A Darn In Her Stocking Set Her Foot On The Ladder To Fame

This is the story of a little girl who was once called "Fatty," but who grew up to be one of the most beautiful singers of all time.

This is the story of a little girl who was so poor she couldn't afford to take music lessons. Yet she is now a prima donna in the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York.

In 1910, this girl had one radio audition after another, and nobody wanted her. Four years later, she radio editors of America voted her the most important new radio personality of the year.

One season while I was broadcasting I often admired a beautiful platinum blonde sitting in the front row of the studio and next to a glamorous blonde with soft brown eyes a stunning figure, and personal charm.

When her baby was born, the nurse in the hospital put an identification tag around the baby's neck—a string of beads with the baby's name on it. Miss Jepson has had that string of beads made into a bracelet and she has a dream of singing without wearing that bracelet or holding it in her hands.

If Helen Jepson hadn't sung Carry Me Back To Old Virginia before the Rotary Club in Akron, Ohio, she might still be selling corsets today instead of being one of the most talked about figures in the musical world. It happened thus: She had always longed to be a singer. In high school, she was a star performer in the glee club. After she graduated, she got a job selling corsets in a department store in Akron, Ohio. A dull job, but it enabled her to save money. Her savings went to Cleveland on occasion to take music lessons. She sang in the choir on Sundays, and sometimes dressed herself up in colonial costumes and sang before clubs and social organizations.

One day a business man heard her sing Carry Me Back to Old Virginia. He needed a salesgirl to sell photographs in his store, and he thought he would give her the job and change.

Agreement Of Tobacco Grower

Continued From Last Week 5. All such sales shall be by grade, and not by crop, and through loose leaf warehouses approved by the Association, and the Association shall approve all reputable and responsible warehouses agreeing to conform to the Association's regulations, and the Producer may select any such approved warehouse for the delivery of his tobacco. The Producer shall notify the Association of the time and place he desires to deliver his tobacco, and the Association shall receive all tobacco in the order of such notices as near as can be done. All tobacco shall be delivered in the order of the Association, each year at the earliest reasonable time during the warehouse sales season for that locality.

6. The Association reserves the right to place a minimum price on all tobacco offered for sale on loose leaf floors and may, in the same or at private or public bid, providing said sale is made at a price at or above the minimum price fixed by the Association, and warehouse sales may be made, by single baskets or in larger lots.

7. The producer hereby expresses, by authority of the producers, that he may deliver his tobacco to retain from the proceeds of the sale thereof the retainer and proceeds herein provided for and to hold the same for the benefit of said Association subject to the Association's order and to the same funds to the Association promptly when and as requested by the Association, whether said warehouse owners or operators agree to comply with the regulations of the Association or not.

8. The Association may employ livered in the same crop year by other producers. The Association shall classify the tobacco and its classification shall be conclusive.

Farm News

On cabbage, again, plant lice, sucking insects, sometimes appear just after the plants start growing. If those plants had been dipped in tobacco solution, at least they would have been protected. That same dipper may also eliminate some of the trouble with the Hairywood bug, later on, if it is conceivable that at least some of these insects are carried in fourth or fifth year plants.

On potatoes, sweetpotatoes and tomatoes the black fleebites sometimes come extremely early and without warning. Accordingly, fewer handed gardeners begin spraying with the Hairywood mixture the second week. On potatoes, too, preparation is made for the beetle by including arsenate in the Bordeaux at the time the first eggs are observed.

Cucumbers present an excellent example of the need for timeliness in control of the striped leafhopper. The adult beetles emerge from their winter quarters, and enter the soil cracks the sprouting seedlings have, thus laying eggs that hatch into pinkish worms which proceed to gnaw on the seedlings and on their roots, destroying the latter to the extent that when the plants begin to run, they succumb because of the reduction in feeding area. To be ahead of the cucumber beetle, the spraying of the soil over the emerging seedlings begins to have effect.

