I have read so much about that "whopper-jawed" mule they tried at the courthouse last week that I am sick and tired of the whole business. They played the publicity up so that the public would think that was the first "Jackass" that was ever in the courthouse. Why that all we have ever had in the courthouse for years. In the Judge's chamber, the question was asked: "Which one is the County Attorney?" And the only way they could distinguish him from the "Jackass" was the fact that he had on his hat. The sheriff was pleased on bringing the mule in for he was a mule driver before he was elected sheriff. I can't understand why they try a mule for being "Whopper-jawed" and get some of our county officials run around over the county with the ropes they have scaring our children. A bench building was erected where the Blumson was. Another "Spirit" store will be opened within the next thirty days here. I hate to see Dudley G. C. go to the best of his luck. All gasolines have stepped up to a higher octane rating. It boils down to this: It will be an extra grade for you. But it won't make it any easier to pay for. The block that burst on Dr. G. C.'s car cost him almost three "C's" and a factory offered him an adjustment of thirty "Bucks" by letter which was lucky for him, because a personal car would have resulted in a casualty. Mr. and Mrs. Drew Evans are in Phoenix, Arizona. That is where Ed and Carroll go.

My heart bleeds in sympathy to you "Beck" and Mrs. Patton, you both not only lost a good husband and father but we all lost a grand friend and good neighbor. As I always called him was one of the best friends I ever had. I never asked him for anything that I did not get. He was always ready to help a friend. His heart was as big as all outdoors. Death which is inevitable seems horrible but he would not want to live for him. I will always have pleasant memories. And he passed away as he would have wanted to have passed away.

COMES A BACKFIRE!

We had a caller the other day from Clearfield—E. E. Elam by name—who said he had been married twenty-five years and never had to move in on his wives' people yet—even if he had gone to California!

Carlisle Dealer Narrowly Escapes Death In Accident

Planned Under Wreckage Of Truck Hour Before Aid Arrives

Arthur Taul, 53, Carlisle dealer in coal, narrowly escaped death at nine o'clock Tuesday night when his three-ton truck left the icy road and fell twenty-five feet over a cliff two miles from Morehead on the Morehead-Flemingsburg pike. Taul, who was headed toward Carlisle, was aimed under the wreckage of his truck for an hour, before his cries for help attracted the attention of Matt Cassidy, nearby resident, who attempted to release Taul from under the cab. Unable to get the injured man loose Cassidy phoned Morehead for help. Arriving quickly, twelve men lifted the truck and the rescued Taul. As the rescue party clambered up the embankment the truck burst into flames and was completely destroyed. "Furry" Jayne of the Midland Trail Garage opinion that the battery of the truck had been jarred loose from the truck and two loose wires had contacted.

Taul was brought to the offices of Dr. G. C. Nickell, Morehead, where his wounds were dressed. Reporters were unable to find whether the loss was covered by insurance.

Morehead Eagles Meet Union College

Game Scheduled Friday At College Gym

With a record of eight losses a team of Morehead Eagles go into action again Friday night against Union's Bulldogs hoping that in spite of their record they can win. The Eagles are coached by Coach Johnson and will play at 8:00 p. m. at the college gymnasium. The game with Union was last recently added to the schedule, Coach Johnson said today and gave the balance of the year's game as follows: Union, Feb. 3, here. New River State (W. Va.), February 7, here. Wilmington, Feb. 8, there. Miami, Feb. 10, here. Union, Feb. 13, there. Marshall, Feb. 16, here. Holbrook, Feb. 17, here. Small, Feb. 19, there. Coach Johnson expressed the belief today that "Big" John Wiggers, Eagle center, will show "remarkable improvement before the game" and he pointed out that he sparked the Eagle offense against both Murray and West.

Kentucky Needs More Publicity

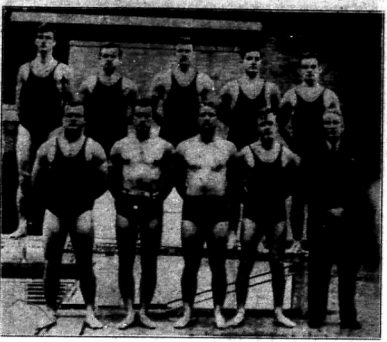

Definite Program Must Be Launched

The general fund budget as submitted by Governor Kern Johnson contained no increase for the division of publicity in the conservation department which that bureau could hope to publicize more widely Kentucky's tourist attractions and parks with which it could launch an immediate "build-up" for a statewide home-coming during the sesquicentennial of 1942.

