MSU ENROLLS FIRST CLASS OF PA STUDENTS

Eight Eastern Kentucky residents have the distinction of being the first students enrolled in a new Physician Assistant Program offered at Morehead State University in cooperation with the University of Kentucky's Chandler Medical Center and St. Claire Medical Center. Under the cooperative program, the students will gain all their classroom training at MSU from both MSU and UK faculty. Many of the courses are offered through distance learning. Among those taking part in an orientation program recently were, from left, MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin; Dr. Thomas Robinson, dean of UK's College of Allied Health Professions; Kimberly Bromagen of Mt. Sterling, Jennifer House of Williamstown, Jill Short of Pippa Passes, Jennifer Hardin of Morehead, Laura Leuken of Ashland, Marcella Adams of Wurtland, J. Andy Edie of Morehead, Mark Fairchild of West Liberty, all members of the first class; Jim Fry, UK assistant professor of physician assistant studies; David Bolt, vice president for regional network development at St. Claire, and Brad Schwarz, UK associate director of the PA program.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University will host its 17th annual Family Weekend Friday through Sunday, Sept. 27-29, on the campus.

The activities have been planned for family and friends of the students, according to Susette Redwine, University Center programs and special events coordinator. "We want parents to share some of the experiences of college life," she said. "They can do that, as well as become familiar with the campus, through this fun and relaxing weekend."

Kicking off the activities on Friday, Sept. 27, will be an evening of comedy described as "unlike anything audiences have ever seen." Selected Hilarity, a five-member group, blends stand-up, improv, sketches and music into a show which some say is "unique, offbeat and always amusing."

The group, which is developing its own television series, has appeared on ABC's America's Funniest People.

Appropriate for the entire family, the show will begin at 8 p.m. in Button Auditorium. There is no admission fee but donations to benefit the Student Emergency Loan Fund will be accepted at the door. The program is sponsored by the Student Government Association.

A number of opportunities for fun and relaxation are available on Saturday, Sept. 28, whether it's watching various sporting events, viewing an art exhibit or taking a walking tour of the campus.

On display in the Kentucky Folk Art Center will be "African American Gardens and Yards in the Rural South." Through photography and text, the exhibit describes the importance of gardens and yards in Southern African American communities. The center will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

The Parents Weekend Golf Scramble gets underway at 10:30 a.m., at the University Golf Course. This is a nine-hole, best ball tournament with a shotgun start. Pre-registration is required as play is limited to the first 72 enterants. A limited number of carts are available.

The MSU Volleyball Eagles will be in action during the weekend. On Friday, Sept. 27, competition will begin at 7 p.m. when the team takes on Murray State University. The University of Tennessee-Martin will be the opponent at 1 p.m. on Saturday. Both games, which are free, will take place in Wetherby Gymnasium.

(MORE)

Also on Saturday, the MSU Baseball Eagles will play an exhibition, intersquad game. The action will begin at 11 a.m. at Allen Field.

Parents of MSU students are encouraged to attend the MSU Family Association's annual business meeting at 4:30 p.m. in the Len Miller Room, Academic Athletic Center (AAC). The agenda will include election and installation of new officers for the Family Advisory Committee. All parents automatically become members of the association and may provide input or ask questions.

An all-you-can-eat complimentary tailgate party will be held before Saturday evening's football game. The party begins at 5 p.m. at the AAC. In case of rain, the activity will take place in the East Lobby of the AAC.

Rounding out the day's events will be the football game when the MSU Eagles take on the Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers in Jayne Stadium. Kickoff is scheduled for 7 p.m.

Students may purchase tickets to the game for their parents and other family members at a reduced rate of $5 for reserved seating and $3 general admission when purchased by noon on Friday, Sept. 27. No phone or mail orders will be accepted. Students will need to stop by the Athletic Office in the AAC to make their purchases.

Area churches have invited visitors to attend the local services on Sunday, Sept. 29.