The tender foliage of the cucurbits gives rise to the hazard of leaf-burning, when ordinary insecticides are used. Calcium arsenate is the best to use, and gypsum should be substituted for lime. The Mexican bean beetle is another example of insect whose damage has begun long before the angular holes eaten halfway through the leaf are seen. The first dusting or spraying should be made when the first egg clusters are seen. Ten days after, a second should be given, or a new one should be given, or a new one should be given, or a new one should be given.

As regards leaf-burning, if application is made after pupae begin forming, the insecticide should be applied to the underside of all leaves, for there alone the larvae feed; the duster or sprayer should be fitted with an upturned nozzle. The insecticide should be applied to the underside of all leaves, for there alone the larvae feed; the duster or sprayer should be fitted with an upturned nozzle.

9. The Association shall give to each Producer as his tobacco is received and graded by the Association a weight and grade sheet showing types, weights, grades and appraised value of his tobacco as delivered based on that day's market prices, and the Producer shall then be entitled to the payment by the Association of the appraised value of his tobacco when and as the tobacco is sold, less the charges and retains against same provided in this contract, which payment shall be endorsed on this said grade sheet.

10. If the Association through its board of directors decides that there have not been sufficient number of contracts signed by November 30, 1938, a justify the putting into operation of this contract for this crop year, the board, at a meeting to be held on said date may declare and publish in the Lexington Herald, the Louisville Courier Journal and the Cincinnati Enquirer and other papers but such findings and declaration and notice shall in no way effect the validity of this contract, which shall in every respect be binding for the succeeding years.

11. The Producer shall have the right to cancel this contract at any time during the month of May each year, beginning May 1, 1937, of cancelling this membership in this Association to take effect the first day of the following April, but it is provided that if this Association has any undipped tobacco plants to it, or belonging to the Producer's cancelling the contract the said tobacco shall be handled, disposed of and settled for in all respects as if the contract had not been cancelled.

12. The Association shall make rules and regulations and provide inspectors and graders to grade the tobacco, and shall standardize the method and manner of handling the same as established by the Federal or State authorities, and approved by the Association, the Producer agrees to observe and adopt.

13. The Association shall pool and commingle the tobacco of the Producer with tobacco of like type and quality, grown and de-

of several small animals in Bullitt County. The Association shall classify the tobacco and its classification shall be conclusive.

Squashy Parasitair The artificial heat of winter has a way of loosening joints in furniture to such an extent that chairs squeak disconcertingly when subjected to even a slight weight.

Coat both parts of a joint, return them to their exact position and bind them firmly and securely with heavy soft cord to hold them in place until the glue hardens. A slightly loosened joint can often be remedied without taking the piece of furniture apart. Soften the old glue with vinegar and scrape out as much as possible. Then force in new glue or cement or whatever you may prefer with a toothpick. Bind firmly until the cement hardens.

THE GARDEN So far, gardeners have had little cause to be concerned about the weeds among their vegetables, for there has been rain sufficient for both crops. Also, average temperatures have been low, and this has further favored the vegetables and operated against the sprouting favored the vegetables and operated against the sprouting of weed seed.

in one word, "cultivation"; the modern way of saying "working" the garden. The two terms are by no means synonyms, though the aim of both processes is the same but with quite different approaches.

Another aim of this working was to prepare the soil ahead of the roots ends so they could penetrate it, and still another was to "air the soil," so that the roots were supplied.

THE VEGETABLES, on the contrary, are pampered pets, bred for production only, and dependent wholly on the gardener's effort in their behalf. This effort is summed up in one word, "cultivation"; the modern way of saying "working" the garden.

sometimes roots were laid bare and their ends cut off, but his was regarded as part of training to make the vegetables hardy against later hard times. If it rained, they repaired the damage, but they lost time, and wasted energy that might have been used to better purpose, but the harvest suffered. If the weather was dry, the set-back was more pronounced, and sometimes the vegetables died.

So, deep "working" close to the vegetables roots, went out in fashion at the beginning of the season and, taking less effort, to which there could be no valid inasmuch as cultivation accomplishments all that was necessary, anyhow, which is to remove weeds.

