

ROWAN COUNTY

S. S. Cassity, Correspondent

I have not been "pouting"—only too busy to write.

Work on the Midland Trail between Morehead and the Carter county line is progressing rapidly.

S. M. Bradley has sold the motion picture machine factory to Cleveland, Ohio, parties.

John Allen has bought Joe Jones' store and building on Fairbanks street and will soon remove his grocery store and meat market to it.

Dr. A. L. Blair, of Ashland, bought of D. B. Caudill his farm just below town, known as the Frank Nickell place. The price is said to have been $10,000.

S. S. Cassity has just completed for the Clearfield Lumber Company a large connected map of its land which extends from Ramey's Run, in Rowan county, near the river, through a portion of Morgan county to Elliott county, consisting of about 20,000 acres.

Jesse Barber (Jim's Jesse) of this county, who is an engineer on the C. & O. railway, is slowly recovering from injuries of the head caused by falling over a retaining wall near Huntington, W. Va., a few nights ago. It was thought for two or three days that he could not recover.

Stoner Clarke was badly burned about the legs by the explosion of a gasoline can at the pumping station of the Kentucky Fire Brick Company, two miles above town.

Miss Ruth Cassity, who is teaching school on the north fork of Triplett, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Cassity.

H. N. Alfrey recently opened a new grocery store in Morehead.

Noah Kennard has completed a handsome bungalow on Fairbanks street and Arthur Blair is building another on Main street.

The water works bond proposition here carried with only three dissenting votes which argues that there are only three citizens here opposed to progress. Work is expected to begin on the water works as soon as the bonds are sold. There have been several applications to buy them already.

We are waiting, hoping, praying for the state normal. The school could begin here any day with full equipment and board for 1,000 students. Some editors have repeated the lie

This litter of eleven purebred Poles in the Indiana feeding contest just finished were six months old. Average weight, 1 that the denominational school here, known as the Morehead Normal, was forced to suspend for lack of patronage and money so often that they actually believe it. The owners of the Morehead Normal sold it to the citizens here to be offered to the state as a site for the state normal, and this is the reason the M. N. S. is not going on. Hundreds of young men and women on the Big Sandy and elsewhere were educated in this school and owe whatever success they have attained to it. Many leading business men of the Sandy valley feel grateful to the Morehead Normal and many noble women as well for the educational benefits received that placed them on the highway to success.

SHARPSBURG

Mrs. T. J. Allen and Mrs. John S. Sharp are visiting their mother, Mrs. Mary J. Peck, at Lexington.

Mrs. Woodson Taulbee, Maysville, was the guest Sunday of her mother, Mrs. Eva Knight.

Mrs. Margaret Bronaugh has returned to her home at Pleasant Hill, Mo., after a two weeks' visit with her cousin, Mrs. J. C. Nelson. While Mrs. Bronaugh was here, Mrs. Walter Sharp, Mrs. W. A. Sharp, Mrs. E. R. Berry and Mrs. Elgin Sharp de-