As Governor Johnson had previously mentioned such things in speeches he do not believe that this was an oversight but hope that other satisfactory methods can be found for accomplishing these purposes without infringement upon the general-fund budget.

It will be recalled that the General Assembly of 1938 created a Kentucky Sesquicentennial commission but set up no appropriation and the commission never was appointed by Governor Chamberlain. A commission would, of course, serve without pay or expense and the expense of stationery and stamps.

January Gas Bills To Be Cut 25 Percent

A representative group of leading citizens conferred with the Mayor and City Council and agreed that the following method of billing the gas bills for January would be fair to all parties concerned.

That all meter readings for January be discounted 25 percent, where users have removed their meters they will be billed the same as their December 1939 reading.

The city clerk is ordered to make his billing accordingly. The gas commissioner is ordered to see that all gas meters are re-inspected and if gas and water bills are not paid on or before the 15th of the month, to discontinue the service.

Breck Beat Haldeman 41-21 Last Night

Playing hard, fast ball the Breckinridge High School team defeated a fighting Haldeman team 41-21 last night. Coach Laughlin believes his proteges may be able to beat the Ashland Tomcats and average an early season loss when they tangle here February 5.

CONDITION OF M. P. DAVIS REGARDED AS CRITICAL

According to word received in Morehead today, M. P. Davis is still critically ill with pneumonia at the St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, where he was taken last Friday. Mr. Davis' many friends here are wishing him a speedy recovery.

Seventy-Four Arrests Made By Game And Fish Head

The conservation officers of the Division of Game and Fish made seventy-four arrests during the month of December for violation of the game and fish laws and received fifty-four convictions. In addition to the arrests of the officers, while working in the field, checked 3,714 hunting licenses and confiscated a large amount of contraband.

DID YOU KNOW . . .

- . . . that it would cost about $350 to buy enough candles to produce as much light as is used monthly by the average American family using electricity?
- . . . that 80 percent of the economic activity of this country is carried on by individuals and personal partnerships? And that the United States as a whole carries on about half of all the business activity of the world?
- . . . that it costs around one million dollars an hour to supply the assembly lines of the automobile industry with raw materials when production is high?
- . . . that the annual cost of all government—Federal, state, and local—in the United States is equal to the total income received by every individual in all of the states west of the Mississippi? And that the average citizen is now being taxed at the rate of $111 a year in this country?

Announcement Of Burley Allotment

1940 Allotment Shows Decrease Of Ten Percent

The 1940 burley tobacco allotment for Kentucky this year has been fixed by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration at 240,880 acres, it is announced by O. M. Farrington, state executive officer. This acreage, plus probably 15,000 acres for small grower adjustment, will represent a decrease of about ten percent from the 1939 allotment.

The total allotment of burley for all states is put at 339,486 acres, plus about 25,000 acres to take care of increases for small farms, making a total of about 365,000 acres, compared to 405,000 acres last year.

Increased burley stocks resulting from recent large crops were responsible for the downward adjustment in the 1940 allotments, Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials explained.

The 1939 crop of 361,000 compared with a 1938 production of 339,000 pounds and a ten-year average production of 318,000,000 pounds. The total supply of burley on October 1, 1939, amounted to 1,046,000 pounds, compared with 1,000,000 pounds a year earlier and 974,000,000 pounds available on October 1, 1937.

The computations of individual farm burley acreage allotments was to be completed in the State Agricultural Adjustment office and sent to the county offices by January 27. Most farmers will have their official allotment notices early in February.

Kentucky Under New Snow Blanket

Covering Entire State; State Wildlife At Mercy Of Commonweath

Snow has again blanketed the entire state and placed the wildlife at the mercy of the citizens of the Commonwealth. Following the winter of 1939 the snow has come zero weather. The snow and the cold are two things that wildlife cannot cope with for any length of time. S. A. Wakefield, assistant director of the Division of Game and Fish, stated that the quail population in Kentucky would be greatly depleted if there were no snow up in the bitter weather. He said that the snow and cold were general over the entire state and urged all farmers to put out feed, all sportsmen to do their part in helping save the wildlife, and especially the quail; and their efforts would be repaid by the knowledge that Kentucky is on its way up to being one of the best quail states in the country.