Next week, cultivation and the need for it will be discussed. Read the Rowan County News twice each week for all the news.

With The Schools

The Senior play "Keep Off The Grass" was pronounced a success by those who witnessed it. The cast played their parts well and the stage setting and costumes were pretty and appropriate.

On Thursday evening at 7:30 in the high school gym, the Spring Pageant, the parade of Nations, will be given by two hundred and twenty-five children of the grades and high school children of Morehead high school.

Due to the generosity and interest of Mrs. Gertrude Snyder, the high school gym has a new curtain for the stage and has been painted and papered until it really looks presentable.

The faculty and students appreciate greatly the kindness of Mrs. Snyder, who has long been a contributor and benefactor in different ways of the Public School.

Mrs. C. U. Waltz gave the library several books last week, which she was glad to receive and add to the shelves of our library. Good books are always acceptable and the students thank Mrs. Waltz for her gift.

The schedule of graduation activities will be found listed elsewhere in this paper. Please read this schedule as the public is cordially invited to all our graduation exercises.

Vacation time will soon be here. The "Ole Swimming hole, fishin' and picnics" and a lot of other pleasures await us.
 The old saying "Work while you work and play while you play" is a good one to live by. Do not do things by halves so here is for a fine vacation.

Plans for the attendance banquet are now being made by a Committee on Arrangements. The plans will be announced at a later date. A short program is being planned for this occasion. The purpose of the banquet is for the losers in the attendance contest to entertain the winners. Morehead and Farmers were competing against Haldeman and Elliottville. Haldeman and Elliottville won by a small margin of 71 to 100.

Miss Grace Crosthwaite, teacher of mathematics at the Morehead High School faculty won the $10.00 offered for the highest percentage throughout the year. The contest was based on eight and one-half months. Miss Crosthwaite's percentage of attendance was 88.15. The appointed Committees have presented Thelma Allen, principal of Elliottville ran a close second with a percentage of 98.09 and Harold Peltrey of Farmers 97.65.

PACK HORSE LIBRARY

The library was very glad to receive 150 books from the Christian Normal Institute of Grayson, and 2,000 magazines from Grayson and Flemingsburg last week.
 The library had open house day and regular meeting of the staff at the library. Many friends visited the library and enjoyed the reading material. The carriers reported a greater demand for books and magazines.
 Chances are being sold on a live Friday, May 6 was open house day for this library. Due to such a demand for books the supply is getting low. Last week 500 books were checked out and about this 90.46 many go out every week and it gets the carriers busy getting 81.16 the books checked in and out in 93.26 order to meet this demand. Each reader is allowed to keep a book 15 to 20 weeks. 1677 magazines were delivered last week.
 The sponsor, Roy Cornette and 82.21 County Board of Education have been very nice in furnishing the necessary supply to carry this work.

 A year ago Mr. and Mrs. Fiore had buried a youth that they thought was Donald. Mrs. Fiore had gone to Olive Hill, Ky. to claim his body after learning that his Mother on Mother's Day, had been shot to death during a kissing game at a party there. Identifications were made by scars on the leg and forehead.
 And then he had walked in on them a year later - healthy and brown, far from being dead.
 Mr. and Mrs. Fiore are joyously happy, but they are joyously who young son is buried in the local cemetery in a "card-marked" grave.

Old Friend Of Dr. Evans Dies At Ohio Home

Notice was received here last week of the passing of Mr. R. Tibbs Massey, 53, at his home in Circleville, Ohio.

Mr. Massey was reared in and around Rowan County and leaves a host of friends here to mourn his death.

"Tibbs," as he was known by his close acquaintances, was one of the leading evangelists of the Christian Church and had organized a large church at Circleville. Mr. Massey was a personal friend of Dr. T. A. E. Evans at whose home he spent his childhood.

He leaves to mourn his passing his widow, Mrs. Maud Massey, and 7 children, five sons at home and two daughters.

Burial was made at Circleville.

