host institutions and receiving professional development training.

Dr. Bruce Mattingly, professor of psychology and faculty regent, became the first MSU faculty member to receive an Academic Research Enhancement Award from the National Institutes of Health. The $101,237 grant, funded through the NIH's National Institute on Drug Abuse, is for a three-year study of "Receptor-Dependent Sensitization to Cocaine."

In yet another first, Eastern Kentucky native Kristina Johnson became the first MSU nursing graduate to be commissioned into the U.S. Army.

The year also brought new quarters for the Water Testing Laboratory which now has a new larger home with the latest equipment. The lab relocated to what formerly was the energy research laboratory, a one-story facility behind the Combs Building on Ashland Avenue. Moving earlier this month to the former Cowden Manufacturing Building, now known as the Support Services Complex, was the Office of Purchasing.

Recognition for outstanding efforts was given to a number of MSU employees by their colleagues. Recipients of awards were Dr. Glenn C. Rogers, professor of English, Distinguished Teacher; Dr. Edward B. Reeves, professor of sociology, Distinguished Researcher; Dr. William J. Layne, associate professor of theatre, Distinguished Creative Production; Dr. Robert Meadows, professor of management, Distinguished Faculty Service, and Betty Sue Hurley, custodian, Distinguished Staff Service.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Inscape, Morehead State University's student literary and art magazine, has announced the winners of its 1995 fall competition.

First and second prizes of $50 and $25 respectively were awarded at a recent Fine Arts Showcase, where the art works were shown and student writers read their poetry and fiction.

In poetry, Elizabeth Bradley, Ashland senior, earned first place with "Back in the World." Tracey M. Besmark, Ashland graduate student, was the second place winner with "Coffee in the Stars." An honorable mention was awarded to Tara Perry, Frankfort sophomore, for "Mental Notes #1" and Bradley for "Symbiosis."

In fiction, first place went to Sean Nighbert, Morehead graduate student, for "Talk Shows and Kitty Cats," while Travis Taylor, Hager Hill freshman, won second prize for "The 13th Pitch."

In creative nonfiction, Robert Adams, Bricktown, N.J., sophomore, won first place for his creative narrative "Superball and the Boys," and Pam Kissinger, Morehead junior, won second prize for "Lessons."

Students who had manuscripts accepted for Inscape were David Adkins, Clearfield freshman; Lori Baldridge, Greenup junior; John Cox, Olive Hill graduate student; Karen Telford, Carlisle freshman, and Jerry Williams, Morehead graduate student.

In art, Kantaro Mihara, Morehead senior, took first place and Laura Hamm, Carlisle sophomore, placed second in the division. Michael Ousley, Hippo junior, and Matthew Stacy, Mt. Sterling senior, received an honorable mention.

Other artists to have works selected for inclusion in Inscape are Jennifer Bell, Cynthiana senior; Robert Jeffries, Covington graduate student, and Lynn Paul Goodman, Morehead senior.

The selected works will be published in the next volume of Inscape, which is expected to be available in the spring of 1996. The fall 1995 issue is on sale now at the University Bookstore and in 103 Combs Building.

Serving as judges for the competition were Dr. Jay Hanes, assistant professor of art, art; poet Jeff Whorley of Lexington, poetry, and Sue Walker, editor of the literary journal, "Negative Capability," fiction and creative non-fiction.

Held each semester, the Inscape competition is open to all MSU students, whether full- or part-time and area high school students. It is sponsored by the Department of English, Foreign Languages and Philosophy, Department of Art and the Academic Honors Program.

The art portion of the competition was coordinated by Gary and Lisa Mesa-Gaido, assistant professors of art, with literary works advised by Dr. George Eklund, associate professor of English, and Dr. Lynne Taetzsch, assistant professor of English.

Dec. 15, 1995

MOREHEAD, Ky.—"I've always loved people and enjoy meeting new people and making new friends. I expect myself to treat others the way I want to be treated," said Deana Bailey, Morehead State University junior from Blaine.

Being a caring individual who wants to listen to her peers could have been a contributing factor in Bailey being voted by the student body as MSU's Homecoming Queen for 1995.

Actively involved in campus organizations, Bailey is president of Student Activities Council (SAC) and serves as chair of its hospitality committee. She defines her role as coordinating and delegating jobs to the members of the council and answering questions so that operations run smoothly.

In addition, she is a member of Kappa Delta social sorority and Student Government Association, vice-president of Kappa Omicron Nu and secretary of Pre-professional Students of Human Sciences. A recipient of numerous leadership awards, she is listed in "Who's Who Among American College Students."