The MSU Equestrian Team will present a riding demonstration on Sunday at 1 p.m. The event, which is free, will take place in the Richardson Indoor Arena at the University Farm.

Throughout the weekend, residence halls and student organizations are planning a number of receptions and special activities. Parents should check with their son or daughter for a complete listing of events.

While lodging is available at local inns and campgrounds, some parents may wish to enjoy the total college experience and spend a night in a residence hall. Special arrangements may be made with the student's hall director.

Additional information is available from Redwine at (606) 783-2071.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---September is Classical Music Month, and WMKY, 90.3 FM, public radio from Morehead State University, will celebrate with another installment of its "Classics in the Classroom."

Janean Freeman, WMKY's classical music announcer and producer/host of "Afternoon Classics," which airs weekdays from 1 to 4 p.m., will work with area teachers to make classical music more accessible to local elementary, middle, and high school students.

According to Freeman, last year's music outreach project was so successful that WMKY has decided to increase the number of participating schools. WMKY is making various materials available to the teachers, such as "What is Classical?" learning kits from National Public Radio which address the theme question while providing music examples, commentaries and guides for activity ideas and comments from musicians as well as a discography.

"Teachers can use these kits to help their students better understand what classical music is all about and how it is, indeed, a type of music they can enjoy," Freeman said. After the students have spent time learning about different aspects of classical music, she will visit the schools and record students' comments about what they have learned.

Freeman plans to use the recorded interviews to create another two-hour broadcast of "Classics in the Classroom." The special also will feature reactions from the participating teachers as well as recordings of the music studied.

"Classics in the Classroom" will air Friday, Sept. 27, at 8 p.m. and will be re-broadcast on Sunday, Sept. 29, at 2 p.m.

At the end of the month, one of the participating schools will be awarded, through a random drawing, a classical music listening library consisting of 42 classical music CDs as well as a standard music dictionary.

Area teachers participating in the project are: Lana Combs, Simons Middle School (Fleming County); Dana Copeland, Botts Elementary School (Menifee County); Mike Davis, Lewis County High School, and Tresa Humphrey, Mapleton Middle School (Montgomery County); Janet Jeanes, Bath County Middle School; Leola McQuinn, Menifee Elementary School; Alice Payton, Rowan County Senior High School; Anne Sparks, Morgan County Middle School, and Tony Sparks, Morgan County Central High School.

Support materials for the classical music project are being provided by the Barnes and Noble bookstore of Louisville, Nimbus Records, Joseph-Beth Booksellers of Lexington and Essex Entertainment Inc., distributor of Vox classical recordings.

WMKY, an affiliate of National Public Radio and Public Radio International, features news and information, classical music and other musical genres, broadcasting from 6 a.m. to midnight seven days a week. Free program guides are available by calling 1-800-286-WMKY.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Student Government Association and Student Activities Council will present Brownie Mary in concert on Wednesday, Sept. 18.

The concert, which is free and open to the public, will be held at the Alumni Tower Complex from 9:15 to 11:30 p.m. In case of rain, the entertainment will be moved to Laughlin Health Building.

Combining rock, folk, funk and alternative music, the band strives to produce music "that would make people happy and convey a positive message."

Formed in 1993, Brownie Mary was given the title of "Next Big Thing" by producers of the Bud Light/Graffiti Rock Challenge after winning the competition in 1994. Soon after, they released their first full-length, all-original album, "That's Me," and went on the road to promote the release.

The group has opened for a number of entertainers including Melissa Ethridge, Hootie and the Blowfish, the Dave Matthews Band, the Crash Test Dummies and the Smithereens.

Additional information on the program is available by calling (606) 783-2071.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---New faculty and professional staff at Morehead State University will have the opportunity on Saturday, Sept. 14, to see the University's service region firsthand.

More than 30 newcomers to the campus will be joined by University administrators for a day-long bus tour of Northeastern Kentucky. Providing a historical overview of the region during the bus trip will be Dr. John Hennen and Dr. John Ernst, MSU assistant professors of history.