Vinson Given Praise

Mr. Vinson, Kentuckians have been proud of Congressman Vinson, who won praise for his record as chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and for his work in drafting the new tax bill. His associates in the House, Democratic and Republican have repeatedly commented favorably upon his work and press and magazines have rated him as one of Congress' ablest men.

As a true blue Democrat, Kentuckians are proud of him, his interesting majorities in his district reaching to his hotel on the 8th floor of the Hotel in the Eighth District. He was one of the few honest prohibitionists the writer knew of in politics. His only defeat for Congress in fourteen years was in 1928 when he chose to support Al Smith, the wet Democratic candidate when, if he were elected on prohibition and religious grounds he could have kept his seat. Congressman Vinson did the honorable thing and went down with the ship. We salute him as one prohibitionist who was sincere, and as a statesman who is a credit to Kentucky.

4-H Club Meet

The program of the camp is made up of educational and recreational activities. Each evening there will be held a vesper service conducted by ministers from the nearby country. The camp singing will be led by Rev. B. H. Kazee of Morehead. Prof. H. C. Hagan has charge of arrangements as representative of the College and will assist County Agent Chas. L. Goff and the 4-H Club department in arranging the local details of the Camp.

May Day Program Given At Farmers, Ky.

A May Day Pageant was given May 6, by the seven lower grades. The program consisted of three parts: (1) "The Awakening," (2) "Party of the Turned Intox," (3) A May pole dance, by the 7th and 8th grade girls.

This program was greatly enjoyed by everyone present, as it was the first May Day pageant to be given in Farmers.

Ms. Peifrey deserves much praise for his untiring efforts in training our children.

Happy Landing Is Cozy Feature

Ice skating has deserted the sports pages. It now looms up in the columns devoted to social events. It appears in society columns when the superstitious inaugurates a raze for the benefit of sponsoring charity affairs held in rink.

It shows up almost anywhere on the news pages.

Because ice skating, by dint of science and mechanical skill, no longer is a winter activity.

And because Sonja Henie has translated the business of flying on shimmering silvers of steel into a new mood of the terpsichorean art.

Sonja, more dazzling than sun-landing" opening Sunday at the Coliseum on ice, appears in "Happy Cozy Theatre Coated with Ice, Ameha, her "One In A Million" sweetheart, Sonja thrills her audiences as they never have been thrilled before.

The secret of her beautiful ice evolutions is revealed by Harry Losee, who staged the ensemble numbers for "Happy Landing."

"The numbers we did for the picture are definitely dance," Losee said. "The fact that they are executed in figure skating is incidental."

"What Sonja Henie has done for the dance is to present it on a wider prospectum and greater depth. She has also given it vivid, startling motion which was unattainable under the ordinary physical limitations of dancing."

"On states, Miss Henie or the chorus can do leaps that would make Nijinsky look as though he were standing still. They can execute figures from one end of a 100 yard rink to the other in a fraction of the time it would take the ordinary dancer. Thus we are able to tell more in a shorter space of time, and tell it with greater color.

This wedding of the two is a mere by the realization of Sonja Henie's first ambition. Even better, she started to sketch the wedding, jobbing ball dancing and kept it up for years afterwards. A great deal of her success as an Olympian champion she attributes to the foundation which ball has given her.

Hurricane To Be Shown At Olive Hill

Samuel Goldwyns long wanted film version of the Hurricane, the famous novel from the typewriter of Nordoff and Hall, who wrote Mutiny on the Bounty, will arrive at the Dixie Theatre, Olive Hill Sunday and Monday.

The high point of the picture is of course the amazing spectacle which gives the story its cliff-hanger and its name but the film does not depend on this alone for its effectiveness. It has tender romance, a picturesque setting, a powerful drama--in fact every element of great motion picture entertainment.

So, Sonja Henie has done for the dance is to present it on a wider prospectum and greater depth. She has also given it vivid, startling motion which was unattainable under the ordinary physical limitations of dancing."

John H. West, Morehead, Ky., who has been at Dixie Coliseum, 3 miles East of Morehead, Ky., on U. S. Highway No. 60, has declared his intention to apply for license as retail liquor dealer by time, and tell it with greater color.