As a resident assistant in Fields Hall, Bailey sees her role as "helping others and being there when someone has a problem." This experience has taught her a lot and she believes she is providing a service that the students need.

A human science and secondary education major with a minor in biology, Bailey includes getting married on June 1 to Brad West of Louisa as part of her future plans. She hopes to graduate in the spring semester of 1997 and, if time permits, start teaching while working on a master's degree. She wants to return to her hometown to teach and take an active role in the community.

Several people have influenced Bailey's life and one person she holds in high regard is her sister, Tamra Bailey Thompson, who is a teacher. "I admire her because of her willingness to teach and work with others," she said.

Bailey
2-2-2-2-2

Outside the classroom, Bailey enjoys her hobbies which include horseback riding, eating ice cream and crafting. When she was attending Lawrence County High School, she was on the track team and a cheerleader for two years. Since a youngster, she has always wanted to be part of the action. A personal goal is to own her own specialty shop in the future.

Overall, Bailey credits her achievements to her faith in God as well as love from her family. She is the daughter of Michael and Pat Bailey of Blaine.

"My father has always had high expectations for me," Bailey said. "And I have tried to give at least 110 percent."

BOSTON, Mass.---After three and a half hours of grueling, finger-bending competition, members of the two-player team from Morehead State University prevailed in the regional playoffs of the National Table Top Championships, propelling them to the championship round.

The finals are being held this year at the NFL Experience in Phoenix, Ariz., on Jan. 21, 1996. The Ocean Spray National Table Top Champion will receive the grand prize--tickets to Super Bowl XXX and a $10,000 scholarship in their name, awarded by Ocean Spray.

Morehead State's duo of junior David Gross of Jackson and Joe Ledford, a senior from Independence defeated Washington University (Mo.) in the deciding game by a score of 122-96. The regional tournament was held at Xavier University in Cincinnati. The event was sponsored by Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc. and endorsed by the National Football League.

For the past two months, 50,000 students at 200 colleges and universities gathered at their student centers and campus facilities to compete in the Ocean Spray Table Top Football Tournament. The "home made" paper football, lunch room table, and thumb and forefinger" goal posts are gone from this old student game. The advanced Ocean Spray Table Top Football game includes a constructed playing surface and football, complete with yardage markers, team logos and authentic goalposts. Players answer trivia questions for the chance to take a "flick" and score points for their team.

Dec. 18, 1995

MOREHEAD, Ky.—An honorary Doctor of Public Service degree was awarded to Judge Elijah M. Hogge, a former judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, during Morehead State University's Winter Commencement Saturday (Dec. 16).

Helen Pennington of West Liberty awarded the honorary doctorate to Judge Hogge on behalf of MSU's Board of Regents, noting that he was a dedicated public servant. "He holds the distinction of being Kentucky's first Secretary of Transportation and the first Secretary of Public Protection and Regulation."

A former Rowan County Attorney who now lives in Frankfort, Judge Hogge is treasurer and board member of the Northeast Kentucky Hospital Foundation which established St. Claire Medical Center in Morehead. He serves as legal adviser to the Kentucky Racing Commission and other state agencies.

It was a festive occasion on this December morning as families and friends cheered for the approximately 550 graduate and undergraduate students who were candidates for degrees. Student speaker Aaron Boyd Wagner of Wheelersburg, Ohio, asked his fellow classmates to consider three of the many values they had acquired while at MSU.

Through hard work, the institution has prepared us for future challenges, Wagner said. "It is only through hard work that we, today, celebrate a great victory in our lives."

Utilizing the works of Walter Elliott, Wagner said that the value of perseverance is not a long race but is many short races run one after another. "We are winners, because as the old saying goes, winners never quit and quitters never win."

The sincere and humble attitude of thankfulness was Wagner's third value as he recognized those who were instrumental in helping him reach his goals: his professors, his wife Shelley, his parents and friends and most importantly, God. An environmental science major with a geology option, Wagner was a candidate for the Bachelor of Science degree with honors.

After Wagner's talk, MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin challenged the new graduates to remember those who had made a difference in their lives, asked them to continue to support higher education in every way possible.

Following the conferring of degrees, MSU's newest alumni were inducted into the Alumni Association by its president-elect, H. Jack Webb of Ashland.

Judge Elijah M. Hogge, right, was awarded an honorary Doctor of Public Service degree during Morehead State University's Winter Commencement. Congratulating him on the award is MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin. Judge Hogge, who earned a Doctor of Jurisprudence degree from Washington and Lee University, began his career as an attorney in Rowan County. He spent more than a decade as commonwealth's attorney for the 21st Judicial District which includes Bath, Menifee, Montgomery and Rowan counties. He now lives in Frankfort where he serves as legal adviser to the Kentucky Racing Commission and other state agencies.