Information on the geological aspects of the region will be shared by Dr. John C. Philley, MSU executive vice president for academic affairs and professor of geoscience. A political and governmental overview will be provided by Keith Kappes, MSU vice president for university advancement and legislative liaison.

"We started taking our new people out into the region a few years ago and have found this bus trip gives them a better perspective of MSU's mission and the people we serve," said MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin, who is hosting the tour.

The group will visit the headquarters of Ashland, Inc., for a presentation by Bob Owen, manager of corporate relations. Next will be lunch at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. James H. Booth of Inez, followed by a tour of loading facilities and mines owned by his firm, Beech Fork Processing Co.

Leaving Martin County, the tour will proceed on to Paintsville Lake State Park for a visit to "The Mountain HomePlace," a living history farm, with Jim Williams of the Paintsville Tourism and Convention Commission as host.

Before returning to campus, the group will have dinner at the Morgan Inn in West Liberty where state Rep. John Will Stacy and Morgan County Judge-Executive will greet them.

Helping to arrange the tour as part of an overall orientation program for new faculty/staff is Dr. George (Mac) Luckey, professor of philosophy and director of MSU's Center for Critical Thinking.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University's Upward Bound program will celebrate its 30th anniversary with a Reunion on Saturday, Sept. 21, at the Adron Doran University Center.

All former participants are invited to the reunion, which will be held from 6 to 10 p.m., according to Jennifer Cady, Upward Bound project director.

Those who wish to attend need to contact the Upward Bound office at 1-800-5UPWARD or (606) 783-2611 by Sept. 16.

Thousands of students have been members of the program since it began on the MSU campus in 1966. Former members are now working in a variety of career choices including education, law, academics and medically-related fields.

Upward Bound, administrated through MSU's Academic Services Center, is a part of the federally funded TRIO program. An academic program for high school students, it is designed to increase student's motivation and academic skills needed for post secondary education.

Sept. 11, 1996

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Morehead State University reports nearly a 12 percent increase in new freshmen for fall 1996. First time freshmen this fall total 1,275 compared with 1,140 for fall 1995, according to figures from the Office of Enrollment Management.

Preliminary headcount figures show 8,217 students enrolled at this time as compared with a final total of 8,454 last fall, based on early figures from the Office of Registrar.

"When the final tally is in, we believe we will be very close to the 8,300 enrollment figure on which this year's budget is based," said Dr. John C. Philley, MSU executive vice president for academic affairs.

"Obviously we are pleased with the healthy increase in new freshmen. That total does not include 56 other first time freshmen who began their college career this summer," he added.

"We also are seeing an increase in out-of-state students with 10.7 percent of the overall enrollment being from other states as compared with about a 9 percent mix last fall," said Dr. Philley. "Eighteen percent of our new freshmen are from out-of-state. A healthy mix of in-state and out-of-state students is important to provide diversity to the campus," he added.

Off-campus headcount enrollment increased by 69 students with 2,069 students taking classes at the extended campus centers and other regional sites. Some of that increase, according to Dr. Philley, could be a result of the 20 distance learning classes offered by MSU throughout the region.

A breakdown of off-campus headcount enrollment follows with final fall 1995 figure in parenthesis:

• Ashland Area Extended Campus Center	478	(455)
• Big Sandy Extended Campus Center	728	(622)
• Licking Valley Extended Campus Center	428	(412)
• Pikeville	196	(283)
• Jackson	90	(70)
• Whitesburg	51	(27)
• Mt. Sterling	39	(62)
• Maysville	42	(46)
• Salyersville	6	(na)
• Hi Hat	11	(na)

Fall Enrollment

2-2-2-2-2

The Big Sandy Center reached a milestone in duplicated headcount (students taking more than one course) with 1,048 students, marking the first time the center exceeded 1,000 enrollments.