Ky. Merchants Meet In Louisville

Voted To Support Pedler Law And Retain Garnishment Law

At a meeting of the Legislative Committee of the Kentucky Merchants Association in Louisville Monday, January 15th, the members voted unanimously to support a bill to regulate and license itinerant peddlers; to use its best efforts toward seeing that the present Garnishment Law is retained; to exert the influence of the Association to have those sections of the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Act returned which refer to the merit rating system and which provide for separate reserve accounts for each subject employer; and approved amendments.

ments to the Kentucky Unfair Practices Act.
 The Itinerant Pedler Bill, which will be supported by the Kentucky Merchants Association and which is now in the process of being drawn, will levy an annual license fee on itinerant peddlers and require such persons to execute bonds conditioned to pay taxes, to protect the public against fraud, in regard to the delivery of honest weights, measures and grades, and accurate representation as to the quality of the merchandise so sold, and an insurance policy or bond which will bind the obligors to pay compensation for injuries to persons and damage to property resulting from the negligent operation of a vehicle by an itinerant pedler.

Another subject coming to the attention of the legislature committee was that an attempt will be made to repeal the Garnishment Act, which passed the 1936 General Assembly, and which provides for the garnishment of salary due employees of the state, county, municipalities or school boards. The committee observed that the repeal of this act would penalize the honest employes of such governmental agencies who attempt to use credit facilities.

The committee further went on record as favoring the retention of the provisions of the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Act which provide for separate reserve accounts for each subject employer under the act, into which the contributions of both employer and his employees are paid, as opposed to the system now in effect in some other states of pouring both employer and employee contributions into a general pool. Under the present experience rating set-up, the incentive is for stabilization of employment, and the committee voiced its disapproval of any plan which would serve to destroy that incentive.

The committee also reiterated the stand taken by its board of directors on Nov. 14, 1939, when the board urged the enforcement of the Unfair Practices Act in order to minimize loss-leader selling and red 'd'icky price cutting methods of doing business, and pledged the support of the Association to amendments to that act which will be offered at the current session of the legislature to make the act workable and enforceable.

Editor Independent, Morehead, Ky.
 Dear Sir:
 Considerable publicity has been given the article recently published in your paper relative to a mule that was brought into court during the last term of the Rowan Quarterly Court. The truth of this matter is that a case involving a trade for this mule was tried at the December term of the court at which time the mule was before the court in a trunk, but this resulted in a mistrial and the case was set down for trial the present month.
 Again one of the attorneys requested that the mule, which was a very small mule, could be brought to Morehead so it could be shown to the jury. The mule was brought to this place in a truck for observation by the jury but, instead of leaving it in the truck for the jury to see, those having the mule in charge led it into the court house where the jury was in session.
 I wish to say that I had no objection

General Motors Builds 25-Millionth Unit

Brief ceremonies were held in the Chevrolet assembly plant at Flint, January 11, marking completion of this car, the 25-millionth unit built by General Motors. In behalf of the thousands of workers who had a hand in its manufacture, 73 members of the final assembly line crew headed M. E. Coyle, Chevrolet general manager, a commemorative gift for presentation to W. S. Knudsen, president of General Motors. Veteran Chevrolet employees and executives of the Buick and AC Spark Plug divisions, were present as special guests.

The car was taken at once to Detroit, to play a major part in the "March of Men and Motors" celebration staged that night in the Masonic Temple.

to go with the bringing of this mule into court and this was done without my knowledge or orders and only for the purpose of creating levity at the expense of the court which is resented very much by the court.

Yours truly,
 I. E. PELFREY,
 Judge, Rowan Co.

CORRECTION!

According to a statement in the Independent last week concerning the "whopper-jawed mule" it was stated that the animal was "pushed up the steps by Dick Clay, county attorney."
 Such was not the case. Mr. Clay has called it to our attention that it was in the court room at the time.

The Independent is glad to correct this error.

