(By Woody Blanton)

Spring! The best season of the year, I like spring the best of all. It's the time of the year that I looked forward to when I was a kid. It meant the time was coming when I could take off my gum boots, my long underwear and go in my sock feet for awhile then go barefooted. I liked the smell of freshly plowed ground, but I liked to pick up the fish-worms and sneak off to the creek and catch some "Red-eyes." Grandma helped me clean them when I caught any and we would feed the trimmings to "Old Milky" our cat. She was crazy about fresh raw fish. We had a big dug well that was lined with big rocks. Moss covered most of them, and in between ferns grew. I oftentimes amused myself watching "Old Red" and "Brownie" swim around down in the bottom of the well. They were two fish put there by whom we do not know. Grandpa always said they were healthy, and that they caught all the bugs that hid in the well. I'll never forget "Old Red" and "Brownie." I had to exert all my willpower when I came home in the evening from fishing all day and not catching anything. I wanted so badly to bait my hook with a big fat juicy worm and let it down in the well with hopes of enticing "Old Red" and "Brownie." They always stayed hid until spring then they would come out. I often wonder what became of them. Spring is different now. I have grown up in it, am married and have one child, I am happy, extremely happy. Spring now means new clothes for my family, Easter next Sunday and my wife wanting a new outfit. It hurts me to have her tell me she can't wear that yellow skirt and that green blouse that I thought she looked so well in. I was courting her then five years ago and it seemed that she would at least be satisfied to wear them for me as I cherish the memory of those years when I with my "Chevy" roadster called at her home and she came out driving in that outfit. Well old spring, you are to be welcomed and you are to be frowned upon. I welcome you a great deal to me. You have been my pride and joy for a long time. And regardless of as long as I live "we" will welcome you. GREETINGS SPRING! (I hope it won't be snowing at press time.)

The Morehead City Council in meeting March 19 passed an order prohibiting the issuing of a license to operate a skating rink, a swimming pool or any other place of amusement except upon approval of the city council, and passed an ordinance unanimously requiring the approval in open council of applications for beer license or whiskey license.

WPA Projects In Nation Tally High

Over $1,900,000 Spent By Agencies In United States

Federal, State and local governments did $1,964,463.74 worth of business the last year, according to a report of the U. S. Dept. of Labor in 1939 with concerns and individuals providing materials, supplies and equipment for WPA projects, according to an analysis of non-labor costs made public today by George H. Goodman, Administrator of Public Projects.

These funds flow in nearly every channel of the durable goods industries in Kentucky, stimulating production and providing private employment in factories, mines, forests and transportation, Mr. Goodman said. He pointed out also that an average of approximately $1,800,000 additional—the wages paid by the Federal government to public workers—is being spent each month for consumer's goods and services.

The purchase of materials and supplies over the three-month period accounts for $1,176,108.68, a total of equipment such as trucks, teams and road-building machinery $788,355.06. Cement amounted to $188,724.56 was the principal item of purchase. Other items included lumber and its products $92,379.19; explosives $21,549.86; paints and varnishes $11,402.60; paving and other bituminous materials $62,500.00; gasoline and oil $1,520.00; clothing $103,346.57; brick, tile and clap products $52,908.05; crushed stone $99,931.59; sand and gravel $66,749.53; stone $1,556,040.20; iron and steel products $58,000.00; machinery and equipment $116,782.07. Following the death, but upon her reaching the age of sixty-five her monthly benefits would begin."

Mr. Chaney emphasized the necessity of wage earners, who will ultimately be eligible for the benefits, maintaining accurate wage records. He stated many claims for benefits were held up because of discrepancies in applicants stories regarding birth dates. Where no city or state birth records were available the family bible entries were acceptable.

Some of those present who were certain of their average monthly earnings for the past three years took advantage of Mr. Chaney's willingness to approximate the amount they would receive were they sixty-five years of age this year. The speaker, who is the manager of the Ashland office was accompanied by two field assistants, W. H. Koenig and Mr. F. L. Atkinson. Following the meeting descriptive literature was distributed. The management of The Kentucky Fire Brick Company stated that the industrial relations department was arranging for future meetings covering subjects of interest to the employees, a number of which will be held at the company's plant in Ashland.

Morehead Authorities Plan K E A Breakfast

Large Crowd Hears J. A. Chaney Speak To Hademan Firebrick Employees

A crowd, which over-floved the library of the Hademan High School, were on hand for the first of a planned series of educational meetings arranged by the Kentucky Fire Brick Company. The meeting was held on Friday, March 15th, the subject, Social Security, the speaker, Mr. J. A. Chaney of the Ashland office of the Social Security Board.

Mr. Chaney briefly reviewed social security and what it entitles to the wage earner and his family. Following ten minutes of "history" the speaker called upon the audience for questions. By the use of graphic displays and chalk talks the speaker answered each question asked.

It was evident throughout the question and answer period that those present were interested in getting facts regarding the benefits in dollars and cents their wives and children would receive in the event of the wage earners death. Typical of the questions asked were: "I am a married man fifty years of age, and I have five March 15th children or I have five children or other dependents. Would my wife receive a monthly benefit check were I to die?" "No one has ever told me I will receive a lump sum settlement following my death, but upon her reaching the age of sixty-five her monthly benefits would begin."