Housing exceeded its budget projection by 90 students for a total of 2,954 students in campus housing. Occupancy is at 85.3 percent as compared with 81.6 for last fall. Family housing is at capacity with a waiting list, according to Mike Mincey, MSU vice president for student life.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Two Morehead State University students were among the 36 chosen by the Southern Regional Education Board (SREB) to attend a veterinary medical training program in Alabama this fall.

Jacob Givens of Wilmore and Timothy Roberts of Ashland have been accepted to Auburn University's veterinary medical school. They were selected from a pool of applicant students from across the state who were competing for the 34 spaces reserved for Kentucky residents.

"These students have distinguished themselves by achieving high grades in the difficult pre-veterinary medicine curriculum," said Dr. Scott Rundell, associate professor of veterinary technology. "They have demonstrated a personal commitment to the advancement of animal care and welfare."

The SREB provides students access to veterinary medicine through a cooperative, cost-effective program. Students compete for a contract space, 34 at Auburn and two at Tuskegee University, through a written application and an individual interview.

Each college is responsible for selecting the students to fill the positions available. Students are charged in-state tuition and fees. In addition to these fees, the state makes payment for each student to the enrolling institution.

Students are supported for a total of four years which usually end in graduation.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Country music star Tracy Byrd will be in concert on Thursday, Oct. 3, at Morehead State University's Academic-Athletic Center. The performance, which begins at 8 p.m., also will include headliner Tracy Lawrence and newcomer Mila Mason.

Tickets, which are $20 for the general public and $15 for full-time MSU students, are available at these locations: Downtown Video in Mt. Sterling; County Market in Maysville; Martin's Department Stores in Jackson and Morehead; MSU Extended Campus Centers in Ashland, Prestonsburg and West Liberty; Video Fantastic and Main Street Music in Morehead, and MSU's Adron Doran University Center. All seating for the concert is reserved.

Hailing from Vidor, Texas, Byrd has quickly made his way to the top of the charts. His gold-selling self-titled album, which contained a number one hit, paved the way for his platinum album, No Ordinary Man, with hits "Lifestyles of the Not So Rich and Famous," "Watermelon Crawl" and "The Keeper of the Stars."

Byrd released his third album, Love Lessons, last year and has a fourth one due out in late September.

Lawrence, who was named the 1993 Academy of Country Music's Top New Male Vocalist, has sold more than five million albums and produced 11 chart-topping hits. Mason, a native of Dawson Springs, will release her first album this month.

The concert is sponsored by the MSU's Student Government Association. Additional information is available by calling (606) 783-2071.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Staring off into space may soon have a new meaning.

The staff of Morehead State University's Astrophysical Observatory will provide telescopes to allow viewers to experience the lunar eclipse which is predicted for Thursday, Sept. 26, beginning at 8:12 p.m. and ending at 1:36 a.m.

The viewing, which is free and open to the public, will be held on the lawn outside the observatory on the northwest end of campus on Fifth Street.

According to Dr. Benjamin Malphrus, associate professor of science and director of the observatory, there may be an added bonus for those who come to the viewing. "Saturn will be only a few degrees below the moon," he said. "We may focus the telescope on the planet as well."

This will be only one of several times the observatory staff will set up telescopes for public viewing. Weather permitting, there could be four or five other viewing times this semester, Dr. Malphrus noted. Tours of the observatory also may be scheduled.

"This is a great opportunity for a family or group outing," Dr. Malphrus said. "We have the best staff and always have a great time."

Additional information on the viewing and tours are available by calling the observatory at (606) 783-2381.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---Dr. Benjamin K. Malphrus, associate professor of science at Morehead State University, has written a book entitled "The History of Radio Astronomy and the National Radio Astronomy Observatory: Evolution Toward Big Science."

In the book, which was released by Krieger Publishing Company of Melbourne, Fla., Dr. Malphrus discusses the beginnings of radio astronomy, the development of NRAO instrumentation and the contributions made using those instruments. The publication is available at the MSU Bookstore.

"The discovery of radio waves in 1932 led to new branches of study in astronomy," said Dr. Malphrus, who has written several articles on radio astronomy. "New classes of objects are being discovered all the time."