Coal Shortage Due To Cold Spell

Everybody talks about the weather, of course. And with business people it isn't just "small talk," either, for the weather is a more important factor than most of us realize, in almost all business and industry. For instance, rising incomes on railroads, especially in the western lines, are credited to consistently heavy coal shipments this winter as a result of the severe and widespread cold weather. Some roads also see an improved crop outlook for next summer as a result of winter's recent snowfalls.

 And King Winter's almost unprecedented wallop at the Sunny South will be felt on many a northern breakfast table for months to come, in higher orange and grapefruit prices. Citrus growers of the Rio Grande valley had about half of their $20,000,000 crop harvested at what they termed "unsatisfactory" prices, before the killing frosts arrived. . . . now they expect increases to reimburse them for the large part of the crop that was destroyed. Some of the same situation may be expected with respect to southern-grown cabbages, beets, spinach and other vegetables. On the other hand, canned grapefruit juice may become more plentiful and cheap, as packers' hustle to "process" large quantities of fruit which was ruined for fresh shipment but reclaimable for canning.

Standard Dealers Offer New Gasoline

Crown Extra Gasoline Replaces Crown Ethyl

Effective today, Standard Oil stations and dealers throughout this territory are offering their customers "Crown Extra" gasoline, the extra quality product which has replaced the old Crown Ethyl gasoline.
 "Crown Ethyl" is a descriptive name for this motor-fuel, because in addition to containing tetraethyl lead fluid, Crown Extra gasoline has been specially made from a superior base stock—extra fine in all its specifications.
 Made for those who want the best, Crown Extra is an extra quality gasoline, selling at the same price formerly charged for Crown Ethyl.

In an earlier article bats were discussed in a general way. Today I wish to call your attention to a cave where many bats spend the winter. Bat Cave is one of the Carter caves in Carter county in eastern Kentucky. It probably contains more bats each winter than any other cave in the eastern half of the United States.

If you have never visited the wintering quarters used by bats, you will find this cave very interesting place indeed. The ceiling upon which these mammals hang is little higher than your head in most places so you can examine the individuals very easily. Some of the bats are found hanging by themselves, in other places they hang together, and then still others are in clusters several feet in diameter with the individuals packed together so closely that they lose their identity. These large clusters contain hundreds and even thousands of the individuals. The hibernating bats are in a stupor from which they are not easily awakened. However, if torn from the cluster, or if confronted by a light for several minutes, they may regain their senses and float away.

Ordinarily they are very quiet for during the winter months they partake of no food but live upon the fat stored in their bodies. Additional movements are costly in terms of energy consumption. The temperature of the cave, while warmer than the out-of-doors

Kentucky Needs More Publicity

(Continued from Page 1) city we do not know of anything Kentucky needs worse, although we sincerely believe that anything spent for this purpose might be wasted unless it were coupled with a very definitely outlined program of promotion to make certain that facilities are available for those publicity may lure into the state. This referee not only to lodging, but to fishing or anything else that might be advertised. Kentucky does not wish to establish a reputation for fooling people into coming here, only to find hotels overcrowded and an absence of those things extolled in publicity.

As to where the amount of money necessary for such a program will come from, the Independent is decidedly of the opinion that it would be highly proper for the State Highway department to use the money that it is now spending for maps and tourist information to better advantage by fitting its activities of this nature into a general pattern in cooperation with the Division of Publicity of the Department of Conservation.

Nearly every department in Frankfort now has a press agent whose services, at least for a month or two, might be placed to better advantage by cooperation in a state-wide activity in behalf of Kentucky rather than praising the activities of single departments and individuals, however noteworthy.

We do not believe there is any question that this program can be worked out and hope that its omission from the general budget mere by means that the governor, Johnson and his administration will develop a more effective method of meeting this problem.

Kentucky Farmers To Continue ACP League Seedings

Kentucky farmers who participated in the 1940 conservation program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration will have the opportunity to continue and increase new seedings of legumes and grasses as they have had under past AAA programs. Planting of soil-building legumes and grasses is a practice encouraged by the AAA for improvement of the soil and controlling erosion. In 1938, the last year for which state figures are now available, Kentucky farmers cooperating in the AAA sowed 2,644,894 acres of such grasses and legumes as alfalfa, crimson clover and orchard grass. In 1937 they planted 2,150,063 acres of these soil-building crops. They planted 2,629,984 acres of legumes and grasses in 1936.
