

Craig Tollivar Killed at Last.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 14.—Craig Tollivar, leader of one faction of the Tollivar-Martin feud, which has kept Rowan county in arms for years, was found dead in a field Thursday with a bullet hole in his head. Some of his many enemies had at last killed him. The state troops, which have been vainly trying to suppress the fighting of the factions, will now be withdrawn from the county.