Dr. Malphrus, director of MSU's Astrophysical Observatory, spent six years researching and writing the book which is aimed at anyone with an interest in astronomy.

Growing up in Hilton Head, S.C., he gained a love of the spectacular night skies unimpeded by city lights. Eventually, he turned that love into his education and his profession.

Intrigued with the technology of radio astronomy, Dr. Malphrus chose to specialize in that area. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of South Carolina and an Ed.D. degree in physics and astronomy from West Virginia University.

Dr. Malphrus has continued his work in this branch of astronomy. He was instrumental in the design and construction of the Morehead Radio Telescope which should become fully operational sometime in the near future. Last year he headed a team of scientists in the discovery of a galaxy, named NGC-5291-B.

Since 1994, he has been awarded three NASA JOVE (Joint Venture) Research Fellowships for study into the structure and kinetics of gravitationally interacting galaxies, and hopes to receive funding for a second radio telescope in Morehead.

Sept. 18, 1996

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---To promote an understanding and appreciation of individual differences, Morehead State University will host a "Unity Celebration" on Wednesday, Sept. 25, on the campus.

"We are a community of people, who for the most part, believe that what we all have in common far outweighs our differences," said Mike Mincey, vice president for student life. "By understanding, we can achieve a more harmonious relationship in our association with others."

To promote unity, the Rev. Sharon Fields, Minority Student Affairs director at Midway College, will be the keynote speaker at a gathering in Duncan Recital Hall at 7 p.m. MSU's Black Gospel Ensemble also will perform.

The day's agenda includes something for every age group. There will be a discussion of the movie "Higher Learning" as well as student readings, including original works on issues of diversity. This activity will run from 10:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. in the Commonwealth Room, Adron Doran University Center.

Evening activities get under way at 4 p.m. with a patio party at Alumni Tower. Student readings will continue along with a discussion of the movie "And the Band Played On." Faculty-led discussion groups will focus on a number of topics including political issues from an international perspective, Appalachian culture, and music and its cultural significance. Storytelling and chalk drawing will be offered for the children during the two-hour period while the University's international students will sponsor a display of flags and cultural items.

MSU's Division of Student Life and Office of Student Development are coordinating the program in conjunction with several student organizations which include the Diversity Committee of the Student Government Association, Black Student Coalition, Cosmopolitan Club, Non-Traditional Eagle Society, Residence Hall Association and Students for Social Justice.

MOREHEAD, Ky.---An hour-long venture into the eclectic world of jazz is the latest addition to the diverse weekend programming on WMKY, 90.3 FM, member-supported radio from Morehead State University.

"Marian McPartland's Piano Jazz," will air at 10 a.m. on Sundays, beginning Oct. 6, according to Larry Netherton, WMKY general manager.

"We are very happy to return Marian McPartland to our program lineup. The special rapport she develops with each guest adds to the appeal of the program and will make it an enjoyable Sunday morning experience," Netherton said.

"Our listeners are exposed to a wide variety of musical forms every weekend --from Celtic music on 'Thistle and Shamrock,' and bluegrass on 'Bluegrass Diversion,' to classical on 'Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra'," he added. "This program helps expand our offerings."

"Piano Jazz" is a long-running program produced by South Carolina Educational Radio. Hosted by acclaimed pianist Marian McPartland, the program includes exciting, talented jazz professionals each week. Newcomers and all-time favorites join McPartland for an hour of collaboration, solos, reminiscences and straight talk about influences and style. "'Piano Jazz' is the best gig I've ever had," McPartland said.

Hilton Ruiz will be her guest on the first show. This season's guests also will include Ray Brown, Darrell Grant, Hank Jones, Jon Hendricks, Michael Franks, Gary Burton, Eden Atwood, Joe Locke, Michael Feinstein, and Ernestine Anderson.