MSU'S HOLIDAY DINNER PARTY: A Picture Story

Approximately 500 Morehead State University family members and friends, dressed in their finest holiday attire, filled the Adron Doran University Center for the annual holiday dinner party.

Metallic pink, silver and gold decorations helped to carry out the theme, "Visions of Sugar Plums," for the evening's festivities. Serving up the visions as mistress of ceremonies was MSU alumnus Kristie Hicks, the 1995 Miss Kentucky.

Entertainment in keeping with the holidays was provided by numerous groups, including the Rowan County Middle School Chorus, directed by Mary Siple; the Maysville Children's Choir, directed by Jan Applegate; Silverwood, a guitar and flute duo composed of Leo Blair and Dr. Robert Pritchard; OperaWorks, directed by Roma Prindle, and Dawn Johnson of the Ashland Youth Ballet.

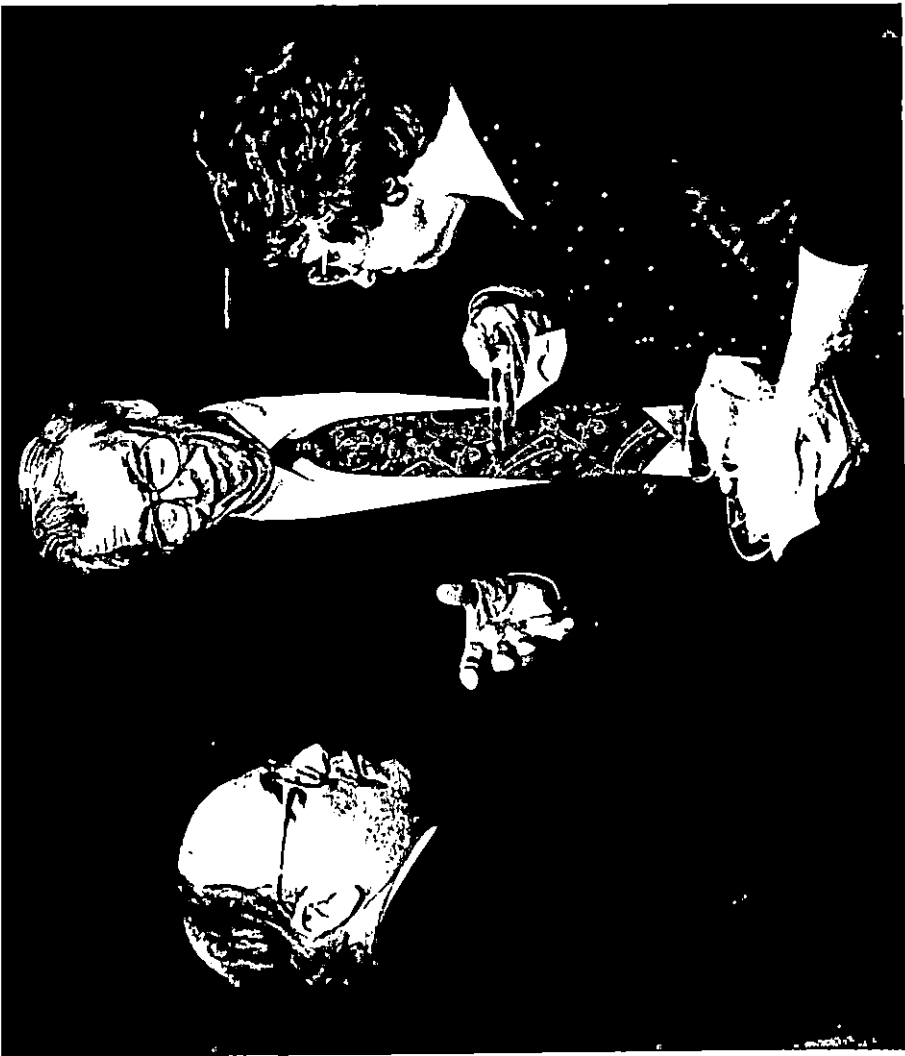

Cutlines:

- 1---Possibly swapping holiday stories were, from left, Dr. Robert Sloss, Dr. Ron Dobler and Jeanne Dobler.
- 2---One of several groups entertaining the party-goers was the Rowan County Middle School Chorus which performed songs of the season as guests arrived. Mary Siple is the director of the chorus.
- 3---Taking advantage of the festivities to exchange holiday pleasantries were, from left, Bill Mahaney, Mary Wright of Lexington, Rusty Payne and Mike Walters.
- 5---Even the finery of the guests added to the dazzling glitter and gleam of the gala evening as evinced by Billie Jean Clayton, left, Barbara Fannin and Shirley Blair.
- 6---MSU President Ron Eaglin, left, extended holiday greetings to Byron and Helen Wentz.
- 7---Setting the stage for visions of the Sugar Plum Fairy, Yvonne Baldwin read bits from "The Nutcracker" to young Megan Mraz as part of the pre-dinner entertainment.
- 8---Closing the evening with seasonal songs is as much of a tradition as the dinner party itself. Leading the guests in a spirited rendition of "Jingle Bells" were, from left, Dr. Eaglin, Bonnie Eaglin and Kristie Hicks of Bardstown, MSU alumnus and the 1995 Miss Kentucky, who was mistress of ceremonies for the festivities.

Dec. 21, 1995

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.—It will soon be easier for listeners to keep up with the latest breaking news as it happens thanks to a new approach by WMKY 90.3 F.M., public radio from Morehead State University.

In January, the station will feature local and regional news reports each hour from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m., following National Public Radio's hourly updates.

This change represents a major shift in focus for the news department, according to Tom Lewis, WMKY news and public affairs director. "It's part of our commitment to bring listeners news and information in a timely manner and to update that information as situations warrant."

News throughout the day will augment the station's local and regional news and sports reports that are already a part of NPR's "Morning Edition" and "All Things Considered," said Wendy Nelson, WMKY program and production director.

"We believe this new approach will increase our local presence and make people more aware of the work done by our news department," she said.

WMKY, an affiliate of National Public Radio (NPR) and Public Radio International (PRI), features news and information programs, classical and adult alternative music, and specialty programming. The station broadcasts from 6 a.m. until midnight, seven days a week. Free program guides are available by calling (606) 783-2001.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---The works of several Morehead State University students are on display in downtown Morehead as an alternative to holiday decorations.

The exhibition, "Community: Public and Private Shelters, an installation of expressions in clay and collaboration," is located on the corner of Main Street and Wilson Avenue, across from City Hall.

The project, a conceptualization of Dr. Jay Hanes, MSU assistant professor of art, was based on the idea that "each of us has unique needs and expectations for shelter." All pieces were completed during the 1995 fall semester by students in Dr. Hanes ceramics and school art classes.

The installation will be in place through January.

Students contributing their works, listed alphabetically by city, are:

MOREHEAD, Ky.—Registration for Morehead State University's spring 1996 semester is scheduled for Jan. 10-12, with the first day designated only as a business day.

On Wednesday, Jan. 10, freshmen and transfer students who advance registered may pay tuition/fees in the Crager Room, Adron Doran University Center, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Class schedules will not be processed that day.

Entry into the payment area on all three days will be based on an alphabetical system by last name, which may be found in the directory of classes.

On Thursday and Friday, Jan. 11-12, students will develop class schedules in their academic departments. Those who have not declared a major will go to 233 Allie Young Hall to schedule classes.

Undergraduate students, who have not previously been admitted or were not enrolled this fall, will need to stop first at the Admissions Office, 301 Howell-McDowell. For graduate students, that stop will be 701 Ginger Hall.

Sophomores and juniors only may pay their tuition/fees on Jan. 11 in the Crager Room. The payment hours for those who advance registered will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., while those students who did not register in advance will be admitted from 3 to 5 p.m.

On Friday, Jan. 12, seniors and graduate students who advance registered may complete the financial portion of the registration in the Crager Room during the hours of 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Those who did not register in advance will be admitted from 4 to 6 p.m.

The registration period for MSU's Ashland Area Extended Campus Center will be from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Jan. 11 and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Jan. 12.

Students at MSU's Big Sandy and Licking Valley Extended Campus Centers and the Appalachian Graduate Consortium will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Thursday, Jan. 11, and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. the next day.

The registration period for classes at Jackson, Maysville, Mt. Sterling and Whitesburg will be from 5 to 7 p.m. on Jan. 11 only.

All MSU classes, including evening and off-campus, begin meeting Tuesday, Jan. 16.

Schedule adjustments will be processed without charge Jan. 11-17 in the student's major department. Effective Thursday, Jan. 18, drop-adds will be done in the Office of the Registrar, 201 Ginger Hall, with the $10 fee going into effect.

Course directories with a complete list of classes and registration information are available from the Registrar's Office. Additional information may be obtained by calling that office at 606-783-2008.