Mr. Chaney emphasized the necessity of wage earners, who will ultimately be eligible for the benefits, maintaining accurate wage records. He stated many claims for benefits were held up because of discrepancies in applicants stories regarding birth dates. Where no city or state birth records were available the family bible entries were acceptable. Some of those present who were certain of their average monthly earnings for the past three years took advantage of Mr. Chaney's willingness to approximate the amount they would receive were they sixty-five years of age this year. Vess Bowling convicted for voluntary manslaughter and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years last week, filed a motion for a new trial which was overruled. An appeal to the Court of Appeals was granted. Bowling was released on a $5000 bail pending the outcome of his appeal.

Randall Amburgey pleaded guilty to a charge of storehouse breaking and was given a sentence of one year.

Estill Fultz, Will Howard, Homer Myrner and Hargis Reed plead guilty to a charge of stealing chickens of greater value than $2.00 and returned one year each in the state reformatory. Noah Bowling was acquitted by the jury on the same charge.

The case of Lee Clark, charged with grand larceny was continued to the fifth day of the June term of court.

The case of Earl Ingram charged with horse stealing and destroying public property and breaking into an outbuilding was set for trial March 22nd.

The case of Noah Bowling charged with destroying public property was continued to the first day of the June term.

$2.00 and returned 103 indictments, they were discharged Saturday, March 16, and made the following report complimenting the work of Special Judge Francis M. Burke.

Honorable Francis M. Burke, Judge of the Rowan County Court. We the Grand Jury for our final report wish to say the following.

That we have examined approximately 150 witnesses in the nine days that we have been in session. That as a result we have returned 103 indictments. We have refused to return any indictments unless we were convinced that the guilty parties could be convicted, because we feel that it is our duty as much not to indict as it is to indict in cases where there could not be a conviction.

We have examined the Court House and Jail of the County and the Superintendents office and find that they are all in good shape. The City Hall has been viewed by us and we think that the City should at once remedy the unsanitary condition of the Jail located there. The public school was examined and we also find an unsanitary and unhealthy condition in the toilet on the West side of the building, known as the boys toilet.

Speaking for the People of Rowan County and ourselves, we wish to thank Judge Burke for his handling of this term of Court, for his cleaning up of the County and his impartial rendering of Justice to the rich and poor alike. We further recommend that the Fiscal Court reconsider the refunding of the County indebtedness and delay it till the Appeal in the U. S. Court of Appeals is decided. We further recommend that the investigation be continued into the death of the Whitby boy on Christy Creek in this County. This should be done once remedy is possible for this crime responsible for the fullest extent of the law. JACK PARKER, Foreman

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You No. 16 of a Series "THANKS FOR A LOVELY EVENING..." A new kind of beer retailing is bringing wholesome recreation to millions of Americans! America's new kind of beer retailer wants to sell good beer, of course... but he is also keenly aware of his social responsibility to the community. He makes sure that his place is clean and inviting—and scrupulously free of anti-social influences of any kind. The Brewing Industry wants all of beer's retailers to be of this type. We do not want any other kind. And we are taking action to eliminate any abuses in beer retailing that may occur. We have instituted a new plan... now in effect in a few states and being extended as rapidly as possible... to protect your right to drink good beer in decent surroundings. May we tell you about it... in an interesting free booklet? Write: United Brewers Industrial Foundation, 19 East 40th Street, New York, N. Y. What a Country! THERE'S a lot in what you say, Mister. In many ways the United States is a terrific country. Millions of fine, capable Americans are unemployed. Crime, crime and poverty are still with us. No one can guess how badly off this country of ours really is. But look at it another way, Mister. The strange Fate which governs the rise and fall of nations has given us a pretty fair break. We have more freedom, more security, more cars, colleges, hospitals, radios, telephones and electrical household equipment than the rest of the world. Even so, Mister, you're absolutely right—we have a long way to go in this country. What's true of our nation is also true of our businesses. Take your electric company, for instance. We have come a long way. Yet each one of us knows we have a long, long way to go. It's true electric rates here have reduced considerably through the most of the things you buy have gone up in price. The best assurance that electric rates will go down and our standards of service will go up in the future, is the consistent past accomplishment of your electric company's people, whose untiring work has steadily brought rates down and service up. As a matter of fact, better service and lower rates are measures of our progress. It's the American way of doing things—to distribute more of the good things of life and do it for less. That's the only way any business or institution can continue to exist. Every employee of this company would like you to know this one thing. We realize the future of our company and our individual future depend upon how well we do our job for you. First, we must bring you the best possible service we know how today. Second, we must prepare ourselves to do a vastly better job for you tomorrow. Yes, Mister, we people of the electric company are proud of the part we play in the American scheme of things. But we're not forgetting that we, too, have a long way to go. In the past 10 to 15 years, the engineering improvements and expansion of your company has made it possible to cut the average price of household electricity just about in half. Many customers now using more household appliances, lots of light, a radio and refrigerator pay very little more to operate all of these than they used to pay for light alone.