A highly versatile musician, Ruiz was classically trained and first started performing at the Carnegie Recital Hall at the age of eight. As a teenager he worked in Latin bands and then went to play with Frank Foster, Joe Newman, Cal Massey's Big Band, Roland Kirk and Betty Carter, among others. On this "Piano Jazz" Ruiz plays an original tune, "Home Cooking," and McPartland joins him for a fun version of "I Remember April."

WMKY, an affiliate of National Public Radio and Public Radio International, features news and information, classical music and other musical genres, broadcasting from 6 a.m. to midnight seven days a week. Free program guides are available by calling 1-800-286-WMKY.

Sept. 27, 1996

MOREHEAD, Ky.—“Rich Heritage ... Bright Future” will be the theme as Morehead State University prepares for a year-long celebration of its 75th anniversary as a state institution of higher education.

Founders Day 1997, scheduled on April 4, will be the official opening event with activities continuing through Founders Day 1998 on April 3. While MSU dates back to 1887 when its predecessor, Morehead Normal School, opened its doors, it was in 1922 that MSU became part of the state system.

When the General Assembly in 1922 called for the establishment of two new normal schools, it did not specify locations other than one in the western part of the state and the other in the eastern part. Instead, that decision was delegated to the State Normal School Commission.

After selecting Murray as the western site, the commission began examining potential sites for the eastern school with the communities of Ashland, Louisa, Morehead, Paintsville and West Liberty vying for the honor. Finally narrowing the field down to Morehead and Paintsville, the commission was deadlocked until one member, W.S. Wallen, changed his vote.

One reason for this change of heart will come as no surprise to those who appreciate the backdrop for MSU's campus. It was the “beauty of the Morehead site,” according to one newspaper report at that time, that caused Wallen to alter his vote.

Other accounts suggest that it was really the influence of Allie Young, who later was to serve as a state senator and as one of the members of MSU's first Board of Regents, that turned the tide.

A lawyer and former circuit judge, Young is remembered today as an ardent supporter of the then-Morehead State Normal School. Allie Young Hall, built as a women's residence hall in 1926, was named for the statesmen, leader and benefactor.

Following the state's acquisition of the former Morehead Normal School facilities and the appointment of Frank C. Button as president of the new institution, Morehead State Normal School opened its doors on Sept. 23, 1923, with eight faculty members and 21 students. Today MSU has 337 full-time faculty members and nearly 8,300 students.

(MORE)

The anniversary celebration will take many forms, including the Family University Nexus (F.U.N.) component where alumni and other friends may bring their families and spend several days on the campus for informal classes and other cultural, social and recreational activities. Two F.U.N. vacations are on the schedule for June 26-29 and July 31-Aug. 3. June's F.U.N. activity takes place during MSU's annual Appalachian Celebration.

Dr. Janice Daniel, assistant professor of English, will serve as coordinator for the FUN project. Additional information on F.U.N. may be obtained by calling her at (606) 783-2307.

Among the other numerous events being planned are a re-staging of the "First Shots of Rage," an original historic drama about Rowan County's Tolliver-Martin feud; a picnic and presentation on the lawn of the Moonlight School; recognition of Mrs. Mignon Doran as the founder of the MSU Woman's Club 30 years ago; a national keyboard competition and festival, and several special reunions. Other activities are being considered that will take the celebration out into MSU's service region.

The University held an open competition to find a logo design for the anniversary. Winning the competition was graphic artist Joe Peck of Owingsville, a 1982 MSU graduate. The Fleming County native incorporated the existing logo into a diamond shape with a streamer indicating the 75 years. Peck also has designed three consecutive Kentucky Derby logos, those for the 119th, 120th and 121st Runs for the Roses. After working for other companies, including building an art department from the ground up, Peck recently opened his own business, POW! Designs.

Now that the anniversary logo has been selected, it will appear on stationery and in publications produced for this commemorative period. Also the anniversary logo will be used on special 75th anniversary memorabilia that will be forthcoming.

Additionally, Dr. Donald F. Flatt, professor of history, is writing a complete history of MSU, tracing the evolution of the school from 1887 to its present day status as the "University of the Mountains." The volume, published by the Jesse Stuart Foundation, will be available during the year.

Assisting MSU President Ronald G. Eaglin in coordinating plans for the anniversary year is a 16-member steering committee chaired by Dr. Sue Luckey. Other members include Phyllis DeHart, Myron Doan, Charlotte Dowdy, Bonnie Eaglin, Dr. Rodger Hammons, Dr. Harold "Bud" Harty, Dr. Frances Helphinstine, Susette Redwine, Bill Redwine, Mike Seelig, Judith Yancy and Don Young, representing the campus; H. Jack Webb, MSU Alumni Association president, and Gary Lewis and Terry Ensor, representing the community.

MOTHER ACCEPTS DEGREE FOR SON

Morehead State University President Ronald G. Eaglin, right, took time from his administrative duties recently to make a personal presentation to Helen Rowe of Morehead and formerly of Lewis County. Rowe, a reference services/book stacks specialist in Camden-Carroll Library, accepted an MSU diploma on behalf of her son, John Menville, who was killed in a traffic accident earlier this year after completing requirements for a Bachelor of Arts degree. FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MOREHEAD, Ky.---East Kentucky Women in Leadership will sponsor a workshop on Friday, Oct. 11, at Morehead State University's Adron Doran University Center.

The workshop, the first in a series, will focus on personal skills development for women. The program, which is open to all women, will begin at 9 a.m. The cost is $10.

The day's agenda will consist of four workshops, each featuring a woman in a leadership position on the campus as the speaker. Interactive participation and hand-out materials will be part of the program.

Carolyn Flatt, director of the Personal Development Institute and assistant professor of human sciences, will conduct the first workshop entitled "Feeling Good Without Feeling Overwhelmed." A former music teacher, Flatt will discuss ways to feel better about yourself, develop more self-confidence and how to deal with being a super woman--everything to everybody. A member of a number of honor societies on campus, she is active in the American and the Kentucky Associations of Family and Consumer Sciences. Flatt received her master's degree from MSU in 1971.

The second session, "Pressing Your Agenda Without Throwing Your Weight Around," will be conducted by Joan Atkins, assistant professor of journalism and adviser for the campus newspaper. A former communications instructor at Lexington Community College, she will discuss how to be effective in bringing about change in your workplace, home and community without appearing overly aggressive. A 1980 graduate of MSU where she earned a Master of Arts degree in communications, Atkins is a member of various professional organizations including the National Association of College Media Advisers, Kentucky Association for Gifted Education and Kentucky Press Association.

A workshop entitled "Charting Your Future: Move Your Dreams Into Action" will be taught by Dr. Sheryl Kae, assistant professor of management. A former recruiter and committee chairperson for a civilian personnel special emphasis program, she will discuss how to determine your goals and develop a plan to achieve them as well as how to enjoy taking risks.

Active in the Academy of Management and Kentucky Women's Leadership Network, Dr. Kae has authored numerous publications and given presentations on gender issues, mentoring and leadership. She received her Master of Business Administration degree from Illinois State University in 1990 and her Ph.D. degree in Business Administration from the University of Kentucky in 1994.

Dr. Dayna Brown, associate professor of health, physical education and recreation and director of the Wellness Center, will talk on "To Your Good Health" at the final workshop of the day. Dr. Brown, who has had several works published and received numerous awards for service to the American Red Cross, will discuss women's health issues, including stress management. She received a Master of Arts degree in health, physical education and recreation in 1989 from MSU and earned a Doctorate in Education from the University of Kentucky in 1994.

EKWIL also will offer this series of workshops at two other locations: Cumberland Valley ADD in London, Oct. 4, and Gorman Center in Hazard, Oct. 18. Additional sessions are planned for December, March and April.

East Kentucky Women in Leadership is administered by the Kentucky Council of Area Development Districts and funded by the Appalachian Regional Commission. Locally, the program will be hosted by the Gateway Area Development District and MSU's Office of Community Development and Continuing Education.
